Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	13½
Mount Pleasant	62	21½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	17
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	11½
Pleasant Grove	19	12½
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Richland	42	1½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	20½
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	15
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	8¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
Winston, First	27	24½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Mrs. C. B. Welch, Lebanon	$6.00
Mrs. D. M. Pender, Chestnut Ridge	3.00
Mrs. J. K. Osborn, Shoals	2.00
Mrs. Sarah D. Harris, Enfield	2.00
Miss Zula Fritts, Mt. Carmel	2.00
Rev. J. R. Anderson	1.00

◆

14th DISTRICT RALLY, MAPLE SPRINGS CHURCH, FORSYTH CHARGE, SUNDAY, MAY 29, 1932

10:30 a. m.: Devotional service, Rev. C. B. Way.

Evangelism, Rev. A. L. Hunter.

Enlisting the inactive members, Rev. R. A. Hunter.

Supporting our Boards and Institutions, Rev. J. E. Pritchard.

Noon intermission.

2:00 p. m.: Devotional service, Mrs. W. B. Speas.

Solo, Miss Annie Mae Baity.

Roll call and reports.

Echoes from Branch meeting, Mrs. H. G. Paschal.

Importance of Christian and Missionary Education, Miss Myrtie Kiger.

Where Our Dollar Goes, Mrs. R. A. Hunter.

Memorial Service, Miss Anna Cox.

Echoes from General Board Meeting, Mrs. W. C. Hammer.

Adjournment.

Let every church in the District be represented. There is no limit to the number from each church. Let each family bring a basket for the picnic dinner.

The charges in the district are: Forsyth, Pinnacle and Mt. Zion, West Forsyth, Winston First, and Winston Southside.

J. E. PRITCHARD,
Conference Chairman.
MRS. T. L. SPEAS,
Dist. Chmn, Women's Work.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro. N. C.

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

other date. But it was very well worth while and those who attended got a good deal of help from it.

And then came Sunday—Mother's Day. In the morning I tried to bring a message for the occasion. One of the interesting happenings of the day was the presence in the morning congregation of the sons and daughters of Mrs. J. H. Coble, a member of Calvary church, who died last May 27th. These children, with one exception, belong to other denominations but they united in their worship at Calvary in memory of their mother, and sat in the pew which she occupied while here in the body.

At the evening service a group of adults presented the Bible play, "Ruth, the Moabitess." The rain, coming when it did interfered somewhat with the attendance. But those who came enjoyed the service.

The preacher will be away for the next two Sundays, and other voices will be heard from the pulpit. Next Sunday morning Dr. S. K. Spahr will preach; and the following Sunday the pulpit will be occupied by Dr. Paul S. Kennett. There will be no evening services these two Sundays. The pastor will be back for the fifth Sunday, and there will be services both morning and night.

C. W. BATES, Pastor.

◆

GENERAL CONFERENCE REPRESENTATIVES, PLEASE TAKE NOTICE

I sent out cards to you all a couple of weeks ago, and have heard either directly or indirectly from most of you. I find that most of you have made your own arrangements as to transportation, and that my assistance isn't greatly needed. I have made some inquiry also as to routes. You may have done the same. Anyway, for your information, I would suggest:

1. Those going by car from High Point or Greensboro, go by Winston-Salem to Bluefield, W. Va., thence to Charleston and on to Columbus. 2. Those going from Burlington will probably find it a little nearer to go by Reidsville, Roanoke, Gauley Bridge to Charleston, thence to Columbus. It is 508 miles from Reidsville to Columbus by way of Roanoke. It is 479 miles from Greensboro to Columbus by way of Bluefield. Both roads are good all the way.

I am leaving in the morning (Wednesday) for Cambridge, and am asking you to get in touch with Brother Roy Farmer if you need any further help. C. W. BATES.

Methodist Protest Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., MAY 19, 1932 NUMBER 28

Seminary Library 5dee2
Westminster MD

Our Two Avenues

Two great avenues cross our town;
One leads up and one leads down:
One-way streets, you might well say,
Thronged with people every day.

All who seek the way of ease,
Asking what will just now please,—
These prefer the downward way,
Enter in, inclined to stay.

Those with mind for harder task,
Starting out no question ask;
Each with face to higher height,
Up they go with all their might.

All the people in our town,
Marching up or marching down,
Follow on where their ways lead,
Thoughtless some and some take heed.

Downward leads to vile and low,
Shame and sorrow, want and woe,
Plunges you in filth and mire,
Lands you in Gehenna's fire.

Upward brings to purer air,
Life more sweet and scenes more fair,
Deeper peace and higher joy,
Heavenly hope without alloy.

4-H Clubs

The object of 4-H clubs is not to teach boys and girls to farm with little work, but to put intelligence and interest into their work and relieve it of drudgery and make their work productive of the greatest good, not simply in farm products in the form of crops but in personal benefits to themselves. The four H's in their name stand for Head, Heart, Hand, and Health. Boys and girls on the farm are to put their whole selves into their work in such a way as to realize physical wholeness—health.

The world is waking up to the value of intelligence in agriculture and animal culture. A good farmer's stock of knowledge is greater than that of a merchant. The things with which he has to do give him a vast field for observation and study and experiment. The manufacturer and the merchant deal with lifeless materials and lifeless products. Farmers deal with the living and the growing. The farmer is a co-laborer with the divine forces of nature. His occupation is one of dignity and worth. It takes mind and heart to qualify for the farmer's vocation.

North Carolina is credited with 1,020 4-H clubs with a total membership of 34,000. South Carolina has 800 clubs with 17,249 members. Virginia has 1,000 clubs with 26,512 members. Tennessee has 2,400 clubs with 44,000 members. This showing indicates great interest in the movement to improve farm life and activity. It is with farmers as with most other folks: they do not realize and appreciate their natural advantages.

◆

—The finding of Lindbergh's baby dead, if found at all, was the most probable thing. The child, waking and finding itself in the hands of strange men, would resent their attentions and protest in vigorous crying. Men of their character would have little scruples against saving themselves by destroying the child. They still hoped to cash in on the deal by pretending that the child was still alive and well. A wonder is that they succeeded. The finding of the child's body looks like a kind act of Providence What a prolonged and painful suspense it would have been if the search for little Charles had gone on for years. The case is surely a distressing one, but it might have been much worse. The world may learn from it to value its children more highly and to take better care of them.

—Japan has been sowing the wind and is now reaping the whirlwind. Its unjustifiable attack on China and its work of destruction with all the enginery of war has greatly lowered Japan in the respect of civilized nations. It will be long before Japan can look the world in the face again, notwithstanding its assertion that it was guided by conscience in its action with respect to China. Then internal troubles are developing, the extent and duration of which no man can foresee. The premier of Japan has just been assassinated by a band of men who first shot down the men composing his body-guard. Bombs have also been freely used on important public buildings. It is impossible to sin and not suffer. This is true of nations as well as of individuals.

—Rev Robert Short sends us this week thirteen dollars on Herald subscription accounts and we do not think it an unlucky number. Thanks!

—Moslems and Hindus in India are engaged in killing each other. Perhaps better than slaughtereieng Christians, but they might find a still better way to spend their time.

—What common domestic animal is not mentioned in the Bible?

—Rev. C. H. Hill, High Point, should be addressed R. 3, Box 243.

WHEN DOES THE CHRISTIAN MINISTER SUCCEED?

Surely no minister should set out on his pilgrimage of Christian service with no greater goal in mind than to win the approval of those with whom he comes in contact and to be known as a "success" measured by the standards of men. And yet, the Christian minister who does not strive to succeed is almost sure to become a failure. Therefore most of us are constantly seeking to discover that illusive quality that apparently crowns the ministry of the minority with success.

Is there an existing formula, which when followed by all Christian ministers will bring about the same visible results? Without fear of contradiction I think we may answer, NO. There is no more a single method by which all may gain visible success than there is a single suit of ready-to-wear clothes that will neatly adjust itself to the thousands of Christian ministers with their widely differing forms and sizes. Paul was to plant and Apollos was to water. Each accomplished the task undertaken, but each in his own way using the ability at his command.

The Lord of the harvest needs men skilled in many lines. I Cor 12, "Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant. * * * For to one is given by the Spirit the work of wisdom; to another the work of knowledge by the same Spirit; to another faith by the same Spirit; * * * to another the working of miracles; to another prophesy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues: But all these worketh that one and the self-same Spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will." Surely the accomplishment of any of the above named tasks would constitute success in that particular field of endeavor.

One of the outstanding traits of the flesh is to covet those things we do not possess. The Christian minister is not always completely immune to the above named weakness. This undesirable trait can often be sighted as the direct cause of unhappiness and discouragement for those engaged in the exalted calling of the ministry. We ministers may covet the gift of a fellow minister, and yet, if we did pursue his task under self-appointment, we would be going contrary to God's plan. A deep seated desire to be a spectacular minister may result in the complete loss of individuality. To have personality, individual characteristics, is certainly more desirable than to be ever so clever at aping others. Those who have the gift of prophesy may covet the gift of healing. But he who has the gift of prophesy owes it to God to seek success in that particular field and not waste God's precious time seeking success at some other self-appointed task.

The above may cause us to inquire whether a Christian minister may possess more than one of the Spirit's gifts. Bible examples are numerous which prove that God does endow some of His ministers with two or more gifts. Indeed some of our present day ministers seem to exhibit the following three gifts: knowledge, wisdom, and faith. There are churches which almost demand their ministers to possess the above named gifts. We must agree that a combination of wisdom, knowledge, and faith, is greatly to be admired and is certainly a rich endowment for any servant of God. But he who possesses a multiplicity of gifts must succeed with each if he is truly a successful Christian minister. It is a case of talents such as Jesus described. If God has given you three gifts He expects a return on three. But he who has but one gift and prayerfully and carefully brings it to fruitage is a success in God's eyes as truly as the man who has three gifts and meets the approval of God with them.

It is not always easy for a Christian minister to know whether or not he is a success in the eyes of his heavenly Father. Much less is it possible for the world to rightfully judge. We may be acquainted with our gifts but often we are confronted with the problem as to whether or not we have administered them to the best of our ability. It is true that our works are imperfect at the best. But God expects of us only what is humanly possible. If we are a success it is as a human being. Christ was a success on earth as a God-man.

To me it is very distasteful for people to pass judgment upon Christian ministers. I have heard folks go so far as to say they doubted the call of a certain Christian minister. Any one who makes such a statement is certainly assuming great responsibility. I have heard such folks relate why they doubted the call of a certain Christian minister. Usually their verdict is based upon the following accusations: "The man can not preach." "He is not a soul-winner." What these folks are unconsciously doing is this: they are measuring him by some other man's achievements. What they are saying in effect is this—he can not preach and win souls like Mr. B. The fact is, God may never have intended that he preach and win souls like A, or B. The man in question may resemble fearless Samuel, impetuous Peter, the affectionate John, or faithful Abraham. I would not be surprised could I know God has called some of us Christian ministers specifically for the purpose of leading a single individual to Christ. If such a condition exists and that Christian minister diligently performs that task, he is a success in God's eyes even though the church and the world alike may remember him as a failure. With the priceless value of the human soul in mind we must admit that the Christian minister who spends his life winning one soul from eternal destruction has not spent his ministry in vain.

Our greatest example of a misunderstood life is found in the case of Christ. Born in a manger. Crucified on a cross. The murderer Barrabas was preferred before Him. In humiliation He was crowned with thorns. In derision the purple robe was placed on Him. He came unto His own and His own received Him not. As a testimony of His authority He healed the sick and raised the dead and yet they cried, "crucify Him." Brother Christian ministers, with our lesser gifts is it any wonder we, too, are misunderstood, and at times acclaimed as impostors and failures? But with Paul we should rejoice that we are found worthy to suffer the reproaches of Christ. "For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us."

There is no one type of individual who can appeal equally well to all. God needs men of different temperaments, different dispositions, and different personalities. A Christian minister who may be one individual's ideal, may be held in contempt by another. God needed a courageous Nathan to point his finger at King David and risk his life by saying, "thou art the man." Later God called John, a man whose natural inclinations were of a retiring sort. Should we say then that Samuel was too bold or John too timid? I think not. God needed each man and the traits that made them different. These men were successful, each in his day and generation.

Whether the Christian minister be large or small, mentally profound or dull; whether with natural gifts, few or many, let him be a man fully surrendered to God and one who is willing to apply his all to the task at hand. Then God will acclaim him a SUCCESS—though men may scorn his achievements.—Rev. Paul P. Holden, A.B., B.D., in The Methodist Protestant-Recorder.

◆

JESUS, THE WORLD, AND THE CHURCH

Jesus faced a world which at that time was in great need. It was in need of salvation—salvation from disease, salvation from religious bigotry, salvation from oppression, salvation from greed and corruption, salvation from all kinds of sins. The chief task of Jesus in the world, therefore, was to help meet the everyday human needs.

His presence made His generation uncomfortable. Politics and religion, the two greatest forces in the world then as now, trembled under His piercing gaze. Because of the presence of Jesus, the religion of His day became impotent and politics felt unsafe—and religious bigotry on the one hand and political suspicion on the other made the cross, for Him, inevitable.

No one feels the poverty of his own intellect until he comes into the presence of a superior mind. The mediocre musician retires in the presence of the genius of his art. The emaciated consumptive loathes his own weakness at the sight of a physical giant. In other words, it was the contrasted life of Jesus that made the needs of the world so evident.

The church is God's representative here on earth. The task of the church, then, is that of making the world Christian—making it whole, meeting its needs, solving its problems.

A Christian physician deems it a part of God's program to restore the health of humanity. A christian teacher is interested primarily in the logical unfolding and proper directing of the minds that come under her care. A lawyer, actuated by the spirit of Christianity, has as his chief motive justice and fair play for his client. A church that meets the needs of this our day must insist on a moral imperative in every life.

We must have, my friends, superlative standards if we are to expect superlative results—standards of fairness in industry, standards of justice in our courts, standards of exalted living in our social relationships, standards of brotherhood in our inter-racial relationships, standards of equity and international good will throughout the world.

Many times, as Jesus went about, the people sought to touch if it were but the border of His garment—and they that touch Him were made whole. Ah, my friends, we are supposed to hold up the same ideals, offer the same salvation. But there is no great reaching out to us today. And if they touched us, would they be made whole? There is vice and corruption on every hand. There are cruelties and crimes. There are hardships and suffering, struggle and failure.

The church for our times will perform its task, but only as it gets back to the spirit and methods of Jesus. It will challenge the interest and co-operation of the young by inspiration, by sane direction, and by conscientious work.

It will spiritualize this corrupt social order by the superiority of its life and the earnestness of its service. It will be able to prove its efficiency as a vital force in the world when it accepts as its task the salvation of man, and becomes willing to pay the price. To pay the price in dollars and cents, in effort and sacrifice, in prayer and devotion, and when it is willing to go as did our Master, if need be, to the cross of Calvary.—Rev. R. W. Brooks, Pastor Lincoln Memorial Congregational Church (Colored), Washington, D. C., in an address.

◆

INFORMATION CONCERNING THE 1932 CONFERENCE LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

The school will be held in High Point College, June 27th-July 3rd.

No NEW students under 14 years of age will be admitted to the school. Those students who have already begun the Young People's Courses and may now be under 14 years of age will be admitted to the school so that they may finish the course.

No BANNERS will be awarded this year—a measure of economy.

Students are asked to come and register on June 27th. The first class period will begin Tuesday, June 28th, at 8 a.m.

The cost for dormitory students for the entire period will be $7.00. All day students taking the Standard Courses will be asked to pay $1.00. This charge is absolutely necessary.

The following Young People's Courses will be offered (for young people 14-17 years of age): Life Investment; The Master Leader; Young People's Methods; Christian Living; Our Bible; The Science of Leadership; Stewardship; Denominational Program; Recreational Leadership; The Christian Citizen; Evangelism; The Kingdom Enterprise.

The following Standard Courses will be offered (for people 17 years of age and older): A Study of the Pupil; Church School Administration; Missionary Materials and Methods; A Study of Adolescence; Religious Education in the Family.

The pre-registration fee is 25c for all, young or old. There ought to be 1,000 people register for this school. Take your 25c to the agent in your church NOW.

The third session of the North Carolina Conference Council of Religious Education will be held on Tuesday, June 28, at 2:30 p.m. in the College Auditorium. Every pastor should be present and at least one representative from each church. Each chuhch is entitled to at least one and not more than three representatives. One representative to every 200 or major fraction thereof in the membership.

If you need further information, please write to Fred W. Paschall, Burlington, N. C.

THE LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

In the Leadership Training School are taught standard courses, such as Training in Worship, Principles of Teaching, The Bible, and other courses which are designed to help anyone who wants to become a more efficient leader.

Classes, intermissions for study, and a short worship period constitute the morning programs, while the afternoons are given over to recreation. Hikes, tennis, and other sports are enjoyed by all who care to participate in them.

Usually the members are divided into clans. Each clan chooses for itself a leader and a fictitious name. Stunts are planned by the groups and some time during the week the groups have a joint meeting. At this time each clan tries to do better than any other clan, whatever its members have chosen to do. This period affords loads of fun for everybody.

The dining room is just like a picnic, except it is better. Not only do we get wholesome and appetizing meals, but the clans afford pep songs, jokes, and other numbers which make these periods really enjoyable occasions.

The socials which are conducted on the campus or in the club room are just another happy event of the day. Here one has an opportunity to meet new friends and renew old acquaintances. One may also learn new games, pep songs, and other ideas which may be used in socials back home.

Splendid speakers are secured for the evening lectures, which are usually conducted in a series until the latter part of the school, when they are brought to a climax in a decision service. At this meeting all students (delegates) are given an opportunity to express their intentions for Kingdom service. Most of them voluntarily sign pledge cards in recognition of their responsibility.

On Sunday the delegates are carried by automobile to the First M. P. church of High Point for worship. A splendid worship program is always prepared and is enjoyed by those who attend it.

The last day of the school is given over to the awarding of certificates and diplomas to those who have attained the required number of units.

Every meeting from the first to the last is interesting. To me the schools that I have attended have meant much; in fact, they have meant more than I can find words to express. Here are just a few things that the school has meant to me: the meeting of new friends and renewing old acquaintances; new ideas for our young people's meetings at home; a real enjoyable vacation at little expense; a richer and deeper realization of my own religious experience, and a better knowledge of leadership. ORPHA A. BURGESS.

PASTORS' SUMMER CONFERENCE

On account of present condition it is thought best to hold the conference for only two days this year—the 28th and 29th of June. Dr. Forliness is to deliver two addresses each day to the conference. Other speakers and features will be announced later. The usual fee of one dollar registration is asked for. Meals may be had at the college for one dollar per day or you can find lunches at smaller cost, if desired, at nearby restaurants. Hoping for a good conference.

R. C. STUBBINS, Pastor.

LOVE

If we know we love God, we know we are saved. 1 John 2:3. And hereby we do know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments.

1 John 5:3. For this is the love of God, that we keep His commandments, and His commandments are not grievous. The proof of love to God is the keeping of the commandments. The regenerated soul delights to obey, to keep the commandments; his aim is to do it; he may fall short, but when he fails to measure up to the standard, let him go to 1 John 1:9, "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." Also 1 John 2:1, "My little children, these things I write unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous."

Love delights to please its object. 1 John 3:18, "My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue, but in deed and in truth." Many love at their tongue's end, but the godly love at their finger's end— D. L. Moody. A firmly-fixed principle to obey God ought to be more satisfactory than a flash of emotion. When a Christian sins, he is grieved though no one knows it but God and himself. The unregenerate man sins against God and is not grieved. There may be a deep and faithful love in the very heart that is condemning itself, and wearying itself with bitter self-rebuke because its love to God is so cold. It is a mistake to combine feeling with affection, and a greater mistake to combine feeling with faith. God will accept faith without emotion, but he will not accept emotion without faith. Be sure that all sin is forsaken, then believe God's word, and stick to it. It is in spirit that we are to keep the commandments, not just in the letter.

"Thou shalt not steal," but if you want to steal, but never take anything that belongs to another, you have not kept this commandment. The religion that does not make a man honest, will not stand in the hour of trial. We are not to seek raptures, visions, ecstacies, but "believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and we shall be saved." Those who accept Christ usually have peace, some joy, some have very little feeling. If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature, he has new desires, new pleasures, new hopes, new objects of love.

G. F. MILLAWAY.

A SALESMAN SOLD ON SAMUEL

A young Japanese salesman was demonstrating some baby foods made by an American concern at a mother's meeting in the Glory kindergarten, Kiobe. Before his talk a graduate of the training school told the story of Samuel and showed the picture of the kneeling boy. Afterward the young Japanese salesman told the missionary that years ago, in a foreign magazine, he had seen this famous picture. He cut it out, touched by its obvious meaning, and carried it with him on his commercial journeys, placing it on the wall of his hotel room. For the first time, that evening, he heard the story of the picture. "I ought to have known before," he said, "that the place to find out about a picture of the spirit, and not simply a scene in nature."

OUT OF A CLEAR SKY

A revolver pressed against his temple, there stood the sailor-life a failure, money wasted, character debauched. With nothing left to live for, he planned the end. That his neighbors might not hear the discharge, lowering the weapon for the moment, he stepped to the radio to turn it on at full force. Suddenly he was arrested—a clear, ringing voice out of the air said the thing that makes this story possible.

Having served four years in the United States Navy, W. S., was a full-fledged seaman.

His enlistment was contrary to the wishes and prayers of both father and stepmother. His own mother had died when he was but a child, praying that his life might honor God. Perhaps through over-persuasion and youth's desire to see the world, he affixed his name to the dotted line. There was then no turning back. So the boy of twenty faced his Christian parents with the news of his enlistment.

"Father," said the lad, as they clasped hands at parting, "I realize now that I have made a terrible mistake, and I can only ask you to forgive me, and to forgive also the many times I have broken your heart and brought you worry by the life I have lived."

"Sure I will, son, sure I will!" and the father closed his eyes and added earnest prayer for his boy.

The mother's farewell included the gift of a Bible, and the counsel, "Let this be your guide and if ever you are in trouble, look up to God."

The father's parting assurance was, "My boy, if things don't go right, remember, this is your home."

Training concluded, a world tour was begun. For many weeks the boy kept faith with promises and ideals. Shore leave, the influence of comrades, the lure of license—the sequel: a debauched and fallen boy.

Home Again

However, home ties were not wholly forgotten or entirely severed, and when the four-year enlistment came to its end, the wanderer made for the haven of home. He had announced his arrival by telephone, and as he approached he saw his father hurrying to welcome him. They walked toward home, and the boy asked of his mother's health. No answer. Again, he inquired. No response. Thinking that his father may have become deaf in the years he had been gone, he raised his voice and asked again.

Tears had come to the father's eyes. He said, "Son, your mother died only yesterday, sitting in her chair, and watching for you to come."

Sobered by his grief, and removed from the lure of his former life, for many months the returned sailor walked a path of comparative morality. But Satan had not forgotten him. Tempters lurked about, and at last, though in the meantime he had married, he was again on the path of wickedness. He forgot God—but God did not forget him.

The Storm and the Life Line

Months sped by, each alike in that grossness and carousal were the mighty billows driving him against the rocks of despair.

He had disgraced friends, had spent all and was in want; his wife threatened to divorce him. Why continue living? In desperation he determined to take his own life. It was an easy way out. The weapon was prepared. In the room where he purposed to commit the deed stood the family radio. If this were on full force, neighbors might not hear the discharge of the pistol. Turning it on, he stepped off to point the weapon at his temple. Hark! What was that?

> "For God so loved the world that he gave his > only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in > him should not perish but have everlasting life."

At just the moment of need John 3:16, that blessed message of salvation, had come in over W-B-M-I, the radio station of the Moody Bible Institute.

The gun dropped at his side. He fell to his knees. A cry of anguish and a prayer of need escaped his lips. God heard. The storm-tossed sailor grasped the life-line, was brought to shore, and his feet were planted on the Rock of Ages.

Peace at Last

A spiritual change had truly been wrought. Habits that held him were stricken from his soul. Peace and hope came to his heart.

After a few days he made his way down into the city and was led of the Spirit of God to attend the noon meeting being held in a down-town theater by the Christian Business Men's Committee. The prayer from the platform again used his life-line verse, John 3:16. The speaker was from the Moody Bible Institute, and his text was that same John 3:16. The entire service was used of the Spirit to help the saved seaman make his public confession. He was the first one to walk down the aisle to enlist in lifelong service for God's only begotten Son, who had made it possible that he should not perish, but that he should have everlasting life.

For this seaman, John 3:16 was a life-line.

ONE TOUCH OF GOD

At one time a group of men were attempting to raise an obelisk in Egypt to its base, and the work was under the supervision of a very exact and careful engineer. They had raised the great mass of granite to within a few inches of the level of the base and then were unable to lift it further. They could not get it up to the level of the pedestal by their utmost efforts.

But there was a secret in nature that they did not know. There was a sailor there who knew all about it. He shouted, "Wet the ropes!" As they did so the ropes began to groan, and strain, and shorten, and the great mass rose, and rose, till it came to the level of the base, and they could push it over and establish it firmly on its base.

It was a little secret, but it was an effective one. The men had pulled at the cordage and strained away at it, but the obelisk was in mid-air, and there it hung until the cry came to wet the ropes.

◆

—Correction: In our issue of May 5 the word received was inadvertently substituted for the word revived in the last sentence of Rev. H. F. Fogleman's article. We ask Brother Fogleman's pardon.

DO CHRISTIANS EVER DIE?

God's Word is too precious to misquote. Yet it is constantly misquoted even by those who love it best and who would not intentionally misrepresent its infallible message. Sometimes we get an idea of our own, think it is Scriptural, and then go ahead and make a sweeping statement as to what the Scripture says,—while all the time the Scripture says something quite different. For example, one often sees in Christian journals a statement credited to an old-time evangelist in comment on the words, "burial service," which he called an unfortunate expression; he went on to say: "Paul never talked of 'burial.' He said the body was 'sown',—'sown in corruption,' 'sown in dishonour,' 'sown in weakness,' 'sown a natural body.' If I bury a bushel of wheat, I never expect to see it again; but if I sow it I expected results. Thank God, our friends are not buried, they are only sown!"

It is true that Paul used by inspiration the word "sown" for the bodies of believers, but it is not true that Paul "never talked of burial." In the great resurrection chapter where the word "sown" occurs we read that Christ "was buried" (I Cor. 15:4). Paul also wrote that "we are buried with Him by baptism into death" so that we might "walk in newness of life" (Rom. 6:4). It is sometimes said that the word "death" is never used of Christians in the New Testament, but only the word "sleep". Yet this is not so, for both words are used of the believer. We are told of the "death" of Stephen (Acts 8:1); that "death" cannot separate us from the love of God in Christ (Rom. 8:38); that "all die," even those who are Christ's (I Cor. 15:22); that for the believer "death is swallowed up in victory" (I Cor. 15:54); that "Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death. For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain" (Phil. 1:20, 21); that a Christian brother Epaphroditus "was sick nigh unto death" (Phil. 2:27). And so in many other New Testament passages death is plainly declared as an experience that the Christian may have, although it is a conquered enemy. Let us determine, prayerfully and watchfully, to be scrupulously accurate in quoting the God-breathed words; for there is a blessing in using the inspired words correctly, and there is loss of blessing in reading any of our own mistakes into them.—The S. S. Times.

INGRATITUDE

The ten lepers were all cleansed. We remember that and are glad for it. They were no longer a menace to the health of the community. From paupers they would become self-supporting men. Their ingratitude did not reinfect them with leprosy. It did not mean the recall of the priests' certificate that they were healed. Whatever we may remember against them, they were no longer lepers.

It is not surprising that they hasten to the priests. They were going in that direction when the cure came. "As they went they were healed." How they would be thrilled with the first rush of pure blood! There would be joy in their hearts as health tingled to their finger-tips. They walked faster, they hurried, they ran. A wild race, full of the ecstasy of new vigor, full of the sudden vision of home and friends, full of desire for the health certificates—they ran. When they slackened their pace because of lack of breath, they were too far away to lose time by returning. Back where the race began the Christ who had brought healing grieved over their ingratitude.

What would the nine have said for themselves? Doubtless they would have had many excuses. "I was eager to get to my family." "Business had been neglected so long that I was in a hurry." They may have said these things. We do not know just what they would say. We do know what the nine of today are saying. They are not lepers, but men who have been blessed by the Gospel. "I am tired on Sunday and need to rest." "I never like to pledge myself to do anything." "I do not believe in a creed." "I am too busy." "I do not like the methods of the church." These men are not lepers, but the Master's heart is sad over their ingratitude.

The nine have a habit of despising the Samaritan who returns to worship. They comfort themselves with the thought that they are as good as he. One humble man has not forgotten, in the joy of his healing, the Lord who healed him. His reward is a deeper spiritual grace. Where are the nine? They have talent, education, culture, power. The church needs them. Then need the church. The Master appeals to their gratitude. So do not hurry away and hoard your blessing. Return and give thanks for your healing.—The C. U. Herald.

WISHING

Do you wish the world were better?
  Let me tell you what to do.
Set a watch upon your actions,
  Keep them always straight and true.
Rid your mind of selfish motives,
  Let your thoughts be clean and high.
You can make a little Eden
  Of the sphere you occupy.

Do you wish the world were wiser?
  Well, suppose you make a start,
By accumulating wisdom
  In the scrapbook of your heart;
Do not waste one page on folly;
  Live to learn and learn to live.
If you want to give men knowledge
  You must get it, ere you give.

Do you wish the world were happy?
  Then remember day by day
Just to scatter seeds of kindness
  As you pass along the way;
For the pleasures of the many
  May be ofttimes traced to one,
As the hand that plants an acorn
  Shelters armies from the sun.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

—The Southern Baptist Convention finds occasion to make war on "certain subtle influences" antagonistic to the home and the church. Reference is especially to Sunday joy-riding, bad picture shows, Sunday radio, Sunday newspapers, and immoral magazines.

CHRISTIAN ENTHUSIASM

This is the great need of the professional religion of our day. There is too much formality and too little earnestness, too much lackadaisical piety and too little stalwart Christianity, too much sitting at ease in Zion and too little zeal for the progress of Christ's cause and Kingdom. There is too much talk and too little work, too much sentimentalism and too little Christianism.

"One is your Master," ought to ring in the ears incessantly of every professed follower of Jesus. Loyalty to Him should abound. Courage should be added to faith—a courage that would lead its possessor to daring deeds, that would prove itself fearless, outspoken, determined, that would make wrongdoers tremble in its presence, that would not close its eyes to any form of iniquity nor keep silent about anything that hinders the progress of God's Word.

Men who are possessed by the Master will have the courage to live as in His presence, to dare anything for Him, to endure as seeing Him who is invisible, and if need be to die, rather than yield one inch of Christ's territory to the enemy. Oh, for a revival of enthusiasm for Christ! Then one will chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight.—The C. U. Herald.

IF WE KNEW

If we knew the cares and sorrows
 Crowded round our neighbor's way,
If we knew the little losses,
 Sorely grievous, day by day,
Would we then so often chide him
 For the lack of thrift and gain,
Leaving on his heart a shadow
 Leaving on our hearts a stain?

If we knew the clouds above us,
 Held by gentle blessings there,
Would we turn away, all trembling,
 In our blind and weak despair?
We would shrink from little shadows
 Lying on the dewy grass
While 'tis only birds of Eden
 Just in mercy flying past?

Let us reach within our bosoms
 For the key to other lives,
And with love to erring natures
 Cherish good that still survives;
So that when our disrobed spirits
 Soar to realms of light again,
We may say, "Dear Father, judge us
 As we judged our fellow-men."

—The Girls' Friend.

◆

—It is impossible to mentally or socially enslave a Bible-reading people.—Horace Greeley.

—The proposed union of the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. and the Associate Reformed Presbyterians has been postponed.

WHICH WILL WE HAVE?

"For by thee I have run through a troop; and by my God have I leaped over a wall" (Ps. 18:29).

As to trouble, men are four. Number one is overwhelmed, goes down beneath the waves, and rises not again. Number two just manages to keep his head above water, but what a time he has of it! How loud and strong his lamentations! What a pitiful object! Number three swims easily out and does not mind it much; he gets wet, but he is a philosopher, and soon dries himself, making no fuss about it nor coming to any arm. Number four feels the force of the flood as much as the other three, but he is so encased in rubber that the stream only tosses him forward on his way, and he exults at the strange means God has taken to promote his progress.

Defeat, devastation, peace, triumph—which will we have? The Almighty is able to make His children victorious over all their trials, turning these into means of grace for which hearty thanks can most fitly be given. It is possible not merely to bear them with patience and resignation, but to exult at the glorious results therein wrought.—Church of Christ Advocate.

GO TO CHURCH

Every inmate should go to church. There is much good that may be gotten from the splendid services rendered each Sunday by those who do not forget the man behind prison walls. Through the efforts of the chaplain, Mr. Loomis Goodwin, the services have been of the highest order and much real good has been done. The Prison News wishes to encourage a larger attendence and will make effort to publish the programs ahead of time. The inmates are very grateful to the good folks that have made possible the Sunday services. — The Prison News.

◆

—The resignation of Dr. H. L. Elderdice, President of Westminster Theological Seminary, brings general surprise. He had been in office so long and fit the office so well that it was natural to think of him as continuing indefinitely. But he had filled the office continuously for 35 years and had come to feel that his retirement was imperative. Reluctantly the Board of Managers accepted his resignation. They, however, filled the vacancy by the election of Dr. F. G. Holloway, who for some years has served as Professor of Greek and Hebrew. The Seminary has just closed the best year in its history. May it continue to flourish!

—Politics is rising to a fever heat. Under the excitement of the hour candidates may engage in an undignified scramble for office. How much better it would be if all competitors for office could regard each other as gentlemen!

—What does your anxiety do? It does not empty tomorrow of its sorrow; but it empties today of its strength. It does not make you escape the evil; it makes you unfit to cope with it if it comes.—Ian Maclaren.

—Dr. and Mrs. S. K. Spahr expect to drive through to Columbus, Ohio, and attend the General Conference.

—Thieves entered the home of Rev. H. L. Powell last week and carried off all his bacon, a considerable amount.

OUR STORY PAGE

"GOOD SOLDIERS"

James had just witnessed a company of soldiers marching down the street. The waving flags, the stirring march of the band, the attractive uniforms,—all these things added to the thrill of the moment, and stirred within the boy's heart a desire to become one of the soldiers.

"I'm going to be a soldier when I grow up," he declared to his mother.

"What kind of a soldier are you going to be?" his mother asked.

"Just like those who marched down the street. I'll wear a uniform and march with them."

"But soldiers have other things to do than march. In time of war they must fight for their country, and perhaps die if need be. At night they are placed on guard duty to see that nothing disturbs the camp during the hours of darkness. Such marching as you saw today is their easiest work."

"Just the same, I'm going to be a soldier when I grow up," declared James.

"Why wait until you are grown up?" asked mother. "Why not start at once?"

"Can I be a soldier now?" asked James, excited over the prospect.

"Not like those you saw, but you can be mother's little soldier."

"Tell me how," James pleaded.

"In the morning when I dress you in clean clothes, that is your uniform. You must try hard to keep it clean. A neat appearance is required of a soldier. Then there are enemies to be guarded against. Disorder is one of them. The books and papers on the rack must be kept in order. When anything is left out of place, it must be returned to its proper place. Papers that blow about the lawn must be picked up. Are you willing to enlist in my army?"

"I think that will be heaps of fun," James replied. "I will enlist this very minute."

"You must remember one thing,—a soldier is expected to be always obedient to the one in command. There are times when he may not feel like obeying orders, but he obeys nevertheless. We will see how good a soldier you can be."

James took his enlistment seriously and proved to be a good soldier. He was ever on guard against dirt and disorder, and obeyed his mother without question when she sent him on errands. He was guard over his house and enemies must stay away.

"James," mother said to him one day, "I wish to read you something about a good soldier. Paul writes, 'Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ'. You have been mother's good soldier, and it is time you decided to become a soldier of Jesus Christ."

"How can I do that, Mother?"

"Jesus died on the Cross to save us from our sins. We have all sinned and come short of the glory of God. Jesus is our Saviour. When we confess that we are sinners and ask God to forgive us for Jesus' sake, then Jesus enters our lives as Saviour and Lord. Then you become a soldier in the cause of Christ, striving for Christ and right."

"I want to enlist in that cause," James declared.

Together the mother and boy kneeled and Jesus was accepted into another life.

"You have been a splendid soldier for mother," she said as they arose. "I want you to be a better soldier yet for your new Commander. There will be many things for you to do, for there is sin to be fought, but the greatest thing will be 'that you may please Him who hath chosen you to be a soldier.' Obey Him, and He will give you strength for each task. In all things I want you to be a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

And James became a soldier, greater than those who march for time, because he had an Eternal Leader in Jesus Christ. How many of the boys who have read this story are soldiers under the same leader? If soldiers, are you good soldiers? You know there are different kinds of soldiers.—Selected.

CAN'T AFFORD IT

Caroline looked frowningly at the shoes she had just laced. They were scuffed at the toes and somewhat out of style—at least not the kind that the girls were wearing—but there was no question that if they were resoled they would last through the winter for school wear. She would have liked to throw them aside, but where was the money to buy a new pair?

"Another case of 'can't afford it'," she said to herself. "'Can't afford it!' I am sick and tired of that phrase. I never want anything, it seems, but what I must be reminded of 'can't afford it'."

Caroline thought she and the cat were the only occupants of the room, but her uncle's voice answered her from a far corner.

"You are right, my girl! There are a lot of things that we can't afford if we are going to live honestly and comfortably, and one of them is self-pity."

Caroline blushed. She had been pitying herself of late a bit more than usual. The family income had been cut down on account of dull business conditions. Her father was viewing matters watchfully, and carefully. Her mother, too, was running the house with as little expense as possible, though without a word of complaint. But Caroline had been annoyed by the restrictions.

"No," said her uncle, "you can't afford to indulge in self-pity. It is a bad habit to get into—this of pitying one's self. It makes one gloomy and discontented; it takes away courage, and hinders one from doing one's best. A girl with her mind fixed on her woes and her own hardships is sure to magnify them. She forgets to count her blessings, and she loses her confidence and her ambition. By thinking only of her own petty troubles and worries, she has no interest or sympathy to bestow on other people, and she becomes so doleful that no one wants to be around her.

"So, my dear, whatever else you can or can't afford least of all to have a complaining spirit, or to lose the power to make light of little discomforts. Learn to think little of your ills, and much of your comforts; share the common load cheerfully, in whatever shoes you must walk."

"They are pretty good looking shoes after all," laughed Caroline, putting out her feet for her uncle to see.—Our Boys and Girls.

THE CHINA DOG

A missionary, who labored for the Lord in India, was on holiday in England. One day in a shop he saw a china dog. Though made of china, it looked very lifelike with its tail curled over its back, its head on one side, and the mouth open, as if it was barking. He bought it and took it out to India. Whatever did he want it for?

He put it in his garden, near the gate, and put up a notice, "Beware of the Dog," in the native language. The heathen people gathered in little knots to look at this dog. What was it for? What use was it? they asked the missionary.

He replied, "It is there to guard my house."

They said, "But it cannot bark, and let you know when the robbers are coming."

"Oh! yes," said the missionary, "it will guard my house, won't it?"

"No, sahab," said the heathen. "It won't bark. It can't bark. It can't guard your house."

Now we shall see why the missionary put a china dog in his garden.

He replied, "My china dog is as good as your wooden and brass idols. My dog cannot bark. Your idols cannot speak. My dog cannot hear the robbers if they come. Your idols cannot hear you pray to them. My china dog is just as good as your idols made by hands. I will leave my china dog in my garden to remind you that your idols are just as useless."

Then the missionary went on to tell of the Living God and the Loving Saviour, and how their sins could be forgiven through that wonderful work done on Calvary's Cross, and by believing on the Lord.

We trust the lesson sank deep in the hearts of those heathen. Perhaps some of my young readers may wish so too. May we ask, Have you really trusted the Lord as your own Saviour? Till you, do you are no better really than these poor heathen. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31).—Our Children.

SPEAKING TRUMPET "RESCUES"

There was a terrific wreck off the coast of Italy. The captain of the life-saving crew, instead of manning the lifeboats, stood on shore and shouted directions through a trumpet to the drowning sailors. The report that went to the government said: "We rendered what assistance we could through the speaking trumpet, but the next morning there were twenty bodies washed ashore." And the church that uses its pastor as its speaking trumpet, and fails to man the lifeboats with the entire crew and push out to save the lost who are going down, will be responsible for a great company who will one day be thrown upon the shores of a Christless eternity.—"Every Member Evangelism."

THE MAN CHRIST JESUS

It is very important to remember that Jesus is always man. If He were not God, His humanity would have no value; but, being God, the fact that He interests Himself in us as a Man, as men whom He is not ashamed to call His brethren, is infinitely precious. He can feel with us, take part in all our circumstances, trials, difficulties, and troubles. He loves us as the Father loved Him, a man and Son on the earth. His love has Divine perfection, but He feels as a man, as a man on the earth, tempted in like manner as we are, apart from sin. He is ever man; He thinks of us, as One who has passed through all these things with Divine love and human sympathy. Not only does He know everything as God, but He has had the experience of man. Precious truth, unfathomable grace!

We have no need of saints—if they could hear us—to move His heart to favor us, to render His love warmer, His interest more profound, or His knowledge of our condition more intimate. But He has had the experience on purpose to be able to understand and sympathize with His own in every circumstance of the life of God in man on the earth. How great is the intensity of the Saviour's love! How near to us! How intelligent and intimate is His heart in the conflict of faith! He knows all, feels all, and is with us in everything to help us. Blessed be His love!

It is possible that He may not reveal Himself to us in visions, but His heart is not colder to us than it was to Ananias (Acts 9). His wisdom is not diminished; His willingness is not weakened to help us, nor is His arm shortened. The intimacy and the confidence of our hearts ought to be the same to tell Him everything; certain it is that His ear is open to listen to us.—J. N. Darby

TEMPTATION

The man who has seen Christ will not be found explaining temptation away. He will not delude himself with vain hopes of living a smooth, untempted life. He will read in the temptation of the Perfect Life that that is impossible for any man. When he is depressed and hungry and exhausted, he will look for the devil as his Lord did; and when he sees him coming, when he hears his words and feels the desire of sin stirring in his heart, he will recognize the old enemy of his Master coming for the old battle, and will pray for his Master's strength in the heart of terrible, inevitable struggle. Look at Christ's temptation. There is one phrase that lights up the whole story—Christ was "led up of the Spirit * * * to be tempted of the devil." He had a certain work to do. That work was not His own, but was His Father's. His Father's Spirit guided Him and told Him how to do it. For some reason (who but that Spirit can say wholly what?), it was necessary that He should meet the devil in the wilderness. Therefore the Spirit led Him there, and, filled with the Spirit all the time that He was there, He came down safe and glorious. We, too, have a work, a duty. Our Father gives it to us as His Father gave His to Jesus. In doing our duty, the Spirit of our Father may often lead us into temptation; but if He really leads us there, He will protect us there.—Phillips Brooks.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD

Pres. of High Point College C. E. Society

HOW TO USE MUSIC IN WORSHIP

Scripture Lesson, Psalm 43:3-5

Suggested songs: Any good devotional hymns are suitable for the meeting, such as "Dear Father and Lord of Mankind" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Music is a praise to God. Souls have been lifted to God on the wings of good music and from cares of earth to the sublimity of heaven. Men have soothed shattered nerves and steeled themselves against dangers and hardships with song. The gerat psalmist found balm for his distressed heart and troubled mind by praise on the harp.

The music for a service should be devotional, inspiring the soul. Some people have discredited the use of musical instruments in worship services. There is a great amount of help to be gained from these instruments. The requisite here as well as for a Christian Endeavor pianist is that it shall be in the hands of a consecrated Christian. The proper kind of instrumental music and hymns of praise lift one into spiritual communion.

Hints for the leader: Make use of a solemn devotional prelude. Use real "Hymns of the Church." Give the background and facts about the authors of the hymns you use. The prayer for the meeting may effectively be a familiar hymn played reverently while all heads are bowed. Be sure every hymn, for this and all meetings, fits the general theme and is selected before hand. The following types of music are suggested for this meeting: group singing, special vocal numbers, instrumental accompaniments, quiet instrumental music.

Poetry to the Point

CORONATION

Some songs set human hearts aflame,
  And one song we recall;
"All hail the Power of Jesus' Name,
  And crown Him Lord of all."

This simple song ascends to God,
  Whose mighty works appal;
"Extol the stem of Jesse's rod,
  And crown Him Lord of all."

Within a consecrated place,
  Resounds from wall to wall;
"Hail Him who saves you by His grace,
  And crown Him Lord of all."

Its tuneful words, sublime and sweet,
  Our heart and soul enthrall;
"Go spread your trophies at His feet,
  And crown Him Lord of all."

◆

—New York City had an immense parade of the Wets. A Chicago man secured a permit for a like demonstration in the Windy City, but nobody joined him!

—Curtiss, Norfolk man, confesses that he has been an impostor in the Lindbergh baby hunt. He imagined the things he reported. His scheme seems to have been to make money off the newspapers.

GOOD-BYE, GOD!"

"Good-bye, God!"
The unbeliever said;
His mind in utter darkness,
The light of faith had fled.

"Goodbye, God!"
On pleasure seeking bent,
He thought there was no need
To have divine assent.

"Goodbye, God!"
He drifted far astray,
Ignored the life to come,
Lived only for the day.

"Goodbye, God!"
Headlong he went the pace,
Sacrificed his gifts,
And thought it no disgrace.

"Goodbye, God!"
Reckless, foolish, wild;
Still God watched over him,
His wayward, wilful child.

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

RUSSIA

Misguided men,
Vainly building
On the shifting sand;
Some tragic day,
What debt to pay,
O thou benighted land.

Misguided men,
Slaves of matter,
Sowing for the morrow,
Keen vigil keep,
Since you must reap
A harvest of dire sorrow.

Misguided men,
What you have lost,
A thousand years or more;
But Christ still waits,
Without your gates,
A Saviour at your door.

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

NOTICE

The Twelfth District Rally will be held in the Methodist Protestant church in Caroleen May 28-29. The charges represented in this district are: Cleveland, Connelly Springs, Bess Chapel-Caroleen, Fallston, and Lincolnton. We desire the fullest measure of co-operation on the part of the pastors and people in making this the best rally we have had. A program is being arranged and will be published soon.

C. E. RIDGE, Chairman.

◆

SEVENTH DISTRICT RALLY

Plans are being made for the Seventh District Rally to be held at Mt. Pleasant church, Mt. Pleasant charge, on the fifth Sunday, May 29. The Seventh District includes the following churches: Mt. Pleasant, Peasant Union, Tabernace, Julian, Liberty, Moriah, and Liberty Grove. The program will include both morning and afternoon services. All who attend are requested to bring lunch.

H. L. ISLEY, Chairman.

SPRING CHURCH CIRCUIT AUXILIARY

The Spring Church Circuit Auxiliary met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Camp, May 6, at 2 p. m. with the president, Mrs. C. E. Demick, in charge. Mrs. H. E. Vassar was devotional leader. Mrs. Vassar also led the society in the prayer. Nine active and one honorary member responded to roll call. Three members were absent. During the business hour some one made the motion that the treasurer be instructed to send a check to Mrs. S. W. Taylor for our entire budget for the year 1932-33. After right much discussion it was decided to do that and the treasurer, Mrs. H. E. Vassar, was instructed to send the check at once to Mrs. Taylor. It was brought out in the discussion that the different boards are sadly in need of money and since we had in our treasury enough to pay our year's budget, we thought best to do it. For some time this auxiliary has been working trying to get enough money to paint the parsonage, (It is badly in need of paint), and we hope to raise enough money this year to accomplish this end.

Up until last year this auxiliary worked as a Circuit Ladies' Aid and they have done and are doing right much local work. After the business session was disposed of Mrs. Rupert M. Robinson, program leader, took charge. "Religion in the Home," was discussed by Mrs. J. M. Dunham. Mrs. William H. Neese read a paper on "The Home and the Community." Mrs. C. E. Demick conducted the Question Box and Mrs. F. L. Tucker reported on the Study Book. Mesdames Dunham and Tucker favored the society with a duet, "Tell Mother I'll Be There."

The meeting closed by repeating in concert the Lord's Prayer. Next meeting to be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Camp, June 1.

MRS. WILLIAM H. NEESE, Reporter.

◆

SEVENTH DISTRICT RALLY

A Seventh District Rally, consisting of Richland and Why Not charges and of Asheboro will be held at Charlotte church on Richland charge the fifth Sunday in May, beginning at 10:00 a. m.

The morning program will me along the line of General Work of the Church with interesting speakers, hymn singing, and special music. The afternoon will be in charge of the women of the district. Interesting speakers are being arranged for, also plenty of good music with quartets as added features.

People of different churches in the district are urged to come and bring a picnic lunch and spend an interesting ad profitable day at Charlotte the fifth Sunday in May.

R. C. Stubbins, Conference Chairman,
Mrs. W. F. Redding, Jr., Chm. Women's Wk.

◆

N. C. LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL PRE-REGISTRATION CAMPAIGN

Asheville	5
Orange Chapel, Saxapahaw	3
Reported last week	12
Total to date	20

T. J. WHITEHEAD.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. Robert Short	$13.00
Mrs. J. F. Cox, State Street	2.00
Mrs. Clay Beck, Pleasant Grove	2.00
Miss Fossie Jones, St. Paul	1.00

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Tabernacle Charge.—The annual memorial exercises were held at Tabernacle church last Sunday with morning and afternoon services. Colonel Junius H. Hardin, of Graham, was the speaker for the morning service. In the afternoon obituaries of the six members who died during the year were read. A number of our members spoke in appeciation of their lives. The climax of the day, perhaps, was the reception of two members on profession of faith, the two sons of Brother and Sister Arthur Bowman. We trust that these boys will grow up to be staunch members of the church.

Vacation Bible schools will start at Julian and Tabernacle churches next Monday, May 23. Shiloh and Julian churches are uniting in holding the school at Julian, showing a splendid spirit of co-operation.

Mrs. E. T. Coble and Mr. Fletcher Horney have our thanks for provisions for the pantry.

H. L. ISLEY.

* * *

First Church, Burlington.—Our attendance has been good for the last two months, both at Sunday school and church services.

Our annual revival, which began May 4th, closed last night. The pastor conducted same and he delivered some wonderful and inspiring messages. Special music was furnished at each service. The church choir co-operated wonderfully with the pastor during the revival. Several dedicated their lives to Christ but not as many as we wished.

Sunday, May 8th, was remembered as Mother's Day at our church. The Philathea class had charge of the program. A corsage of roses was presented to the oldest mother, Mrs. Smith; also to the mother having the largest number of children, Mrs. Z. V. Coble. The program was especially interesting and very touching. At the eleven o'clock service seven mothers and two fathers re-dedicated their lives to Christ.

The pastor, F. W. Paschall, was elected as delegate to the General Conference, meeting in Columbus, Ohio, this week. While he is away, Mr. Lonnie Braxton will have charge of the mid-week prayer service. Rev. C. P. Jerome, father of the pastor of the Webb Avenue M. E. church of this city, will fill the pulpit next Sunday at the eleven o'clock service.

Mr. H. W. Wade, adult superintendent of Sunday school, announced that Memorial Day would be observed in all churches of this city Sunday, May 29th, in memory of the soldiers gone out from our churches living and dead. Each church will be responsible for ten graves.

Home-coming Day, at which time the church will celebrate its 40th anniversary, will be held at this church the fourth Sunday in June. This will be a great day for its members. You don't want to miss it. Everybody is cordially invited. Dr. S. W. Taylor will preach on that day at 11 o'clock and at the evening service one of the pastors who has gone out from this church will be present to make an address. This is just a part of the great program planned. Dinner will be spread on the grounds.

The Woman's auxiliary will be held Monday night of this week in the Hut.

A good attendance was had at the C. E. meeting last night. The mission study held once a montr was conducted last night by Miss Frances Hinshaw. Our C. E. society is supporting a little boy in the foreign field.

The Alamance County C. E. Union held its quarterly rally, Friday evening, April 29th, at South Fork Friends church. Approximately 200 or more people were present. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Tula Paul; vice-president, Henry Overman; secretary, Ruth Hadley; treasurer, Robert Wagoner, and press reporter, Frances Browning.

The Pleasant Hill C. E. society won the the banner for the second time. They have a pepy society and are to be congratulated for the fine work they are doing. A great time was had at this meeting. Miss Frances Browning gave several humorous selections during the social hour. Everything was enjoyed immensely. The Union will meet next time in July at Haw River Christian church.

REPORTER.

* * *

Young Men's Wide-Awake Class, Shiloh.—The young men's class had 60 present, all of which listened very attentively to the lesson which was taught by Mr. Jeff Fritts, a member of the Brotherhood class. We were very glad to have him to teach the lesson for us. He left us some interesting thoughts. His closing thought was: "Let us say that we will live up to the pledge which we made at the altar." We hope that we can live up to the things that we hear from Sunday to Sunday.

We are very proud of the work that our young men are doing. They take an active part in all the work of the church. I am glad to be in a church and community with such fine young men. We hope that we may be able to carry the work on in a way that we may glorify our Lord. We ask the prayers of all the Herald readers that we may be workers in His vineyard.

We were very happy to have a large number present today; also we were glad to have the new member.

CLASS REPORTER.

* * *

Winston-Salem, First.—One new member was received into church yesterday morning, Mrs. J. C. Kapp, coming to us from a Baptist church in Moore county.

Sunday school attendance and church attendance are fairly good considering everything. Sickness and death continue to make inroads upon our attendance. Recently Mrs. L. P. Burns was called upon to give up her mother, Mrs. Mattie Joyner. The funeral was conducted at the Burns home by Bishop Pfohl and Rev. Douglass Rights of the Moravian church and the writer. Wade Moser, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Moser was desperately ill a week ago and his life was almost despaired of, but he is making fine progress now. Clyde Tise, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tise, who has been sick for more than three years is very ill now and weakening from day to day. Brother Josiah Phillips who has been sick for four years lost his eyesight completely a few weeks ago but can see a little again now. Brother J. A. Gwynn who has been ill for a month is slowly recovering. We miss him from church and S. S.

Our Sunday school is putting forth an effort each month to bring its offering for the Children's Home up to $15.00 and has been succeeding very well. We cannot understand why every Sunday school does not give one offering each month to the Home.

There has been a little lull in our Herald Campaign of late due to the fact that we worked our territory so closely last year and it so happens that there are but very few subscriptions expiring just at the present time, but we will reach our quota and do considerably better than that before the year is gone.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

* * *

Kannapolis.—Since our last report we have been progressing nicely; our Sunday school is continually growing. We had present last Sunday, 173, which is the largest number we have ever had. We are still working and praying that it will still continue to grow.

Our C. E. society is moving along well in every way, we have more than 40 members and all I believe are doing their best to make it a greater power for good among the young people.

We observed Mother's Day with special music and with a special message in honor of mother and we believe it was a high hour for everyone present and I think every pew was filled. Just as the pastor was to bring the message his father and mother and some of his brothers and sisters walked in and you know that it was a high hour for him as he did not know that they would be with him on that day.

Last but not least on last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Hampton came by and asked the pastor if he did not want to go for a little ride, and of course he accepted with pleasure, not knowing that they had made plans to give him a surprise; but on our return to our home we found the living room filled with people and we hardly knew what to think but on going to the dining room we found the table piled high with many kinds of good things to eat and we want to thank you good folks for this glad surprise.

C. IVEY SMITH, Pastor.

* * *

Winston, First.—Sunday was an unusually beautiful day in Winston-Salem, cool but not too cool, warm but not too warm, just pleasant. The Sabbath school attendance was very good and church worship was attended by a goodly number also. One new member, Mrs. John Kapp, came into the church Sunday morning; we were indeed glad to welcome her into our midst.

Rev. J. E. Pritchard's sermon was on "Sabbath Observance." The many splendid points, which he passed on to his listeners, no doubt, found their way to the heart and inner-most soul of all. He helped to decide what should and what should not be done on the Sabbath. He said the Sabbath was made for man, a day in which to worship God and to rest from week-day toils.

The Woman's Auxiliary is progressing nicely under the capable leadership of its new president, Mrs. J. E. Pritchard. The Young People's Group or Circle is having a weiner roast at Crystal Lake Monday evening. This is one of several fine groups of the auxiliary. Miss Margaret Smith is the new president of this group and, no doubt, she will be one for the others to feel proud of.

A joint meeting of the Workers' Council and Board of Stewards will be held at the church on Thursday evening. The superintedent, Mr. R. N. Hauser, invited every member of these two organizations and any others of the church that wished to attend to do so. These meetings are always helpful and enjoyable. Discussing betterment for the church is always interesting to those who care to have it interest them. Mr. Hauser is a man who wants to see things go forward, and it certainly wont be his fault if they don't, because he is a wonderful worker and a splendid superintendent.

The Christian Endeavor is growing bigger and better. The programs are very helpful and interesting. Moir Arrington led Sunday night and he did it nicely.

Mrs. J. E. Kirk is the senior sponsor for our Christian Endeavor. Her patience and kindness and helpfulness with quite a bit of urging-on has helped more than anything else in making our society what it now is. May we say "thank you" to Mrs. Kirk for it. We have some very fine worshipful experiences together, and also some jolly good times in our social realm, it all makes our co-laborers see and know us better and vice versa.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Moser is improving; we rejoice with the parents that God has spared his life and seems to be restoring him to health.

Mr. J. A. Gwyn has been ill for sometime; his condition is slowly improving we understand. Mr. Gwyn has been missed a great deal from his class and the other services also. We hope it will soon be possible for his presence again. Mrs. Gwyn has been away due to his illness; she has been missed, too.

Mr. Clyde Tise, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tise, is critically ill. Our sympathy goes out to the family, as they minister unto him.

PAULINE L. BRANSON, Reporter.

* * *

Spring Hill, North Davidson Charge.—Rev. O. C. Loy was with us Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. His subject was, "Justice." The laws of the Lord would guide a nation, state, community or home to the higher things of life. If we fail to obey these laws the result will be shame, trouble, poverty and disappointments. The righteous receive joy, peace and happiness. Justice is righteousness, injustice is unrighteousness. An example of injustice is the Lindbergh case. We do things today that are as bad but we don't realize it and think we are all right. Most unjust is the sinful man and woman of today. To make a person unjust is for that same person to ruin the souls of men. To refuse to be a Christian is another way of being unjust. To illutrate this: Samson was a man of great physical strength. The people of God were in bondage and rather than help them with his power he was subject to a tricky woman and later served as a beast of burden for the Philistines. The outcome of his life was suffering and wretchedness because he would not help God's people while he possessed this physical strength. Sampson was unjust to his people and to himself. Whatsoever we sow, so shall we reap. When we are unjust to our fellowmen we are unjust to ourselves. At the end of the way we will be defeated if we follow this road of injustice. An example of justice is Joseph. God did not forsake Joseph for God will never forsake us if we are true to him."

The five churches of North Davidson charge held a picnic at Canaan Saturday evening at 6 o'clock. Spring Hill was well represented and everyone reported as having a fine time.

We regret to learn that Miss Bessie Swaim has been removed to a private hospital in Brocedo, N. C., but wish for her a speedy recovery so that she may be back with us soon.

Misses Esther Mae Dillon and Vera Paschall were the guests of Edith York Sunday.

Miss Alice Haynes had as her week-end guests, Misses Helen Arnold and Amy Byerly, of Thomasville, N. C.

The Junior C. E. society is ordering several copies of the C. E. World so that they may carry on their work.

EDITH YORK, Reporter.

* * *

Spring Church Charge.—A Mother's Day service was held in two churches on the charge.

Children's Day services will be observed in all three churches. Plans are already on foot.

On Friday night of this week a C. E. society will be organized in the church at Pleasant Hill. In this same church on the third Sunday in June, our revival will begin, with Dr. T. M. Johnson as pulpit help.

The people down here remain mindful of our needs. Since our last report Mesdames H. E. Vassar, J. J. Massey, R. M. Robinson, R. C. Crew, Mr. and Mrs. Littleton Balmer, Mesdames J. W. Crew, J. M. Dunham, Mr. John Hart, all of these have given gifts that are highly appreciated.

Mrs. Rose L. Crew and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Magee are still deprived of attending church. We hope they will all be able to attend the approaching revival in the church they love so devotedly.

Mrs. H. E. Vassar, one of our faithful S. S. teachers at Spring church, was kept at home yesterday on account of sickness.

Miss Brownie Coker, a resident of this town, is in Johnston Willis Hospital, Richmond, Va., having undergone an operation for appendicitis. She is expected home in a few days.

Wm. H. NEESE, Pastor

* * *

West End Tidings.—The pastor and people were well pleased with Joash Day offtring. We had hoped that it might reach $100.00 but our marks were too high by $7.00, the net offering being $93.00.

Mother's Day services with us were impressive. At the Sunday school the church was decorated with beautiful flowers and most everyone wore flowers for mother and some for father. The morning church service was well attended and the pastor used the subject, "Mothers in Pentecost." At the evening service a Mother's Day program was rendered by the young people. This service was very beautiful and appropriate. Every one seemed highly pleased and greatly benefited.

We were indeed glad to have both the Calvary and the Grace congregations represented in our service last Sunday night. The Calvary congregation was represented because of Pastor Bates' being out of town and the Grace congregation was represented by a near neighbor. We are always glad to have these good people with us when the occasion makes it possible and proper for them to visit us.

The family of our good and most faithful brother, C. F. Johnson, has been made truly anxious because of a fall of Mrs. Johnson which resulted in the breaking of an arm and a hip. She is now in the Clinic hospital and is improving as well as could be expected.

Since April 21 the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Adams has been in great sadness because of the death of their daughter Montrose who was a much beloved young lady of 23 years. Montrose was visiting in Washington, D. C., and the message which brought the sad news that she had suddenly passed away brought a great shock to us all. The funeral was conducted by the pastor on April 23 and the body was laid to rest in the city cemetery. Montrose was a girl of a beautiful character and was much loved by those who knew her.

On May 4 the pastor assisted in the funeral of Mr. Robert Leonard who died at the age of 103 years and one day. Mr. Leonard was buried in the cemetery of Red Hill Methodist Protestant church about eight miles west of Greensboro.

Our brother, O. F. Stafford, goes to Columbus, Ohio, this week to attend the General Conference. We wish for him and all others who are to attend this great gathering a pleasant and most profitable time. Those of us who are at home should remember those who go, to care for the affairs of our church, with our kindest thoughts and most earnest prayers.

Our spring revival begins May 29. We trust our good friends will earnestly pray that this revival will be a great success.

GEO. L. CURRY.

* * *

Shiloh.—Today was Home-Coming Day at Shiloh, and one of the best Home-Coming days Shiloh has ever had. The day began with 310 present at Sunday school. Then at 11 a. m. Memorial Day was observed. Immediately after the sermon by Brother Troxler, the church moved in a body to the cemetery, where a memorial service was conducted. Several favorite songs were sung, then scripture reading and prayer, with bowed heads we heard the roll call of the honored dead, which was called by Miss Mabel Berrier. Each grave was bedecked with flowers, not one being missed.

At 2 p. m. we reassembled for the Home-Coming service. Dr. J. Rupert McGregor delivered a soul-stirring sermon using as his text, "What have they seen in thine house?" His theme was "Furnishing the Home." He said money won't make a model home, for money can't get the most worthwhile things. The essential thing that makes a real home is love, each for the other. And then genuine old time gospel religion which includes prayer, Bible reading and the family altar. Also it includes proper regard of husband and wife for each other, proper consideration for the children, and parental contol. Indeed it was a great message and the spell-bound congregation seemed to drink it in.

Short talks were made by Mr. Clate Koonts, Mr. Luther Leonard, Mr. John B. Leonard and Mr. Sid Hedrick. The day was brought to a close with a song by the Troxler family. The song being about "Dear Old Shiloh," and was both pleasing and touching. May Shiloh have many more Home-Coming days, when her sons and daughters from far and near will turn their feet homeward and come again to worship with home-folks.

MRS. W. L. SHOAF, Reporter.

Liberty.—Our Sunday school attendance was very encouraging Sunday morning.

Pastor Chambliss brought a very touching message based on the text: Genesis 3:20. It was a sermon especially prepared for Mother's Day.

Beautiful roses and pins to pin them on were placed on a table in the vestibule for any who had forgotten to wear a flower for Mother's Day.

The fourth Sunday will be observed as Father's Day.

Dr. T. Wingate Andrews, of High Point, delivered the commencement address of the Liberty high school on last Friday morning. This was a very noble speech indeed. He said: "We will have to go back to the Bible to adjust conditions of our country."

The young people from Liberty Methodist Protestant church graduating were: Eva Dameron, Dorothy Isley, Barbara Kirkman, Parks Coble, Clarkston Johnson and Lucile Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hardin spent Mother's Day with their son William Hardin, a student at Wake Forest college.

Rev. M. P. Chambliss was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Deaton at their magnificent home last Sunday.

Miss Mary York has returned home from Pinehurst, where she was principal of Manor high school.

Miss Lula Patterson, of Greensboro, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Mamie Smith.

Miss Dorothy Curtis is very ill as a result of an automobile accident.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

Lexington, State St.—The opening exercises of Sunday school on Mother's Day were conducted by Mr. W. L. Sink's class of junior boys. Touching and appropriate recitations were given by Cecil Evans, Hoyt Aron, and Pruce Leonard. The class sang a song in a very creditable manner that everyone present enjoyed.

The attendance is increasing since the children have recovered from whooping cough, measles and scarlet fever. We had 204 present on Mother's Day and almost that number last Sunday. At the 11 o'clock hour Mr. Hendry brought a fine message and special music was rendered by the choir and by Mrs. Gray Davis in her usual delightful way and also a solo by Mr. D. A. Hatley of Spencer that was quite a treat.

Among the visitors in Lexington on Mother's Day were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Helms of Charlotte, in the home of Mrs. Helms' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walker, Mr. Loyd Leonard of Charlotte, and Miss Adele Williams of Graham, who was then his fiancee, in the home of Mr. Leonard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Blanton and young son, Francis, at the parsonage.

The Sunday school classes of Mrs. C. L. Koonts, Miss Pauline Forcum and Mr. Gardner made a perfect record on this day of so many fine features and high enthusiasm.

Mr. Hendry conducted services of evangelistic nature each night last week except Saturday night. The attendance was good and the meetings very helpful and uplifting

Three new members joined our ranks Sunday morning, these were Christine Lambeth, Donald Lambeth and J. D. Leonard. All were members of the Sabbath school and children from fine Methodist Protestant homes. We were delighted to have them come into church membership.

Many of our people attended the special all-day service at Shiloh last Sunday and all-day it was a great service in every respect.

Miss Williams and Mr. Leonard were married last Thursday at Graham in the home of the bride's parents, Dean Linley officiating. Prof. Stimson, of High Point college, made the instrumental music in his very efficient and beautiful way and Mrs. Gray Davis, sister of the groom, sang "Trees" and "Bird of Love Divine." These young people are among the finest in every sense and have the good opinion and confidece of all who know them. Their many friends wish for them every happiness. After a tour to Washington and other points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard will be at home in Charlotte, N. C.

REPORTER.

First Church, Concord.—We had a fine service at our church on Mother's Day. Our pastor brought a wonderful message. His subject was "Will the Circle be Broken?" Our attendance also was good.

Our revival has closed and a number accepted Jesus as their Saviour. Some times we are discouraged if we don't have a large number of converts, but if we had only one conversion that would mean one more soul won for Christ which would be worth every effort that we could possibly put forth.

We had about 350 present at our Sunday school yesterday with several new members which we welcome into our midst.

The 11 o'clock service proved to be a very interesting one too. Our pastor brought the morning message and I'm sure if we will only listen to the advice which he gives us we will be better Christians and also better church members. At the close of the message the doors of the church were opened and we had four people to unite with our church. We were so happy to have them join our church and the four that joined yesterday made 13 or 14.

Pray for the work here that it may grow in grace from day to day.

REPORTER.

Shiloh C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—The public program given by the C. E. society, led by Mrs. R. S. Troxler, Sunday night, May 8, proved to be a great success. Young people who participated are to be commended on the way in which they carried out their parts. The special songs by the Troxler quartet also were greatly enjoyed.

Those taking part in the program are as follows: Misses Reva Sink, Mabel Berrier, Beatrice Sink, Vesta Troxler, Mrs. Paul Leonard, Mrs. Kyle Sink, and Mrs. R. S. Troxler, Rev. R. S. Troxler, Paul Leonard, Kyle Sink, Ray Leatherman, Fred Berrier, and Lyman Troxler.

Before the public program began the president, Mr. Leatherman, called a business meeting at which time the roll was called, those present for C. E. including visitors, numbered 95.

Sunday night, May 15, despite it being a night following Home-Coming and Memorial day, (an all-day service) 71 young people met at 8 o'clock to hear the lesson on "How May We Work for World Good Will?" led by Miss Exie Leonard. This lesson was well discussed.

Plans have not been officially announced in regard to C. E. next Sunday night as to whether we will have a meeting, but if nothing happens, the fifth Sunday night, May 29, our lesson on "Why Should We Pray?" will be led by Miss Grace Evans. Come and hear this lesson discussed.

C. E. REPORTER.

Democrat.—We observed Mother's Day in two of our churches the second Sunday in May; at Pleasant Gap in the morning and at Pensacola in the evening. Young people sponsored a short program of recitations and singing just before the sermon. The children were under the direction of Mrs. Hughes. We all wish to thank her and others for their splendid work they did in such a short time. The church was filled to its capacity.

We have succeeded in organizing Sunday schools in all the churches with the exception of one; we hope to get one started there before long. The Sunday school at Pensacola has been running since Christmas, and we have a splendid Sunday school here under the leadership of Brother Hughes, a man very much able to fill the place. Our Sunday school at Pleasant Gap has been going about thirty days, and is growing fast. It is under the leadership of Brother Thad Carter, a local preacher on the work. The Sunday school at Mountain Valley is growing very fast under the leadership of Brother Gay Webster. We enjoyed the Sunday school there last Sunday; even the little children have a great interest in the school. We have a good Union Sunday school at Paint Fork; our people are taking a better part than before.

We are preparing for a children or rally day the fourth Sunday in June, at Pensacola; great interest is being taken and we are expecting a successful and a profitable day for us all.

We spent most of last week in the Democrat section, as we are making a change on our parsonage there. It was a large fifteen-room structure, the upper story and the large porch in very bad and dangerous condition. All have been torn off and remodeled into a nice six room bungalow. Our intention is to finish it this week if possible except the paint work. Brother David Carter is overseeing the work, will be done on the church. We are planning to have a small amount of repair work done on the roof on the parsonage at Pensacola in the near future.

We were very much surprised and delighted to have Brother and Sister C. E. Ridge and children stop with us for a few mintues as they were passing through this section. Bro. Ridge stated they were just passing through the mountain section to enjoy the wonderful scenery. We will be glad to have any of the brethren visit us while on their mountain trips. We have just got almost finished a splendid highway through this Black Mountain section, highway No. 695. You will see the most and best mountain scenery through this section of the mountains. We are about ten or twelve miles from Mt. Mitchell, the highest peak of the Blue Ridge. Brother Wilson, one of our members owns most all the land between Pensacola and the peak, and he has built a motor road to the top. It is a wonderful trip.

I wonder if there is any one that reads the Herald who could give us any information concerning Robt. L. Davis, who left our conference around 1900 and went to the M. E. Church, South, conference. If you can I will thank you.

EARL A. COOK, Pastor.

◆

Pleasant Grove.—Mother's Day was observed May 8. A flower committee, composed of Misses Helen Cecil, Hazel Hedrick, and Katie Vigh Burton pinned the appropriate flower on each person as they came in.

Special music for the Mother's Day program was furnished by the Memo Bible class. The pastor made a splendid talk on Mary the Mother of Jesus and mothers of today.

Our annual Memorial service was held Sunday. The speaker for the day was J. M. Bowers, and Carlis Kennedy. Mr. Bowers used as his subject, "The gulf that we all will have to cross in order to reach the Promised Land." Mr. Kennedy talked on education and memorial linked together. The special music was furnished by the Goodwill quartet, of High Point. A picnic dinner was served on the ground which was enjoyed by all.

Our pastor, Rev. D. R. Williams, filled his regular appointment Sunday evening, using as his subject "True Friendship."

The Ladies' Aid society held their regular monthly meeting with Mrs. R. G. Kennedy. She and Mrs. B. E. Kennedy had charge of the program which consisted of songs and readings and a talk by the pastor on should parents choose life problems for their children. The president, Mrs. J. R. Meredith, then took the chair; after discussing the regular business the hostess, Mrs. Kennedy, served a luncheonette.

The Sunshine Auxiliary met Monday evening with Mrs. Don Newby. It was decided at the meeting to save a penny on every rainy day to add money to the treasury. After the business the hostess served sandwiches, cake, and grape juice.

REPORTER.

◆

First Church, High Point.—On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the pastor, Rev. R. I. Farmer, delivered a very unusual and remarkable sermon on "When Is Our Work Ended?" "George Eastman, who made a fortune and attained nation-wide fame by his kodak, recently made the statement, 'My work is finished. Why wait?', and then killed himself. A great many people are asking themselves this question today, 'Whats the use of living?' America leads in many things, but the tragedy is that it also leads other nations in the number of homicides and suicides. Why is it that men, who have mastered other things, take their own lives? All I know is my conviction that outside of insanity men and women will be held accountable for self-destruction. A startling fact to me is that more people among the educated classes commit suicide than among the laboring classes. A life centered on self, dependence upon material things, warps the mind and spirit. God said 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant' only to those who carry on to the end, and 'we shall reap if we faint not.' Christ had a hard and lowly life, more disappointment, and more ignominy was heaped upon Him than any mortal being, but what did he do? He waited the Father's hour. Most of us have an excessive fear of death, while others have a great desire to be rid of life and all its toils and hardships, sorrow and suffering. In this life there are responsibilities and duties which we cannot escape from bearing. Life is born of God, and must continue unbroken until He sees fit to recall it. Trouble or loss of property or loved ones does not justify suicide. Nobody can afford to say 'My work is finished.' I beg of you, my beloved, to face the trial of life courageously. It is the truest value to live on in the assurance, 'Though He slay me, yet will I trust in Him'.

"To every man upon this earth,
God gives a burden to be carried down
The road between the cross and crown;
No lot is wholly free,
He gives the one to thee."

God alone can say when our work is finished.

In the Sunday evening service the annual Florence Nightingale Day was observed, and the theme presented by the minister was, "Trained in Consideration for Others." The nurses of High Point, both graduate and student, and doctors were specially invited guests. The male quartet from the high school, composed of Messrs. Curtis Newton, Kelman Gomo, Dallas Goodman, and William Van Deckle sang two numbers very beautifully: "Lo! How Like a Rose E'er Blooming" and "Like Shadows Falling."

The different circles of the Woman's Auxiliary met Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the following homes: No. 4, Mrs. James Ryan chairman, with Mrs. Clyde Cox; No. 5, Mrs. C. L. Whitaker chairman, with Mrs. J. H Pritchard; No. 6, Mrs. S. D Shelton, chairman, with Mrs Ross Davis; No. 7, Mrs. J. C. Allred chairman, with Mrs E. L. Douglas; No. 8, Mrs. R. H. Gunn chairman, with Mrs. J. S. Hilton; No. 2, Mrs. Lucy Harper chairman, will meet Tuesday evening with Miss Clara Hayworth; No. 3, Miss Naomi Morris chairman, on Thursday evening at 7:30 with Miss Blanch Burgess.

Mrs. Lousada A. Bean died Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Miss Lillie Bean, at 1210 Shelton Street, where she had made her home for six years. She was a member of Pleasant Hill Methodist Protestant church in Randolph County, where she had been an active member for several years. Born December 16, 1858 in Wilkes County, she married Mr. Henry Bean, who died eight years ago. Surviving sons and daughters are the following: E. H. Bean, of Augusta, Ga.; J. W. Bean, of Randleman; Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Mrs. C. J. James, Miss Lillie Bean, of High Point, Mrs. G. S. Brown, of Asheboro; Mrs. E. T. Etheridge, of Gastonia; and Mrs. W. G. Martin, of Rocky Mount. Short funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. Geo. L. Reynolds, Rev. R. I. Farmer and Rev. J. D. Williams on Saturday at 12:30 o'clock, after which the funeral party left for Pleasant Hill church in Randolph County. Final services here were in charge of the pastor, Rev. G. L. Reynolds, assisted by Dr. Williams, of Welch Memorial, and Rev. R. C. Stubbins, of Asheboro. During the services a quartet, Messrs Noah Davis, Carry Davis, Robert Yow and Arnold J. Koonce sang several old-time hymns. Burial was made in the church cemetery by the side of her husband. Her daughter, Miss Lillie Bean, is a highly esteemed and faithful member of First church, and the warm sympathy of a large number of friends is extended to her in her great loss, and to Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, who although she is a member of Welch Memorial, has been a faithful worker in the Woman's Auxiliary of First church.

To Mrs. W. A. Davis, who has suffered a great loss in the death of her mother, Mrs. Amanda Dean, which occurred last Sunday morning at her home on Route No. 2, our hearty sympathy is offered. Mrs. Dean had been ill for several months. She is survived by her husband, W. C. Dean, a son, R. L. Dean, and her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Davis, all of High Point. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Mitchell's Grove church by Rev. E. O. Peeler, pastor, and burial was made in the cemetery there.

The formal ceremony of investing the seniors with the cap and gown was held Saturday morning in the auditorium of High Point college with Prof. C. R. Hinshaw presiding. Dr. P. S. Kennett, presented the 42 members for formal investiture, and each senior was attended by a sophomore. Dr. G. I. Humphreys delivered the address. The service was impressive, and is an annual affair. Marshals for the occasion were Dwight Davidson, chief, Carl Smith, William Howard, Clarence Morris, Misses Agnes Ingram, Irma Paschall, and Jessie Smith. Nat M. Harrison, Jr., is mascot of the class.

Messrs. C. C. Robbins, A. M. Rankin, Lewis E. Teague, Dr. G. I Humphreys, Dean P. E. Lindley, Dr S. W. Taylor and Rev. N. M. Harrison have gone by motor to Columbus, Ohio, to attend the sessions of the General Conference, and plan to be absent ten days.

Rev. and Mrs. R. I. Farmer and children, Mary Elizabeth and Joseph, left early Monday morning for Ohio. They are driving through the country. While Mr. Farmer attends General Conference, Mrs. Farmer and children will be the guests of relatives at Dennison and Wellsville.

We are much pleased to learn that W. C. Hammond, Jr., young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hammond, is improving after an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. E. L. Douglas, secretary of Literature of the Woman's Auxiliary, offers two prizes for the largest number of new subscriptions and renewals to the Missionary Record; first prize is ten blooming-size Regal Lily bulbs and the second is five bulbs of the same beautiful flowers. Winner of the first prize must secure two or more new subscriptions, and the second must have one or more new ones. Each new subscriber counts 25 points, and each renewal 15 points. Fifty-three women of the auxiliary are subscribers. This contest will close June 30.

Among those who attended the funeral services for Dr. L. L. Hobbs, president emeritus of Guilford College, on last Sunday afternoon at his late home were noted Dr. C. H. Hinshaw, Dr. P. S. Kennett, Mrs. R. T. Pickens, her brother, William J. Armfield, of Asheboro, and Miss Virginia Ragsdale, of Jamestown. Dr. Hobbs served as president of the college

◆

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Brown

After an illness of less than a week in a High Point hospital, Evelyn Brown, age 12 years and a few months, departed this life March 24, 1932. Death resulted from appendicitis and pneumonia. All was done for her recovery, but God saw fit to take her to be with Him. It is hard for us to understand why such a dear, sweet one should be taken, but God alone does all things well. Some time we will understand. She was such a likeable child; to know her was to love her. She was such a lover of small children; would have them in her arms or around her most of the time. She loved her Sunday school and was always there when health would permit, she having been a sufferer from rheumatism for some time. The large crowd present for the funeral and the many and lovely floral offerings gave sufficient proof of the high regard and love in which Evelyn was held, and also expressed to those most keenly bereaved the sympathy and love that are bestowed upon them by friends and loved ones.

Funeral was conducted at Mt. Lebanon Methodist Protestant church, Randleman, by Rev. T. A. Wililams. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G Brown; two sisters, Elizabeeth and Margaret, and four brothers.

Barnhill

Lycurgus H. Barnhill died May 4th, having attained the age of 54 years. He was never married, however he provided a home for his mother during her lifetime. Mr. Barnhill united with Bradford M. P. church in boyhood, but after the church became extinct he never changed or joined another church.

The funeral services were conducted by the writer at the home of his brother, Walter Barnhill, and interment took place in Enfield. Sympathy is extended to the brothers and sisters of the deceased.

H. FREO SURRATT.

Sledge

Funeral service for Mrs. Caiphas Sledge was held from the home the second Sunday in May. She had been in declining health for several months. She was nearly 64 years old, and for the greater part of this period was a member of Spring church. She is survived by her husband and four children.

Wm. H. NEESE.

Resolutions of Respect

The Woman's auxiliary of the Methodist Protestant church wishes to pay tribute to the memory of one of its oldest members. On Good Friday evening, March 25, the earthly life of Mrs. Lillie M. Whitaker came to a close. Although her church membership was at Whitakers Chapel, she was a charter member of this auxiliary. She was ever loyal and faithful, contributing without stint of her time, her labors, and her means. Her interest and devotion never flagged, and her presence was an inspiration at the meetings.

Therefore, be it Resolved:

First, That this auxiliary has sustained the loss of one of its most devoted and useful members, whose genial preence and spirit of helpfulness will be greatly missed by us, individually, and as an organization.

Second, That while we are deeply cognizant of our loss, we feel that she has entered into realms of eternal light.

Third, That we extend to the members of her family our most sincere sympathy.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family, to The Progress, and to The Methodist Protestant Herald.

MARY B. COLLINS,
MRS. H. F. SURRATT,
Committee.

Hawkins

On Friday night, April 22, 1932, about midnight, death entered our community and took from it a beloved friend, husband and father, Sanford B. Hawkins. He was 58 years, seven months and 19 days old, and leaves to mourn their loss three brothers, several nieces and nephews, a wife and three children, Clarence, Otis, and Helen.

He was a member of Hawkins Chapel church and attended until his health failed him.

Funeral service was conducted at home Sunday by Rev. Mr. Bradley, as his pastor, Rev. P. E. Bingham, could not be here. His body was laid to rest in the family cemetery with beautiful flowers to show a last tribute of love.

His face has passed from the hearthstone
  Like stars at the coming of dawn;
As echoes that drift into silence,
  The sound of his footfalls is gone.

While in the silent grave he lies,
  Beneath the crumbling sod,
The angel with his spirit flies
  To bear it home to God.

Bright mansions fair He will prepare
  For those who in him trust,
And come again and take them there
  To live among the just.

Yet when we think that God knows best
  We try our tears to dry,
For well we know if we are faithful,
  We shall meet him bye and bye.

A niece,
MRS. CLAUDE HAWKINS.

Resolutions of Love and Respect

We, the members of the Graham Auxiliary, desire to record the passing of one of our most beloved members, Mrs. Z. E. Noah.

She was a faithful member of Graham M. P. church, a zealous and untiring worker in our Auxiliary, and a devoted wife and mother.

Whereas the church will miss her sunny, cheerful life and our Woman's Auxiliary will keenly feel the loss of one of its most faithful, loyal and consecrated members who never shirked a duty to the organization but always rendered her service with a smile.

And whereas the home is made sad in the loss of this wife and mother. Be it Resolved:

First That we bow in humble submission to the will of God, and say Not our will but thine be done.

Second, That we shall ever remember the noble service rendered and the sweet influence that radiated from the life of this servant of God.

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy to the Methodist Protestant Herald, The Missionary Record, and a copy recorded in the minutes of the Woman's Auxiliary.

MISS LIZABEL FOUST.
MRS. P. H. AMICK,

Thompson

Mr. John F. Thompson departed this life April 13, 1932. At his passing he was almost 83 years old. He had been in feeble health for several years. He was critically ill several days before his death and his suffering was intense.

Mr. Thompson had a great love for God's Word. He possessed a New Testament with the Psalms in large type and that Book showed the marks of constant usage. He found great delight in reading God's Word. He would always ask the minister to read and pray with him. Fellowship and communion with God brought real, genuine peace and joy into his soul.

The funeral was conducted from the home by the writer and the body was buried in the Mount Hermon cemetery.

Mr. Thompson is survived by his wife, one daughter, one sister, one brother, other relatives and a host of friends. May the bereaved be comforted with the all sufficient grace and peace of a loving Father.

FRED W. PASCHALL.

Turner

About 2 o'clock on March 13, 1932, death entered the home of Mr. T. W. Turner and claimed his dear mother, Mrs. John Turner. On March 13, 1930, Mrs. Turner fell and broke her hip and was helpless until death. Everything possible was done to relieve her suffering but death came as relief.

Mrs. Turner was an excellent Christian woman, always trying to help others along the pathway of life. Her beautiful Christian life was an open book, revealing to all that she came in contact with her heavenly Father.

Mrs. Turner was 77 years, 1 month and 16 days of age. Early in life she united with the Methodist church and later joined with Rose Hill M. P. church. She gave her life to Christ when but a young girl and was ready to work in His service at any time until her death.

EULA and ROXIE MANGUM, Nieces.

Russell

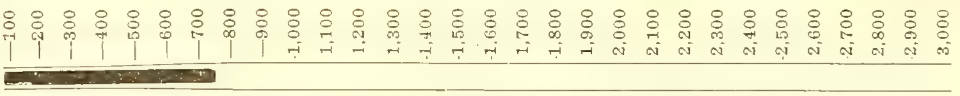
William Thomas Russell, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Russell, of Love Joy church, was born July 19, 1930, and died April 13, 1932.

Father, mother, five brothers, two sisters, grandmother and grandfather are left to mourn his going. He lived long enough to greatly endear himself not only to the entire family but to many others of the community.

To the bereaved ones we extend the hand of sympathy. May all who mourn be comforted in the thought that he is safe in the arms of our Savior whose atoning blood has made it possible for all who die in infancy to be saved. His little body was very beautifully laid away in the Love Joy church cemetery, the funeral being conducted by the pastor, assisted by Rev. J. W. Hulin, former pastor.

GEO. L. REYNOLDS.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	11½
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	2¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	11½
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	..
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10
Concord	33	15
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2½
Draper	7	2
Enfield	16	13¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	7½
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	8¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro, Grace	42	25
Greensboro, Calvary	25	10
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	8½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	12½
Halifax	52	13
Haw River	49	11½
Henderson	38	12¾
High Point, First	72	31
High Point, Lebanon	31	18½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	2½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6
Liberty-Moriah	31	15¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	8½
Mebane	28	3
Mecklenburg	38	3¼
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	13½
Mount Pleasant	62	21½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	17
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	11½
Pleasant Grove	19	13½
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Richland	42	1½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	20½
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	16
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	9¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
Winston, First	27	24½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

◆

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

27 years, having resigned in 1915. He was a man of gentle dignity, great spiritual power, and blessed the lives of the legion of young men and women, who came under his guidance and teaching, with unusual force of character and love of "whatsoever things are pure, honest, and of good report." He had a splendid assistant in the person of his admirable wife, the late Mrs. Mary Mendenhall Hobbs, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nereus Mendenhall. His former pupils rise up and call him blessed.

◆

Lexington, Mt. Carmel.—Our work is moving along nicely. The Sunday school attendance continues to grow. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock our pastor preached another of his splendid sermons, to a small but attentive congregation.

Next first Sunday, June 5, will be Memorial day at Mt. Carmel. Some outstanding speakers will be secured for the day. There will also be some good singers present both morning and afternoon. Dinner will be served on the ground in picnic style. It is our aim to have a buch of flowers on every grave in the cemetery.

ZULA FRITTS, Reporter.

◆

NINTH DISTRICT

The Ninth District including the charges of Mocksville, Shiloh, South Lexington, and State Street will hold their quarterly meeting at State Street church, Lexington, N. C., on the afternoon of May 29th beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

An interesting program has been arranged and pastors and members from all charges are asked to be present.

G. H. HENDRY, Chairman.

Methodist Protestant Herald

J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Siler City S. S.	$ 3.56
Mt. Pleasant S. S., N. Davidson	2.30
Bethel S. S., Flat Rock	1.10
Pleasant Union S. S., Mt. Peasant	1.80
Fountain Place S. S.	6.50
Friendship S. S., Shiloh	2.50
Hickory Ridge, Forsyth	4.85
Glen Raven C. E. Soc., clothing child	5.00
Miss Kate Medlock, Harmony, Ware Shoals, S. C.	1.00
State Street S. S.	11.50
The W. S. Cecil Class, Pleasant Grove, clothing child	5.00
Concord S. S.	20.00
Bess Chapel	4.00
Center, Alamance	3.50
Haw River S. S., Glen Raven	4.40
West End, Greensboro	3.00
Shoals, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	4.85
Salem S. S., Saxapahaw	5.34
Calvary S. S.	14.00
Mt. Moriah, Cleveland, Memorial Service	4.43

Clothing and Other Gifts

The Moffitt Underwear Company, High Point, N. C., 110 suits of underwear for boys.

The women of Midway church, sewing on girls' clothing.

We are certainly thankful for these gifts of money and clothing and service.

For a number of years the Moffitt Underwear Company has donated all the summer underwear for our boys. The gift this time is doubly appreciated because of the difficulty with which manufacturing plants of that kind are kept running. May God richly bless all who have given.

This Report

We said last week that we did not expect to be here this week to make a report. But some how the Dear Lord ruled differently. When the time came for us to start to Ohio for the Woman's Missionary Convention there were measles, mumps and whooping cough among our children, and not enough workers to take care of the situation here without us. Necessity compelled us to stay, and we are happy.

The Lord bless and lead in all actions in the General Conference.

Faithfully,

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

-Governor Aycock's statue with that of Governor Vance will stand in North Carolina's niche of honor in the Capitol at Washington.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., MAY 26, 1932 NUMBER 29

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

The Kingdom Like a Mustard Seed

The world has kingdoms great and small:
Her kingdoms rise, her kingdoms fall:
They come and go and are no more,
They take their place with things of yore.

With pomp and power they make display,
They bluster through their little day:
They storm the earth, make nations quake,
Then yield their power, which others take.

Their kings themselves are mortal men,
With puny might and bounded ken:
From palsied hands their scepters fall,
Their bodies lie in death's great hall.

The Kingdom like a mustard seed
To greater things our minds will lead:
Prevailing not by force or threat,
Its golden sun will never set.

Beginning small, its form will grow
Till all the nations see and know:
Its glory will the heavens fill
And ages see its increase still.

Would you the secret like to know
Of this great Kingdom's spreading so?
The cause lies not in earthly thing:
This Kingdom has a perfect King.

General Conference Notes

The Conference met May 18 in Columbus, Ohio, for its 26th quadrennial session. A service of worship was conducted by President J. C. Broomfield. The roll was called by the Secretary, Rev. C. W. Bates. The President offered a program of procedure authorized four years ago. This was adopted by the Conference.

The bar of the Conference was fixed.

Dr. S. W. Taylor of North Carolina was called to the pulpit to deliver the Conference Sermon. His theme was "Jesus and Our Problems." He emphasized the sufficiency of Jesus for all the tasks of His church.

A communion service was held by the President, assisted by four ministers.

The first afternoon service was one of song conducted by Dr. E. D Stone of Baltimore. Dr. T. M. Johnson led in prayer.

Dr. C. E. Beck read the report of the Executive Committee, which was referred to the Committee on the State of the Church.

The President read his quadrennial report. His work had involved thousands of miles of travel in the interest of the church as well as attendance at the meetings of various church boards.

When the hour for the election of General Conference officers arrived the President appointed tellers. A motion to do away with a traveling president was offered by Dr. T. M. Johnson and Dr. George R. Miller. This was tabled and the election proceeded. Two nominations were made for President. Dr. A. J. Allen of the Pittsburgh Conference nominated Dr. J. C. Broomfield. Dr. T. M. Johnson nominated Dr. J. H. Straughn. Dr. Broomfield's nomination was seconded by Dr. J. C. Williams of Ohio, J. O. Bogart of Indiana, Rev. H. J. Hescott of Michigan, Dr. S. W. Taylor, Dr. L. B. Smith of Maryland, W. C. Perkins of Pittsburgh. Dr. Straughn's nomination was seconded by W. C. Scott of Maryland, G. O. McMillan of Texas, J. Bibb Mills of Alabama, Dr. George R. Brown, Dr. R. L. Shipley of Maryland, Dr. E. A. Sexsmith of Maryland, C. N. Spence of Maryland. The number of votes cast was 161: Dr. Broomfield 90, Dr. Straughn 71. On Dr. Straughn's motion Dr. Broomfield's election was made unanimous. Rev. C. W. Bates was unanimously elected Secretary and Rev. J. S. Eddins of Alabama Statistical Secretary.

Wednesday evening was given over to the welcome ceremonial. In behalf of the church the pastor, Rev. O. E. Ford, welcomed the Conference; in behalf of the Ohio Conference, the President, Dr. J. C. Williams; in behalf of the City of Columbus, a delegate of the Mayor; in behalf of the State of Ohio, the Governor, Hon. George White.

Thursday morning, after the devotions, roll call and reading of the minutes, reports began to come in. Dr. G. W. Haddawy reported for the Board of Missions; Dr. F. W. Stephenson for the Board of Education; Dr. Lawrence Little for the Young People's Work, formerly so-called.

Dr. J. W. Hawley of Pittsburgh spoke of the imperative need of increased support for our educational and missionary work and moved that a committee of twelve be appointed to consider the matter and make recommendations. The motion prevailed.

Dr. J. C. Williams moved that the American Hotel Association be requested to call off its campaign for the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

Dr. J. H. Straughn made his report as Treasurer and Promotional Secretary.

At 11 o'clock it was the order of the day to hold a memorial

(Continued on Page Seven)

WHAT SHOULD THE MINISTER BE SAYING THESE DAYS?

By Rev. Luther K. Long

The average minister is not, it must be admitted, just what he used to be thought to be. He is not the only educated man —not always the best educated man in his community. Others share with him in public spirit and in moral passion for the well-being of the human race.

But the minister, "as is a minister," is still an outstanding member of society and should have something of value to communicate as he speaks from Sabbath to Sabbath. Having many things to say he cannot say everything each time he speaks, nor should he always place the emphasis on the same spot.

As times change, and conditions differ, and the needs of the people vary, the minister must diversify his message. Just now the minister should be alert to sense the varying needs and to adapt his message to bring all the inspiration and relief possible. Here are some suggestions:

1. The minister should bear a message of comfort. Always there has been need for comfort, because always there have been sickness and suffering, disappointment and sorrow, hardship and poverty. These are falling with specially crushing weight in these days. Henry Ward Beecher testified in the last years of his life to the satisfaction he had in the comfort he had brought to those who needed it. Many persons had told him that when they had been cast down and all but hopeless they had found comfort and uplift in the services in Plymouth Church, and especially in Mr. Beecher's sermons. No minister should ever forget the admonition: "Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God."

2. The minister should assure the people that there is a Divine Order. This is my Father's world, and God is ruling in it. All things are working together for good to them that love God. Clouds and darkness may be round about God, but justice and judgment are the habitation of His throne. It is difficult now for some people to believe that a brave life, a good life, an unselfish life, is worth while. The minister should be able—by means of his sermons and personal contacts—to assure people that God is still ruling in righteousness. This will enable them, on their own account, to pray and to believe.

3. The minister's message should drive away the sense of defeat. The feeling of defeat and failure is abroad in the land today. And this is mostly the people's fault. With money coming easy there was too much expansion. We boosted our expenditures too high. Now many of us are defeated---licked. We wish we had bought a smaller car, we are letting the radio go back, we have to economize on gas and tires,we can't keep up payments on the expensive house we never should have contracted for. We are gloomily wearing the old suit and doing without the top coat. Many churches overbuilt, and find it difficult to meet interest charges on debts. People are not being attracted to the big debt-burdened church as we thought they would—it is lonely there. Missionary and educational enterprises have been expanded beyond the ability of the churches to sustain them; and the over-head is very much too high. It will be a brave thing for the minister to take a heavy cut, along with everybody else, but he must do it. The right level of ambition and undertaking must be reached. People have lived happily in smaller and more simply furnished houses, have worshipped and done splendid work in smaller and simpler houses of worship. They can do these things again. Overstraining is what defeats and kills in any sphere of life. The minister, by word and example, must lead the people to believe that we are not licked yet, that we can and will take the pain and loss necessary to adjust ourselves, and that we will conserve in our hearts and minds the imperishable things of the gospel by which men have always lived the triumphant life.

4. "It Is I; Be Not Afraid," said Jesus to His disciples as He approached them that night of storm on the sea of Galilee. Fear is bondage. Fear has torment. More and more people are suffering from fear in these trying days. This man has a job, but doesn't know how soon he may lose it. This family has plenty of food now, but what about next winter? This man is caring well for his wife and children now, but what about their home and the education of the children when he is thrown out of employment? This old couple have lived their life and done their work, what will they do when the small balance in the bank is gone? Here is a trying task for the minister, whose own affairs may not be in the best condition. Can he quiet their fears? He must have in his own heart and commend to them the perfect love that casteth out fear. He must be so conscious of the divine presence as to say to them with assurance that the life is more than meat and the body than raiment. We brought nothing into this world, and whether we take anything of value out of it depends on the state of mind with which we face such times as are now in front of us. How the people generally face these conditions depends to no small extent, on the fearless courage with which the minister speaks, and lives.

> O for a faith that will not shrink
> Though pressed by many a foe,
> That will not tremble on the bring
> Of any earthly woe;
>
> A faith that shines more bright and clear
> When tempests rage without,
> That, when in danger, knows no fear,
> In darkness feels no doubt;
>
> Lord, give me such a faith as this,
> And then, whate'er may come,
> I taste e'en now the hallowed bliss
> Of my eternal home.

◆

—A reader wishes to know what we meant in the issue of May 12 when we wrote: "We presume there is such confidence in the chosen representatives that no special instructions are considered necessary or proper." The context should reveal the meaning. Brother Burgess had asked for advice from our readers. When none was received the situation seemed to call for a word of explanation. The lines quoted above are our word of explanation. What other charitable explanation can there be?

THE HERALD CAMPAIGN

The Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home

This is the last issue of the Herald before the June Campaign starts, to complete our Herald quota. There are two ways of reaching your quota, one to just wait for present subscribers to renew, and that might do had we enough subscribers, but as it is that way will not do, because all subscribers for last year only totaled about 1,250, which would not give us half enough if every subscriber renewed, so we must do some other way, and that other way is to get new subscribers. So let our June Campaign take care of such renewals as expire but most especially let our June Campaign mean a visit to every home that is not now a subscriber. You not work a great number of persons in a short time, and in this connection here is a sales tip from a Pastor, who was the first one to raise his quota in this conference year. He said, "It takes just about an hour to canvass a member and get his subscription." I have found this to be true from my own experience. When you have talked for an hour about the Herald to each prospect, you will begin to get results. Try it.

We ask each Subscription Chairman to work especially hard during the month of June. And to Pastors we want you to get behind the Campaign and make it the one thing you do in June.

The writer notes Brother Pritchard's promise that his quota and more will be raised. Let us hear from more of the Pastors through the Herald*;* tell us of your co-operation and it will strengthen the rest of us to do our best.

Did you note in last week's Herald how Denton came up? Brother Short is doing good work in this campaign. It is fine to see these large rremittances coming, they are certainly needed.

In the issue of July 14th we plan to have another table showing the standing of the several charges by percentages, similar to the one on page 15 of the May 12th issue, only we are expecting some of the charges to change places Those charges that work will have a new place number, nearer the head of the list and those that do not work will find themselves nearer and nearer the bottom. All together let's put the Herald on a self-sustaining basis.

E. L. Douglas, Chairman
Directing Committee.

◆

WHEN THE SALOON RULES

I am weary of saloon domination. I am weary of the saloon's open alliance with vice, its open contempt of law. I am weary of a condition of things where the man whose business it is to make the law must hold his office by consent of the man whose business it is to break the laws.—Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, before prohibition.

◆

—Republican Germany is waking up to the danger that may lurk in the atheistic organizations of Communists, and President von Hindenburg has ordered their dissolution. The government explained that the order against the so-called "godless" organizations was intended to spike the Communist attempt to prepare for proletarian revolution by undermining Christian culture.—Selected.

AN ADDRESS DELIVERED BY CHAPLAIN JOHN HALL, U. S. ARMY, BEFORE GENERAL CONFERENCE OF M. P. CHURCH IN OHIO

May 20, 1932

The Army of the United States has three components: the Regular Army, the National Guard, the Reserves. Each of these has its chaplains. Regular Army chaplains serve throughout the year at military posts, on Army transports, in camps and in Army hospitals. National Guard chaplains usually train with their organization during the annual two weeks training period and render occasional service throughout the year. Reserve chaplains may be called to active duty for not more than two weeks of each fiscal year. These chaplains come from the various religious groups in proportion to the strength shown by those groups in the census returns. If one group fails to supply its quota others provide the necessary number. There are at present 1,341 chaplains in the service of whom 119 are in the Regular Army.

The commissioning of chaplains is a direct declaration by our Government that religion has a place as one of the conserving and constructive forces in the life of the nation. This recognition has not been granted without dispute, in fact there have been times when there were no chaplains because some persons in authority believed them unnecessary. The churches have never refused to provide them—not even when the number of clergymen was insufficient to supply the wants of the civilian population. There have always been those who argued against any official acknowledgement of spiritual values on the part of our nation. On the other hand many thoughtful leaders within and without the Church are so thoroughly convinced of the need of this influence for the defenders of our Government that they have freely labored without expectation of material reward to retain all that we have gained for our chaplains and to secure the guarantee that they may devote their whole time and energy to their professional duties.

Army chaplains are all clergymen regularly ordained or otherwise set aprt by some recognized religious denomination. An applicant, to have hope of favorable consideration, must be in good standing in his own denomination and must have its approval of his application for a commission. His education must fit him to meet and converse intelligently with a private in the ranks or the Commander-in-Chief. The requirements are exacting. The candidate should have had sufficient experience to indicate that he is qualified for successful work with real men who are living real lives in a busy world.

While in the service he wears the uniform of the men with whom he has cast his lot, because it is necessary for the close contact which he has with them, because it conveys to them knowledge of the fact that he accepts the same hazard they have accepted, and because the uniform is a thing of dignity and honor.

He is a commissioned officer not because it sets him apart from or above the enlisted personnel—I wish to make this statement emphatic—but because his commissioned status gives him facility for rendering service to all Army personnel. When he has opportunity to serve a fellow officer he is at ease on a plane of equality and when he approaches a commanding officer as the advocate of enlisted personnel, as occasion may require, he has a position which commands a hearing and helps to secure adequate consideration.

The duties of a chaplain are fixed by Army Regulations as: "Closely analogous to those performed by clergymen in civilian life, modified only by the peculiar conditions attaching to military life, and especially by the necessity that each chaplain shall, so far as practicable, serve the moral and religious needs of the entire personnel of the command to which he is assigned, either through his own personal services or, through the co-operative efforts of others." The chaplain obviously comes into the Army to serve the spiritual interests of all its personnel with whom he makes contact. He ministers not only to the immediate personnel but also to their parents, wives and children. This requires that he shall have positive religious convictions, deep interest in human souls and broad sympathy.

His first duty and opportunity is that of living an exemplary life, "Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the Great God and our Savior Jesus Christ, who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people zealous of all good works" He comes as the representative of a force not visible to the natural eye and of a Spirit above natural vision. He must make God and the God-like life real in a world of material force busy with some of the harshest facts humanity ever faces. And the best point for beginning his ministry is in having his own life above reproach, so far as that is possible in regenerate man, and to so illustrate unselfish devotion to the welfare of all men by his own walk and conversation that his preaching shall be heard for his work's sake. He is a daily epistle read by sharp and discerning eyes, and if he does not read well he cannot preach successfully.

One feature of a chaplain's service is what my own church terms "the ministry of serving love." That is the faculty of keeping the ears ever open to the cry of distress and the ability to find practicable means for alleviating the harshness of routine duties and softening the blows of misfortune. For example, we may supply reading matter to prisoners, hospital patients or men on lonely outposts, or we may care for the families of prisoners or provide emergency relief for the family of a man whose income is temporarily insufficient for their need, or we may offer Christian sympathy when a great sorrow enters a comrade's life. All real pastors do these things as a means of access to the souls of their parishoners and as an expression of fraternal love. The possible contacts of this kind in the Army are infinitely varied and multiplied and their spiritual value beyond computation. Since the chaplain is a true pastor no opportunity for service can be too small or too great to find a place in his program.

The chaplain is required to hold religious services for such of his men as he can so serve personally and to arrange services for others through the co-operative aid of other clergymen. He may hold services for particular groups, e. g., for members of his own church, but is expected to hold general services or to arrange for such services so that provision shall be made for the spiritual needs of all. It is the duty of the commanding officer to assist him by setting apart a suitable place for religious services and by publishing notice of such services and by otherwise contributing to the success of the program for teaching morals and religion. A few military posts have suitable chapels, some of which are beautiful. Many posts lack chapels which are worthy of the majesty of Him whose altars they contain.

To preach the Gospel by precept and example is as great a task as any man may undertake and as great an honor as any man may desire. The preaching of the Gospel to men who, because of the attitude of some toward those who wear our uniform, always have some measure of isolation and who are often in stations remote from centers of population, seems to me to be one of the important tasks of the church. When, in addition, thousands of women and children suffer the same isolation endured by their husbands and fathers, we feel that we make no unreasonable request when we ask that some of the ablest pastors and preachers shall be loaned to us for service as chaplains and shall be given heartiest support, co-operation and fervent prayer while so serving. All men need divine guidance and help, and especially those in key positions, upon whom the country must depend in time of storm or misfortune, have particular need to live in intimate daily communion with God.

Some of the chaplain's finest opportunities for service come in the summer camps. Here Reserve, National Guard and Regular Army chaplains meet for fellowship and mutual aid. Here provision must be made for the boys in the Citizens' Military Training Camps, many of whom are away from home for the first time, living in a strange world and meeting novel problems. Here students from schools meet in the Reserve Officers' Training Camps with their active souls seeking adventure and open to impressions from many sides Here National Guard has been released from the usual tasks and restraints of the daily job and is finding fresh fields of enterprise. Here are the Reserves recounting the experiences of past years and pressing on to new achievements. Think back over the past year with its human contacts and tell me if you have found any better opportunity to serve your fellowmen or your God than can be found in these camps.

The question may properly be asked, "Does the Army make any response to the overtures of the churches which send chaplains to serve its spiritual interests?" Yes, as well or better than the average civilian group. Who are in the Army? Your neighbor's son who grew up in the same environment as your own son—or possibly your own son may be there. From the private to the general our men have come from the homes of laborers, farmers, school teachers, lawyers, doctors, and pastors of our home towns and communities. At the recruiting stations the weaklings, men of known reputation for evil, men of anti-social tendency, felons and other undesirable characters have been weeded out. All are literate men of good reputation for whose character some one has vouched. The civic leaders of your home town are in the Reserve Corps. They should respond to the appeal of religion and we find that they do.

I venture the statement that there is no greater force for righteousness to be found in any cross section of American life than that furnished by the three components of our Army. The high standard for admission and the constant training contribute to this. When I was on foreign service and my comrades could not go to their own civilian services I had about 35 per cent of my command at church each Sunday. Since some went to the Mass of my neighboring Catholic chaplain the total attendance was still larger. Estimate the percentage attendance of the whole population in your home town. The contribution which the Army makes for stability and preservation of the best things in American life extends over the entire range from economics to religion. Some social customs once considered necessary marks of good breeding but now apparently almost forgotten by society in general are still carefully observed in the Army, because we are a conservative group and must be convinced that a thing is useless before we discard it just as we must be convinced that the new is useful before we adopt it. We treat religion with respect because we have not been convinced that it is useless. We have staked all that we have, including our lives, on the United States of America, and we earnestly strive to preserve the finest and best things in American life.

We Army chaplains ask little of the church in a material way. I believe we give more than we ask. The War Department provides most of the needed things which money will buy. It shows sympathetic interest in our work and constantly studies methods for increasing efficiency. But if our work is to prosper we must have the support of your sympathy and prayers. We are of you and have been sent by you into a special field to do particular work for our Lord. We shall be stronger and better able to do this work if we may still stand shoulder to shoulder with you in battle for faith and righteousness. We shall be stronger for every unselfish effort we make to give the Gospel to every creature. Our Lord acknowledged the great faith he found in an alien army captain and received him into fellowship. We dare not do less nor do we dare abandon any door of service open to the church today. When all the open doors have been entered there will yet be too many without witness to the mercy and love of God and the beauty of holiness.

Comrades of the cross, we bring to you our comrades in the service, seeking your friendship and fellowship, that we may all together feed upon the grace which our Savior has provided for the children of the heavenly Father. May we strive valiantly together in battle for the right.

May 18, 1932.

◆

—Somewhere in each of us is the power by which great things are done. It is the problem of each individual to find the work that will release his greatest force. If we but look, each day opens another lane to achievement, but we must have the courage, the enthusiasm and the willingness to follow it.—Western Electric News.

—High Point College Gymnasium is reported as approaching completion. Like Solomon's Temple it seems to have risen without the sound of hammer or saw. The college is to be congratulated on having graduating classes that remember their alma mater so generously.

BUSINESS MEN'S CALL TO PRAYER

Herewith is a remarkable document, when we consider its source—a resolution adopted by the Downtown Business Men's Association of Los Angeles, an organization composed of practical, hard-headed business executives operating in the downtown area.

This resolution appeals to the people of Los Angeles to turn more sincerely and whole-heartedly to God in the present crisis through which this nation is passing, and requests that those who minister in all places of worship in this city call the particular attention of their audiences to the need for individual and persevering prayer. I am, therefore, transmitting the same to you, with the earnest recommendation that you pass it on to your organization, urging a compliance with this plea for consecrated prayer . . . .

"Whereas, a changing economic condition exists in the United States which demands individual consideration by those who feel that our national welfare is of great importance; and

"Whereas, this condition is affecting the optimism and mental attitude of many of our fellow citizens of Los Angeles in a depressing manner which is really unjustified by the true factors of the situation; and . . .

"Whereas, Almighty God has always dealt mercifully and generously with all nations, peoples, and individuals who recognize Him as a just and loving God; and

"Whereas, He has urged us to approach Him in prayer, promising to give us those things which will be for our spiritual and material well-being; now

"Therefore be it resolved by the Board of Directors of the Downtown Business Men's Association of Los Angeles that we sincerely urge all people everywhere to go in all humility to the Supreme Source of real power and seek His comfort and blessing; and

"Be it further resolved that those who minister in all places of worship in this city be requested to call the particular attention of their congregations to the need for individual and persevering prayer to the end that as we believe in and accept those comforts and blessings we may pass them on in brotherly love to those whose faith may need our personal encouragement."—John C. Porter, Mayor of Los Angeles, in the Parent-Teacher Bulletin, Los Angeles, California.

◆

—It is a crime against the highest and the best in human society to permit the advocates of the liquor traffic to drag the determination of the prohibition issue into a field from which the Church is to be barred. Religion has the first right to be heard in any forum that concerns the moral and spiritual betterment of mankind.—Selected.

—Never make a plan without seeking God's guidance; never achieve a success without giving God the praise.—A. T. Pierson.

—Have a purpose in life, and, having it, throw into your work such strength of mind and muscle as God has given you.—Carlyle.

THE SAME MEASURE

"According to the measure of the rule which God hath distributed."

There lived long ago in Berlin a shoemaker who had the habit of speaking harshly of all his neighbors who did not think quite as he did about religion. The old pastor of the parish in which the shoemaker lived heard of this, and felt that he must give him a lesson. He did it in this manner:

He sent for the shoemaker one morning, and when he came in, said to him, "Master, take my measure for a pair of boots."

"With pleasure, Your Reverence," answered the shoemaker. "Please take off your boot."

The clergyman did so, and the shoemaker measured his foot from toe to heel, and over instep, noted all down in his pocketbook, and then prepared to leave the room.

But as he was putting up the measure, the pastor said to him, "Master, my son also requires a pair of boots."

"I will make them with pleasure, Your Reverence. Can I take the young man's measure?"

"It is not necessary," said the pastor, "the lad is fourteen, but you can make my boots and his from the same last."

"Your Reverence, that will never do," said the shoemaker, with a smile of surprise.

"I tell you, sir, to make my son's boots on the same last."

"But, Your Reverence, it is not possible, if the boots are to fit," said the shoemaker, thinking to himself that the old pastor's wits were leaving him.

"Ah, then, master shoemaker," said the clergyman, "every pair of boots must be made on their own last, if they are to fit, and yet you think that God is to form all Christians according to your own last, of the same measure and growth in religion as yourself! That will not do either."

The shoemaker was abashed. Then he said, "I thank Your Reverence for this sermon, and I will try to remember it, and to judge my neighbors less harshly in the future."—Bible Echo.

THE TRANSFORMATION

Dr. F. B. Meyer has related the following incident which once took place at a Northfield summer conference, after he had been preaching in the morning:

"In the afternoon he (Mr. Moody) appeared with a young apple tree which he had uprooted from his garden, and commenced the following conversation with his brother, whom he had brought to the hall for the purpose, and who is a practical gardener.

"Erecting the young apple tree on the platform, and propping it up with one-hand, he asked:

" 'Would this stock produce apples?"

" 'No; it is a young forest sapling.'

" 'How, then, did you get these apples?'

" 'We ingrafted the slip of an apple tree.'

" 'How did you graft?'

" 'We made the incision with a knife and inserted the apple graft.'

"Well, what next?'

" 'All the sap and strength of the sapling began to pour into the graft.'

"Turning to me, Mr. Moody said before all the people:

" 'Is not that something like regeneration, when Christ comes into our heart and our life begins to flow through Him?'

"Questioning his brother again, he said:

" 'Supposing there come shoots under the graft, would they not divert the strength of the tree?'

" 'Certainly; they must be cut off.'

" 'Supposing you cut them off at once, will they come again?'

" 'There is always a tendency to do so; but, for the most part, if you cut a shoot off three times in the same place, it will not trouble you again there, but the old stock will probably break out in another place lower down; and, when you have thoroughly dealt with that, it will break out lower down again.'

"Turning to me, Mr. Moody said:

" 'Is not that like our old nature, perpetually striving to get the mastery? There is nothing for it but to let the Holy Spirit deal with it'."—Publisher Unknown.

"MY FATHER IS GREATER THAN I"

"In what sense is the Father greater than the Son? (John 14:28)."—Harrow.

We could not admit in any sense the thought of inferiority of one of the Persons in the Godhead to another. It is not of what is essential to Deity that the Lord is speaking here, but of the place of subordination that He had taken as having come forth from the Father and come into the world. He was the Sent-one; in this title He glories, and speaks of the fact not less than thirty-nine times in this Gospel of John, and "the Servant is not greater than His Lord; neither He that is sent greater than He that sent Him" (13:16). As sent by the Father He had become incarnate, and as the true and perfect Man His whole life and labor was the doing of the Father's will and not His own; to this will He was obedient even to the death of the Cross. Throughout the Gospel we see this blessed subordination to the Father. He did nothing of Himself; all the words that He spoke and the works that He did were the Father's. He had received the Father's commandment and He did it that the world that had rejected the will of God for its own might know that He loved the Father.

He came to declare what God is, and to become the Mediator between God and man, and in this—the servant's place—He was subject to the Father, and in this sense the Father was greater than He, yet had He not been co-equal with the Father—God in His own blessed Person—He could not have revealed Him nor been the Mediator. As to His Person, the Father is not greater than He, but as to the place of subjection to the Father's will that He took in incarnation He is.—Scripture Truth.

EVEN THE DOGS

A poor woman was in deep distress, but she was in the presence of One who could supply all her need, and her faith in His power led her to true humility. She was content to take the place of the despised "Gentile dog," if only that she might get a dog's portion, which would be quite enough for her! Even some crumbs from the mighty hand of the Lord Jesus would amply satisfy her—she only wanted her daughter healed, and it was nothing for Him to do!

We have often read this sweet story, and it has taught us not only lessons of faith and humility and perseverance, but also that our blessed Lord cares for those who are the very humblest of His creatures. No human soul is too low down for Him to love.

Robert Moffatt had drunk deeply into His Master's spirit as he went out preaching amongst the despised Hottentots in South Africa. Few cared for them; their masters, the Boers, reckoned them as only so many goods and chattels, to be ordered here, and kicked there, and despised them entirely. Not so this beloved missionary! "Even the dogs" must have some of His dear Master's crumbs!

One night, Moffatt had in his journeyings begged a night's lodging at the house of a sturdy Boer, and the Boer's wife, with real Dutch prudence, and thinking to get some return for their hospitality, asked the missionary to preach to them.

Moffatt consented gladly, knowing that there were many Hottentots employed on the establishment. But what was his surprise to find that his congregation only consisted of the Boer, his wife, and five children.

"May not your servants come in?" said he.

"Eh? Hottentots! Are you come to preach to Hottentots? Go to the mountains and preach to the baboons; or, if you like, I'll fetch my dogs, and you can preach to them!"

So Moffatt began his sermon with his small white-faced congregation, and gave out his text—

"Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table."

But there seemed no difference in their behavior, they listened calmly, apparently not seeing the point.

Moffat repeated his text.

"Hold on!" cried the Boer. "I'll have no more of that. I'll bring you all the Hottentots in the place!"

The barn was soon filled, and the devoted missionary had an earnest and attentive congregation of eager blacks and whites. How lovingly he showed the exceeding grace of our Lord, who cared for the despised ones, and was ready to satisfy them with the abundance of His love and mercy.

The people seemed to drink in the Gospel message as cold water to their thirsty souls.

When the service was over, the Boer asked, "Who hardened your hammer to deal such a blow on the head as that?"

And Moffat gladly confessed that it was his Master's Word —his Master's message he had delivered.

"Well, I'll never again object to your preaching to Hottentots as much as you like this," said the softened Boer.

And the missionary rejoiced that he had been enabled to lift up to these thirsty souls some of the sweet waters from the well of everlasting life.—H. H. in Scattered Seed.

A LIFE OF JOY AND GLADNESS

"Hannah Whitall Smith gives this testimony concerning one of her friends, who although surrounded by adverse circumstances was enabled through grace to live a life of joy and gladness. "The circumstances of her life she could not alter, but she took them to the Lord, and handed them over into His management; and then she believed that He took them, and she left all the responsibility and worry and anxiety with Him.

As often as the anxieties returned she took them back; and the result was that, although the circumstances of her life remained unchanged, her soul was kept in perfect peace in the midst of them. And the secret she found so effectual in her outward affairs, she found to be still more effectual in her inward ones, which were in truth even more unmanageable. She abandoned her whole self to the Lord, with all that she was and all that she had; and believing that He took that which she had committed to Him, she ceased to fret and worry, and her life became all sunshine in the gladness of belonging to Him."—Publisher Unknown.

◆

General Conference Notes

(Continued from Page One)

service in honor of four distinguished servants of the church who have passed on within the quadrennium: Sheridan, Benson, Lewis, Davis. Addresses were made by L. B. Smith, G. W. Haddawy, G. I. Humphreys, A. J. Allen.

In the afternoon session Dr. G. W. Haddaway presented the report of the Board of Publication.

Dr. G. W. Beck presented the report of the committee on the Superannuate Invested Fund.

The report of the Home for the Aged at West Lafayette, Ohio, was read by the Secretary.

A banquet with speeches and songs was enjoyed Friday evening. Among the speakers were Mrs. Hammer of Asheboro and Judge Teague of High Point.

Friday night was given to the Board of Missions. Several of our foreign missionaries were present and in speeches represented their work. Wesley Day, son of Rev. Doby F. Day, was presented as a new recruit for the foreign field.

Saturday morning Dr. G. R. Brown moved that changes made in the Discipline be reported through the church paper immediately after Conference closes. Carried.

The remainder of Saturday morning's session was given to the Board of Christian Education. The following educators were present and took part: President Feeman of Adrian College, President Humphreys of High Point, President Holloway of the Seminary, President Ward of Western Maryland, Dean Moody of Westminster, Texas.

Saturday afternoon Dr. S. W. Taylor offered a motion which brought on hours of discussion participated in by many. He proposed that for this quadrennium, because of imperative needs, the home base receive more liberal appropriations.

◆

—Every man is his own ancestor, and every man is his own heir. He devises his own future, and he inherits his own past.—H. F. Hedge.

OUR STORY PAGE

MY SISTER

One morning, in my early life, I remember to have been playing with my younger sister, not then three years old. It was one of those bright mornings in spring that bring joy and life to the heart, and diffuses gladness and animation through all the tribes of living creatures. Our feelings were in perfect harmony with the universal gladness of nature. Even now, I seem to hear the merry laugh of my little sister as she followed me through the winding alleys of the garden, her cheeks suffused with the glow of health and animation, and her waving hair floating in the wind.

She was an only sister, the sole companion of all my childish sports. We were constantly together; and my young heart went out to hers with all the affection, all the fondness, of which childhood is capable. Nothing afforded me enjoyment in which she did not participate; no amusement was sought which we could not share together.

That morning we had prolonged our play till near the hour of breakfast, with undiminished ardor, when, at some slight provocation, my impetuous nature broke forth, and in my anger I struck my little sister with my hand. She turned to me with an appealing look, and the large tears came into her eyes. Her heart was too full to allow her to speak, and shame made me silent. At that moment the breakfast bell summoned us away, and we returned to the house without exchanging a word. The excitement of play was over, and, as she sat beside my mother at breakfast, I perceived, by occasional stolen glances at her, that she was pale and sad. A tear seemed ready to start in her eye, which all her self-possession could scarcely repress. It was only when my mother inquired if she was ill that she endeavored to eat. I was ashamed and grieved, and inwardly resolved to embrace the first opportunity when we were alone to throw my arms around her neck and entreat her forgiveness.

When breakfast was ended, my mother retired with her into her room, directing me in the meantime to sit down to my lesson. I seated myself by the window, and ran over my lesson, but did not learn it. My thoughts were perpetually recurring to the scene in the garden, and at the table. It was not long before my mother returned, and when she did it was with an agitated look and hurried step, to tell me that my poor Ellen was ill. I asked eagerly if I might go to her, but was not permitted, lest I should disturb her. A physician was called, and every means used for her recovery, but to no purpose. The disease, which was in her head, constantly increased in violence, and she became delirious. It was not until evening that I was permitted to see her. She was a little recovered from the severity of her pain, and lay with her eyes closed, and her little hand resting on the pillow beneath her head. How I longed to tell her the sorrow I felt for my unkindness to her in the morning, and how much I had suffered for it during the day. But I was forbidden to speak to her, and was soon taken out of the room. During that night, and the day following, she continued to grow worse. I saw her several times, but she was always insensible to my presence. Once, indeed, she showed some signs of consciousness, and asked for me, but immediately relapsed into her former state.

On the morning of the third day, I arose at an early hour, and repaired to the sick room. My mother was sitting by the bed. As I entered she drew me to her and for some time was silent, while the tears flowed fast down her face. I first learned that my sweet sister was dead, as my mother drew aside the curtain that concealed her from me. I felt as though my heart would break.

The remembrance of her affection for me, and my last unkind deed, revived in my mind; and, burying my face in the folds of the curtain, I wept long and bitterly.

I saw her laid in the coffin, and laid into the grave. I almost wished to lie down there with her, if so I might see once more her smile, and hear my forgiveness pronounced in her sweet voice.

Years have passed away, and I am now a man—but never does the recollection of this incident of my early life fail to awaken bitter feelings of grief and remorse, and never do I see my young friends exchanging looks or words of anger, without thinking of my last pastime with my own loved Ellen.—The Junior Class Paper.

◆

WHAT MUST I DO TO BE SAVED?

A bright little boy, eleven years old, during a series of services, one day came to the preacher with a serious concern for his soul. After reading and explaining some passages of Scripture, the evangelist found that the boy knew the way of salvation, and only lacked the experimental act of trust in his heart which brings salvation. He used the following illustration:

"Suppose, Leland, that near your home there were a wide river which, when swollen from rainfall above, is deep and swift, but when at low water could be waded across by a boy without danger. Back some distance on the other side of the river from your home is a dense jungle, in which many vicious and dangerous wild animals live. Between this jungle and the river lies a wide strip of beautiful shell-covered sand bars, glittering and attractive from the home side of the river. The wild beasts never leave their jungles except after nightfall, but at night they prowl to the bank of the river in search of prey. Your mother has warned you often never to venture across the river lest night overtake you, and you be devoured.

"But one day the beautiful glittering shells and white sand bars attract you more than ever. That water is low and shallow. You roll up your pantaloons and venture across; you intend to remain only a short time and return long before nightfall. Once over, the attraction keeps you longer than you think you are staying, but you begin your return back to the river in ample time to avoid danger of being attacked by the wild beasts. But, when you get to the river, you discover that a heavy rainfall far up the river has swollen the stream to the extent that you cannot now wade it, and you cannot swim it. You are too far away from home for your cry to be heard. Night is rapidly approaching. The roar of the wild beasts in the distant jungle is heard. Just then there approaches you a strong, tall man, with a kind face. You make known to him your trouble, confessing your disobedience as the cause of your predicament. The good, strong man fully convinces you of his ability and willingness to take you in his arms and bear you safely across the stream, and informs you that he is really seeking for you, and is now ready and willing to bear you across to your home. In that case, what would you do?''

The answer came quickly: ''I'd let him take me over.''

''Just so,'' said the pastor. ''Now, Leland, you find you are on the wrong side of the river of time from God and Heaven. The Lord Jesus Christ is the strong One who came from God and Heaven to bear poor, lost sinners in His arms across the rough waves of time, to finally land them at their Father's House in Heaven. He is here now in Spirit, and waits to take you in hand. What will you do?''

Tears of joy came into his eyes as he said, ''He may take me right now.''—Publisher Unknown.

◆

HOPE FOR THE DEVIL'S CASTAWAYS

The good news of salvation is for all. George Whitfield, standing in his tabernacle in London, and with a multitude gathered about him, cried out: ''The Lord Jesus will take the devil's castaways!'' Two poor abandoned wretches standing outside in the street heard him, as his silvery voice rang out on the air. Looking into each other's faces, they said: ''That must mean you and me.'' They wept and rejoiced. They drew near and looked in at the door, at the face of the earnest messenger, the tears streaming from his eyes as he pleaded with the people to give their hearts to God. One of them wrote him a little note and sent it to him.

Later that day, as he sat at a table of Lady Huntington, who was his special friend, some one present said: ''Mr. Whitfield, did you not go a little too far today when you said that the Lord would take the devil's castaways?''

Taking the note from his pocket, he gave it to the lady, and said: ''Will you read that note aloud?''

She read: ''Mr. Whitfield, two poor, lost women stood outside your tabernacle today and heard you say that the Lord would take the devil's castaways. We seized upon that as our last hope, and we write you this to tell you that we rejoice now in believing in Him, and from this good hour we shall endeavor to serve Him who has done so much for us.''—The Elim Evangel.

◆

TOO LATE

Life's last moment may be in time, but it may not. A well-known preacher experienced this vividly at a death-bed. ''A dying woman,'' he says, ''after a life of frivolity, said to me, 'Do you think that I can be pardoned?' I said 'O yes'! Then gathering herself up in the concentrated dismay of a departing spirit, she looked at me and said, 'Sir, I know I shall not!'. ''Then,'' continues the minister, ''she looked up as though she heard the click of the hoof of the Pale Horse, and her long locks tossed on the pillow as she whispered, 'The summer is ended'.''—The Dawn.

"I KNEW YOU HAD A HEART"

Mr. Moffat told the following simple tale to show the earnestness with which some of the unconverted heathen sought to possess copies of the Scriptures:

Not long ago a woman came to me, bringing a boy with her, having traveled fifteen miles, and she said she wished for a New Testament. She brought the payment in her hand. I said to her, ''My good woman, there is not a copy to be had.''

''What,'' said she, ''am I to return without it?''

''I fear you will.''

''Oh,'' she said, ''I borrowed a copy once, but the owner has come and taken it away, and now I sit with my family, sorrowful because we have no Book to talk to us. My boy can read. He reads and I pray. Now we are far from any one else. We are living at a cattle outpost and we have no one to teach us but the Book. ''Oh,'' she said in true Buchuana style, ''go and seek a Book. O father! O mother! O my elder brother! do go and seek a Book for me; surely there is one to be found; do not let me go back-empty-handed.''

I felt for her, for she spoke earnestly and feelingly, until I began to feel my eyes a little watery, and I said, ''Wait a little, and I will see what I can do.''

I sought here and there; at last I found a copy, and brought it to the good woman. Oh, could you have seen how her eyes brightened, as she clasped my hands and kissed them over and over again!

Away she went with her Book, rejoicing with a heart overflowing with gratitude.

''Oh,'' she said, ''I knew you had a heart, I told you you had a heart.''

Is your heart touched by the thought that thousands of the heathen do not know the Gospel? And are you doing all you can to send it to them?—Publisher Unknown.

◆

DOES EDUCATION PAY?

Does it pay an acorn to become an oak?

Does it pay to escape being a rich ignoramus?

Does it pay to know how to make life a glory instead of a grind?

Does it pay for a chrysalis to unfold into a butterfly?

Does it pay to add power to the lens of the microscope or telescope?

Does it pay to acquire a personal wealth, which no disaster or misfortune can wreck or ruin?

Does it pay to learn how to focus thought with power, how to marshall one's mental forces effectively?

Does it pay to have expert advice and training, to have high ideals held up to one in the most critical years of one's life?

Does it pay to open a little wider the door of a narrow life? to push out one's horizon in order to get a wider outlook, a clearer vision?

Does it pay to experience the joy of self-discovery, to open up the whole continent of possibilities in one's nature which might otherwise remain undiscovered?—Dr. Orison Sweet Marden in the New Success.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

TOPIC: "WHY SHOULD WE PRAY?"

Scripture: Psalm 51:10-19.

Prayer is talking with God, communicating to Him our impulses and hearing His voice. People pray because there is the natural desire in everyone and because it is effective. Loads are lightened when shared with a friend. Many griefs have been taken to the Lord in prayer and friendship and comfort found. We know the reality of prayer, for we have experienced them even as we believe because we test the object of our credulity.

Many of our best hymns are in reality animated prayers set to music: "Lead Kindly Light," "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," "Lord, Speak to Me That I May Speak," "Father in Heaven, Who Lovest All," "I Need Thee Every Hour," and "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind." We find in many of these the richness and personal adoration and petition of great prayers.

Prayer is not wholly petitions. We pray when we need help, but we also pray when our souls are moved. Prayer is communion with God and that state takes place when the human spirit is attuned with the Divine. Some people have imagined that prayer is a sign of weakness and is not manly, but great men have prayed. Isaac Potts tells of coming upon George Washington at Valley Forge when the general was in earnest conversation with God. The strength and inspiration for the crucial days of the Civil War were secured by Lincoln in the period of meditation each morning. Woodrow Wilson was a strong advocate of prayer.

When Haydn was composing "The Creation" he was seen kneeling by his organ in prayer. The grand strains of the "Heavens Are Telling," and "Let There Be Light," when heard by their author for the last time, led him to exclaim, "Not mine, not mine; it came from above."

Many people are prone to discredit prayer because of the slowness or lack of answers. The infinite wisdom of God withholds things for which we ask sometimes because we have asked unwisely. Parents, because of their superior wisdom, often refuse their children things that would be harmful if granted. During the Civil War each side prayed ardently to the same God. An answer of victory was impossible to both sides.

We, ignorant of ourselves,
Beg often our own harms, which the wise powers
Deny us for our good; so find we profit
By losing of our prayers.
—Shakespeare.

Quotations

And satan trembles when he sees
The weakest saint upon his knees.
—Cowper.

The most powerful undeveloped resource in the world is prayer.—Fosdick.

Prayer is to be conscious of God.—G. Ray Jordan.

More things are wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice
Rise like a fountain for me night and day.
For what are men better than sheep or goats
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
Both for themselves and those who call them friend?
For so the whole round earth is every way
Bound by gold chains about the feet of God.
—Tennyson.

I am including this week a suggested program for the meeting:

Prelude: "Fairest Lord Jesus."
Hymn: "Sweet Hour of Prayer."
Scripture: Psalm 51:10-19.
Prayer, closing with the Lord's Prayer.
Introduction of the topic by leader.
Hymn: "Lear Lord and Father of Mankind."
Announcements.
Offering.
Topic: "Some Elements of an Effective Prayer."
Topic: "Great Men Who Have Prayed."
Special music: "Prayer Is the Soul's Sincere Desire."
Topic: "Why Are Some Prayers Unanswered?"
Heads bowed while "Break Thou the Bread of Life" is played softly.
Sentence prayers.
Quotations: Poetry or selections on prayer.
Benediction, preferably the Mizpah.

◆

THIRTEENTH DISTRICT RALLY

The Thirteenth District Rally, consisting of Kannapolis, Concord, Roberta, Friendship, Albemarle, Porter, and Midland, will be held at Love Grove church on Midland charge May 29.

Program

10:00 a. m.: Sunday school.
11:00 a. m.: Sermon by Rev. O. B. Williams.
12:15: Picnic lunch; all bring a filled basket to feed the chairman.
1:30: A round table discussion on evangelism.
2:00: "Should the Church Be Better Financed? Why?" Rev. C. I. Smith.
2:30: "Parents' Responsibility in the Salvation of Their Children." Rev. J. B. Trogdon.

Love Grove quartet will give a number after each subject.

Come to the rally and enjoy the day in the service of the Lord.

J. M. MORGAN, Chairman.

◆

DIXON-SMOTHERS-WILLIAMS FAMILY REUNION

The above-named families are called to meet in annual reunion at Midway church, Haw River Circuit, on Monday, July 4th, 1932, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The friends of the families who can do so are invited to meet with us.

Picnic dinner on the grounds about 12:30, noon.

A. G. DIXON,
Pres. of the Tribe.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Mitchell's Grove, Guilford	$ 2.44
Bethany S. S., Randolph	1.07
Rockingham	2.79
Bethel, Alamance, Baraca Class	1.20
Bethel, Alamance	3.55
Charlotte Sunday school	5.08
Gideon's Grove, Flat Rock	3.00
Orange Chapel, Saxapahaw	1.80
Union Ridge S. S., Forsyth	5.00
Sapling Ridge, Alamance	2.00
Shiloh S. S., Shiloh	5.80
Lebanon S. S., High Point	5.75
Mt. Carmel, Forsyth	2.75
Pleasant Hill, Cleveland	2.50
Bethesda, North Davidson	3.50
Denton Sunday School	16.00
Enfield Sunday school	3.25
Worthwhile S. S., Randleman	2.11
Liberty S. S., Liberty-Moriah	3.15
Mrs. O. O. Young, on commencement expenses	5.00
Shiloh S. S., Randolph	5.45
Charlotte S. S., Richland, clothing child	6.30
The Onward Class, Connellsville, Pa., clothing child	5.00
Young Men's Bible Class, First Church, Thomasville, clothing child	5.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

Philathea Class, Lebanon, High Point, 12 towels, 14 wash cloths, 1 pair pillow cases, 3 suits underwear.

Miss Emma Marker, Grafton, W. Va., bunch of coupons, 7 handkerchiefs, 5 wash cloths, 3 dresses and 1 towel.

S. S. class of Mrs. Nellie Bullard, Haw River, N. C., 2 cakes soap, 4 pieces dress goods, 5 wash cloths, 3 packages toothpaste, 2 towels, 1 dress and 2 waists.

Mrs. O. D. Hatfield, Creswell, N. C., 1 pair pillow cases, 1 piece dress goods, 2 pair stockings, 1 piece underwear, 4 pair pants and 1 shirt.

Miss Evelyn Payne, High Point, 3 hats, 8 dresses and 1 piece underwear.

Mr. C. Albrough, Westminster, Md., 1 box of clothing.

Mrs. J. W. Boyles, Thomasville, 1 basket of books, 6 pairs gloves, 1 piece underwear, 8 dresses, 1 coat, and 1 pair shoes.

The McCulloch class, Grace church, Greensboro, 1 box of clothing, spring outfit for little Polly Jensen.

We are grateful to all who have contributed to help us make the above report. It is good to know that God's faithful ones keep remembering the Home. The report carries with it several suggestions.

1. The books. Our children are learning to love to read. Perhaps you have good books in your home you could spare them.

2. Towels and wash-cloths. Our supply of these needs replenishing very badly.

3. Clothing for both boys and girls. Good clothing and hose and shoes are always needed. Our sewing rooms is running full time now getting what we can made.

Boy Scouts, Troop 10, M. P. Children's Home

The Boy Scouts of the Uwharrie Council held their annual jamboree at Camp Uwharrie, near Jamestown, last Saturday, May 21st. The Children's Home Troup, with Mr. D. H. Par-

(Continued on Page Fourteen)

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Charlotte.—In the absence of our pastor, Dr. R. M. Andrews, Judge Harding, a well known and able jurist of Charlotte, delighted his hearers with a most refreshing and inspirational address. Dr. Andrews is attending the General Conference sessions in Columbus, Ohio. He expects to preach for us Sunday. Come Sunday and give him a hearty welcome.

Christian Endeavor Sunday, 7 p. m., was conducted by Sigsbee Tadlock. The program was enjoyable. Music was most helpful.

The Children's Day program was given at 8 p. m. to a full house. It was indeed good to be there. The program was enjoyed and reflected credit on the performers as well as the directors who were Mesdames Andrews, Doughtry, Stegall, Ledbetter, and McCall. In the play, "The King's Children," Mary Shaw was the church; Helen McCall, Love. The concluding number was a pageant given by Dorothea Andrews, Margaret Walters, Janeth Younginer and Gray Sykes. Our Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Ledbetter, presided.

In unity there is strength and we can accomplish great things if we will co-operate cheerfully and heartily in the Master's work. Let us one and all pray more, work harder and criticize less. REPORTER.

* * *

Liberty.—In our Sunday school the junior choir leads the singing with Miss Bettie Smith pianist.

In our morning churches service Pastor Chambliss gave us a thoughtgetting message based on the text: "And when the day of Pentecost was fully come they were all with one accord in one place." Acts 2:1. Why do we not have great pentecostal times as of old? The fault is ours. We do not pray and trust as they did. We are too worldly minded, always seeking honor and fame and applause of the world.

Our Christian Endeavor is very much alive. I believe the young people really have this work at heart. Mrs. J. B. York was the leader Sunday night. Her talk was beautiful and instructive, to a large number of eager and attentive young people.

Circle No. 1 of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mamie Smith. Circle No. 2 will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. R. L. Elkins.

We are pleased to have Miss Lora Bowman back in our midst after being away teaching in the Allen Jay School, near High Point

We were glad to have Miss Edith Hendrix worship with us Sunday and visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. R. L. Elkins.

Mrs. B. V. York and little daughters, of Washington, D. C., are visiting Mrs. Vance York.

F. A. Shepard, Jr., senior at the University, spent the week-end at home.

Miss Margaret King Shepard, who is a junior at N. C. C. W., enjoyed Sunday at home.

Miss Jewell Hughes, of Randleman, was the guest of Miss Nettie Stuart recently.

Our beloved member, Miss Dorothy Curtis, who has been critically ill, seems to be making slight improvement. May we not forget to pray that she may fully regain consciousness and that her recovery will be more speedy and that she may again be with us in Sunday school and church. Our heart-felt sympathy goes out to the family as they minister to her.

Pray for us that we may have a greater revival in the hearts of our people this year.
BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

* * *

Midway-Shady Grove Charge.—Our Sunday school is still improving. The last Sunday in our contest is this coming Sunday. Some kind of a social or picnic is being planned for the winning side. The cotest has been very close.

Our revival starts next Sunday. Mr. Isley, from Lexington, will assist Mr. Grant in conducting the services. We are planning to run for two weeks. We hope to have a good meeting. Any visitors will be cordially welcomed. REPORTER.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—In the absence of the pastor, Rev. R. I. Farmer, who is in Columbus, Ohio, in attendance upon the sessions of General Conference, Mr. T. Wingate Andrews, superintendent of city schools of High Point, filled the pulpit in a most acceptable manner last Sunday morning at the worship hour. Dr. A. G. Dixon conducted the preliminary exercises, led in prayer, and introduced the speaker as a consecrated layman, who holds the most important position in High Point. Mr. Andrews chose as the basis of his message Genesis 25:34: "And he did eat and drink, and rose up and went his way. Thus Esau despised his birthright." He said in part: This text hinges on prodigious importance in the history of the world, but this morning I have time only to consider Esau, who was a hunter, and Jacob, a business man. Esau had been out in the fields all day, and coming home hungry, it seemed to him that nothing was so important as to appease his hunger, and said: "I am on the point to die." So he exchanged his birthright to Jacob for a bowl of bean soup. Thus he lost the larger part of his father's estate, which always fell to the eldest son; he lost the right of succession in the tribe by this sale of his precious heritage, he forfeited his leadership or lordship, and gave away that right to become the progenitor of our Lord and Saviour. Esau gave up all he was and had hoped to be to satisfy a fleshly desire. Rev. Hugh Black says, "He who has no self-control is only a superior animal, and not a very superior one at that." To live by law makes the difference between men and animals. I am opposed to liquor in any form. The morning paper tells that Congress has its decks cleared for 2.75 per cent beer, and Senator Bingham is going to deceive everybody. We have come to the point that we can't pay our taxes, and so we must repeal the Prohibition Amendment in order to raise revenue. A story is told of a man who complained that business has been so bad that first we sent his children to an orphanage, next he was obliged to let his wife go back to her father for support, and he was afraid he would be forced to lose his automobile in spite of everything! Evangeline Booth, that angel of mercy who spends her life working in the slums, said that before 1920, when the Volstead law went into effect, it kept the Salvation Army busy on the Bowery in New York gathering up the drunks on Saturday nights to prevent them from being robbed or murdered, but since Prohibition went into effect, the number has greatly decreased. We often sacrifice the right to hold out for a better day by the gratification of physical appetite. Paderewski, the great pianist, often practices 12 to 15 hours a day; Daniel Webster was willing to spend 30 years on a speech.

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

Are we in this present crisis going to sell our birthright and surrender the church, the greatest, most worth while institution in the world? At the beginning of the service Miss Iris Welch played a beautiful flute number, accompanied by Prof. Ernest Stimson on the organ.

The play, "Old District School," was presented Friday evening, May 20, in the assembly room of the church as a benefit performance by Circles 4 and 5 of the Woman's Auxiliary. Much time and patience were spent on the production of this play, which was coached by Mrs. John C. Whitesell, and proved to be highly entertaining and laughable. There was a large audience greeting the performers, and the cast of characters appearing was as follows:

Ezekiel Simpkins (teacher), Prof. W. F. McCanless; Deacon Tidd, D. A. Neese; Mrs. Amanda Quackenbush, Mrs. S. S. Coe; John Jacob Astor, Dr. L. H. Zimmersan; Patience Puddifoot, Miss Myrtle Davis; Ben Butler, Charles C. Robbins, Jr.; Tooty Frooty, Mrs. Ross Davis; Cornelius Vanderbilt, Arnold Koonce; Jime Blaine, John C. Whitesell; Christopher Columbus, Ross Davis; Peter Barnum, Gorrell Payne; Buster Brown, Herman Burrows; Daniel Webster, R. H. Gunn; Lydia Pinkham, Mrs. Lewis Teague; Jesse James, Robert Russell; Liza Ann Snodgrass, Miss Lucille Pickens; Semanthy Small, Mrs. Thedore Ballard; Mehitabel Hornswoggle, Miss Ruth Moffitt; Brigham Young, Richard H. Shaw; Peruna Jones, Margaret.

The proceeds amounted to $35.00.

A delightful music recital was given at the Sheraton Hotel Friday evening by Misses Evelyn Boyd and Mae Kirkman, who are music teachers here, under the auspices of the Church Service League of the Episcopal church. Two groups of vocal solos were rendered by C. L. Gray, Jr., who has a tenor voice of great power and rare beauty.

The A Capella Choir of High Point College, which has recently returned from a singing tour in Western N. C. and into S. C., rendered a program of sacred music at the Central Friends church last Sunday evening. This choir, under the able direction of Prof. Ernest B. Stimson, was well received here and in all the towns visited, among them being the First Baptist church of Charlotte, First Methodist church of Bishopville, S. C., First Methodist church of Sumter, S. C., First M. E. church of Hickory and First Baptist church of Salisbury, N. C. A charming feature of this program was the vocal solos rendered by S. W. Taylor, Jr., the 11-year-old son of Pres. and Mrs. S. W. Taylor. On Sunday evening he sang with great sweetness and clear enunciation the favorites, "Softly Now the Light of Day," and "I Think When I Read That Sweet Story." Master Taylor has a voice of great beauty and promise.

Unveiling ceremonies for a monument to the memory of the late J. D. Koonce, who was a loyal member of First church and who died a year ago, were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by local Woodman of the World, assisted by national and state officers of this fraternal order. Messrs. E. B. Lewis, of Kinston, state manager; Auditor Barrington T. Hill, of Wadesboro, and Charles A. Hines, of Greensboro, state adviser, were among the prominent officials present for this impressive ceremony. Mr. Koonce was prominent in Woodmen circles in High Point and the state as well.

A chicken supper will be served at the church on Thursday evening of this week by members of Circle No. 8, Mrs. R. H. Gunn, chairman, of the Woman's Auxiliary.

A graduating recital in music was presented by Miss Truth Isley, of Burlington, last Friday evening in the auditorium of Roberts Hall. Miss Isley received a great many compliments for her piano numbers. She is a granddaughter of Rev. asd Mrs. J. N. Garrett, who lived many years at Yadkin College.

Dr. Elbert Russell, of the School of Religion of Duke University, Durham, will deliver the commencement address at High Point College next Monday, May 30, at 10:30 o'clock a. m. Dr. Humphreys will return from General Conference in time to deliver the Baccalaureate sermon in First church next Sunday morning, May 29.

Among the list of graduates who will receive diplomas at the University of North Carolina June 6th appears the name of Vernon W. Idol, Jr., of High Point, a son of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Idol. Young Mr. Idol is only 19 years of age. Miss Louise Jennings will receive the degree in Library Science.

Miss Helen Johnson, who has been a member of the Faculty at Henderson city schools, is at home for the summer vacation.

A program for Children's Day is being prepared by a committee from the Sabbath School.

◆

Hollister, Halifax Charge.—All the departments of the church are active and enthusiastic and striving to reach a worthy goal.

The Sabbath school is growing in attendance and interest. New members are added to the roll nearly every Sunday.

Sunday at the 11 o'clock service our pastor brought us a wonderful sermon as usual. Mr. Fogleman based his thoughts on that verse of scripture that says "And no man putteth new wine into old bottles." St. Mark 2:22. All of Mr. Fogleman's sermons are good but it seems as if this sermon was the best one he has preached yet. Every time we hear him preach we think the last sermon we heard was the best. But all of his sermons are good and it's hard to tell which one is the best.

Mr. and Mrs. Fogleman took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Knight Sunday.

On the last second Sunday evening at our regular service we were glad indeed to welcome in our church Mrs. Horace Pierce and son, Robert. They came to us from Spring church, Spring Church charge. We are glad to welcome them in our church and community.

We are looking forward to the "Rally" which meets with us next Sunday. We are expecting to have a large crowd present. Hope to have all the church in the first district represented. I am sure the chairman, Rev. H. F. Surratt, has a good program in store for us.

The regular May meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held in the home of Mrs. C. R. Knight on May 10. We had a very good meeting with splendid attendance. Our June meeting will be held in the home of the writer on Tuesday afternoon after the second Sunday in June. We are hoping to have our district chairman, Mrs. J. R. Cutchin, with us in this meeting.

KATHLEEN SHEARIN, Reporter.

◆

Bethesda.—We had a very pleasing and interesting service at our church on Mother's Day. Some very fine speaking was done by our children, bringing to our minds what a mother meant to us. Also on the fourth Sunday we had a good time. A wonderful message was brought to us by our pastor, Rev. C. W. Saunders which we were thankful to hear. We are always glad to see him because we know he has something good for us if we are just ready to receive it. We are very sorry he lives so far away. We would be proud to have him in our homes very often because he is so pleasing and kind to everybody.

We also held our second quarterly conference on this date; had a nice time, but hoping for better next time.

We are expecting to administer the Lord's Supper the next appointment, which is the fourth Sunday in June.

Prayer service every Sunday after Sunday school.

We request your prayers that our series of meetings will bring many souls home to the fold.

JNO. GULLEDGE, Reporter.

◆

Asheboro.—On Sunday, May 8th, Rev. R. C. Stubbins, pastor, preached a very impressive sermon on "The Rights and Privileges of Motherhood." The choir gave a very fitting anthem, "My Mother's Old Bible Is True."

Miss Louise Swaim's music pupils gave a recital in the school auditorium Thursday evening, May 5th. The first part of the program was given over to the primary children. The older pupils had charge of the other entertainment of the evening, which was composed of piano solos, duets and octettes, given in a manner that reflected much credit upon themselves and their teacher.

Sunday morning, the 15th, at the eleven o'clock service, Holy Communion was observed with a large number partaking. The pastor's talk was on "The Empty Place."

The community choir, which was composed of members of the choirs of the M. E., M. P., Baptist and Presbyterian churches, attended the second annual choir festival held in Greensboro in the afternoon and evening of Sunday, May 15. The community choir gave a special number, as did the First Methodist choir, directed by Mrs. S. B. Stedman.

Mrs. Wm. C. Hammer, of our church, who was one of the delegates from North Carolina to attend the general missionary convention of the Methodist Protestant church, May 12-16, in Cambridge, Ohio, was elected president of that body, which is a distinct honor, as North Carolina has never before furnished a president for this organization.

From this conference Mrs. Hammer went to the meeting of the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant church being held in Columbus, Ohio.

Rev. R. C. Stubbins, W. F. Redding, Jr., and Rev. N. M. Harrison left last week for Columbus, Ohio, to attend the General Conference. In the absence of the pastor, Mr. Robert Lloyd brought a very helpful message last Sunday morning, to a good-sized congregation. The choir rendered a beautiful anthem, with Mrs. Walker taking the solo part.

The choir is planning for an evening of music in the near future.

We were glad to have in the morning service Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cheeley, of Ocala, Florida. They are spending a few weeks with Mrs. Cheeley's parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Fox. We were also pleased to have Mrs. Fox worship with us, she having recently recovered from a severe sickness of some duration.

There will be no preaching in our church next Sunday as the Seventh District Rally, composed of Richland and Why Not charges, and of Asheboro, will be held at Charlotte church on Richland charge, beginning at 10 a. m. All are urged to come and bring a picnic lunch.

LOLLIE JONES, Reporter.

◆

Bellmont, Mt. Hermon Charge.—Our annual Memorial service was held Sunday. At the morning service Mr. G. A. Nicholson, one of our faithful old members, conducted the devotional exercise in a very appropriate manner. The address was delivered by Rev. W. M. Howard, of High Point College. Bro. Howard impressed on our minds the importance of living a Christ-like life so that the impressions we make on others may lead them to Christ, and that our influence may be a living memorial when we have passed away. This was a splendid address, and I feel safe in saying that it was enjoyed by the entire congregation. The Central Quartet rendered two beautiful selections. The service was concluded in the cemetery by decorating each grave with flowers.

In the afternoon session Mr. Kenneth Holt, of the Friendship church, had charge of the devotional service, after which our pastor, Rev. L. E. Mabry, gave us a very fitting message. The special music for this service consisted of a solo by Miss Elva Ausley, of Graham, and a quartette by Miss Dorothy Hargis, Mrs. Wayne Curtis, Mr. W. A. J. Sharpe, and Mr. Lee Moser. The following officers were elected: President, Mr. Lee Moser; vice-president, Mr. D. L. Linens; secretary and treasurer, Miss Ethel Sharpe; corresponding secretary, Miss Marie Hargis. The cemetery committee was re-elected. Mrs. Cora M. Hargis, who was secretary and treasurer of the association, deserves the credit for the well planned program.

An epidemic of colds and measles in the community has reduced our Sunday school attenance very much for the last few Sundays. We are trusting this will soon be over, so all can come back to church.

The Christian Endeavor had a very interesting impromptu program Sunday night. Mr. Lee Moser, the president, was leader. Now that winter wealther and school days are over, let's join heart and hand and make the society grow bigger and better. This society has been clothing a child in our M. P. Home for the past three years.

We hope to have the Jr. C. E. society started within the next month. There is nothing in church work that affords the child so great an opportunity to express himself as does Junior endeavor.

We are very proud of our high school and college graduates. Miss Mattie Rich graduated from the E. M. Holt High School, and Miss Flossie Holt and Mr. Grover Holt, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Holt, are graduating this week at Elon College. We are looking forward to the home-coming of these young people, also of Miss Margaret Pickett and Mr. Howard Pickett, of High Point College. We congratulatte Miss Pickett on being elected secretary of the C. E. Society of High Point College for 1932-33.

Glad to have Miss Myrtle Holt, who has been doing government work in Washington, D. C., back with us again.

REPORTER.

Gibsonville Church.—Now that the school is closed we hope to report more frequently.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary held its regular meeting on May 13 at the home of Mrs. D. M. Davidson. The devotional was in charge of Miss Hazel Woodard. An interesting Bible study is being conducted in this society by Rev. N. G. Bethea. At this meeting he discussed I Timothy. II Timothy will be studied at the next meeting.

The Woman's Auxiliary held its May meeting at the home of Mrs. Daisy Faucette on Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. B. B. Greeson read the Scripture lesson, which was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. D. M. Davidson had charge of the question box. Two papers were read, "Religion in the Home," by Mrs. B. B. Greeson, and "Home and Community," by Miss Georgia Clapp. Mrs. W. J. Jennings, the president, presided over the meeting.

On Tuesday evening of last week the members of the Young Ladies' Bible Class gave a surprise miscellaneous shower to Mrs. Arlie B. Own, a recent bride, at her home on Alamance street.

We regret to report that Mr. F. R. Owen, the superintendent of our Sunday school, is critically ill in Duke Hospital.

The revival meeting will begin here next Sunday, May 29th. Rev. Mr. Anderson, of Albemarle, N. C., will assist in the meeting. Christians, pray that we may have a great revival.

Louis Bethea is a member of the Senior class at High Point College. He will graduate May 30th. REPORTER.

Forsyth.—Sunday night, May 22nd, we closed our revival meeting at Mount Carmel church. This meeting had been in progress for one week. The pastor did all the preaching except the last sermon, which was delivered by Rev. Mr. Brewer, a Moravian minister of Winston-Salem. E. I. Weatherman, of Winston-Salem, conducted the song services. The meeting was a splendid success. There were six conversions, a large number of reclamations and ten additions to the church, six by church certificates and four on profession of faith. The church was revived and heartened by the meeting and almost the entire membership expressed a desire and determination to go on to greater things in the service of Christ.

The meetings at the other churches will be held during the summer and fall months. Plans for them are now being made and prayers are being offered up for their success.

The work here grows more interesting and pleasant and, we trust, more successful as the weeks go by and we become better acquainted with the people. Finances are rather slow, but sure, meaning by that that we believe obligations will be met some time during the year. Two of the churches pay pastor's salary regularly each month and are just about up to date. The others will pay up before Conference year comes to a close, we are sure. We hope also to make a good showing on the general interests of the church.

The pastor and family were delighted last Sunday afternoon to have a short visit from Mr. J. M. Baity and family and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, of Henderson. They were among our nearest and best neighbors and friends during our six years' stay in Henderson.

Mrs. L. W. Gerringer and children are spending a few days in the commuity and were present at Sunday school at Maple Springs last Sunday. Their many friends here were delighted to see them again and to have them in the Sunday school.

R. A. HUNTER.

Young Men's Wide-Awake Class, Shiloh.—We had a fine time today. We had 51 present in our class, all of whom joined in singing "Will there be any stars in my crown?" May we live the kind of life that when we enter before our Lord to be judged that He will say, "Yes, there will be many stars in your crown."

Our teacher taught a wonderful lesson today. The golden text was "Be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you." If we will take this golden text and live up to it we know that we will have many stars in our crowns. He told us, "It does not pay to be angry with each other. We must first make peace with men, removing all malice and hatred from our hearts, then give God right of way in our hearts." May we purpose in our hearts that we will not defile ourselves with any sin or uncleanness of the world, but by the help of God we will walk the straight and narrow way that leads to life.

We always welcome the visitors and new members. CLASS REPORTER.

West Forsyth.—Due to sickness among the members, we did not have as many as usual for the Sunday school and church service at Harmony Grove last Sunday morning. All of one family were kept at home on account of whooping cough, and others were detained in their homes because of sickness We trust that they will soon be well again. The pastor was called on to teach the adult class in the Sunday school. At the church service we had the privilege of hearing a sermon delivered by Rev. C. L. West, of Asheboro, a nephew of the pastor, who discussed the subject, "Christ, the Son of the Living God." Miss Mildred Way, daughter of the pastor, served as pianist for the service in the absence of Mrs. Charlie Sheets, the regular pianist.

The usual attendance and interest have characterized the services at the other churches since our last report.

Mrs. Florence Whitman, member of Pleasant Hill church, has been confined to her bed with illness for the past three weeks, and her condition is reported unimproved. We hope her condition will improve.

The pastor and family had as their guests during the past Saturday night and Sunday the following: Rev. C. L. West, W. H. West an Millard West, of Asheboro; also Rev. R. A. Hunter and family, of the Forsyth charge, for a brief visit Sunday afternoon.

The people of West Forsyth charge are expected to gather at Maple Springs church, on Forsyth charge, next Sunday for the annual district rally of the 14th district. The program will begin at 10:30 a. m., and continue through the afternoon. We hope that a large number of the people of West Forsyth charge will attend the rally. Rev. J. E. Pritchard, the district chairman, and Mrs. T. L. Speas, district chairman of the women's work, have arranged the program, which will doubtless prove interesting and helpful.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

South Lexington Charge.—It has been some time since I have reported through the Herald columns. During this time the work has continued to make progress.

At Lexington, First church, the interest and attendance have been good at both Sunday school and church services. Money has been partly raised for Sunday school rooms, and the work will soon begin.

Revival services at First church began on the first Sunday in April with Rev. O. C. Loy doing the preaching. Brother Loy was at his best and his messages were powerful and timely. We greatly enjoyed having him and his family with us. The singing was ably directed by Rev. Wayne Curtis. Anyone wishing the services of a capable song leader would do well to communicate with Brother Curtis at Route 6, Burlington, N. C.

Good reports from the various activities of the churches were made at the recent quarterly conference at Mount Carmel. The First church, Lexington, has raised all the pastor's salary thus far due, and Mount Carmel is ahead of last year. The people are to be commended for their diligence in this respect.

Mr. R. M. Rowe and Mr. H. V. Swicegood, both of Mount Carmel, were nominated as candidates for delegate to Annual Conference.

Sunday school attendance and general interest at Mt. Carmel continue good.

I have been favored by donations from a number of people. I wish to thank them for the kindness they have exemplified.

C. G. ISLEY, Pastor.

New Hope.—Rev. J. L. Love delivered a good message Sunday at 11 o'clock on how different apostles found Jesus and how great it was to find Jesus; what His disciples could do when they would obey Jesus, and the same when we obey Him. Jesus said Go preach the gospel meant good news; He didn't just mean for the preachers to do all the preaching; he meant for his servants to do their part and spread the good news. If we have found Jesus and we have Him in our hearts He can use us. He can speak to us and through us and spread His message as the Holy Spirit guides us. We have the great privilege to be filled with the Spirit from on high. I am afraid we are depending upon the preachers to do our praying and preaching. We must pray to find Jesus and watch and pray and obey to keep Him. Mr. Love said one time a colored minister was calling up sinners and told them just to take Jesus on a trial, that the devil would take them back at any time, and it seems he is more than glad to take us; he is a busy fellow; he will have us talking and doing things we ought not to do if we don't watch. Help us to pray more so our churches may grow.

MRS. FAYE AYCOTH, Reporter.

◆

Midway-Shady Grove.—Our work is progressing nicely. We hope some progress is being made. The attendance is on the increase. The people show encouraging signs of future development. We have worked on several objects in the first of the year, but the last half we are going to stress the evangelistic side more, for we are hoping to receive a good number into the church this year. The people have been loyal and faith ful and have been willing to go their limit.

Our special meeting will begin the 29th of this month and we are hoping a great deal of good will be accomplished and many of our people saved. Rev. C. G. Isley, pastor of First Church, Lexington, will be the pulpit help.

Pastor and family have greatly enjoyed the pounding of many good things from Midway people recently. Thanks to these good people. May the Lord bless every one who had part in this.

Best wishes to the Herald and readers.

C. L. GRANT.

◆

Asheville.—For more than a year and a half the Asheville church has been without a regular pastor, being supplied mostly by members of the Evangelistic Club. Dr. N. D. Wells, F. C. Stedman, Victor Starbuck and William L. Hart have brought the messages to us the past month. Even thus we look forward with eagerness to the coming of Rev. J. Elwood Carroll on or about June 18th, who will truly be one of our own.

The Ladies' Auxiliary is having similar difficulties in getting an official head and at each meeting the hostess acts as president. At the next meeting each member is to bring a penny for every year of her age. This ought to help keep people young! Another aid to the treasury is the Woman's Exchange, by which each member buys of another member something of her handiwork and puts the money to church use.

The Christian Endeavor Societies of this city have formed a group organization, of which Mrs. E. H. Pratt is secretary and Miss Novella McIntyre is a member of the social committee. The next meeting will be held at our church on August 7th.

Our Young People's Class is doing fine work. Guy Allison, the past president, having left town, the presiding officer now is Miss Nancy Clouse, with Miss Nell Carter as secretary. Mr. Howard Carter is detailed to urge members and others to attend all services of the church.

The Primary Department members are cooperating with the Junior Christian Endeavor to increase the attendance at Sunday school.

A picnic at Montford Park, under the care of Mrs. E. A. Bolick, was an enjoyable event for the Juniors.

Miss Eleanor Webster Waddell is pianist of the Primary Department.

The May business meeting of the Senior Christian Endeavor will be held at Mr. E. H. Pratt's.

A church supper is planned for May 25.

The church stewards have designated May 29th as "A Day's Wage Day."

The Joash Day went successfully with $23.00 in the box.

Mrs. B. L. West is recovering from an operation.

Mrs. H. L. Hanner and daughters, Arline and Louise, are improved in health and back in church again.

E. C. FAWCETT.

◆

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued from Page Ten)

well as Scoutmaster and with Herbert Garmon and Cecil Bulla, assistants, brought back four loving cups out of 12. The jamboree cup was won by our boys. This cup was won by acquiring a total of 57 points in the contests of the day. The troup winning second place won a total number of 53 points.

Our boys also won a prize in each of the following contests: Fiber friction, inspection, and first aid.

We had a regular jubilee when our boys came home with the first prize and with the three smaller ones.

We believe our friends would like to see the names of our boys who make up the M. P. Home Troup No. 10. They are Herbert Garmon and Cecil Bulla, assistants, and Paul Guice, Charlie Crickmore, Howard Byrd, Carson Dawkins, Lane Craven, Howard Garmon, Millard Coble, Hebron Coble, Walter Shanklin, Roy Guest, Robert Bondurant, R. G. Bondurant, Bill Modlin, Jack Robbins, Clyde Markland, Kenneth Lamar, James Shanklin, Harley Ingold, J. W. Wright, Sam Coble and Robert Rue.

The best thing of it all is the good it did our boys to know that they could do it. They will strive all the harder now because they have done it. They lacked the regulation Boy Scout suits, and yet they won out in inspection.

Just a Few Things to Play With

We very greatly need a few play-things for out-of-doors. A tennis net or two and some rackets, two or more croquet sets, and some timber to make some swings and see-saws. Anything for out-of-door games. Thank you and God bless you.

Yours in His service,

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

ANNUAL YADKIN COLLEGE HOME-COMING PICNIC, JUNE 2

We want you to come. Bring your basket and all your friends and enjoy seeing again old friends and relatives you once knew at Yadkin College.

A general get-together day for all former students of the old institution and people who once lived there or were in any way connected with or interested in Yadkin College.

Please come; make this day one to be remembered.

CORA TOTTEN,
SALLIE TAYLOR.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

DUTIES OF SECRETARY OF YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

There is no more important phase of our work than the Department of Young People. We do not need to be reminded that the church of tomorrow depends upon the training of our young people today.

Preparation

The Secretary of Young People's Work should have the largest possible preparation.

She should know young people—their interests, their pleasures and amusements, their needs, their life plans, their home life. Only by such knowledge can she get the viewpoint of the young people themselves.

She should be familiar with the Young People's Program of our Church, and the literature available for making this program effective.

She should subscribe to the Missionary Record and make use of the material given on Young People's Work. A scrap-book of this material would be most helpful.

She should keep up with the present-day movements in the field of Religious Education, especially as they concern Young People.

The biggest part of her whole preparation will, of course, be that of prayer and personal devotion, for only through consecration and spiritual power can the work be a success.

Duties

One of the first things the Secretary of Young People's Work will do will be to give attention to organization.

Help to organize the young people of the church into missionary groups. (List of these organizations is given in the Constitution, page 6.)

Whether or not the organization of the young people of her church into separatte missionary groups is immediately feasible, the Young People's Secretary should correlate her work with the organizations already created, such as Sunday school classes, and Christian Endeavor Societies, by carrying out the following suggestions:

Promote definite missionary instruction in Sunday school classes and Christian Endeavor societies and providing projects for these organizations.

Co-operate with the Sunday school superintendent in his plans for the various departments.

Help to organize Mission Study classes for both Home and Foreign Missions.

Promote use of Missionary illustrations and frequent worship programs in the Sunday school.

Help the Young People's societies in their monthly missionary meetings.

Urge the young people to read missionary books and missionary articles in papers and magazines.

Urge young people to teach in mission Sunday schools and help to support this work.

◆

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Hester

After an illness of less than a week, C. L. D. Hester, 73, died of a heart attack at his home on North Garnett street, Henderson, N. C., May 6, 1932.

Mr. Hester was one of the oldest members of Flat Rock M. P. church; having been a member there ever since the church was established.

He is survived by three sons, J. T., F. G., and J. K. Hester; also one sister, Mrs. S. S. Pleasants.

The deceased was born May 26, 1859, in Vance county, and was a rural mail carrier 25 years from 1901 to 1926. But he led an active life even after retiremeent. We can truthfully say that he thoroughly enjoyed living.

Funeral services were conducted at Flat Rock church by Rev. M. P. Chambliss, Rev. J. W. Braxton and Rev. Mr. Palm, with interment in the church cemetery and with beautiful flowers to show a last tribute of love.

To the bereaved ones we extend our sympathy. May they be comforted with the thought that he is safe with our Savior.

A niece,
ELIZABETH WORTHAM.

Deaths on Haw River Circuit

Within the last three months, three of our churches have been called upon to stand silently beside the open grave. The first of these deaths came to Midway church, being the first loss of membership by death during the present pastorate.

Mrs. Carrie Butler, wife of Brother Clarence Butler, after seferal months of suffering, went home. She was an outstanding character in this church. Her quiet disposition and unassuming demeanor had won for her many friends. For several years she was a member of Midway church, and was one of our most faithful members. She had served as Herald agent for two years, and had done much to help put the church paper in the homes of her church. Sister Butler will be missed by all of us. It is seldom that a death leaves such a vacant spot in the life of the community and church.

A mother leaving a large family of boys, and her husband, went home to Jesus just a few days ago when Mrs. Esco Brande fell on sleep. Complications beyond the powers of medicine to overcome took her out rather unexpectedly. It was our pleasure to receive her into church membership at Friendship during our second year as pastor there. A good woman, and loved by a host of friends. Her daughter-in-law said: "She was one of the best women I ever knew."

What seems to us to be one of the most tragic deaths was in the going of Pearley C. Fogleman, son of brother J. W. Fogleman, of Fair Grove. Employed by the A. C. L. Railroad in the yards at Tampa, Fla., on night duty, making a wrong step, and perhaps stumbling, fell between two cars, crushin gone leg at the hip, and severing the other above the angle, causing his death by loss of bloody, dying on the operating table.

Brother Fogleman was barely 32 years old. And according to the Terminal Trainmaster, who accompanied the widow home for the funeral, he was an outstanding railroad man. Thorough, competent, and reliable. A man with a clean record, and his friends said he lived a life above reproach.

These people, going as they did, leave a place open at their church, and issue a challenge for others to follow on in doing greater work in Kingdom service.

J. L. TROLLINGER.

In Memoriam

Whereas, Margaret tCoe Wood, one of our most loved members of Circle No. 4 of the Asheboro Woman's Auxiliary, has passed into the World of Eternity, and whereas all of our hearts are deeply grieved at the going of Margaret, and whereas we will greatly miss her in all our meetings, therefore be it Resolved that our love and sympathy go out to the parents and sister of Margaret; that we hold in loving remembrance her faithful service to her church and Auxiliary; and be it further Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of our Auxiliary and that copies be sent to the famiy, the Missionary Record, and the Methodist Protestant Herald.

MRS. W. F. REDDING, Jr.,
MISS MILDRED MILKS,
MISS CATHERINE PRESNELL,
Committee.

Owen

Henry Bentley Owen, son of William Albert Owen, and Priscilla Walser Owen, departed this life May 4, 1932, aged 82 years, 10 months and 12 days.

At the age of 29 Brother Owen was married to Sallie Jane Lineberry, daughter of Rev. W. W. Lineberry, of sainted memory, this marriage taking place May 28, 1878, and to this union were born two children, Arlie Bentley and Viola, the latter passing to the other world in infancy. He is survived by his wife, son, and one brother, W. Stanley Owen, of Lexington.

A native of Davidson county and former resident of Yadkin College, he moved to Gibsonville in 1895 where he engaged in business for a number of years, but for the past several years while not engaged in business he retained an active interest in affairs as anyone conversing with him would find out by his grasp upon passing events, national and world.

Brother Owen had been a member of the Methodist Protestant Chorch for more than 50 years and one could not find a more staunch believer in the principles and doctrines of his church. He read his church paper, and while for the past few years he could not attend services because of physical disability, he maintained an active interest in all that his church was doing and contributed of his best for the support of all her interests. He was always anxious for his Conference Journal, and he knew all that was done in Annual Conference as recorded there.

It was the privilege of the writer of this sketch to serve the Gibsonville church when Brother Owen was active and he was always in his plade at servise unless providentially hindered.

A gentleman in every sense of the word, consistent in his every doy life, a faithful husband, a father whose example was above reproach, a citizen who was useful and highly respected, a member of the church and a Christian who was true to what he believed to be the right, he will be missed in every way where he was known. Truly we may say of him: "Servant of God, well done!"

After a brief service in the church at Gibsonville, attended by an unusual concourse of people, his body was taken to Yadkin College where, underneath a bank of beautiful flowers, we laid him to rest to await the Resurrection morn.

With his faithful wife and loyal son the entire community mourns.

N. G. BETHEA.

FOURTH DISTRICT RALLY

The Fourth District Rally of the N. C. Annual Conference of the M. P. Church will be held at the First Methodist Protestant Church, Burlington, N. C., on Sunday, May 29th, at 11 a. m. The following program will be given:

Call to worship.

Devotionals, Rev. J. Clyde Aumas.

Song.

Address: "Requirements of a Sunday School Teacher," Hon. E. S. W. Dameron.

Address: "The Church Member's Duty As a Soul-Winner," Rev. Geo. W. Holmes.

Address: "Financing the Church," Rev. J. P. Pegg.

Address: "The Woman's Work," Dr. Joy Harris Glascock.

Benediction.

STUDENTS IN CONFERENCE COURSE, NOTICE

Rev. Lawrence C. Little, who was elected by the Conference a year ago to have charge of the Examinations in Standard Leadership Training Course, has resigned from that position and Rev. T. M. Johnson, D. D., R. F. D. 13, Burlington, N. C., has agreed to finish out this year. Dr. Johnson is the author of the idea and it seems fitting that he should carry it on at least the remainder of this year. The requirement is that all men taking the course shall pass at least one unit in the course each year. This can be done at a local school or at High Point during the Leadership School, June 27-July 3, or direct from Dr. Johnson.

J. E. PRITCHARD,
Chairman Conference Faculty.

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

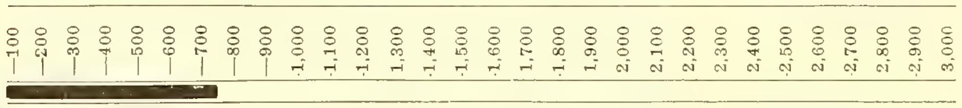
Miss Katherine Lawrence, Whitakers Chapel	$4.00
Miss Bessie Holmes, Bethel, Alamance	2.00
Miss Nannie McAdams, Hebron	1.00
E. L. Douglas, High Point	1.00
Roy Leatherman, Shiloh	1.00

◆

—Taking the dates occupied by the State Farmers convention, representative 4-H club girls and boys will gather at State College during the week of July 25 to 30 for their annual short course and federation meeting. Approximately 800 young foks are expected to attend.

—Rev. H. L. Isley conducted the funeral of Joseph E. Kirkman at Tabernacle last Tuesday. Bro. Kirkman died from paralysis at the age of 66 years.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	12½
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	2¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	11½
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	..
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10
Concord	33	15
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2½
Draper	7	2
Enfield	16	15¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	7½
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	8¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro, Grace	42	25
Greensboro, Calvary	25	10
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	8½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	12½
Halifax	52	13
Haw River	49	11½
Henderson	38	12¾
High Point, First	72	31½
High Point, Lebanon	31	18½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	2½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6
Liberty-Moriah	31	15¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	8½
Mebane	28	3
Mecklenburg	38	3¼
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	13½
Mount Pleasant	62	21½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	17½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	11½
Pleasant Grove	19	13½
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Richland	42	1½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	21
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	16
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	9¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
Winston, First	27	24½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

◆

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

(Continued from Page Ten)

Prayer

The heart of all the work is, of course, spiritual development, and the most effective way this can be secured is through prayer. So many things can be said along this line, but here are a few possibilities:

1. Helping the young people to organize prayer bands or prayer groups.
2. Encouraging young people to form definite habits of prayer in their own daily devotions.
3. Showing young people how they can help in encouraging the family altar at home.
4. Urging the use of the Prayer Calendar for missions and missionaries.
5. Encouraging young people to pray in public, especially at the young people's meetings.

Life Enlistment

This involves the question of life-work and looking after the boys and girls at school and college. Some of the possibilties are:

1. Information about the schools and colleges of our own denomination.
2. Holding a farewell party for the young people when they go away to school, and a welcome party when they return.
3. Keeping in touch with the students while away, by correspondence, sending church bulletins and other means.
4. Co-operating with the Secretary of Christian Education in presenting the claims of life-work.
5. Distributing literature that may help young people in deciding about their life-work, and advising with them about these matters.
6. Stress the fact that life enlistment for 99 per cent of young people will not mean going out as a Home or Foreign missionary or becoming a minister, but does mean living a fruitful Christian life right where they are.

Methodist Protestant Herald

J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

Stewardship

Our young people are eager to know more of the meaning and value of stewardship, and these suggestions will show something of this field of service.

1. Using the stewardship programs at the time designatetd for this purpose.
2. Showing young people the possibilities of tithing.
3. Explaining the meaning of the Every-Member Canvass and urging hearty participation.
4. Helping the young people's society to make a budget for the year, in which provision shall be made for all the causes of the church.

In the Auxiliary

The Auxiliary Secretary of Young People's Work should report regularly to the Auxiliary. She should report annually to the Branch Secretary of Young People's Work, using blanks which are furnished by the Board of Missions.

In the Branch

The Branch Secretary of Young People's Work should assist and help promote the Young People's Conferences in her Branch.

She should keep a list of key young people in her Branch.

She should secure annual reports from the Auxiliary Secretaries of Young People's Work making a careful and complete written annual report to the Branch; she should send a duplicatte report to the Associate Secretary of the Board of Missions, 516 North Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland, not later than the 1st of May.

Adaptations

No mattter how perfect a plan, it must be subject to adaptations to meet local conditions. The Young People's Secretary will, therefore, master the principles suggested herein, and adapt the plans to meet existing situations in a local church, in a District, or a Branch.—Leaflet, Committee on Education.

◆

FOURTEENTH DISTRICT RALLY

This is to call your attention again to the 14th District Rally to be held at Maple Springs Methodist Protestant Church next Sunday, May 29, beginning at 10:30 a. m. There will be a morning and an afternoon service, with dinner on the grounds. Let every church in the District be represented by a good delegation.

J. E. PRITCHARD, District Chmn.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., JUNE 2, 1932 NUMBER 30

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Our Fathers' God

Our fathers bowed in simple awe
Before a throne they never saw:
They had full faith in power divine,
They said to God, "Lo, Thou art mine."

"Within my soul I give Thee place;
When pure in heart I'll see Thy face;
Thy will I'll seek to know and do
And all Thy purpose carry through.

"In all the past hast Thou been true,
E'en when we failed Thy will to do:
We know Thou wilt not fail us now
Because before Thy will we bow.

"And on our part we must not fail
Though tempter's arts our minds assail:
With bond of grace both signed and sealed,
We will be true, we will not yield.

"Thou art a God of truth and love,
Thou dwellest in the heights above,
And never can make peace with sin,
But hast a way the vile to win.

"In Christ the Lord we see God-man
Whose life and death wrought out God's plan:
In Him we find all fulness dwells,
His life in us new story tells."

◆

General Conference Notes Continued

Our notes last week extended to Saturday afternoon. The conference finally adjourned on Wednesday night of last week, having continued eight and one-half days.

On Saturday night Rev. A. R. Corn of Texas showed moving pictures representing educational and missionary work. Some actors now dead were shown as living and moving.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Dr. J. C. Broomfield preached in the Conference church. His theme was "Adventuring with Jesus." He declared that Jesus was the leading adventurer. He went the farthest and did the most. He alone has said, "It is finished."

Sunday afternoon a young people's rally was held. Dr. E. A. Sexsmith, president of the Board of Christian Education, presided. Rev. F. L. Gibbs, assistant secretary, introduced a number of promoters of the work for young people. Dr. Hayward of the International Council of Religious Education, delivered an address in which he said that evangelism and education are blood sisters.

Sunday night Dr. Bader, representing the Commission of Evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches, spoke on "What Next in Evangelism?" He declared that there is general need of a new passion for evangelism.

On Monday morning Conference adjourned after roll-call for the meeting of committees. Dr. T. G. Coffin, Congregationalist minister, spoke in the devotional service. He spoke of the inadequacy of business methods alone in the work of the church: nothing will take the place of the Spirit of God.

On Monday afternoon Dr. Dixon's report of the Children's Home was read and a number of speeches were made in commendation of the work of the Home.

The report of the committee on Missions was read and adopted.

Dr. C. E. Forlines was authorized to edit the new edition of the Discipline on motion of Dr. G. R. Brown.

On Monday night Dr. Parkes Cadman of New York spoke on "The Duty of the Church in the Present Crisis." He declared vision, statesmanship, and information the need of the hour. The church must not retreat or retract.

On Tuesday morning Dr. E. A. Sexsmith introduced a resolution proposing that the Committee on Denominational Curriculum co-operate with the Seminary in preparation of a course of study and that the same be printed in the Discipline.

The president of the General Conference was chosen to represent the denomination in a meeting of four branches of Methodists in England on September 26. Others may be appointed who will go at their own expense.

On invitation extended by Dr. S. W. Taylor and Rev. R. I. Farmer the General Conference unanimously voted to meet in High Point, N. C., four years hence.

The order of the day at 10:30 was the election of editors and executive secretaries. For editor of the Methodist Protestant-Recorder Dr. H. H. Price and Dr. R. L. Shipley were nominated. There were many seconds and much speech-making, deferring the balloting. When the vote was finally taken the result was the election of Dr. Shipley; he received 83 votes, Dr. Price 72 and Dr. J. H. Straughn one.

Dr. C. S. Johnson was unanimously elected editor of Sunday School periodicals.

Dr. G. W. Haddaway received 95 votes for Secretary of the Board of Missions and was elected, though 60 votes appeared for Dr. S. W. Taylor. Mrs. Marie Thompson was unanimously elected Associate Secretary.

Tuesday night the report of the committee on Finance

(Continued on Page Four)

AN INTERESTING VIEW OF THE ROAD TO HEALTH AND PROSPERITY—IF YOU HAVE A SENSE OF HUMOR

By REV. LUTHER K. LONG

We are still in the trough of the depression. Sublime courage is being exhibited by many of our people, and we are hopeful that there will soon be a decided turn for the better.

Any thing that promises relief interests me, and I should be inclined to try almost any proposal once. I confess, however, that I have been somewhat fearful that the advocates of relieving the depression and bringing back prosperity by a tax on legalized beer might not be rightly understood. The arguments in favor of the tax, and the statements concerning what it is expected to do, that I have heard in the Senate and in the House of Representatives have not been at all convincing. But then, I suppose we must learn to make allowances.

A farmer among the hills of West Virginia has been using horse sense, if you know what I mean, in attacking his problem and has reached some interesting conclusions. He writes to the Baltimore Sun that he has been impressed with the fact that the labor unions pay a man a good salary to stay in Washington and to say over and over again to the Congress: "Give us beer with a revenue on it and we will pay your taxes for you." He is also impressed that at the American Legion national convention, groups of delegates from some Eastern States kept chanting back and forth to each other: "We want beer!"—when many of their comrades at home needed bread; and he has been reading in the papers that while New York City is finding it difficult to procure food for its unemployed, Mayor Walker occupies himself engineering a gigantic parade for beer. And he has listened to so many speakers over the radio declaring that beer will bring back prosperity, that this sensible farmer and some of his more intelligent neighbors have become convinced that beer is the thing, and they are starting action. He writes:

"One farmer with a family of twelve says he will sell his cows, plant barley, and have all the family, including the baby, drink beer. The farmers' wives who have been saving the butter and egg money to buy clothing for their children, and those of us who intended to repair the roofs on our garages and houses, will buy beer instead and help bring back prosperity. We have even done some missionary work in town, and a woman to whom I have been selling milk has promsied to buy beer instead of milk for her children as soon as she can get good beer. She says she can't buy both."

I am glad to be able to report that we have in our neighborhood here in Washington a doctor who is even wiser than the West Virginia farmer, for he is adding something that is not seriously claimed by the advocates of beer, something that restores health. You remember how the old saying goes: "What are beer and prosperity without health?" This doctor is making a great reputation for himself because of his method of treating that depressing and almost incurable disease, pernicious aenemia. He keeps in his laboratory a considerable collection of leeches. When called upon to treat a patient whose blood is insufficient in quantity and inferior in quality he takes with him several strong leeches and sets them to sucking away whatever blood is still in the veins of his patient. We have not heard of any cure as yet, but the doctor and his leeches are sure talked about. Many people are growing enthusiastic about the matter and are shouting the new slogan formed in co-operation with the advocates of beer: "Hurrah for beer, and leeches, and prosperity—and health to enjoy them all."

DR. POLING ANNOUNCES RESULTS OF NATIONAL CAMPAIGN AND HIS RESIGNATION FROM THE CHAIRMANSHIP OF THE ALLIED FORCES FOR PROHIBITION

Hotel Pennsylvania Luncheon, 12:15 P.M., Thursday, June 2

Speaking of the campaign of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, which in the past nine months has reached more than six hundred cities, Dr. Poling said: "Every goal has been reached and the results secured surpass anything that could be foreseen. More than one and one-half millions of men and women have been enrolled by personal signature and more than one thousand local units of voters and Allied Youth have been organized. Millions of pages of free literature have been distributed.

The effect of this campaign has been shown in the primary elections. In the Fort Wayne district where Congressman Hogg was opposed by every newspaper in the city and by the personal campaigning of Colonel Stayton, he was renominated by a two to one vote. The same result was secured for Congressman Cooper in Youngstown. South Dakota, wringing wet in the Digest Poll, nominates its dry ticket with a four to one vote. Congressional districts in Pennsylvania where desperate efforts were made to defeat dry representatives gave the same returns; and Ohio, widely accepted as a complete prohibition reversal, gave one hundred thousand more votes for the two dry candidates for governor than were cast for the one wet candidate. Ohio is a glaring example of the failure of dry strategy. If we had run-off primaries in the north, Ohio would be another story. Oregon wet in the recent poll is just about bone dry in the recent primaries. The recent three to one vote against beer in the U. S. Senate reflects the true feeling of the country.

"Great confusion exists in public thinking because "resubmission' and 'referendum' are used as synonymous terms or in such a way as to confuse the American voter. Drys are accused of being unwilling to allow the opposition to express itself.

"We are opposed to the so-called national referendum. We are opposed to such a referendum because under the Constitution it is now impossible and because such a referendum is repugnant to the spirit of the Constitution. Only by amendment of Article V of the Constitution could such a referendum be made legally binding. We are opposed to the amendment of Article V on any other basis than for general application to the whole Constitution and to all matters that may arise under it. We are opposed to special privilege for liquor. This referendum question should be settled with a clear understanding that once the principle is established it will apply equally to all personal and property rights now guaranteed by the Constitution. The principle once established would substitute immediate mass action for representative government. The issue is not prohibition, but representative government.

" 'Re-submission' or rather submission of a repeal resolution is another matter. Whatever the opposition may think about the Eighteenth Amendment, the opposition has no case for repeal unless and until the opposition presents its alternative or alternatives. Negation is not enough. But we grant the right of our opponents to present their substitute to the states and to the people—just as the drys presented the Eighteenth Amendment—under the Constitution and within the law. We shall meet their plan, not by suppression, but on merit in the open. I believe that the country is approaching a recording of sentiment along these general lines. This is our challenge to the opposition: 'You are against the Eighteenth Amendment, what do you want? State your alternative! We shall lay no obstacle in your way to bring it constitutionally to the people. If you have the votes to win, you can win—win as we won.'

"In spite of the depression, the loyalty of the friends of the Eighteenth Amendment has made possible the balancing of our budget. There is no deficit. Our complete final report will be filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives.

"It is our hope that eventually the unity of the dry forces may be so vitalized that the National Conference or the National Board of Strategy may become our residuary legatee. I shall always work toward this end. In the mean time, continuing leadership will be provided for these local units and for these hundreds of thousands of new recruits.

"Politically, we are non-partisan; but in our constituency we represent all parties and all shades of political opinion. We shall be heard at both national conventions. Our unity is in the simple declaration—'We stand for the Eighteenth Amendment and for Liberty with Law.' The spirit in which we have gone forward to complete this intensive campaign of education, enlistment and organization was stated in our first press releases when we said, 'We want to be better Americans than prohibitionists. We believe in the Eighteenth Amendment because we believe in America on the march. Prohibition is not the only issue. On the Eighteenth Amendment we recognize a deep-seated, honest difference of opinion. To the leadership of the opposition we grant the same moral integrity that we claim for ourselves.'

"On this platform a new fighting morale has been developed; prohibition defense has tightened; the wet trend has been stopped and we are on the march!"

"As of my statement made to the Executive Committee of the National Temperance Conference on May 20th, 1931 and released to the press on that day, I shall resign as Chairman of the Allied Forces for Prohibition on Monday, June 6th, immediately following the close of the present speaking campaign. I shall continue as a member of the Executive Committee and shall give to the whole program my utmost support. My regular activities, which have of necessity been neglected for ten months, must now engage my primary attention. I believe that an outstanding business man will succeed me."

A NOVEL AND EFFECTIVE AROUSING

(NOTE: The mind has much to do with the body, greatly influencing it. It has much to do with health, disease, habits, and one's attitude toward life. Health may be either restored or broken by favorable or unfavorable mental action. Many diseases—especially nervous and functional disorders—come and go at the behest of the mind. Habits are formed with the consent of the mind—more or less consciously given—and they may be broken by direct action of the mind. A distinct shock to fixed ideas—thus awakening the mind to assert itself —may be necessary in order to break the strangle hold a bad habit has gained on the mind and the body. Many ministers are doing well in their study of modern psychotherapy for the purpose of fitting themselves for larger service to the minds, bodies, and souls of the members of their congregations. The case here given was first published in The Continent, January 29, 1909. It is reprinted in Mind and Health, an excellent volume by Edward E. Weaver.—LUTHER K. LONG.)

At the Presbyterian ministers' meeting in Chicago a few mornings since, Dr. W. T. McElveen, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Evanston, speaking on "psychotherapy," told how he practiced the art in the case of a drunkard years ago, long before it had this name.

While Dr. McElveen was pastor of the Shawmut Congregational church in Boston there came to his study one day a stalwart, brawny fellow, a good deal more than half drunk, who thickly inquired whether the minister could tell him anything that would keep a man from drinking when he didn't want to.

"That I can," said Dr. McElveen, and he began to talk about signing the pledge, of trusting the strength of Jesus Christ, of joining the church.

But all that made no impression. The man stolidly replied that he had been through all that, and it was no good.

Dr. McElveen asked his caller to kneel down for prayer. The man refused. He had prayed enough; the heavens were brass.

For a moment's respite Dr. McElveen asked the man's name. "MacDonald," he answered. "Are you Scotch?" "Yes, sir, that's what I am," the drunkard replied with a noticeable touch of pride. "What's your name, Mr. Minister?" "McElveen." "You Scotch, too?" "Yes." The drunken visitor fell upon the preacher like an onslaught of soldiery. He almost wrung the minister's right hand off him.

The pastor perceived his advantage. He meditated a moment how he should use it. Then he spoke very deliberately:

"MacDonald, you're no Scotchman." "What's that?" "I say I don't believe you're a Scotchman—no pure Scotchman, I mean. You're a mongrel. You're mixed up with English; maybe some Irish, too. I could do something for a real Scotchman. But that combination is too much for me. You might as well go along."

The caller wasn't a drunken caller by that time. The shock had sobered him. But it made him towering angry. He stormed. He swore prodigiously. Then he cooled off to demand, "What makes you say I'm no Scotchman?"

"Well, MacDonald, you know yourself that one thing the Scotch are famous for all the world over is that they're so stubborn. Once they make up their minds, nothing can change them. Nothing in creation can drag them into doing what they don't want to do. They always keep their promises.

"But you here, MacDonald—why, you have promised repeatedly that you won't drink, but something always leads you off. You can't keep your promise. You even promise God in heaven you'll do right, and you don't keep your promise to Him. Oh, it's plain enough, MacDonald; you're not Scotch."

The man vowed and protested that there wasn't a drop of anything but Scotch blood in him anywhere from top to toe; but Dr. McElveen stuck to it that his claim was incredible. After a while he got to pleading with the pastor to believe him, but the pastor was obdurate. Finally the unhappy fellow burst out:

"If you'll only believe I'm Scotch, I'll let you pray with me." "No, it wouldn't be worth while," Dr. McElveen answered. "You've broken so many promises to God that I think it would be a good deal of an insult to bring you round to Him again. Not being Scotch, you'd soon go back on Him again."

The man pleaded more pathetically than ever. At length Dr. McElveen said: "I'll pray for you on one condition—that you'll pray for yourself when I am through."

MacDonald said he would. They went down on their knees. The minister prayed fervently, but when he ended, MacDonald wouldn't utter a word. Dr. McElveen leaped to his feet, shouting with indignation: "Now I know you're no Scotchman. You've gone back on me."

"Get down again," whispered MacDonald, huskily, "I'll pray." And this is what he prayed in agony of soul: "O God above, make this minister man know I'm a Scotchman, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

"I knew I'd won then," said Dr. McElveen, telling the story. MacDonald hasn't taken a drink since. He confessed Christ, joined the church, and continues to this day a sober, consistent Christian.

◆

ONLY ONE COURSE TO FOLLOW

"There is no room in our national household for two antagonistic systems, one legalizing the liquor traffic, the other outlawing it. As a church, we can follow no course except the one that will reduce the consumption of beverage alcohol to the minimum. We are convinced that national prohibition is that method."—The Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in their episcopal letter to the General Conference, meeting in Atlantic City, May, 1932.

◆

—I am convinced that there is no part of the United States that has not been improved by the prohibition law.—Evangeline Booth, Commander Salvation Army.

—High Point College in its commencement this week conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon Rev. C. W. Bates and Rev. L. W. Gerringer.

—"There is no longer room for doubt in reference to the toxic action of alcoholic beverages as weak as 2.75 by weight." —Dr. Walter R. Miles of the Carnegie Nutrition Laboratory.

SPIRITUAL HUNGER

Mat. 5:6—"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled." When we want God, when we long for His conscious presence as we want food and drink then we shall find Him. This hungering and thristing is not spasmodic but continual. If the conditions are not met, the blessing is sure. If the hungering and thirsting, if the appetite for God, for spiritual things is proof that we are Christians, let us be sure that we have the appetite. What does a hungry man do? He goes where the food is, he makes an effort to get it, he is much concerned about it. Hungering and thirsting after righteousness, such longing is the best sign of spiritual health, it is a hopeful sign when the sick man begins to have a desire for food. We need never lose hope for any who really crave spiritual food—such longing stimulates to endeavor. What about the man who does not want to attend the services of the sanctuary? Who does not desire the prayer meeting, but attends worldly amusements? G. F. MILLAWAY.

◆

General Conference Notes Continued

(Continued from Page One)

came for consideration and provoked considerable discussion. The budget was reduced from $500,000 to $375,000. The office of Promotional Secretary was discontinued, salaries were reduced and other economies effected.

The report of the committee on Publishing Interests revealed differences of opinion and action was postponed.

Opposition to the meeting of church boards in hotels unfavorable to the 18th Amendment was expressed in the form of a resolution offered by Dr. J. C. Williams which resolution was adopted.

On Wednesday Publishing Interests were considered again. It was decided to elect two publishing agents as heretofore. For the Baltimore Directory Charles Reiner was re-elected; for the Pittsburgh Directory Miss Edith Beck was elected.

Dr. F. W. Stephenson was elected Secretary of the Board of Education and Rev. F. L. Gibbs Associate Secretary. H. C. Staley of Baltimore was elected treasurer of the General Conference.

Dr. G. I. Humphreys who had been sent as a fraternal messenger to the M E. General Conference in session in Atlantic City made report.

The General Conference adjourned about 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

The substance of these notes came to us in the Daily News-Letters prepared and published by Brother J. Earl Cummings for which we thank him.

Our readers were asked to pray for the General Conference, and some of them did so. It is now in order to pray for the whole church that it may be divinely inspired and guided.

◆

—John Barleycorn's progress: Mrs. Sylvia F. Metcalf of New Orleans, says that when "wine bricks" first came to that city they sold at two dollars, then they dropped to $1.50; now they may be had for twenty-nine cents, and no one seems to want them.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

The General Conference

This first General Conference of the second century of our denominational existence met on schedule time, Wednesday, May 18, and adjourned sine die, Wednesday night, May 25. All of our 32 Representatives were present except two. Other sections of the church were likewise represented. From beginning to end the Conference was full of interest and inspiration. Aside from the regular routine of conference matters, the program provided for a number of addresses by noted speakers and also music by the music department of Capitol university, and other singers. The transaction of all conference business was characterized by thoughtfulness and earnestness. Many questions precipitated much debate, but final decisions were accepted by all in the spirit of majority rule, which is the essence of democracy. A "Council of Administration," set up by the Conference, will be the administrative body of the church during this quadrennium. It is composed of the President of the General Conference, Executive Secretaries, Editors, College Presidents, members of the various boards, and the presidents of the annual conferences,—about 70 members in all. The "Council" will meet annually, and will take under survey the entire program of the church.

In the interest of economy the office of Promotional Secretary was abolished, and the President of the General Conference charged with the responsibility of this work.

The budget was lowered to $375,000 annually, and a new percentage basis of distribution adopted. The Board of Missions get 67 per cent, and the Board of Christian Education 33 per cent. Salaries of General Church officials reduced by two. Many revisions were made in the discipline, much of which was to harmonize it with the new set up of the church. But little time was given by the conference to church union. Dr. Broomfield was elected to succeed himself as President of the General Conference, and Dr. Bates to succeed himself as Secretary. Dr. Richard Shipley is the newly-elected editor of the Methodist Protestant Recorder..

The spirit and purpose of the conference was to re-dedicate the Church to the tasks that are ours in Kingdom service. Our goals for the quarennium, both spiritual and material, are high, and in the confidence that God is with us, we shall press our work with fixed purpose and unflagging zeal.

High Point College Commencement

The exercises began Thursday, May 26, and ended with Commencement Day, Monday, May 30. It was our privilege to attend the occasion of the Baccalaureate sermon, which was preached by President Humphreys in the First Methodist Protestant church, Sunday morning, May 29. The spacious auditorium of the church was filled to its capacity. The President's message was forceful and well-received. On Sunday night the program was held in the college auditorium and was under the auspices of the religious organizations of the college. Honorable Capus Waynick, Editor of the High Point Enterprise, was the speaker. His message was practical and thoughtful. The finals came Monday morning. The college auditorium was filled to its capacity, and the graduating program was pleasing in every particular. The commencement day speaker was Dr. Elbert Russell, Dean of the School of Religion of Duke university. He spoke on the "Relation of Religious Education to the Times in Which We Live." His address was heard with close attention and evident appreciation. The graduating class numbered 42 ambitious and promising young men and young women. A pleasing feature of the occasion was the conferring of the degree of "Doctor Divinitas" upon Rev. C. W. Bates and Rev. L. W. Gerringer. We congratulate them. President Humphreys announced that friends of the college had provided two new scholarships,—one for $100, and one for $1,000. This annoucement was received with grateful appreciation and applause. This commencement, which was most pleasing in every particular marks the close of another successful year for the college. All faces are now turned toward the opening next fall. We understand that during the summer work will be done on the grounds and buildings, and the prospects seem good for a gymnasium by the time school opens next September. Brother Harrison is working hard and hopefully in that direction, and already his labors are being rewarded. Just wait and see! Let us say it once more: High Point College is set for a great career in Christian Education.

Hickory Grove

On Sundy, May 15, this church was duly dedicated. It will be recalled that the building which did occupy this ground was burned in 1930; the present building has been erected to take its place. The new building is brick-veneered, and is about 38x52 feet. It is well built, and pleasing in appearance. The congregation at this place is not large, but very loyal, and they have worked heroically and unitedly in their efforts to rebuild their church. We share with them the joy of this achievement, and hope and pray that they may see the fruits of their labors, as this church ministers earnestly and effectively to the spiritual needs of this community. Dr. P. S. Kennett preached the dedicatory sermon. Besides the pastor, Rev. E. O. Peeler, Rev. W. F. Kennett and Rev. W. F. Ashburn participated in the service. Brother A. L. Jones, on behalf of the trustees and the congregation, presented the church for dedication. The cost of this new building was about $3,000.

By Wire

> "General Conference action gives Children's Day offering to Board of Missions. Our Missionaries' salaries are in arrears four months. Please get word right away to your ministers and Sunday School superintendents to boost Children's Day offerings. We depend on you and them. Don't disappoint us. The need is urgent." J. C. BROOMFIELD.

This telegram was received May 27. We are using this means of passing it on to our pastors and Sunday School superintendents. We have already been uring the observance of this Day, and this telegram comes as an added emphasis. Let us make much of this day, and do what we can in this way to meet this urgent need. If you do not have the program, Dr. Haddaway will send it to you at once. His address is 516 Nirth Charles St., Baltimore, Md.

District Rally

The Seventh District, Rev. H. L. Isley, chairman, observed Rally Day last Sunday—May 29—with Mt. Pleasant church as the meeting place. This District is composed of Mt. Pleasant charge, Tabernacle charge, and Liberty-Moriah. We were not able to be there during the morning, but went down in the afternoon and participated in the program. These Rally Day occasions are well worthwhile, and we urge that they be held in every district. We were pleased to learn through the Herald that other districts were observing the Day last Sunday. Pastors present at Mt. Pleasant were Johnson and Isley. We noted also the presence of one of our superannuated ministers, Rev. T. F. McCulloch. In the afternoon, Brother W. T. Hanner spoke in the interest of High Point College. It is interesting and pleasing to hear our laymen boosting this school, and speaking of it as "ours," and saying "we must take care of it." With enough of our laymen feeling that way about it, High Point College would soon be over her period of financial struggle. And our people are interested, and their interest will grow, as more and more the benefits of the college become apparent. We were glad to be with Brother Isley and his people of the Seventh District in this Rally.

Appointments

June 2—Yadkin College Reunion.
June 3—Meeting of Trustees of High Point College.
June 5—Pinnacle and Mt. Zion.
June 29—Anniversary service, Burlington, First Church.
July 3—Friendship, Friendship charge.

"Let a man so account us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God."

Fraternally yours,
S. W. Taylor.

May 31, 1932

◆

—The other day a liquor manufacturing establishment was seized in Baltimore, which was estimated to have cost approximately five hunred thousand dollars. "This," says the opponent of prohibition, "indicates the failure of the dry policy." But the prohibitionist replies that this plant had been in operation only one week and that it had been under observation for at least half of that time. When it was seized, its owners lost five hundred thousand dollars, and they must still face court.

—"This whole license system is lame in logic and a failure in practice; wrong in principle and powerless as a remedy; foolish as a financial experiment, and a Judas Iscariot dealing in morals.—Clarence True Wilson.

—The Housewives of America do not want to have to maintain the homes and beer saloons, too.

SHE PROVED IT

A very long time ago, during what the people call "a real, old-fashioned winter," a little girl went one evening to the village shop. The shopman was very busy, and the grown-up people were shopping and talking and the little girl was rather a long time—so long, in fact, that when she was served and left the shop, she found that it was getting quite dark, and the snow was falling fast, forming a thick carpet on the ground. There were no lights in the country lanes, and in a very short time it suddenly dawned upon her that she was lost. She tried very hard to find the rigid track, but it was useless.

Just then she remembered the advice of her Sunday School teacher—"If you are ever in difficulty just lift your heart up to Jesus, just where you are, and He will help you, always."

Was it really true? the little girl wondered, and then from her heart went up a tiny petition for help, scarcely a moment passed before she saw a light coming through the darkness, nearer and nearer. She saw it was a lantern, and then she saw the face of her mother, who had come to find her. Then she knew that God does answer prayer. And today, although she has grown to womanhood, and is working for God, she will tell you still that God does answer prayer."—The Junior Class Paper.

THE STRENGTH OF THE LORD

Psalm 71:16; Isaiah 41:10

I will go in the strength of the Lord,
He will never forsake to the foe;
He has promised to hold my right hand
In the strength of the Lord I will go.

I will go in the strength of the Lord,
Not a foe shall my courage alarm;
The Lord is my refuge in storm,
He will hold and keep me from harm.

I will go in the strength of the Lord,
Though the wicked may seek to ensnare;
From the cruel and unrighteous man,
Thou wilt save me, oh, Lord, Thou art near.

I will go in the strength of the Lord,
Friends may leave me alone with the foe;
May forsake in the hour of trial,
In the strength of the Lord I will go.

—Mabel A. Wolfe

◆

—"How shall we step over the tiny graves of little ones slain by Drink to face the ire of Him who 'loves the least of these'?"—Bishop Robert McIntyre.

—In a state, pecuniary gain is not to be considered prosperity, but national prosperity is found in righteousness.—Confucius.

—True reforms are stairways to the golden age.

—Duty is what is due from us to others.

OUR STORY PAGE

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON BOY

Once there was a little boy who wanted to be like George Washington.

"George Washington's birthday is coming soon," his mother told him. "Then there will be beautiful red, white and blue flags flying through all the city and the soldiers will march and the band will play."

"There will be no school," his teacher told the little boy, "on George Washington's birthday. And all the shops and offices and the great banks where the money is kept will be having a holiday too."

"I'm to be like George Washington," said the little boy who lived next door. "I shall be allowed to look at my great-great-grandfather's sword on George Washington's birthday. My mother will let me hold it and polish the blade. My great-great-grandfather was a soldier."

So it came to be almost time for the great holiday and the little boy began to wish and wish and wish.

"I wish that I could be like George Washington," he said over and over again.

"O! you couldn't be that," said the little boy next door, "because your great-great-grandfather wasn't a soldier."

This discouraged the little boy very much, and he, too, believed that his wish would never come true.

One day when it was beginning to feel a little warm, just as if the springtime were on its way over the hill, the little boy took his skates and called to his faithful little dog Sport and started away for the icy pond.

"Don't go out to the middle of the pond," called his mother. "The ice may be thin."

"I won't go out to the middle of the pond," called back the boy, and then straight off he forgot all about it. Sport ran gayly along by his side, sometimes going a little ahead and barking, "Come on, little master; come on!"

The ice was glaring and bright, and after he had put on his skates, the little boy glided off, farther and farther and nearer to the middle. Close behind came dog Sport, slipping and sliding and try to keep up.

"Woof, woof! Don't go too far, little master," called Sport, but the boy did not heed him.

Crack, splash! The thin ice in the middle of the pond had broken and the boy had fallen in the deep, cold water. Would he drown? O! he might have drowned if good Sport had not caught him by his coat collar, and bracing all four of his strong feet against a strong tree branch which had frozen into the ice, held him there. Then a man who was cutting ice, and who had seen the little boy's danger, ran across the ice and pulled him out and carried him home very much frightened and sad.

"Whose fault was this?" asked the boy's mother, after he had been given hot lemonade and warmly tucked in bed, and Sport was enjoying a huge bone.

"It was all my fault, mother," said the little boy. "I forgot and went out to the middle of the pond, where the ice was thin. I didn't mind you."

There was another day when the little boy and Sport went to market together. Sport was the happiest little dog that ever wagged a tail, when he was allowed to go to market. He always carried the market basket in his mouth, with the money wrapped in a paper inside, and when the errands were done, he carried the packages home in the basket.

Sport's basket was very full, as he and the little boy started home. There were a pot of jam and some rosy apples and a big brown bundle that was Sport's very own bone. Sport held his head high and looked neither to the right nor to the left. That is the reason why he did not see the galloping horse and wagon coming down the road. But the little boy saw it. He gathered up Sport, basket, bundles and all in his arms, and the horse just grazed them but did not hurt them one bit.

Then it came to be George Washington's birthday, and everything happened just as people said it would. Beautiful red, white, and blue flags floated from all the buildings and the soldiers marched and the band played. There was no school and the little boy next door was allowed to hold his great-great-grandfather's sword and polish it.

"O, I wish that I could be like George Washington!" the little boy said once more.

Then his mother brought out for him a soldier hat with a plume and a little bright, tin sword and a loud-sounding red drum.

"You are like George Washington, dear," she said, as she helped him to put them on.

"How?" he asked, wondering what she meant.

"Because you are truthful and brave," she said.—Picture Story Paper.

◆

"GRATITUDE REPAYS A DEBT"

Side by side they lay in the hospital, the mining engineer and the Indian lad. Max Macy was there because of one of those simple every-day accidents which seem to come so unexpectedly. He had slipped on the wet pavement and seriously sprained an ankle which had kept him in bed for a week. Pete, the Indian lad, was on the way to recovery after an attack of pneumonia when he suffered a relapse. His condition was critical.

"How is he this morning, doctor?" Max asked as the physician dressed the ankle.

The doctor shook his head, and whispered, "Not so good. A blood transfusion is his only hope. But for his marvelous constitution, he would be dead now. I have done my best for him, but we are fighting a losing game."

Max turned his head and looked at the silent form of the lad. He had become slightly acquainted with the Indian, the lad's serious condition preventing very much conversation. A wave of sorrow swept through the engineer at sight of the once rugged youth being consumed by disease. Without word or groan the lad maintained his stoical attitude.

Max turned back to the doctor. "I wish you would do me a favor, Doc," he requested. "I'm willing to give a transfusion of blood to save his life. If you haven't anybody else ready, I wish you would try my blood. I've plenty of it to spare.''

Thus it was that before night the transfusion was completed and the result anxiously awaited.

''It worked splendidly,'' the doctor reported next morning. ''If nothing of an adverse nature sets in, he will pull through now.''

Four days later Max left the hospital, a slight limp the only evidence of his mishap.

''Good by, Pete,'' he said to the Indian lad. ''Hope you get out before long.''

Pete thanked Max in a few words, which though few in number, contained a weight of sincerity.

''Where you go?'' he asked.

''Storm Mountain. Got some blasting to do. Cutting a road through to the new mine. You know where it is,—up along Moon River?''

The Indian nodded assent. ''Me know. Me be up to see you 'fore long.''

''I'll be glad to have you come,'' replied Max, for he had taken a real liking to Pete. ''I'll have a job for you whenever you come.''

The black eyes of the Indian held a steady gaze upon the form of the stocky engineer until he reached the end of the corridor and disappeared from sight.

Two weeks passed. Max reached the Storm Mountain country, and began his preparatory work for laying a tone-track railroad to the new mine which was to be opened. A logging company had preceded him, clearing part of the proposed route of its heavy timber, leaving but the stumps to be removed. Day after day the dynamite blasts broke the mountain stillness from morning until night, dislodging these stumps and leveling the way for the construction gang who would follow them in about a month.

About a month had passed when Max looked out one morning to find Pete outside his door. Greeting him in a cordial way, Max invited the lad to eat breakfast with him. Pete had recovered from his illness and had regained part of his strength, but was not yet able to take his place beside the laborers who were doing heavy work.

''You can't stand that work, Pete,'' Max said the first night as he noticed the fatigued condition of the lad. ''They will be carrying you back to the hospital if you keep that up. Do you know anything about firing dynamite?''

Pete nodded. ''Me know how to handle. Fired it on construction gang before.''

''You report to Sam Mackey tomorrow morning, and work under him. You will find it much easier though far more dangerous.''

Max kept a close eye on Pete, and discovered in him a faithful worker.

''Best man I ever had on my gang,'' Sam Mackey reported. ''Handles dynamite like it was harmless as cornmeal, but he isn't careless with it. I never saw a man with as steady nerve. I'm sure if a charge of dynamite lifted him fifty feet in the air, he would come down and go on about his business without a change of expression. Max, he thinks you are the whole thing since you saved his life by that blood transfusion. I believe he would lay down his life for you.''

Max laughed. ''I'm glad I could do that much for him.''

Work proceeded rapidly. Ten miles was cleared and the gang swung down grade toward the Moon River. The nature of the land was changing, becoming more rocky and less wooded. Each charge of dynamite loosened rocks as well as stumps, making it necessary to seek better protection from the blasts.

Boom! A terrific charge sent earth, rock, and wood showering skyward. Max, surveying by the river a half mile down the slope, glanced upward for a moment, then turned to his work. A large, round rock, a foot in diameter, cut an arc through the air, descending to the hillside, and bounced its way toward the river, heading directly for the group of surveyors.

Pete saw the bounding rock, and started from his hiding place. He yelled a cry of warning, but the roar of the river prevented it from reaching the group below. Rolling for a few feet, hitting uneven ground and bounding into the air, the stone continued its way unchecked. Pete yelled again, but failed to attract the attention of the group.

Twenty feet above the surveyors the stone smashed into a clump of young saplings which partly checked its speed. With greatly diminished force it gave a final leap from this thicket. Hearing the crash behind him, Max turned quickly, just as the stone bounced toward him. Thud! Before he could leap to safety, the stone hit him a terrific blow on the left shoulder, glanced from the side of his head, and disappeared in the river.

With a cry to Sam Mackey, Pete sped down the mountain side with the agility of a mountain goat, joining the men who had surrounded the unconscious form of their employer. It took but a moment to inventory the serious damage wrought.

''Broken collar bone, smashed shoulder, and probable fracture of the skull,'' said Sam Mackey who had seen many accidents in his day. ''His condition is serious. Get the doctor right away.''

''Doc went to Wendon today. Won't be back until tomorrow morning.''

Wendon! Twenty miles away! And no way to get there but by way of the river! Sam shook his head. ''He'll die before we can get there, or before we can get the doctor here.''

''How 'bout flume?'' asked Pete.

''Flume!'' the faces of the men paled at this thought.

''I take him through,'' said Pete. ''Fasten two logs together. Tie Max fast.''

Three miles down the river was the old flume used to float logs to the river at Wendon. The flume was a mile long, and made the distance to Wendon but four miles. But no one had ever descended that flume! With its terrific pitch it seemed impossible that a human being could descend it and live.

''He die here anyway,'' Pete said. ''We take one chance of saving him. Maybe we die, but we try.''

''I'm with you, Pete,'' exclaimed Sam. ''Get the raft ready boys, and then go down by canoe and blow the flume gates when we come in sight.''

Two logs were nailed securely together, Max was tied to the logs, and the race with death began. Pete and Sam waved a farewell to the group, grasped the long ropes which had been nailed to the logs, and poled the logs out into the current.

It seemed an age before those three miles were navigated and the flume came in sight. Boom! The gates disappeared, and a wave of water rushed down the incline. The head of the raft, caught in this current, swung toward the flume. The flume was planked its entire course, and protected on both sides by planks. A race of water, two feet deep, caught the raft, and sucked it into this man made channel. Sam's face paled, but there was no change of expression with Pete.

That death-defying race is still talked about in the North country. To Pete and Sam it was just a blur as they shot straight down the mountainside at terrific speed. The men at the sluice gates watched the light raft with Pete at the bow, keeping it from touching sides of the flume. With iron nerve he kept it straight on its course. They watched the raft growing smaller and smaller until it looked like a chip on a wave. It leaped into space at the end of the flume, and disappeared in the river.

As it leaped from the end of the flume to the river, Pete and Sam clung to the ropes. The logs hit the river, plunged three feet below the surface, and slowly rose to the surface. While Pete poled to shore, Sam cut the ropes which bound Max to the raft. Hoisting Max to his back, Sam carried him toward the village while Pete ran on ahead for help.

Pete and Sam returned to camp the next day. "Max, he come all right," said Pete. "Doctor say in three months he come back."

"He also said that if we had been two hours later, he would have died," Sam added. "You can give Pete credit for saving his life. What a ride we took! What a ride!"

Gratitude had repaid a debt.—Rev. L. L. Wightman.

A SCHOOL BOY'S PRANK AND HIS CONFESSION

We had played a practical joke on our college doctors. We caricatured and lampooned them all without mercy. I was foremost in the work and coming off scathless once and again, I grew bolder. I was suspected, and no wonder. They put me under arrest, and then for the first time in my life, I learned the meaning of that word fear. Many of the wretches there had been scourged, branded, tortured. I was brought before the Chancellor. It was enough to freeze a man's blood in his veins. There he sat, in the great hall of council, with all the doctors around him, he looking the sternest and gravest of them all. When asked about the affair I was so much of a coward that I said: "Not guilty," salving my conscience that though I had done the thing, yet there was no guilt in the thing done!

I do not know how it might have ended, if some too zealous friend of mine had not come forward to defend me by casting the blame upon another. Of course, I could not allow an innocent man to suffer. When things had gone so far, there was nothing left for me but to say: "Gentlemen, it was I who did it. I throw myself on your mercy."

Then my lord, the Chancellor, spoke stern and awful words about law and order, and the sin of violating them. I think my heart stood still the while. But when he came to pronounce the sentence, behold! it was neither scourging, nor branding, nor torture, nor even imprisonment—nothing but a simple fine! My heart beat again, and sent the blood throbbing through my veins. But, in another moment the relief passed away, and the fainting of heart came back. I cried out, despairingly, "But, my good lord, I have not a denier in the world!"

"Remove the prisoner," quoth he, as stern as Minos.

"Removed I was; and you may think what a night I spent in my cell, wondering what they would do with me, since I had nothing to pay. But the next morning, early, the Chancellor sent for me again. That time he was alone.

I stood trembling, as far away as I might, but he motioned me to come near him. "Herbert," he said, and his voice was low and gentle, though his face wore still that stern sad look which, indeed, it ever wears, "Herbert, you are free."

"He waited for me to speak; and I, confused and bewildered as I was, at least contrived to stammer out, "Am I forgiven, my lord?"

"No," said he, "not forgiven of grace, but released of right, because the fine is paid," and this time a grave smile softened the sternness of my lord's look. From that smile, I knew the truth, and my heart went out to him, as it had never done yet to living man. I was on my knees before him in a moment. What I said I know not, but this I think it was: "My lord, you have saved me. Nay, more, you have bought me. I am your man forever."

But he bade me rise and in a changed and softened voice added, that I must not think of what he had done for me—that was little; but rather think of One who, though He was my Judge, had paid for me a debt infinitely greater. "By His death He has bought thee in very deed. My son, serve and thank Him all thy life."

Just a school boy story of some centuries ago, and yet how vividly it depicts, not only the grace of God which saves us, but the righteousness through which it "reigns unto eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Reader! do you see in this brief story, your own as a sinner and in its sequel the pardon of your precious Saviour?—B. C. G., in The Life Line.

—The fallacy of attributing the deplorable crime situation of America to the prohibition law as the chief causative factor is exposed by a London dispatch to the New York Times, in which Sir Herbert Samuel, the Home Secretary, is reported as telling Parliament of a serious increase in crime in Great Britain since the War. England, without prohibition, has had an increase in burglaries and breaking and entering offenses from 3,000 in 1913 to 8,000 last year in London area, the latter figure being 2,300 more than in 1930 and 3,400 more than in 1929. Sir Herbert cited the causes as relaxation of control over children, unemployment and motor cars as contributory causes. Certainly prohibition was not a factor in this increase.

—No license is high enough to pay for a single broken heart.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

HOW SHOULD WE PRAY?

Scripture, Matthew 6:9-15

There was much material suggested last week that will be of service in this meeting. Prayer is communion with God and should be as natural as talking with a friend. You have heard people pray who were as sincere and natural as an afternoon talk would be. Recently I heard of a minister who came upon a woman praying whose sincerity and childish faith made the preacher ashamed of his prayers. The woman prayed as if she were communing with a real presence that was as close as a friend at an afternoon tea. The important thing about prayer is that it shall be free from affectation and as conversational as with a friend.

When the disciples of Christ came to Him asking in what manner to pray, He gave to them the model prayer which we term "The Lord's Prayer." We find here all the basic elements of a good prayer. Pray: Reverently, for His kingdom and will, Dependently on His supplies, In a forgiving spirit, Asking help in temptations, For deliverance from the tempter, Trusting His power. A fuller discussion of these points as topics would furnish good answers to the question, How should we pray?

People often ask if the position one takes matters in prayer. One can pray anywhere and over any subject but my personal opinion is that a person is more reverent when he is kneeling. In private devotions it is a good idea to make the habit of kneeling. The practice in public prayer depends much on the individual and on the custom of the community. To me it is a sign of humility and much more reverent to kneel.

There is a great deal of objection raised by some people to well phrased prayers. I prefer a prayer out of the heart to any that are made for impression but I feel that our conversation with God should be intelligent. The person who is leading a public prayer is leading the thought of his hearers to God and is, therefore, in a responsible position. For this reason it is well that the leader of prayer be forewarned and in some measure prepared. One would not expect a minister to go into the pulpit without a fairly definite idea of the things which should be included in his prayer. The person who is to lead in prayer in the Christian Endeavor meeting should be as well prepared as if he were discussing a topic. By preparation prayers become a matter of inspiration and are to the point. Since public prayers are not long, the best possible use should be made of them.

If prayer is gratitude, it comes only out of a heart that is inspired. A touching poem may lift one's thought a prayer hymn, soft music, or a devotionally rendered passage of Scripture. A definite period of each day should be set aside for this type of inspiration and a definite season of prayer. It cannot be overstressed in any Christian Endeavorer's life that a period of devotion is imperative. Communion with a thing tends to make us what we are, and one becomes like God with constant contact with Him. It is said that John Wesley set aside two hours of every morning for prayer and praise. Many of the difficulties which are baffling the world today would be tempered by the guidance and power of God. There is no person who has fully fathomed the depth of strength offered in prayer but those who are constantly in prayer attest the value of it.

We should be constantly in the attitude of prayer. "Stonewall Jackson," says E. M. Bounds in "Purpose in Prayer," "was a man of prayer. Said he, 'I have so fixed the habit of prayer in my mind that I never raise a glass of water to my lips without asking God's blessing, never seal a letter without putting a word of prayer under the seal, never take a letter from the post without a brief sending of my thoughts heavenward, never change my classes in the lecture-room without a minute's petition for the cadets who go out and for those who come in'."

It would be interesting for this meeting to have each person answer the roll call with a passage of scripture about prayer. Some of the great prayers of the Bible would furnish an interesting study for an analysis. Look through these and other great prayers and find out the things that make them great. The hymns suggested for the meeting last week would fit nicely into this meeting. The suggested program of last week could serve as a skeleton for a program this week. Tell the person who is to lead the prayer at least two days before the meeting and suggest to that person that he use the hints for prayer in the Christian Endeavor Quarterly. Try this and see if you will do it as a habit from now on. A brief period of the meeting could be effectively used for a discussion of, "Things that I have found useful in praying." Stress that these are to be short and to the point so the meeting will not run to seed.

Try these measuring-sticks on your prayers. Many people pray as if God was deaf; we consider it impolite to talk in an extremely loud tone to our friends. Prayers are often a series of petitions. Prayers often go round in a circle and are the same circle each time. There is an art to praying that is attained only by effective study and constant practice.

◆

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Our representatives who attended the sessions of the General Conference will send their expense accounts to me at once.

We urge the pastors to have their charges meet their assessments for expenses of representatives to the General Conference at once. I do not have half enough in hand to meet this expense. I am sure the charges do not want our representatives to meet this expense out of their own pockets.

GEO. R. BROWN, Treas.

◆

—Friedens Lutheran church near Gibsonville, will hold its annual memorial and historical celebration on Sunday, June 5th, with an unusually interesting and important program.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Friendship S. S., Haw River	$ 5.00
Welch Memorial	4.20
Maple Springs, Forsyth	5.00
Flat Rock, Flat Rock	2.00
Mt. Pleasant S. S., North Davidson	2.10
Friendship, Mt. Hermon	5.00
Gillburg, Vance	1.00
The Ladies' Bible Class, R. I. Ave., Washington, D. C., clothing child	5.00
Oak Grove, Cleveland, Memoria Service	4.67
Spring Church S. S., Spring Church	1.65
Bellmont S. S., Mt. Hermon	2.96
Hebron S. S., Orange	4.65
Caroleen S. S.	2.02
Mt. Zion, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	1.13
Union Chapel, Granville	8.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

Albemarle, the Cam. Snotherly circle, 1 quilt and 4 pair pillow cases. The Lucy Hatley circle, 4 towels.

Friendship, Mt. Hermon, Mrs. Washington Johnson stopped by and took with her 3 dozen cans to be filled with fruits and vegetables and returned later.

A few coupons and flower plants have also been given.

Please keep up the gathering and sending of Octagon coupons. They help us out very much. A prize of $5.00 is offered to the Auxiliary sending in the greatest number of coupons during May, June and July. Be sure to mark them so proper credit can be given.

Gifts in Produce

Above everything else in the way of gifts we need money to pay bills. But it looks now that money is to be even more scarce this year than last, so we are reminding our kind friends that abundant gifts in canned fruits and vegetables, and wheat, corn, potatoes, pumpkins and other produce, and clothing will help us to keep from making bills. We trust that many of our communities will plan these donations as you did last year. We cannot tell how we would have gone through last winter and thus far into the spring without those fine donations.

The General Conference

The delegates are back from the General Conference, and ere long the Journal will be out and we can read for ourselves. But since so many of our people were anxious about what would be done for the Children's Home, we are asking some one of our 36 representatives to tell us through the Herald just what the General Conference did for the Home.

We shall greatly appreciate a word through the Herald from any one of these representatives next week.

May the dear Lord bless and direct in all our work for Him.

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

N. C. LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

Pre-registration

Burlington, First	27
High Point, First	17
Hebron, Orange	4
West End, Greensboro	1
Previously reported	20
Total to date	69

T. J. WHITEHEAD.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Orange Charge.—Children's Day services are being planned as follows: Union Grove, First Sunday; Chestnut Ridge, Second Sunday; Efland, Third Sunday night; and Hebron, Fourth Sunday in June.

The vote for delegate to the next Annual Conference will be taken at above times and places. The candidates are M. P. Efland and L. M. Riley.

We had splendid congregations at Hebron and Chestnut Ridge yesterday. Brother W. A. Davies visited both churches. He and the writer gave short reports of the Columbus conference. Hope to give similar reports at the otner churches next Sunday.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

* * *

First Church, Albemarle.—Sunday at the 11 o'clock service our pastor brought us a wonderful message, using as his subject, "Spiritual Diamond." Text, "And the second row shall be an emerald, a sapphire, and a diamond," Exodus 28:18. He said in part: "That every true Christian is a spiritual diamond. There are many ways through which comparison can be made of a diamond and a true Christian, first in the hardness. A diamond cannot be scratched or marked unless coming in contact with aother diamond. Second, its brightness. A diamond is the most brilliant of all jewels, it cannot be made by man, only God can make it. Is this not true of a devout Christian?"

The second Sunday in June our revival will begin, it is not definitely decided as to who will assist.

There will be no service at the morning or evening worship hour on next Sunday, due to the absence of our pastor who is assisting in a revival service in Gibsonville, N. C. However the Sunday school will meet at the regular hour.

On last Sunday we held our regular union service in the West Albemarle Baptist church. Our choir rendered the music, and Mr. Stone of the Tabernacle M. E. church delivered the sermon. He used as his subject, "Mother and Home." Many helpful thoughts were received from his subject.

Mr. Frank Harkey, one of our most faithful members, who has been ill for the past month, is able to be back at church again.

Mrs. J. R. Johnson was hostess to the young women's "As You Like It" Sunday school class on last Monday evening. The meeting was opened with a song and prayer. After the business a social hour was enjoyed. The hostess served a delicious sweet course, consisting of strawberry shortcake and cream. This class has only been organized for a short time, and they are doing some splendid work. New members are being added to their roll every Sunday. Mrs. Troutman, and Mrs. Ralph Andrews were added to their roll on last Sunday. Mrs. J. E. Gantt is teacher of this class, she is very enthusiastic in her work and puts forth every effort to see her class move forward.

The Lucy Hatley circle will meet in the home of Mrs. J. P. Green on next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Kam Snotherly circle will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Luke Cook. All members of the circle are urged to be present.

Mrs. J. R. Anderson and children, Jonnie Lou and Fay spent the week-end in High Point with friends.

REPORTER.

* * *

Winston-Salem, First.—In the absence of the pastor next Sunday Rev. H. L. Powell, of Thomasville, will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock hour. There will be no evening service.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

* * *

West Forsyth.—After attending Sunday school at Pleasant Hill church last Sunday morning we went to Maple Springs church, on Forsyth charge, where the annual rally of the 14th district was held. The program was interesting and helpful, and the dinner could not have been better. As I am not authorized to report the rally, I will not make further comment except to state that Pleasant Hill Woman's Auxiliary was well represented and won the banner for having attained the 100 per cent record for the past year. Several others besides members of the auxiliary were present.

The pastor and family are grateful for the privilege of sharing in a most delightful occasion at the home of Brother Junius W. Long, of Pleasant Hill church last Saturday evening. The occasion was a birthday supper in honor of Brother Long's 81st birthday anniversary. The feast was all that one could desire, and the fellowship was equal to the best. Besides the pastor and family, two daughters, Mrs. J. F. Hunter and Mrs. C. F. Hauser, and their husbands were guests. Brother Long's only son, A. R. Long, treasurer of Pleasant Hill church and his family live with Brother Long.

Rev. C. G. Isley and mother, of the First church, Lexington, were visitors at our home last Friday afternoon. We enjoy having our fellow-pastors visit us at any time.

We appreciate the gift of a mother hen and young chickens made last week by Mrs. C. G. Hunter, of Pleasant Hill church. It added much to our poultry yard. We thank Brother C. E. Sprinkle, of Pleasant Hill church, for a nice supply of strawberries and we appreciate his invitation given us to go to his strawberry field and get all the berries we need which we did last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Delia Long has made valuable gifts to the pastor and family recently for which we are grateful.

Pleasant Hill Sunday school is to begin next Sunday the preparation for the Children's Day program which will be given probably the fourth Sunday night in June.

We are sorry to report that the condition of Mrs. Florence Whitman, of Pleasant Hill church, who has been sick for over a month does not show improvement. It seems that her illness is of a stubborn nature and does not respond to medical treatment.

A very shocking death occurred Thursday night of last week when Juanita, the nine-year-old daughter of Brother G. B. Craft, superintendent of Harmony Grove Sunday school passed away. Her death was almost sudden, she being ill only about nine hours with an unknown malady. We sympathize with the father and five brothers. Funeral services were held at Lewisville Methodist church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by the writer.

Our appointments for next Sunday will be with Baltimore church at 11 a. m., and Stony Knoll church at 3 p. m. We expect to take the vote for delegate at each church and observe the ordinance of the Lord's Supper at Stony Knoll church.

* * *

West End, Thomasville.—I may seem tardy in saying anything about our revival but I am sending in this report for the entire month of May. Our revival started the first Sunday in May and lasted two weeks. Rev. Robt. Short of Denton, came every night and delivered a good message each night. We feel it was a great success. A great many of our members were reconsecrated and we also had a number of new converts.

Our Sunday school is very active and a lot of interest is being shown among teachers as well as pupils. The teacher of our young men's class has been absent for some time on account of sickness in the family. We hope she will soon return for she is missed by the entire Sunday school.

Our Ladies' Aid society held its monthly meeting Friday night with Mrs. James Hill. Since the last meeting we had paid $50.00 on our church debt. We feel that our society is doing a great work for our church and we are still progressing nicely.

We also feel that our three societies of Christian Endeavor are doing splendid work. On Sunday night, May 22, our senior and intermediate societies went to Advent Moravian church, Winston-Salem, and met with their C. E. We all had an enjoyable evening.

Our male chorus of about 25 men under the leadership of John H. Yokely, also went to Advent and rendered some very good singing. We are very proud of our male chorus and feel that we owe a lot to the leader, Mr. Yokely, also the pianist, Miss Martha Wagner. Our entire singing class is planning on visiting Mr. Short's charge in Denton on Sunday evening, June 5.

Our second quarterly conference was held on Wednesday, May 18. The financial report was not very encouraging but we are hoping and praying that it will soon be better and we want to be remembered in your prayers.

REPORTER.

* * *

First Church, Burlington.—Memorial Day was celebrated at our churlh yesterday. The program was planned and conducted by Mr. H. W. Wade. He is to be highly congratulated on having arranged such an interesting program. Special music was rendered by Mr. W. T. Way and his orchestra. The Gold Star Daughter, Miss Margaret Phillips, recited another poem in response to the above. "We Honor the Living by Serving the Dead" was also recited by Tula Paul. A quartet, composd of Misses Lula Riddle, Carolyne Crutchfield, Elizabeth Rogers and Mrs. Floy Rogers, sang "The Unknown Dead." Mrs. Fred W. Paschall's Sunday school class was responsible for decorating ten graves at the Pine Hill cemetery. Mr. Wade expressed his appreciation for their splendid co-operation. Instead of decorating ten graves, their quota, they decorated thirty. The honor roll of the ex-service men going out from our church was read by the secretary of the Baraca class in 1918, Mr. Ellis Crutchfield. Only one of these men had so far gone to the beyond, Mr.

Langston Wilson. A wonderful tribute was read, in response to his name called from the roll, by Mr. W. V. Coble. At the end of the prayer, Mr. Wade stood in salute while "taps" was sounded on a bugle by one of the ex-service men. The service was a very impressive, yet a sad one, and brought tears into the eyes of many who were present.

Dr. and Mrs. Paschall have been away for two weeks attending the General Conference in Ohio. Dr. Paschall returned late last night, leaving Mrs. Paschall in Asheville for a short visit until Thursday.

A Sunday school convention was held yesterday at the 11 o'clock hour. Speakers for the occasion were as follows: E. S. Dameron, who talked on the essentials in teaching a Sunday school class; Rev. Geo. Holmes talked on the Life of Christ and its Teachings; Rev. J. Pegg, of Glenn Raven, who talked on how to finance the church; and Dr. Glascock, who told about the Woman's N. C. Branch Meeting held in Enfield, N. C. All addresses were very inspirational and helpful. This program was in charge of Mr. J. G. Rogers. Much credit is due Mr. Rogers also for his splendid ability in planning this program.

A community singing was held in this church at the 8 o'clock hour yesterday. The church was overflowing with people. It could not seat all the people who came. About 12 quartets from Burlington and surrounding communities were on the program. Mr. and Mrs. Stamps, of Greensboro, were present also with their quartet, who rendered several selections.

The C. E. society conducted the mid-week prayer service last Wednesday night. The president, Robert Wagoner, presided.

TULA PAUL, Reporter.

◆

Greer's Chapel.—Our C. E. society met Sunday night, May 15, and reorganized. The new officers are Roger Fitzgerald, president; Ciara Bailey, vice-president; R. E. Smith, secretary.

Sunday night, May 22, the new officers were at their post with a determination to arouse interest in the work. Foy Swicegood had charge of the program.

On Sunday night, May 29, Frances Bailey was leader. The topic "Why Should We Pray" was well discussed. The following took part in the program: Frances Bailey, James Coats, Glenn Swicegood, Bessie Allison, Wade Jarrett, Byron Clapp, Winnice Allison, J. S. Fitzgerald, Kathleen Fitzgerald and Ethel Fitzgerald. We all left with a resolution to pray more.

Winnice Allison will be leader next Sunday night. If you want to know what kind of prayer counts come out. Visitors are welcome.

BESSIE ALLISON, C. E. Reporter.

◆

Thomasville, West End Church.—Our revival meeting beginning the first Sunday in May, with Rev. Robert Short, doing the preaching. Brother Short was at his best and his messages were powerful and timely. We greatly enjoyed having him and his wife with us. The church and people were revived.

And the water was troubled in the pool and as results 37 came forward, and stepping into the pool were made whole as man of long ago at the sheep fold. About 8 or 10 additions to the church by profession of faith and by letter. Brother John Yokely had charge of the choir. We wish to thank him for the splendid leadership, that helped so much to make the meeting a success.

The attendance was good all through the meeting. We wish to thank all for the cooperation in the meeting.

On Wednesday night, May 18, the second quarterly conference was held. All reports were very good except the finances are much behind, but we are looking for the future days of the year to bring the finances up in fairly good condition.

Brother Tom Ham and Brother Read Long were nominated as candidates for delegate to annual conference. Sunday school attendance and general interest continue good. The Ladies' Aid have been of great assistance to the church; on the building loan they paid $50.00 last month, we appreciate that very much. We pray God's blessing upon them and all others who are striving to advance God's kingdom here and upon the earth.

H. W. BELL, Pastor.

◆

Concord, First Church.—For the past few Sundays our attendance has been very good. Last Sunday we had three classes who had perfect attendance. Today we had 328 present and $6.24 offering. We are looking forward to the time when our Sunday school will be bigger and better in every way.

Four members of the choir sang as a quartet at the 11 o'clock service. The title of the song was, "In a Land Where We Will Never Grow Old," and I'm sure that should be a blessing to each one of us. When we think of living in a land with Jesus Christ where we will never grow old.

Our pastor brought a message which did our hearts good and helped us to realize our duty towards God and the church. The Scripture lesson was taken from the thirty-second chapter of Numbers. The text was taken from the sixth verse. "Shall your brethren go to war and shall you sit here?"

Pray for the work here. We need your prayers. REPORTER.

◆

State St., Lexington.—The Ladies' Bible class had charge of the opening exercises Sunday morning. The regular class period followed and the Sabbath school conducted in the usual way.

The pastor brought us a most timely and helpful message at the 11 o'clock worship hour from the call and conversion of Matthew.

At 2:30 p. m. the 9th district rally was held in the church. After the singing of some old and much loved hymns the devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Wiley Shoaf of Shiloh church. An address by Dr. Paul S. Kennett, of the faculty of High Point college, was then heard. Dr. Kennett gave his views on the requisites of a successful church in a way that profited and inspired to better effort and all feel indebted to the speaker for the splendid message.

Mrs. Moore of Spencer, made a strong appeal for the M. P. Herald and spoke in a touching manner of the noble way in which Dr. McCulloch has supported the paper in every way. Among the fine tributes paid Dr. McCulloch by Mrs. Moore she said, "he married Mr. Moore and myself. We loved him then and we still love him." Such beautifhl and helpful sentiments should never be kept unspoken until death has deafened the ears of the one's we love and admire because of the inspiration they have been to us, "Give them the flowers now."

The next rally of this district, Mr. Hendry, chairman, will be held at Spencer.

The Missionary society including all circles will give a social Wednesday night following the devotional and business period. The nature of this social is unique and "different." More about it later.

Many of our girls and boys were among the graduates from the high school which closed here last week. The writer doesn't know just who they all were but we are proud of them all and hope to give their names next week.

We were glad to have Mrs. Burkhead, sister of Mr. F. J. Cox, visit our church Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Burkhead is a member of Asheboro Methodist Protestant church. We were glad to have Mrs. Kennett and two children with us in the afternoon service also.

The Woman's Bible class will hold their regular monthly meeting Thursday night with Mrs. W. T. Neal. REPORTER.

◆

Love's Grove, Midland Charge.—On Saturday p. m., May 28, the Ladies' Aid of Love's Grove church met with Mrs. H. M. Misenheimer. A program on True and False Friendship was rendered. Each participant seemed to have her message filled with the true spirit of God and Friendship. We only wish that we could have had more present. The greatest need of our organization at present is more members, and we are working, praying, and trusting that we will be able to enroll some new members right away.

Our Ladies' Aid was organized on February 22, 1931, by Mrs. Fred R. Love. It grew very fast at first but some of the members gradually dropped out and we have only had an average attendance of about twelve; but we feel that we have done exceedingly well. We have raised in all about $75.00. This amount, I suppose, will seem small to the larger churches, but we find it difficult in the country and with so few in number to raise very much money outside the pastor's salary.

We want to thank God for his tender care and mercies over us that we have been enabled to serve Him in even a small way. We feel proud of it and want to keep holding on.

REPORTER.

◆

Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Pleasant.—The Seventh District rally was held at Mt. Pleasant the fifth Sunday in May. Rev. H. L. Isley, pastor of Tabernacle, is chairman of the district and presided over the meeting. A program had been prepared which covered the various departments of work in the church. The devotional service was conducted by Rev. T. F. McCulloch. Dr. Johnson welcomed the people; however, many visitors had not yet arrived.

The young people's work was discussed by the writer, using as a subject, "The Worship Program and its Importance." After the discussion of worship, the juniors gave a demonstration of a worship program. Mrs. Ed Coble of Tabernacle had charge of the Woman's Work, having asked Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Nicholson to speak. However, since these two ladies could not be with us, Mrs. Coble succeeded in getting Dr. Johnson to give echoes of the Branch meeting at Enfield and of the General Conference. Special music was given by Mrs. Lelia Kirkma and the girl's quartet of Mt. Pleasant.

After lunch the program was continued with devotional service led by Mr. Neese of Tabernacle. Mr. W. H. Hanner spoke concerning High Point college, uring us to be loyal to our institution. Dr. Taylor gave the final address. He set forth the program and work of the church in general. Dr. Taylor called attention to the building of the wall by Nehemiah, showing he had difficulties to face but overcame them. The people of the church must not quit because of difficulties, but work together thereby gaining strength and power. All through Dr. Taylor's talk he urged the people to stand together for the things that build up the Methodist Protestant church

Next Sunday Memorial services will be held. It will be of special interest to the people to know that Rev. G. F. Millaway is expecting to be present and talk at the morning service. We will be very glad to have Mr. Millaway in our midst again.

MARGARET CAUSEY, Reporter

Young Men's Wide Awake Class, Shiloh.—Our teacher taught a wonderful lesson today on "Right and Wrong Ambition." He said, "Our ambition should be to advance God's kingdom and to uplift humanity. We should have a high vision in life but not a selfish one."

We were glad to have Mr. C. A. Leonard in our class. We always are glad to see his bright and shining face. We feel that his influence has meant much to the upbuilding of our class also to the church. He made a few comments on the lesson.

We had 52 young men present today including the visitors which we always give a hearty welcome.

Antioch, Mecklenburg Charge.—Our pastor has filled all appointments, each time bringing us a wonderful message. We feel that we are very fortunate in having Pastor Love and his splendid family in our midst.

Our Sunday school is still improving. And much interest is being manifested. We are planning for a special service known as "Old Folks' Day," to be held the second Sunday in June, at 3 o'clock p. m. We especially want all the folks who have either belonged or attended Antioch to be present. We are expecting several quartets from various places. We also hope to have Children's Day some time in June.

REPORTER.

First Church, High Point.—The Baccalaureate sermon of the 8th annual commencement of High Point college was delivered in First church on Sunday morning, May 29th by the president, Dr. Gideon Ireland Humphreys to a large and interested audience. The procession of 42 seniors and the members of the faculty robed in classic Oxford gowns and caps with vari-colored hoods and tassels was colorful, dignified, and impressive. Prof. C. R. Hinshaw presided over the service, Rev. R. I. Farmer delivered the invocation, Pres. S. W. Taylor gave the Scripture reading and Dean P E. Lindley offered the prayer. Two selections, "Beautiful Saviour" and "Just For Today" were rendered very artistically by the A-Capella choir, led by Prof. Ernest B. Stimpson. Dr. Humphreys chose as the text for his farewell message to his graduating class of 1932 the words in Rev. 3:8, "I have set before thee an open door and no man can shut it." He said among other things, that an open door means opportunity, and because of the wondrous prospects confronting them young manhood and womanhood stand today at the threshold of unlimited power, but great and perplexing problems arise before them. The most important of which is the right attitude to life. College is not a place where problems of life are solved, but a place of training and discipline. Power and discipline measure the value of an education. Life of today has its own peculiar significance, and the larger democratic idea emphasizes service to others. Jesus said when here upon earth, "I came not to be ministered unto, but to minister." The higher things of life have always been gained by struggle, travail, and a desire to serve all. In his words of affectionate farewell he admonished these young men and women that their education means a training to enable them to see life in its perspective and to discover their real selves and their relation to common humanity. The life of today is dependent upon Christ, and His teaching is not a lesson of profit and gain for ourselves, out of service to others. The test of greatness is that whosoever would be greatest shall be the servant of all. We need redemption in America today, and if civilization is to keep steady, get its bearings again, and move onward and upward unto that fuller, nobler life to which all true living ever tends," then mankind must catch the Christ Spirit and see the Christ Ideal for He still stands and says "I am the way." A very impressive assertion made by the speaker is this: "to be twenty years of age today with a prospect of seeing 1975 is to be heir to a greater legacy than any rich man can leave behind." Dr. Humphreys is a most pleasing and forceful speaker, possessed of a bright mind and an unusually attractive outlook on the issues of life; he was last week chosen to deliver greetings from the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant church in Columbus, Ohio, to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Atlantic City, and made a strong plea for a united Methodism asking this pertinent question, "How soon will the old home be ready for a reunion at the family hearthstone, that together we may all feed the fires of spiritual purpose, and enjoy the warmth of a common experience?"

The last vesper service for the seniors was held Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock on the campus of the college in front of Woman's hall, and in the auditorium of Roberts hall at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Capus M. Waynick, member of the Legislature of N. C. and editor of High Point Enterprise, delivered a splendid address. On Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock a large and enthusiastic audience of parents, relatives and friends of the students and college gathered to witness the closing exercises of this commencement, when the degrees were conferred on two candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science, and 34 for Bachelor of Arts. Dr. R. M. Andrews of Charlotte, former president of the institution, delivered the invocation, and his daughter, Miss Alma Andrews, rendered a beautiful piano solo, "Reflections on the Water" by Debussy. C. L. Gray, Jr., sang "The Enchanted Glade" in fine voice and with beautiful effect. The address was then made by Dr. Elbert Russell, dean of the School of Religious Education in Duke University. This message brought by one who stands high among the educators of this state was practical, scholarly, and made a profound impression on his hearers. He emphasized the need of co-operation of mankind, and especially the spiritual side of industry. He says that science and religion are twins and must go hand in hand. The future of our mechanistic civilization will make heaven or hell for us in proportion to the character of the men who handle its implements. He said that his great-grandparents moved from North Carolina to Indiana 100 years ago, and were pioneer settlers in the wilderness. If his great-grandfather had become intoxicated, he hoped he did not, his horse would have carried him home of his own accord, and nobody would have been in danger, for there were few travelers on the highway, but in this day an intoxicated man at the wheel of a high-powered automobile is a menace to the hundreds who throng the streets and highways. What benefit is it if we can talk over radio around the world if we have nothing worth while to say? He stressed the fact that our young people must be trained in character and the spiritual side of their nature, and to apply the Golden Rule to their fellows in every-day life. Highest senior honors were won by Miss Eloise Best, of High Point, with Miss Eleanor Young of Henderson, a close second, and Miss Juanita Andrews, Messrs. Clay Madison and Fielding Kearns, of High Point, graduating "Cum Laude." Dr. Kennett announced award of medals; the Mrs. Minnie P. Harrell Medal in music to Mr. Liverman, of High Point; oratorical medal to Rev. J. C. Madison; essayist medal to Miss Sue Morgan; medal for best all-round boy to Allen Hastings; and for the best all-round girl to Miss Sue Morgan. Two important announcements were made by Dr. Humphreys: Mr. A. E. Alexander and sisters, Misses Minnie and Mary Alexander and Mrs. C. F. Long of High Point, have donated a $1.000 scholarihip to High Point college, and one of like amount to Greensboro College for Women, in memory of their sister, Miss Ida M. Alexander, who passed on two years ago. Preference will be given to daughters of members of United Daughters of the Confederacy. This generosity is a worthy tribute to a lovely sister and splendid young lady. The Woman's club of the city will donate a Johnston Loan Fund of $100 annually to the college in honor of their president, Mrs. L. R. Johnston.

Congratulations are extended to our young friends who are this week graduating from High Point high school: Misses Frances Bodenheimer, Mary Louise York, Sue Everhart, and Margaret Dixon; Messrs. William Foister, James Montgomery, William Vance, Thurman and Basker Wall, and to Miss Grace Koontz and Mr. Frank H. Robbins, who received the A. B. degree at High Point college. We bespeak for these worthy young people great happiness and a large measure of service in the years ahead.

Our membership has again been bereaved in the loss of our friend and brother, Mr. Walter P. Welch, who died Saturday afternoon at his home, 219 Montlieu Ave. He had been in declining health for several years, but was severely ill only a few days. Mr. Welch was a son of the late Jonathan and Mary Wright Welch, who were pioneer settlers of High Point, and was born in the old historic Welch brick home on East Lexington Ave., the oldest house now standing within the borders of the city. His entire life was spent here, where he conducted a jewelry store for a number of years and was one of High Point's first optometrists. He is survived by his wife, who before their marriage was Miss Cora Holton, of Jamestown, three daughters, Misses Kathleen and Anita Welch and Mrs. H. R. Martin, and one brother, Mr. Edward J. Welch, all of High Point. Mr. Welch was a fond and indulgent husband and father and kind neighbor and true, loyal friend. Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence by his pastor, Rev. R. I. Farmer, assisted by Rev. Ray Jordan, of Wesley Memorial M. E. church. We wish to extend loving sympathy to the bereaved family in this hour of sorrow.

At the annual memorial service at Jamestown M. E. church, conducted in memory of deceased members of the community last Sunday afternoon, Mr. C. L. Gray, Jr., sang very beautifully "My Task," which was most appropriate and in harmony with the address made by Rev. R. S. Truesdale of Asheboro, who emphasized the idea that our task is to carry on the work of our departed friends.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev. C. W. Bates of Greensboro, and Rev. L. W. Gerringer, at the commencement of High Point college yesterday. We extend felicitations to Dr. Bates and Dr. Gerringer. Among those in attendance were Mrs. C. W. Bates, Mrs. L. W. Gerringer, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Brown of Reids ville.

We are pleased to see the pastor's mother, Mrs. O. E. Farmer, of Dennison, Ohio, on a visit to the parsonage. She returned with Rev. Mr. Farmer and family, who reached home late Saturday afternoon from their trip to General Conference and a visit to relatives in Ohio.

Miss Helen Hayes, of Henderson, has been the guest of Mrs. Robert Garland during commencement.

Misses Margaret and Lois Snipes went to Norfolk, Va., to spend the past week-end with friends.

The Mission band and Sunshine circle, of which Miss Pauline Kennett is president, held its meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Master Nat M. Harrison, Jr., small and attractive son of Rev. and Mrs. N. M. Harrison, of Asheboro, was the charming mascot of the senior class of the college, and presented a dignified appearance in his diminutive cap and gown.

◆

Calvary, Greensboro.—During the absence of our pastor Sunday, May 15th, we had the pleasure of having Dr. S. K. Spahr, of Greensboro, at the morning service. Rev. Paul Kennett, of High Point college, preached for us Sunday morning, May 22nd.

Rev. and Mrs. Bates attended the General Conference at Columbus, Ohio, and the missionary convention at Cambridge, Ohio. They reported a very pleasant trip.

To Mr. Bates' surprise, and I am sure it was a glad surprise, he had an honor awaiting him upon his return from the General Conference. He is now Dr. Bates. He received his D. D. degree Monday morning at the graduating exercises at High Point college. Rev. L. W. Gerringer received his degree along with Mr. Bates. Several of our members attended the exercises. They all pronounced it a gala event. I wish I could picture the gorgeous robes, scarfs and caps worn by the various members of the faculty and ministers receiving the degree.

Calvary has had only two preachers. We made doctors of both. Calvary is a D. D. church. Come on, you preachers, we make doctors of them all!

Our Children's Day program and pageant—"The King's Children," will be presented at 8 p. m. We wish to show our appreciation of the efforts of Misses Elizabeth Williams and Vivian Sullivan, who have charge of the program, by coming out in full force Sunday night. The young folks taking part promise to be at their best.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

◆

Enfield.—Mother's Day was beautifully observed in our church. Little Misses Emma and Lily Whitaker and Cleo Matthews sang a pretty song and gave out roses to all in the audience. Mrs. Exum Bellamy sang a sweet Mother's Day song to tune of Love' Old Sweet Song. Our pastor's sermon was appropriate and inspirational.

We were delighted that Rev. Mr. Surratt could attend the General Conference at Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Surratt visited her mother and relatives in Greensboro while her husband was at the conference. They were both back here in time to attend the Rally at Hollisters the fifth Sunday. The writer did not attend but we feel that a splendid program was put on.

Memorial Day services were held Sunday in the Baptist church, all the churches of our town canceled their services and attended. The program was in charge of the Currie-Bumpus Post 125, of the American Legion: Solicitor R. Hunt Parker of Roanoke Rapids delivered the address to a large audience.

Miss Susan Maddry, Messrs. George Earl, Collins Sykes and Aubry Cooke, of our Sunday school, were presented Testaments by the school Sunday morning. These four young people will be graduated from the high school in June. The bascalaureate sermon was preached in M. E. church Sunday night by Rev. J. W. Kincheloe of the First Baptist church, Rocky Mount.

Our May meeting of the Woman's auxiliary was held in the lovely country home of Misses Mary and Susie Whitaker.

The Golden Rule Sunday school class was entertained last Friday evening by Mrs. Eli Bellamy in her home. There are 19 fine young ladies in this class. REPORTER.

◆

Charlotte.—Dr. R. M. Andrews was in High Point Monday attending the graduation exercise at High Point College.

We are looking forward with much pleasure to the early return of Misses Rosalie and Alma Andrews—we need all our good workers in Sunday school and church.

Miss Gray Stiles, our church pianist, is a member of the graduating class at Central high school this year.

Our Christian Endeavor society members are working hard these days for new members. Let us hope their zeal will not abate when the contest is over. The program Sunday evening was an inspirational and refreshing one—the subject "Prayer," was handled most intelligently by the leader, Miss Dorothea Andrews, assisted by Misses Mildred Younginer, Mary Shaw, Helen McCall and Mrs. Fred Love.

Mrs. B. W. Little has enjoyed a visit from her brother and his family of Hickory this week.

Rev. D. D Broom of Kernersville worshiped with us Sunday.

Here is hoping we will have a real newsy, worthwhile report next week.

REPORTER.

◆

St. Paul Charge.—The work of our church is going along very well. The services Sunday were well attended both morning and night. We were glad to have with us in the evening service, Rev. A. D. Shelton, pastor of the Fallston charge. We put on a dedication service the fourth Sunday in May to dediacte some of our money to the church. Each individual was asked to dedicate at least one day's wages, more if any could, less if any could not. This was a very successful service considering the financial conditions of our time. The treasurer reported a round $90.00 as a result of this service.

We were glad to have with us Adrian Thompson of High Point College to preach for us on the third Sunday evening in May. Also glad to have him as a guest in our home on this date.

We had a Mothers' Day program by the children at the regular morning service on Mothers' Day. The Mothers' Day program was very impressive. The children gave some very appropriate recitations in honor of Mother. Our young men's quartet sang some good selections which were enjoyed by all present.

Our Sunday school is progressing very nicely though the attendance has been off some due to the fact of the epidemic of measles in our community and perhaps other reasons. The Royal Blue class will have charge of the opening execise on Sunday morning, June 5. The Sunbeam class and Missionary band enjoyed a weinie roast at the home of their teacher, Miss Flossie Jones, who lives on the Battleground Road, Saturday night.

The Ladies' Aid which is one of the most active organizations of our church will sponsor an ice cream supper on the church lawn Saturday evening, June 4.

D. I. GARNER, Pastor.

◆

Lexington, First.—Our work is moving along nicely. Our Sunday school is holding up well: we have had 266 present for the past three weeks and are hoping to have at least 300 here next Sunday.

Our preaching services are well attended. We were very glad to have Rev. Mr. Waggoner from High Point College to preach for us at the morning service. He preached a very interesting sermon to the large congregation. We are always glad to have a visiting speaker with us.

In the evening service, Rev. Mr. Thompson who is also a ministerial student at High Point College preached a very good sermon. The church was filled for the service and all present seemed to enjoy Brother Thompson's message very much. Brother Thompson has been with us a number of times before and we are always glad to have him preach for us or worship with us.

We are making a special effort to build up our prayer meeting on Wednesday evenings, for we feel that if we can get pepole

◆

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Trogdon

Tabernacle church and community were shocked and saddened when it was learned that Brother Isaac Logan Trogdon had passed from the scenes of this life, having reached the age of 65 years. No one thought his condition serious, perhaps, until just a few days before he died.

In young manhood he was converted and united with Giles Chapel Methodist Protestant church, near Asheboro, N. C. After settling in the Tabernacle community, having married Miss Mary Jones, he affiliated himself with Tabernacle church and for many years was one of the leading members, serving as Sunday school superintendent, as steward, and as teacher. Mr. Trogdon was well versed in the Bible and deeply interested in spiritual things. Possessing a great fund of information, he could converse intelligently on any subject.

We feel that the church and community are poorer because of his passing.

H. L. ISLEY.

Obituary

Mrs. Lusada Spencer Bean was born December 16, 1856, and departed this life May 12, 1932, age 75 years, 4 months, and 26 days. She was born in Wilkes county, the daughter of Alexander and Mary Presnell Spencer. October 5, 1882, she was married to Henry Bean which union was honored with eight children: two boys and six girls, all of whom survive.

The deceased professed faith in Christ in early childhood and joined Flag Springs Methodist Protestant church. Later, when New Hope was organized, she, with her father, mother, brothers and sisters, became charter members of that church, and remained a member there until she was married. After her marriage she tansferred he membership to Pleasant Hill to be with her husband. Of this church she remained a loyal member to the time of her death.

After Brother Bean's death, something near eight years ago, she moved to High Point to live with her daughter, Miss Lilly Bean. After her re-moval from the old home community, of course she could not remain a regular attendant, but she loved her old home church so well, that she refused to transfer her membership. When able she attended Welch Memorial church. Always going back to the old home church as often as she could.

A short while before death came for her, she was heard to speak very clearly the names of some of her departed loved ones. and no doubt, while passing through the dark valley God lifted the curtain and allowed her a short vision of the loved ones who stood waiting for her on the other shore.

The deceased, as a member of the church, was faithful, loyal and true to her Christian duties, giving evidences all along the way that she loved her church, her home and her friends and neighbors. She was a devoted wife, a tender mother, and a good, consecrated Christian woman. By this we do not mean to say that she made no mistakes, had no faults; for she was human, and like all of us was not infallible.

There was no book she prized so highly as her Bible. This she read and cherished its teachings and allowed them to be the ruling factors in her daily life.

Surviving are eight children, viz.: two sons, E. H. Bean, of Augusta, Ga., and J. W. Bean, of Randleman; six daughters, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Mrs. G. J. James, Miss Lily Bean, all of High Point; Mrs. G. S. Brown, of Asheboro, Mrs. E. T. Etheridge, of Gastonia and Mrs. W. G. Martin, of Rocky Mount; one sister, Mrs. L. A. Lewallen of High Point; 16 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. To all these we extend the hand of sympathy.

An unusually large crowd attended the services in the home and at the church, Rev. R. I. Farmer conducted a brief service in the home, while her pastor, assisted by Dr. J. D. Williams and Rev. R. C. Stubbins conducted the service at the church. Her body was then placed beside her husband in the cemetery at Pleasant Hill church. The floral decorations were many and beautiful.

GEO. L. REYNOLDS.

Tise

Clyde Eugene Tise, aged 28 years, son of W. C. and Mrs. Laura Brandon Tise, of Winston-Salem, N. C., died at the home of his parents on Friday morning, May 20, after an illness of almost four years. The funeral was conducted from the home Sunday afternoon, May 22, by the writer and burial was in Salem cemetery. He was a member of the Baraca Class of the First M. P. Church, Winston-Salem, and was a young man of promise.

He is survived by his parents and by four sisters: Mrs. Dewey Pegram, Misses Ruby, Pauline and Frances Tise, and by four brothers: W. C., Jr., Harold, Lindsay and Ernest Tise, all of Winston-Salem.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. T. M. Johnson	$2.00
Rev J. E. Pritchard	2.00
Mrs. D. Pender, Chestnut Ridge	2.00
Rev. E. A. Bingham	1.00
Miss Lillie Mae Braxton, Alamance	50c

Voluntary Offering for Printing Deficit

Fourteenth District Rally	$6.80

This was sent to us by Rev. J. E. Pritchard. We thank him and those who joined him in this much-appreciated offering.

◆

—Pleasant Union had an interesting wedding yesterday: Miss Dortha Causey became the bride of James T. Holt, Dr. T. M. Johnson officiating.

—Lexington has had another shocking tragedy. This time the noted Baxter Shemwell loses his life in a battle with guns.

—We thank Miss Barbara Louise Youngine for an invitation to the commencement of N. C. C. W., June 4-6.

—Mrs. H. C. Nicholson of Mebane, thoroughly enjoyed the work of the General Conference and is proud of the N C. delegation.

—The red star appears this week to those whose subscriptions expire in June, 1932.

ANNIVERSARY AND HOME COMING AT FIRST CHURCH, BURLINGTON

Sunday, June 26, has been set by First Church, Burlington, for its Anniversary and Home Coming service. This year marks the Fortieth Anniversary of the founding of the church in 1892, by Rev. W. F. McDowell, and a full day's program is being prepared, to which every one is cordially invited. Most especially is an invitation being given to all former pastors and former members, as well as others who may have been in touch with the church in other years, but are not living in Burlington.

Written invitations will be sent to those whose names and addresses can be secured, but it is manifestly impossible for the committee to reach all whom they would like to extend an invitation in this way. It is therefore requested that any who see this item will plan to come, and will also extend an invitation to members of their families and others whom they may know as having been identified with the church in former years.

Beginning with the Sunday school at 9:30 a. m., a large attendance is expected, and some former superintendent is expected to make a short talk.

At 11:00 a. m., the sermon will be by Rev. S. W. Taylor, D.D., President of the Conference, and a former pastor of the church.

Following this will come the dinner hour, and those who wish are invited to bring dinner with them, and spread same on the church grounds or in the Hut. This will give an opportunity for mingling with old friends and making new ones.

At 2:30 p. m., the Aniversary service proper will be held. It is expected that some prominent former member will be on hand to make a short address, recognition of charter members will be made, and the roll of deceased members of the church will be read. Other visitors, perhaps, will be given opportunity of saying a few words.

Rev. C. E. Forlines, D. D., of Westminster, Md., will be the speaker at the evening service at 8:00 o'clock. Dr. Forlines is one of the ministers who have gone out from the church, and will be gladly welcomed home again

Living ex-Pastors, other than Rev. W. F. McDowell, include Revs. C. H. Whitaker, G. F. Millaway, William Porter, J. H. Abernethy, J. D. Williams, T. E. Davis, G. L. Curry, J. E. Pritchard, S. W. Taylor, and L. W. Gerringer.

In addition to Dr. Forlines, the folliwing ministers have gone out from the church, and all are members of the N. C. conference: Revs. N. G. Bethea, R. M. Andrews, D. M. Loy, C. B. Way, and F. L. Gibbs.

First Church, Burlington, has made great progress in the 40 years of its history, and under the leadership of the present pastor, Dr. F. W. Paschall, is still doing good work. The membership of the church is 700 or more, and the average attendance at the Sunday school is now around 400.

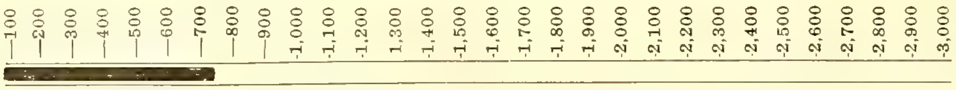
Will all who anticipate being in Burlington on June 26, please drop a card or letter to T. T. Stafford, Box 364, Burlington, N. C., so that we may know whom to be expecting at the services.

THE COMMITTEE.

◆

—Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Pritchard are traveling through mountain and valley scenery this week in Virginia.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	12¾
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	2¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	11½
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	..
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10
Concord	33	15
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2½
Draper	7	2
Enfield	16	15¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	7½
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	9¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro, Grace	42	25
Greensboro, Calvary	25	10
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	8½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	12½
Halifax	52	13
Haw River	49	11½
Henderson	38	12¾
High Point, First	72	31½
High Point, Lebanon	31	18½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	2½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6
Liberty-Moriah	31	15¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	8½
Mebane	28	4
Mecklenburg	38	3¼
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	22½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	18½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	11½
Pleasant Grove	19	13½
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Richland	42	1½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	21
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	16
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	9¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
Winston, First	27	25½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

of this community to come to prayer service we will have no difficulty in getting them to come to the other church services.

Our pastor is leaving tomorrow to help in a revival meeting at Midway church near Greensboro and we hope and pray that God may give them a wonderful meeting.

◆

Kistler's, Cleveland Charge.—Memorial service will be the first Sunday in June, in the morning; and in the afternoon at the Lucas cemetery. We hope to have a good attendance at each of these places.

On the first Sunday in May our pastor brought us another one of his good sermons. After the sermon communion service was administered. We were glad to see as many take part in this as did.

We have organized a Sunday Egg club at this church to help with the expenses of the church. We are hoping that at the end of the year that this will amount to nice little sum.

Best wishes to the Herald and its readers.

REPORTER.

◆

Anderson Charge, Liberty Church. — Mr. James F. Compton died at his home in the Liberty Hill community Saturday, May 28, at 2:00 o'clock at the age of 77 yrs., 11 months and 24 days. Mr. Compton had been quite ill for some time and his death did not come as a surprise, as his condition was of a serious nature. Mr. Compton was one of the oldest members of the church; he affiliated himself with the Liberty Hill church at an early age and remained a faithful member until the Master called him to his reward. According to his last statements he only fell asleep to wake with Jesus in the great beyond and come in possession of that mansion that Great One had prepared for him. If we all would be as devoted to our church and the Master's work as he how different the work would be to carry on for the Master.

The bereaved are his widowed wife, Mrs. Etta Compton, seven daughters, three sons, and one sister and a host of friends. May the Lord comfort those that are bereaved.

Clergyman in charge M. C. Henderson, assisted by Rev. R. L. Leonard.

Methodist Protestant Herald

J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

MARRIED

Lambert-Saunders—McNeal-Balldin

Married at my house, February 10, 1932, Marvin Lambert and Jessie Saunders, and on May 14, 1932, Walter E. McNeal and Ina Mae Balldin, all of Asheboro, N. C., and all good young people as far as I know.

We wish them all the happiness this life affords.

I am still doing business at the same old stand.

G. A. LAUGHLIN.

◆

Owen-Huffman

In Grace Methodist Protestant church, Greensboro, Miss Sara Pearle Huffman, of New Castle, Va., became the bride of Arlie Bentley Owen, of Gibsonville.

The vows were taken in the presence of a few intimate friends with Rev. N. G. Bethea, pastor of the Gibsonville Methodist Protestant church, where the bridegroom's family worships, officiating.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jennings, of Gibsonville, with whom the bride has made her home during the winter for several years, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Davidson, of Gibsonville, and Mrs. N. G. Bethea. The marriage was very quiet due to the recent death of the bridegroom's father and to the illness of his mother.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. D. L. Huffman, of New Castle, Va., but is counted by Gibsonville as its own since she has been a teacher in the Gibsonville school for a number of years. She attended North Carolina college and was graduated from William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va.

Mr. Owen, son of Mrs. Sallie Lineberry Owen and the late H. Bentley Owen, of Gibsonville, attended Elon college and Richmond Business college, Richmond, Va. He is general manager of the Gibsonville Hosiery mill. Mr. and Mrs. Owen are now at home in Gibsonville.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., JUNE 9, 1932 NUMBER 31

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

The Man With the Plough

"The man with the hoe" is fighting and losing—
Defeat will be his without any choosing;
His arm is too weak and his hoe is too dull,
Too little the thinking within his own skull.

The man with the plough is fighting and winning,
He looks on ahead from very beginning:
He plans every day, he's thinking every hour,
He links himself up with infinite power.

A partner with God, he follows God's pointing,
He bears on his head the oil of anointing;
He's sure of success as he's working with God,
A tiller of the soil, a breaker of the sod.

"The man with the hoe" is the scorn of the poet,
Though he is too stupid ever to know it;
He takes dishonored place with the dumb, driven cattle
Or with galley-slaves whose chains you hear rattle.

The man with the plough enjoys the world's respect,
A man of firm brawn as well as intellect,
He fills a high place in the life of his race,
And doesn't stay here to fill a little space.

M. E. Action on Lay Representation

The M. P. Church adopted complete lay representation in the beginning, over a hundred years ago. The M. E. General Conference held last month made an advance in their legislation on the subject. The following is an abbreviated report of their action as printed in Zion's Herald of June 1:

"Legislation to make operative lay membership in Annual Conferences was presented in a report from the Committee on Temporal Economy. There was much debate upon the provisions of this legislation, upon which Dr. Farmer, chairman of the committee, urged the Conference to adopt the report, try it out, and make any changes that practise showed were desirable four years hence. Among the provisions adopted are: The lay members shall meet with the ministerial members the first two days of the Annual Conference, unless otherwise agreed to by the Conferences. The Lay Conference shall have its own officers, adopt its own rules, shall be its own judge of the qualifications of its members. The meetings of the members of the Lay Conference with the members of the Annual Conference shall be known as the United Sessions of the Lay and Annual Conferences, and the officers of the Annual Conference shall be, ex-officio, the officers of the United Sessions. The legislation provides which questions and other items of business of an Annual Conference shall be carried on during United Sessions."

Has Prohibition Failed

Some are saying so, and some are saying that the commandments of the Decalogue have failed. It is true that prohibition has failed to enforce itself. It is also true that enforcement officers have not completely enforced the law. The same thing may be said of the law against murder, theft, burglary, and many other crimes. Admitting that our laws are not perfectly enforced, the question is, What should be done about it? There are those who advocate the repeal of all laws, leaving every man free to do as he pleases. They call themselves anarchists. If every man were disposed to do right, there would be less objection to repealing all laws, but still laws would be needed to teach men what is right. But with so many men disposed to do wrong, it would be the extreme of folly to repeal all laws. Laws and provision for their enforcement are necessary for the protection of life and property.

Men have learned by costly experience that the liquor traffic must be restrained by law. Few today will question the need of legal enactment against it. Prohibition came as a last resort after trying various other legal devices. To repeal prohibition in favor of some other scheme would be substituting a tried and discarded plan for the one now being tried and not yet thoroughly tried. In view of the many thousands of gallons of spirits that have been seized and poured out, of the many distilleries that have been captured and destroyed, of the great number of liquor dealers that have been convicted and sent to prison by prohibition's enforcement officers, it is not fair to call prohibition a failure. To say that more liquor is drunk than before is to say what nobody can prove and what is contradicted by the best evidence we have. There may be some small areas where more is drunk than before, but taking the country as a whole there is good evidence that the amount has been greatly reduced.

What alternative is there to prohibition? There are three possible ways of dealing with the liquor traffic: (1) Leave it free to pursue its own course; (2) Tax it and share in its revenues; (3) Prohibit it. The first two are to be avoided on moral grounds. We are shut up to the third way—prohibition. Suppose a dairyman were to come to your city to sell milk containing typhoid fever germs: what should your city authorities do about it? The same three courses are open to them, but they would be criminal if they chose any course but the third.

Society had to learn the way of prohibition for the liquor traffic; the other two ways were tried and found wanting. It took a long time to learn, but we trust that a safe majority of our citizens are now convinced that prohibition is the right

(Continued on Page Four)

A DARTMOUTH SCIENTIST ON FOUR PER CENT BEER

(The following is a significant letter of Professor Gordon Ferrie Hull of the Department of Physics, Wilder Laboratory, Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., addressed to Senator Hiram Bingham, who has introduced bills in the Senate to legalize four per cent beer.)

Senator Hiram Bingham,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Senator:

It's a long long way to Tipperary and we are very far from having arrived. It's a long long way to wisdom. The important thing is that we keep going in the right direction.

As one who formerly held views similar to those which you have set forth in presenting your "Four Per Cent Beer Bill" and who has had cause to change his views, I take the liberty of addressing you on this topic.

The Volstead Law appeared to me to be almost absurdly rigid. Mild beer would do no harm and wine would not frequently be drunk to excess—so why draw up legislation which would exclude them as beverages? As one who had enjoyed the privileges of a Fellow Commoner of one of the great colleges of England, I had been accustomed to the ordinary use of alcoholic beverages at meals. In my home on all special occasions wine was served at dinner. Consequently the Volstead Law seemed unnecessarily restrictive. President Wilson for whom I always voted had my full approval when he vetoed the bill.

But the intervening years have brought new points of view. Especially illuminating was a recent period of fifteen months in Europe, mostly in Germany. With numerous relatives and many friends in Germany I had opportunities of entering into the life of the middle class and I became rather disillusioned about beer drinking. I observed that beer drinkers as a class after drinking two or three quarts of six or eight per cent beer want a few glasses of twenty per cent wine and some fifty per cent "schnapps" to finish the evening. Even large quantities of beer do not satisfy the "thirst" that the mild alcoholic stimulant produces. This was my observation at the weekly gatherings of the tennis, ski and bowling clubs. There was one very special occasion—it was the most important celebration of the year—that in honor of the founding of the German Empire. Two thousand men, prominent men in a city of half a million, for the most part former members of University Student Corps, decked out in all the regalia and trappings of their Vereins, gathered in a great hall, sat at long bare pine tables, sang songs chiefly to the effect that Germany must awake and strike the enemy—and drank beer. I had the honor to be one of their number and it required some skill to avoid the deluge. Though I withdrew before the weary end I was able to make an estimate of the beer drunk. It was surely not less than 8,000 liters, nearly 8,000 quarts of eight per cent beer. Did those two thousand men drink that much beer because it was "good and wholesome?" Certainly they did not. It was on account of the age-long tradition that beer and intemperance are associated together and further on account of the absurd tradition that a great patriot is one who drinks toasts to his country until he is completely stupid. After two quarts had been drunk the German armies were again invading France and after the fourth quart they had entered Paris and France was on her knees. The idea came to me that night that one of the agencies which contributed to the great war was alcohol. It is not without significance that German officers before the War upon every possible occasion drank to Der Tag. And the more they drank the more certain Der Tag became. A group of people inflamed by alcohol with their reasoning powers deadened are not apt to reach sane views regarding either war or peace.

But though I saw a vast amount of drinking in Germany there were some signs that conditions were improving in contrast to those in evidence in my earlier visits. Certain gymnasia prohibit alcohol in any form in all school functions. This is especially in evidence in the Landheim—which might be called the Country Annex of the School. In those I visited alcohol is not allowed. Milk in preference to beer is used to a great extent in the dining rooms of certain universities. In one university town there is a large table in the Rathskeller occupied by research men in science, and at that table no alcohol is served. On the whole it looks as though thoughtful men in Germany are trying to turn down mediaeval traditions in regard to alcohol.

It looks to me as though four per cent beer will satisfy nobody. Certainly not the English, Scotch, Irish whiskey drinkers, nor the German heavy beer drinkers, nor the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment. The Province of Ontario for a time was under prohibition as it was called but wine and four (or 4.4?) per cent beer were legal. Agitation was started against the law. All the arguments that we now hear against the Eighteenth Amendment were brought out there. They wanted "good wholesome beer" (i.e., 6 or 8 per cent). They wanted "more revenue from all kinds of alcohol." "The law was an impossible one to enforce" "Personal freedom." "The absurdity of sumptuary laws." "Bring back decent beer and whisky and we won't have to pay taxes."

May I point out what I believe to be an inconsistency in your views? On the one hand you claim that four per cent beer is a wholesome non-intoxicating beverage. On the other hand you propose to tax it. I submit that a wholesome beverage should not be taxed. A tax is a species of a fine imposed to discourage the use of the material. (Or is this kind of tax devised to shift the burden from those who have wealth to those who have acquired a thirst for alcohol?) One of the advocates of light beer before your committee stated that the beverage was very beneficial for expectant mothers. (He ought to receive a prize for something—he needs it.) Are you going to punish the most important part of our nation by taxing this essential health-giving fluid?

Obviously you cannot be held responsible for all the arguments advanced before your committee. One argument in particular must have made you unhappy—"beer makes poor food taste good." This was an idea I encountered during my first year in England. "I get her cheap because she drinks'' was said more than once in regard to a servant. The servants were taught that beer was ''good and wholesome'' so that when they had drunk a few glasses they would not be exacting regarding food. During my recent year in Germany I learned that our landlord was paying the man who did various jobs round the house, carpentering, painting, cutting the so-called lawn (with scissors) twelve cents an hour plus a couple of bottles of beer a day. Was it the beer that made that pay look good?

If you would make it clear that the good wholesome part of four per cent beer was the ninety-six per cent water and that a person who would pay ten cents for a glass of beer on account of its food value would pay one dollar for an egg, no person could complain of your characterization. May I suggest that you ask the Bureau of Standards to answer the following questions and present the answers to your committee. How many bushels of barley are required to make 100 gallons of four per cent beer? What is the cost of the barley in one glass (half pint) of four per cent beer? Based on food value if one glass of four per cent beer costs ten cents, what should one egg cost? One quart of milk?

I am uncertain in regard to your view concerning states rights, but for myself I hold absolutely to the view that there must be a national law in regard to alcohol. It is clearly demonstrable that a dry state cannot exist alongside of a wet state. The means of transportation now are vast. Thousands of automobiles, hundreds of trains, hundreds of thousands of people cross state lines daily. To attempt to hold up these streams of traffic would be absurdly foolish. The vast internal commerce of the United States is due in part to the fact that we have free trade between the forty-eight states. When we shackle the commerce of this country by custom barriers, between the states then we may think of having states rights in the matter of alcohol—but not before. This argument is, I believe, absolutely unanswerable. Anyone who stands for states rights in the matter of alcohol stands for imposing on the entire country the policy of the wettest state in the Union. No man can successfully defend the opposite view.

In conclusion—it is evident that I am not violently opposed to four per cent beer as such. I am opposed to the propaganda regarding its virtues as compared with water. I am opposed to the idea of states rights and to the teaching that a nation can acquire prosperity in proportion to the amount of alcohol it consumes. Absolutely opposed to compromising with ignorance, I would join with others to find a national law to replace our present law that would meet with the support of the enlightened part of the nation. So far no such law has been proposed.

Gordon Ferrie Hull.

◆

—Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, is well on the way toward complete recovery after her sojourn in a Baltimore hospital followed by a period of rest in Florida. She plans a trip to Europe this summer, during which she will attend a number of conferences on social work. At Oslo, the Nobel Prize will be awarded her. Another honor conferred upon her recently is the degree of doctor of humanities, bestowed by Rollins College.

AN EXTRAVAGANT GENERAL CONFERENCE

It is estimated that the M. E. General Conference of 1932 cost the church $250,000, or approximately $10,000 a day during its session from May 2 to May 25. Was it worth the price? This great lawmaking body of Methodism met in a time of financial depression and was dominated from beginning to end by the idea of effecting economies. But did it accomplish any great savings? No, it rather developed into the most extravagant and wasteful General Conference in our generation. A false economy, taking amount only of the immediate situation, frustrated that true economy which wisely looks down through the years.

Early in the session a vigorous attempt by a determined group to elect no bishops finally resulted in eliminating two of the most productive Episcopal Areas in the church. In the case of one of them a prominent leader estimates the loss to foreign missions at more than $100,000 through the break-up of the unity of this particular group of Conferences. Offerings to all causes in the sections of the church represented by these eliminated Areas are sure to diminish during the coming quadrennium. It is safe to say that the few thousands of dollars ''saved'' by this radical move will be offset many times over by the losses in financial support for the missionary, educational, and philanthropic enterprises of Methodism.

The General Conference was wasteful of its leadership. In the effort to save a few thousand dollars in the salaries and allowances of the episcopal leaders there developed a spirit verging on bishop-baiting. No one objected to fair ''cuts'' in these items, but again and again it appeared that unbelievers in the episcopal system employed a process of criticism and slow attrition rather than the method of straight-out opposition to further their end. And with what result? We sent the bishops out from Atlantic City with heavy hearts and well-night broken spirits to lead the church to victory. What inexcusable waste!

An effort was made to ''reduce'' the number of church papers in the interest of economy. Apparently, the fundamental fact that these papers are indispensable instruments for molding Christian opinion and promoting the enterprises of the kingdom was largely overlooked. In the end the weeklies that the report proposed to eliminate were partially restored and practically no saving of money was effected, while the power and influence of these papers was tragically crippled.

Not a few old-timers at General Conferences declared that the delegates at Atlantic City were in confusion, that they did not know where they were going. One astute observer described them as ''milling around.'' Such a condition breaks down morale. For months the church had been looking forward to May, 1932. It had been full of expectancy that the General Conference would do something to bring the spirit of courage and optimism into the hearts of ministers and laymen. But there was little done to consolidate morale. With alarming frequency, energies were dissipated in trivalities.

No challenging economy was displayed in buying up the spiritual opportunity at Atlantic City. There were beautiful devotional exercises, some prayers that will not soon be forgotten, some most inspiring music, but there was no great and sustaining lift for the soul, no clarion call to high adventure in the kingdom of God. The delegates were too busy seeing to it that actions taken by the body should be "without expense to the General Conference Expense Fund" to glimpse the infinite sky and the distant stars. Meanwhile, men and women broken on the wheel of life, and in confusion and distress, with hearts hungry for a gospel that can redeem both the individual and the social order, were waiting pathetically to hear a message of courage and cheer, of optimism and faith.

What was the trouble? The Conference opened on a high level with a statesmanlike deliverance that outlined the needs of the world, suggested a program of advance for the church, and directed particular attention to that power not ourselves which makes for righteousness. The bishops in particular counseled the church in their message to go forward, emphasizing the fact that the principle of world progress is contained in that Scripture "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." We were asked not to allow ourselves to be conformed to the world but to be transformed through the renewing of our spirits by the power of God. But from this mountain-top of the episcopal message, the delegates walked down into a dark valley of depression and gloom, from which they scarcely ever emerged during the remainder of the session. Apparently they were not able to rise above the atmosphere of world confusion or to overcome the baleful influence of the financial depression.

There was a small group of bitter-enders who were determined to "do something" in the way of cuts, but it was evident that they had not thoroughly familiarized themselves with the problems to which they addressed themselves, and therefore failed to take into consideration the full implications of their proposals. Mettle is a bad thing in a blind horse. So it proved at Atlantic City. Another small group felt that the bishops must be chastised, but they forgot that in a sense the bishops are the symbols of Methodism and in attacking them the boomerang effect for the whole church must be taken into account.

Many delegates came to Atlantic City out of the whirl of business life and lacked information about the issues that they had to face. Others were so burdened with their own financial difficulties and those of their local churches that they could not see the forest for the trees. Not a few of the representatives of the church came to Atlantic City with courage, vision, and faith. They felt that the General Conference was indeed a great spiritual opportunity, but they were overwhelmed by the atmosphere of pessimism, and could not stem the tide of retreat.

A few worth-while things, however, were accomplished. It is generally conceded that the Episcopal Address was the high point of the Conference. There is also some comfort to be found in the fact that, while the Peace Commission was liquidated in an hour when the whole issue of war and peace is extremely acute, the Conference did go on record in a strong action upon this general subject. Commendable reports on unemployment and the whole economic and industrial situation were adopted, but they were rushed through at the eleventh hour with little or no discussion. In a time like this they should have been dramatized and given much greater emphasis. The movement toward larger freedom and autonomy for foreign groups in the Central Conference legislation registered progress. The provision for a commission registered progress. The provision for a commission instructed to study the whole supervisional system of Methodism during the ensuing quadrennium holds promise of great value, provided the matter is taken seriously and members of the commission face their task with uncompromising courage. The action on laymen in relation to Annual Conferences was a step in the right direction, though the legislation will require careful interpretation and application. Some good gestures also were made by the Conference in the direction of Christian unity.

But, upon the whole, altogether too much time was spent in conserving the rules, in logic-chopping on constitutional questions and hair-splitting about judicial decisions, and upon efforts to achieve certain immediate economies, to leave room for any great and compelling vision of the kingdom of God. One delegate remarked rather sarcastically that the proposal that evoked the wildest enthusiasm at Atlantic City was the motion to borrow $60,000 on the credit of the Book Concern to pay the expense accounts of the delegates.

In all fairness, however, it should be noted that as the Conference drew to a close many delegates realized that there had been too much emphasis on the materialities at the expense of spiritual issues, and frequently remarked that "we must not go too far" in the emphasis on negative things. Without doubt a better mood developed as the time of adjournment approached, and in this fact lies considerable hope of progress during the next four years.

Methodism must go forward. We must capitalize the worthy actions taken at Atlantic City and try to forget the negative character of that General Conference. The situation calls for more earnest prayer, an enlarged vision, a strengthened faith, and an increased courage. We shall find all this as we walk and talk with the Great Companion and catch His spirit. We must not forget those closing words of the Episcopal Address, "God is here." He is here, and never before in long years of history has there been presented to earnest Christians such an opportunity as we face in this hour to be co-workers with Him in world redemption. We will go forward—each one of us in his place doing his utmost with the help of the Spirit to point men to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world.—Editorial in Zion's Herald.

◆

Has Prohibition Failed?

(Continued from Page One)

way. It will take some time to learn how to enforce prohibition, but that too can be learned.

Prohibition has its best success when voluntarily adopted for the individual life. God speed the time when all shall obey it from rational choice. Let all children be taught the real nature of alcoholic drinks.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Kernersville Charge

May 14.—It was our privilege to meet with the second quarterly conference of this charge on this date. The four churches of the charge were all represented, and all business of the conference was transacted promptly and in harmony. The reports indicated a normal condition of the charge, with Kernersville church somewhat above normal. Pastor Broome evidenced an active interest in all phases of the work, and is showing earnestness and skill in his efforts to "carry on." He is well supported by his churches. Finances are very much in arrears, but the people are of a willing mind in this particular, and we believe that they will do what they can, as the year advances, and then bring up all balances, as far as possible, at the close of the year. Spiritually, and in its organizational aspects, the charge appears to be functioning normally and encouragingly.

Sick

For two months Brother T. A. Williams has been in declining health. His condition makes it necessary for him to be relieved of all ministerial duties for the present. The charge yesterday voted him a vacation of two months. His trouble seems to be in his throat. He will go Wednesday to consult a specialist again, and will probably undergo a throat operation. Any word of comfort and encouragement will be appreciated by Brother Williams and his family. We assure them of the sympathy and prayers of the brethren, and the earnest hope that he may be restored soon to his health. It was our pleasure to fill two appointments for Brother Williams yesterday—Mt. Lebanon in the morning and New Salem in the afternoon. The attendance was not large at either place, but the interest and spirit of worship were good. We enjoyed the day on the charge, and wish to express to Brother Hughes and his family, of Mt. Lebanon church, our appreciation for entertainment in their home at dinner.

Leadership Training School

In HERALD of last week, Brother Whitehead reports 69 registrations for the L. T. S. Burlington First leads with 27, and High Point First follows with 17. To date, only a few charges are listed. We trust that the numbers may grow each week. Let every pastor and every church give Brother Whitehead full co-operation in this good undertaking.

The Spiritual Need of the Church

The Conference Committee on Evangelism is arranging a series of meetings to be held in the interest of the spiritual needs of the church. We are giving the fullest co-operation to the committee in this matter, recognizing that no other need of the church is so vital as this. The time spent in these meetings is to be given to worship, prayer, and conference, with only one thing in mind—deepening the spiritual life of the church. All pastors, and as many laymen and laywomen as can do so, are expected to attend. We trust that pastors will announce these meetings from their pulpits and urge that people attend them, and to have these meetings in their minds when they pray. Everything else about the church is strengthened when her spiritual life is strengthened.

Chairman Whitehead will no doubt have notice elsewhere in the HERALD this week of these meetings.

"Hope Thou in God"

This confidence of the Psalmist should receive a new emphasis from the pulpit today. To say that we are in the midst of unusual times is only to reiterate what we are hearing on every side and what everybody well knows. What we want is not more information about the time we are in, but a way out. We doubt if it is to be found in any act of Congress, though much thought and effort is being given to this matter by that honorable body. The hope of the world is not in material, but spiritual values. When the principles of Jesus become dominent among men, then a social order will prevail that gives the surest guarantee of human happiness and prosperity. For the conditions that prevail now the church has the one voice of hope and confidence, and that voice should be lifted up in every pulpit throughout the land. God is the source of our help, and God will not be unmindful of his people when they bow in confidence to Him. "Hope thou in God" is the message that should be sounded forth from the pulpit in these days of stress and strain.

Appointments

June 7.—Baltimore in meeting of Executive Committee.
June 12.—Pinnacle and Mt. Zion.
June 29.—Anniversary service, Burlington First church.
July 3.—Friendship, Friendship charge.

The following appointments are made in co-operation with the Conference Committee on Evangelism, and are being held to promote the spiritual interest of the church.

June 21.—Thuesday, First Church, Burlington.
June 22.—Wednesday, First Church, High Point.
June 23.—Thursday, Concord.
Hour for each meeting, 2 P. M.

"Have faith in God." S. W. TAYLOR.

THE CONFERENCE LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

The school will be held in High Point College June 27, July 3. June 27th is the day to come and register for the course you wish to take. Class work will begin Tuesday, June 28th at 8:00 a. m. The school will close on Sunday, July 3rd, so that those who attend may return home for Fourth of July picnics and outings.

We are making the cost of the school as low as possible. The charge this year for the entire period is $7.00.

The important thing to do NOW is to register. The pre-registration campaign is going rather slow. We are counting on YOU to make it a success. The fee is only 25c.

The courses deal with subjects of practical and particular needs. The speakers and faculty members are inspiring, competent, Christian. Be sure to include this school in your plans for the summer. FRED W. PASCHALL.

THE HERALD CAMPAIGN

To the Subscription Chairmen:

June is the Herald month, please visit all non-subscribers. We need 1,750 NEW SUBSCRIBERS this year in addition to the renewal of all old subscribers. Please make every effort to raise your quota. The life of the Herald hangs in the balance.

To the Pastors:

June is the month designated by President Taylor as Herald Campaign Month. Again let me say if every subscriber last year renews that will not avail to keep the paper going for there were only about 1,250 paid subscribers last year, therefore renewals alone will not pull the paper out of its dilemma, but we would need 1,750 NEW SUBSCRIBERS this year. I am unable to visit the several charges but you the Pastor are already there and in touch with the people who ought to subscribe, therefore I must depend upon your good services to see that the quotas given to your charges are raised. Any Pastor whose subscription Chairman has not functioned up to this time should immediately appoint a Chairman who will function, and please do this at once.

Facing the facts as they are, this is the last year that the Herald can possibly be published unless the subscription list is built up immediately and it must necessarily depend upon the Pastors to do this or to see that it is done. If the Conference can neither support the Herald by subscriptions nor pay its deficit, there can be but one result. Let us face these conditions as they are. Let us do our duty by the Herald or quit accepting it at the expense of the Printers and the Editor.

E. L. Douglas, Chairman,
Directing Committee.

THE GUIDING HAND

When Stanley was about to cross Africa for the first time, many of the strong men of his party burst into tears as they set out. They were not cowardly, but they were overcome by the thought of the terrific hardships which they knew lay before them.

Every human life is a journey as difficult and perilous; and we might well shrink from it, had we no Guide. What absolute madness it is to set out alone!

I have read the story of a conceited young captain who would not wait off the shore for a pilot to come on board, to take him through the narrows of the harbor. "I am my own pilot," was the proud reply to all remonstrances, and he promised to be in the harbor by daybreak. He was cast ashore, dead, amid the fragments of his wrecked vessel. Such has been the fate of many a man who would be his own pilot amid the rocks and shoals of life.

When travelers climb dangerous places in the Alps, they are fastened to their guide. They have become a part of him. They may slip and fall, but he will not. So may we be bound to our omnipotent Guide; and, thus united with wisdom and security, we may travel through life without a tremor of fear. —Amos R. Wells.

◆

—Have the courage to keep on keeping while others are quitting. They leave more opportunities for you.—Van Amburgh.

"I MOVE AN AMENDMENT"

How many, many times those who attended the General Conference heard these words! Never, however, from the lips of a bishop, for bishops are not allowed to participate in the business of the General Conference. But now that the Conference has closed and that we have passed from parliamentary procedure to the larger realm of the moral responsibility of our beloved church, it may be allowed even a retired bishop to make an amendment in behalf of the situation that we face.

Rev. Rowland Williamson, Anglican divine of the last century, is on record as having made the following prayer: "By the agony of men's striving; by men's heads bowed in shame, and eyes filled with tears; by their necks weighed down with burdens; their feet and hands perplexed and bound; and by their crying out of misery, be moved, O Lord, to arise and amend the earth." If, as one branch of the church of God, we shall order "the previous question" and proceed without debate to the original motion as suggested by this prayer, surely it will prove helpful to the ideal and realization of the kingdom of God in all the earth.—William F. Anderson.

THE LORD IS AT HAND

The knowledge of the Presence of our Divine Lord should influence our daily lives to so live and so walk that our lives may be a living testimony to others for Him. How many would live differently if they would fully realize the meaning of these five words: "The Lord is at hand"! He is at hand when you sleep. He is at hand when you work. He is at hand when you go shopping. He is at hand every moment of your life. Because He is invisible does not excuse you for not living as in the light of His Presence. No. He is nevertheless right by your side and sees and hears every choice you make, every word you speak, and notes everywhere you go, and whatever you do. Therefore,

1. Believers should be diligent. To be diligent means to be alert, wide awake, earnestly looking that they may "be found of Him in peace, without spot, and blameless" (II Peter 3:14).

2. Believers should be prayerful. The prayerful heart accomplishes impossibilities. Prayer moves the heart of God to accomplish that which he is not able to do otherwise. It is God's desire to answer the prayers of His children. The prayer of faith is the key that brings souls to Christ, and will also bring rewards at Christ's Coming (Luke 21:36; Mark 13:33).

3. Believers should be patient. Patient in tribulation (Rom. 5:3); patient in trouble; patient in suffering; patient when oppressed; patient when reproached. Yes, believers should be patient at all times. It is the patient heart that speaks of rest and confidence in God. And it is the patient one who will be owned and ready when Christ comes. Therefore be patient unto the Coming of the Lord (James 5:7, 8).

4. Believers should be pure. The pure in heart shall see God (Matt. 5:8); and not only shall but they now see Him. They see Him in His purity of heart, purity of life, purity of walk through His Word, and therefore desire to keep themselves pure in order to be like Him, and to be found of Him without spot and blemish (I John 3:3).

5. Believers should be watchful. Watchful that their life and conversation adorn the doctrine of Jesus Christ. They should be watchful that the light of Christ in them is not dimmed by the filth of cares of this life, anxieties of unbelief, and deceitfulness of the riches of this world. They should be watchful that at His Coming no opportunities of service rendered may have been lost, and thus they be made ashamed at His Appearing (Mark 13:36, 37; I John 2:28).

6. Believers should be hopeful, ready and comforted. All this because the Lord is at hand. At hand to bless. At hand to fill with hope as He whispers, "Till He Come." Ah, yes, all these passing afflictions are only "Till He Come." This hope inspires them to be ready, as a bird on wing, eager, expectant, earnestly desiring and listening for the summons of their Divine Ishi, "Come up Higher." And then as a capstone all these hopes should be their comfort, because in a little while "He that shall come will come, and will not tarry" (Heb. 10:37; Luke 21:28; Rom. 8:19-23; Matt. 24:44; I Thess. 4:15-18).—P. E. M.

"I WANT TO STEP ON IT"

The Christians were confessing their sins and failures to God. Here was a boy of perhaps twelve years of age. He was in tears and God was showing him his sin. He had just come to the Lord Jesus about two days before, and he did not want to be guilty of those old sins any more.

"I have been used to cursing and swearing," he cried in his confession. Then he added, "and I want to step on it." There was revenge in his voice and manner. The devil and sin had been beating him and he wanted to have a victory over the things which God hates. He was so determined to have them out of his life. God was delighted to see how earnest he was. Some of us never get rid of sin because we are so half-hearted and easy-going.

The Bible says that "God shall bruise Satan under our feet." But God cannot do this for us unless we want to be rid of all sin at any cost, by any road. Do let us be severe with ourselves in confessing our sins to God and to those we have stumbled.—The Prairie Overcomer.

STRENGTH THAT COMES FROM GOD

In this day when materialism has such a mighty hold on men, when the spirit of secularism seems to be at death grips with spirituality, it behooves every Christian to pause and consider the ever-timely injunction of Paul to "be strong in the Lord." Some men are strong in this world's goods. They enjoy every luxury. Some are strong in social connections. They number their well-to-do friends by the scores or even hundreds, and they can call upon them at any time. Some are strong in physical prowess. The arm of flesh is their daily boast. But, Paul knew, and every one of us ought to realize, that the only real strength that one can have is the strength that comes from God.

They are not idle words, therefore, that call upon us to "be strong in the Lord, and in the power of His might." Financial strength, and intellectual power, and physical force—all good and well in their way—can never take the place of the strength that comes from God. Many a rich man, many an intellectual giant, many a modern Samson, has gone down in defeat in the face of temptation because he did not have the strength which comes from God. On the other hand many a poor man, a man deprived of intellectual attainments, many a physical weakling, has, because he was strong in the Lord, come out more than conqueror when he grappled with temptation and faced sin.

The battle is not to the strong unless the strong derive his strength from God. Let us, then, live with God, absorb His strength, appropriate His power, and when the testing time comes we shall have the only strength which will avail us—the victory-giving strength of God.—Alabama Christian Advocate.

THE ONLY NAME

There is none other name. This is the holy intolerance and exclusiveness of the Gospel of Christ. It will brook no rival to Him who is its Center and its Glory. It crowns Him the supreme and only Lord.

Modern culture makes much of other saviors. Buddha, Confucius, Socrates, stand almost on a level with Jesus. It reverences them well-nigh as much. It says with Akbar in Lord Tennyson's poem:

> "I hate the rancor of their castes and creeds,
> I let men worship as they will * * *
> I cull from every faith and race the best
> And bravest soul for counselor and friend."

But there is none other name.

Society turns the other refuges. It is impatient of the old-fashioned creed, that outside of Christ there is no help or hope. It has its own conventions and rules and ideals; and if a man honor these, he has nothing to fear. They are reproachless who abide by its standards. But there is none other name.

My own heart would seek its life and peace elsewhere. In my prayers, my gifts, my tears, my labors. In the good opinion of my fellows, and the approval of my conscience. In my neglect of the sterner side of God's character, and my exaltation of His infinite kindness. In my hopes and dreams that all will go well. But—but there is none other name.

It is an all-sufficing Name. Jesus, the Puritans said, had one hundred and eight biblical titles; and in every one of them there is salvation, free and full, present and eternal.—Author Unknown.

—Captain Robert Dollar, eighty-year-old steamship magnate who died a few days ago, made a practise of reading his Bible every day. "For the past sixty years every morning before breakfast," he recently wrote the American Bible Society, of which he was a vice-president, "I have read part of a chapter in the Old and New Testaments. By commencing the day with a reading of my Bible I find it gives me much valuable information and inspiration which is past my power to express."

OUR STORY PAGE

THE LITTLE GRAY KITTY

Once there was a little gray kitty. That is, he was all gray except his blue eyes and white teeth and pink tongues and one white foot and a white star on his chest and a big black smudge across his nose.

He had a mother and three brothers and sisters, and he lived with some people named Black. But it looked as if he wasn't going to live there much longer, for Mrs. Black had said that she simply could not keep five cats.

So Marion chose the dark tiger kitty, and Mildred wanted the lighter tiger one, and Marjorie took the one with the four white feet. That left just the little gray kitty and the mother cat. Grandma said she'd take the mother cat out to the farm, because the mice were trying to eat up all the chickens' corn.

''No one wants old smudge nose,'' said Mildred, and she pushed the little gray kitty with her foot. It was just a gentle push, but it hurt him, for he did so want some one to love him.

''Never mind,'' said the mother kitty. ''Some day you'll find some one who won't care because you're not pretty. You're the best singer of all, and you're the only one who takes an interest in chasing mice.''

Just then Grandma Black picked up the mother cat and started for the farm, the girls took their kittens and went into the house, and the little gray kitten was left all alone.

So he started out in search of some one who would love him. He walked until his little gray legs ached. Then he sat down on a lawn and thought. What could he do? He was tired and oh, so sad! You know, it's very saddening indeed not to have any one want you. He began to cry softly ''Me-ow; me-ow.'' And when he heard how very sad he sounded he cried just a little harder, ''Me-ow; me-ow,'' until finally he was crying just as hard as a little handful of gray fur can cry.

Just then a voice, ''Poor kitty! What's the matter?'' It was a little girl, and she was on the porch.

''Me-ow,'' answered the little gray kitty. ''I'm lonesome and tired, and nobody wants me.'' And he brushed along the little girl's fingers.

''How soft you are!'' she said, and rubbed her cheek against his soft fur. ''I love you, you little ball of velvet!''

And because the little gray kitty was so glad to know that some one loved him, he sang his very prettiest song, and you remember his mother had said he had a lovely voice.

When the little girl's mother came he was ready to run away. But she smoothed his fur and said, ''He is a very nice kitty, Dottie, darling. I'll give him some milk. Maybe he's hungry.''

She brought a little blue bowl of delicious cool milk. How good it did taste to the little gray kitty!

Just then something funny and gray slid across the corner of the porch. Was it a mouse? The little gray kitty wasn't sure, but he didn't wait to find out. Leaving his nice bowl of milk he ran across the porch and pounced on the moving gray object. You see, it was only a dead leaf!

But dottie's mother didn't laugh. ''He's going to be a mouser,'' she said. ''We'll keep him.''

Just as soon as all the milk was gone he went back to the little girl.

''He's so soft and velvety, mother,'' she cried, ''and he's so happy he sings like a little steam engine. What does he look like?''

For the little girl was blind—she couldn't see at all. She could only feel the kitten's soft fur and hear his happy singing.

The mother said, ''He's gray, darling, with a white star on his chest, and one white foot, a little pink tongue, white teeth, and beautiful blue eyes.''

Did you notice that she didn't say one word about his smudge nose? So the little gray kitty curled up in a velvety ball, closed his eyes, and went to sleep. And he never was sad again.

Dottie loved him because he was so happy, and Dottie's mother loved him because he chased mice. And that was much nicer than being loved just because he was pretty, oh, ever so much nicer.—Elizabeth Flynn, in The Mayflower.

THE KINGDOM BEYOND THE MOUNTAINS

Once upon a time there lived a king who ruled over a distant region that was largely unknown to him. It was his kingdom beyond the mountains. The country in which his palace was located was very crowded with people and the towns which the people had built, and many of the people in these towns were poor. They had scarcely enough to eat and wear, and many, even to the highest nobles, went to the king in despair and pleaded with him to provide a means whereby his subjects would not be in want.

The king could not offer his subjects riches when his nation did not produce the wealth that was needed. Instead he said:

''Why do not some of you explore the country beyond the mountains, where there is an abundance of land which is unused, and which, if properly cared for, would feed and clothe many more thousands than there are here on this narrow strip? There are waterfalls which would turn your mill wheels, there are forests which would provide lumber for your homes. There are meadows where your cattle, and sheep, and horses could graze. There are rich valleys where you could plant your grain and orchards, and in time you could build beautiful buildings which would far surpass the beauty of these old walls which rot with age and crumble as they view the misery of a land which is torn with crime and strife. But there is one requirement, if you would have these riches—you must work.''

Now many believed in the wise king's words, and set out with high purpose to build a new province in the wilds beyond the mountain walls. But, sooner or later, they returned and told stories of wild beasts which roamed by the thousands, and could not be exterminated; of freezing cold in which no one could exist; of dreadful heat which brought only disease and suffering. In all the stories were recitals of despair.

As these things were told to the king, a young man, standing apart, heard with eager ears, for he had resolved in his heart, when he reached manhood, that nothing should be impossible to him were it worth striving for. And these tales that the failures told spurred him on to accomplish what others had failed to achieve.

So he gathered about him a group of loyal followers and set out for the wild and barren country which had defied so many before him. In time they overcame the hardships of building homes, tilling the soil, weaving cloth, and conquering sickness. A rich and happy state paid homage to the king beyond the mountains.

When the young man who had led in the building of this new state returned to see his ruler, he was middle-aged, and the king was very old. The monarch then welcomed the one who had successfully pioneered. He congratulated him, and asked:

''How did you accomplish such great things in so short a number of years? You have done what no other man has ever done. You are governor of the richest, most beautiful province in the world.''

And the man who had wrought these deeds simply answered:

''Sir, I worked.''—Francis Jess Wells in Christian Index.

WE REAP AS WE SOW

Lift another's burden,
Bear another's grief;
Speak a word of kindness,
Bring to them relief.

Brighten up their pathway,
With a smile of cheer;
Help them on their journey,
Dry the falling tear.

Lighten up their darkness,
With a ray of light;
Cover up their weakness,
Completely out of sight.

Soon your skies will brighten,
Soon your face will shine;
Soon the seed you've scattered,
Doubled will be thine.

—P. Elizabeth Miller.

MISPLACING THE BLAME

''O-o-oo-oh! Bo-o-o-ho-hoo!'' As the childish wail rang through the house the anxious mother sprang to her feet. Rushing into the hall, she met her little daughter coming in from the garden and carrying a broken doll by the leg. ''What's the matter, darling?'' she asked tenderly.

''O-o-oh, m-o-ther,'' howled the child, ''Willie's broken my do-oll!''

''The naughty boy! How did he do it?''

''I—I—I hit him on the head wiv it!'' was the slow response.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

THE TRULY GREAT

Who are the great? At this challenge Fame recounts in our hearing the names of warriors, orators, poets, and philosophers, whose deeds have secured them a distinguished place in her crowded temple, and by the light of history they are made to pass in review. First, the warrior at the head of his armed legions, whose measured tread shakes the earth, passes before us. It is true that desolation marks his track, that burning cities light his midnight marches, that the earth is stained by the blood of his victims, and the air rent by the cries of the widows and orphans he has made; but the multitude add their acclamations to the trumpet tongue of Fame, and with one voice call him great.

The orator sways at will all the passions of the soul; every feeling is aroused. At his voice vindicative hate or tender pity reigns; at his will shouts of vengeance or tears of compassion prevail. He well knows the secret cords of the human heart, and, like a skillful player, he draws forth varied notes from that wonderful instrument: the rapt throngs, unconscious of the power by which they are moved, gaze on him as one of a superior nature, and with one consent they call him great.

The poet by the magic power of his verse enthrones himself in the hearts of thousands. The age in which he lives bears the impress of his genius. He changes the current of popular feeling by the sorcery of his song; the strain he sings is more potent for good or ill than the sword of the warrior or the tongue of the orator, and when he dies his tomb is wreathed with flowers and those who survive him tell their children and children's children of the greatness of him whom the cold marble covers.

The philosopher gives himself up to the luxury of thoughts and observations, and, intoxicated by his discoveries, almost imagines himself the maker of the worlds which have first appeared to his watchful eye, or the author of the laws of matter or mind which have flashed upon his inner vision; and the awe-struck multitude, wondering at the marvels he has made known, deem him worthier than all his fellows of the title ''great.''

Far different will be the judgment of the great Judge of all, for he looks not as man looks, on the appearance, but on the heart. Many who have won the title ''great'' from their fellowmen in the judgment will be shown to have been the scourges of their kind, and many who have been honored here shall there be condemned to eternal infamy; the man who has dried the widow's and orphan's tear shall shine brighter than earth's noblest hero, and he who has led an erring soul to God be more honored than he who, directing his gaze into the blue expanse, caught the first glance of a new planet, and called it by his own name; the man of a meek and humble heart, who was here the object of the cold world's scorn, shall there appear in his true character, and be approved before a gazing universe; the man of faith who fearlessly stemmed the torrent of a corrupt age, the martyr of God who loved the truth more than life, the devoted missionary, and all the benefactors of the souls and the bodies of men, the Pauls, the Judsons, the Howards, shall in that day be called the truly great. —William Baxter.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

DUTIES OF THE DISTRICT CHAIRMAN

The Group Conference Plan

Not many women of the local church could attend the meetings of their Branch so it came about that groups of women from neighboring churches met together for all day conferences. The Branch leaders brought to them the inspiration and information of the larger gathering and they themselves presented their own problems and plans for open discussion. They are not only schools of training for the local officers, but they promote a much desired unity and fellowship in Christian work in the community.

Districting the Branch

The Branch is usually divided into districts according to the divison made by the Annual Conference, so that such churches as are neighbors may attend a meeting at some central point with little trouble. Every district has a chairman who is the connecting link between that group of churches and the Branch, and who is responsibe for the program of that district. She is also a member of Executive committee of the Branch.

Preparation for District Meetings

Each district chairman works in collaboration with the Branch president. Better results are obtained if the district chairmen work in collaboration with each other so that their meetings may follow in convenient sequence. Thus, if the same program is put on with the same speakers at each group meeting the convenience of every one is served in obtaining more interesting features.

Time

The time of district meetings varies with different localities. The most convenient time for the Churches in question is chosen. District meetings are held in some Branches semi-annually, others, quarterly.

Place

The small church centrally located is the best place for the one day meeting. The place may alternate between those Churches in village or country who are too small to entertain so large a body as a Branch meeting for several days. Sometimes a church whose women are not organized on the Auxiliary-Circle plan is chosen in order to create more interest among the women there. Every church in the district must be reached even if it takes two or more group meetings to do it.

Publicity

Wide publicity should be given all district meetings in the daily press, the Church papers, the church bulletin, verbal announcements, and correspondence. The president of each local auxiliary in the district should be notified and urged to see that as many of her women attend as possible.

The "get together" spirit of the group should be stressed in all publicity for the meeting, also promptness in opening it and faithfulness in staying until the close, if each represetative is to get the best out of the conference.

The District Chairman

The district chairman should feel that she is in a way a president—a president of her group—and she should have her finger on the pulse of every auxiliary continually.

The planning for the district meetings does not end the work of the district chairman. She must seek to sustain throughout the year the interest thus created. She may organize a new auxiliary in a Church with no organization, supplying literature and necessary helps. She may get one of the larger churches in her district to adopt a neighboring new or weak auxiliary as a "Big Sister" should, passing on mission study books, etc.

At certain seasons of mission study or special prayer, the district chairman may write the local presidents a personal letter calling attention to these seasons, and to the fact that their auxiliaries will be asked to report on these and other specified things at the close of the year. She should be a great aid in helping the auxiliaries in her territory to make accurate reports, and , in a way, she may well be held responsible for her Branch president for them.

No more important work, far-reaching in its results, is being done today within the mounds of the Church than the work of the efficient district chairman and her group conferences.

Suggested Program for District Meeting

District Chairman Presiding

A. M.

10:00 Call to order, Hymn, Prayer, Welcome.
10:15 Roll Call, Introductions.
10:30 Auxiliary Methods for General Officers (Rotate duties of two officers each year).
11:15 Bible Hour (Normal or Inspirational).
12:00 Open discussion (Budget, report blanks, etc.)
12:30 Recess for Lunch (Literature table or special music or purely social).

P. M.

1:30 Hymn, Prayer. Report Registration Committee.
1:45 Auxiliary Methods for Special Officers (Circle Chairmen, Cause Secrtaries, etc., rotate two each year).
2:15 Work for Year Presented (Auxiliary Calendar may be used).
2:30 Inspirational Address (Missionary or representative of Committees, etc.)
3:30 Question Box (Local problems discussed informally).
3:20 How Has This Meeting Helped You? (Expression from each church represented).
3:40 Closing Words..
4:00 Adjournment.

—Leaflet, Committee on Education.

◆

WHY HE LIVED

"Why Do I Live?" the poet sang,
In gay and lilting verse—
Then mailed it to the Editor,
For better or for worse.

"The reason that you live,"
Wrote the Editor with glee,
"Is because you mailed your verse,
But did not call on me!"

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

—J. L. Crouse, contractor, died after a lingering illness and was buried last Sunday. He it was that built Roberts Hall, High Point College. He was a liberal supporter of the enterprises of his church, the Holiness, and was a prominent citizen of Greensboro.

DISTRICT NO. 10 MEETING AT CHAPEL HILL CAMP GROUND

Sunday morning, May 29, at 10 a. m. the song and devotional service was in charge of the superintendent of Chapel Hill church, Mr. Jim Smith. Mr. J. P. Elliott made a good talk on the Sunday school lesson. Mr. N. V. Johnson, the chairman of this district, then took charge, made a fine speech, and in a most orderly way coducted the exercises of the day The most of the speeches were made by the young people of Denton and Davidson charges. Paul Fine spoke on "The Sunday School." He very ably told of the need of better trained tearhers, and the need of their consecration to Christ and His service. He said "The Sunday School is to the church what the day school is to the state." The next speaker was Odie Beck, who spoke on "Christian Education." He made a splendid speech on Christian education, in the home, Sunday school, church and the Christian college.

A mixed quartette from Denton and John Lanning, his sisters and Paul Fine rendered some splendid special music. The Denton choir had their new books and with the help of a few others rendered some unusually fine selections.

Dinner was served on the ground.

E. A. Bingham conducted the devotional after the noon hour. The next speaker was Inza Hill on "The Christian Endeavor Society." She told of the origin, growth and usefulness of the C. E. society. One of the strongest arguments for the Christian Endeavor society is how these young people spoke to us on this occasion. Elida Smith told us very interestingly about the High Point Leadership Training School, and urged each church to send some one to the school. Helen Cranford spoke on "Loyalty to the Church." I wish all the young people could have heard her and would do as she told us. Rev. Mr. Brown spoke on "Missions in a Live Church." He brought us some fine information. All the speakers did well. The singing was also good. We wish to thank Mr. Johnson and all those who took part for bringing this District Rally to Chapel Hill Camp Ground.

E. A. BINGHAM.

◆

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SUMMER CONFERENCE

To those who have never attended a session of the Leadership Training school, I am writing this letter for their benefit—because those who have attended it know of the good times and clean entertainment provided for all.

There are several courses offered for the young people. You have a choice for your own. Besides the courses offered you have a chance of making friends with young people all over North Carolina.

For one week of Christian education you will never regret a week spent at the Leadership Training school.

A DELEGATE.

◆

—Rev. E. G. Lowdermilk has the keen sympathy of friends; in a fall from a tree he broke his hip bone and must lie for weeks in bed. He is now in a hospital—Wesley Long, we believe.

—Mrs. Samuel R. Shepherd was buried at Mt. Pleasant yesterday, Dr. T. M. Johnson and Brother Millaway conducting the funeral. She was the mother of Mrs C. M. Friddle of Greensboro.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

West Forsyth.—We had about the largest congregations of the year at Baltimore and Stony Knoll churches last Sunday. We arrived at Baltimore in time for the Sunday school. A total of 114 persons were present. This was a splendid attendance, considering the fact that the total enrollment of the Sunday school is 137. At the church service the vote for delegate was taken. We were pleased to have Rev. D. C. Norman, local preacher of the M. E. Church, South, present. He made a good talk after the sermon by the pastor.

The pastor and family enjoyed a good dinner in the home of Brother George Nicholson, after the service at Baltimore last Sunday. In addition to the pastor and family, the following were guests in the home for dinner: Rev. D. C. Norman, J. T. Smitherman, Miss Nancy Smitherman, Miss Millie Smitherman, Mrs. Sarah Wilhelm, J. A. Whitman and Miss Nora May Whitman, the two last named being from Pleasant Hill church. The Nicholson family are among the faithful members of Baltimore church.

At Stony Knoll church we met a larger congregation than usual, and the interest in the service was good. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper was observed. We were pleased with the presence of Brother M. L. Craver, of the Baptist church at Welcome, in Davidson county. He made a brief talk at the close of the service. The revival meeting will begin at Stony Knoll church the first Sunday in July. Announcement will be made later as to the preacher to help in the meeting.

The pastor and family enjoyed visits last week in the homes of Mrs. Ella Doub and Brother Frank Wooten, the latter in Winston-Salem. They are members of Baltimore church. We appreciate a gift made by Mrs. Doub on the occasion of the visit to the home.

Our appointments for next Sunday will be at Union Hill church at 11 a. m., and Tabernacle church at 8 p. m. The vote for delegate to the next Annual Conference will be taken at each church.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

Fountain Place.—We have had no preaching service at our church for the last three Sundays. The first of these our pastor was at the General Conference, the next he attended the baccalaureate sermon of High Point College commencement (this sermon was of special interest to him as his son, Louis, was a graduate), and yesterday our service was given to Gibsonville for their special meeting. During this time the Sunday school has met regularly and we have enjoyed it but we will be glad now to have our regular preaching services again.

Mrs. S. L. Amick represented our auxiliary at the branch meeting and we were glad to hear her report at the last meeting which was held with Mrs. Dewey Hargrove. The auxiliary is hoping to do a better work this year than it has in the past. Mrs. L. H. Gibbs, the president, plans to have a program at each meeting in the future. The society at this time is making a yo-yo quilt for sale. At the church some weeks ago an old-fashioned chicken supper was held. Aside from serving a good supper the ladies netted a good sum for their treasury.

The Annie Forest Bible class (Philathea) entertained the Auman Bible class (Baraca), winners in a recent contest, with a moonlight picnic at Latham Pond near Mebane some time ago. About fifty people attended and every one seemed to enjoy the eevening. At a recent class meeting this class elected Mrs. R. G. Hornaday as their new teacher. Yesterday (June 5) another contest to last through June and July began between these same two classes.

Our special meeting began the first Sunday in May and lasted throughout the week. Mr. Bethea did his own preaching and we were al heped by his messages. Six children of church families gave their lives to God and Jack and Junaita Wright, and Richard Jones joined the church the last night of the meeting. We hope there will be others to join soon:

The Christian Endeavor societies are meeting regularly though the attendance is not so large as we wish. Recently the senior society held a joint business meeting and social at the home of Miss Ruth Jones. After the business was transacted, interesting games and contests were enjoyed by all present. The evening closed with delicious refreshments served by the hostess.

The Junior Christian Endeavorers made scrap books for the girl's school in Yokahoma, Japan, at a social several Saturdays ago. In spite of a downpour of rain the Juniors come in good numbers and everybody had a good time cutting and pasting pictures for these far away friends. Mrs. Hubert Terrell and Miss Ruth Jones now have charge of the Junior society.

Many good things come to us from time to time. At one Sunday evening service we were glad to have Mr. Henry Easley and Miss Beaver, both blind musicians, play and sing old gospel hymns for us. Our pastor always brings us helpful messages and we miss him when he is away.

MRS. A. V. AMICK, Reporter.

Love's Grove, Midland Charge.—The Thirteenth District Rally was held at our church the fifth Sunday in May. There was a large crowd present and the day proved a great success. Rev. O. B. Williams preached at 11 o'clock. The ladies of the community served a delicious dinner at the noon hour. The speakers for the afternoon were: Rev. O. B. Williams, Rev. C. I. Smith, and Rev. J. B. Trogdon. Rev. Mr. Reed filled Rev. Mr. Morgan's place as chairman as he was unable to be there. The Love's Grove quartette assisted greatly in making the day a successful one.

Our Sunday school is still climbing upward as the people seem to be taking more interest in the work. We have about one hundred on roll and an average attendance of about seventy-five. Especially do we want to boast of the Junior class. The boys and girls take such a great interest in being present and in co-operating with their teacher. There are about thirty-five on roll with an average attendance of about twenty-five. Let's boost our young boys and girls more because they are the ones who will take the places of those who are growing too old and feeble.

Our pastor's wife, Mrs. Reed, has been quite sick, but she is improving some now. Our prayers go out for her recovery.

We will have our Children's Day program the second Sunday in June. We are hoping to have special music, especially in the afternoon. We extend a hearty invitation to every one to come and be with us. We enjoy having visitors come to our church.

REPORTER.

Friendship Church.—I am thankful to say that our Sunday school has increased greatly. Our attendance is running over a hundred for the first time in five or six years. We want to express our thanks to Brother Spencer for building up our Sunday school. As all like him so well I feel that it hts been through his helpful messages that has helped us so much. We want the prayers of the Christian people that our church may continue to grow.

REPORTER.

Young Men's Wide Awake Class, Shiloh.—June 5: We had 53 young men present today. We sang that good old song, "Revive Us Again." Our teacher said if he could teach as well as we can sing we would have a fine teacher. We all know that he is a good teacher; if we will live in the way that he tells us that we should, we will have a fine class both in number and in spirit. We hope that our attendance will increase this summer. Our young men are very faithful and loyal to their church. Many young people plan to take a pleasure trip on Sunday. I am glad to say that our young people put their church first; this is what we should do. Let us say, all that we do we will put God first. When we do this we will have a good class, good church, and we shall have good homes when we put God first.

CLASS REPORTER.

Corinth, Littleton Charge.—Rev. P. E. Bingham filled his appointment on the third Sunday night.

The fourth Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock we held our Memorial Service, Rev. Mr. Bradley from the M. E. church, assisted Mr. Bingham in this service. We were very grateful to have Mr. Bradley with us and hope he will come again. We were very glad to have the Junior quartet from Aurelian Springs with us for this service. The cemetery had been nicely cleaned off and flowers laid on all the graves.

We are very gad to report Mr. Henry Norris is back at home and getting along nicely, after being ill in the Roanoke Rapids hospital for several weeks.

Mrs. B. C. Barbee and children of Farmville are spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Morris.

MRS. B. F. MORRIS, Reporter.

Salem, Saxapahaw Charge.—We are still moving forward. Our Sunday school is doing good work now. The attendance is much better than it has been before, we are proud that we are having such beautiful weather the old people can attend.

We plan to observe Children's Day Sunday, June 12. It wil be an all-day service. Dinner on the grounds. Children's Day in the morning and preaching in the afternoon. The public is cordially invited to attend.

We are very glad indeed to say one of our good members, Mr. W. T. Payne, who has been in St. Leo's hospital for several weeks is improving nicely, and is able to be out at his son's, Mr. John Payne, Greensboro, N. C. We trust Mr. Payne will soon be back with us at Salem.

So far the Herald Subscription chairman has been able to collect $15.00 worth of subscriptions. Listen! Members, who have not subscribed. Let's add your name to the list during the month of June.

Best wishes to the Herald,

MRS. T. R. CRAWFORD, Reporter.

Dulin's, Mocksville Charge.—Our attendanne has been low both for Sunday school and preaching service for the last few months on account of sickness.

Our pastor, Rev. G. B. Ferree, filled his regular appointment yesterday with an inspiring sermon.

Plans are being made for the Annual Home Coming Day June 26; we extend a cordial invitation to our president, Dr. S. W. Taylor, and all our former pastors to attend, and any one else who desires to come and enjoy the day with us.

REPORTER.

Chestnut Ridge, Orange Charge.—The work has continued to make progress. Sunday school seems to be moving along nicely.

A good congregation greeted our pastor, Rev. B. M. Williams, Sunday afternoon. He delivered a splendid sermon.

We were glad to have Mr. Davis from Union Grove with us Sunday. He delivered a short, but interesting talk on the General Conference in Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Williams also brought out some interesting points, which every one seemed to enjoy.

Children's Day service will be observed in June, with an all-day service.

Just let me say a few words about Mother's Day as I failed to get that report in. Our pastor brought a wonderful message. There was a good congregation present, the white and red roses showed that mothers were honored gratefully.

ANNIE SQUIRES, Reporter.

Harmony, Yarborough Charge.—Our Sunday school continues to grow each Sunday.

The Ladies' Auxiliary met the fourth Saturday afternoon at the church. An interesting program was rendered on the subject "Religion in the Home."

Our pastor, Rev. M. C. Henderson, preached for us the fifth Sunday evening, filling an appointment recently missed. He also filled his regular appointment the fourth Sunday morning and evening, delivering some very inspiring messages.

Plans are being made for our Children's Day program which will be given sometime in the near future.

REPORTER.

Denton, Davidson Charge.—On last Sunday the 10th District rally was held at Chapel Hill. A very interesting program was rendered as follows:

Remarks from Sunday school lesson, Mr. J. P. Elliott.

Our Sunday school, Mr. Paul Fine.

Christian Education, Mrs. Oda Beck.

Benefits of Christian Endeavor, Miss Inza Hill.

Our Young People's Training School, Miss Flada Smith.

Loyalty to the Church, Miss Helen Cranford.

The Place of Missions in a Live Church, Rev. Mr. Brown.

Special music was rendered by the Lanning trio, and the Cranford quartet. Dinner was served on the grounds, and every one enjoyed the occasion.

Friends of Mr. W. E. Hill will regret to learn of his illness, and will wish him a speedy recovery.

On the first Sunday in June the choir from Thomasville West End church, under the leadership of Mr. Yokely, will present a program at the M. P. church in Denton. Every one is invited.

REPORTER.

First Church, High Point.—The full schedule of services was held Sunday in the First Church, beginning with the Sabbath school at 9:45 o'clock. Superintendent J. H. Jennings presided over the opening session, after which the different classes went to their respective rooms. An award was made to the basketball teams, which won the city championship in the winter series. At the morning worship hour Miss Mae Hayes, student at the College and pupil of Professor Stimson, sang very sweetly "Song of Redemption." The minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, chose for the subject of his message the text in 1 Cor. 16:13, "Stand fast in the faith, girt you like men, be strong." This message to the Christian people of Corinth from Paul is an especially appropriate one to the Methodist Protestant church in the beginning of the new quadrennium, which means in other words, "Go forth and show what the church can do for a man or woman." The world is helped more by people who do something for it rather than merely talk; we must go out and do something for humanity. God has His faithful few in every church and every clime and those who are most like Him have come up through much suffering. He mentioned four factors to make us strong: the law of the depth of life, the law of steadfastness, the law of responsibility, and the law of co-operation. A man after a week's stay in the White House while Calvin Coolidge was president, said, that Mr. Coolidge told him that when a problem confronted him, he always asked himself two questions: "Is this right?" and "What is my duty?" this attitude gave him an unusual depth of character. In every life there will be storms, and to have known one good man or woman helps us to be steady. The life is unsafe that has no responsibility. On the fields of France a group of soldiers was resting under the trees, when shrapnel from an exploding bomb struck the captain, who cried our to his lieutenant, "I am mortally wounded, the command is 'forward', see the boys through."

At the evening service Rev. Mr. Farmer spoke on "Jesus in Temptation," and Prof. E. B. Stimson directed a beautiful program of music on the organ, and an anthem, "The Lord Is My Rock."

Before his sermon Sunday morning the minister gave some of his impressions of the General Conference at Columbus, Ohio and its work. He said it impressed him as a progressive convention and an educationally minded one. The name of New Century Service was changed to World Service. Sixty-seven per cent of all receipts will be used for Mission work, 22 per cent to home, and 45 per cent to foreign. The remaining 33 per cent is to be devoted to educational work. The sum of $1600 is to be sent to the Cihldren's Home. The budget of $500,000 was reduced to $375,000. Dr. J. C. Broomfield was elected president to succeed himself, as was also Dr. C. W. Bates as secretary. Dr. Richard L. Shipley is the new Editor of the Methodist Protestant Recorder. The next session of General Conference in May, 1936, will convene in First Church, High Point.

A Christian Endeavor institute, which is being sponsored by the C. E. City Union, will be held in First Church June 6, through 10, the first session beginning Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock, and President Tyson T. Ferree urges all members to attend. There will be classes for Senior, Intermediate and Junior groups each evening, and on Thursday evening supper for all groups will be served at 35 cents per plate. On Monday evening, June 13, the Senior C. E. society will hold its meeting at Municipal Lake, Jamestown, and after a worship program of which Miss Irma Suits will be in charge, a picnic supper will be served.

A large delegation from High Point will attend the annual N. C. Christian Endeavor convention at Catawba College, Salisbury from June 13 to 17. Rev. Roy I Farmer will conduct a series of citizenship conferences on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Several prominent and able speakers appear on the four day program for addresses. A fellowship banquet will be the closing feature on Friday evening in the dining hall of the College. Rev. J. Clay Madison, pastor Lebanon church, is president of the city union. Miss Myrtle Davis of First Church has charge of registration, and it is earnestly hoped that many non-members will register since the fees are badly needed to bear the expense of this convention. The theme this year is "Greater Things Than These for the Master."

It is announced that Mr. E. L. Douglas, chairman Herald Campaign, will be in the lobby next Sunday morning to receive new subscriptions and renewals for the Methodist Protestant Herald. About one-half of our allotted quota has been reached.

Announcement is made by Dr. and Mrs. A.. A. York of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Daisy Lee York, to Mr. Reuben Oscar Bundy on Saturday, June 6, 1931. This is a complete surprise to their large number of friends, the marriage having been solemnized in Danville, Va., one year ago by Rev. A. G. Carter. Mrs. Bundy has been a teacher in the city schools for the past year, and Mr. Bundy, who received his education at State College, Raleigh, holds a position with the Adams-Millis Co., of this city. The young couple are now away on a belated honeymoon trip, and after June 12 will be at home to their their friends in High Point. Mrs. Bundy has been one of the efficient leaders of our Junior church.. Congratulations and good wishes are extended to this popular couple by a host of admiring friends.

Ninty-three students of the Junior High school made the year's Honor Roll as released by the principal, Mrs. R. E. Ranson, and the names of the following boys and girls of First Church appear: Jeanne Rankin, Reginald Hinshaw, Yancey S. Cecil, Jack Lee, Mildred Ferree, Edith Vance, Joe Gray, and Marie Koonce.

Dean P. E. Lindley of High Point College delivered the address to the largest graduating class in the history of the local High school at commencement exercises on Friday evening, June 3. There were 170 boys and girls who received diplomas. The huge auditorium was more than filled, many persons being compelled to stand. Dean Lindley's address was enthusiastically received; he declared that modern education teaches young people how to care for their physical bodies, the art of happy home life, how to work and live, and the ends for which they should live. He says that the purpose of an education is to help us live richer, fuller, better lives.

Miss Gertrude Hughes will conduct summer school classes for second and third grade pupils at Elm Street school, beginning Thursday morning.

Miss Gertrude Teague of Sumter, S. C., is the guest of relatives here.

Miss Pauline Moore of Wadesboro has returned home after a visit of a few days to Miss Lucille Pickens.

Mrs. Robert G. Ferree of Asheboro spent the week-end with the family of her husband's mother, Mrs. T. T. Ferree on Steele St.

Mrs. John C. Whitesell had as her guests for a few days last week Misses Allie Malone of Burlington and Mary Lee Foster of Elon College. Mrs. Whitesell and small daugther, Annie, expect to spend next week with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Moffitt, of Ramseur.

Miss Claire Douglas, member of the faculty of Davenport College, Lenoir, N. C., is at home for the summer vacation.

Wilbur Pritchard, who has finished his junior year at State College, Raleigh, is spending the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pritchard on West Ray St.

George Armfield, young nephew of Mrs. R. T Pickens, won the distinction of being elected President National Honor Society in High Point High school He followed John Munyan, brother of Mrs. Rupert Pickens, Jr., who was president of this society last year.

Misses Lucille Pickens, Helen Johnson, and a party of friends motored to Durham Monday to attend the Organ Recital in the magnificent new chapel at Duke university, which has just recently been completed.

Miss Louise Jennings was one of the first class of 26 member, who received the degree in Library Science at the commencement of the State univerity at Chapel Hill Monday evening.

West End, Greensboro. — The pastor, Rev. Geo. L. Curry, is conducting a series of week day preaching services, having begun on Monday night of last week. The topics discussed are "Revival, prayer, power, strength," etc., using to illustrate the subject mostly experiences from his boyhood life, travels, and work of other charges. Rev. D. I. Garner was present the first night of the series and lead in prayer. Other nights women of the congregation have given the opportunity to lead in public prayer. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The regular work of collecting the budget is being omitted during this series of meetings.

Mr. O. F. Stafford, delegate to the General Conference, gave a splendid report upon his return from the conference session.

Circle No. 2 of the Woman's auxiliary has been presenting a short story play entitled "An Old-Fashioned Mother," depicting the influence a godly woman exerts over drinking boys, her sacrifices, and her faith in God and man. Pathos and inspiration mingle throughout the story. The actors present the play in a very gratifying manner. It has been presented at a number of nearby churches for the benefit of women's circles, a night at one of the county schools for the Parent-Teacher association and a night at the Masonic Temple, Greensboro. The play has been well received.

If any one reading this would like to have the play presented in behaf of your own circle or school, write to Mrs. Florence Watt, 201 Bruce Street, Greensboro, the director, and make a date for the performance.

CHURCH REPORTER.

Lexington, State Street.—After a short talk by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hendry, and the singing of appropriate hymns Sunday morning, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. All the services of the day were good and helpful.

A meeting of the auxiliary last Wednesday evening was a most enjoyable occasion, celebrating the eighth anniversary of the Missionary society of our church, organized by Mrs. C. L. Whitaker. The social part of the meeting was in the form of a child's birthday party, nearly all the guests being dressed as little girls and children's games were played. The gifts were all silver coins and silver dollars done up in attractive birthday packages. Red lemonade and small cakes were served.

The meeting of the Woman's Bible class on Thursday night was also a splendid one in every way.

After the business session was finished, Miss Lila Aaron delighted the audience with several recitations given in her very efficient way. Mrs. Hendry gave a comic recitation also with fine effect.

The following graduates from Lexington high school were from our church: Misses Pauline Forcum, Mildred Leonard, Naomi Koonts, Pauline Koonce, Ethel and Mildred Hoffman, and Virgil Leonard.

REPORTER.

Hawkins Chapel, Littleton Charge.—Sunday night Rev. P. E. Bingham brought to us a message using for his text, "What I Am I Am." As the offering was being taken up, Mrs. Irvin Hawkins and Miss Evelyn Hawkins sang a duet, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Baldy Green.

Service next Sunday at 11 o'clock, come, you are welcome at Hawkins Chapel church.

Mr. E. B. Pair was to hold prayer service Sunday, but was sick, so our class leader, Mr. C. F. Hawkins, gave us a very brief story of Joseph's life.

Very glad to say that our Sunday school is improving. Our superintendent, Mr. Leo Pittard, is visiting a class each Sunday. We were glad to have him in our class Sunday. He has not visited all yet, but said Miss Beatrice Hawkin's class (the Junior Teacher's class), was doing splendid work.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldy Green welcomed Miss Elvon Hawkins, the intermediate teacher, and pupils in their home Wednesday night, May 25. Some games and music were played and candy served; later they were called to the dining room to eat ice cream, and what was their surprise, instead of cream, a big laugh, they found hot chocolate and cake.

Miss Mary Green is the leader for C. E. Sunday p. m.

We are glad Mr. Fitzhugh Hawkins is out of the hospital and was back at preaching service Sunday night.

Miss Gertie Pepper, of Hopewell, is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Pepper.

I am glad to have my sister, Miss Clyde Hawkins, to spend a short while with me.

MRS. CLAUDE HAWKINS, Reporter.

Moriah.—The Woman's auxiliary met with Mrs. Robert Sharpe, Thursday, June 2. A very enjoyable program was in charge of Mrs. Ethel Sharpe. After the program much business was transacted. After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by all. The hostess served delicious refreshments. The attendance was excellent, and Dr. Joy Glascock and her friend, Mrs. Bull, were welcomed visitors.

A beautiful Children's Day program was given Sunday, June 5. All parts were taken by small children and each one did his part well. The large audience was appreciative, this being shown by the nice offering.

Our pastor, Rev. M. P. Chambliss, is spending some time with his mother.

Several of the childern in the church community have the measles.

The attendance for church and Sunday school is very good. The Christian Endeavor is rapidly increasing in interest and attendance. There were between 75 and 100 out Sunday night, June 5..

REPORTER.

Lexington, Mt. Carmel.—Our Sunday school continues to grow. We had 116 present Sunday.

The Memorial Day service proved a great success. Dr. Kennett of High Point College delivered the morning sermon and proved himself to be an outstanding speaker. Rev. Mr. Madison came for the afternoon service and likewise showed himself to be a speaker of great force. We were fortunate in having the Carlton quartet from Erlanger, directed by Mrs. B. F. Sink, with us during both services. In the afternoon the Homemaker's quartet from Reeds, directed by Prof. E. G. Fritts, and the Midway quartet rendered some very beautiful selections. We wish to thank all the participants and hope they will see fit to come back and be with us again.

Rev. Mr. Isley announced Sunday that the revival would start the first Sunday in August, that being set aside as Home Coming Day. The pulpit help will be announced later.

ZULA FRITTS, Reporter.

Gibsonville Church.—The revival meeting which began here the fifth Sunday evening in May has been continued into this week. Rev. J. R. Anderson came to us on Sunday and has been doing some excellent preaching. There have been a few conversions. Several have rededicated their lives.

A number of the Burlington folk have worshiped with us during the meeting. We are glad to have you, come again.

We were especially glad to have Dr. and Mary Ward Johnson with us on Thursday evening of last week.

The Young Ladies' Bible class will hold its regular monthly business meeting on Friday evening of this week, at the home if Miss Annie Belle Gerringer. All members are requested to be present.

Miss Lessie Faucette is our registration agent for the Leadership Training school. It you have not already registered be sure and see Miss Faucette and register.

Miss Mary Ruth Huffman has been elected as music teacher for Gibsonville High school.

The children's auxiliary continues to meet each month. Much interest has been shown in this work by the little folk.

We regret to report that Mrs. F. R. Owen is still very sick. REPORTER..

◆

Pleasant Grove.—Our Sunday school Superintendent who has been confined to his home for the past two weeks with influenza was able to be back with us Sunday. Our attendance has greatly improved; hoping it will still keep climbing.

Our pastor, Rev. D. R. Williams, delivered a wonderful and inspiring message Sunday to a large congregation. He read for the Scripture lesson the 9th chapter of St. Mark choosing as his text the 7th verse, "And there was a cloud that overshadowed them and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, 'This is My beloved Son'." Jesus took Peter, James and John upon a high mountain for a meeting. God the Father spoke to Peter, James and John and told them this is my beloved Son and follow Him.

The Sunshine auxiliary will meet Monday night, June 6, with Miss Helen Cecil..

The Ladies' Aid will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday evening, June 8, with Mrs. J. R. Meredith.

Mr. Joseph Moore who has been ill at his home for some time doesn't seem to improve much. We pray if it be the Lord's will he may soon be able to be out again.

REPORTER.

◆

Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Pleasant.—We had another "special day" Sunday—Memorial Day. After Sunday school, a short service was conducted at the cemetery with the children distributing flowers on the graves. The people assembled in the church until it was crowded. Every one was eager to hear Rev. G. F. Millaway preach. For seven years Mr. Millaway served this charge so faithfully.

Mr. Millaway selected Hebrews 9:27 as his text: "And it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment." As we think of death, we think of being prepared to meet death.. Mr. Millaway stressed the importance of being ready for life and for death.

We regret the fact that Mrs. Millaway was sick and could not come to Mt. Pleasant. walk" that he and Mrs. Millaway will visit in walk that he and Mrs. Millaway will visit in this community.

After the dinner hour Dr. Johnson made a short talk on the meaning of Memorial Day. Mr. Alexander gave an account of the deaths that had occurred in the membership since last year, there being nine in number.

It was interesting to note that during Mr. Millaway's pastorate of seven years on this charge, there were 40 deaths and 150 members taken into the church. After this report, Mr. Alexander read from the secretary's book of the trustees of 1857. In these minutes a detailed account was given of the building of the first house of worship at Mt. Pleasant. This building was to cost $500 and was to be located near McMaster's school house.

Special music was a part of the day's program. Mr. Easley and the Central quartet from Graham sang for us in the morning service.

Dr. Johnson announced that a pageant would be given at Mt. Pleasant the fourth Sunday night in June at 8:00. This pageant will be given under the leadership of Mr. J. T. Bowman.

Children's Day will be the third Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Mt. Pleasant has been so forunate as to have a Leadership Training school at our own church. There will be five nights of school on alternate nights from July 18-29. Be making your plans to attend.

◆

Calvary, Greensboro.—We had a full house last Sunday night. The pageant " The King's Children," was enjoyed by all. One of the sweetest things on the program was a solo by little Miss Jean Blalock. Jean is not quite four years old yet and is quite a little song bird. She recites nicely too. Little Margaret Parker deserves honorable mention, as her recitation was quite long. All of the children were splendid in their parts as well as the older boys and girls who took part in the pageant. A special missionary offering was taken at the close of the service.

We wish to sympathize with Brother Lowdermilk, who had the misfortune of falling from a cherry tree Tuesday and fracturing his leg. We wish him a speedy recovery.

We wish to extend our most heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. C. M. Friddle in the loss of one so dear to her. Mrs. Sam Sheppard of Kimesville, mother of Mrs. Friddle passed away Monday night. She had been ill for several months.

She is not dead, but sweetly sleeps,
On Jesus' loving breast,
The ransomed spirit finds release,
The weary is at rest.

How sweet is rest from pain and toil,
How rich is his reward,
To dwell beneath the Savior's smile,
"Forever with the Lord."

"E. D. T. C '

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Repoter.

RECOMPENSE

What you give to others,
Comes back in double measure;
There is true possession,
When you share your treasure.

Money closely hoarded,
Has no way of growing;
You are subject to God's law,
Reaping what you are sowing.

What you give to others,
Is your greatest pleasure;
You have real possession,
When you share your treasure.

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

—Go over the watermelon patch each two weeks and remove the misshapen melons while they are young. This will permit the strength of the vines to go into the production of good melons. The cantaloupe patch will benefit by a spray of Bordeaux Mixture to prevent leaf or foliage diseases.

TIME FOR ACTION

This is no time for the friends of prohibition to take counsel of their fears. This is no time to parley with the enemy. This is no time for a truce or an armistice. This is no time to fraternize over the trenches with the foes of that for which the normal forces of the nation have fought for long, weary years of toil and sacrifice. This is no time to give quarter to those whose cunningly devised schemes would tend to divert the attention of the people from the real issue.

This is the time for the friends of the Eighteenth Amendment throughout the nation to serve notice on every political party and every candidate for politica office that those who in public life seek by any means to weaken this national law and those who by subterfuge betray the confidence which the friends of prohibition have reposed in them, may expect nothing more nor less than organized, aggressive, relentless opposition from the defenders of national prohibition. This is the time to reform and re-organize the lines of the prohibition hosts. This is the time to present a solid front of the moral forces of the nation. This is the time to fight.—Nation-Prohibition Board of the Clergy.

CONTRAST

The OPTIMIST sees: — The PESSIMIST sees:

Sunshine—Gloom
Prosperity—Panic
Success—Failure
Opporunity—Limitation
Improvement—Depression
Generosity—Greed
Progress—Collapse
Faith—Fear
Harmony—Discord
Kindness—Bitterness
Encouragement—Discontent
Honesty—Fraud
Good-will—Enmity
Diligence—Idleness
Humanism—Cynicism
Beauty—Ugliness
Mirth—Melancholy
Enthusiasm—Stagnation
Beneficence—Malignity
Good—Evil
Love—Hate
Refinement—Vulgarity.
Profit—Loss
Happiness—Misery
Victory—Defeat

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

—Switzerland: Council of League of Nations adopts plan for administrative, financial and social rehabilitation of Liberia which would practically amount to a white dictatorship of the African republic and gives Liberia and the American financial interests involved until August to accept the terms . . . Sir Eric Drummond presents resignation as secretary-general of league to become effective next January.

—Unmarried men in England with a yearly income of $1,250 pay an income tax of $62.50 each, while those in France pay $75.50.

—Only about one American man out of 200 is six feet or more in height.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Resolutions of Respect

The Midway-Monroeton Woman's Home Demonstration club desires to express our appreciation of Mrs. C. W. Butler, one of our faithful members whom God called from her labors on earth to her heavenly home on March 24, 1932. Her spirit quietly took its flight to be with God and we humbly bow in submission to His will.

1. We, as a club, feel keenly the loss of Mrs. Butler. Our club will soon be ten years old and this is the first member we have lost by death. The club has lost one of its faithful members and we realize her place will be hard to fill.

2. The church has lost a consecrated member, the community a good neighbor and friend.

3. We hereby extend our heartfult sympathy and love to her husband and children.

MRS. W. A. JOHNSON,
MRS. R. P. BUTLER,
MRS. J. E. DOBBS.

Freeda Juanita Craft

Freeda Juanita Craft was born May 3, 1923, and departed this life May 26, 1932. She is survived by her father, G. B. Craft, and stepmother, Nola Taylor Craft; five brothers, William, G. B., Jr., Gray, Worth and Edwin Reece; two grandmothers, Mrs. W. A. Craft, and Mrs. J. H. Weisner, nad one grandfather, N. W. Reece.

She was a faithful member of Harmony Grove Methodist Protestant Sunday school, and was a talented child and loved to help in the Sunday school work and in presenting programs. She had a sweet, loving disposition and was greatly loved by all who knew her.

"A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled."

Funeral and burial services were held at Lewisville M. E. Church, South, May 28, 1932, at 11 a. m., conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. J. G. Bruner, of the Moravian church.

C. B. .WAY.

Patterson

Adam Clark Patterson, the son of Rev. Jacob and Annie Loftin Patterson, was born July 25, 1869. When a young man he united with Union Ridge M. P. church, later moving his membership to Mount Carmel, thus becoming one of the nine charter members of that church. He served his church faithfully in various official capacities until his health failed.

On September 24, 1905, he was united in marriage to Ella May Faw, daughter of John E. and Elizabeth Masten Faw.

He departed this life March 26, 1932, after an illness of three years, at the age of 62 years, 8 months and 1 day. He was patient in his illness and was prepared when the end came, requesting his friends to meet him in heaven.

Brother Patterson is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella Faw Patterson; one adopted son, Clyde Patterson, of Lewisville; two brothers, A. H. and C. P. Patterson; three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Spaugh, Mrs. A. J. Pitts and Mrs. R. P. Shutt, all of Winston-Salem, together with a host of other relatives and friends.

The funeral services were held at Mount Carmel church, just south of Winston-Salem, by the writer, assisted by Rev. Geo. L. Curry and Rev. Mr. Fink, in the presence of a large number of friends and sympathizers.

Although it was our privilege to know Brother Clark but a few weeks, we have heard so many good things said about him that we are confident he is at rest. The bereaved family and friends have our prayers and sympathy.

R. A. HUNTER, Pastor.

TO STUFF OR NOT TO STUFF

(To Dr. John Harvey Kellogg)

To stuff or not to stuff:
That is the question!
Whether 'tis nobler
To gormandize
And suffer indigestion,
Or take the bilogic way
And end the aches
And the thousand tragic shocks
That flesh is heir to,—
'Tis an amelioration
Devoutly to be wish'd.

Who would grunt and sweat,
Under a weary life,
Consuming ham and sausage,
Bacon and trichina worms,
Liver, lobster, livestock,
And ten million other germs,
When all around
Are luscious frunits, legumes, dates,
Honey, figs, and wholesome things,
To fill your life with joy
As when the robin sings?

Alas! false appetites makes cowards
Of us all
As for forbidden foods
We daily sigh,
And thus our best intentions
Are oft turned all awry.

To eat aright, digest, enjoy,
And sleep like new-born babe,
This surely is worthwhile,
When by such simple, biologic means
We learn to live fourscore and smile. .

—Grenville Kleiser.

—It is supposed that the well known cat religion of Egypt was suggested by the services of this animal in controlling the hordes of field mice and other rodents which otherwise would have destroyed all the grain in the delta of the Nile. The cat was unknown to the ancient Hebrews, Assyrians and Babylonians, and the Greeks and Romans did not have cats until after the conquest of Egypt. About 5,000 years ago, it is believed, the Egyptians imported cats from the country to the south now known as Nubia.

—To aid farm women in their canning problems, the extension service has reprinted its circular number 14, "Canning Fruits and Vegetables," and copies of this circular will be supplied free of charge to citizens of North Carolina as long as the supply lasts. The extension circular number 113, "Jelly, Preserves, Jam and Pickle" and copies of this publication will also be sent free to those desiring them.

MARRIED

Holt-Causey

A most beaultiful marriage was solemnized in Pleasant Union church, June 1, when Mr. Jas. T. Holt and Miss Dortha Causey were united in wedlock, the writer officiating.

Mr. Harvey Holt, brother of the groom, was best man; Miss Frances Causey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. L. .W. Causey.

The attendants were: Misses Pearle Thompson, Rebecca May Causey, Ruth Bowman, Rebecca Woody Causey, Rev. J. T. Bowman, and Mr. Enos Causey.

Next to the entrance of the bride in interest to the friends assembled to witness the marriage was the moving down the aisle in measured tread of little Beverly Gene Utley, bearing the ring on a satin cushion.

Following the ceremony the happy couple left by motor for Washington and other points..

T. M. JOHNSON.

NOTICE!

To the Preachers taking our Conference Course of Study:

By action of the conference of 1930, each person taking our Conference Course is required each year to take one Standard Leadership Training course.

This may be done in either of three ways as suits the convenience of the candidate:

1. In the Leadership Training school at High Point College—this year June 27th to July 3rd.

2. In any local Leadership Training school, in reach of the candidate, conducted by Rev. N. M. Harrison. (Write him for a schedule of these schools for this year.)

3. By correspondence under F. L. Gibbs, Westminster, Md.

A fee to meet expenses of transportation of books and other postage will be charged if the course is taken by correspondence. I hope to announce soon the amount of this fee.

Any one wishing to take the course by correpondence will do well to write Brother Gibbs now for an application blank, as about three months will be required to do the work after the material is in hand.

Either of the following courses may be taken by correspondence:

1. "A Study of the Pupil."
2. "Principles of Teaching."
3. "The Old Testament."
4. "The New Testament."
5. "The Message and Program of the Christian Religion."
6. "The Teaching Work of the Church."

When writing Brother Gibbs for application blank, state which of the above courses you wish to take.

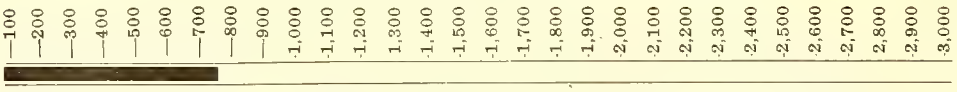
T. M. JOHNSON..

Note—I am writing the above in response to Rev. J. E. Pritchard's request that I take this work, since Dr. Little has given it up.

T. M. J.

—Twenty-five crop rotation demonstrations are being conducted by good farmers of Alamance county this season in an effort to find the best working combination of crops.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	12¾
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	2¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	12½
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	..
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10
Concord	33	15
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2½
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	16¾
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	7½
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	9¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro, Grace	42	25
Greensboro, Calvary	25	11
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	8½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	12½
Halifax	52	13
Haw River	49	11½
Henderson	38	12¾
High Point, First	72	32½
High Point, Lebanon	31	18½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6
Liberty-Moriah	31	15¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	8½
Mebane	28	5
Mecklenburg	38	3¼
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	22½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	18½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	11½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10⅝
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Richland	42	1½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	21
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	16
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	9¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
Winston, First	27	26
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

◆

THE METHODIST PROTESTANT CHILDREN'S HOME

A Restatement of Facts

In my report to the General Conference the following statement was made: "The Duke Endowment Report for 1931 shows that your Children's Home operated for the year on 46 cents per day per child, while the average cost per day per child for all the orphanages in the two Carolinas assisted by the Duke Endowment was 77 cents."

It seems that the statement thus made was not understood. Report is made to me that from the discussion it seemed that the Conference thought that we were reporting that it cost that much to feed our children.

The total operating expense of the Home, including food, clothing, fuel, lights, up-keep of buildings and grounds, up-keep of automobiles and school buses, school books and other supplies, salaries and all other expenses incident to the running of the Home, was 46 cents per day per child for the year 1931. That was cheaper than any other Orphanage in our territory operated. If there is any other institution in the Methodist Protestant church that is doing better than that please let us hear about it, and tell us how you do it. The above also includes a reasonable price on all second hand clothing and on all produce sent us.

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Mrs. Clay Beck, Pleasant Grove	$4.50
Mrs. E. I. Bellamy, Enfield	3.00
Miss Tula Paul, Burlington	2.00
Mrs. M. H. Greer, Calvary	2.00
E. L. Douglas, High Point, First	2.00

◆

—Brother Roscoe Causey received a large vote in the primary last Saturday, assuring that he will be one of Guilford's county commissioners.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Mrs. S. W. Taylor, treas., N. C. Branch Woman's Auxiliary	$72.40
Draper S. S.	1.45
Harmony S. S., Yarborough	5.00
Bess Chapel S. S.	4.54
Chestnut Ridge S. S., Orange	1.90
New Salem S. S., Randleman	2.00
Friendship S. S., Fallston	2.42

We are thankful to our friends who have sent in the above amounts. This is about the shortest report we have ever made, but we know our friends will keep responding to the needs of this Home.

If it Were Possible

If it could possibly be done we would suspend work here for a while and cease asking for money for the Home. But that is impossible. The need for work like this is greater now than ever before in your lifetime and mine.

Our Program

We are getting our children ready with a program, hoping to visit a number of our churches. We are ready for invitations, and when we go we hope pastors will co-operate and give us several appointments close together. We thank you and may God bless you. Yours in His service,

A. G. DIXON, Superintendent.

◆

IMPORTANT NOTICE

This notice is to call your attention to some very important meetings. They are called for the purpose of promoting evangelism. Dr. Taylor is to be present at each of these meeting to lead the programs. Pastors and laymen are urged to attend the meeting nearest them.

The schedule of meetings follows:

June 21, 2 p. m.—Burlington, First.
June 22, 2 p. m.—High Point, First.
June 23, 2 p. m.—Concord.
July 6, 2 p. .m.—Littleton.

T.. J. WHITEHEAD,
Chmn. Committee on Evangelism.

◆

NORTH CAROLINA LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

Pre-registration

Mt. Hermon, Mt. Hermon	5
Burlington, First	4
Previously Reported	69
Total to date	78

T. J. WHITEHEAD.

Methodist Protestant Herald.
ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CH AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., JUNE 16, 1932 NUMBER 32

The Politicians and the People

The politicians planned to play
A game they hoped would win the day:
They'd let the folks themselves decide,
Shall Prohibition longer ride?

This surely would well please the folks
Who simple are and crack no jokes;
If we pretend to think of them,
Then they will think of us—ahem!

It's true we have a law that's dry,
We don't quite know the reason why:
Is this indeed the people's work
Or did it come through legal quirk?

We want you folks to speak out plain,
You men and women strong of brain:
Did you mean yes or was it no
When you decreed the law'd be so?

In thunder tones the people cried:
When we decide, then we decide!
And as for you, you all may go
And learn to tell our yes from no.

There's no one must our meaning guess:
When we say no we don't mean yes.
King Alcohol is not our king,
And we will not his praises sing!

◆

Neat Speech by Dr. Humphreys

Dr. G. I. Humphreys was sent by our recent General Conference to Atlantic City as a fraternal messenger to the M. E. General Conference. His speech to that body is thus reported in Zion's Herald:

"We have only one question to ask the Elect Mother of Methodism: How soon will the old home be ready for a reunion of the family at the heartstone?"

◆

—We regret that we made Brother Millaway say what he did not mean. That little word "not" has given trouble before. It has an importance out of proportion to its size. Because it is so small it sometimes squeezes in where it does not belong and when it does it always makes trouble.

—Brother W. F. Grabs writes that he has not been able to read a line since last July. Yet he still takes the HERALD and insists that it should go into every family. He has our sympathy in his loss of sight. He is fortunate to have rich stores in memory.

Uninformed Reformers

Reforms that profoundly change human society usually require a long time for their complete outworking. The greatest of all reforms is that of Jesus—the christianizing of the world. This has taken 1,900 years and is still far from complete. Doubtless the advancement with this great reform would have been greater had all workers been thoroughly qualified. Many have been lacking in knowledge, many in zeal, many in persistence. The progress has been due mainly to the efforts of consecrated workers who have sensed the importance of their task and who have studied to make themselves workmen that need not be ashamed. They are the professional reformers laboring to realize the end Jesus had and still has in view. They have a sublime faith and are not discouraged by the facts that their progress is slow and their achievements small.

But to successful business men of the world how contemptably small is the work of the churches with their meager mission funds and their little bands of mission workers. Do you recall the Laymen's Missionary Movement? The women and children might stop their child's play: those mighty men were going to evangelize the world in one generation! Mark you, they did not say christianize. When you stop with evangelization you lose sight of the ultimate purpose of Jesus. Almost a generation has passed, and what do we see? We don't see much of the Laymen's Missionary Movement but we see the "women and children" in the forefront of labor and sacrifice for the completion of Jesus' great reform. The laymen had the skill and the money to engineer great material movements, but they had not learned how to promote a great spiritual movement that would result in the christianization of the human race. They were uninformed reformers.

The drink reform has attracted a great host of uninformed reformers, men and women who would like to take a determining part but who are ignorant both of what to do and how to do it. What absurd proposals they make! They have no respect for the judgment of those who have for years made a thorough study of the problem in all its bearings. They propose plans that have been tried and found wanting in several countries of the world. They show themselves ignorant of the nature and effects of alcohol. They do not understand human nature. Their ignorance and simplicity makes them most impractical as reformers, yet they have supreme contempt for those who really know.

There are the two classes, the real reformers and the would-be reformers who are really deformers and mischief-makers. We have to be constantly on our guard to keep bad plans from being put in operation.

IN CASE YOU ARE IN A JAM, WHAT?

By Rev. Luther K. Long

''And it was all so unnecessary. He is thirty years old, and should have made his own decision and acted like a man. What if his foolish mother would have been offended? He was a fool for allowing her to lead him around as though he were only a baby. Flogging would be entirely too good for him!''

I had never seen Pastor Lippincott quite so indignant. Nor was he accustomed to use such strong language or to suggest anything approaching violence, even in dealing with an offender against law and decency.

''What is troubling your mind, my good friend?'' I asked, after he had cooled off a bit. ''Do you mind telling me about it?''

''Pardon my outbreak,'' pleaded the old pastor. ''Perhaps my nerves have become a little jumpy. But this is the third instance in which criminals have taken such attitudes toward their offenses as to seem to make repentance and forgiveness very difficult, if not impossible.''

At my request he went on to tell me something of these cases:

''Several years ago,'' he said, ''I knew a family in a neighborhood where I sometimes visited. They were struggling along under limitations and difficulties, but seemed to be making real progress—a state of things always interesting to me.

''Some months ago I was told that the husband and father had been charged with a serious crime, and that he had admitted his guilt. My informant expressed the wish that he might be punished, but hoped that he might not be given the limit, as that would be no advantage in his case. His family needed him on the farm, and moral means might be profitably used for his recovery.

''Later I was in that region and made inquiry as to how the matter had terminated. I was told that my former information had not been accurate. He had not confessed his guilt, but had maintained his innocence. He had been convicted in court, his guilt was quite evident, and he was serving a five-year sentence in the penitentiary.

''As there seemed to be no doubt as to his guilt—and I had felt he was an honest sort of man—I believed it probable that if I had been sent for he might have been induced to make a clean breast of the matter and to have thrown himself on the mercy of the court. His moral restoration and improvement might then have been secured. As it is, it will be very difficult to do anything for him, and his moral and spiritual destiny is altogether problematical.''

''Here is the second case,'' continued Pastor Lippincott. ''Two men, W. and C., were charged with having drowned the wife of the former—together with her small daughter by a former husband. Their motive, it was held, was the collecting of $10,000 in accident insurance, which the two men were to share equally.

''C. belonged to a family in a congregation of which I had been pastor. He made a confession that would have been much to his advantage, for it seemed that he had been influenced by the older man, a hardened criminal. But his lawyers advised him to repudiate the confession—though it was later admitted as evidence by the trial judge. Both men were convicted of second degree murder. W. was given a life sentence and C. drew thirty years. He has a good mother and a fine sister. Had he stuck to his confession the State would have been saved a lot of expense, he might have had a shorter sentence, it would have been better for his family, his attitude towards his crime would have been more satisfactory, and the possibilities of real repentence and restoration to self-respect and to the confidence of his family and friends would have been greatly improved.''

That Pastor Lippincott should be so much concerned as to the possibilities and prospects that guilty persons might repent, and that they should bear themselves in such a way as to make repentance easier and restoration more assured, is rather an unusual attitude toward sinners and their wrongdoings. But it is the logical and Christian attitude if we believe that no soul was made for sin and crime and that it can never be satisfied until it finds God in repentance, forgiveness, and restoration to his favor.

''The third case touches me more intimately,'' said my good friend, with deep concern manifest in his countenance and voice, ''because it is the most recent, and I have had numerous contacts with several persons concerned.

''It was the case of an unmarried girl of nineteen who had recently become a mother, and the man in the case who was thirty years of age. They had gone together for several years and would likely have been married more than a year ago had it not been for the unreasonable opposition of his mother and some other members of his family. The impression of many who know them both is that they would have done well to have married regardless of opposition. The girl is finer than the man, has been devoted to him, as he seemingly has been to her. If no one had interfered they might have had a successful and happy life together.

''I talked with Thomas and found that, while he admitted his guilt, he had employed a lawyer and was relying on a pretext to escape responsibility. Two days later I wrote him a note in which I said: 'Dorcas needs you now. But that is not all. You need her. If you do not marry her you will suffer as long as you live, and your fate may be even much worse than hers. You need her very much, and if you do the right thing at this time I feel quite sure that you can have a happy and successful life together. Don't have a lawyer or any one else try to patch the matter up for you. Go to Dorcas and talk things over alone with her. Listen to your own heart and conscience, and consider your obligations to her. You are capable of acting for yourself in this matter independently of what any member of your family may advise.'

''But Thomas was obstinate. He had to be brought into court and compelled by the judge to make provision for the support of the child. In court he looked like the sneak and liar and coward that he is. He has held office in a Sunday School. He may come to repentance. But he has a long rough road to travel. We may blame the parents of both these persons for not properly instructing and guarding their children. But if Thomas had been willing to accept help, the way back would have been easy compared to the road he must now travel if he ever becomes a true man.''

Ministers do not preach about sin and guilt in quite the same way as in former years. Hell and damnation are not held threateningly before the minds and consciences of transgressors as they once were. This, however, does not mean that sin does not bring guilt and dreadful consequences now and always. Degradation and disintegration of moral character are as real and fearful as they have been. The obligation of parents to teach their children moral distinctions, and to train them in habits of repentance and restoration when they have done wrong, is one of the most fundamental obligations to be insisted upon in these days. The moral sensitiveness of a young child should early be recognized. No parent should be satisfied with general and abstract teachings. The child's attitude toward specific acts of wrong-doing should be studied, directions should be given as to means of recovery, and the joy and satisfaction of a sense of penitence and forgiveness should be revealed to and in the child.

RIPE FOR DESTRUCTION!

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., wants the Eighteenth Amendment repealed. In honor of this profoundly important announcement newspapers throughout the land are carrying banner headlines proclaiming the fact. Henry Ford wants the Eighteenth Amendment retained, and Ford is a bigger man than Rockefeller; yet no one sees screaming headlines in the metropolitan dailies exploiting Mr. Ford's position.

As a matter of fact, newspapers are no longer newspapers, but primarily mediums for the dissemination of propaganda calculated further to enrich the enormously rich publishers thereof. The announcement in question is actually entitled to a brief paragraph on an inside page of a real newspaper, yet our sopping-wet purveyors of journalistic trash amplify the semblance of a big event.

Of course everyone of average intelligence knows the declaration and its propagation are so timed as to synchronize with the approach of the two national political conventions in Chicago. It is designed to impress the delegates to those gatherings with the supposedly obvious "fact" that prohibition is on its last legs, and that both parties had better climb out of the water wagon and into the band wagon.

It has long been known that oil and water will not mix, but it seems now that the younger Rockefeller has conceived the idea that the first-named fluid can be successfully amalgamated with beer. Seriously, however, the heir to his father's financial prestige has held out against his fellow-multimillionaires for a gratifyingly long time. For quite a while the barons of Wall Street have been consolidating their millions in a terrific onslaught on the constitution. Their hope is that by the expenditure of a few paltry millions in the direction of tearing apart our social structure they may be able to shift hundreds of millions in taxes from their own broad shoulders to the trembling backs of their less fortunate brothers who may thus be seduced once more into squandering their paychecks in renascent taxpaying saloons and breweries.

To us John D. Rockefeller's opinion on the subject of the liquor traffic means just one vote—nothing more. One vote can hardly be expected to change the complexion of our national legislature. From the vote of one man to the edict of three-fourths of the sovereign states of the Union is a far cry. In fact, this one vote, thus broadcast in the columns of the press to all parts of the land, may easily be the means of arousing out of their accustomed state of stay-at-home lethargy a million ballots on the other side of the issue.

Indeed, a circumstance has developed from the incident and its aftermath which in our judgment is of far greater significance than Mr. Rockefeller's defection from the dry ranks. Namely, The Chicago Daily News of Wednesday carries on its front page a two-column "top" head with an accompanying article in which is incorporated in full the reply of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union to the oil magnate's thrust at prohibition. It has been a long time since any clean-cut declaration in favor of the amendment has "made" the front page of a big metropolitan daily.

And in this connection may we reiterate that for some time past we have been interested in watching the attitude of the News on this subject. There is a man named S. J. Duncan-Clark, connected with the editorial staff of that paper, who has for a year or more been making speeches of the most pronounced type in behalf of the dry cause. He is always scrupulously careful to preface his talks with the statement that the views he is about to utter in no sense represent the sentiment of the paper by which he is employed; yet the fact remains that he expresses his dry convictions ad libitum, and the Daily News has never yet, so far as we know, applied for an injunction restraining him from talking.

As we have intimated before, we have a sly suspicion that S. J. Duncan-Clark is a sort of "trial balloon," or an anchor to the windward, as it were; that the News possibly foresees a time when it will actually pay newspapers to be on the dry side of the prohibition fence, and that when that day comes it would be a decided feather in any daily's cap to be the first to switch. Besides, a hundred thousand dry readers added to the circulation of even the biggest newspapers in such times as these is an item not to be sneered at.

The press, therefore, in proclaiming Mr. Rockefeller's views, has actually done the great cause of law enforcement a good turn: for while it has thus advertised antagonism to the constitution, at the same time it has advertised the correlated fact that stalwart defenders of our basic law are more needed now than ever.

In the book of Genesis the personification of evil is represented as a mere subtle, cunning serpent. By the time we reach the Apocalypse, however, the devil—if we may use a term less in vogue now than in former decades—has developed into a "great red dragon." It is then, and not until then, that he is slain by the "lamb." Suffered to exist in its milder form, evil, according to the allegory, is destroyed when it becomes swollen and inflamed.

May this not be the case with the evil called rum? A serpent until now, this archenemy of mankind is steadily becoming so inflated with greed, with malice, with rage, that it is destined ere long to explode by virtue of the expanding force of its own inner animus. And when that time comes there are some score or more million of our fine American women who will be on hand to witness the big explosion!—Editorial in The Chicago Leader.

THE CROAKER

I read the following poem at the Branch meeting held recently at Enfield, and, at the request of a number who heard it, am asking the HERALD to publish it. The author is unknown to me.

GEO. R. BROWN.

Once on the edge of a pleasant pool,
Under the bank where 'twas dark and cool,
Where bushes over the water hung,
And rushes nodded, and grasses swung,
Just where the crick flowed outer the bog,
There lived a grumpy and sour ole frog,
Who'd sit all day in the mud and soak
And jest do nothin' but croak and croak,
Till a blackbird hollered, "I say, yer know
What is the matter down there below?
Are you in trouble, er pain, er what?"
The frog seys, "Mine is an orful lot;
Nothin' but mud and dirt and slime
Fer me to look at jest all the time.
It's a dirty world!" so the ole frog spoke,
"Croakity-croakity-croakity-croak!"
"But you're lookin' down!" the blackbird said;
"Look at the blossoms overhead;
Look at the lovely summer skies;
Look at the bees and butterfles:
Look up ole feller. Why bless your soul,
You're lookin' down in a musk-rat hole!"
But still, with a gurglin' sob and choke,
The sour ole critter would only croak.
And a wise old turtle, who boarded near,
Sez to the blackbird, "Friend, see here;
Don't shed no tears over him, fer he
Is low-down jest 'cause he likes ter be;
He's one er them kind o' chumps that's glad
To be so mis'rable-like and sad:
I'll tell yer somethin' that ain't no joke—
Don't waste yer sorrer on folks that croak."

SOME WAYS OF HELPING MOTHER

Do you ever help mother? How many ways to help her can you think of? Would you like to know some others besides the ways you know, or would you rather not know any more? You may think there are too many already. Some one has written down the following ways to help mother:

1. Keep the caps and hats hung up where they belong, no matter whose cap or where you find it. Just put it where you know it ought to be.

2. Keep the papers folded right side out and piled nicely together on the library table. It takes mother a good many minutes a day to do just that.

3. Get in the habit of remembering where you see things. This will help not only mother, but everybody in the house. It is such a comfort to the people who lose things or forget where they put them.

4. See how many times a day you can "save steps" for her by running errands.—Publisher Unknown.

HAVE FAITH

Mark 5:36—"Be not afraid, only believe." Jairus, one of the rulers of the synagogue came to Jesus, and fell at his feet, and besought him greatly, saying "My little daughter lieth at the point of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hand on her that she may be healed, and she shall have live." 24th verse: And Jesus went with him. Jesus answered his prayer at once or began to answer his prayer. Just as Jesus started to go to the ruler's house, a certain woman, which had an issue of blood twelve years, came in the crowd behind and touched his garment and was healed of her trouble.

Thirty-fifth verse: While he yet spake, there came from the ruler of the synagogue's house certain which said, Thy daughter is dead; why troublest thou the Master any further? 36th verse. As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, he saith unto the ruler of the synagogue, Be not afraid, only believe. Jesus knew that the ruler's faith would be discouraged when the news came that his child was dead. So Jesus spake at once, Be not afraid, only believe. When Jesus came to the ruler's home he brought to life his daughter.

Faith: God recognizes weak faith. Mark 9:24: Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief. Weak faith does not bring peace and comfort to a satisfactory degree. Mark 4:40: Why are ye so fearful? how is it that ye have no faith? He means little faith. The cause of fearfulness is weak faith. Little faith, little blessings. Great faith, great blessings. Mark 9:22, 23: But if thou canst do anything, have compassion on us, and help us. Jesus saith unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth.

In my little item two weeks ago, the little word "not" made me say the opposite of what I intended.

G. F. MILLAWAY.

THE WIDOW'S FIVE-CENT GIFT

A Methodist minister said that on one of his charges a good man regularly gave five dollars every Sunday for the support of the church.

A poor widow was also a member of the same church, who supported herself and six children by washing. She was as regular as the rich man in making her offering of five cents per week, which was all she could spare from her scant earnings.

One day the rich man came to the minister and said the poor woman ought not to pay anything, and that he would pay the five cents for her every week. The pastor called to her to tell her of the offer, which he did in a very considerate manner.

Tears came to the woman's eyes as she replied: "Do they want to take from me the comfort I experience in giving to the Lord? Think how much I owe to Him. My health is good, my children keep well, and I receive so many blessings that I feel I could not live if I did not make my little offering to Jesus."—Publisher Unknown.

—Report of the death of J. E. B. Shutt awakens our sense of loss. We do not recall that we ever met him, but we were indirectly impressed with his goodness as a man.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Brother Lowdermilk

It is a great regret to his many friends that Brother Lowdermilk is nursing a broken hip in the Wesley Long hospital. He was gathering the cherries, and not cutting the cherry tree, when it happened. We saw him last Friday, June 10, and were pleased to find him in a cheerful mood. He suffers, of course, but not as much, apparently, as we feared he would. We hope for his speedy recovery. We don't blame him at all for trying to get those cherries, but we do deeply regret the accident that followed. He will have the sympathy and prayers of his many friends.

Pinnacle and Mt. Zion

June 12.—Our work on this day was given to this charge. The morning service was at Shoals church. In the afternoon we were at Pilot; the closing service was at Mt. Zion at night. Spiritually and organizationally the charge seems to be in a normal state. The people attend church and Sunday School, and participate in the other activities of the charge. In this particular the work moves on as in other years. But financially the state of the charge is not normal, as is true of most charges at this time. However, the pastor and people are not in despair over this. They will go on together now, working and praying, and in the fall, when their crops are marketed, they will give themselves earnestly and unitedly to the meeting of their financial obligations. Children's Day is being planned for Mt. Zion, and the pastor is hopeful of observing the day at Shoals. Brother Hunter has an unusual record on this field. He has been pastor of the charge twice before, and is in his ninth year in his present pastorate. During his three pastorates, he has served the charge 23 years. His present popularity with his people indicates his wearing qualities. We missed Brother R. L. Barber at Mt. Zion. For many years he has been a leader at this church. Last fall he was translated to the Church triumphant. The day with Brother Hunter and his people was pleasantly spent, and with profit, we trust. We are indebted to Brother J. P. Owen and family and Brother J. D. Mickel and family for entertainment in their homes.

The Faith of One Pastor

Because of the unusual economic conditions that prevail, and with the thought that the people would not be able to give, though they were willing, some one suggested that it might be well to omit the regular offering. The answer of this pastor was, "No, we will go right on taking our regular offerings just as we have been doing." That is faith in action,—just the sort that pleased Jesus and in response to which he always gave his blessing. We can not stop our support of the church just because our pockets are not full of money. If we can not give much, perhaps we can give some. And as we are faithful in the use of the little that we have, we thereby prove ourselves worthy of having entrusted to us larger blessings. They way to get rid of the depression is to honor God with what we have, whether it is much or little.

The Conference Training School

The date is June 27-July 3. We are sure that those who have the responsibility of arranging for this school will leave nothing undone to plan well for it. The College is an ideal place to hold it, and the courses given will be found excellent as a preparation for Christian work. The cost has been reduced to the minimum, being only $7 for the entire time. We have not seen a list of the faculty, but we are sure that competent instructors will be in charge of all courses. We trust that many of our people may attend this school. Send your registration to Rev. T. J. Whitehead, if you have not already done so. By doing this you will help the school, though, perchance, you are not able to attend. The registration fee is 25 cents.

Herald Month

In co-operation with the Conference Committee on HERALD we have designated June as "HERALD Subscription Month." Notice of this was given some time ago, but for emphasis, we are calling attention to it again. Chairman Douglas, in last week's HERALD, calls our attention to the fact that we "need 1,750 new subscribers this year, in addition to all old subscribers" in order to secure our goal of 3,000. He and his Committee are making a heroic effort to get these subscribers and these renewals. We urge every pastor and every church to give all possible support to this effort. The HERALD is of untold good to our conference, and surely for lack of support we will not deprive the conference of the continued service of the paper. We need it now more, perhaps, than ever, and certainly we must not think of being without it. Let every charge press the subscription effort during the month of June.

Children's Home

Dr. Dixon announces that he is ready to go out among our churches with a program to be rendered by the children in the interest of the Home. We give this our hearty endorsement, and urge our churches to co-operate with Dr. Dixon in this undertaking. The Home is being run with the maximum of economy, and this, together with the good quality of work being done there for the children, commends it to our confidence and generous support. But the task is no easy one, and Superintendent Dixon and his workers must have our constant help.

Children's Day

JUNE is the month. Rev. G. W. Haddaway, D.D., 516 North Charles St., Baltimore, Md., will furnish the program without cost. We trust that our churches will observe this day. The full Children's Day offering will be used in the support of our foreign mission work, and where churches so desire, the offering may be designated for a special cause. And as usual, the local church will take credit on the N. C. S. budget to the amount of the offering. The General church is depending much on the returns from Children's Day. Let our Conference make the fullest possible response. Where the Day is not observed, PLEASE see that an offering is taken, and send it to Dr. Brown, designated, "Children's Day Offering."

Scheduled Meetings by Committee on Evangelism

These meetings are eminently worthy in purpose, and should have our thoughtful consideration and our presence. We ask again that pastors announce them from their pulpits, and urge their people to attend. And, of course, all pastors within reach of any one of these meetings will be present. As announced before, the purpose of these meetings is to deepen the spiritual life of the church and to strengthen us for our evangelistic work. If we can be revived here, everything else about the church will take on new life. We shall hope for a good attendance at all of these meetings. District Chairmen can render good service in this effort. (See Journal of last Conference, page 57).

Appointments

June 19.—Kannapolis, in Home Coming Service, 11 A. M.

June 26.—Anniversary service, First Church, Burlington.

June 27-July 3.—Leadership Training School, High Point College.

The following appointments are made in co-operation with the Conference Committee on Evangelism:

June 21.—Tuesday, First Church, Burlington.

June 22.—Wednesday, First Church, High Point.

June 23.—Thursday, Concord.

July 6.—Wednesday, Littleton Church.

Hours for each meeting is 2 P. M.

"The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry."

Fraternally yours,

S. W. Taylor.

◆

RULES FOR SELF-EXAMINATION

The following twelve rules are recorded as having been used by John Fletcher of more than a century ago. They were used by him at the close of each day for self-examination.

1. Did I awake spiritual, and was I watchful in keeping my mind from wandering this morning?
2. Have I this day got nearer to God in prayer, or have given way to a lazy, idle spirit?
3. Has my faith been weakened by watchfulness, or quickened by diligence?
4. Have I walked by faith, and seen God in all things?
5. Have I denied myself in all unkind words and thoughts? Have I been delighted at seeing others preferred?
6. Have I made the most of my time, as far as I had light, strength and opportunity?
7. Have I kept the issues of my heart in the means of grace, so as to profit by them?
8. What have I done this day for the souls and bodies of God's dear saints?
9. Have I laid out anything to please myself, when I might have saved the money for the cause of God?
10. Have I governed well my tongue this day, remembering that in a multitude of words there wanteth not sin?
11. In how many instances have I denied myself this day?
12. Do my life and conversation adorn the Gospel of Jesus Christ?—Publisher Unknown.

LOVE

Love is the greatest power, the greatest good;
Of all world forces it alone survives
Time and its changes, teaching brotherhood;
All evil and all hate it has withstood—
It is the impulse molding all our lives.

Love rules in palace and the humble home,
It rocks the cradle and it lights the grave;
Love sends its message from cathedral dome,
Relief ships guides across the ocean foam,
And nations without truth it comes to save.

Love finds the lost sheep in the wilderness,
It smooths the pillow on the bed of pain;
Wherever sorrow dwells, or lurks distress,
Its watch it keeps to comfort and to bless—
Love's bow of hope shines brightly through the rain.

I only ask for growth in love Divine,
Self-love dismissing, let me others serve,
That Christ's pure love may by reflection shine,
The light that seeks to gladden and refine,
The love that would our peace and calm preserve.

Love is the main possession I desire,
Love that transforms all paltry, sordid things,
And fills my soul with Pentecostal fire;
With courage that can nevermore expire
It comes to give the spirit buoyant wings.

Love is immortal, it can never die;
Love is not of the earth, but from above,
And brighter grows its flame as years go by,
Our hearts to cheer, our souls to purify—
It fills the universe, for God is Love!

—Clyde Edwin Tuck.

◆

VICTORY THROUGH THE CLEANSING BLOOD

Dr. Seawall, an old Methodist, when dying, shouted aloud the praises of God. His friends said, "Dr. Seawall, do not exert yourself; whisper, doctor, whisper." "Let the angels whisper," he said, "but the soul cleansed from sin by the Blood of Christ, a soul redeemed from death and hell, just on the threshold of eternal glory—oh, if I had a voice that would reach from pole to pole. I would proclaim it to all the world: Victory! Victory! through the Blood of the Lamb!"—Peniel Herald.

◆

—Resolved, to live with all my might while I live. Resolved, never to lose one moment of time, to improve it in the most profitable way I possibly can. Resolved, never to do anything which I should despise or think meanly of in another. Resolved, never to do anything out of revenge. Resolved, never to do anything which I should be afraid to do if it were the last hour of my life.—Jonathan Edwards.

OUR STORY PAGE

A CAT TO BE PROUD OF

Pussy had been allowed to sleep in her master's room one night, so she curled herself up in the comfiest spot she could find and soon was fast asleep.

Several hours later she awoke feeling there was something wrong. What queer smell was that in the air? Pussy did not like it at all, so she jumped on the bed and tried to awaken her master. But her master was sound asleep and did not hear Pussy's cries. At last she scratched his face. That roused him at once. He too felt the queer smell, but too well he knew what it meant.

The house was on fire! He ran to the bedroom door and opened it. One glance outside was sufficient to show him that there was no way of escape downstairs, for the staircase was in flames. The only other way of escape was from the bedroom window. He opened it, crawled outside, and letting himself drop, reached the ground safely and so was saved.

But what of the kitten? In the excitement of the moment she had been forgotten. Oh, how sorry her master was when he remembered her. Why, if it had not been for Pussy awakening him he might have perished in the flames! I am glad to be able to tell you that the clever cat escaped too. Her little white whiskers were burned off, and her front paws were singed, but otherwise she was quite all right, and today her master is very proud of her indeed.

Now, boys and girls, what lesson can we learn from this little story?

I think that some of us are rather like Pussy's master. We are asleep in the midst of danger. What danger, you say? The danger of not giving our hearts to the Lord Jesus Christ while there is still time. Soon it may be too late to come to Him. Oh! be wise boys and girls, trust the Lord Jesus as your Saviour now.—The Life Line.

JESUS IS HERE—I AM HAPPY

I knew a little girl who lay for nearly two years and a half in one position, with a disease that was eating her life away. She was fair to look upon; I never saw a sweeter face, or looked into more untroubled eyes that met mine as twice every week I took my seat beside her bed.

She was in humble life, and yet not poor, though an inmate of a hospital, and life might have been attractive and precious to her. She suffered much pain, but she knew and loved the Saviour, and remembering what He had borne for her made her own sufferings seem light.

''Poor girl,'' exclaimed a visitor. She overheard it.

''I am not poor,'' she said, tears filling her eyes. ''God has made me His child. O sir, don't think I am to be pitied. If I could tell you half His goodness to my soul you would envy me.''

Envy her in the way of pain? Jesus was beside her in it all, and upheld her by His mighty love, so that her heart was comforted.

Two years and a half in the way of pain! Think of it. Yet no one heard a murmur or expression of impatience escape her lips. I stood beside her at the close.

''Is it dark, Ellen?'' I asked.

''No,'' she answered, with a sweet look of wonder. ''Jesus is here. I am happy.''

She lay as if contemplating some beautiful vision unseen by those around her. An expression of intense joy was on her face. I bent down.

''What is it?'' I asked.

''Himself!'' she said in a hushed whisper.

In another moment she was absent from the body and present with the Lord.

In our hospitals and homes there are many in the way of pain. To many of them life is a burden and not a joy, for ''wearisome days and nights are appointed unto them.'' In the morning they say, ''would it were evening,'' and in the evening, ''would it were morning again.''

Who will seek to alleviate their sufferings? Who will send what will give comfort or pleasure and bring a smile over the faded cheeks? Who will stand beside them and tell them where the path of pain may lead?—A. V., in Faithful Words.

THE DUTY AND THE CHANCE

Bob was weeding the garden beds. Jack came along and watched him over the fence for a while. Then he spoke. ''Come, go fishin' with me, Bob,'' he said. ''There are lots of fish in the pond. We can get a big string before noon.''

''Can't,'' said Bob. ''Have to weed this whole garden before noon. Father's going to give me a quarter for it.''

''What's a quarter? We can get a lot of fish and sell them down at the hotel for a good many quarters,'' scoffed Jack, temptingly.

Bob paused in his work and considered the question. Then he returned to his task with decision. ''Guess I'll stick to the weeding,'' he announced. ''I'm sure of the quarter if I finish this job. You're not sure that we will get any fish, or sell them if we do.''

''Oh, come, try it anyway! You can finish the weeding tomorrow,'' coaxed Jack.

''Can't do it. Father said to do the weeding this morning, and he meant it. Think I'll stick to the sure thing and try the fish another day,'' answered Bob.

''Good for you, Bob,'' said Uncle Will, who had heard the whole thing. ''Don't neglect the twenty-five cent duty for the dollar chance, this time or any time. It doesn't pay.''

And of course it doesn't, when you come to think it over. The little every-day duties, if they are faithfully performed, pay better, in money, in strength, and in training in faithfulness. The great chances that are held up before our dazzled eyes too often depend upon possible fish to be caught, and possible sales that may never materialize. And when we neglect the real duty for the possible chance, we are training for unfaithfulness, for aimless, half-hearted effort, and for very probable failure. The well-performed duty, even though it may be a twenty-five cent one pays best in the long run of life.—The King's Own.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD

President of High Point College C. E. Society

June 19: HOW HONEST ARE WE AS INDIVIDUALS AND GROUPS?

Scripture: Given in the Discussion.

Honesty is the best policy is so glibly quoted by the ranks of humanity that no thought is taken of its source. The quotation has its origin in Cervante's book, "Don Quixote."

The value of honesty is so universally recognized that it is counted among the cardinal virtues: those that in changing circumstances and ages remain unalterable. If dishonor removes the pins that support one's social status, surely honor is the crowning virtue of our social production.

An honest man needs no bond in the light of contracts, for his word is his bond. Pope said, "An honst man's the noblest work of God." The honest man dwells in a castle of self-complacency which furnishes protection and tranquility of mind. Some people have come to look on a dishonest man as one who succeeds not on his merit and toil but by his roguery and think he has a good time rathering than suffering for it. Emerson said every act is rewarded and the thief steals from himself. He takes off from his moral stability and ease of conscience with each breach of honesty..

> "An honest man though e'en so poor,
> Is king of men for a' that."
>
> —Burns.

Program Outline

Hymn: "Soldiers of Christ, Arise."
Leader's Introduction.
Prayer.
Topic: "Is there a standard of honesty?"
Topic: "Our standard."
Hymn: "I Would Be True."
Topic: "Am I honest?"
Topic: "Are we honest?"
Hymn: "My Soul Be on Thy Guard."
Benediction.

In discussing the topic, "Is there a standard of honesty?", these suggestions may be used. Read Romans 12:17; Hebrews 13:18; II Corinthians 8:21, 13:7; Exodus 23:6-9; Exodus 20:16.

When we set our watches, we set by standard time. Our prinicple of honesty should square with our standard—Jesus Christ was honest with himself, his praents, his government, his followers (associates), and his Father.

People often consciously breach the principles of honesty and excuse themselves on the basis that other people do the same. One cannot be dishonest with his fellowmen and expect the world to be strictly honest with him.

Discuss These:

Are we too lax in dealing with dishonesty in families and society at large?

Governments are not a terror to good works but the dishonest man fears the law.

"An honest man's the noblest work of God."

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SUMMER CONFERENCE

The First Year Student

This Young People's Summer Conference is designed to promote higher Christian living among the younger people of today. The work required has already been planned for persons desiring to attend. It is designed to fulfill any subject that one might be interested in. After your work has been described to you, it is a very easy matter to start right into it. If you have a definite course you wish to follow in your church work it is very easy to become prepared at this summer session.

The schedules are planned so that there is a time for everything. There is a time set apart for your work, a time for the small amount of studying required. Recreations occupy a small amount of time, such prompting things as vesper and church services occupy the twilight and evening. Such things inspire the young man and woman and lift them to higher things.

Outside of the regular schedule of routine Bible work, etc. We look forward to the time set apart for the three delicious meals each day.

It does not require experience to become a student in this wonderful work, it merely prepares you for your experiences in vocational or church work. It is also a very easy task to meet the very few requirements.

Things are so well planned and so executed that a most interesting and enjoyable time is had by all. Everyone is benefited greatly and there is no question but that if you attend once there is a desire to attend the second, third and many more times.

It's a very happy place to be,
Will be very glad to have you come and see,
Will try to make you happy, everybody, large and small,
We know you'll be benefited, one and all.

A. F. H.

◆

SUMMER CONFERENCE

As previously announced, the Pastors' Summer Conference will be held the 28-29 of June.

Dr. Forlines will address the conference at 9 a. m. and at 11:30 a. m. each day. We are also planning for afternoon addresses by Drs. Taylor, Humphreys and Dixon.

The four addresses by Dr. Forlines are on Revelations and are arranged as follows: (1) the Nature and Method of Revelation; (2) the Chief End of Revelation; (3) Progressive Revelation; (4) Continuous Revelation.

The subjects look very interesting and as they last only two days, let all be there.

R. C. STUBBINS.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Stony Knoll, W. Forsyth	$ 2.04
Pleasant Hill S. S., Spring Church	1.00
Glen Raven C. E. Soc., clothing child	5.00
Asheboro S. S.	35.00
Hollister, Halifax	4.00
Pleasant Grove S. S.	10.00
Level Cross, Randleman	1.00
Friendship Station	4.00
First Church S. S., High Point	30.64
Sapling Ridge, Alamance	2.00
Kistlers, Cleveland, memorial service	5.14
Gibsonville S. S.	7.99
Fairfield S. S., Guilford	2.00
First Church S. S., Winston-Salem	5.42
Young Men's Bible Class, First Church, Thomasville, clothing child	5.00
Siler City S. S.	4.19
First Church S. S., Burlington	17.80
Baraca Class, Gibsonville, clothing child	5.00
St. Paul S. S.	5.51
Community S. S., Thomasville	8.50
Mt. Hermon S. S., Mt. Hermon	2.03
Mizpah S. S., Haw River	1.66
Mrs. C. W. Davis, personal, Union Grove, Orange	5.00
Efland S. S, Orange	2.50
Corinth, Littleton	1.00
Pleasant Hill, W. Forsyth	4.50
Mt. Pleasant, Guilford	.42
Midway-Shady Grove, Shady Grove S.S.	1.50
Midway-Shady Grove, Midway S. S.	1.33
New Hope, Vance	2.00
Mt. Pleasant S. S., Mt. Pleasant	5.80
First Church S. S., South Lexington	3.66
New Hope, Why Not	2.15
Bethel S. S., Mocksville	4.00
Creswell S. S., Creswell	5.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mrs. Frank Kokoma's S. S. class, Newton, Iowa, 10 booklets for little children.

The Woman's Auxiliary, Julian, 16 wash clothes, 5 towels, 9 cakes soap, 1 pair curtains and 1 piece of prints.

We greatly appreciate these gifts of money and other necessities. We are glad for the friends who are standing by us, and who will continue to stand by the Home and its children.

Coupons

The octagon coupons help more than you think. They keep coming in. Remember the prize of $5.00 to the Auxiliary sending in the greatest number of coupons during May, June and July. Put your forces to work if it has not already been done.

Our Program

The children are getting shaped up pretty well with a program for the summer. We go to State Street, Shiloh and Thomasville Sunday, June 19th. When may we visit your church?

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

SPRING CHURCH CIRCUIT AUXILIARY

The Spring Church Circuit Auxiliary met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Camp, June 1 at 2:30 p. m. The subject for the meeting was "Christ, the World's Saviour," Mrs. R. M. Robinson, devotional leader, opened the meeting with a piano solo, "O Master let me walk with thee," followed by John 3:16 in concert. Ten members responded to roll call and two new members were added, whom the society was glad to receive: Mesdames G. J. and G. A. Mitchell. It was decided at this meeting to give a play in the near future, and the following committee was named, Mesdames C. E. Dimick, J. M. Dunham, F. L. Tucker and William H. Neese, to select a play suitable.

Mrs. J. M. Dunham was program leader and papers were read by the following: "Other Religions," Mrs. Laura Woodruff; "The Adequate Christ," Mrs. W. L. Mitchell. Mrs. Neese conducted question box and Mrs. H. E. Vassar had the study book.

MRS. WILLIAM H. NEESE, Reporter.

* * *

DUTIES OF RECORDING AND CORRESPONDING SECRETARIES

Duties of Auxiliary Recording Secretary

The Recording Secretary shall keep in permanent form an accurate record of the meetings of the Auxiliary and Executive Committee prepare an alphabetcial roll with correct addresses and call the roll at Auxiliary meetings; record attendance; note absentees and report changes occurring in membership at the next Auxiliary meeting; notify officers of their election, committees of their appointment; file a list of new officers and send the same to the Recording Secretary of the Branch, immediately after the annual meeting and keep the Branch Secretary informed as to changes occurring in office.

She shall secure report blanks and efficiency charts from the Branch Corresponding Secretary if not promptly received early in March; fill out and mail to the Corresponding Secretary of the Branch on or before April ; give notice of all meetings and conduct all correspondence. (In case the Auxiliary has a Corresponding Secretary the duties in this paragraph will apply to her office.)

Duties of the Branch Recording Secretary

The Recording Secretary shall keep in permanent form an accurate record of all meetings of the Branch and Executive Committee; prepare an alphabetical roll of the Branch officers and call the roll at Branch meetings; record attendance; file a list of new officers with the Department of Women's Work, 516 N. Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland, and keep the Department informed as to changes occurring in office.

Duties of the Branch Corresponding Secretary

The Corresponding Secretary shall attend to the general correspondence of the Branch; send notices to the Auxiliary and church papers of the time and place of the annual and quarterly meetings at least one month previous to the meeting; give notice of special and executive meetings upon the order of the President. She shall keep a correct list of officers of the Auxiliaries and of the Branch. She shall secure report blanks from the Department of Women's Work, 516 N. Charles Street, Baltimore, Maryland, if not promptly received early in March, sending two to each Auxiliary. She shall be responsible for distributing efficiency charts to the Auxiliaries. She should submit report of her office at the Branch meetings. She shall also send an annual statistical and financial report, compiled from the Auxiliary reports, to the Associate-Executive Secretary of the Board of Missions not later than May 1.

When the President and Vice-President are absent, it is the duty of the Recording Secretary to call the meeting to order and conduct the election of a chairman pro tem. This election should immediately follow the call to order, in order that the secretary may attend to the duties of her office.—Leaflet, Committee on Education.

* * *

TREASURER'S REPORT

From February 1 to May 1, 1932

Charge	A.C.B.	G.C.B.	Col.	Sup.	Rep. Exp.
Alamance	$24.15	$10.15	$....	$....	$ 7.50
Anderson	....	4.00	....	....	....
Albemarle	....	....	....	....	....
Asheboro	9.00	....	....	....	....
Asheville	....	....	....	....	....
Bess Chapel Caroleen	....	....	....	....	....
Bethesda	....	....	....	....	....
Burlington, 1st	9.00	25.00	....	....	....
Charlotte	....	1.11	....	....	....
Chase City	....	....	....	....	....
Chatham	2.46	....	....	....	2.00
Cleveland	46.61	5.98	....	....	8.72
Concord	60.00	10.00	....	....	....
Co'nelly Springs	....	....	....	....	....
Creswell	2.00	....	....	....	....
Davidson	20.08	13.84	....	....	....
Democrat	3.00	....	....	....	....
Denton	14.50	12.50	....	....	....
Draper	1.55	5.55	....	....	....
Enfield	16.00	25.00	....	5.00	11.00
Fallston	4.25	....	....	....	....
Flat Rock	11.50	8.50	....	....	....
Friendship Sta.	2.00	....	....	....	....
Forsyth	25.05	19.06	....	....	....
Fountain Place	....	11.05	....	....	....
Gibsonville	....	16.00	....	....	....
Glen Raven ...	3.50	6.50	....	....	....
Graham	3.00	25.33	....	....	....
Granville	4.00	3.75	....	....	....
G'boro, Calv. ..	10.00	31.00	....	....	15.00
G'boro, Grace..	....	5.86	....	....	....
G'boro, St. Paul	....	....	....	....	....
G'boro, W. End	26.00	20.00	4.00	....	....
Greensville ...	3.30	....	....	....	....
Guilford	16.75	12.75	....	....	....
Halifax	5.00	9.00	....	....	....
Haw River ...	13.00	10.00	....	....	13.00
High Point, 1st	2.00	65.00	....	....	....
High Point, English St. ..	....	4.00	....	....	....
H. P., Lebanon	12.00	9.00	....	....	....
H. Point, Welch	3.00	....	....	....	....
Kannapolis ...	....	....	....	....	....
Kernersville ..	5.83	2.55	....	....	....
Lexington, State St.	....	1.00	....	....	....
Lexington, So..	5.00	9.50	....	....	....
Liberty-Moriah.	18.45	16.02	....	....	....
Lincolnton	....	3.00	....	....	....
Littleton	....	6.25	....	....	....
Mebane	47.00	8.00	....	....	....
Mecklenburg ..	....	....	....	....	....
Melton's Grove	....	....	....	....	....
Midland	....	....	....	....	....
Midway-Shady Grove	4.46	2.28	....	....	....
Mocksville	5.00	4.00	....	....	....
Mt. Hermon ..	42.00	46.00	....	....	6.35
Mt. Pleasant ..	....	54.29	67.00	....	15.00
N. Davidson ..	6.01	5.30	....	....	....
Orange	10.00	16.00	12.00	....	25.00
Pinnacle & Mt. Zion	4.50	9.50	....	....	....
Pleasant Grove	42.00	9.00	....	....	....
Randleman ...	25.00	7.00	....	....	....
Randolph	38.00	25.00	....	....	....
Reidsville	....	6.11	....	....	....
Richland	3.75	....	....	....	....
Roberta	....	....	....	....	....
Rockingham ..	....	....	....	....	....
Roseneath	....	.80	....	....	....
Saxapahaw ...	26.00	25.00	5.00	....	.50
Shiloh	....	4.00	....	....	....
Siler City	....	....	....	....	....
Speight's Ch'pel	....	....	....	....	....
Spencer	....	....	....	....	....
Spring Church.	14.72	27.40	....	....	1.22
Tabernacle ...	29.34	48.00	3.00	1.00	6.30
Thomasville, Community	....	....	....	....	....
Thomasville, 1st	15.00	19.00	39.00	....	3.00
Thomasville, West End ..	2.50	1.00	....	....	....
Vance	8.71	9.00	....	....	4.00
Weaverville ..	....	7.50	....	....	....
West Forsyth .	3.25	9.25	....	....	....
Whitakers	....	5.00	....	....	....
Why Not	23.60	10.00	8.00	....	3.40
Winston, First	7.39	21.74	87.00	5.00	....
Yarborough ...	5.00	14.25	....	....	....

Please remember that this report covers February, March and April. I have received almost half enough to pay our Representatives' expenses to the General Conference; but most of the money came in May and will appear in my next report. This expense ought to be met immediately. We ought not to ask our brethren to represent us in the General Conference and wait until the Annual Conference meets to get their expenses.

Keep a stiff upper-lip, brethren, and the only way to do this is to smile. Have faith in your faith—enough faith in it to use it no matter what may come.

GEO. R. BROWN, Treasurer.

* * *

—Innkeepers in Hungary must pay 32 separate taxes.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Stallings, Mecklenburg Charge.—The Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. P. L. Garmon the first Thursday in May. The program opened with a song, "Stand Up for Jesus," and then a prayer. We had scripture reading with all taking part; several interesting pieces were read, followed by a chain of prayer. We had the roll call. The following were present: Mrs. J. E. Hartis, Mrs. M. L. Stallings, Mrs. P. L. Garmon, Mrs. Carl Stallings, Mrs. P. D. Drye, Mrs. D. C. Stallings, Mrs. Fincher, Mrs. Paul Stallings and Miss Naomie Hunnicutt; Mrs. Paul Curlee was a visitor.

"Have Thine Own Way" was sung and then we enjoyed the delicious refreshments Mrs. Garmon served.

Our collection was $2.90 for this month.

Our meeting closed with a prayer, and the society to meet with Mrs. M. L. Stallings in June.

The society met with Mrs. M. L. Stallings the first Thursday in June.

The program opened with singing "Draw Me Nearer." The president, Mrs. Stallings, had charge of the scripture reading. A few verses were read from the fifth chapter of Matthews. Several interesting pieces were read. Had the roll call with the following members present: Mrs. J. L. Love, Mrs. J. E. Hartis, Mrs. M. L. Stallings, Mrs. D. C. Stallings, Mrs. Fincher, Mrs. Paul Stallings, Miss Naomie Hunnicutt; Mrs. Crowell, a visitor.

The collection for June was $1.60.

Mrs. Stallings served delicious refreshments. The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. H. B. Furr in July. Mrs. Crowell led in a short word of prayer.

MRS. PAUL STALLINGS, Reporter.

◆

Union Grove Church, Mocksville Charge.—As our summer vacation is at hand it seems that everybody went away from our church instead of coming to the church for their vacation. Our Sunday school attendance was under average last Sunday but I think it was all because of the rain. I hope it will pick up in the future.

Last Sunday was preaching Sunday, so of course we heard a real good sermon from our pastor, Mr. Ferree. Mr. Ferree's text was "A man's life consists not of the things he possesses."

We are looking forward to our revival meeting this fall, beginning the fourth Sunday in September. We are glad indeed to have Rev. R. C. Stubbins to aid Mr. Ferree in the meeting. We are hoping and praying our meeting will be a success.

Our Christian Endeavor is falling low, for lots of our members have dropped out and our supervisor is unable to be with us, but we are still having it and expect to continue having it with the help of God. We are expecting it to be more successful next quarter. Two of our Christian Endeavor members and church members got married: Miss Sallie Mae Wooten married Mr. Vander Sloan; Miss Dellia Mae Mitchell married Mr. Clifford Holland. We are hoping they will have a future life full of joy and happiness.

It seems that all the older people have forsaken our prayer meeting except three or four. We are giving every body a special invitation to attend our Christian Endeavor and prayer meeeting.

Last but not least, we certainly are proud of our pastor's children and we know he is proud of them. Who wouldn't be? for Agnes Ferree won first prize in recitation contest and Sulon Ferree won first prize in declamation cotest. Sulon also has the honor of having his name engraved on the silver loving cup for being the best all-round boy in Mocksville high school. I hope this is only a bud to these children's lives and may the bud open in their future life.

"There is so much bad in the best of us,
And so much good in the worst of us,
That it ill behooves any of us,
To talk about the rest of us."
—Robert Louis Stevenson.

A MEMBER.

◆

Lexington, First.—Our work here is growing rapidly. A few weeks ago we decided to put on a drive for our mid-week prayer service and with the help of Brother J. J. Mallard, T. D. Westmoreland, O. F. Johnson, H. C. Koonts and others. We are having the pleasure to see the fine result. On last Wednesday evening, a week ago, we had our monthly class meeting and there were 49 church members and eight non-church members present; this was very gratifying when we consider the crowd we have been accustomed to having. On last Wednesday evening Brother Otis Lanning led the prayer service for us and there were a little more than 100 present, this is the largest crowd that has ever been present here at this church for prayer meeting. We can also see some of the good done in the prayer service when we look over the Sunday school and preaching attendants.

Our Sunday school had one of the largest crowds present today that we have had in some time, there being 280 present.

In our morning preaching service Brother Isley preached a special sermon to the officers of the church and Sunday school and we had practically all of the officers present. The pastor preached a very interesting and helpful sermon and explained the duty of the officers of the church and Sunday school in a pleasing and efficient manner.

At the evening service Brother Isley delivered another interesting sermon to the large congregation present which almost filled the church despite the rainy weather which we had at church time.

We extend a cordial welcome to every one to worship with us in our services.

REPORTER.

◆

Union Grove, Orange Circuit.—Just a few lines to let it be known we are still alive. Children's Day exercises were held the first Sunday in June and the best one we have had in quite a while. Misses Marie Sines and Janie Blackwood trained the ones who took part and all did very well. We were glad to have Mrs. H. C. Nicholson with us and tell us about the conference at Cambridge. We always enjoy having her and hope she can come again.

We enjoyed the reports of our General Conference from pastor and delegate, Mr. W. A. Davies.

Our pastor, Rev. B. M. Williams, gave us such a good sermon in afternoon on "Life," St. Matt. He always gives us good ones.

Our special meeting begins the first Sunday in August and we surely need a genuine old time revival to begin with the church and then the outsiders will be attracted to God's house. We need to show in our every day life that we have been with Jesus. Pray for us.

Our Auxiliary is moving on slowly, but we trust seed are being sown that will bear fruit in the future.

We have some fine voices among our children and need some one to teach a vocal music class.

Trusting that we may have a great outpouring of God's Spirit in all of our churches, but Psalms 51: 10, 11, 12, and 13 will have to be complied with. We have grown too cold and some have or seem to have forgotten God and gone after other things. May we return ere it is too late. N. B. L.

◆

Midway-Shady Grove Charge.—Our revival meeting closed last Sunday. We had a good meeting and good sermons preached by Mr. Isley. We were glad to have several visitors present during the meeting. At the close of the meeting eight new members joined the church.

Mr. E. O. Peeler preached for us Sunday night. It was a fine sermon and we were very glad to have him with us.

Our Children's Day program is planned for next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

The contest in our Sunday school closed by the Reds losing by one point. The Reds are entertaining the Blues with a social and an ice cream supper next Saturday night on the lawn of Sedgefield school. Different forms of entertainment are being planned by the committee. REPORTER.

◆

Mecklenburg Charge.—Sunday was a red letter day for Mecklenburg charge. We enjoyed three special services. "Father's Day" at Stallings at 11 a. m., "Old Folks" service at Antioch, at 2:30 p. m., Children's Day at Stallings, 8 p. m. In spite of the threatening weather, each service was well attended and very satisfactory in every way exceeding our fondest expectations.

In the morning service at Stallings a good crowd was present. The Kannapolis quartet was with us and gave us some very inspiring gospel in songs, which we all enjoyed and appreciate. The good ladies of the church out of consideration of the wife's illness, prepared baskets and we enjoyed a sumptous dinner on the parsonage lawn. A splendid spirit of fellowship prevailed, and the occasion enjoyed by all. The quartet gave us several songs after dinner then we proceeded to Antioch for the "Old Folks" service. The quartet sang several numbers in this service. There were two other quartets present from Weddington M. E. church. Each was enjoyed and we were greatly inspired and edified by their selections, after which the congregation stood, expressing their respect and reverence for the aged. Closing with an old hymn while the younger came and shook hands with them. In all it was wonderfully inspiring.

During this service rain came in torrents in Stallings section, resembling a cloud-burst. ence. A vote will be taken soon to determine the one that shall be delegate.

Arrangements for our revival meetings are

We expected but few at Stallings for the children's program as the clouds remained threatening and the roads muddy. But to our surprise and delight they began coming half hour before the services and continued until the church was filled beyond its capacity, many standing. I am sure they felt amply repaid for coming. The character of the pageant performed beautifully, near perfect, with other minor parts in the preliminary. A very satisfactory collection was realized for missions, apparently as expressions of the touching appeal of the program. We were convinced of the talent and available interest still to be found at this church. The program was directed by Mrs. Jess Hartis and Mrs. P. L. Garmon for which we greatly appreciate the success of the program from their tireless and faithful efforts. "Surely God is good to Israel."

J. L. LOVE, Pastor.

Haw River, Glen Raven Charge.—Circle No. one of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. G. B. Hughes. Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Fannie Sykes and Miss Espe Bullard. Following decisions as to ways and means of making money deciding to give a supper Saturday night, June 18, at hall, were very much impressed with our talent money turned in. How some folks dimes can sure grow. And a pair of large-size overalls had been going the rounds of the members, concealing money under the patches sewed on them. And did we enjoy taking the patches off? Brought around $5.00. It could be made much more profitable.

Following this and that, came refreshments and games, enjoyed by all. Our next meeting will be held at Mrs. Joe Clayton's.

GLADYS NEWLIN, Reporter.

Alamance.—I'm sending a report from our church, also a memorial of Mrs. J. M. Pugh for the Herald. This memorial is the one read at our memorial service Sunday. It was prepared by Mrs. Milton Lindley and daughter and read by Mrs. C. C. Richardson.

The service was held at Center church June 10, at 4 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. J. A. Burgess, was assisted in the funeral by G. W. Holmes, A. O. Lindley, T. J. Whitehead, Ed Harris and Lewis McFarland. The latter two from the Friends church, being neighbors of Mrs. Pugh's.

Ila J. Lindley Pugh was born June 8, 1857, and died June 9, 1932. On August 14, 1890, she was married to J. M. Pugh.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Clyde Pugh, and three daughters, Mrs. Walter Lane, Mrs. Allie Lindley, and Emma Pugh of the home, and by eleven grandchildren, all of Snow Camp.

She was converted in early life and joined Center M. P. church where she remained a faithful member until death. During a sickness of two months, though suffering acutely at times, she was patient and expressed herself a number of times to her family and friends that she was ready to go, and told her children and grandchildren to be good and kind to each other. As a neighbor she was always ready to help in any way possible. In her going her family have lost a faithful companion, a true and loving mother and grandmother, the church a true mother in Israel.

Oh, why should we lament and mourn
Since God her Savior thought it best
To take her from this world of sin,
Into a world of happiness.

It has been a long time since the Herald has had a report from Center and perhaps many of the readers didn't know there was a Center church in the conference. All this time, during which we have been quiet through the pages of the Herald we have been going steadily forward.

We have Sunday school the year around and the attendance average is very good throughout the year, though we do not have a large Sunday school. A junior choir has recently been organized and is adding interest for the children. Because of circumstances the Childre's day program which was to have been held Sunday afternoon had to be postponed until a later date.

We also have a C. E. society which has done some good work and we are hoping for even greater things to come from our society in the future.

Sunday, June 12, the third memorial service was held at our church. All former pastors of the church now living, were invited to be present. Rev. W. M. Pike, a former pastor, was to have preached the memorial sermon. For some reason he was unable to be present and our pastor, Rev. J. A. Burgess, very ably filled his place bringing a message on "How to Approach Death." After the sermon the primary, junior, and intermediate children, under the direction of Miss Daisy Richardson, Mr. G. J. Braxton and their committee, decorated each grave with a beautiful bunch of flowers. The choir furnished music while the graves were being decorated. Owing to the heavy rain Saturday and Saturday night and the unlikely looking day Sunday there were not so many present as usual. Though the crowd was small the floral offering was larger and prettier than usual. Much improvement has been madee on the cemetery during the past two years. Families have worked up their family graves and there is a fund on hand now to start working on the graves whose loved ones have died or moved away.

We trust that it shall not be so long before you hear from us again. Best wishes for the Herald and its readers.

A MEMBER.

Pleasant Union, Mount Pleasant Charge.—On Sunday, June 12, we observed Memorial Day in our church. Our morning service was in charge of Dr. Johnson who gave a most helpful and appropriate sermon on "Memorial Day and What It Means." After reading a passage from Joshua 4 in which a memorial is made, Dr. Johnson said in part that we should remember our ancestors and appreciate those sacred things that they have handed down to us. When we think "what if no one had done anything for us until we were born?" we begin to realize that we would not have much to enjoy. Dr. Johnson said that we were placed in an unfinished world and God intended for us to do the part that we could by His help. Man, by the help of God, has developed many things that were started by God. A lovely example is one of our most beautiful roses being developed from our common wild roses. In conclusion Dr. Johnson asked that each of us make up our minds that when we have finished our part in the world it will be far better than it was before we lived.

At two o'clock we had a short paper by Mrs. J. T. Bowman as a tribute to those who have passed since our memorial service three years ago. There were only six as follow: the infant of Mr. and Mrs. Loftin Belle, James Layton, Mrs. Robert Keck, Mrs. Reitzel, Mrs. Cyrus Shaw and William Alen Colele. Of these, Mrs. Shaw was the oldest and also the oldest member of our church.

After the paper, we were delighted to have Dr. Whitsett give a very interesting address on "History of M. P. Church in Guilford County." He pointed out the fact that this county is the center for the two denominations in the state, the Quakers and the Methodist Protestants. Records show that Moriah is the oldest M. P. church in this county. It is about 103 years old. The exact date of the founding of our church has not as yet been found but it is thought to be about 100 years old. Dr. Whitsett urged that we be more careful in keeping our church history as it is most valuable to following generations. Dr. Whitsett's entire address will appear in the Herald, therefore I will not give further notes.

We were favored by selections by the Nathanael Greene Grange quartet in the afternoon. The quartet consists of George Arrington, Roy L. Bowman, John Deviney nad Mr. Humble.

Some of our members who are not near enough to worship with us often were here for the Memorial Services. They were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Huffine and family, Miss Thelma Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. George Sockwell and others.

DORTHA CAUSEY HOLT.

Friendship, Shiloh Charge.—Our Sunday school is getting along just fine. We have on roll 219.

Sunday, June 12, Rev. R. S. Troxler brought to us a helpful sermon.

The Friendship people are very happy over the new church which is the old church, brick veneered and new additions, and is almost finished now. The brick was given by Mrs. M. L. Craver of Welcome in honor of his wife, Mrs. Ollie Delapp Craver, which was needed and was gladly accepted by all. All the gifts, work, and everything that has been done for the building of the church is appreciated so much, for every one is so thankful for the new church. Seeks like it makes everybody feel good and get interested in church work. The Lord always blesses the giver.

We are planning to have home-coming day soon, the date is not set yet.

ADELE PHILLIPS, Reporter.

Glen Raven Circuit.—The second quarterly conference was recently held in the Glen Raven church. Excellent reports were submitted by the organizations of the three churches on the circuit. All are proud of the fine work being done by the Aid societies, Sunday schools, and Christian Endeavor organizations, but no one more than the pastor. It is my privilege to give every assistance and all the encouragement I can to these organizations.

Brother E. S. Troxler of Fairview and Brother T. S. Coble of Haw River are the nominees for delegate to the Annual Conferunderway. Fairview's date is the second week in July; Glen Raven's the first week in September, and Haw River's the first week in August. It is our hope to make these seasons real periods of refreshing and consecration in His home.

There is an attitude of co-operation and service permeating the circuit.. Of course, we find hard places and difficult problems; but, as a people, we are facing them with faith and by prayer.

We are glad to have Misses Frances Pritchett and Myrtle Troxler with us again since the commencement at High Point College.

J. P. PEGG, Pastor.

Pine Hill, Davidson Charge.—Our pastor, Rev. E. A. Bingham, preached one of his good sermons the second Sunday at 2:30 o'clock, his subject was "But I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not and when thou art converted strengthen thy brethren." We are so thankful that we have such a wonderful pastor to lead us. We never weary of listening to his messages.

We are sad that Mrs. Robie Coggin doesn't get much better. We hope that she will soon get so she can walk again and go back to the church. We are hoping for her recovery.

We pray that the unsaved will accept Christ at the special meeting: it will soon be here..

Our Sunday school is still moving on. Some of our members can't attend on account of sickness. MRS. F. L. SMITH, Reporter.

New Hope.—Our pastor, J. L. Love, brought a wonderful message at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Clifford Craig from Bula church and the B.Y.P.U. gave us a program Sunday also. It was much enjoyed. Mr. Craig made a talk on what young people's societies are to a community and when our boys and girls are first converted if they only have a chance to work, it is fine for them and keep their minds on good deeds and helps them to grow in the Master's work. We had Mr. Howard Latherin with us Sunday a week ago and he made a talk on our Sunday school lesson how Jacob stole his brother's birthright or blessing, and how Jacob was deceived all the rest of his days. Rev. Love preached about "Hell, that awful place," and told about what was being taught in Bible school, nowadays, that hell is the grave, but when we get there we will find it different from a grave. People love sin so well they want to think the grave is all the Hell we will have, but will find out in the time to come. He explained the words they took out of the Bible to make up such rotten stuff and our people are getting so careless our preacher can't preach too rough to us. MRS. R. E. AYCOTH, Reporter.

West End Tidings.—We are indeed proud that nine of our young people received high school diplomas during the school year just closing. These happy graduates were given recognition at the evening service of May 29. Out of these nine graduates two of them won special honors during the year. Miss Dorothy Burns won third highest place for short story writing in high school work, while Miss Frances Foust won first place in the state on thesis on some subject in science useful to man. Her subject was the Xray and for this fine work she recived a beautiful silver cup. Our church and our homes are greatly honored to have such a fine group of young people. We have a fine group of college girls and this group furnished ushers for the service when the high school graduates were given recognition. After the recognition service Brother O. F. Stafford brought us General Conference echoes in a very pleasant and interesting manner. This message was received with great delight on the part of all hearers. We were pleased to have something first hand from the General Conference brought to us by one of our very own, the first lay delegate ever furnished by this church to the General Conference and then Brother Stafford brought it to us in a way that was indeed very interesting. So helpful was his address that some said that he should have been a preacher. We are anxious to have him before us in some other special service.

Our spring revival began May 29 and closed on June 8. We did very little advertising and indeed there was nothing about the meeting that was spectacular. Some months ago the church after thoroughly discussing the matter decided to have our revival with home talent with the Lord's help. The pastor felt very unworthy in the endeavor to do his part but he was happy to find a church that felt that a revival could be conducted by the combined efforts of the church and Divine help and not of necessity depending upon help just because it was somebody else. When the time for the revival came the people did not attend in as large a number as might have been but there was a creditable attendance. We sang the old familiar hymns, there was a goodly number of those who were faithful with presence, prayers and work. The pastor prayed as zealously as he knew how and preached the gospel truth as best he could. The people in attendance were so nice and attentive that they helped the preacher preach in his feeble way. Some of our faithful ones did not miss a single service. May God bless these faithful people.

On last Sunday morning ten fine young people joined the church. All these were of our Sunday school and from our best homes. This was a beautiful scene and most encouraging. In some instances it meant all the children of a home, while in others it meant the last of the children of a home to come into the church. In every case it meant a faithful effort on the part of home and church and Sunday school. We are pleased with the results of the revival but we do not fail to give much credit to the work done in homes, in the Sunday school and in the church in general. One other was to have joined but because of an accident could not be present.

We were indeed glad to have Rev. and Mrs. D. I. Garner worship with us in one of our revival services.

While the pastor attended the service of the high school commencement sermon, Rev. E. G. Lowdermilk preached in the West End church. A good sermon was reported and Brother Lowdermilk's favor is greatly appreciated by both pastor and people. We are indeed sorry that because of an accident Brother Lowdermilk is now in Wesley Long hospital. On last visit he was resting nicely.

Recently Miss Virginia Jackson, the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Howard Jackson of Baltimore, Md., was for a number of weeks a visitor in the West End parsonage. When the writer was pastor in Baltimore city, Miss Jackson was one of his faithful members She is now a faithful member of Star church. While she was here Dr. Link, her pastor, on passing this way paid her a visit. Miss Margaret Curry, daughter of the pastor, is now in Baltimore visiting the Jackson family and other friends.

On last Sunday Mr. Clyde Loman of Asheboro and his mother of High Point were among those of the West End congregation. The Lomans were among our most faithful when the writer was pastor at Welch Memorial. We were glad indeed to have them with us.

Our young people are to be well represented at the State Christian Endeavor convention at Catawba College this week. We have a fine Christian Endeavor society which is doing a great work.

Among our sick are Mrs. C. F. Johnson, and Mrs. Fannie Reece. Both are improving, we are glad to report.

Some of our good people have nicely remembered us with plants for our garden, strawberries and vegetables from their gardens and chickens from their lots. Yum, yum. Among these contributors are Brother P. A. Burns, Brother S. E. Ratledge, Brother W. V. Routh, and Brother G. S. Stockard. Thank you, good people Come again.

GEO. L. CURRY..

Lebanon Church, Spring Church Charge.—We are having our Children's Day service third Sunday, June 19. Every one is invited to come and be with us. The Children's program will be in the morning and Brother Neese will give us a sermon in the afternoon.

Brother Neese and family took dinner and spent the afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Camp last Sunday.

We all are very sorry to hear that our friend Brother Lowdermilk is in the hospital. He and his family have our keen sympathy.

VIRGINIA GRANT.

First Church, High Point.—The Christian Endeavor institute, which was held last week in First church and sponsored by the C. E. City Union, was brought to a successful close on Friday evening with a delightful banquet, which was served by Circle No. 3 of the Woman's auxiliary. Thirty-one members enjoyed the delicious repast. J. Clay Madison, pastor of Lebanon church and President of Christian Endeavor City Union served as toastmaster, and Arnold J. Koonce, ex-president of the State union, extended words of hearty welcome to the assemblage. Rev. Nat M. Harrison, promotional secretary of the College, delivered an able and inspiring message on the theme "Greater Things Than These," the C. E. motto. A number of toasts and pep songs added jest and fun to the delicious meal, which was served by a number of the young lady members of Circle No. 3.

At the State C. E. Convention convening today at Catawba College, Salisbury round table conferences will be conducted each morning of the week at 9:15 o'clock by Rev. R. I. Farmer, Rev. W. R. Shaffer, pastor First Reformed church and Luther Medlin of this city on the subject, "My Citizenship in Home, Community and World." A large number from High Point are planning to stay at the College for the entire convention, among them being Misses Jewell and Iris Welch, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Welch, and Rev. J. C. Madison

The Woman's auxiliary is holding its monthly meeting this afternoon (Monday) at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. L. Kivett, three miles east of the city.

The A. M. Idol Philathea class met in a monthly business session last Thursday evening with Mrs. Ross H. Davis on Denny St.

An interesting and pleasing Childreh's Day program was rendered Sunday evening by members of the Sabbath school. The songs, recitations, and pantomimes were directed by Mrs. R. S. Russell and Miss Margaret Neese.

A marriage of great local interest and to a large circle of relatives and friends throughout North Carolina and other states was solemnized in New York City on Tuesday, June 7, when Miss Blanche Wagner, daughter of Mr. ad Mrs. J. E. Wagner 606 W. Broad St. and Mr. J. W. Matthew of New York City, plighted their troth. The bride it pretty and attractive, and received her education in the local high school and at N. C. College for Women, Greensboro. She has taught for several years in Selma, N. C., and the Emma Blair school, High Point, where she was popular and well beloved. The happy young couple will make their home in New York City. A large circle of admiring friends join in hearty congratulations and best wishes to these worthy and highly esteemed young people.

Of special interest here and in other places is the announcement of the engagment and approaching marriage of Miss Elizabeth Nicholson, and Mr. L. H. Sides of Conoord. Both these young people are graduates of High Point College, where they were popular among faculty and students. The bride-to-be has taught English in Burlington high school for the past two years.

Professor C. R. Hinshaw has returned from Westminster, Md. where he received the degree of Bachelor of Literature at the recent commencement exercises of Western Maryland College. He was accompanied on the trip by his sister, Mrs. W. C. Tucker of Greensboro, his young son and daughter, Reginald and Garnett Hinshaw, and his sister-in-law, Miss Margaret Walton.

Among the large number of young men who received diplomas at the commencement of the University of N. C. last Monday evening in Kenan Stadium was Mr. Vernon Welch Idol, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Idol, Sr. and grandson of the late Mr. A. W. Idol. Young Mr. Idol received the degree of A.B. at the age of 19 years, and is a young man of much promise.

Mrs. C. C. Robbins, accompanied by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Holleman, left last Tuesday for Greenville, Miss., in response to a summons to the bedside of her brother, Mr. Holleman, who is critically ill.

Miss Vista Dixon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Dixon, returned last week from Nashville, Tenn., where she studied at Peabody College for the past year. She received the degree of A. W. in Home Economics.

Miss Dorothy Rankin has returned from Western Maryland College, Westminster, Md. and will spend the summer with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. A. M. Rankin. Dorothy will be a senior next year.

Rev. R. I. Farmer drove to Durham Sunday afternoon to bring home Mrs Farmer, who spent the week in Duke hospital for observation. We are pleased to announce that she is able to be up and about all the time.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rankin, Jr., and children returned last week from Miami, Fla.

Mrs. George L. Reynolds is expected home today from a visit to relatives at Misenheimer and Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harte of San Antonio, Texas are guests of Mrs. Harte's mother, Mrs. W. L. Kivett, east of the city.

Mrs. L. F. Honeycutt has as her guest Miss Elizabeth Teague of Thomasville.

Miss Gertrude Teague, who has been visiting relatives here for the past two weeks, left Sunday for her home in Sumter, S. C. Her brother, Mr. Lester B. Teague, drove up Saturday and accompanied her home.

Rupert H. Pickens, Jr., attended the commencement exercises of his Alma Mater, the State University last Monday, where his cousin, John W. Armfield of Concord, was a member of the large graduating class. Mrs. Rupert Pickens attended the commencement and Alumni-Alumnae luncheon at Duke University, of which she is an alumna.

Mrs. J. C. Whitesell and small daughter, Anne, will go to Ramseur this week to spend a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moffit.

Mrs. R. T. Pickens had as her guests on Sunday her cousins, Mrs. John L. King of Greensboro and Mrs. William S. Lee of Monroe.

Mrs. A. A. York and daughter, Mrs. R. M. Bundy, will give a tea Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Reuben Bundy, who was Miss Daisy Lee York at the home of Mrs. R. M. Bundy.

◆

Fiendship Station.—Miss Verona Harkey, our Herald reporter, has recently married Mr. Charles E. Rodgers of Asheville and has gone to that city to live. The undesigned will endeavor to write a brief report of the doings in and around Friendship Station. We had Easter day and Mothers' Day services; had large and attentive congregations, and received four new members. Our church is well organized, having a real progressive Ladies' Aid society, they having taken the lead in the following improvements: Seeded the church ground in front of the building and set shrubbery; underpinned the church with brick; constructed brick steps at the church, and at the parsonage, costing about one hundred dollars; they also had the parsonage porch rescreened and the men of the church have built a splendid woodshed at the parsonage. The women of the Aid recently held an ice cream social on the parsonage lawn and cleared twenty-five dollars and paid up all their financial obligations. Praise be our Ladies' Aid.

We now have one of the livest Christian Endeavor societies it has even been our privilege to work with, all of our Sunday evening services are conducted by our C. E. society; last Friday night our society held a "chicken stew" and social with Miss Annie Lou Sides, it was an outdoor affair and was greatly enjoyed.

Our Sunday school meets every Sunday morning at 9:30 and we have preaching services each Sunday at 11:00 a. m. We will have our annual Children's Day services next Sunday evening, following our C. E. meeting.

Professor William Snotherly, the president of our C. E. society, is at Chapel Hill attending the Summer school at the University. Miss Viney Harward, one of our girls, is attending Summer school at State College, at Raleigh. Brother Philmore Hatley, one of our church trustees, is confined to his room with a body weakness; will you join us in prayer for him.

The first Sunday in July we will have our Home Coming Day services; Dr. S. W. Taylor is scheduled to preach for us at 11:00 a. m. and there will be dinner served and services in the afternoon. We are sending our this call: Won't you please come back home the FIRST SUNDAY IN JULY?

O. B. WILLIAMS, Pastor.

◆

Shoals, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion Charge.—Owing to the unsettled weather last Sunday the attendance was unusually small. However, our Sunday school is holding up well in attendance; everything is working smoothly, and all seem to have a great interest in the work.

At the eleven o'clock service, we were very fortunate in having with us, Dr. S. W. Taylor, who preached a very helpful sermon, which was very much enjoyed, surely all who heard him went home with a stronger determination to do more work for God and His kingdom, and be a better and more useful ctitzen.

He used for his text, "Have Faith in God," he urged that despite the money depression, for us to keep on in our good work, have faith, trust in God, and he would remove the mountains of grief, trouble or what ever they might be, or he would give you grace to overcome them. We were very glad to have him with us, and hope to have the pleasure of having him preach, many more sermons.

Rev. A. L. Hunter, our pastor, announced that our revival meeting will begin the second Sunday in July, and at that time we would vote for delegate to the next Annual Conference.

Let us all begin praying now for the meetings that will be held in our churches in the next few months. REPORTER.

◆

Shiloh C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—The C. E. society continues to grow both in spirit and in number. Sunday evening, June 5, we were delighted to have meet with us the young people's C. E. societies from Friendship and Beulah churches; it always gives us great pleasure for other societies to meet with us. Including the visitors 127 heard the lesson on "How Should We Pray?" led by Miss Grace Evans and well discussed by the participants. This program was real interesting as the study of prayer is always interesting. We think of prayer as man's way to commune with God.

Sunday evening, June 12, 71 young people heard the lesson on "Getting the Most out of Our Leisure Time," led by Miss Ruth Sink. This lesson was well discussed. Mr. Troxler and daughter, Vista, sang a duet which was fully enjoyed by all present.

On Saturday evening, May 28, the members of theC. E. society and their friends enjoyed a social given at the home of our president and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Leatherman; after several games lunch was spread in picnic style; every one present fully enjoyed the evening.

Wednesday evening, June 22, at 7:30 o'clock the C. E. society will hold its regular monthly prayer meeting and business session combined. We hope all the young pepole will come out for an hour and help transact the business of the society.

Next Sunday evening our lesson will be on "How Honest Are We As Individuals and Groups." So come over and meet with us at 8:00 o'clock and hear this program dicussed.

C. E. REPORTER.

Spring Church Charge.—The Children's Day program was given at Pleasant Hill Sunday night. A good sized congregation was present. The program was excellent. Misses Aubrey and Osceola Crews were the committee on preparation.

Lebanon will observe Children's Day service next Sunday in the forenoon. An all day service is planned.

Our revival at Pleasant Hill will begin next Sunday night. Dr. T. M. Johnson will be our pulpit help arriving here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Thomas Massey is recuperating in Roanoke Rapids hospital, having undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Rose Warrick who has been seriously ill for several weeks, does not improve.

Miss Catherine Crew, of N.C.C.W., and Miss Virginia Massey of High Point College are home for the vacation season.

Two of our young people graduated from high school this year. Mr. James Massey from Seaboro and Miss Virginia Grant from Roanoke Rapids high school. Miss Grant graduated with 29 units in a class numbering 72. Only one received more units than Miss Grant. She expects to enter High Point College this fall. We are proud of our young people and wish them well.

Wm H. NEESE.

Belomnt, Mt. Hermon Charge. — Sunday, June 19, Mr. Henry Easley and Miss Flossie Beaver, blind musicians, will be at our church and give a program after Sunday school. They gave us such a splendid program about a year ago that we are looking forward to their coming.

Our hearts were made sad last Monday night when we heard of the tragic death of one of our young boys, Claud Linnens, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Linnens. Little did we think as he kissed his mother goodby and left home so jolly that we would never hear his voice again. Claud had been laid off from work, and with a sick mother and father who were not able to work, two younger brothers, and a little sister to support, he felt that he must seek employment. With this in view, he and two companions had started to Norfolk when he fell from a box car and was mortally injured. He was carried to the hospital where he died three hours later. Claud was an unusually good boy, especially thoughtful and obedient to his parents. To know him was to love him. Yes, he will be sadly missed in his home, in the church, and in the community. You coud always count on him being at Sunday school and Christian Endeavor.

Funeral srevice was conducted at Belmont church Wednesday afternoon by his pastor, Rev. L. E. Mabry, and Mr. Wayne Curtis. The large number of relatives and friends and the beautiful floral offering showed the high esteem in which he was held. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents, brothers and sister. May God comfort them and help them to say "The Lord gave, and the Lord taketh away."

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lowder a son, Jerry Elwood, at Duke hospital, Durham, June 3. Mrs. Lowder has been very ill, but we are glad to report she is improving now.

REPORTER.

Macedonia, Fallston Charge.—Our Sunday school is getting along fine; we have very good attendance every Sunday.

Brother Shelton preached one of his good sermons yesterday; every one present seemed to enjoy it.

We were all glad to have Brother Hoskie Huss worhip with us yesterday. Our third quarterly meeting will be held the first Saturday in August at this place.

On the second Sunday in July, Brother Clarence Morris will preach for us at 2:30 o'clock.

Joash day was observed at this place yesterday. Our young people have organized a Christian Endeavor society. The officers are as follows: President, Howard Boyles; vice-president, Ora Hoyle; secretary, Revice Huss; program committee, Pauline Boyles. Nanie Davis and Evelyn Huss. We pray God's richest blessings upon them in all they do.

Brother John Bivens conducted class meeting last class meeting day. Brother Willis Hoyle will connect it next class meeting day. Our revival meeting will begin the third Sunday in August.

ROCKIE DAVIS, Reporter.

Winston, First.—Sunday was "Recognition Day" in our midst. Those students who were promoted with honor or received honor in school this year, and those who graduated were recognized by our pastor and the congregation, after which he preached a fine sermon to these brilliant young people. The adults could ably adopt his sermon to themselves also. It was also "Recognition Day" for our pastor. After he had recognized these people, Mr. R. N. Hauser and the congregation recognized the honor that has been bestowed upon our pastor. Western Maryland Conference evidently knows a worthy man, because the Doctor of Divinity degree that has been given to Dr. Pritchard certainly was not amiss. Since he and Mrs. Pritchard have been at First church, Winston, they have been loved and have found a place in the hearts and homes of the attendants of the church. We feel sure that no one could be more deserving of this rare honor than he.

The Woman's work is progressing very well and the leaders are amply able to continue this splendid work.

PAULINE L. BRANSON, Reporter.

Hebron, Orange Charge.—June brings us to another celebration of the Children's Day. This day will be observed the fourth Sunday. The rehearsals have already begun. We believe this day is going to be one of the best ever observed in this church.

The pageant that was to be given by the auxiliary Sunday night, June 12, was postponed until June 19, on account of the unsetled weather. The name of the pageant is: "The Coming of the Kingdom." This will be given at the church June 19, at 8 o'clock. Every one is invited to attend this program.

The month of June is also Herald Campaign Month. Every effort is being made for this church to do its part. We will not be satisfied until every member is a subscriber.

Several in our community are on the sick list. May God speed them on to recovery if it is His will.

Another project that is about to take place in our church is the organization of a Christian Endeavor. We have once had one, but it was discontinued. This project is being started by Miss Bettie Nelson's Sunday school class. If this is starterd there must be no end. Best wishes to the Herald.

NANNIE McADAMS, Reporter.

Mizpah, Haw River.—Rev. J. L. Trollinger delivered another very appropriate sermon the first Sunday morning. The outstanding points were expressed in the 37th Psalm.

After the service the Lord's Supper was administered to a large number.

We have given our cemetery and church surrounding another good cleaning. We are proud of the job and think it creditable to any community to have attractive churches and surroundings.

Our Sunday school and C. E. society are still alive although attendance is a little below the average now on account of whooping cough.

Howard Jones and Jennings Crowder graduated from Reidsville high school this spring. Both are promising young men of our church.

REPORTER.

Liberty.—Our pastor, Rev. M. P. Chambliss, brought to us Sunday morning a good sermon, using as the basis of his sermon Luke 15-8.

Sunday evening a beautiful pageant and Children's Day program was given. Mesdames Mamie Smith and R. L. Elkins deserve much credit for their efforts in training the children and for the beautiful decoration scenery of the church, green and white being the color scheme.

The Woman's auxiliary will meet next Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. F. A. Sharpe, president, will preside.

Mr. Chambliss was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gregerson Sunday.

Mitchell's Grove, Guilford Charge.—Mothers' Day was observed May 8. Pastor Peeler delivered a very impressive sermon. He urged us to honor mother and cherish the memory for all her love and watchful care. He said just as she waited to hear the footsteps of all the children coming in at night before she closed her eyes for sleep that she is still watching and waiting for all her children to join her in the glory land. Could we but realize that God so loved the world that He never intended that the family circle should be broken we surely would strive to lead a more godly life, for without holiness no man shall see the Lord.

The fourth Sunday in May we had our annual Memorial Service. In the absence of our pastor we were very fortunate in having Rev. Mr. Morris from High Point College to preach. The service was enjoyed by all. We have heard so many compliments about the service; we all were favorably impressed with his sermon and will be delighted to have him come and be with us again. He tried to impress the thought of putting flowers in life's pathway of our loved ones and friends here—

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Thacker

Mr. James A. Thacker was born on December 28, 1891. He passed away rather unexpectedly at his home in Burlington on May 12, 1932. He was sick for just a few hours and his death came as a severe shock to his family and loved ones.

Mr. Thacker was very industrious and gave himself to incessant labor. Back of this toil was his desire to provide for his family as adequately as he possibly could. He seemed to work conscious of the fact that a devoted wife and children were looking to him for support, and he did not wish to disappoint them.

He is survived by his wife and six children, three sisters and two brothers and many friends. May the God of all comfort and peace abundantly bless the bereaved.

FRED W. PASCHALL.

Causey

One of the most faithful members of Tabernacle church, Mrs. Fanny J. Causey, recently passed away at her home about nine miles south of Greensboro. She had reached the age of 77 years. One daughter, Miss Mamie Causey, survives, her husband having preceded her to the grave a number of years ago. During her long illness she never lost interest in the church and spiritual things. It was a joy to her for the pastor to read the Bible and pray with her in her home. A neighbor who knew her well said: "I never have heard her say a harmful word about anybody." We believe that she has gone to occupy her mansion above. Miss Mamie Causey, her daughter, will feel lonely. May the good Lord comfort and bless her.

The funeral was conducted at Tabernacle church by the pastor and burial took place in the church cemetery. H. L. ISLEY.

Shutt

John Edward Bell Shutt, of Advance passed away Wednesday evening after an illness of nine months. He had been critically ill for several weeks. It was the writer's privilege to be with him many times during his illness. He talked freely of dying and was resigned to the Lord's will.

He professed faith in Christ in early life and united with Elbaville Methodist Protestant church. He served his church faithfully in various official capacities, for many years. He loved his church and stood by it. His home was the preacher's home. Truly the community and church will feel keenly the loss of this good man.

He was born September 13, 1860, he departed this life June 8, 1932. February 18, 1885, he was married to Miss Florine Sink. To this union were born eight children. Survivors are his wife, four daughters and two sons: Mrs. T. J. Byerly of High Point, N. C.; Mrs. W. H. Nail of Thomasville, N. C.; Mrs. W. B. Garwood of Forsyth county; Chas. A. Shutt of Aruba, Dutch, West Indies; Walter M. and Laura Shutt, of Advance, N. C. He is also survived by two brothers and one sister, G. H. C. and J. S. A. Shutt, of Advance, N. C., and Mrs. Fannie Holder, of Clemmons, N. C. The funeral services were held at Elbaville M. P. church by the writer, assisted by Rev. W. M. Rathburn, of Advance, and Rev. G. H. Hendry, of Lexington, in the presence of a large number of friends. The bereaved family relatives, and friends have our prayers and sympathy.

G. B. FERREE, Pastor.

Pugh

This community has just witnessed a very sad death in the passing of Mrs. J. M. Pugh. She was sixty-five years and one day old. She was the mother of four children and eleven grand children. All of whom survive her with her husband. She was a member of Center church. The following ministers took part in the funeral service and paid beautiful tributes to her memory: A. O. Lindley, G. W. Holmes, Talton Whitehead, Ed Harris and the general superintendent of the Friend's church in this state. Her death will be felt keenly in the church and community but greatest in the home. However, God's grace is always sufficient for the needs of his people. J. A. BURGESS.

NOTICE! NUMBER 2

To the preachers taking our conference course of study: In addition to the three ways given in the Herald of June 9th, page 15, from which the candidate may choose to take the Standard Leadership Training course, one other may be given, namely, in a similar school by another denomination, that may be in reach.

In case no school is available, write Rev. F. L. Gibbs, Seminary building, Westminster, Md., enclosing one dollar (this is a special rate to our North Carolina preachers) asking for application blank, outline of course, books, etc. This should be done at once as something like three months will be required, if taken by correspondence.

It is better to take the course in a school if possible, under an instructor, covering ten recitation periods. This requires one or two weeks, depending on whether the school meets each night or on every other night—two recitation periods a night. This is the plan for local schools. In the High Point college school, June 27th to July 3rd, the recitation periods are in the day, two a day.

In case you take a course by correspondence, state to Brother Gibbs which one of the six courses offered (see page 15 of Herald of June the 9th) you want.

T. M. JOHNSON.

THAT ANNIVERSARY SERVICE AND HOME COMING AT BURLINGTON

Don't forget that we want you to come to these services which will be held on Sunday, June 26th. Some have signified their intention of being here, but we have not heard from some whom we would certainly like to have with us. If you cannot come in time for the Sunday school and preaching service at 11 a. m., then come any way in time for the afternoon service at 2:30 and if possible, stay over for the night service too.

In the Sunday school, a former superintendent, Mr. R. M. Holt, of Spencer, will make a short talk; at 11:00 a. m., Dr. Taylor, president of the Conference, and a former pastor, will preach; at the afternoon service, the message will be by Prof. D. C. Holt, of Liberty, a former member and active worker; and at night, Dr. C. E. Forlines, one of the "boys" who went out from the church to preach, will come back and bring a message.

At noon, time will be given for lunch (or dinner, if you prefer) and everyone is asked to bring this along with them, and tables will be provided on the grounds for serving this. We regret that we cannot undertake to prepare dinner for the large number we hope are coming, so we are asking you to help us in this way.

Everybody is invited to be in Burlington on this day, but especially is an invitation extended to our former pastors, and ex-members who have moved away and are now living elsewhere. We want to make this something of a reunion of old friends and coworkers in First church, and at the same time, a time of great spiritual refreshing.

Other information in regard to these services was in the Herald of May 19, to which you are referred.

THE COMMITTE.

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas, High Point	$ 4.00
Mrs. L. H. Baity, Maple Springs	2.00
Rev. A. L. Hunter	2.00
Rev. M. C. Henderson	2.00

Freewill Offering, Printing Deficit

Leon McCulloch	10.00

Leon has for years been serving the Westinghouse Manufacturing Co. in Pittsburgh. Before going to college he served for years in the office of the Herald. We thank him for this helpful gift.

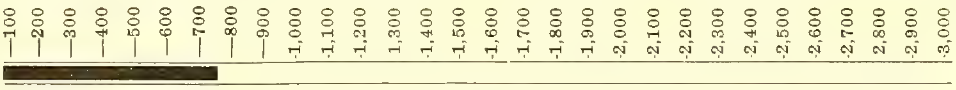
GENERAL CONFERENCE REPRESENTATIVES—TAKE NOTICE

Checks for an equal amount have been mailed to all General Conference Representatives whose expenses are $15.00 or more. Expense accounts amounting to less than $15.00 are being paid in full. I hope to be in position to pay the balance due on these accounts in a month or two.

My quarterly report which was due the first of May appears this week. Circumstances seemed to justify the delay.

GEO. R. BROWN, Treasureer.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	12¾
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	3¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	12½
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	..
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10
Concord	33	15
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2½
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	16¾
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	9
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	10¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro, Grace	42	25
Greensboro, Calvary	25	11
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	8½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	12½
Halifax	52	13
Haw River	49	11½
Henderson	38	12¾
High Point, First	72	34½
High Point, Lebanon	31	18½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6
Liberty-Moriah	31	15¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	8½
Mebane	28	5
Mecklenburg	38	3¼
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	22½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	18½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10⅝
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Richland	42	1½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	21
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	16
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	9¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
Winston, First	27	26
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

◆

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued From Page Eight)

Gifts and Produce

The rains have come in copious showers, and we are glad. Some one said, "This is a million dollar rain." This all means more produce in gardens and in fields. You will be planning to share with us in canned goods and other commodities. We appreciate your thought of us, and trust that each community will get joy out of the co-operation in planning for this.

We have one very sick child. Pray for her.

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

DR. PRITCHARD

Announcement that Rev. J. E. Pritchard, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant Church of this city, is receiving an honorary degree of doctor of divinity is heard here with a great deal of interest. Honorary degrees are given to persons who have done outstanding work in their vocations, and who are deemed worthy of this recognition.

Mr. Pritchard has been a busy man since he came to this city, where he is serving his second conference year. He is not only busy as a pastor and minister, but takes an active part in civic and community work. He was one of the busiest ministers in the city during the recent Gipsy Smith campaign.

We believe the recipient has well earned the honor that has come to him.—An Editorial in the Twin City Sentinel, June 7.

This honor was conferred upon Brother Pritchard by his alma mater, Western Maryland College, at its recent commencement. This occurrence explains his recently reported trip through Virginia. We congratulate Bro. Pritchard upon this accession to his ministerial equipment.

Methodist Protestant Herald

J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

not wait to put them all on the grave of our departed. Special music was rendered by Miss Gyendolyn Jones, Mrs. Nina Jones Witcher, Mr. Everett Witcher and Mr. David Cashatt.

The first Sunday in July we plan to have Children's Day with all day service. Our special meeting will be the fifth Sudnay in July.

We are glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Ring worship with us while visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ring; also we welcome Mr. and Mrs. Wright Jones in our community and to Rev. G. F. Millaway we want him to know he is doing much good by writing such good articles in the Herald. We all enjoy them.

MARTHA PARSONS.

◆

Miss Helen Isley received her diploma last week from Greensboro Commercial College. We congratulate her. She is the efficient secretary of our Sabbath school.

Miss Mary Bowman Shepard was leader of the Christian Endeavor Sunday evening.

Mrs. A. E. Dark and Miss Bertine Shepard also Mr. and Mrs. Jno. W. Curtis were among the number that attended the Causey-Holt wedding recently.

We are glad to note that Miss Dorothy Curtis is rapidly recovering now.

Misses Lora Bowman, Margaret King Shepard and Mary York are attending Summer school at N. C. C. W.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

◆

Midway, Haw River Circuit.—Brother Trollinger preached a good sermon yesterday from the text "Oh, Lord, revive Thy work." He made us see very plainly that if we want this work revived we must be willing to pray for a revival in our own hearts.

During the Sunday school hour we were pleased to have the Sunday school from Fairview Missionary Baptist visit us, we also had a good talk from their Superintendent, Mr. A. D. Hopkins. The Dixon, Smothers, Williams reunion will be held at this place, the fourth of July. We invite any of our friends who wish to come to do so, bring a picnic basket and enjoy the day with us.

Our revival begins next Sunday night and will run through the fourth Sunday; hope all the churches on the circuit can visit us during the revival, Brother Whitehead will do the preaching. Pray for us.

MRS. G. W. APPLE, Reporter.

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Methodist Protestant Herald.
ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.
VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., JUNE 23, 1932 NUMBER 33

The Atheists

"There is no God" the foolish say,
And like an ass they bray and bray:
There is no sense in what they see
Because of blank where mind should be.

"There is no God" the faithless cry
And say they have no fear to die:
Their mind's so shallow they can't see
That awful deep—eternity.

"There is no God" the wicked hope
Because they fear with Judge to cope:
A sense of guilt befogs their minds,
To light of life completely blinds.

◆

Two Church Reports We Cannot Publish

One of them was written with a very pale pencil held by a hand that touched the paper so very lightly as to leave scarcely any trace. Some newspapers require all communications to be written with pen. We have never made that rule, but we must inform our friends that their writing must have a good degree of visibility in order to find a place in our columns.

The other report referred to gave an account of an ugly case of church discipline resulting in suspension from church membership. We do not believe it best for either party (the church or the disciplined members) to report the affair to the public. If any are wronged by the action, the Discipline of the Methodist Protestant Church tells what to do to have the wrong righted. "Whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are of good report, let us think on these things." We trust our good reporter will on reflection accede to this view. The report was made more difficult of publication by the fact that the writer's real name was withheld. What newspapers print is subject to possible court review. You will see the unreasonableness of asking editors to take unnecessary risks.

◆

HENRY FORD ON NATIONAL SOBRIETY

I give unreserved support to the Eighteenth Amendment and the prohibition law because they provide the degree of control over liquor which is necessary for national sobriety. As between a law which favors drinking and a law which favors soberness, the American home and church and school and workshop stand for the latter.

Prohibition is the best method that has yet been devised to give effect to the sober sentiment of the nation. We have always had excellent official co-operation in its enforcement.—Telegram from Henry Ford to Dr. Clarence True Wilson.

Masterpiece From Chicago

Last week the Republicans in national convention in Chicago solved the liquor problem and next week the Democrats in national convention in the same Big City and the same Big Hall will wrestle with the same Big Problem. We cannot describe the creature the laboring Democrats will bring forth. They are credited with performing a miracle in constructing a plank in their North Carolina platform: They made a plank that looks wet to the Wets and dry to the Drys. But in Chicago they can hardly excel the performance of the Republicans. Behold what they have done: they decided that those who do not wish to drink shall have prohibition and those who wish to drink shall have liquor. Was not that a masterpiece?

◆

—An important meeting is announced for next Friday night in Sheraton Hotel, High Point. One hundred representative citizens are to meet in the interest of High Point College. The friendship of High Point people for High Point College is to be appreciated and commended by all other friends of the college. Especially should Methodist Protestants rejoice in it. High Point College came into existence to help the Methodist Protestant Church on to a better life. If there are any Methodist Protestants that do not appreciate the College, that fact is evidence of the need of the College. It is absurd to try to conduct a religious denomination without providing agencies for education and training of church workers in an adequate way.

◆

WANTED—A WORKER

God never goes to the lazy or to the idle when he needs men for his service. When God wants a worker, he calls for a worker. When he has a work to be done, he goes to those who are already at work. When God wants a great servant, he calls a busy man. Scripture and history attest this truth.

Moses was busy with his flocks at Horeb.
Gideon was busy threshing wheat by the press.
Saul was busy searching for his father's lost beasts.
David was busy caring for his father's sheep.
Elisha was busy ploughing with twelve yoke of oxen.
Amos was busy following the flock.
Nehemiah was busy bearing the king's wine cup.
Peter and Andrew were busy casting a net into the sea.
James and John were busy mending their nets.
Matthew was busy collecting customs.
Saul was busy persecuting the friends of Jesus.
William Carey was busy mending and making shoes.—Hints and Helps.

THE METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH IN GUILFORD COUNTY

By DR. W. T. WHITSETT

(Extracts from an address on Memorial Day at Pleasant Union Methodist Protestant Church, Guilford County, on June 12, 1932)

Twenty-Four Churches in the County

Guilford County, North Carolina, has twenty-four Methodist Protestant churches as follows: Moriah, Fairfield (Liberty), Mount Pleasant, Pleasant Union, Tabernacle, Shady Grove, Grace, Gibsonville, First Church, Lebanon, Pleasant Grove, Welch Memorial, Vickory, Hickory Grove, Saint Paul, West End, Calvary, English Street, Midway, Welch Memorial, Bethel, Ai, Sandy Ridge, and Flat Rock. The oldest of these is claimed to be Moriah near Greensboro organized in May, 1829. The same year but later Ai, Sandy Ridge, Fairfield (or Liberty) and Flat Rock were organized, and while we have been unable to obtain the exact dates of organization, it is believed that before more than three years had passed that Mount Pleasant, Pleasant Union and Tabernacle had been organized also. Moriah celebrated her centennial in May, 1929 and at that time collected much valuable historical matter.

Early History

John Coe was named preacher for the Guilford Circuit by the Conference in August, 1830, followed by Alson Gray in 1831. Preachers of that day were: John Coe, Alson Gray, Charles Cooley, Alexander Albright, Travis Jones, William McMaster, William Blair, Nathan Robbins, John Moore, Isaac Coe, John Gray, John Gallimore, and Alexander Robbins. John F. Speight was soon added to this list. In November, 1856 the Guilford charge was divided and the Haw River Circuit created. In November, 1882, Haw River Circuit was divided and Flat Rock Circuit created. The early sessions of the Conference contain scant records, and fail to mention dates of organizing new churches, and when church buildings were erected, hence this can only be gotten from local research. These first circuits were formed to cover much territory, and a general superintendent was appointed, and then local preachers for each individual church. In early records we find long lists of preachers, but no mention as to where they preached. Because of this, much that we would like to know of local history has been lost. We are safe in saying that the following are the oldest Methodist Protestant churches in Guilford: Moriah, Fairfield, Mount Pleasant, Pleasant Union, Ai, Sandy Ridge, Flat Rock and Tabernacle.

Sources of Information

The History of the Methodist Protestant Church by Rev. J. R. Williiams of Baltimore gives us a detailed account of the Reform Controversy, and brings the story down to 1842; Rev. John Paris in 1849 wrote with a view of telling more fully the history of the church as it applies to North Carolina; in 1887, Rev. Ancel H. Bassett gave us what he terms his concise history of the church, but living in Ohio he naturally covers other territory more fully than that embraced in this state. Drinkhouse and some others have added to the story, but it is to old documents, old manuscript journals of conferences, newspapers and other church publications, and local records that we must turn for sources of much information that we would like to preserve of the church's growth and development. Prof. P. S. Kennett of High Point College is doing an invaluable service in his attempt to collect and preserve source material for a full and complete story of the church.

April, 1829, at Moriah Church

From the account as related by Rev. John Paris we learn of the happenings at Moriah Church which at that time and for many previous years to that date had been a Methodist Episcopal church. Paris says:

"In the western part of Carolina the Rev. Merriweather, superintendent of the Guilford Circuit, began to distinguish himself by his zeal in executing the reformers upon the Guilford Circuit. In the month of April, of this year, 1829, after having preached at Moriah in Guilford County, the congregation being dismissed, he took one of the brethren, Colonel William Gilbreath aside, and upon inquiring of the brother, and learning that he was a patron and reader of the "Mutual Rights and Christian Intelligencer" this clerical lord over God's heritage in a most dictatorial manner told Brother Gilreath that he 'must neither patronize nor read 'Mutual Rights'." To which the brother responded, "What I buy and pay for is my own, and I will read as I please." But the reverend gentleman feeling strong no doubt in his little brief authority brought the arguments to a close by the adoption of language better suited to the lattitude of Rome than it was to Carolina, and in a most consequential manner told Brother Gilbreath, "I will give you four weeks to consider about quitting the 'Mutual Rights' and if by that time you do not discontinue it, I will have you expelled from the church." The reply to this proffered alternative is characteristic of the honest simplicity and native independence of the man: "You need not give me five minutes, for I will read, and also circulate it, if anybody else wants to read the work."

Gilbreath was alarmed for his rights and called a meeting of the church for consultation on May 7th, just two weeks later. Rev. John Coe was made chairman, Joseph Gilbreath, made Secretary, and a Committee of five appointed who submitted these Resolutions:

"WHEREAS: It is the undoubted right of all free men peaceably to assemble, and freely to declare their sentiments on the conduct of their ecclesiastical as well as civil rulers, and

"Whereas: When the General Conference were petitioned to give up the dangerous power which they had assumed, they refused to do it, and professed that they were the divinely instituted authority to make, alter, and enforce the laws of the church, and have denied us the liberty of the press, and the freedom of speech; and the preacher in charge of this circuit having expressed a determination to prefer charges against all the members who circulate the 'Mutual Rights and Christian Intelligencer,' or propagate the principles of reform therein supported, which this meeting believe to be sufficient to justify the adoption of the following Resolutions:

"Therefore: Resolved, First, That this meeting highly disapprove of the government of the Methodist Episcopal church, so far as it respects the unlimited control of the itinerant preachers over the church; believing it to be contrary to the rules laid down by our Saviour in the New Testament, and practiced upon his apostles after His ascension to glory, and contrary to our Federal and State constitutions.

"Resolved, Second, That we consider it a duty which we owe to ourselves and our posterity to withdraw from the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"Resolved, Third, That the articles of Association of the Associated Methodist Churches be adopted, and we do hereby form ourselves into a society under their regulations.

"Resolved, Fourth, That this meeting receive the Rev. John Coe, local elder, and Isaac Coe, licensed preachers, into our church in the same standing which they had in the Methodist Episcopal Church, as ministers with the same offices and privileges."

Thus, thirty-four members set up the Moriah Methodist Protestant Church, leaving but two still to remain at that place with the Methodist Episcopal Church with Rev. Mr. Merriweather when he returned after his four weeks' notice to find Rev. John Coe well on his way to success with Moriah which was thus set up as the first Associated Methodist Church in what was then (1829) usually called Western North Carolina. We relate these details because they are the story of the "beginnings" of the work of the Methodist Protestants in Guilford County, and throughout this section.

Further activities of Rev. Mr. Merriweather may be noted here: he had the aged Rev. Travis Jones expelled from the church upon very flimsy charges that Jones was a patron and reader of the publication known as Mutual Rights and Christian Intelligencer. Rev. Benjamin Edge, also, joined in attempting to regulate the activities and thinking of those who differed from his own views in the conspicuous case of Alexander Robbins, which resulted in the withdrawal from the Methodist Episcopal Church of Rev. John Wilburn and Rev. Alson Gray who proceeded to set up churches which began at once flourishing careers. So, around Moriah, Bethel, and Liberty churches centers much of the early story of the rise and growth of the Methodist Protestant church in this territory.

Rev. Alexander Robbins died in 1865 and in a fine obituary which was written by Rev. W. H. Wills we have some additional side-light thrown upon these matters. This obituary may be found in the Journal of Conference for the year 1865. We quote: "Brother Robbins belonged to that noble band of men who in the early days of reform hazarded much for the cherished principles of our church. * * * Rev. John Coe of Guilford County with perhaps thirty-five others withdrew from the Methodist Church at Moriah during these exciting times. Brother Alson Gray had the independence to express himself freely, and to attend the meetings of the reformers. At a camp meeting in August, 1829, held by Revs. Brock and Edge, Edge said: "We intend to put Alson Gray down and destroy his influence; we told him to keep away from those men (the reformers.)" Rev. Alexander Robbins spoke up: "If these be your princpiles I am no longer a member of your church." Robbins left the house, met Alson Gray outside and told him of what was said; these and others took their stand that day for freedom in church matters. From this we learn that three churches: Bethel, near Oak Ridge; Moriah near Greensboro; and Liberty now called Fairfield, date back to the year 1829.

The second Conference Journal shows the reception of John Coe, and the appointment of ten preachers to Guilford Circuit. One minister was appointed as Superintendent, others called Assistants preached at churches near their homes. Coe served as Superintendent two years, and as Assistant until 1849; in 1841 he was Conference President.

In March, 1831, Alson Gray was made Superintendent, and local preachers were appointed as follows: James Lockwood, Charles S. Cooley, John Coe, Alexander Albright, William McMaster, Travis Jones, William Blair, John Moore, Nathaniel Robbins, John Gray, Jesse Gilmore, and Alexander Robbins. In the list of churches for March, 1831, we find Tabernacle, Shiloh and Ai for the first time; hence, they were organized sometime before this date. In a note written April 6, 1831, Gray states: "We need 100 copies of the Discipline, 50 hymn books, and 100 copies of the Constitution; there are fourteen ministers and preachers on this circuit." The circuit at that time was a four weeks plan. Gray says further: "Public opinion is with us."

The Superintendents for the Guilford Circuit for early years were as follows: 1832 Alson Gray, 1833 and 1834 John Speight, 1835 William Lineberry, 1841 John Cristie, 1842 Alson Gray.

Moriah Church was taken from the Guilford Circuit in December, 1842, and placed on the Randolph Circuit. From 1842 to 1856 the Randolph Superintendents were as follows: Joseph Causey, Arrington Gray, John Hinshaw, Joseph Causey, A. W. Lineberry, John Paris, J. Gilbreath, A. W. Lineberry, J. A. Neese and J. L. Michaux.

The Annual Conference met in November, 1856, at Moriah church at which time plans were made and trustees elected to open a female seminary at Jamestown, N. C. Conference met again at Moriah in 1876. In 1892 Moriah, Tabernacle and Shady Grove were constituted the Tabernacle Circuit.

From the Conference Journals we call the names of other ministers as follows: T. H. Pegram, R. R. Prather, C. F. Harris, R. R. Michaux, W. C. Kennett, J. S. Dunn, J. H. Page, J. W. Heath, J. R. Ball, W. W. Amick, T. F. McCulloch, R. H. Wills, S. W. Coe, J. E. Hartsell, with others who belong to a later date. Among others are W. A. Bunch, J. R. Hutton, W. M. Pike, H. L. Powell, C. A. Cecil, T. M. Johnson, G. F. Millaway, J. A. Burgess, Edward Suits, H. C. Carmichael. There were, also, Charles Cooley, Nathan Robbins, J. R. Beason, Joseph Holmes, A. Y. McMasters, Jesse Gallimore, James Deens, John Gray, John Lambeth, Quin Holton, H. T. Weatherly, Joseph Parker, C. A. Pickens, W. F. Kennett, W. L. Harris, A. L. Hunter, J. B. Trogdon, J. P. Pegg and others. From the Conference Journal of 1931 we learn that in the roll of Honored Dead of the ministers who have died from 1846 to 1930 there are 189 names. From the same source we learn that in 1931 there were 100 ministers in regular charges; also, two Honorary Members; and ten additional preachers. The Statistical Secretary reports for 1931 234 organized churches, and 232 church buildings, with 65 parsonages. The present membership is stated as being 29,557, with 25,642 in the Sunday Schools. The total value of the church property is given as $1,659,505.00, which with the Children's Orphan Home property, and High Point College gives a total value for all church property of $3,704,696.00. The officers of the North Carolina Conference at this time are: Rev. S. W. Taylor, D.D., of High Point, with Rev. C. W. Bates of Greensboro, N. C., as secretary. The officers of the General Conference are Rev. J. C. Broomfield of Pittsburgh, Pa., with Rev. C. W. Bates of Greensboro, N. C. as secretary. The treasurer for North Carolina is Rev. Geo. R. Brown of Reidsville, and for the General Conference Rev. J. H. Straughn, Baltimore, Md.

Methodist Protestant Centers

Several places in Guilford County have most interesting stories to tell of the days of beginnings in Methodist Protestant history. Over in Bruce township, near Summerfield, Flat Rock Methodist Protestant Church celebrated her centennial in 1931. Two years before this, in 1929, an excellent and commodious stone church building was erected, this being the fourth church house at this place.

Flat Rock is one of the most attractive churches in Guilford County, and is especially to be noted because of the large number of ministers who have gone out from this one church. The list as is follows: Revs. W. J. Ogburn, Taylor Harrison, J. S. Simpson, Rufus Morgan, Thomas J. Ogburn, D.D., J. S. Williams, P. S. Kennett, D. A. Highfill, and Hubbard Peebles.

There are but few churches anywhere that can make the proud boast of having sent nine active ministers into the work. In this list of nine are several who stand as among the leading men in the entire denomination in North Carolina.

Denominational Centers in Guilford County

Guilford County is proud to claim the distinction of being the state headquarters of the work of the Friends, or Quakers, with their splendid college and Yearly Meeting headquarters at Guilford College. The same is true of the Methodist Protestant Church, for in the outskirts of High Point we have the excellent Methodist Protestant Orphan's Home, and the splendid High Point College, both owned and controlled by this church, and both the pride of the entire citizenship of the county. Guilford County is honored in being made the center of the state activities of this denomination. In beauty of architecture and appointments Grace Methodist Protestant Church of Greensboro, and the First Methodist Protestant Church of High Point, will not suffer by comparison with fine examples of classic and appropriate church buildings to be found anywhere. In addition to all this, it is in Greensboro of this county that the denominational organ, The Methodist Protestant Herald, has its home. If it be a truthful saying that Faith without Works is dead, then we must believe the abounding faith of these Methodist Protestant people because of the most excellent manner of work that they have wrought in our midst during their wonderful century here in Guilford County.

Difference in Government Not in Doctrine

The name, Methodist, begins with John Wesley and that group of Oxford students, who demanded a revival of personal religion, and declared as their aim to "spread Scriptural holiness over the land." Great stress was laid on the work of the Holy Spirit upon the conscience of man, and the wonderful growth of Methodism shows that it made a marvellous appeal to the hungry souls of men. After more than twenty years in England the movement came to America with Philip Embury, Robert Strawbridge, Thomas Webb, Thomas Taylor, Richard Boardman, and Joseph Pilmoor. Their first American Conference was held in 1773. Asbury came to remain permanently. Thomas Coke and Francis Asbury became joint superintendents. The work prospered wonderfully. Finally, after the General Conference of 1844 there was organized in 1845 the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, because of differences with the northern body. Going back a short time, it was in 1821 that ministers and laymen of the Methodist Episcopal Church began to complain of the polity or government of the church, and in 1824 established a journal known as "The Mutual Rights," and organized societies known as Associate Methodist Reformers.

On November 2, 1830, a Constitution was adopted and a new organization was established with the name of the Methodist Protestant Church. In eight years it had fifty thousand members, the majority of whom were in the South. The fundamental principles of Methodism have never been the point at issue between the Methodist Protestants and the Methodist Episcopal branches. It is, rather, polity and government. Many felt that here in this county without a king, should be found churches without bishops. The various matters that lead up to the Methodist Protestant Church did not occur in any one particular locality. Cincinnati, Ohio saw the Union Society organized November 17, 1825; Lynchburg, Va., saw a secession of forty in October, 1828; November 6, 1824, a Union Society was organized in the Roanoke Circuit in North Carolina. A general convention of Reformers assembled in Baltimore, November 12, 1828. Twelve states sent delegates. The same idea of greater liberty was at work among the Methodists of Virginia, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, New York, Vermont, Georgia and Massachusetts. So we are not surprised to find that the first General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church was called to meet at Georgetown, D. C., May 6, 1834. Fourteen conferences were represented, with 500 ministers, and nearly 30,000 members. These represented those who under the name of Reformers, Associated Methodists, and other names had been for more than ten years making a struggle against the Episcopacy, Bishops, Presiding Elders, dogmatic government, etc. James O.Kelly, William McKendree and others had withdrawn in 1792 out of opposition to the arbitrary power of Bishop Asbury. In 1828 the convention of Reformers in Baltimore had more than 100 delegates. All these things and many more were happening in the days of the beginnings of Methodist Protestantism. In the second General Conference of the church in Pittsburg, Pa., May 15, 1838, a stormy debate arose over the subject of slavery. Thus we see, that running all through the early days of the church was a demand for equality and liberty, as opposed to anything that savored of autocratic power as delegated to any one official.

November 12, 1878, a semi-centennial celebration was held in St. John's Church, Baltimore, to mark the fiftieth anniversary of the assembling of the Methodist Reformers. At that occasion Rev. S. B. Southerland made a notable address in which he recited many things that had been accomplished: liberalized church government, representative Methodism; freedom of the church press, tyranny made odious, and usurped ministerial power made impossible.

Growth and Progress

The controversies of the past are happily ended, and fraternal good will and mutual understanding have come to all right-thinking Christians. This has been a growth of the years, and is to be found in many of the various denominations. Bitterness has given place to brotherly love, for all have come to see that the fields are white unto harvest, and the laborers are, indeed, few. There is work for all, and more than all can do. Liberality in religious thinking is now demanded by all alike. "Behold, how good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

While this is true, we owe much to those brave souls of other days who battled to bring these things to consummation; and, hence, we are glad today to pay this proper tribute to those who in this county of Guilford struggled for the Truth as they saw it revealed, and who set up throughout this county their places of worship to Almighty God that happily endure to this good day, still blessing their various communities, and with every assurance for growth through the coming years.

AND THE SEA IS NO MORE

By Rev. Luther K. Long

In the summer, especially, we all like the water. The great lakes and the small lakes, mountain streams and wide rivers—all are delightfully refreshing as a refuge from the heat. But we are particularly fond of the salt water. Inlets and sounds and bays and, much more, the wide open sea. Why, then, did John look forward with longing and hope to the time when there would be no more sea?

John was at this time a prisoner on the island called Patmos, because he had preached the word of God and testified concerning Jesus. He was there surrounded and shut in by the sea. He couldn't go beyond it, he couldn't even see beyond it. To him the sea meant limitation, barriers, near horizons. "No more sea" meant to him freedom, the doing away with limitations, the extension of opportunities—all that we mean by heaven. No wonder he looked with satisfaction to the time when the sea would be no more.

Our Sea, Our Limitations

1. The mother feels so limited by her children. Her time and strength are required in attending to their bodies and clothing and sleeping and crying. Their noses and mouths need frequent attention, as do their hurt toes and cut fingers. Their manners and morals give even more trouble, as the years move along, than do their bodies. She had not imagined that children would be so much care, and she had not supposed there would be so many of them. "Oh for the time," she moans, "when there will be no more sea, when the last child will be grown and away from home. Then I shall be free to go when and where I want to, and to do the things I have not had time for!"

2. Making a home and developing a business. The young couple began life together in a small house and set about clearing the land and making a real farm home. Gradually the trees were felled and were utilized for fences and buildings and fuel. There were weary days and disturbed nights as crops sometimes failed and sickness in the family and disease in the flocks and herds increased the labor and decreased the income. "When shall we ever see the end of building and clearing?" queries the husband "Oh," cheerily responds the wife, "we shall have all the debts paid, machinery and other equipment provided, and a good balance in the bank by the time the children are able to take care of themselves, and we shall be free to have the good times for which we have been laboring and sacrificing all these years. What delights we shall have traveling, seeing things, and enjoying ourselves!"

3. How limited is our knowledge! What barriers of ignorance rise up in front of us! Can we ever reach the heights and extend our mental horizon so that we shall see what so many scholars have become able to explore?

The contrast is indeed great between the knowledge and outlook of a child or an illiterate adult and the clear mental vision of the scholar who has attained to intellectual manhood through a long life of study and discipline. "When I come to know as much as Doctor Wise or Rabbi Solomon," says the modest freshman in college, "I shall be satisfied, and shall enjoy myself for the rest of my life."

4. The limitations of incomplete character. We easily do so many things we ought not to do; and it seems so natural to leave undone so many things we ought to do! Our impatience is such an obstruction to comfortable living, our selfishness so disturbs what might be pleasant relations with others, our unloveliness sours and embitters such large sections of human living and good fellowship. When we awake on that glad morning, we shall not only see Him as he is, we shall be like Him. Then all our imperfections and limitations will be gone. No wonder we "cast a wistful eye" to that land of perfection and breathe a sigh for the time when there shall be no more sea.

Meanwhile, What Shall We Do?

We should make the best of things. Kicking and screaming in protest against present conditions will not get us anywhere. We may, and we should find enjoyment in spite of these limitations. More than that, by means of these barriers and difficulties we may, and should, enrich our lives and bring added satisfaction to these about us.

1. Our children do limit us and often hold us back from many activities and enjoyments. It is unfortunate—and it may be wicked—to have too many. Voluntary and planned parenthood has advantages for both parents and children. Children are a heritage from the Lord; and they greatly enlarge us and our interests. The richest and finest years of our lives may be —and they frequently are—the period when our children are growing up in our homes. To have these interesting young creatures about us, while they are developing conscious relations with nature and human nature and God, and to minister to them in the loving fellowship of life, is to live and enjoy life in reality. "Our children do not owe us anything," my wife and I used frequently to say to each other. "They fully pay their way as they go along." Nothing can compare with the delight we have had in their presence and in watching their developing bodies and minds and spirits.

2. The years during which a young couple are establishing and building up a home, a business, or a profession are grand years. The difficulties encountered and overcome, the barriers burned away or surmounted, the horizons extended or lifted—these are the things that have required patient heroism, and they are the things that have made and revealed heroic souls. The years of retirement after a competency has been secured should, and do, bring needed rest and satisfaction after a life of activity; but some of the sweetest things about these quiet years are the sacred memories connected with the years of struggle and triumph.

3. I have never been able to share the sorrows of those who look upon school and study as dull and a weariness to the flesh and spirit. School is life! Life is a school! The student is living while he learns, and learning while he lives. It is not an arbitrary and unnatural thing that we begin in ignorance and inexperience, and go on to knowledge and wisdom. What can compare with the joy of learning and discovering? To feel an idea or a situation clearing up, to see a problem yielding to persistent effort at its solution, to hear the music produced as laws and ideas and things are perceived in harmonious movement: That is to experience freedom and enlargement indeed! I imagine that the pleasures of the open-minded student—during the years following his more active life—will be greatly increased because of his ability to continue to grow and acquire. That is why I like to insist that intellectual training should be sought by every one, not necessarily as a means of earning a livelihood, but as a means of enriching one's life.

4. Growth of character, in the very nature of things, requires time. A fine character can no more be handed to one ready made than can a tall, strong, and tough oak be grown overnight. The joys of overcoming, of achievement, of growth are worth all the effort required and all the sacrifices necessary.

It is interesting to watch the development of a child in self-control, in moral discernment, in faithfulness. It is gratifying to see how a high school pupil or a freshman in college attacks with success the problems of new relationships, the necessity of making his own decisions without the presence or the promptings of his parents. We need not advocate thrusting the young and inexperienced child into unnecessary temptations; neither should we desire to shield him against all dangers. The inner man, the person's own soul, must be strengthened by these contacts if he is to become a real man. The sea ceases to be any more, barriers are removed, limitations are done away with, and horizons are extended as we joyously set our faces toward the best things of time and eternity.

◆

Correction: Professor C. R. Hinshaw of High Point College received the degree of Doctor of Literature recently. He now holds degrees from Guilford, State University, Columbia, and Western Maryland College.

CHURCH LOYALTY

Recently Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale, is reported to have said, "The most fatal result from any line of action is no result. That is what is wrong with the church today. It ought to cost more to get into it, more to stay in it, and there ought to be more difference between church members and others. Every member should give more money to his church than he gives for membership in all his clubs put together, if he is a member of any."

I share that opinion. Nearly every church roll is carrying on it names of people who have for various reasons ceased to attend the services or to pay to the support. They have so little interest in the church that they never communicate with any official as to how they are living or what their wishes are concerning remaining members of their home church.

Some of these, shall I say many of these, are close enough to attend the services with some degree of regularity and are able to make at least an occasional contribution to the support of the church. Once in a while some other pastor becomes interested in them, and they desire to leave the home church, which they have failed to attend and refused to support, and this pastor kindly writes to the pastor of the church they are members of and requests a letter, and the good natured pastors writes true to form saying that Mr. Blank is an "acceptable member of the Methodist Protestant Church." I leave it to you to say what to call such an equivocal statement. And now this man or woman who has remained in a church like a pauper in an infirmary for years, gets up and walks over to rest in the invalids' camp of another denomination.

It is all wrong. It is wrong for a denomination to encourage idleness and loafing in the kingdom in any such form. All such should be informed that they are not acceptable members and that they should either become acceptable members or withdraw from the communion. It is true most denominations would lose from a fourth to a third of their nominal membership the first year, but would be just as strong as before and would be getting ready to develop into loyal supporters those who came into the church afterwards.

Such a soft hearted policy harms the individual and the church at the same time. Many years ago a man who was a member of a M. P. Church to which he was paying $2.50 annually, was assessed by the church twice that amount. In a rage he joined another denomination and was assessed the first year ten times the amount he had been paying, and he paid it without complaint. He had no love nor respect for the church that had borne with him so leniently.

If attendance and financial support are expected and required of those joining a church, then we do them wrong when after we have taken their pledge to do both, we require neither. We have been too indulgent, we have taken members into the church who should not have gone into it; we have coddled and cajoled those who ought to be discontinued, and have added to their ranks until we are about at the foot of the list of the denominations in contributions to the benevolences, and I suspect, there is less evidence of loyalty among our membership, if we count as a working force the attitude of all the membership, of any other denomination except those which do as we have done through the years.—R. M. ANDREWS.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Sympathy to Brother Powell

Brother H. L. Powell has been called upon recently to give up a brother by death, Mr. Jim Powell. We understand that he had lived to a ripe age, though not an old man, as some count age. His body was laid to rest in the burying ground of Pilot church, Tuesday, June 7. We extend to Brother Powell our tender sympathy in this sorrow.

Pastors' Summer Conference

The president, Rev. R. C. Stubbins, announces June 28-29, as the dates of this conference. Dr. Forlines is to make two addresses each morning of the two days. President Humphreys, Superintendent Dixon, and the writer are listed for addresses in the afternoons. We presume that the program will be given at the Children's Home, as on last year. Our pastors are urged to attend this conference. The program will be pleasing and helpful, and the fellowship refreshing. Pastors can reduce the cost of travel by going to the conference in automobile groups. Let us plan to attend this conference and get the most out of it.

June

This is an important month as regards our programs.

1. Children's Day. We trust that many churches will observe the day, and take an offering for the Board of Missions. This offering all goes to the foreign work. Where the program is not given, please let an offering be taken. Send it to Dr. Brown, marked "Children's Day." Take credit for the amount on the G. C. B. of the local church.
2. HERALD Subscriptions. Please push this effort during this month.
3. Pastors' Summer Conference, 28-29.
4. Leadership Training School, June 27-July 3.

Let us co-operate in all of these undertakings, and pray that God may give to them his blessings.

Treasurer's Report

In the HERALD of last week Treasurer Brown published the receipts for the second quarter, covering the months of February, March, and April. The report shows that the following amounts have been received:

A. C. B., $747.21; G. C. B., $802.58; College, $225; Special for Superannuates, $11.00; Exp. of Rep., $121.99. TOTAL FOR THE QUARTER, $1,907.78.

According to the Treasurer's report the receipts for the first quarter, covering the months of November, December and January were as follows: A. C. B., $514.61; G. C. B., $60.75; College, $159; Special for Superannuates, $21.31.

The totals, then, for the first six months of the conference year are, A. C. B., $1,261.82; G. C. B., $863.28; College, $384; Superannuates, $32.31; Expense of Rep., $121.99. TOTAL FOR THE FIRST SIX MONTHS, $2,663.45. This does not include the amount that the women have raised for which charges are entitled to credit. The treasurer of this fund, Mrs. S. W. Taylor, reports this amount to be $2,901.16. The grand total, then, for this period is $5,565.61. This seems a little short of the corresponding period of last year,—probably as much as $500. The per capita payment for budget purposes during this period is very small, being about 18 cents. But we are grateful for what has been done, and we shall hope for better things as the year lengthens.

Report of Pastors for Second Quarter

Our synopsis of these reports is delayed, owing to our absence while attending the General Conference, and other matters that have claimed our attention since. These reports are not limited to the second quarter; they deal with activities covering the first half of the conference year. From our 87 charges reports have been received from only 56. These reports reveal the following interesting facts: Accessions for the year, 259; "Up-to-Date" churches, April 30, Thomasville First, on A. C. B., G. C. B., and College; Burlington First, G. C. B.; Calvary overpaid on G. C. B.; First Church Lexington on salary and A. C. B.; Lebanon on G C. B.; Lincolnton on salary; Enfield church on Exp. of Rep.; Whitaker's on HERALD deficit; Mt. Pleasant and Pleasant Union (Mt. Pleasant charge) on Exp. of Rep.; Liberty (Liberty-Moriah) on salary; Kistler's (Cleveland charge) on Exp. of Rep.; Orange, all churches, on Exp. of Rep.; Julian, (Tabernacle charge) on A. C. B.

Leadership Training Schools are expected during the summer on nine charges; Young People's Day was observed in 45 churches; Easter, in 48 churches; church attendance is reported "good" on 33 charges, and Sunday School attendance "good" on 36 charges.

The organizational work for the first half of the year, as reported by these 56 charges, is as follows: C. E. societies 12; Boy Scout 1; Sunday Schools 4; Young People's Circle of Women's Auxiliary 1; Mission Club 1; Brotherhood 1; Business Women's Mission Circle 1; Sunday Egg Club 1; Women's Auxiliary 2; Auxiliary Circles 2; Aid Society 1.

One charge, North Davidson, has built a parsonage. The average salary paid pastors for this period, as revealed by 54 reports, is $326.74.

JOASH DAY was observed in 68 churches on 54 charges. The total JOASH OFFERING is $3,474.39.

Appointments

June 26—Anniversary service, First Church, Burlington.
June 28-29—Pastors' Summer Conference.
June 27-July 3—Leadership Training School, High Point College.

Conference Committee on Evangelism Meetings:
June 21—Tuesday, First church, Burlington.
June 22—Wednesday, First church, High Point.
June 23—Thursday, Concord.
July 6—Wednesday, Littleton.
Hour for each of these meetings is 2 P. M.

"I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of Egypt: open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it."

Fraternally yours,

S. W. TAYLOR.

THE EVERLASTING GOSPEL

(From a sermon preached by Dr. Carl S. Patton, pastor, at the dedication of the new First Congregational Church of Los Angeles, California.)

This brings me directly to my subject of the Everlasting Gospel. For what we expect to teach here is not scraps of knowledge about this or that, not merely, even, things that people ought to know about religion, but the gospel. This is a teaching pulpit. It aims not merely at exhortation, reproof, correction, the conversion of sinners and the spiritual stimulus of the good, but also at interpretation and understanding. And what we expect to teach, both in our classrooms and from the pulpit, is the gospel, the everlasting gospel.

But IS there an everlasting gospel? There is no question about the changes that have come over the Christian religion. The history of Christian thought is a constant process of such change. There wouldn't be any history of thought if it were not for that. Perhaps it is in the last sixty or seventy years that the most profound and sweeping changes have occurred in Christian thinking. Within that time the whole vast substance of an orthodoxy that had been 1,500 years in building has been visibly going to pieces. In such a world how can there be any everlasting gospel? I reply: it is just because the gospel is capable of endless change that it can and does live, and that it will live forever. Things get their stability in this world by their power to change. The one great promise of the Christian religion among the religions of the world, and the gospel of Jesus Christ against any other gospel, is just this simple fact of its endless power of adapting. This is not the handicap or the defect of the gospel. It is its strength and glory.

There is a sense, also, in which the gospel, while always changing is always the same. It is the same river, though other waters flow in it. It is the same ocean, though other waves come to the shore. It is the same world, though other people live in it. It is the same person, though other thoughts and purposes rule him. Some things about the gospel of our day seem better to us than some things about the gospel of our fathers. It is simpler, easier for a questioning spirit to accept; it is gentler, has more forgiveness and less wrath and retribution in it, more love and less fear in it. It is broader, perhaps, than our father's was, more tolerant, and reaches further from our merely personal relation to God into our business and our recreation and our statecraft. But at the heart of it, it is the same gospel our fathers loved. In the hearts of Christian people the same impulses forever beat. Before the eyes of the Christian Church the same ideals beckon. Upon the same foundation of spiritualities the new Church is forever built. That God is our father and friend, never withdrawing himself from companionship, but seeking to communicate himself to us in ever-increasing blessing; that Jesus Christ is our Savior, redeeming us by the power of his blessed example and the influence of his continuing spirit; that there is a power within us and about us upon which every man in his weakness and his uncertainty can lay hold; that the human soul is precious beyond all earthly possessions, and that to lose it is to lose everything; that there is hope for all men because they are made in the image of God; that Christianity means brotherhood and that the Kingdom of God will come upon the earth—it is such great and abiding and indestructible convictions as these, that the successive generations of men have striven to uncover and liberate.

For this everlasting gospel, still far from completion and still inadequately expressed and embodied, still to grow with the expanding thoughts of men, and in the generations to come simpler, still more glorious and more full of hope and promise for all mankind, we have built this new temple to the living God. And to him we now dedicate it.

THE SEARCH FOR GOD

God does not suffer his children to remain in darkness any longer than is necessary for him to work out his plan through free agency and human weakness. He is limited by these things. "Ye have limited the holy one of Israel." As to these changes in our religious feelings, what causes them? A low state of physical health some times enfeebles our religious feelings. Rev. L. G. Broughton tells of a young lady, a member of his church, who came to him and asked him to take her name off the church register, saying, "I don't want to be a hypocrite." He asked her to wait a while, at the same time he wrote her a prescription for treatment; he was a doctor before he was a preacher. After a few weeks he saw her and said, "I am ready to take your name off the church book if you still wish it to be taken off. She said, "I have decided not to take it off. I am feeling better now."

While we are in the flesh there is a very intimate relation between the soul and body. Our bodies and spirits are in a relation of mutual dependence. When physically caused moods obscure our spirits at times we ought not to think that we have committed the unpardonable sin, or that our faith is overthrown.

Neglect weakens our religious feelings. Very often we misinterpret these fluctuations of feeling. We are often so busy with temporal things that we forget to pray and read the Bible and we discover the fact that God's presence is gone, or we feel and think that He is gone, and we become alarmed, and it is good that we become alarmed, because it drives us to God. God is good. He is merciful—God has not forsaken us. He has hidden Himself from us.

G. F. Millaway.

"AN' HE AIN'T BY HISSELF IN DAT"

An editor, in commenting upon the fact that newspapers sometimes make mistakes in their columns, says he made some in his issue and a good subscriber told him all about it. He goes on to relate that the same day there was a letter in his postoffice box that did not belong to him; he called for No. 98 on the phone and got 198; he asked for a spool of number fifty thread and got number sixty; he got his milk bill and there was a mistake of ten cents in his favor; he felt sick and the doctor said he was eating too much meat when he hadn't tasted meat for two months; the garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer and he cleaned a spark-plug and it has run fine ever since. Yes, newspapers make mistakes—and so do other people.—Churchman.

OUR STORY PAGE

THE LARGER SERVICE

Each girl in the class had volunteered to raise a dollar for missions. After the dollar was earned, they were to meet and tell how they did it.

Every one had accomplished that now, and so, to celebrate the event, they met that afternoon with Grace, the president of the club.

When the meeting began, each girl arose and placed her dollar on a little round table in the center of the room.

Clare's turn came first. Clare was small and slender. She smiled at the girls—but, then, Clare always smiled.

"I took my little niece Virginia down town and bought her a hat," she began. "Her mother was busy and could not go, so she asked me to take her place. On my return she gave me a dollar."

Nora came next.

"I made two kinds of sandwiches for my brother Ben's hiking party," she announced. "For the making of those sandwiches he gave me a dollar."

It was Belle's turn, "I ripped up a skirt for Aunt Anna. She was so pleased that she didn't have to do it herself that she gave me a dollar."

The president stood up. Grace was a model officer, and every one loved her.

"I went to the court-house and recorded two deeds for Mr. Bently. He couldn't go himself, because of his rheumatism. He gave me a dollar."

Maud came next. "I answered several letters for grandmother, who was too feeble to do it herself. She gave me a dollar."

Grace turned to Lucy. Lucy was the last one to speak. She was the poorest of them all, too. Her family lived in a little brown house on the outskirts of town, and the father, being sick so much, never had any steady work.

Lucy was silent a moment. She wore a gingham dress, faded from many washings, and her hands didn't resemble Clare's in the least. Instead, they were rough and work-stained.

"I washed dishes for mine," she began slowly. "Mrs. Jackson, who lives in the big house on Cheery Street, had company for two nights. I went over and helped her serve the dinner, and I washed all the dishes. There were so many of them I thought I would never get through. It was after ten when I reached home, and I was very tired, but she gave me a dollar."

There was silence. Grace broke it thoughtfully.

"I think the members of our class should have great credit for their industry in earning the dollar; but, to me, the largest credit belongs to no one else than Lucy. It wasn't hard for us to earn our dollars, but it was hard for her. Not one of us likes to wash dishes, especially after a large dinner. We can only guess what Mrs. Jackson's dishes must have been. She always serves her dinner in courses; therefore I say that the dollar earned by Lucy represents the most sacrifice and the most labor." She paused.

"Christ took a towel and basin, girded Himself and washed the disciples' feet. I think Lucy has shown some of our Master's humility. She wasn't above doing humble tasks. Somehow I think that Lucy's sacrifice is going to be blessed. I know that you will agree with me that she has given the larger service. You needn't blush, Lucy; it is true. Hands up, girls, and show her that you agree with me."

In the twinkling of an eye, every hand went up. As for Lucy, she could not believe her eyes. She had often felt that the girls of that particular class cared very little for her; but, as she looked into those young faces, she knew that from now on it was going to be easier. In some way she had found the way to their hearts. It had taken two long evenings of dish washing to do it; but if it had done this the rest did not matter.

She looked at the girls again. There were tears in her eyes. "Thank you," she said gently. "Thank you."—S. H. M., in Girlhood Days.

◆

THE FIRST AND THE LAST

"I did feel so sorry for them," said Lucille, fanning her flushed face with the hat she had removed from her head. "They were so warm and uncomfortable. The auto broke down right in front of our house, quite the hottest place on the road."

"What did you do about it?" asked Aunt Lucy, slipping her hand down inside of a stocking she was mending.

"Why, nothing, of course," answered Lucille.

After a few moments of conversation about the weather, Lucille said, "I do pity that poor child who lives in that shanty on the alley. The child is a cripple, and has to sit in a big chair all alone for hours and hours. The mother is gone all day at work. If the poor child only had something pretty to look at, but you know what that alley is!"

"What did you do about it?" asked Aunt Lucy.

"What could I do?" exclaimed Lucille, surprised at her aunt's repetition of the question.

Aunt Lucy wove the thread back and forth, mending a hole in the stocking.

"Did I ever tell you about Deacon Britter?" she finally asked, critically examining, through gold-rimmed spectacles, her work.

"Well," she continued in response to a negative shake of Lucille's head, "the deacon was a pious man given to long, pitiful prayers. He would exhort the Lord to pity the poor, the lame, and the halt. He asked pity on the government, the state, and persons in private life. If there happened to be any one in the neighborhood in trouble, he would especially commend them to the pity of the Lord. And when he was not asking the Lord to pity some one, he was doing it himself. He went about with a long face, his heart filled with pity for this, that and t'other tribulation of his country, his neighbors, his kin-folk, the animals upon the earth, and the birds of the air. There was no end to the things he found to pity.

"But that was as far as he went. He never did anything but just pity. Your Uncle John called him the letter P."

"Why?" asked Lucille, puzzled at the odd name.

"Because it is the first in 'pity' and last in 'help'," answered Aunt Lucy, intent on another stocking needing darning.

"Oh!" breathed Lucille, after a little silence significant with thought. "I'm like the letter P, too. I could have asked that auto party into the yard in the shade, or given them a cool drink of water, but all I did was to pity them. Well, here is where I reform. That poor cripple child is sitting patiently looking out on that wretched alley. I'll go see what I may do to help her."

"You'll find a gingerbread man in the pantry that I made with my batch of cookies, thinking it might come in handy for some child," suggested Aunt Lucy. "That will shut out the alley view for one-half hour."

"And a handful of flowers from our garden will take care of another half hour," cried Lucille, hastening on her errand which would take her out of the letter P class.—Publisher Unknown.

THE SPIRIT-FILLED LIFE

It is, perhaps, not too much to say that the greatest truth of Christian experience is the fact of the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. It is a solemnizing and inspiring thought that the Christian becomes the temple of the Holy Ghost. It is only in so far as he forgets this truth that the Christian falls before the assault of Satan. Hence we are left with no excuse for sin. We have within us a garrison proof against all violence if only we summon it to our succor.

The liability to sin is ever present with us, but the strength to resist is always at our disposal. Temptation is the struggle between conscience and the devil for the possession of our will. This will, fortified by the Holy Spirit, can never fail. If I will, God can. That is the secret of Christian safety. Not in eradication, but in counteraction as it has often been said, lies the hope of victory. It is in the failure to grasp this great truth that the root of the unsatisfactory experience of so many Christians lies. They are content apparently to limp along where they might stride victoriously. How often, for instance, do we hear some one say, in excuse for outbursts of temper, "But you know I am naturally so hot-tempered, and that I simply cannot control my feelings." This, of course, can be no excuse, because for the Christian the secret is not a self-controlled but a Christ-controlled life. We too often forget that the salvation which Christ offers us is a perfect and complete salvation. It is not simply salvation from the punishment of sin now or hereafter. It is the promise of salvation from its power to all those who will yield themselves to the Holy Spirit—or as St. Paul puts it, "I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave Himself for me." This is the secret of all joy and victory.—Missionary Intelligence.

SMILE

Smile once in a while!
It does no harm,
And it doesn't cost a cent;
A smile that is warm
With the hidden charm
That a generous heart has lent.

Smile once in a while!
'Twill do you good
For a smile will shine both ways;
It will warm the heart
Ere it depart
On its mission of cheer and praise.

Smile once in a while!
Or twice if you wish,
For the world has need of cheer;
There are plenty around
Who are willing to frown,
But few who make life's sky clear.

Smile once in a while!
It does no harm,
And it doesn't cost a cent;
A smile that is warm
With a hidden charm
That a generous heart has lent.

—Publisher Unknown.

THE BABY TORNADO

Bessie was a very peculiar little girl; she was not a bit like you. She had the strangest habit, the habit of whining, "I don't want to," when she asked to do anything.

Where Bessie lived, little whirlwinds, or baby tornadoes, as Mr. Fletcher called them, came up very suddenly. You could see them coming a long way off, for the dust would whirl round and round in circles above the dusty road.

One fine day Bessie was putting her favorite doll, Mary Jane, to sleep in her baby buggy, out by the garage, when her mother called suddenly, "Bessie, run to the house, quick!"

Bessie scowled and pouted; then she whined, "I don't want to, mother." Suddenly she was snatched up by a baby tornado, whirled round and round; then she turned a complete somersault and landed at her mother's feet in the doorway.

The next day she was in the hospital with two nurses and her playmate Mary Green. Bessie was not seriously hurt; but she had to stay there for several weeks.

Mr. Fletcher says the baby tornado was Bessie's wind-teacher. Anyhow, Bessie now says, "Yes, mother, I'm coming," in such a pleasant way that it makes her mother happy all day long. Her mother says that the whining Bessie must have been blown clear out into the middle of the prairie.—Unknown.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD
President of High Point College C. E. Society

June 26: HOW DOES CHRIST MEET THE NEEDS OF AMERICA?

Scripture—Philippians 4:19.

America finds herself confronted with problems which, as yet, have proved too large for immediate solution. Financial difficulties are so large that many people have been completely overcome. The problem of distribution and consumption have become so tightly locked that most industry is at a standstill. Other spheres of life have become equally complicated. What shall America do? If financial power, or brain power, or leadership would have been sufficient the case would have been solved. The only answer to the question seems to be offered by our Scripture text, at any rate, it might be tried by America.

Christ provides the way for salvation: "I am the way, the truth, and the life."—(John 14:6). America has sought an escape from her problems; other standards have been followed than those of the Christ, "There is no other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." — (Acts 4:12). We have the promise that there is salvation in Christ: "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." America is called a Christian nation but we have only to consider the following to see if America needs Christ. There are in America 60,000,000 who are not nominal Christians, that is, those who do not even profess Christ. The need of America is Christ, the remedy salvation.

Christ teaches the way to live. Most people have a philosophy of life but there can be no finer product of the human brain than the philosophy of Christ. There is much in the code of Christ which could well be in that of America.

Christ teaches simplicity of life. "Take no thought for what we shall eat." I do not think Jesus woud advocate poverty but he would place a second day value on luxurious living. Materialism has so gripped America that it is not enjoyed and is not the satisfying thing which will bring peace to the longing soul. We need a revaluation of life placing spiritual things in the first place.

Humility of life is a part of the teaching of Jesus. "Blessed are the meek . . ." America is excessively proud with very little reason. Natural resources, color of race, and other objects of boastful pride are geographic and natural resources.

Jesus had compassion on individuals and on groups and exemplified it to the world.

American business and social life are so stratified that no compassion is felt for hungry, tired people.

The Beatitudes are a code for happy living. How happy is America with its divorces, suicides, bank failures, broken homes, and sacrificial purity? We are missing the really happy solution of life.

Christ teaches and illustrates service. He taught a personal contact with those whom we would serve and not mere giving.

◆

FIRST METHODIST PROTESTANT CHURCH BURLINGTON, N. C.

June 14, 1932

Dear Friend:

On Sunday, June 26, this church will celebrate its 40th anniversary, and in connection with this, we are planning for a Home Coming occasion for those who were formerly members, friends and neighbors of the church. We want you to come back for the day and see your old friends who will come, your relatives and other friends who are still here, and meet the pastors who have served the church during the 40 years of its history.

A special effort will be made to have all our older members out for the services and all ex-pastors and others are having a special invitation, so we want you too. In addition, we ask that you let other members of your family know of the anniversary, and tell them to come, as we want no one omitted, but it is manifestly impossible for us to send written invitations to all, so we shall have to depend on you to help us.

Briefly the program for the day is as follows:

9:30 a. m.—Sunday School. A special program, and a short talk by Mr. R. M. Holt of Spencer, N. C., a former superintendent.

11:00 a. m.—Preaching service. The sermon will be by a former pastor, Rev. S. W. Taylor, D.D., now president of our Conference. Other features.

12:30 p. m.—Dinner hour. You are invited to bring lunch with you, and provision will be made for eating on the grounds, so that all may be together for social intercourse at this time. We would like to ask you to "eat with us," but fear we cannot care for the large number we expect. There will be plenty of tables, water, etc. for you, however.

2:30 p. m.—The Anniversary service. A short history of the church, recognition of charter members, etc., and a short talk by Professor Dan C. Holt, Supt. of the Liberty Schools, Liberty, N. C.

7:00 p. m.—Christian Endeavor meeting. Former members of the society who can remain for this, are urged to be present.

8:00 p. m.—Preaching service. The sermon at this time will be by a minister who has gone out from the church, Rev. C. E. Forlines, D.D., of Westminster. Md.

We hope to have several special features which we cannot tell about at this time, and we can only insist that you try to be with us for as much of the day as you can We shall be disappointed if you and your folks do not come. We shall be looking for you.

Very sincerely yours,
TOM STAFFORD,
ROMEY ROGERS,
MINTER COBLE,
Committee.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Mitchell's Grove S. S., Guilford	$ 2.00
Baraca Class, First Church, Burlington, Caring for child	10.00
Flat Rock, Vance	2.00
Stallings, Mecklenburg	1.25
Shiloh S. S., Randolph	2.45
Grace Church S. S.	4.92
Graham S. S., Caring for child, May and June	20.00
Bethel S. S., Flat Rock	1.27
Mt. Lebanon S. S., Randleman	3.50
First Church S. S., Thomasville	6.08
Concord S. S.	20.00
Friendship S. S., Shiloh	3.00
Pleasant Union S. S., Mt. Pleasant	1.18
Shoals S. S., Pinnacle- Mt. Zion	3.10
Center, Alamance	8.00
Liberty S. S., Liberty-Moriah	2.75
Mt. Carmel S. S., Forsyth	2.30
Yarborough's Chapel S. S.	2.09
Philathea Class, Gibsonville, Feeding child	5.00
Mrs. C. W. Mengel, High Point, Pers.	2.00
Rainbow Class, Lebanon, High Point, Feeding child	5.00
Lebanon S. S., High Point	4.77
Henderson S. S.	8.06
Bethany S. S., Randolph	1.00
Hickory Grove S. S., Guilford	1.05
State Street, program by children	12.63
Shiloh S. S., Shiloh	3.51
Shiloh, Shiloh, program by children	8.67
W. Thomasville S. S.	7.45
W. Thomasville, program by children	4.05

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mrs. C. S. Vest, High Point, N. C., two waists, four dresses and six pieces of underwear. Mrs. F. M. Taylor, Enfield, N. C., ten dresses and one coat. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cox, Lexington, N. C., 12 cans fruit and vegetables. Circle number 1, Missionary Society, Haynesville, La., one quilt. Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Whitaker, tomato plants and several varieties of plants for flower garden. Mr. Carl Stanfield, Brown Summit, N. C., several thousand sweet potato plants and some peaches. The Denton Woman's auxiliary, Denton, N. C., nine bed spreads, nine pair pants, two pair pillow slips and one pair shoes. These bed spreads and pillowslips and summer pants for boys are all striking right at our needs.

We are profoundly grateful to all of our friends who contributed to make the above report possible. We are encouraged to keep pressing on with the work of the gifts of money and substance which constantly keep coming in.

This shows that our people realize that it is their work as well as ours.

The Coupons

The Octagon coupons keep coming in. Be sure to remember and work for the prize of $5.00 offered to the auxiliary sending in the greatest number of coupons during May, June and July. Just about six more weeks in which to work.

A Donation of Produce

We are using every available piece of ground and our men and boys are working faithfully to produce everything possible on the farm and at this time the prospects are

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Pleasant Grove.—Sunday school was opened Sunday by the Men's Bible class. The president, J. R. Meredith, had charge of the program which was enjoyed by all.

Our pastor, Rev D. R. Williams, brought us a wonderful message Sunday from the text, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift."

For the evening worship he chose as his subject, "What is Man and what is Man without God."

Our revival meeting will begin the second Sunday in July. Pray that we may have the greatest revival Pleasant Grove has ever witnessed.

The Sunshine auxiliary met the first Monday night with Miss Helen Cecil. At this time the new officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. J. R. Meredith, secretary, Miss Helen Cecil; treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Craven. After the business a contest was enjoyed by all, the prize going to Mrs. A. R. Craven. The hostess, Miss Cecil, served ice cream, cake and lemonade.

The Ladies' Aid society met the first Wednesday evening with Mrs. J. R. Meredith. Mrs D. R. Williams had charge of the program which consisted of songs and reading and a welcome poem by llittle Norbett Meredith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Meredith.

After the regular business the hostess, Mrs. Meredith, assisted by Misses Helen and Mary Kenedy, Mrs. Joe Murphy, and Mrs. Don Newby served deviled eggs and ham sandwiches, cake, ice cream and lemonade.

The Brotherhood will meet Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. D. R. Williams. REPORTER.

* * *

Henderson.—On Sunday morning, May 29th, Mr. Jasper B. Hicks, the lay delegate from this church to General Conference, gave a splendid report to the congregation. Mr. Hicks was the leading lay delegate from North Carolina and Rev. L. W. Gerringer, a clergy delegate from the North Carolina conference. This conference was in session for ten days at Columbus, Ohio, and the next conference will meet in High Point in 1936.

The monthly meeting of the auxiliary was held at the church on Monday night, May 30. There was a large number of members present and five visitors. Circle No. 1 had charge of the entertainment and furnished the following program: Devotionals, conducted by Mrs. J. B. Fox; a short talk on Prhoibition was given by Mrs. L. W. Gerringer; a violin solo, "Sweet Mystery of Life," was played by Miss Frances Woodlief, accompanied by her sister: a reading "The Treasurer," was given by Miss Josephine Martin, and a piano solo, "Meditations," was played by Miss Nellie Gray Kittrell in conclusion.

The business period was presided over by Mrs. Gerringer and reports from all officers, committee chairmen, and special activities were given. During the social period refreshments were served by members of Circle number 1.

Mrs. J. M. Baity was hostess Thursday evening, May 27th, at her home on Southall street to the Philathea class of the Methodist Protestant Sunday school. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Silas Powell, and the devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Nichols.

After the minutes, reports were heard from various committees and at the conclusion of the business session, the meeting was turned over to the program committee.

In the attendance contest, the reports showed Mrs. Walter Grissom's side to have 375 points and Miss Lucy Taylor's side to have 175 points. Mrs. R. W. Goodrich sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Finch. An interesting pin contest was had, in which Mrs. W. E. Wilson was the winner.

The hostess, assisted by her two daughters, served delicious refreshments.

Last week the Leadership Training school was conducted in the local church, with Rev. J. B. Braxton assisted by Miss Mary Young as dean. The teachers included Miss Young, Mr. T. J. Whitehead, Misses Maxine Taylor and Margaret Hight. There were twenty certificates awarded for the three charges, including Vance, Granville, and Henderson.

The revival services were voted to begin in our church the 17th of July and continue for two weeks. The preacher for this service to be selected by the pastor.

The regular Children's Day program will be presented at the evening hour on next Sunday night, June 26. The pageant, "The King's Children," will be given.

REPORTER.

* * *

Greers Chapel.—Our C. E. society is pressing forward. The flower committee especially has been on the job. We feel sure the flowers were a cheerful message to the sick who received them.

As the weather was very bad Sunday, June 12, Miss Kathleen Fitzgerald, the leader for Sunday, June 19, was unable to get the program to the society. However, Rev. John Fitzgerald of California agreed to speak to us. It was announced in Sunday school and a goodly number was present.

After a short business meeting the service was turned over to Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald. His text was taken from St. John 14:6.

Miss Sadie Byerly has the program for Sunday, June 26. Service begins at 8:00 p. m. Visitors are always welcome at Greers Chapel.

C. E. REPORTER.

* * *

Tabernacle Charge.—The large auditorium of Tabernacle church was completely filled for the Children's Day service last Sunday afternoon. It was really a children's service —Scripture reading, praying, and reciting were all done by the children. The Sunday school superintendent, Mr. C. M. Fields, appointed Mrs. H. L. Whitley and Mrs. E. T. Coble to arrange the program and train the children. They deserve much credit for their excellent work. An offering was received for Foreign Missions.

Our simultaneous Bible school at Julian and Tabernacle were a decided success, the attendance being highly gratifying. A fine spirit of co-operation was demonstrated by Shiloh and Julian churches when they united in holding the school, the teachers being selected from both churches. We believe that impressions were made on the hearts of the children that will be indelible.

Brother W. T. Hanner, of Julian, recently spoke at Tabernacle church on his impressions of the last General Conference. His address was very interesting.

Miss Beulah Garrett, one of our faithful members, and Mr. Crosby recently drove to Virginia and were happily married. We are pleased to learn that they are locating in the community and can attend Tabernacle church.

Miss Mary Emily Jones, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones, graduated from Pleasant Garden high school recently with honors. She is contemplating entering High Point College this fall.

During the preaching service last Sunday morning Miss Eva Jones united with Julian church, coming from the Christian church in Winston-Salem. The church welcomes this splendid young lady into its fellowship.

Two of our members, Miss Martha Cameron Hardin and Mrs. Pete Monett, are in Long's hospital, Greensboro. Others are sick in their homes. We trust they will soon be better.

Mrs. Henrietta Goley has our sincere thanks for provisions for the pantry.

H. L. ISLEY.

* * *

Elbaville, Mocksville Charge.—Rev. G. B. Ferree, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, delivered a very interesting and helpful sermon, which every one present greatly enjoyed. We consider ourselves indeed fortunate in having a pastor who throws himself so deep within the Lord's hand until he can touch the heart of his people with his wonderful messages.

On Sunday, July 3, there will be a Home Coming day here. The revival meeting will also begin. Rev. R. C. Stubbins of Asheboro, N. C., will help to put the word of the Lord across. We wish to invite all that will to attend and pray for a wonderful meeting. There will be all day service here on Sunday. Dinner on the grounds. Come and bring a big basket and enjoy the day with us.

We are sorry to say the death angel came and took away one of our aged members last week. Mr. J. E. B. Shutt, who was 72 years of age and has been a faithful member here at this church for the past 40 or more years. He lived a life we all love. There's a vacant spot within the church which never can be filled, but with the angels he must now dwell. So let us take a pattern of life from the way Mr. Shutt lived and try to meet him on high.

LIZZIE BAILEY, Reporter.

* * *

Winston-Salem, First.—In the absence of the pastor on the first Sunday in June, Rev. H. L. Powell from Thomasville came up and occupied the pulpit at the morning hour. The people seemed greatly pleased with Brother Powell's sermon. Judging from the favorable comment he must have preached a good one.

Yesterday morning we had a beautiful and tender memorial service for all the deceased members and former pastors of the church who have died. Miss Jacque Gwynn sang beautifully, "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions." Then Mrs. B. K. Millaway and Mrs. H. G. Paschall took their places within the chancel and as the names of the deceased members were called placed a flower in an urn on the chancel table, the congregation standing with bowed heads. All the flowers were placed, and while the congregation was still standing the choir sang sweetly, "Crossing the Bar," by Tennyson. The pastor preached a sermon on, "What we owe to those who have gone before us."

Next Sunday morning we will take the vote for delegate to the next Annual Conference, the nominees being, Brothers S. E. Hauser and W. G. White.

A committee is working out a programme for Children's Day service which will be given in July. We had been hoping that this programme might be worked up in connection with a daily vacation school but it does not seem possible now to have the school.

Brother R. H. Shouse, the treasurer of the church, has recently been bereaved on account of the death of his mother.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

Calvary, Greensboro.—Miss Elizabeth Williams, registrar for the Summer Conference at High Point beginning June 27th, reports fourteen registrations from Calvary and she hopes to get more. Come on, folks, and sign on the dotted line.

Circle number 1 had an ice cream supper on the church lawn Thursday night of last week. Our preacher expressed a yearning for ice cream, hence the lawn fete. The ladies sold out and declared themselves satisfied with the results. We hope they will have another soon. I don't think the preacher ate all the cream. Numerous others helped him.

The ladies auxiliary met Monday night in the church hut with a large attendance. After the business session, Circle number one served delicious refreshments, assisted by Miss Doris Miller, who gave a brief talk and demonstrated the various uses of Wesson Oil and Snowdrift. The evening was a most enjoyable one. Too bad we don't have more refreshments at the auxiliary meetings. Mention eats and we get a large crowd.

We had a new circle present at the auxiliary "The Sunshine Circle." The young folks are doing splendid work. Their leader, Mrs. Caudle, gave a good report. May their work be all Sunshine and Smiles.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

Young Men's Wide Awake Class, Shiloh.—Many times we get hungry and we find it necessary to get something to eat. We find that it is the same way with our souls. We must go to church in order to get the food for our souls. I always like to go to Shiloh to get the food for my soul.

Our teacher taught a most wonderful lesson on "How may we honor our parents." The golden text being, "Honor thy father and thy mother." This being one of the commandments, if we take and live up to this we will have better homes and better churches. Our teacher said, "If we have Christ with us we will not be ashamed of our parents or we will not be ashamed of owning Him as our Christ."

There are many ways of murdering our parents by the things that we do, by the ways we act, and by the lives we live; may we never be guilty of doing this. Parents should live lives before their children that the children will not be ashamed of their parents and children live lives that their parents will not be ashamed of them. We like to have honors which are all right if we can attain that sacred and religious part of our lives. We should not neglect the good things which our parents have taught us although we may have high honors. Above all things, honor, obey, and cherish father and mother.

We as a class of young men enjoy the fellowship one with the other. We enjoy singing the praises, we sang that good hymn, "Where He Leads Me." May we be willing to go and to follow Him anywhere.

We are always glad to see a large number present each Sunday. We are always glad to have the visitors.

I am also a member of that splendid Christian Endeavor society at Shiloh. I am thankful that I have been brought up in the community which has such a splendid church in every way. We feel as one large family all working for the cause of Christ. We owe much of this to our pastor, Rev. R. S. Troxler, also to our president, Mr. Roy Leatherman, these are two of the best men that I know of anywhere.

May the Lord help us as we journey through life, and when our work here is done may we all meet in heaven where we will praise the name throughout endless ages of eternity.

CLASS REPORTER.

Hope, Chatham Charge.—On the second Sunday in this month memorial services were held at our church. While the exercise was given at our church, the program was arranged jointly between our pastor and Rev. M. Byerly, pastor of the Baptist church. Mr. Byerly secured as his speaker, Rev. Mr. Harris of Hickory. His talk was enjoyed by all present. In the afternoon Rev. H. L. Isley, pastor of Tabernacle, came and brought an appropraite message which was also enjoyed very much. We were favored with special music by Miss Chappell, soloist. The graves were decorated and the roll of the honored dead was called. Although the weather was somewhat unfavorable, a very good crowd was present and a nice dinner served.

Last Sunday night our Children's Day exercises were observed. Songs and appropriate selections were given after which a pageant, "The King's Children," was rendered. The exercise was pronounced "good". The children and the ones in charge deserve credit for getting up the program. The offering was fairly good.

Mrs. Love has been in very poor health this summer. Let us pray for her that she may regain her strength and be more able to help Brother Love in the work that she would like to do.

KARA ANDREW, Reporter.

First Church, High Point.—On Sunday morning the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, brought a very impressive message from the parable of the lad with barley loaves and fishes taking as the text the statement of Jesus, "Gather up the fragments that remain so that nothing be lost." He emphasized the wisdom of frugality, quoting Cicero who said, "The world has not yet learned the blessedness of frugality." He declared that the sin of America is wastefulness, and while attending the World's C. E. Conference in London in 1926 he was impressed with the fact that there is not an inch of ground in England or France which is not under cultivation. Nothing is wasted in the way of food, and America needs to learn economy from Europe. We waste time in doing things not worth while, and we can get back everything but time. Trifles make perfection, but perfection is no trifle. The more of the gospel we give to others, the more we have for ourselves. Christ was always pleased to be multiplying our gifts. If we let Him take our lives, we dare not say that we have nothing to give. Jesus exceeds all our expectations, and He can take the most sinful life, and make of it a joy and blessing to mankind. If you will tarry with Jesus, you will be filled with His spirit. Men fail to find satisfaction until their will is lost in Him.

In the Sunday evening worship period, Rev. Mr. Farmer delivered another comforting message, the subject of which was "Abounding in Hope," from Paul's statement in Romans 8:24 and 15:13, "For we are saved through hope. Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing that ye may abound in hope." He said that one dares not ignore the causes and waves of pessimism abroad today. We stand on the brink of losing much which has been gained at the cost of great sacrifice, unless we awaken as Christian citizens to the dangers confronting us. No generation ever faced more fair hopes and high ideals shattered. But hope leads to Christ which is our salvation. Hope inspires to effort. Our fate is in the hands of those who look not to the past, but the future. Moody said that God never uses a discouraged man. Then hope affords grace to bear trials. In Brighton, England an inscription on a sun dial reads, "'Tis always morning somewhere in the world." A vision of God opens the spring of hope. With Carlyle let us remember that, "From the lowest depths there is a path to the loftiest height." With Christ as our guide we shall find the way.

On Sunday evening the Intermediate C. E. society met at the church. Miss Margaret Dixon was in charge of the discussion, "Are we honest as individuals and as groups?" Robert Russell presided at the business session.

An unusually successful State C. E. Convention was brought to a close in Catawba College, Salisbury last Friday evening. Mr. Luther Medlin of High Point was elected president for the coming year. Our Senior C. E. society under the direction of Mrs. Theodore Ballard won the first prize for the best poster, while honorable mention was given to the Scrapbook made by Miss Nellie Martin. The poster was displayed in the lobby of the church on Sunday morning, and attracted much comment. The C. E. Convention accepted High Point's invitation extended by Rev. R. I. Farmer to meet in this city at High Point College in June 1933.

The Senior C. E. society will hold its weekly meeting Monday evening at the City Lake, Jamestown, and a picnic supper will be enjoyed.

On Tuesday evening an important meeting of the Board of Stewards will convene at the church.

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock a meeting on Evangelism, which is most important, will be held in First Church, being called by Dr. S. W. Taylor in co-operation with the Conference Committee on Evangelism.

The Leadership Training school will be held at High Point College June 27-July 3. Registrations this year are 25 cents each, and Miss Myrtle Davis will be pleased to receive as many as possible. Board has been reduced to a minimum of $7.00 for the week.

The circles of the Woman's auxiliary are meeting this week as follows: On Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Number 4, Mrs. Ryan chairman, with Miss Elizabeth Welch, North Main St.; Number 5, Mrs. Whitaker chairman, with Mrs. Jones Burns, English St.; Number 6. Mrs. Shelton chairman, with Mrs. E. D. Auman, Montlieu Ave.; Number 7, Mrs. J. H. Allred, with the chairman on Sunset Drive; Number 8, Mrs. R. H. Gunn chairman, with Mrs. J. S. Pickett, N. Main St.; Number 2, Miss Lucy Oakes Harper chairman, will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock with Mrs. Lee Collins, West Ray St., and Number 3, Miss Naomi Morris chairman, with Mrs. Leonard Honeycutt, Woodrow Ave.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the meeting of the N. C. Druggists' Convention at the Sheraton Hotel Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week, at which 500 are expected to be in attendance. The program calls for a barbecue at the City Lake on Wednesday evening and a banquet at the Sheraton Hotel Thursday evening. A. Coke Cecil, president of the local association, is in charge of arrangements, and will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Dowdy.

Of special interest to his numerous friends here is the announcement that Rev. E. Lester Ballard, who is so pleasantly remembered as the associated pastor for two years, received the A.M. degree at the commencement of Boston university on June 13th. He and Mrs. Ballard have been living in Boston for two years, where he has been studying and singing in one of the city choirs. Congratulations are extended to him upon the successful completion of his university course.

An honor has been conferred upon Prof. C. R. Hinshaw of the faculty of High Point College when he received the degree of Doctor of Literature at the recent commencement of Western Maryland college, Westminster, Md., for meritorius and outstanding work.

Miss Anne Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robbins, was graduated in Voice at Cincinnati Conservatory of Music last Tuesday, June 14th. She is now at home to the delight of her many friends, who are expecting much pleasure from hearing her beautiful voice this summer. After two years study at High Point College, she has spent the last two years in Cincinnati, where she was a pupil of the well-known Dan Beddoe.

John R. Mebane of Burlington has arrived in High Point to spend the summer with his daughter, Mrs. S. C. Vuncannon, 810 West Broad St.

Miss Ila Hensley will play the organ for services this summer during the vacation of Professor Ernest B. Stimson.

Much sympathy is expressed by many friends for Mrs. C. C. Robbins in the death of her only brother, Mr. W. Long Holleman, which occurred at his home in Greenville, Miss. on Tuesday, June 14th, after an illness of a few weeks from heart trouble. Mrs. Robbins and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Holleman, were at the bedside when the end came and accompanied the body to High Point, arriving last Thursday afternoon. Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robbins on Friday at 1 o'clock with a large concourse of friends and relatives in attendance. Rev. Roy I. Farmer was in charge of these services, at the close of which the funeral party left for the old home at Graham, where burial was made. This death is an unusually sad one, coming in the prime of his young manhood, the only son of devoted parents, and leaving as survivors his young wife and two lovely children. May the loving Heavenly Father be very near to these bereaved ones in their sorrow and loneliness, and may they feel His comforting assurance, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee."

A very pleasing recital was given by the music pupils of Mrs. Minnie P. Harrell in the Philathea room of First Church on Tuesday evening, June 14th. To each pupil Mrs. Harrell presented an appropriate gift.

Mrs. C. L. Whitaker has gone to Greensboro to spend sometime with her daughter, Mrs. Lewis White and small daughter, Anne.

Mrs. John C. Whitesell left Sunday for a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moffitt, in Ramseur.

James S. Moffitt returned Saturday from Washington, where he went as a delegate to the convention of the American Business club from the local organization.

Misses Vera York, Anna Rowe Russell, Iris and Jewel Welch were among the number of High Point delegates to the C. E. convention in Salisbury last week.

* * *

Charlotte.—Beginning next Sunday evening our church will unite with the community plan, having our preaching service at Independence Park at 8:00 o'clock. Several denominations will participate and we hope to have fine meetings of inspiration and fellowship.

The Christian Endeavor had a fine meeting Sunday evening with a large attendance. The young people are to be congratulated on their good meetings and fine spirit of co-operation They will have a business meeting Thursday evening of the week with Miss Margaret Walters at her home on Thomas Ave.

The Philathea class held a meeting recently and elected the following officers: President, Helen McCall; vice-president, Dorothea Andrews; secretary, Ruby Stegall, and treasurer, Helen Whitley.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Ladies' auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. B. N. Little. Although our number was small we enjoyed a good program. At the close of the meeting delightful refreshments were served.

The attendance was very gratifying at the Sunday evening service, and those who were not there missed an inspiring and helpful sermon delivered by our pastor, Dr. R. M. Andrews.

We are looking forward with much pleasure to the Annual Sunday school picnic which will be held July 4. The committee on arrangements is expected to report Sunday where it will be held. REPORTER.

* * *

Mt. Hermon, Mt. Hermon.—On the first Sunday in June our Sunday school superintendent, Mr. L. P. Holt, called together the teachers and officers of the school and organized a worker's council. Each Sunday the teachers, assistant teachers, and officers of the school meet fifteen minutes before the ringing of the bell for a brief worship period, and to discuss problems and possible ways of improving the school. At the first meeting of the council the problem of training the assistant teachers and officers was discussed. The council voted to set aside the second Sunday in each month as "assistant day" in our school. On Assistant Day the teachers and officers are relieved of their duties and allowed to visit other classes, while the assistant teachers and officers have complete charge of the Sunday school.

Both the Sunday school and the C. E. society are putting on a membership drive with gratifying results.

The work Mr. Bowman has been doing in our church through his singing school is worthy of commendation. Mr. W. Moser has recently been elected choir director.

The board of Religious Education met and made plans for the Daily Vacation Church school which is to begin the second week in July.

Everyone is invited to attend our Children's Day program which will be given Sunday night, June 29th, at 6:45. The first part of the program consists of song, recitations, and dialogues by the small children. After a short intermission the older children will present a pageant entitled "The King's Children."

A number of our young people have registered for the Leadership Training school. We hope to have several representatives attend the school.

The Ladies' auxiliary will meet Friday night at the home of Mrs. G. M. Isley

* * *

Lexington, State St.—The program brought to us by a group of children and young ladies from the Children's Home Sunday morning was greatly enjoyed by a large audience. Not a Methodist Protestant was present but felt proud of the fact that the splendid boys and girls and others like them are products of our own institution and that such leaders as Dr. and Mrs. Dixon are representatives of our conference.

The address by Dr. Dixon at 11 o'clock was fine in every respect, encouraging, challenging and impressive of the fact that al things work together for good to them that love the Lord, and that "God works in a mysterious way His wonders to perform."

There was such an encouraging increase in attendance when the Sabbath school roll was put on the bulletin board that our superintendent said that she wished we might have the children from the Home every Sunday or some other such drawing card—if there is any other such.

We are glad to see Mrs. John B. Leonard out again after a recent illness of two weeks.

Mr. J. W. Lindsay, our faithful and well loved superintendent emeritus, was with us in the services Sunday morning. All were glad to have him with us again. It is seldom that his health permits his coming out to church.

REPORTER.

* * *

English Street Church.—At the Sunday school assembly, the past Sunday the "Searchlight Girls" gave an interesting program honoring the fathers on "Father's Day."

The Christian Endeavor society had a business meeting Thursday, June 15, at the home of Miss Myrtle Cates. This meeting brought the Christian Endeavor year to a close. Reports prove this one of the most successful years of the society. Christian Endeavor at English Street has really done some work. At this meeting new officers were elected, which are as follows: Kathleen Embler, president; Myrtle Cates, vice-president; Callie Loflin, recording secretary; Tressie Caudle, corresponding secretary, and Frank Ring, treasurer. We are looking forward to a successful year under the able leadership of Miss Embler, because she has filled this office before and has proved her efficiency. On Sunday evening at the regular C. E. prayer meeting the new officers were installed, the former president taking charge of this service.

Several members of our society attended the "C. E. Institute" sponsored by High Point City Union. The "Expert Endeavor" was taught at this institute. We feel that this study course will be a great help to our society.

Mrs. J. A. Bowers has been ill at her home on Pope street for the past four weeks, but we were glad to see her back at church on Sunday night. A MEMBER.

◆

Gibsonville Church. — On Tuesday evening of last week the Junior Missionary society held its regular monthly meeting at the home of the superintendent, Mrs. M. J. Jennings. The story (the Treasure Hunt that the children are studying) was in charge of Camille Kivett. The story for next month will be in charge of Ruth Ellen Yow.

The Young Ladies' auxiliary held their June meeting on Friday evening of last week, at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Petty. The vice-president, Miss Esqurida Yow presided over the business session and conducted the devotional. The Bible study and discussion was in charge of Rev. Bethea. A social was enjoyed at the close of the study.

The next meeting will be held with Mr. and Mrs. Bethea at the parsonage.

Last Sunday morning Rev. Bethea brought us a very splendid sermon, using as a text Haggai 1:4. The sermon was appropriate to the present condition and held unusual interest for the hearers.

A program for Children's Day is being prepared by Mrs. F. G. Hammer, superintendent of the children's department. She is being assisted by Mrs. F. R. Owen and the teacher from this department.

Miss Ella Mae Sears has returned home after spending the winter at Great Falls, S. C., where she was a member of the Senior high school class.

Nathaniel Bethea has arrived from the Panama Canal zone and is visiting his parents, Rev. and Mrs. N. G. Bethea.

REPORTER.

◆

Shiloh.—Gen. 5:24, "And Enoch walked with God and he was not, for God took him." From the preceding text Brother Troxler spoke to an attentive congregation on the first Sunday. He said in part, "We need to commune with our own souls. The rich man did that, but about the wrong thing. Out of the names mentioned in this chapter before the name of Enoch, nine are said to have lived, begotten and died. Enoch aspired to higher things; he was spiritual and hungered for God. He didn't live so long as others of his day, yet it isn't how long, but how did he live. Enoch walked with God. The sweetest benediction of any life is to walk with God. We have so many nominal Christians, who have forms of Godliness but deny the power thereof. Our great need is for a closer walk with God. We all have the same privilege that Enoch had, the blessed privilege of God's grace; and the greater the need, the greater is the grace."

On the third Sunday morning Brother Troxler gave us another message on the "Call of the Soul," from Jno. 11:28. In a very vivid way he told us of the call of Jesus to every human soul. After the sermon we had a sweet consecration service at the altar.

Sunday at 3:00 p. m. Dr. Dixon with a number of his boys and girls from our orphans home was with us. After the program, which was well rendered by the children, Dr. Dixon told us in an informal and forceful way of the work and urgent need of the home. We trust his message found a sympathetic response in every heart there. Picnic supper was served and every one present enjoyed the good things and good fellowship with our guests.

Fred Berrier, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Berrier, left Monday evening to take a position in Richmond, Va. with his brother, W. Carl Berrier. We shall all miss Fred, but hope for him a bright future. Many of our Shiloh boys have gone out into the world and lived in such an uplifting way that Shiloh rejoices to call them her own. We rejoice that so many of our boys and girls carry the Christ of their youth with them and are a blessing to the church and community to which they go. The love and blessing of your dear old home church follows all of you, dear boys and girls.

Children's Day will be observed at Shiloh on the fourth Sunday night in June.

MRS. WILLEY SHOAF, Reporter.

◆

Laurel Hill.—On Sunday morning, June 12, at 11 o'clock our pastor preached to us. The sermon was a good one and was well enjoyed.

One extra service each month has been given us by our pastor, which will be each third Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

At our next morning service the second Sunday in July, Rev. Clarence Morris will preach to us. He is a young minister and we are very fortunate in having him with us. We, the members of Laurel Hill, wish him great success, and may God keep him and strengthen him. The Lord's Supper will be served at this time also.

Our revival will begin the second Sunday in August. This is the time to begin praying for a revival—so let's get busy. God rewards us according to our work.

We are very sorry to report that our dear superintendent, Mr. A. A. Sain, is still very sick. He is now in Shelby hospital taking treatment. We are praying for his recovery. If it be God's will we hope to have him back in Sunday school with us. Although we have a faithful assistant superintendent, we feel a great loss when we find Mr. Sain not at church on Sunday morning.

Rev. A. D. Shelton, our pastor, was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Sain Sunday.

◆

Why Not.—Our special meeting at Sea Grove has been held. Just what was accomplished in this meeting we can not tell, but we feel that much good will develop from the services held. Brother Short, from Denton, was our pulpit help and the folks greatly enjoyed his splendid sermons. Children's Day programs will be rendered at most of our churches. Our next special meeting will be held at New Hope the Third Sunday in July with Rev. J. W. Hulin pulpit help. We are expecting a good meeting at this place for the church is already spiritually alive. Here we have a fine set of young people who are doing good work in the newly organized C. E. society. They lead the choir in all our services. Mrs. Cox, their leader, and also organist, is proving very efficient in this work of leading them, and we greatly appreciate all her efforts.

At Fair Grove, Love Joy, and New Hope we have three active societies composed of a fine group of young people who seem anxious to do whatever they are asked to do.

Last Sunday evening at 8 o'clock we preached to a splendid congregation in the schoolhouse at Ula. The thing that impressed us most was the large group of young people present, and also the fact that but very few of them belong to any church. We believe it would be wise to add this to the list of appointments on Why Not Charge.

Brother C. T. Luck, one of our members at Flag Springs has been confined to his bed for several days. We hope that he may soon recover. We were very glad to be in his house a while last Monday.

Wife and I were very pleasantly entertained last Sunday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Presnell whose farm is located in the New Hope community. Every pastor who has served "Why Not Charge" knows the kind of reception pastors get in this home. Then, too, when ready to leave next morning our car was filled almost to the limit with fine, fresh vegetables. We certainly thank these good people for such substantial tokens of kindness. We also wish to express our appreciation to Mrs. Russell Williams, of New Hope, for milk and butter given us. Also to Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Luck, of Flag Springs church, for a fine piece of meat given us last Monday. We are profoundly thankful for these and all other gifts received.

This letter is not intended to cover the activities of the entire charge but such a report will appear later.

GEO. L. REYNOLDS.

NEW PLANETOID DISCOVERY TO AID MEASURING DISTANCE BETWEEN EARTH AND SUN

The earth has a new neighbor in the heavens, a tiny planetoid so close that astronomers here and elsewhere are regarding it with unusual interest.

Its discovery by Dr. Karl Reinmuth of the Heidelberg, Germany, observatory, announced last week, was described by Dr. Edwin Brant Frost, internationally known astronomer, was "exceedingly important" because he said it would be of special value in determining the distance between the earth and the sun.

The new planetoid, named Nineteen Thirty-Two H. A." can attain a proximity of about 4, 350,000 miles to the earth. It is the first planetoid to go within the earth's orbit. The tiny wanderer, which is only a few miles in diameter, follows an elliptical orbit between that of the earth and Venus. There is no danger of a collision with the world, however, because it crosses the earth's orbit south of the ellipse.

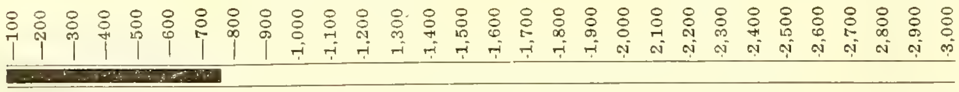
N. C. LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

Pre-Registration Campaign

Kernersville, Kernersville	5
Flat Rock, Vance	1
Salem, Saxapahaw	7
Perviously Reported	78
Total to date	91

T. J. WHITEHEAD.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	13¾
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	3¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	12½
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10
Concord	33	16½
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2½
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	9
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	10¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro,Grace	42	26
Greensboro, Calvary	25	11
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	8½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	12½
Halifax	52	13
Haw River	49	11½
Henderson	38	12¾
High Point, First	72	34½
High Point, Lebanon	31	18½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6
Liberty-Moriah	31	15¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	8½
Mebane	28	5
Mecklenburg	38	3¼
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	22½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	18½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10⅝
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	21
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	16
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	9¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	27
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

◆

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued from Page Eleven)

pretty good. So we are doing all we can to help ourselves. But we know that many of you are already planning your donations of produce from the gardens, fields and orchards. We shall gladly give out empty glass cans, while they last, to those who will fill them with fruits and vegetables and return them to us later. In passing please stop and get a dozen or more cans. We thank you.

Our Program

We went on yesterday to State Street, Shiloh and West Thomasville. The people were kind to us, they fed us bountifully, contributed to our work and expressed appreciation for our program.

We are hoping to go to Richland charge next Sunday.

One of our little six-year-old girls is very sick. We had almost despaired of her. But we are hopeful now that she is improving.

Yours in His service,

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

NOTICE OF MEETING OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON SUPERANNUATES

Notice is hereby given that the special Committee on Superannuates, authorized by the last Annual Conference (Report AA, page 98 of Journal) is called to meet at High Point College on Tuesday, June 28, at 3:30 o'clock. The purpose of this notice is to inform the people that the committee is meeting that any person who has any advice or suggestions to offer the committee that will aid in the solution of the problem of better support for our Superannuates may communicate with the writer of this notice before the meeting or appear at the meeting.

J. E. PRITCHARD, Temporary Chmn.
906 Carolina Ave., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Linnens

Claude J. Linnens, of Belmont, passed away at the Rainey hospital on June 6, age 17 years, 10 months and 7 days. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irist R. Linnens, one sister, Annie Dare Linnens, three brothers, Ray, Roland and G. A. Linnens, also a host of friends. The deceased was accidentally killed by a train. His untimely death brought much sorrow to his family and a host of friends. He was held in high esteem in his community, as was evidenced by the large number of friends who gathered at the home and the church to pay their last respects. Also the floral offering was one of the most beautiful ever witnessed by the writer; thirty flower girls were used.

The writer was assisted in the funeral by Rev. Wayne Curtis, a friend of the family and the deceased. Our hearts go out in sympathy for the grief stricken parents and loved ones. May they have grace to say, "The Lord gave and the Lord has taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord." L. E. MABRY.

◆

Fentriss

Webster Monroe Fentriss, son of the late J. Milton and Mollie Kirkman Fentriss, was born March 1, 1847 and departed this life June 9, 1932.

He professed faith in Christ in early youth and united with the Methodist Protestant church at Tabernacle, where he remained a faithful member until death.

He was united in mariage to Miss Martha Isabel Gossett, September 12, 1872. To this union were born eight children of which four survive: Mrs. Chas. E. Kirkman, Mrs. Eugene Coltrane, Charles and Fremont Fentriss, all of Pleasant Garden. There are eighteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren. Surely a good man has gone to his reward.

The funeral was held in Pleasant Garden church by the writer, assisted by Revs. G. W. Williams, of the M. E. Church, South and Elbert Newlin, of the Friends church.

H. L. ISLEY.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. J. M. Morgan	$3.00
Rev. J. E. Pritchard	2.00
Mrs. W. G. Starr, Grace	2.00
Rev. C. L. Spencer	1.00

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., JUNE 30, 1932 NUMBER 34

Seminary Library 5dec52
Westminster MD

A Shower of Pains

A pain in head!
A pain in back!
A pain in neck,—
Acute attack!
A pain in eye,
A pain in throat:
These pains—pray what
Do they denote?

Do demons shoot
Their fiery darts
Well aimed to reach
My vital parts?
Do Satan's hosts
Their missiles send
To wound my life
Beyond amend?

Not fiendish hate
But love divine
Sends down to me
These pains of mine.
The knife so sharp
In loving hand
Would make of me
A better man!

◆

CHANGES IN THE DISCIPLINE

Anyone taking a casual glance at the report of the Committee on Revision, which report is to appear in the Methodist Protestant-Recorder, and perhaps in the HERALD, will certainly be impressed by the length of it. But it is more lengthy than weighty. Not many of the changes are of a very serious nature, and do not greatly affect the average member. Perhaps the report is more significant for what it left out, those recommendations and memorials which it (the Committee) did not favor, than for what is included. When the Committee says, "We do not approve the suggested change in Article ... Section ... Paragraph ... Page...", we who are not on the inside may wonder just what was involved. Sometimes they told us; sometimes they didn't.

But here are some of the changes that may be of interest:

1. The Church Treasurer is added to those from whom reports are to be received at the Quarterly Conference. (That was simply an omission in the 1928 revision of the Discipline. But it may hold a club over the brother—or sister—and let him know that he can't get out of making a report because his name did not appear.)

2. "No Conference shall employ or station a minister who has remarried after being divorced, unless he be the innocent party." So far as I know that does not apply to any one of our ministers. But it may be well to have it there as a safe-guard. It does apply to ministers in other conferences.

3. Perhaps one of the most interesting amendments has to do with the limiting of nominating and seconding speeches for General Conference officers. "Nominating and seconding speeches shall be limited to three minutes." This scribe listed such speeches at our last General Conference until he was tired, and listened to them until he was exhausted. Ten for one, and eleven for the other, and without limit as to time and space. No wonder there was rebellion in the camp!

4. "No Annual Conference President shall give a letter of standing to any minister or preacher in his conference until he knows positively that such minister or preacher is not indebted to the Board of Christian Education." That, perhaps, will stop a good deal of the leakage that comes from those who, having been helped toward getting an education by our church, take French leave when they get a degree from our colleges, or as soon as possible thereafter.

5. The Commitment Service has been changed by substituting these words in the place of those now there: "Inasmuch as the soul of our deceased (Brother) has departed this life." I suppose the brethren who proposed that amendment thought it was hardly fair to charge the Lord with a good many of the departures when we said that "it hath pleased God to take out of this world our deceased (Brother)."

6. "We do not approve the resolution suggesting an amendment making the President of the General Conference ineligible to succeed himself." That isn't a change in the Discipline since it isn't approved; in fact, the Discipline doesn't say anything about a second or third term. We have just taken for granted that after a man has had the office four years he might be suffered to try it again. But some of the brethren wanted it put down that he couldn't try it again. Now we can do as we please about it, which is, perhaps, the proper way to dispose of it.

7. A great many more changes are indicated in the report, but most of them have to do with phraseology or with the constitutions of the various Boards, and do not greatly concern us who live and work in the local church.

C. W. B.

◆

No Herald July 14—Vacation Week

Please send for issue of July 7 any necessary announcements.

LET US SEE YOUR POCKETS

By LUTHER K. LONG

That outstanding Japanese Christian, Toyohiko Kagawa, has written a most interesting book, "New Life Through God." In reading the volume I came across this very suggestive paragraph:

"Once at my home, when I was studying ants and their nest-making, I saw one ant feeding honey out of its mouth to another that was tired. Some ants have two stomachs, one provided for their own use, the other the crop for the distribution of food to companions who need it. Is not this," Mr. Kagawa goes on, "a social arrangement to be thankful for? If the mutual love of human beings were developed as thoroughly as this, what a blessing it would be!"

I was surprised and gratified not long ago to find in the library a volume on "The Life of the Bee," by Maurice Maeterlinck. It has all the literary charm that one naturally looks for in a work by this author. But the chief attraction of this volume is the revelation of the writer's close observation and accurate information concerning the lives of these proverbially busy bees. One in reading feels anew a deep conviction of the wonderful love of God manifest in the social care and unselfishness developed in His creatures.

But to get back to the ants—and ourselves.

We have no second "stomach," as some of them have, to collect and deliver a supply of food for our needy fellows. But we have developed an arrangement that is capable of rendering a valuable and a much more varied service. We have pockets in our clothes. We put many things into them. And we may withdraw from them supplies that will serve our needy fellows. Let us look into our pockets and note some of the social possibilities as we view the varied contents:

1. There is the handkerchief pocket. I have seen a kind-hearted person take a "spare" handkerchief from the pocket and use it helpfully on the mouth or the nose of a child, or apply it to wipe away the tears from the eyes and cheeks. Wet with cool water, how fresh and bright the face of a child can be made by it.

2. A pocket-knife. Many a time has a boy's knife come in handy, not only for his own convenience, but for the aid and comfort of another. A knife will divide and pare an apple or a turnip. It will cut a fishing-pole, sharpen a peg, prepare kindling for a fire and do countless other bits of service.

3. A pocket-book. Money and checks come in handy for one's self, and they may be just as serviceable for another in distress. Food may be brought that will be just as gratefully received and used as though it came from an extra "stomach." We are learning afresh in these times the necessity and the joy of having within our reach some extra supply of cash that will relieve the necessities of some one who may be just as honest and just as industrious as ourselves, but who has been a little harder hit in the depression that is hurting all of us.

4. Food, nuts, candies. I used to know a man who almost always had apples in some of his many ample pockets. He had a large orchard and was liberal, especially toward children, in the distribution of its fruits. Needless to say, he had many friends among the children. Another man always carried candies and nuts in his pockets, and the children had no difficulty in finding the way to them.

5. Medical first aid. A package of court plaster, a small vial of iodine, a little camphor, Sloane's liniment, a box of salve, a bit of adhesive tape and sanitary gauze—these may be carried in the pockets or in a small traveling bag or, at any rate, they may be kept in a first aid kit at home. When a child or an older person happens to be injured, even slightly, it is a great comfort to have some one present who knows how to relieve pain and to prevent infection. As I write these lines thousands of "Bonus Marchers" are here in Washington. Last night, as you now know, the Senate overwhelmingly turned down the bill sent over by the House. The District authorities have been concerned lest disease break out in their temporary and unsanitary camps. Whatever we may think of the wisdom or folly of these men coming from all over the country in quest of relief, we are at least glad that provisions are being made against an epidemic of disease that might jeopardize the lives of great multitudes.

6 Toilet articles—comb, tooth-brush, nail-file, shaving-kit. Near the end of the 1893-96 depression, there came to my house a man who wanted to spade in the garden for something to eat. After he had done a nice bit of work—showing that he was of the right sort—and had eaten with an appreciating appetite, he asked if he might have a piece of soap. "I think," he explained, "that it will not be long before work will start up. I want to wash my clothes at the river that I may look as well as possible when applying for a job." One may not be willing to share with another the use of intimate personal articles, but one certainly should be willing always to help another to the possession of those things that are so necessary in the maintenance of cleanliness and self-respect.

7. A watch—and possibly a compass. To be able to tell a friend or a stranger the correct time of day, and to point out to him the way he desires to go and to give him some correct information concerning the country through which he is to pass, may be rendering a very real service. Without impudence or presumption, this may be made the occasion of sharing with the traveler our knowledge of the way of life. We would be surprised to know how many people will respond appreciatingly to such approaches made in a skillful and kindly way. Frequently I have pleasant contacts with people from other states through noting their—or their noting my—automobile tags. Most people whose paths we cross are much like ourselves. A kindly "Hail, and farewell!" will almost always be cheering and helpful.

8. Pencils and note-books It is good to have these that one may loan them to another who wants to make an interesting record. It is well also to have in one's mind easily reached ideas and information that one may draw upon and freely converse with others and add to the store of knowledge of those not so well-informed. The information of which we have complete mastery enables us to give first aid to many a mind not so well equipped. It is a good thing to be able to refer an enquiring mind to certain books and authorities for a complete discussion of the matter in hand. The fact that we ourselves have so many times been helped from "pockets" of this sort will, I am sure, prevent our assuming a superior attitude toward those to whom we desire to be helpful.

I have not mentioned the contents of all the pockets. Others may readily be added to the list. The reader will, doubtless, think of bad things that may be, and sometimes are, carried in pockets and distributed to the detriment of others. As in every other matter with which we are concerned, we need to use our intelligence and discrimination.

LOOKING

By Rev. W. A. Ledford

The backward look of Lot's wife was a good index to her heart and soul. But we are not primarily interested in her personally. We know very little about her. She was probably from the same tribe as Abraham and Lot. From all that is known, she was a good wife and a good mother. When Jesus exclaimed, "Remember Lot's wife," He was holding her up as a representative of those millions in all ages who have started out to follow the Lord, without separating themselves from the unclean things of the world. Their eyes are in the direction of Sodom, and their hearts and souls longing and yearning for the garlic and flesh-pots of Egypt. They are more interested in the worldly things they reluctantly left behind than the Promised Land ahead.

When Jesus said, "No man, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God," he made it very emphatic that the backward look is fatal. The disciple of Christ cannot serve two masters, nor look both forward and backward. The divided heart, the double mind, the backward look are too destructive to risk. That loud crowd today clamoring for a backward step in temperance reform, had better be seeking the divine mind than "a return to those days when one could put his foot on the rail and blow off the foam." The principles, ideals, institutions, which have made America great among the nations of the world, are being endangered through wet madness.

The story is told of two young men entering an institution of higher learning. One degenerated so rapidly that the school authorities made an investigation of his case. They found hanging before his eyes a large picture of the artful, avaricious, cruel Queen Catherine de Medici, most of whose life was a chronicle of female infamy. To increase her political influence she corrupted the morals of her sons. She fomented civil war among her subjects, and instituted the massacre of St. Bartholomew. The other young man placed before his eyes the picture of Queen Victoria, whose life was noted for piety, devoutness, and whose reign was the longest in English history. Each young man moulded his life after his own model, ideal placed before him.

The goal for Christians is Jesus, the Pioneer and perfection of faith; who is always ahead and never behind. No greater falsehood was ever proclaimed than the cry, "Back to Christ." Christ is still pioneering in life, faith and salvation and calling to Christians, "Follow thou me!" A certain man years ago attempted to walk a rope across the Niagara river, just a short distance below the falls. The teeming multitudes unnerved him in the first attempt, but he announced that he would make another trial of it the next day. He turned his back on the multitudes, and fixed his eyes on a large silver star placed on the other side of the river; and the second attempt was successful. Christians must look unto Jesus, marching onward through the maze of distractions, enduring, as seeing Him who is invisible. The proper prayer for all, it would seem, might be "that our Star of hope might not grow dim, nor disappear."

GENERAL CONFERENCE REACTIONS

This article is written in the light of the fact that we have almost come to the place in our denominational life where it is a crime to oppose the established order and a disgrace to suggest any financial approach different from the one which produced or made possible our present denominational status, appalling debts and all the rest. Yet, here goes.

The recent General Conference followed in the rut made by all the rest: it spent all its time attempting to fit our church to a definite financial system; whereas, the call was to produce a financial system to fit the church. In the first, the pattern determines the life; in the second, the life determines the pattern. There is a vast distinction between the two; to fit a church to a definite financial system is usually fatal; to produce a financial system to fit a church is always stimulating, vitalizing. In fact, this is the only way through which and by which a denominational ideal may be harnessed and in full force placed behind the financial program of a church. We can never measure the complete financial utility of our denominational ideal until those who pay the budgets determine the budgets.

Our representatives in the last General Conference had in their possession a resolution looking in this direction, which they refused to present. Accordingly, and without protest, we enter upon another quadrennium with a financial system which came almost directly from the Methodist Episcopal church; and more, a system which will carry back to the Methodist Episcopal all who blindly follow it. It is a system which demands a bishop and thrives best in no other atmosphere. The tighter we cling to the system the faster we move toward the Methodist Episcopal church.

The system would thrive in our church if our legislative bodies in handing down assessments and budgets would always register the will of the people. This they will not do. A budget is not a goal to be attained, but an obligation to be fulfilled. Hence, it is a crime to put the budget beyond the reach of the people, however much the money may be needed. Such a system produces debts, destroys the church and weakens the moral order. Such a policy has almost run its course in our church. We must go back either to the will of the bishop or to the will of the people. Which shall it be? The principles of our church point one way. The leadership of our church points the other way.

If anyone doubts the drift of our last General Conference let him remember that the conference approached the entire problem of church finances by discarding "New Century Service," the most expressive term in our denominational vocabulary, and adopted "World Service," a term directly from the Methodist Episcopal church. Certainly the body which took this step would not make any serious, concerted attempt to set our denominational house in order for any extended stay. However, this does not remove the responsibility which rested upon them to so act.

The last General Conference did many things, but it refused or neglected to do the necessary thing: give to the Methodist Protestant church a financial system through which the membership might directly, accurately and annually register its will touching the most important phase of denominational endeavor—finances. To deny the people this right, when it might be given, is to deny them the right to pursue their denominational ideal and determine their own destiny. Such an act would sober and unify the Methodist Protestant church by placing responsibility where it properly belongs.

H. F. FOGLEMAN.

THE SEARCH FOR GOD

"O that I knew where I might find him." (Job 23:3.) Job was in trouble and was not sure of God. He had lost the vision of God and was in distress. It is often the case with God's people, when trouble like a dark cloud comes upon them. It seems like God is a long way off, and we feel that He has forsaken us. The Psalmist said, "Why hidest thou thyself in times of trouble?" Sometimes we feel Him near, we are sure of His presence, our emotions are free, it is easy to pray and feel that His ear is open to our cry. This delightful frame of mind passes away, our emotions subside, and we fear that God has forsaken us.

Sarah Flower Adams, who wrote the hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," afterward confessed with sorrow to her pastor that the sense of God at times seemed to fade away and lose its authority. We find this same fluctuation of our religious feelings when we turn to the people of the Bible. There it is usually made to appear that God, after having graciously shown himself, withdraws, leaving the person in helplessness and misery. Job lost the vision of God because of sorrow rather than sin. So had Christ on the cross, when He cried, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" We are sinful. Nothing so blinds us to God as sin. So we find that the religious feelings are not always the same. Sometimes they are strong and vivid, sometimes weak and faint. They fluctuate, and this fact troubles us. It often makes us think we are different from other people, who seem to have an abiding sense of God's presence. We ought to know that this is a common characteristic, that it is shared by others, for it surely is the case. May the Lord bless these things to the help of those who have such fears and doubts. Let us be determined, hold on to God. Job said, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him."

G. F. MILLAWAY

AT THE UNITED STATES POST OFFICE IN WASHINGTON

I am frequently impressed with the monuments, memorials, and great public buildings in Washington. As a rule they are grand, beautiful, and inspiring.

No doubt some men who have been elected to serve in the legislative and administrative departments of the government have disgraced themselves and dishonored the confidence reposed in them by the people. But those who have had charge of deciding what inscriptions should be placed on public buildings and memorials have been especially discerning and wise in their selections.

On the west side of the south front of the District Post Office building, facing the plaza, is this fine group of inscriptions—characterizing the service rendered by the postal system:

MESSENGER OF SYMPATHY AND LOVE
SERVANT OF PARTED FRIENDS
BOND OF THE SCATTERED FAMILY
ENLARGER OF THE COMMON LIFE

On the east side of the south front are these added inscriptions:

CARRIER OF NEWS AND KNOWLEDGE
INSRUMENT OF TRADE AND INDUSTRY
PROMOTER OF MUTUAL ACQUAINTANCE, OF PEACE AND GOOD WILL AMONG MEN AND NATIONS

Without the mails how poor would we be in our ability to communicate! What good letters, what fine papers and magazines, what noble books come to us at small cost for transportation through the postal system.

The increase of letter postage from two cents to three cents should not prompt our complaints. Rather should we be increasingly grateful for such a dependable means by which we can communicate with our friends. Remember how much pleasure a good letter brings to us. Shall we write more and better letters? LUTHER K. LONG.

THE ISSUE OF DENOMINATIONS

Finally, may I be allowed to suggest that even in the realm of religion itself, the questions which this new age is raising are not yet being faced to any important degree, by the churches. For example, take the matter of denominationalism. I know that it will be objected that more is being done to promote church unity today than since the Reformation. But is there? Is the sort of talk now going on getting anywhere? When the churches hold their general conference or their general assemblies or their general conventions, do they do more than play about the edges of this matter, while they put their real attention on tinkering with the denominational machinery, electing to the denominational posts, shoring up the denominational edifice? Do these church leaders have even the faintest idea how, outside the ranks of the clergy and a handful of professional laity, the whole matter of denominations has become an utter weariness to the flesh? Do they sense the general lack of belief in the ethical or pragmatic basis for most of the denominational divisions, and the even greater lack of interest in the denominational fortunes? No, I know they don't, for if they did these gatherings would be utterly changed. But until they do, they will not be facing the realities of the approaching religious revolution.—Paul Hutchinson in World Service News.

◆

Let us be creditors of the future even as we are debtors of the past.—Edwin D. Mead.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Dr. McCulloch Sick

It will be a matter of regret to his many friends that our beloved and honored Editor is sick. His health has not been good for some time, but he has performed the duties of his office, though at physical discomfort, we fear. We trust that his present attack is temporary, and that he may soon recover his accutsomed strength and find himself on the way to marked improvement in his general health. He has our sympathy and our prayers.

Burlington, First Church

We were with this church Sunday, June 26, and preached at the eleven o'clock hour. The occasion was the observance of the 40th anniversary of the church, and Home-Coming Day. The attendance was large, both for the Sunday school and the morning preaching service. Many friends and former members of the church were present to join in the celebrbation of the occasion. A spirit of deep interest and worship prevailed. The afternoon program, in charge of Mr. J. G. Rogers, consisted of music, short addresses by different speakers, and a brief history of the church read by Miss Tula Paul. The principal speaker in the afternoon was Prof. Dan C. Holt, superintendent of the Liberty school, and a former member of the Burlington church. During this program the charter members were recognized, and seven stood. The records say that there were seventeen charter members. However, there seems to be some question as to the accuracy of this. Some think that there are a few more. The present membership as reported to the last conference is 727. During the forty years of its history the church has been served by seventeen pastors. During this time the Sunday school building has been added, the present parsonage acquired, a Hut built, and a lot purchased on the opposite side of the street from the parsonage for a new church location. The church is in a growing condition and has a remarkable field for service. The pastor, Dr. F. W. Paschall, is gripping his people, and there is every indication for continued growth in this church. The family joined me in this visit, and it was a great pleasure to all of us to share in the observance of this day, and to see again many friends with whom we formerly had delightful fellowship. Blessings on them all, and upon this church. We regretted not to hear Dr. Forlines in the evening service.

Fifty Thousand Dollars for High Point College

This is the amount that High Point and vicinity is being asked to give to the college as an emergency fund. The campaign is being conducted by the Williams organization, and is being managed here by Mr. G. W. Williams himself. This organization has been successful, during the fifteen years of its operation, in raising large sums of money for colleges and hospitals. We are hopeful of good results in this campaign. A very complete organization of local people has been effected for this undertaking. Prof. Wingate Andrews is leading the movement, and associated with him are many of the outstanding leaders of the city, both men and women. High Point people appreciate High Point College. They have already done much for the institution, and they desire to see the college go forward in increasing usefulness. We believe that they will come to the assistance of the college at this time, and put this campaign over in a big way.

Got it From the Herald

Several of our churches are planning to observe Children's Day. Some have observed the day already. Bro. H. L. Isley says that Tabernacle church was filled to its capacity on this occasion. We are glad to know that the churches are observing this day; we trust that many will do it, and that the offerings may be generous. Let us suggest again that all churches take a Children's Day offering, whether a program is given or not. The offering will be used in the foreign work, every dollar of it. If the Children's Day offering can be generous, the Board of Missions will be greatly helped in meeting pressing obligations from the foreign field. Please let no church fail to take a Children's Day offering.

Meetings in the Interest of Evangelism

As arranged by the conference committee on evangelism, these meetings have been held as scheduled—Burlington, High Point, and Concord. One is yet to be held at Littleton on July 6. The attendance has not been large at any point, but gratifying in both the number of ministers and laymen present. There has been shown in all of these meetings a marked interest in this phase of our work. The committee has done well in appointing these meetings. We trust and urge that they continue their effoffrts in this direction. Nothing is more important in the church than to fan the fires of evangelism. God will bless the church that does what Jesus came to do, "seek and save the lost."

Summer Conference and Training School

When this reaches the reader, the Summer Conference will be over, and the Leadership Training School will be nearing its close. We trust that both may be well attended, and that the best of results may follow. The Pastor's Conference has been limited, for this year, to two days. This may provide a helpful suggestion as to the time limit of the conference in the future. Two days may seem to the brethren to be long enough; or they may want more time. These are both important gatherings of our church, and worthy of our fullest support.

A Good Time to Practice It

The Apostle Paul exhorts us thus: "We that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak." And again he says, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ."

The economic depression that prevails now makes a splendid opportunity for the practice of these teachings. There are many people who once gave liberally to the church, but they are not able to give now; not generously, at any rate. Others there are who have their material substance intact. The depression has not taken its toll of their money. Their privilege, therefore, and their duty, is to bear the infirmities of the weak in the matter of church contributions. They must not only give for themselves, but for those who would give, but cannot. If this could be established as a practice in the church, there would be but little shortage in church receipts,—certainly not as much as there is,—and those who practice this scriptural teaching would receive rich blessings for themselves. We suggest that pastors lay this upon the hearts of their people; for this is certainly a time when those who are strong financially should bear the infirmity of those who are financially weak.

Appointments

July 3, Friendship, Friendship charge, 11 a.m.

July 6, Littleton, in meeting appointed by Committee on Evangelism.

August 21, Orange charge, Efland, 11 a.m., Union Grove 3 p.m.

July 15, few days' vacation.

"Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the Lord."

Fraternally yours,

June 28, 1932. S. W. TAYLOR.

THE SUN WILL SHINE AGAIN

A newsboy, thinly clad and drenched to the skin by the soaking rain, stood shivering in a doorway on a cold day in November. First one bare foot and then the other was lifted from the pavement for a moment and placed against his leg to get a little warmth. Every few minutes his shrill cry could be heard as he shouted, "Morning papers! Morning papers!"

A gentleman, well protected by oilskin and umbrella, in passing, stopped to buy a paper, and, noticing the boy's plight, said, "This kind of weather is pretty hard on you, my lad."

Looking up with a cheery smile, he replied, "I don't mind this much, Mister. The sun will shine again."

What a philosopher the boy was! How much better it would be if we all could learn to look at things from this standpoint! When the tasks come and the path of life is difficult, cheer up. Keep a bright face and a brave heart. "The sun will shine again."—Stories for Talks to Boys.

LITTLE WALTER'S TRUST

A wild storm was raging around a home one night. The windows were blown in, no lights could be kept burning, and it was with diffifficulty that the doors could be braced against the blast. Suddenly eleven-year-old Walter was missed. Frantic with fear, the mother called him at the top of her voice, and, receiving no reply, started to grope her way through the darkness and confusion of the house, to find, if possible, the missing boy.

She found him in his room—sound asleep! And when she awakened him to ask him how he could go to sleep when they were all in danger of death, he replied, "Why, mother, Grandma told me that God would take care of us; and I thought I might as well go to bed again." Surely this was faith worth having. Little reader, you can trust in the Lord as Walter did.—Unknown.

WHEN KO-CHEE WAS DRIVEN AWAY

"Go away, child of the Evil One! You and your Jesus Book cannot stay under this roof, or my gods will bring down sorrow upon me. Go! and let me never see your face again until you will worship the gods of your fathers and not this strange foreign God that you have learned about from the missionaries!"

Little Ko-chee clasped her Testament tightly in her arms and hurried away from her angry father. He had let her go to the mission school because he had wanted her to learn English. But when he found she had learned not only English, but to love the God whom the missionaries came to tell about, he was very angry.

This poor little girl in far-away Korea was suffering for being a Christian just as the new Christians in Jerusalem suffered from the hatred of the Jews.

Where to go she did not know, but she knew she could not stay in her father's home and pray to gods whom she knew were not real at all, and could not love and help those who prayed to them.

Down the path she went into the village to the kind missionaries, and sobbing bitterly told her trouble. Miss Knight, the missionary teacher, put her arms around Ko-chee, and drew her close to her.

"Do not cry so, dear," she said. "It is very hard for you to know that your father is angry; but Jesus knows all about your trouble and He will take care of you. Stay with us for a little while until we see what can be done; and we will all pray for your father. Perhaps God will soften his heart so that he will want you to come home again."

Ko-chee smiled through her tears and said, "Yes, I will pray, and God can do anything."

And God answered Ko-chee's prayers. After he had driven her away her father could not rest. He could see his little girl's sad face as she went down the path, and little by little God showed him his sin.

One day he came to the missionary home and cried, "I want my little girl, and I want to know about the Jesus who made her so brave that she was willing to suffer, but not to deny Him."

How glad they all were in the missionary home! And how earnestly the missionary preacher taught day by day this heathen father who had never known what love is as we Christians know it. So by and by there were two Christians in that Korean home and Ko-chee and her father read together the "Jesus Book" and prayed to our Father in heaven.—Apples of Gold.

USES OF AFFLICTION

"Luther used to say there were many of the Psalms he could never understand till he had been afflicted. Rutherford declared he had got a new Bible through the furnace."

"Hard weather tries what health we have; affliction tries what sap we have, what grace we have. Withered leaves soon fall off in windy weather; rotton boughs quickly break with heavy weights."—Thomas Brooks.

"The Lord gets his best soldiers out of the highlands of affliction."

OUR STORY PAGE

A VISITOR

"What's the matter, Helen; are you sick?" asked Mrs. Smith as she stepped into Helen's room at about midnight to see what could make her daughter so restless.

"No; nothing much. I just can't sleep," came an answer from the dark, as Helen turned over again. "I'll go to sleep before long, so don't worry, mother."

But sleep would not come to Helen's eyes. With the light on she could not sleep, and when it was off she could see Jesus outside the fast-closed door. It made no difference which way she looked; the picture was still before her eyes as plain as though an artist had painted it and placed it there before her. After tossing to and fro until about two o'clock, she dropped off into a troubled sleep. Horrible dreams presented themselves. She dreamed that she was standing outside the fast-closed doors. Just what had happened she could not figure out in the haziness of her dreaming.

"Helen," came her mother's voice from the stairway.

"Yes, mother," answered Helen, very glad to be aroused from her slumber. "I'll be down in a minute."

The little ivory-cased clock on her dresser told her that she had overslept. She therefore made a hasty toilet and slipped downstairs to eat a bite of breakfast before going to her round of duties at school.

"How do you feel this morning?" asked Mrs. Smith of her daughter as Helen entered the breakfast room.

"Oh, mother, I feel all right; I'm not sick. I was just thinking of the banquet and a few other things which I could not get off my mind."

Glancing over toward the other side of the room Helen saw her father waiting with Bible in hand. She usually listened to the devotional service with an indifferent air, but this morning she could not. She wished that father would not always have this daily morning devotion, and especially not this morning. It was getting late, and if she came late to school Mr. Miller might do most anything.

When father prayed, the picture of Jesus outside the fast-closed door again came before her eyes, and it would not be put off. She tasted the oatmeal, but could not eat it. It just would not go down. Nothing tasted good. So eating hardly a half dozen bites she was up and off to school. Mrs. Smith knew that there was something wrong with her daughter; but as she could get no satisfactory answer, she let the matter drop for the time being, with a silent prayer to God to keep her daughter during this day.

At school Helen tried to forget the waiting One in the hurry and flurry of school life. Her comrades had never seen her so gay. She seemed to be happy. Classes and between-bell chats rather filled up her time during the day.

"Come home with me to spend the night, won't you?" asked Ardis at four o'clock. "A group of us are going boating on Timmons' Lake tonight, and I want you to come along. Then you can stay at my house afterwards."

"Oh, I'm afraid mother won't let me. You see we are having a series of meetings at our church, and she thinks I have to go every night. And besides, I have no clothes here to go boating," replied Helen.

"Well, as far as clothes are concerned, I have plenty. Call her anyway. I'm sure she would let you stay at my house just this one night."

After some debating they finally went to a telephone booth. Helen called home.

"Hello," came mother's voice.

"Hello, mother? Ardis wants me to stay with her tonight."

Mrs. Smith paused a moment before answering.

"Can I, mother?" again asked Helen.

"But if you go you will miss the meeting tonight."

"Yes; but, mother, I have gone every night so far and I guess it won't hurt to miss just this once," returned Helen, glad for an excuse to get away from the meetings.

"Well—maybe not," replied Mrs. Smith hesitatingly.

"Thanks, mother," said Helen, and she quickly hung up the receiver before her mother had time to refuse her.

As Helen came from the booth she put on a merry face to hide the turmoil in her breast, caused by the ever-appearing picture of Jesus, outside the fast-closed door. She planned to rid herself of it by merry chatter. She always liked to go to Ardis' urban home. Everything was so beautiful and ideal so that young folks could have a fine time. In these surroundings and the boating party she hoped to dismiss the clinging picture from her mind. She knew that she would not be confronted with devotion services at the Bronsons'. So with merry hearts the girls went straight for the corner of First and Pine streets to get the car.

"There's our car, aren't we fortunate?" cried Ardis.

"You're right we are," returned Helen.

They mounted the car, dropped into the coin box their fares, and with a swinging gait went towards the back of the car for a seat. Bound to be doing something all the time, Helen let flow a constant stream of words concerning school life and especialy concerning the near-at-hand Junior-Senior banquet. Ardis and she were Juniors and consequently were very full of the subject. So engrossed were they in their conversation that they went a block too far.

Laughing and jesting about their mistake, the girls walked back a block and entered the wide, shady lane leading up to the spacious mansion. The birds in the trees were announcing the arrival of Spring. As they entered the hall, Ardis peeped into the living-room to say to her mother:

"Hello, mother! How are you? Helen's going to stay all night with me. You don't care, do you?"

"No; surely not. We are always glad to have Helen. Hello, Helen. How are you?" inquired Mrs. Bronson from the rocker by the large fireplace. A brisk fire was crackling and warming the room, for though it was Spring the day had been rather chilly.

"Just fine," returned Helen from the doorway.

"That's good," returned Mrs. Bronson in her motherly voice. Come whenever you can. Now hurry on upstairs, girls, or tea-time will be here before you are ready.''

With that the girls were off upstairs to Ardis' beautiful pink room, from which could be seen the sparkling brook that ran through the garden, where flowers would soon be in full bloom. As laughter, talking, and hurrying do not well go hand in hand, it was some time before they reappeared below in the living-room. Just as they entered Mrs. Bronson called them to tea. The tea hour was a merry one, for Mr. Bronson was a ''tease,'' and Mrs. Bronson, though more reserved, liked to see the young folks enjoy themselves. And of course young Jack supplied his bit by telling of the pranks they had played at school that day.

Bronsons' being the meeting place for the boaters, cars began to roll up the lane soon after tea. The house and lawn were filled with the chatter of young folks. At seven o'clock preparations for departure began. After a short scramble and rushing to and fro, things were all ready.

''Good-by, mother and daddy,'' called Ardis from the running board of the car in which she was to go. ''We're off.''

''Good-by, Ardis. Have a good time, but don't be careless,'' returned her parents, and then watched the cars as they followed the winding road until they vanished from sight among the hills.

The evening was beautiful with the silvery moon casting shimmering shadows on the quiet waters of Timmon's Lake through the boughs of the ash and maple. The stillness of the night was broken only by the splash of oars and the sound of merry voices on the night air. Midnight was slowly passing. Couples were pairing off for a farewell quiet chat. Conversation was commencing to lag. They were inclined to listen to nature rather than talk themselves. Helen, finding the odds against her and thus making it hard for her to keep up her constant flow of words, finally gave up to settle into quietness. Do what she would she could not then keep herself from entertaining that picture which she was almost beginning to despise. Everything had become quiet except the occasional splash of an oar. The midnight hour had just passed.

Then a shriek burst out upon the night air. A cry of help it surely was. Everything became excitement. All boats hastened in the direction from which the sound had come. As the boat in which Helen was came within ear-range of the pier, its occupants saw an apparently lifeless form, a victim of carelessness, being lifted up onto the pier. In a moment Helen recognized it to be Ardis. The rest of the boat-load had safely reached shore. They worked with Ardis for some time. They dared not go back without their hostess. Who would bear the awful tidings to her parents?

At last a sign of life appeared. A sigh of relief swept over the group. The party then broke up, and a carload, of which Helen was one, took Ardis to her home. Helen aroused Mrs. Bronson and they two together got Ardis into dry clothes and doctored her up to prevent her catching a cold from her chilly dip.

After all the excitement things have quieted down again. Ardis is sound asleep but how she can sleep so soundly is a mystery to Helen, who is lying awake at her side. Minutes and even seemingly hours have passed. Dawn is not far away, and yet Helen is not sleeping. Many thoughts have bombarded her mind. What if it had been she instead of Ardis? What if she had not come back to life, but would have had to meet God then and there, the God to whom she had refused admittance to her heart?

She stole from the bed and tiptoed to the bay window on the south to find peace from her thoughts. Here she sat for some time viewing the dimly lit landscape and the sparkling brook. She tried to find peace, but it had fled. A battle was raging in her breast. A crisis was near. The crisis came. She prayed to God for peace. It was her first attempt, but feeble though it was, God heard.

''Enter, enter, Jesus,'' broke in a half-audible whisper from her lips, ''and leave me never more.''

Jesus entered and the battle was won. Such peace she never knew could fill one's soul. She crept back into bed. Ardis was sleeping the sleep of exhaustion; Helen soon dropped off into the sleep of peace.

''Helen, Helen, are you going to sleep all day?'' asked Ardis as she shook Helen to awaken her. ''It's time you're getting up if you don't want to be late to school this morning.''

Helen rubbed her eyes and tried to awaken herself. The sun was shining brightly. At last awakened, she got up and dressed quickly. She was so happy, and she felt so free with that terrible load gone. Those around her could not be gloomy, for she seemed to give her happy spirit to others. Before going to school she called her mother to tell her that she was safe, lest her mother might get the evening paper before her own arrival home and become worried. She also added another word which sent her mother about her morning's work happier than she had been for many a day.—The Y. C. Companion.

◆

WHY SOME PEOPLE STAY HOME FROM CHURCH

Some stay home because it's cold, and some, because it's hot; and some, because they're getting old, and some, because they're not!

Some stay at home because their hat the milliner's not finished; and some, because their liking for the minister has diminished.

Some declare they don't enjoy the singing of the choir; and others, because their fellow saint aroused their wrathful ire.

Alas! alas! our excuses grow to drive our thoughts from God, and turn us from the House of Prayer, the place our fathers trod.—Simpson Summons.

◆

—''Shirts that laugh at the laundry'' are advertised by a certain firm. One of ours, bought elsewhere, has such a keen sense of humor that it arrived home the other day with its sides split.—Selected.

◆

—Rev. R. J. Tamblyn has resigned the pastorate of Grace church, Greensboro, to enter the ministry of the Congregationalist denomination.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

TOPIC FOR JULY 3, 1932: WHAT IS FREEDOM—POLITICAL AND PERSONAL?

Scripture: 1 Peter 2:13-16; John 8:32-36

Human freedom has been for many people no more than a dream. One has only to study the progress of political freedom to realize the great masses of individuals who have given their lives to be free. Autocratic rulers and other individuals have held freedom in check, but as a mighty river gains impact by being dammed up so the released tide of human masses have often spelled disaster. The great French Revolution is a striking example of this. Our national freedom was bought with a price and is therefore more valuable. It is one of the most priceless possessions of the human race.

Our first scripture passage teaches that political freedom brings a responsibility. Law and order are ordained of God and each Christian is expected to seek peace and concord among all. Freedom is not license and does not give us the privilege of doing anything we desire. Some one has said that where the other man's nose begins, my freedom ends. Every Christian should be a model of good citizenship.

The second scripture selection has to do with personal or spiritual freedom. We live in an enlightened age, yet millions have never been set free. True, they are not human slaves, but they are slaves to themselves. The masses of China, Russia, and India are bound by the strongest of shackles. Where vice and sin are present and where Christ is unknown, there is no freedom. Russia has presumably set herself free, yet she is morely closely bound by misdirected freedom than before the war. Christ sets people free from sin and its attendent vices and where He is unknown men are slaves. As long as the great groups of China look to the past, or India seeks her salvation in a man who sets himself at the center rather than Christ, there is a mission to crusade for freedom. There is a call for every follower of Christ to teach or help to teach the freedom which comes through truth.

Think of Paul in prison and Nero on the throne. One bound by prison walls in the body, the other by lusts in the spirit.

Stone walls do not a prison make,
  Nor iron bars a cage:
Minds innocent and quiet take
  That for an hermitage:
If I have freedom in my love,
  And in my soul am free,
Angels alone, that soar above,
  Enjoy such liberty.

—Lovelace.

Quotable Poetry

SEND DOWN THY TRUTH, O GOD!

Send down Thy Truth, O God!
  Too long the shadows frown
Too long the darkened way we've trod;
  Thy Truth, O Lord, send down!
Send down Thy spirit free,
  Till wilderness and town
One temple for Thy worship be;
  Thy spirit, O send down!

Send down Thy love, Thy life,
  Our lesser lives to crown,
And cleanse them of their hate and strife;
  Thy living love send down.

Send down Thy peace, O Lord.
  Earth's bitter voices drown
In one deep ocean of accord;
  Thy peace, O God, send down!

—Edward R. Sill.

I heard from some Endeavorers that the last suggested program I entered was rather successful. I am including another for this meeting:

Prelude
Hymn: "America the Beautiful"
Introduction of the topic—Leader
Scripture
Prayer
Topic: "Progress of Political Freedom"
Topic: "The Meaning of Spiritual Freedom"
Hymn: "America"
Story of Poem: "Prisoner of Chillon," Byron.
Poetry: "Send Down Thy Truth, O God!"

Consecration Service

Prayer of consecration.
Roll call answered by Bible verse.
Hymn: "I Can Hear My Savior Calling."
Benediction—Mizpah.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee" or "America," was written one hundred years ago. It was first sung at a children's Fourth of July celebration, in 1832, in Park Street Church, Boston.

The author of this hymn was Samuel Francis Smith, a class-mate of Oliver Wendell Holmes. He was a Baptist minister of great usefulness in Boston. The hymn was written when Smith was 24 years of age and a student at Andover Theological Seminary.

If "The Star-Spangled Banner" is our national anthem, then "America" is our national hymn. It is known and loved over a great expanse of territory.

◆

TIGER STATUE SCORNED

Members of the family and many French war veterans are outraged by the statue of Georges Clemenceau which the municipal authorities erected on the Champs Elyses in Paris. The statue, green bronze on a granite base, represents the old "Tiger" struggling against the wind, his muffler around his throat and thrown over his shoulder and his mustache brushed back by the breeze. Mme. Jacquemaire, daughter of Clemenceau, sent a letter to the authorities on behalf of herself and her son Michel saying, "We cannot attend the unveiling of such a derisive monument." One organization of war veterans requested its members to remain away from the dedication for similar reasons.—Selected.

◆

—Two educational meetings relative to forming a peanut marketing association have been held in Halifax County with 8,120 bags signed up so far.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Mrs. C. L. Gray, High Point, personal..	$ 2.00
Fountain Place Sunday school	4.50
Bethel, Alamance, Baraca class	.70
Bethel, Alamance	3.10
Midway Sunday school, Haw River	1.50
Friendship Sunday school, Haw River ..	5.00
Hickory Ridge, Forsyth	4.50
Union Grove, Orange	3.00
Mt. Pleasant C. E. Society, Mt. Pleasant, clothing child	2.50
Worthville S. S., Randleman	1.60
R. I. Avenue, Washington, D. C., Ladies' Bible class, clothing child	5.00
The Onward class, Connellsville, Pa., clothing child	5.00
Fair Grove S. S., Haw River	1.15
Calvary S. S.	10.50
Haw River S. S., Glen Raven-Haw River	2.75
The W. S. Cecil class, Pleasant Grove, clothing child	5.00
Charlotte, Richland, clothing child ..	5.87
Philathea class, Lebanon, clothing child	5.00
Lebanon, program by the children	11.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mrs. C. L. Gray, High Point, N. C., 2 mattresses, 3 pair pants, 5 pieces of underwear and 2 shirts.

Baltimore Auxiliary, West Forsyth, 8 towels, 2 handkerchiefs, 1 pair pillow-cases, 5 cakes soap and 5 wash-cloths.

Miss Esther Ross' S. S. class, Asheboro, N. C., 7 dresses and 1 skirt.

Mrs. Reed, Mt. Pleasant on North Davidson, 5 dresses with the promise of some string beans this week.

Cans For Fruits and Vegetables

Mrs. Dixon has given out 7 dozen half gallon cans during the last two days to be filled and returned later. We are canning at both dormitories today and tomorrow and will be canning many days this summer and fall; but we will be unable to get fruit and vegetables to fill all our cans. We thank you for the help you are going to give us.

Our farm work goes on apace these fine farming days, and an abundance will be harvested; but with our large family our crops will need to be supplemented by you. We know you will.

Our Health

All our children are up and going now except the one little one in the hospital. We are so glad to report that she is improving.

Our own daughter, Vista Dixon, is in the Charlotte Sanatorium, Charlotte, N. C., and unless she has improved since Saturday she is a very sick girl. We ask your prayers that she may be speedily restored to health.

We sincerely thank all of you for any contributions you may have made to our work here. The dear Lord bless and prosper all His children.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON.

◆

—Mendenhall Brothers of High Point harvested 8,250 pounds of alfalfa hay at the first cutting from a field of only two and one-half acres. They have 30 acres to alfalfa which averaged better than a ton of hay per acre throughout at the first cutting, they report.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

DUTIES OF CIRCLE CHAIRMAN

The office of Circle Chairman is one of great importance because to a large degree the Chairman is responsible for the efficiency of the women who compose her Circle.

As leader of this group of women, she is expected to initiate policies, propose plans and win the women of the Circle to a program for the year that will mean pleasure and profit for all of them.

She must build up the spiritual life of her Circle, encourage the social life and see that whatever plans they have made for the year are carried out. The following duties are hers as Chairman of her Circle:

Each Circle Chairman is ex-officio a member of the Executive Committee of the Auxiliary and is there for the purpose of representing her Circle. At the Executive meetings she hears policies discussed, plans formulated and speaks for her Circle concerning them.

The Chairman will carry to her Circle the policies formulated at the Executive meeting. She will explain to them the Budget adopted, plans for co-operative work among the Circles and any other bit of business transacted by the Board which touches upon the work and life of the Circle.

The Chairman is largely responsible for the development of the Spiritual Life of the Members of her Circle.

The Year Book of Programs furnishes 12 missionary programs for the Circle meetings and an increasing number of Circles are using them. Whatever the program the devotional life of the Circle must be emphasized. Every meeting should open with a devotional service carefully prepared in advance. Each Circle should form a Prayer Band. In all of her plans for the development of her Circle members, the thoughtful Chairman will put the spiritual side of the work first.

The Budget

The Auxiliary Budget is outlined, itemized and approved first of all at the Executive Committee meeting of which the Circle Chairman is a member. She therefore hears the discussion concerning every item on the Budget from the very first. After the Auxiliary at its business meeting has accepted the Budget recommended by the Executive Committee, it is then the place of the Circle Chairman to take a copy of this Budget to her Circle meeting, present it to her members and secure their enthusiastic co-operation in pledging a part of that Budget. Sometimes each Circle is asked for a definite amount toward the Budget; another plan and a better one is to ask for voluntary pledges toward the Budget from the Circles, and if the total of these pledges does not equal the Budget, go back to them again asking for a second consideration of the matter. These individual pledges are to be paid monthly to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Circle or to the Chairman, and are to be handed by her to the Treasurer of the Auxiliary. Pledge cards and envelopes for the convenience of Circle members may be obtained from the Department of Women's Work.

Attendance at Circle Meetings

The most important duty of the Circle Chairman is to secure the attendance of every member of her Circle upon both the Circle and Auxiliary meetings. She should make each member a subject of special consideration and effort, and should not be discouraged if during the entire year some women resist the invitation to come to the Circle. She should keep eternally at it, go about it in some different way, put some different women on the task, but remember that the great important thing before the Circle Chairman is to get the members of her Circle out to the Circle meeting!

Attendance at Auxiliary Meetings

In some Auxiliaries the Circle meeting easily becomes a popular social event but the members do not come to the Auxiliary. Do not tolerate such a situation. The Circle meeting is intended to be only a feeder for the Auxiliary meeting. The devotional and missionary program of the Auxiliary meeting is the great event of the Auxiliary life. The aim of the Circle Chairman must be to have one hundred per cent attendance of her Circle at every Auxiliary meeting.

Various devices may be used to secure a good attendance of the Circles upon the Auxiliary meeting. A Circle contest may be arranged for the year, the Secretary of the Auxiliary keeping a careful account with the Chairman of each Circle as to the number from her Circle in attendance at each Auxiliary meeting. At the end of the year the number of the victorious Circle may be announced, and if thought best, a suitable reword given.

Sometimes members of a Circle sit together at the Auxiliary meeting. Circle Chairmen may be asked to give a report at each Auxiliary meeting of the number of members of their Circles present. Members may be asked to rise when the report is given. Build up the esprit de corps of the Circle so that they will take a pride in having their Circle well represented at the Auxiliary. Each Circle may have its turn during the year in serving at the meeting of the Auxiliary. One Circle may be the hostess of the afternoon and responsible for working up a good attendance. Circle members meet the guests at the door, greeting them and showing them to their seats. Another Circle may be given charge of the social hour, being responsible for the refreshments and for the serving. Still another Circle may be responsible for the program of the afternoon. The tactful Auxiliary President will find many ways in which to co-operate with the Circle Chairmen in helping her to interest her Circle members in the Auxiliary program meeting.

Mission Study

Some Auxiliaries plan to do their Mission Study through the Circle groups. In this event, the Circle may plan its own way of studying the book. A meeting of one hour a day for five days will permit on intensive study of the text book. Others prefer the plan of meeting one hour a week for five weeks. If any concerted plan has been proposed by the Auxiliary for studying the book, by all means fall in line with it. If not, decide upon your own plan but see that it works and results in an adequate knowledge of the contents of the book by the members.

Bible Study

A large number of Circles organize themselves into a Bible Class for the whole year. Some Circles prefer to study the Bible at certain set periods during the year for a number of weeks, while still others have a short Bible Study of thirty minutes at each meeting. Any of these ways are good but some one of them should certainly be adopted. No Circle Chairman should feel at the end of the year that her work has been entirely satisfactory if it does not include a better knowledge of God's Word among her Circle members than they had at the beginning.

Prayer

Every Circle should be a Prayer Band. The members, although perhaps strangers at the beginning of the year, come to know each other quite intimately during the months they meet together and are drawn by a common responsibility. This forms an admirable opportunity for uniting their prayers for certain definite causes in which all are interested. Each Chairman may make out her own prayer list and may vary it each month of the year if she prefers. It should be definite and for objects for which the women really want to pray. Your Pastor and Church should always be on this list, also your Auxiliary President and officers, and the missionaries of the Church. Make the prayer list very vital and definite. Teach your women to pray audibly in the Circle. It is easier in a small group to offer audible prayer than in the large Auxiliary gathering, so the Circle is the training place for audible prayer for timid women.

Personal Evangelism

The Circle Chairman should lead the women of her Circle into an ever-increasing sense of responsibility toward the ultimate purpose of the church—evangelism. Each woman should be a soul-winner, and the Circle Chairman may encourage even the most timid to undertake this most satisfying task. This may be done by planning short courses for the personal worker, by selecting leaflets or tracts to distribute among the women who care to give them out to the unsaved, by adopting some simple plan whereby the women shall memorize selected Scripture verses to use in leading souls to Christ, perhaps one verse a day, or one a week.

General Suggestions

Be Tactful. You may find some members on your Circle who are not happy to be there. Perhaps in the annual shifting they have been removed from environment which they liked very much and feel unfriendly toward their new home. This calls for the exercise of greatest tact. You must decide whether to acknowledge the situation or ignore it, but in any event, do your very best to make the newcomer feel that she has bettered her condition by coming to your Circle. Never grant for a moment that she is going to leave you and never give up during the year trying to make her feel at home and reaelly interested in the work of your Circle.

Be Loyal. Be loyal to your Auxiliary President and officers and the actions of your Executive Committee. None of us can please everybody and accomplish anything in the world. There are bound to be differences of opinion. Realize that your President and officers are doing the very best they can with the light they have, and that while you may not always agree with them, you are going to be loyal to them and carry out their plans as far as is possible with you.

Be Persistent. Never give up working on the members of your Circle who will not come to any meetings. Let one woman work with her and then another, or several at the same time but don't let her know the plans for interesting her. Invite her personally to the meeting, send an automobile for her, go by and bring her, send her best friend for her, ask her to do something at your meeting, devise some eway that will eventually bring her out to the meeting, but do not make your efforts too conspicuous. Remember if she does not yield to your most persuasive methods this year, somebody else will be working on her next year.

Be Prayerful. Daily pray that God will guide you in your important work for the year and crown your efforts with success in bringing the women on your Circle to a deeper personal spiritual life and to a hearty cooperation in all of the plans of the Woman's Auxiliary of your Church.—Leaflet, Committee on Education.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ANNOUNCEMENT

The meeting of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Branch of Women's work will be held at Bethel Home at Weaverville, July 13th. It is hoped that each member will endeavor to be present. Reports will be made from the General Missionary convention which was held in Cambridge, Ohio, in May and also from General Conference. Some changes were made at General Conference which will be passed out through the Branches and which will be most beneficial. The World Service program is a big one and worthy of the entire support of the church. Mrs. Brown, corresponding secretary, has sent out blanks which should be filled out and returned not later than July 10.

Mrs. C. W. Bates, of Greensboro, has again extended an invitation to the Executive Committee to be her guests at her cottage at Weaverville. Will those who can take automobiles assist by filling their cars and notify Mrs. Bates as to number and if they have any vacant seats? The suggestion has been made that the party meet at the M. P. parsonage in Lexington as heretofore and journey together from there.

This will be an important meeting and every member is urged to be present and assist in making plans for our state work. With good wishes and urging the co-operation of the womanhood of the Methodist Protestant church in North Carolina.

Cordially,
MRS. Wm. C. HAMMER,
Pres. N. C. Branch Women's Work.

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas, First, High Point	$3.00
Miss Tula Paul, Burlington	2.00
Reev. N. G. Bethea	2.00
Rev. J. E. Pritchard	2.00
H. L. Miller, First, Lexington	1.00
Rev. C. W. Bates	1.00

◆

—Reports from county farm agents in the grain-growing section of Piedmont Carolina indicate that the crop this season is not up to standard. Excellent yields of clover hay are being harvested, however.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Poindexter

Mrs. Eugenia Ward Poindexter wos born March 27, 1864, and passed to her reward June 16, 1932, having attained to the age of 68 years, two months and 21 days. She was born and reared near Advance, Davie County, North Carolina. On June 12, 1901, she was united in marriage to W. M. Poindexter. To this union was born one son, Matthew Poindexter, the only surviving member of the immediate family. She is survived by six step-children, as follows: John R. Poindexter, of Burlington; W. Frank Poindexter, of Winston-Salem; Dr. Charles C. Poindexter, of Greensboro; Mrs. L. N. Poindexter; Jesse Poindexter, Mrs. Marvin E. Doub, of East Bend.

"Aunt Gene," as she was familiarly known, professed faith in Christ early in life and united with the church, being a faithful, devoted and loyal member of the Methodist Protestant church until the end of her earthly journey. For many years she was an active member of Union Hill Methodist Protestant church, laboring zealously for the progress of her church and the increase of the Kingdom of God. She spent her life in service for others. As a neighbor she was always ready to share with and help those who were in need, ready to serve in time of sickness and sorrow. She was a devoted wife and loving companion. She was a loving mother and step-mother, serving all alike, and was tenderly loved by all. The step-children loved and cared for her in the same degree of loyalty and devotion as did the only son, and she loved them all with a beautiful spirit of Christian motherhood.

It may truly be said of Mrs. Poindexter: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, yea, saith the spirit, that they may cease from their labors, but their works do follow them."

The funeral was conducted at Union Hill church June 18, 1932, by the writer, assisted by Rev. R. E. Adams, of the Baptist church, and Rev. J. F. Moser, of the M. E. Church, South.

C. B. WAY.

Norman

Mrs. W. H. Norman, born December 2, 1851, departed this life April 23, 1932. Her husband, William H. Norman, preceded her to the grave.

While a young girl she professed faith in Christ and united with Kadish M. E. Church, South, later moving her membership to Friendship Methodist Protestant church, remaining a faithful member until death.

It was not my privilege to know Sister Norman very long, but she impressed me with her quiet, unassuming manner. She loved the Lord, and when the time came for her to go she was ready. She talked to her daughter, Mrs. Claud Bridges, just before she went away, and expressed her strong hope of future blessedness. The family connections she leaves are as follows: Children, John Norman, of Polkville; Frank Norman, Gastonia; Mrs. Guy Wright, Fallston; Mrs. Gidney Sweezy, Shelby; Mrs. Claud Bridges, of Beam's Mill, with whom she made her home; one brother, Jim Hartman, and one sister, Mrs. Rosie Martin.

The funeral was conducted in Friendship M. P. church by Rev. J. M. Morgan, assisted by the pastor and a Baptist minister, Bro. Washburn, and burial was in the church cemetery.

A. D. SHELTON.

Reynolds

Matthew C. Reynolds, oldest son of James V. Deborah Reynolds, was born near Love Joy church November 25, 1856 and died near the place of his birth May 26, 1932. He lived in the community of his birth for more than 75 years and was loved by all who knew him.

We do not know the exact date but some time in early life he made a profession of religion and joined Love Joy church. Of this church he was a loyal and faithful member to the time of his death. Loyal and faithful are two words that carry much meaning, but we feel sure that all that is implied in these fully applies to his life. He loved his church and gave evidence of that love by attending regularly. The last year or so of his life he was physically unable to attend, but he often spoke of his desire to attend his church and Sunday school. He was an official in the church at different times in his life.

He was married to Miss Lunda Haltom in the early part of his young manhood. To this union were born 11 children, but only seven survive. The living children are: Mrs. N. M. Shaw, of Troy; Mrs. P. F. Bean, of Crisfield, Md.; Mrs. J. W. Saunders, of Queen; Mrs. W. E. Warner, of High Point; Mrs. M. T. Gillis, of Troy; Mr. Everett Reynolds, of Queen, and Mr. Dewey Reynolds, of Troy. Also one brother, A. H. Reynolds, of Queeen, 23 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, and the wife of his young manhood, Mrs. Lunda Reynolds.

No one feels this stroke more heavily than does his companion, for she was always with him in sickness and in health.

Our hearts go out to her and all the children in tender sympathy. We, too, loved him, and join in mourning his going. But beyond the dark river there is light, and we fully expect to meet him in the sweet by and by.

The funeral was conducted in Love Joy church by his pastor, assisted by Rev. J. W. Hulin, ex-pastor, and Rev. Mr. ————?? from Troy. His body was then placed in the family burying plot in the church cemetery.

GEO. L. REYNOLDS, Pastor.

Wright

In the death of Uncle Noah Wright, Cleveland county lost a valuable citizen, the Methodist Protestant church a loyal member and church worker, and the community in which he lived, a factor of worth in the moral and social uplift of those about him. Modest and unpretentious, Uncle Noah was every inch a man in all his parts. His walks were those of an upright Christian gentleman.

It was his nature to build rather than to tear down. He was a true friend to everybody and every movement that tended toward the betterment of the community.

If he had an enemy we never heard of it. Uncle Noah accepted whatever fortune came to him and with equal poise and humor. We

◆

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Lebanon, High Point.—At the 11 o'clock service last Sunday morning our pastor delivered a most inspiring address on "Spiritual Neglect and Excuses." Following this touching sermon was a period of consecration in which the pastor and many members of the church pledged themselves to greater service for the church.

For the evening service we met with the neighboring Baptist church, which is holding a revival. We enjoy worshiping with our Baptist friends.

The evening service next Sunday will be in charge of the Christian Endeavorers. Their topic is Fanny J. Crosby. We are expecting the study of this blind author and her hymns to be especially interesting.

We are very glad to learn that on the first Sunday in July the members of the Mechanicsville Council No. 347 Jr. O. U. A. M. will be with us at our 8 o'clock service.

We will observe Children's Day on the second Sunday in July. A most excellent program is being prepared.

We are pleased to learn that Miss Ida Guyer is improving in the High Point Hospital after an operation last week. Miss Guyer, who is a very active member of our church, is missed very much.

It will be of interest to our readers to learn that at the State Christian Endeavor Convention last week Miss Guyer was elected treasurer for the coming year; also that our C. E. Society was judged second in the state for the best work reported during the past year. Those from our church attending the State Convention were Rev. J. C. Madison and Misses Juanita Jewell, Iris and Eleanor Welch.

REPORTER.

West Forsyth.—Our services for the past three Sundays have been well attended. On the second Sunday we were at Union Hill at 11 o'clock, there being an attentive congregation. The vote for delegate was taken at this time. After the service the pastor and family went to the home of Bro. Luther Poindexter, having had an invitation a month previous. We enjoyed a good dinner and music from the radio. At 8 o'clock we were at Tabernacle church for the service there, and a good sized congregation was present. Just before the sermon a feature of the music was a short solo by C. B. Way, Jr., who was accompanied on the piano by his sister, Miss Mildred Way. The vote for delegate was taken at this service.

The third Sunday was "Convention Day" for the Sunday schools of Pleasant Hill and Tabernacle churches, together with all Sunday schools in the township. The convention was held at the consolidated school building. The writer was on the program for the devotional period, during which an impressive worship program was enjoyed. Pleasant Hill and Tabernacle Sunday schools each rendered musical selections during the convention. There was no preaching service at Pleasant Hill church on account of the convention.

The appointment last Sunday was at Harmony Grove church, and due to sickness amony the members, the attendance was not as large as usual. After the service the pastor went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lineback, where a good dinner was enjoyed and a pleasant visit for part of the afternoon. An invitation had been given a month previous to visit the home. The Sunday school, which was conducted by Bro. Frank Pinnix, the assistant superintendent, was well atteded, there being a total of 50 persons present.

Bro. Thomas Todd, whose daughters are members of Harmony Grove church, has been in a serious condition for several weeks. His affliction is such that he is not expected to recover.

The pastor and family are grateful to Bro. Hinson Webb and family, of the Union Hill church, for the gift of about half a bushel of dew-berries made on the occasion of a visit to the home last week. While these good people are members of the M. E. Church, South, they are regular attendants at Union Hill church, which is appreciated very much by the pastor.

We are pleased to report a gradual improvement in the condition of Mrs. Florence Whitman, member of Pleasant Hill church, who has been confined to her bed for the past six weeks.

The pastor was called to Union Hill church to conduct the funeral service for Mrs. Eugenia Poindexter, member of Union Hill, who passed away on Thursday, June 16, at 9 o'clock, P. M. The funeral service was held at the church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, who was assisted in the service by Rev. R. E. Adams, Baptist minister, of East Bend, and Rev. J. F. Moser, pastor of Burkhead Methodist church, Winston-Salem. Mrs. Poindexter had been an invalid for the past several years, and was a good woman, according to the testimony of neighbors and friends. An obituary will appear elsewhere in the Herald.

Next Sunday will mark the beginning of the revival season on West Forsyth Charge. The revival meeting will begin at Stony Knoll, with three services during the day, at 11 a. m., 2 p. m., and 8 p. m. The pastor will preach at the morning service. We are expecting Rev. D. C. Norman, of the M. E. Church, South, to preach in the afternoon, and we are expecting Rev. J. P. Pegg, of Glen Raven, to arrive in time to preach at the night service. Bro. Pegg will do the preaching during the meeting which will continue through all next week, closing not later than Friday night. Will all those who know God in the power of prayer please pray for us in this first meeting of the year? Three other meetings are scheduled for July, announcement of which will be made next week.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

First Church, High Point.—The Leadership Training School, which is open to Christian workers of all denominations, convened at High Point College Monday, and will be in session throughout the week. Dr. Lawrence C. Little, of the faculty of Western Maryland College, will speak on Tuesday evening, and Dr. R. L. Shipley, newly elected editor of the Methodist Protestant-Recorder, will be the speaker Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings. Classes will be given for first, second, third, and fourth year pupils. Among the leaders of these classes are found the following: Rev. H. W. Maier, Rev. Clay Madison, Mrs. F. W. Paschall, Misses Bessie Holmes and Lillie Mae Braxton, Rev. N. G. Bethea, Dr. J. E. Pritchard, Rev. J. W. Braxton, Dr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Brown, Dr. C. E. Forlines, Mrs. H. W. Maier, Rev. H. F. Surratt, Dr. L. C. Little, and Rev. J. C. Auman. On Saturday evening a play, "The Bishop's Candlestick," will be presented under the direction of Rev. J. T. Bowman, who was a pupil in dramatics of Miss Dorothy Elderdice at Westminster, Md. The sermon will be preached Sunday morning in First church by Rev. R. I. Farmer.

The Pastors' Summer Conference, of which Rev. R. C. Stubbins, of Asheboro, is president, will open Tuesday for a two-day session at the Children's Home. Dr. C. E. Forlines, of the faculty of the Theological Seminary, Westminster, Md., will deliver four addresses on "Revelations," two on Tuesday and two on Wednesday. Other speakers for the afternoon sessions will be Dr. A. G. Dixon, President G. I. Humphreys, and Dr. S. W. Taylor.

On Sunday morning the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, delivered a very effective and timely sermon on "The Ills and Cure of This World" from I Cor. 2:12: "Not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God." He said that the spirit of the world is bondage to fear, but the spirit of God is that we are children of God. There have been few, if any, ages when we must face more vital questions than in these days. It is time for the church to make new efforts in spiritual pilgrimages. Shall we quit or shall we keep truth with God Almighty? Shall we carry on sacrificially? Are you ready to say that this church is able to carry on with its limited outlook? We have today too many improved means for unimproved ends. We have harnessed Niagara to advertise chewing-gum. George Bernard Shaw says that a gentleman is one who puts in more than he takes out. We are living in a modern world. The telephone, telegraph, radio have made a neighborhood of the whole world. Only one out of ten college graduates can get positions: do not blame Hoover or the Eighteenth Amendment. Civilization is rocking, and everybody is afraid these days. We lead self-contained lives, and are prone to let the other fellow get along as best he can. In addition to being in a modern and secularized world, we are living in a disillusioned world. With more gold than America has ever had, people are hungry. The world is restlessly longing for something it has never known. The force of Jesus only can defeat evil, and we must become new creatures in Christ Jesus.

The subject of the discussion of Sunday evening was, "What Place Has Religion in Politics?"

The Intermediate C. E. Society held its weekly meeting Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock, and the Senior Society Monday evening at 7:30.

An important congregational meeting is called for Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Helen Johnson, of High Point, and Mr. Walter W. Parker, of Henderson, which was solemnized in the Episcopal church, Hickory, N. C., on Saturday, June 25, at 5:30 o'clock, has been made. The bride is a daughter of the late M. O. Johnson and Mrs. V. C. Wood, of High Point. She was born and reared in Thomasville but the family has lived here several years. She was educated at Guilford College and has taught school both in High Point and Henderson. She has many friends in First Church and throughout the state who extend warmest wishes for happiness and prosperity. Mr. Parker is a prominent druggist of Henderson, a son of Mr. Walter W. Parker, Sr., and the late Mrs. Tempie Burwell Parker and was educated at State College, Raleigh, and the State University. The young couple is on a honeymoon trip in the Valley of Virginia, and after July 5th will be at home in Henderson.

Of special interest to many friends in High Point and old students of the college is the announcement of the marriage of Prof. Nathanael P. Yarborough and Miss Naomi Morris at the home of the bride's parents in Salisbury, Md., on Tuesday, June 21st. The groom has been professor of French in High Point College for several years, and the bride is teacher of Home Economics. Both these popular young people have a host of friends here, elsewhere in North Carolina and Maryland, who extend hearty congratulations and best wishes.

An emergency fund drive for High Point College will be conducted July 22-28. T. Wingate Andrews, superintendent of City Schools, has accepted the chairmanship, and an effort to raise $50,000 before September 1 will be made. On the executive committee the following members of First church will serve: F. R. Auman, A. Coke Cecil, W. A. Davis, D. A. Dowdy, J. A. Gray, J. H. Jennings, A. J. Koonce, Dr. Humphreys, Dr. P. E. Lindley, John S. Pickett, Rupert Pickens, Jr., A. M. Rankin, Dr. S. W. Taylor, Lewis E. Teague, Dr. J. D. Williams, Charles F. Finch, of Thomasville, and J. D. Ross, of Asheboro, are also members of this committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer W. Jackson left Sunday for Bluefield, West Va., where they will be guests of friends for several days.

Mrs. J. J. Eads and Miss Mary Eller, of Mount Airy, are visiting their sister, Mrs. W. P. Pickett.

The Baraca class, about 40 strong, went to the Municipal Lake, Jamestown, last Tuesday evening, and enjoyed a barbecue picnic supper in the park there.

A. Coke Cecil and D. A. Dowdy, local druggists, went to Statesville Saturday to attend the funeral of Polk C. Gray, pioneer druggist, who served only one day as president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association, having been elected here Thursday afternoon at the close of its 53rd annual convention. By Mr. Gray's death Mr. Cecil, who was vice-president, automatically becames head of the Association.

* * *

Spring Church Charge.—On the third Sunday in June Children's Day was observed at Lebanon. The program consisted of songs, recitations and a pageant. The whole program indicated that much patience and labor had been given to the task of preparation. Mrs. W. W. Grant had charge of the program, with Miss Virginia Grant organist.

On the night of the third Sunday our revival began at Pleasant Hill. The meeting closed the following Friday night. Dr. T. M. Johnson was our pulpit help. His messages were informing, inspiring and deeply spiritual. The church was revived. Three young people were converted and united with the church.

On Thursday Dr. Johnson and the writer had a pleasant visit in the home of Rev. H. S. B. Thompson. It was a pleasure to partake with them the noonday meal.

Wm. H. NEESE.

* * *

Pleasant Grove.—Pastor Williams Sunday morning used as his text Rev. 16 and part of the 33rd verse, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." Rev. 3:12, "Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God and he shall go no more out and I will write upon him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God which is new Jerusalem which cometh down out of heaven from my God and I will write upon him my new name."

The Brotherhood met at the parsonage with the pastor Saturday evening. Dinner was served at 8 o'clock by Mrs. D. R. Williams, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Staley Garrison, and Mrs. J. R. Meredith.

One of our members, Miss Helen Kennedy, was carried to the City Memorial Hospital and underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is improving nicely.

Mrs. Staley Garrison and two sons, of Burlington, spent the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Williams, Mr. Garrison joining them for the week-end.

There will be a pageant, "The Seven Candlesticks," given at the church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, July 3rd. The public is invited to attend. REPORTER.

* * *

Philadelphia, Greensville Circuit.—We are planning a Children's Day program which will be given Sunday morning, July 3, at 11 o'clock. Preaeching in the afternoon by Pastor Rev. R. L. Hethcox. We wish to extend to everyone a hearty welcome. Come and enjoy the day.

Our special meeting will be held the first week in August with Rev. R. C. Stubbins as helper. We will be very glad to have him with us, and we feel sure that he is going to give us his best. May everyone pray for our success in this meeting. We know that a good revival will mean much to the church.

REPORTER.

* * *

St. Paul, Greensboro.—On Sunday morning, June 19th, our pastor was very sick and could not be at church and in his absence the pulpit was filled by Rev. W. F. Ashburn. Mr. Garner had improved to the extent that he was able to preach yesterday at the morning and night services.

Mrs. Garner is training the children for Children's Day service which will be held on the second Sunday in July.

The elder men's class held a class meeting last Thursday night with their teacher, Mr. G. H. May. A good number was present, and after the business was transacted Mrs. May served a real chicken stew to the class.

Quite a few of our Sunday school children have had measles and whooping-cough. Mrs. G. F. Millaway has been sick for the past few weeks; trust that she may soon be restored to health.

The Ladies' Aid Society and the Royal Blue class are invited to meet with Mrs. J. J. Walker at her country home on July 10th. At this meeting we hope to make plans to raise more money.

Our Sunday school attendance is not what we would like to see, but the mills are running on short time and so many go off for the week-ends. In fact, we always have better attendance in the winter than we do in the summer time.

MRS. J. S. WADE, Reporter.

* * *

Liberty.—On Sunday morning a splendid discourse was delivered by Pastor Chambliss. His subject was "The Narrow Gateway." Sunday evening his subject was "The Triumphant Church."

Our revival will be held some time in September.

The Woman's Auxiliary Circle No. 1 will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. D. Gregg. Thursday afternoon Circle No. 2 will meet with Mrs. F. A. Shepard.

The Philathea class met with Mrs. Joe Swaim Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mesdames John W. Curtis, John B. York and Miss Bertine Shepard were invited guests, they being teachers of other classes. The home was tastefully decorated in cut flowers. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistant, Mrs. Jones. A unique feature of the class is that each member has a secret Pollyanna Sister who does nice things for her and sends her a little hand-made gift and she doesn't know who it is until the Pollyanna Sisters' names are read at the end of each quarter. This causes much surprise and merriment. Each member draws a name and keeps it a secret. Probably this will help some other class. We need to learn to love each other more. How we all do like a smile or a kind word! Then, remembering this, we should be ready to give the smile and kind word.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

* * *

Shiloh C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—The C. E. Society met Sunday evening, June 19, at the regular hour, and heard a lesson of great interest discussed, the subject being, "How Honest Are We As Individuals and Groups?" led by Mr. Kyle Sink. Each participant presented his thoughts clearly and in such a way that each of the 94 who were present went away with a great blessing and a clearer conception of their honesty in regard to their relationship with man and with God.

Wednesday night, June 22, the C. E. Society met in a regular monthly business session and prayer meeting. The election of officers for the following six months were as follows: Mr. Ray Leatherman, president; Mr. Alvin Sink, vice-president; Miss Stamey Leonard, secretary and Mr. Paul Leonard, treasurer. Several other committees were elected, such as the flower committee, pastor's aid committee, finance committee, social committee, and others. At this time I do not have the names of those on these different committees. After the business part of the meeting Rev. R. S. Troxler led a short but very impressive prayer meeting. Such a meeting as this is always a great help to overcome the temptations that continually confront us.

Sunday evening, June 22 the Society met at 7:30 o'clock; a half hour earlier than usual, so we wouldn't intrude in the following service at 8 o'clock, which was the Children's Day Program. After the business was complete one of our young men and a member of the C. E. Society, Mr. Lyman Troxler, made an impressive talk on "How Christ Meets the Needs of Humanity." We always enjoy hearing talks from boys of our society.

◆

State Street, Lexington. — The Children's Day program was given at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday. A large number of the children and a few young ladies gave the program in a very splendid way. The songs for the occasion were sung by the church choir with Mrs. C. L. Koonts presiding in her usual pleasing and efficient way at the piano.

The address by the pastor at the evening hour was interesting and helpful.

Next Sunday morning Mr. Hendry will conduct a recognition service, giving honorable recognition to outstanding work done by individuals and groups and to all who have merited special notice for unusually faithful service during the year. These programs, or services a little "different," are quite pleasing and our pastor merits and receives praise and gratitude for bringing us variety in many helpful ways.

The Woman's Bible class will hold its monthly meeting at the church Thursday evening. After the devotionals and business there will be a social period and refreshments.

The joint meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the church Wednesday night of next week.

Mrs. F. J. Cox, Mrs. Joe Johnson, Mrs. H. S. Lanier and Mrs. C. L. Koonts led in the preparation of the Children's Day program in a thorough and praiseworthy way.

◆

Asheboro.—An evening of music was given by the choir of our church on Sunday evening, June 12, at the evening church hour. This was composed of piano solos, anthems by the choir and a number of hymns familiar to the congregation.

The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the church was held in the auditorium of the church Monday evening, June 13, with a large attendance. Following the business, which consisted of reports from officers and various secretaries for the quarter, a missionary play, "Let Mary Do It," was splendidly given by 12 members. A social hour was enjoyed in the social room of the church with Circle No. 1 acting as hostess circle. Many visitors were present on this occasion, among which were Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Pritchard, a former pastor, but now of Winston-Salem. We were favored by a few remarks by our former pastor.

The church observed "Father and Son Day" at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday, June 19. Special music was given and an appropriate sermon by the pastor. A large number of fathers ans sons were present and sat together in the service.

The closing program of the Union Vacation Bible School, which was in the M. E. church, was held last Friday morning. The enrollment was the largest of many similar schools ever held in Asheboro. Supt. R. J. Hilker was in charge with an able corps of instructors from the various churches of the town.

Vacation time is here and the young people are looking forward to picnics. Several of these had this pleasure last week. Mr. C. E. Bulla entertained his Sunday school class with a weinie roast picnic at Dogwood Lake in Dogwood Acres last Monday afternoon. Tuesday afternoon Mr. L. F. Ross gave a picnic at the same place to his class. In addition to the picnic supper swimming was enjoyed by both classes.

On Wednesday, our pastor, Rev. R. C. Stubbins, gave the Christian Endeavor Society and Junior Choir an outing to Pilot Mountain. These young people together with the pastor thoroughly enjoyed the day, arriving safely home about 8 o'clock in the evening.

The C. E. Society is meeting for their service at 7 o'clock at the church on Sunday evenings.

There are no evening church services in our church now for the union out-door services begin next Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church, the various pastors of the churches doing the preaching.

The Sunday school is doing good work. Much interest is manifested and the attendance is good. There were 241 present last Sunday and the offering for this, the fourth Sunday, went to the Children's Home.

Mrs. W. C. Hammer returned Thursday from Pine Ridge, Ky., where she attended a meeting of the board of directors of Alvan Drew School. At the Sunday morning service Mrs. Hammer was called upon to tell something of her trip and the school. This she did in a very pleasing manner, without any notice before time.

The pastor announced that the Children's Day program and Cradle Roll Day would be observed the latter part of July.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Almond have been receiving congratulations from their friends upon the arrival of a new daughter in their home on Tuesday, the 31st of May.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus F. Routh and children left last Friay morning for Detroit, Michigan, where they will attend the International Kiwanis Convention. They will also visit Mrs. Routh's sister in Michigan before returuing home.

Mrs. J. S. Ridge underwent an operation in the High Point Hospital last Saturday morning. She is doing very well at this time.

Mrs. G. C. Pritchard has the sympathy of the church in the accident which befell her brother, Nick Porter, in New Mexico, while returning from a trip to Los Angeles, California. Having fallen from the train his right foot was so badly mangled by the train it had to be amputated in St. Joseph's Hospital, Albuquerque, New Mexico. His many friends here are glad to know he has sufficiently recovered to start on his way to North Carolina, to the home of his mother at Clinton, N. C.

Rev. R. C, Stubbins is at the Pastors' Summer Conference this week.

LOLLIE JONES, Reporter.

◆

Bethesda.—We had a very nice service Sunday with very large attendance; had a very interesting sermon by our pastor, Rev. C. W. Saunders. We love him more and more each time we meet him. We also held communion service, a very large number taking part. We are glad to see some willing to come out from the world and try to do something for our blessed Lord I think if there ever was a time in which we needed to do something for him it is now; it was the evil deeds of this nation which brought this mighty depression upon us. Just thing about children crying for bread because we as parents have not spent enough time upon our knees and trying to do our part towards God and His mighty work which needs more workers. We are expecting Bro. W. P. Moore from Darlington, S. C., to render a Children's Day program at 10 a. m. Sunday, July 24th. We will have dinner on the ground. Please come and bring a well-filled basket. We are expecting something good from him and his children.

Our protracted meeting will start on that date we are praying for about a 10-day feast. Come and bring someone with you and give us your prayers. JNO. GULLEDGE.

◆

Harmony, Yarborough Charge.—The Ladies' Auxiliary will meet with Mrs. Henry Balentine Monday evening.

Our Sunday school continues to grow. We have a large class of young people which increases in number each Sunday.

Our pastor, Rev. M. C. Henderson, was with us Sunday. He delivered a very fine message in the morning. On Sunday evening the children's service was held. Everyone seemed to enjoy the program which was given entirely by the children of the Sunday school, directed by Miss Sudie Medlock. Much credit is to be given Miss Medlock for training them so splendidly. The offering amounted to something over seven dollars.

Our revival meeting will begin the fourth Sunday in July. Let us all pray that this meeting will be very successful.

REPORTER.

◆

First Church, Burlington.—Sunday, June 26th, marked a big day in the history of our church. It celebrated its 40th anniversary. The program was planned by Messrs. J. G. Rogers, M. A. Coble and T. T. Stafford. The success largely depended upon them. I'm certain the church voices the writer in saying that much praise is due them for their wonderful ability.

There were 432 present at Sunday school. Mr. R. M. Holt, of Spencer, and a former superintendent of this church, was present and made a brief talk. A number of the former superintendents were present; they were recognized by standing. Special music, a quartette composed of Mr. W. T. Way, Mr. Pattishall, Dr. F. W. Paschall and Mr. J. A. Riddle, was rendered at this hour.

At the 11 o'clock service the church was also overflowing. Rev. W. F. McDowell, who is still an honored member of the Annual Conference, though not engaged in active work, was present. He led in prayer. Rev. Mr. McDowell was sent to this charge in 1892 and early in that year he organized the Burlington church with 17 charter members. Dr. S. W. Taylor, now president of the Conference, who for seven years ending in November, 1927, and who gave unstintedly of his strength and ability to build up the church in every way possible, delivered the morning address.

The choir rendered special music at the morning and evening service. After the 11 o'clock service a table was arranged and those who brought lunch spread it together on the church lawn. The ladies of the church served iced-tea during the dinner hour.

Another service was held at 2:30 in the afternoon. Dr. Fred W. Paschall, pastor of this church as this time, welcomed all visitors and all new and old members. There were a number of old friends and associates present. The Amick family, who once belonged to this church, now members of Fountain Place, and who did much toward the upbuilding of the church along the musical line, was also present. Their quartette, composed of Brothers Dolph, Gilbert and Charlie, and a son of one of the brothers, sang a selection. Following this, Rev. N. G. Bethea, pastor of Fountain Place and Gibsonville church, led in prayer. The history of the church was then read by Tula Paul. It was discovered that during these 40 years of existence the church had grown more widely and broadly and spiritually. Those of the old members who came back yesterday hardly recognized it. There had been so many changes. The church is to be commended highly on its splendid progress. Prof. Dan Holt, of Liberty, N. C., a former layman of the church, delivered the afternoon address. Mr. Tom Stafford read some letters and telegrams from ex-pastors, superintendents, etc., expressing their regrets of not being able to attend the services. Several charter members, ex-superintendents, etc., made brief talks expressing their pleasure of having the privilege to come back to the old homestead again.

At the evening service Dr. C. E. Forlines, of Westminster Theological Seminary, who has gone out from this church, brought the message. All addresses were very inspirational.

This is a day that will long be remembered by the members here. Some old members were present yesterday who had not been back for 10 or 20 years. Old acquaintances were renewed. It was a reael home-coming day. Among those charter members present were: Misses Emma Baulding, Ila Stafford. Mary and Rosa Hinson, Mrs. J. R. Foster. Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Thompson, Mr. R. N. Thompson, Mr. R. P. Isley and Mr. J. R. Boone.

Our pastor and his wife will be away this week attending the Leadership Training School at High Point College. For that reason there will be no 11 o'clock service next Sunday, but there will be a service at the 8 o'clock hour. Six people from our C. E. Society are attending this leadership training school this week.

An unusual Auxiliary meeting was held in the hut Monday evening, June 20th, when the Business Girls' Circle had charge of the program. Some of the members had expressed the desire of attending one of their meetings. Their program was greatly enjoyed.

TULA PAUL, Reporter.

◆

West End, Greensboro.—Our Christian Endeaver society was well represented at the state convention at Catawba college June 13-17. They came back with a beautiful prize for the best Christian Endeavor scrap-book on exhibition. The prize is the beautiful Christian Endeavor "Handy" Book. As well as being very beautiful and well arranged it is very useful in the Christian Endeavor work. Last Sunday evening was given over to the young people and echoes were brought to us by the delegates from the convention. Prof. Spiers of the Lindley Junior High School, who is doing summer school work in music, favored us with a beautiful musical program wrich added much to the occasion. A religious dialogue full of interest and helpful advice added much to the service.

An ice-cream supper was given by Circle No. 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Eldridge on last Monday night and a similar supper was given by Circle No. 3 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Routh on last Saturday night. A nice balance was the result in cash and a good time among those who attended was also to be much appreciated.

The "Old-Fashioned Mother," a play sponsored by Circle No. 2, has been rendered at a number of churches and other places with encouraging results. This play does not only mean that which calls for an admittance fee but it has plenty of fun and it teaches some morals of high order that are to be greatly appreciated. Other engagements are ahead for the rendering of this play.

While the pastor attended the home-coming day at Bethesda church on North Davidson charge last Sunday the West End pulpit at the morning hour was filled by Bro. W. F. Ashburn. An excellent sermon has been reported which was greatly appreciated. Thank you, Bro. Ashburn.

Our people continue to be nice to the people who live at the parsonage. Good eats have come from the homes of Bro. A. Van Ward, Bro. Victor Stockard and Mrs. Clement. Thanks to each one. On various occasions flowers have been presented to the "preacher woman." It is fine to say it with flowers. Again, thanks.

Our Children's Day program is being prepared and will be presented July 10.

GEO. L. CURRY.

◆

First Church, Concord.—Our attendance at Sunday school has been very good for the past few Sundays but not like we want it to be. Last Sunday we had over 300 present; today we had 293. Our offering was something over $5.00. We should have had a larger attendance.

The 11 o'clock services are always wonderful ones. Our pastor continues to bring splendid messages, which we greatly enjoy and feel that much good is done through his sermons. May God's richest blessings we showered upon our pastor and his family.

On last Monday evening the ladies of our church met and reorganized our Missionary Society. For some time the Ladies' Aid and the Missionary Circles have been combined, but we felt that by reorganizing and having a circle of our own we could do a much better work.

Now we have three Missionary Circles. We had a wonderful meeting with 50 of our ladies present besides the children and we are expecting these new circles to get out some real work for our church and for our Master.

The prayer meetings are greatly enjoyed by those who attend and the Lord is giving us real spiritual blessings for which we are very thankful.

Pray for the work here so when Jesus comes He shall find us watching.

REPORTER.

◆

Friendship Station.—On Sunday morning our pastor, Rev. O. B. Williams, brought us the most wonderful message you ever heard. "If God Be With You Who Can Be Against You?" We are pleased with our young people.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. J. H. Harkey on Wednesday evening for their regular meeting, which is always a success. Rev. and Mrs. O. B. Williams have as their guests Mrs. Wells, their daughter and her son from Florida, to spend a few months. We are glad to have them with us.

On the first Sunday, July 3, we will have Home-Coming at Friendship and we hope all of our old friends will come back to be with us as we are looking for a good meeting. Dr. Taylor will preach at 11 o'clock. I know it will be worth coming to hear his message, as he always brings something worthwhile. I won't tell what we will have in the afternoon. Come and see, and you won't forget. I ask all readers to pray for our sick ones.

REPORTER.

◆

THE MEETING AT BURLINGTON ON EVANGELISM

There were several people out for this meeting. It proved to be very helpful and inspirational.

There were some pastors who failed to come to this meeting. For their benefit I wish to say that this meeting voted to carry the spirit of this meet to all the local churches in this district. Pastors are urged to have some special meeting in their church within the next few week to present the matter of evangelism. These meetings may be held during the week or they may be held at the regular Sunday hours. Please stress the importance of strengthening the spiritual life. The group at Burlington felt that this is one of the greatest needs at the present time.

◆

N. C. LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL PRE-REGISTRATION CAMPAIGN

Enfield, Enfield	9
Julian, Tabernacle	4
Gibsonville	5
Salem, Saxapahaw	7
Flat Rock, Vance	1
Kernersville, Kernersville	5
Concord, Saxapahaw	2
Pine Grove, Kernersville	4
Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Pleasant	5
Calvary, Greensboro	14
Union Grove, Orange	5
Asheboro	17
Efland, Orange	8
Bethel, Alamance	2
Tabernacle, Tabernacle	4
Graham	3
Asheville	8
Siler City	6
Mt. Hermon, Mt. Hermon	7
Fountain Place, Burlington	8
Previously reported	78
Total to date	203

T. J. WHITEHEAD.

◆

Sparks that lodged in his long whiskers while he was building a fire caused the death of John Nab r, 88, at a Chicago hospital.

Claude Molack, of Dallas, dreaming that his hotel room was on fire, walked through the window and was injured.

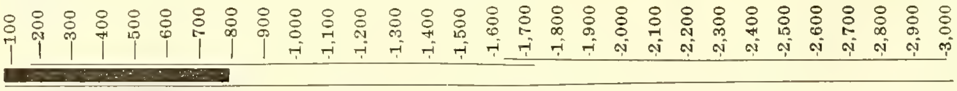
◆

Bunk—The doctor you consult now tells you to play golf for your health.

Bunker—And if you already play?

Bunk—He tells you to quit.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	13¾
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	3¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	13½
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10
Concord	33	16½
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2½
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	9
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	11¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro,Grace	42	26
Greenesboro, Calvary	25	11½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	8½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	13
Halifax	52	13
Haw River	49	11½
Henderson	38	12¾
High Point, First	72	36
High Point, Lebanon	31	18½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moriah	31	15¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	8¾
Mebane	28	5
Mecklenburg	38	3¼
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	22½
North Davidson	53	11
Orange	70	18½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10⅝
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	8½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	14½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	21
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	16
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	9¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	10½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	28
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

(Continued from Page Eleven)

knew him well and always he was the same good-natured Noah, with a smile for everyone. He bore on his countenance always the evidence of a man whose conscience was clean and whose mind was at peace. We have many men whose friendship we prize highly, but we have never known a man in whom we had more implicit confidence than Uncle Noah Wright.

Honesty and uprightness was written in every line of his makeup. Truly all nature could look him in the face and say there is a man.

Noah Wright is dead, so the world would say. What the world knew as Noah Wright is no more here, but in the hearts of loved ones and friends, and in the influence for good that he left in his community he still lives and will live.

Through the simplicity and uprightness of his goings in and out among his people, to point men and women to a richer and nobler conception of life and its possibilities, he served his day and generation, he performed the tasks allotted to him by providence and acquitted himself like a man.

Whether in the walks of private citizen or performing the duties of a public servant, Uncle Noah swerved not from the path a good man should tread. He was not rich in this world's goods. But he left behind him to be handed down to those who follow after him, a heritage more precious than jewels and more to be desired than rubies and fine gold; namely the heritage of a spotless character and a life well spent about his Master's business. Peace be to his ashes. May he enjoy to the utmost the sweet rest he so richly earned. A NEPHEW.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

Wright

Noah Jackson Wright was born November 19, 1844, and died June 6, 1932. On April 12, 1866, he was married to Nancy E. Bingham, and to this union seven children, six girls and one boy, were born. His wife, the son and two daughters preceded him to the great beyond. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. R. A. Lackey, Mrs. D. L. Martin, Mrs. R. W. Wilson, Mrs. J. D. Morris, all of Fallston, and two brothers and two sisters. The deceased has 28 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren. He served in the War Between the States, as did his father, the father being killed in action near Drewry's Bluff, Virginia.

Bro. Wright joined Friendship Methodist Protestant church in early boyhood, and at the age of 20 years was elected superintendent of the Sunday school, and served in that capacity for 67 years, being superintendent at his death, though he had not been very active for the past year. He loved the Sunday school work and magnified his office by untiring faithfulness and the use of the best and most up-to-date methods. His motto was: "Be On Time and Make the Whole Program Worshipful." He was always alert to anything that would stimulate interest in the young and old. His long and useful life as superintendent of the Sunday school had become the object of much interest in far-away sections of the country. Just a few days before his death he received a letter. from a minister in Mount Morris, N. J., asking him for a sketch of his life and work.

In his home life he was no less interested in spiritual things. He felt that the day's responsibilities and privileges had not been fully met and discharged until he sang a gospel song and conducted family devotions around the fireside.

Bro. Wright cultivated a sympathetic disposition and spirit. He was slow to criticize, preferring to exercise patience and give encouragement. Few people in this section have ever been, or will be, missed as is Bro. Wright. His simple faith in his Lord sustained him in life and in death,

His funeral was held in Friendship church in the presence of a tremendous throng of people, and was conducted by the pastor, who was assisted by the following: Rev. J. M. Morgan, Rev. C. E. Ridge, and an M. E. pastor, Rev. Mr. Snow.

To the sorrowing members of the family we extend our sympathy and pray that God's sustained Grace may be theirs, and that the mantle of this good man may fall on someone else. A. D. SHELTON.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CH AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

Seminary Library 5dec2 Westminster MD

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., JULY 28, 1932 NUMBER 37

Saving the Lost

Saving the safe is a noble task:
Angels of God will no higher ask;
Keeping the lambs from the wolves that tear,
Saving the young from the traps that snare.

Saving the lost is a greater thing,
Moving the world high praises to sing;
Angels or men cannot pay the price
Needed to save from the depths of vice.

Saving a soul from the curse of sin
Called for power divine successfully to win.
None but the Christ through His sacrifice
Able and willing to pay the price.

Banking on the Incidents and Accidents of Life

Relying on the virtues of others is proper sometimes,—when it is duly authorized. Those of ability may become surety for us and thus contribute to our safety. There is the supreme example of Jesus Christ becoming surety for the whole world of men. That may be fully trusted because it is fully trustworthy. He is able to save to the uttermost all who come unto God by Him. But the man who trusts for salvation to his wife's or daughter's piety is destined to a sad disappointment. So of any who trust to family merits which they do not individually possess. Perhaps the largest class of disappointed ones will be those who have only an outward relation with the church which they mistake for a vital relationship. Jesus tells of many who shall come seeking admittance on the ground that they had eaten and drunken in his presence and that he had taught in their streets. They do not intimate that they had offered to share their food with him or that they had invited him from the streets into their homes. They wanted eternal hospitality in return for what was not even a day's hospitality. Jesus had to dismiss them as workers of iniquity.

When God made and peopled the world He put every man in a position of candidacy for a great boon, an eternal reward. But this reward was to be received on reasonable conditions. "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" The acquisition of true character is the ground of eternal security.

◆

—In time of the World War Brother W. F. Grabs wrote to President Wilson suggesting that an annual day of prayer be appointed. He received no reply.

An Easy Way to Run a Church

Have no pastor and no preaching except an occasional sermon by a visiting brother.

Take no collections—just receive unsolicited offerings.

Have no Sunday School or other organization for young people.

Pay no attention to visitors.

Let the church building go to wreck and ruin.

Have no good singing or instrumental music.

This will surely run any church into the ground.

◆

—Nothing is so bad that God cannot make it better.

—Notice what our Randleman reporter says about Rev. T. A. Williams.

—The Atlantic and Yadkin Valley is not granted the right to take off passenger trains.

—"Remember Lot's wife" when the voices of men sound louder than does the voice of God.

—First church, Burlington, loses one of its best members in the death of Brother Ed Moore. President Taylor goes today to attend his funeral.

—There is much money in the United States seeking investment. A recent offer of U. S. Treasury notes to pay 3½ per cent. interest has been oversubscribed 12 times, reports Secretary Mills.

—Senator Glass' resolution regarding prohibition pending when Congress adjourned is severely condemned by Bishop Cannon. It would, he says, write into the law a number of worthless provisions.

—It is good to read of the revival in progress at Lexington, following so soon after the great revival in that city. But "past blessings will not suffice for present wants." It is fitting always to sing the prayer, "Revive us again!"

—The Unity Party is a new political party organized by a convention of delegates from 22 states. Presidential nominees are Webb and Nordskog. In another column you will find their platform.

—We have just read of the death of Mrs. George B. Harris. To Brother Harris especially we extend deepest sympathy. It did not take one entertained in their home as we had the honor to be long to find out how they prized and loved each other. How much you have lost, my dear brother! God comfort you as only He can. This world is poorer to you, but Heaven is richer.

THE RELIGIOUS MIND AND THE SCIENTIFIC MIND

It is frequently the case that a man lives his life as if in separate apartments, or sections—adjacent, indeed, but water-tight and with no openings or means of communication between them.

One man has a fine family life. At home he is kind, considerate, devoted to his wife and children. In business matters he is hard, exacting, shrewd, and unscrupulous.

Another man is, in the church, generous, friendly, loyal to the work of the church, interested in foreign mission enterprises. Out in the world he is difficult to deal with, slow to recognize obligations to his employees, opposes men and organizations that would disturb or change conditions and institutions. He stands for things as they are.

The same thing holds true as to the sorts of thinking men do in various fields. It is as though they had two minds —separated by an impenetrable wall and with no means of communication between them.

In business and politics the man is up to date—modern-minded. In his religious thinking he belongs in the Middle Ages—he has no gears for shifting from one idea to another. His scientific mind uses electric lights, the telephone, the automobile. His religious mind is still content with the tallow dip, he calls up his neighbor with a loud voce across the fields, and he does his traveling by ox cart.

Willard Sperry says: "The religious mind does not like to qualify its truths."

So the religious mind, when confronted by a new truth or an unusual emphasis on an old truth, asks: "If I accept this new truth must I modify my present beliefs?" And when told that that would seemingly be necessary, the religious mind shrinks back from accepting that particular statement of truth.

In much the same way the scientific mind, when asked to accept, or to return to, a certain religious belief, asks: "Is this religious belief in accord with the truth I have come to know and to accept?" If told that he must give up the truth to which his investigations have led him, who can blame him for refusing?

What happens? Important changes inevitably take place.

In the case of the scientific mind, to the extent to which it is really open-minded, truth comes to appear many-sided. It is larger and much more varied than was supposed. Truths seem to clash. Statements are regarded as inadequate, and must be revised. Scientific men get into fierce controversies. Thus there comes about a variety of schools of thought and numerous parties. Then there emerges the broad-minded, tolerant scientist. He recognizes the rights of every seeker after truth. He works in his own field, co-operates as far as possible with other scholars, and expects operates as far as possible with other scholars, and expects that the truth in all its phases will increasingly become the possession of all its devotees.

The religious mind has worked in various ways. Death used to be the fate of the nonconformist. A favorite method has been to ostracise those whose beliefs and statements do not accord with the standards, call them by some bad name, and consign them to the place where their worm dieth not and their fire is not quenched. For the most part, calling a non-conformist by a bad name and withdrawing from his fellowship is as far as punishment now goes.

The religious mind, in spite of its dislike for qualifying its claims to the contrary, has modified many of its beliefs does change. Roman Catholicism, notwithstanding its claims to the contrary, has modified many of its beliefs and practices, and its administration is not the same everywhere. Protestantism has changed, and it is continually changing. This is brought about by the nature of things, the logic of events, and by the development of thought and life in all spheres.

But the process of making a change often causes the religious mind to appear ridiculous. Dr. Sperry says again: "The new ideas, which religion admits after a long period of timidity, have been for years the common-places of knowledge, and the outside world does not see that religion deserves any credit for grudgingly conceding at a late date truths it should have gladly welcomed from the first."

It will be greatly to the advantage of the Christian church if the religious mind succeeds in receiving new truth, and better statements of old truths, a little more quickly, a iltte more heartily, and if the shift could be made at full speed ahead—after the manner of the free-wheeling of the latest models of automobiles. I was about to say that this need not hurt any one's mind or heart. Perhaps we may reach that state of things in the distant future. At present, however, growth—though having its pleasant side—must be, to a considerable extent, accompanied by growing pains.

LUTHER K. LONG.

◆

GOD'S LOVE

All men have somewhere in the depths of their hearts the instinct of hunger for God, though they may not be actively seeking him. The compassionate Father has pity on His children apart from their deserts. John 3:16: God so loved the world. God did not give his Son in order that he might love us, but because he did love us. "While we were yet sinners Christ died for us." He did not die for us because we were good, or lovable, but to make us good and lovable. As there was nothing good in us to attract him to us at the first, so nothing in us will drive him from us. He will continue to love us.

Two men were riding along together. One said to the other, I read the Bible but I get no benefit from it. The truth is, I do not love God. Neither did I, said the other, but God loved me. The conversation opened up to his soul at once the great truth. That it is not how much I (we) love God, but how much he loves us. This is just what God wants us to grasp and hold. That he loves us. God is endeavoring to satisfy that craving instinct which he has implanted in all men. God is trying to get hold of our consciences and our hearts. We are free agents. He cannot force us. So He undertakes to move us, to draw us by love, to move us to seek him, to search for Him.

John 12:32: And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." God is waiting to bestow upon us

His mercies. He is holding out His great mercies in the gift of His Son. If one is a great sinner, that is no bar to the forgiveness of His sins. David sadi, Ps. 25:11: For thy name's sake, O Lord, pardon mine iniquity, for it is great. God has promised that those who seek Him shall find Him. Matt. 7:7,8: Ask and ye shall receive, seek, and ye shall find, knock, and it shall be opened. For everyone that asketh receiveth; and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened. Notice in these verses. Three shalls, and everyone. God reveals himself to faith. Job had a long, hard search for God and found him. God reveals Himself to the seeker as soon as He can. Job 42:5: I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear, but now mine eye seeth thee. Sixth verse: Wherefore, I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes.

When a sinner has a view of God, he abhors himself and repents. Christians abhor themselves when they get a vision of the Holy God. Isaiah 6:5: Then said I, woe is me; for I am undone, because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips; for mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts.

G. F. Millaway.

LOOK AT THE STARS

A Visit to Mount Wilson Observatory

Mount Wlson, in the Sierra Madre Mountains, a little more than a mile above sea level, slightly higher than its near-by neighbor, Mount Lowe, and twelve miles northeast of Pasadena, California, is regarded as the world's foremost center for astronomical research.

Dr. George Ellery Hale, under whose direction the present buildings were erected and equipment provided, chose Mount Wilson as a location, having ascertained that there are here an average of two hundred ninety nights in the year having a clear sky, and it is enough above the valley to be free from the occasional haze and fog found in the lower altitudes, and without the severe cold and storms that occur in the highest mountains. Its location between the sea on the southwest and the desert on the northeast makes for moderate temperature changes and low wind velocity, which are essential features of good observing conditions with large instruments. The mountain is covered with a dense growth of chaparral and a considerable number of large spruce, pine, and oak trees, which protect the mountainsides from the direct rays of the sun, and thus diminish air currents, which might be detrimental to the best conditions for the use of the telescopes.

Large numbers of deer, tamed because unharmed, are to be seen feeding at the hotel and also in other near-by places, the target for many kodaks. Sixty-five varieties of birds are found on the ascents or the summit of the mountain.

The observatory is one of twelve major research Carnegie institutions, all amply endowed, receiving annual incomes sufficient for their every need. It possesses the most modern, the most extensive, and the most costly equipment of its kind in the world, including a gigantic reflecting telescope which has a mirror with a diameter of 101 inches, thirteen inches in thickness, and weighing four and a half tons, the largest in existence. Although this telescope weighs in all one hundred tons, it is so mounted that it is easily moved in an hour angle to follow the stars automatically as they move through the sky. The equipment has also a 60-inch reflecting telescope, the third in size in the world; and a 150-foot tower sun telescope, the largest one of the kind ever made, devoted exclusively to sun observation.

The Carnegie Institute of Washington is now financing the assembling of another reflecting telescope, which will have a weight of 450 tons. It is to have a mirror 200 inches in diameter, three feet in thickness, with a weight of thirty tons. This mammoth telescope will require to house it a dome of the height of a ten-story building. The Carnegie Institution has plenty of money instantly available for its construction. But great telescopes build slowly. It will be at least eight or ten years before this monster instrument is completed and set up. When finished, it doubtless will be placed upon the summit of one of the Sierras away from the centers of population. The adjacent lights of Pasadena affect the sky over the Mount Wilson observatory, and may affect it still more as the size of the city increases.

Visitors ordinarily are not accorded the privilege of looking through the telescope having the diameter of 101 inches, because it is in constant use at night by the members of the observatory staff.

The observatory has a staff of seventy, which includes twenty scientists and twelve computers, whose business it is to do the mechanical handling of the figures in problems that are being wrought out by the astronomers. The members of the staff and their families reside in Pasadena.

Twenty thousand visitors come to the summit of Mount Wilson every year, and included among these are learned men from all parts of the earth, who congregate here to study the stars, and to carry out notable researches in astronomy and in allied branches of science.

All the guests of the hotel, unless they direct otherwise, are awakened at four o'clock in the morning to witness the sunrise from Echo Rock, which is about eight minutes' walk from the hotel. The marvels of that sunrise are sure to abide as a beautiful and sacred memory with those who have witnessed it. The day view from Signal Point is wonderfully rewarding. On a clear day one can see Catalina Island, seventy miles away, and the ships in the Los Angeles harbor at San Pedro. At night from the same place one can behold the flashing lights of sixty cities.

While the writer was there, Walter P. Hoge, who has been connected with the observatory for more than twenty years, gave the regular weekly Friday evening illustrated astronomical lecture in the assembly room of the hotel. Through successive pictures thrown upon the screen, he presented the history of the growth of the observatory from the beginning to the present, the conveying of the building material and equipment over the roughest of zigzag roads, and the most difficult task of all, getting the glass reflectors up the mountainside without breakage or other damage.

One of the most distinctive and outstanding achievements of the observatory, said Dr. Hoge, has been the photographic work, which has resulted in the production of many remarkable photographs of nebulæ and star clusters, and the discovery of new and improved methods of determining stellar distances. It was not possible, remarked the lecturer, in a single address, to give any adequate idea of the results of the numerous researches that have been successfully carried out in the history of the observatory, and that have involved new methods of attack on astronomical problems. These successful investigations have been described in nearly four hundred major papers, which have appeared as current articles in the Astro-Physical Journal. Several hundred other papers, notes, and announcements have been printed in the publications of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, the proceedings of the National Academy of Science, and in other scientific publications.

A chart-drawing was thrown upon the screen, showing the new planetary system, including the newly discovered planet Pluto, and exhibiting nine planets now revolving around our sun.

Percival Lowell announced, the year before his death, from the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Arizona, that he had discovered perturbations in the journey of Neptune in its orbit which must be caused by the pulling and attraction of some unknown planet beyond. Lowell completed his investigations and laid aside his figures, which announced the place where, several years later, the planet, when approaching its perihelion, would appear. Thirteen years after his death, and at the very place where he said the new and unknown planet would be discovered, it was found. Pluto as regards mass and diameter is of the size of the earth, moving in an orbit far beyond that of Neptune, and requiring 249 years to complete its journey around the sun.

The discovery of Pluto is an example of scientific faith. Investigation and computation led the way to certain demonstrable conclusions. Faith accepted these deductions. When the designated time came, the telescope was then leveled at the point where it was believed that the planet was, and it was discovered.

Dr. Hoge in his lecture also said, among other things of great interest, that the work of scanning and study of the heavens is carried on in the dome of the large telescope every clear night in the year, both winter and summer. These observers, made up of the advanced scholars of the staff, work in relays, the members of each group, after four or five nights of toil, taking back to observatory headquarters the results of their investigation, their places then being taken by another group, who carry on from the point where the preceding group left off.

In speaking of the work of the staff in the open dome of the giant telescope on winter nights, the lecturer said: "We have no artificial heat of any kind inside the dome. We keep warm by wearing three garments of every article of clothing that is worn." He showed upon the screen the picture of one of the staff sitting in a chair, on a winter night, all bundled up, with his eye at the eye-piece of the telescope.

Following the lecture, which closed at nine o'clock, we were conducted to the dome having the telescope with the mirror of the sixty-inch diameter, and each one was allowed to have a look through it. When it came my turn, the member of the observatory staff in charge said to me: "I will tell you what you will see. The telescope is now leveled on a cluster of stars, known as Messier thirteen, and approximately fifty thousand in number, belonging to the constellation of Hercules, and thirty thousand light years away." With light traveling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, the mind becomes bewildered and lost in the contemplation of such inconceivable distances.

But Einstein has declared his belief in a finite universe. This is the latest conclusion of science, one that stands out in sharp contrast with the conception of a universe of infinite space. So the ancients with their beliefs about the importance of man in relation to his world were nearer to the truth than are some of the scientists of the more recent decades. We are finding fresh reasons, not only for the greatness of God, but for the greatness of man made in the image of God. The stars themselves are inferior to the mind that perceives them and reasons about them. The self-conscious mind is superior to a material universe that is not conscious of its own existence. The possession of the passion and the power of knowledge marks man as superior to all the forms and combinations of matter. The greatness of the universe tends to lift man to a still greater glory as he brings himself to a better knowledge and understanding of the universe. Therefore the tribute of the Psalmist to the creating, omnipotent God is forever true:

Thou hast made him [man] but little lower than God,
And crownest him with glory and honor.
Thou makest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands;
Thou hast put all things under his feet.

—Rollo F. Hurlburt, in Zions' Herald.

GROWING LOVELIER WITH THE YEARS

In the last few years we have learned that preparedness is wise in all things, even as we were warned in our youth that a stitch in time saves nine. But in spite of all our learning to be prepared for a rainy day by wise investments, by thrift and wise spending, there is one inevitable condition for which we fail to prepare, and that is the sure coming of old age, provided, of course, that our years here continue to that state. Even if we thoughtfully prepare for our financial security at that future time when our earning capacities are most likely to desert us, we have yet to realize the most important responsibility upon us, which is to prepare, quietly, steadily, and pleasantly, for a mellow, interesting, and happy old age.

Preparation should be started at least as soon as the children are out of college, for that is the beginning of the most decisive change in a life that has been more than full for years. If there are no children, the time to prepare has come when we begin to relax somewhat from the stress and fever of the climbing years and lift our heads to find whither we are going. Such a time is apt to come somewhere in the middle forties.

From that time of life one should begin to watch older people and decide which of their habits are most likable and which it would be better to discard. One may repeat every morning, brightly but firmly, "Every day I am growing into a lovelier old age," and then one should gaily and persistently put the idea into practice.

The habit of amiability is most praiseworthy in people of advanced years, perhaps because there is then neither the fire of youth nor the burden of the strenuous years to excuse the lack of it. There is nothing much pleasanter to behold, to meet, and to live with, than a kindly older person. Both tolerance and tenderness seem to shine forth with added luster in the later years of life, combining in a mellowness that graces the possessor and blesses other people.

Old age should be one of the most interesting times of life, and it may be if its years are planned for deliberately. Interesting lives do not just happen. One must be thoroughly alive all through the former years of life if one wishes to relish the later years. One woman, whose family is grown and away, is purposely studying one new subject each year, because of the new contacts, and the broadening of the horizon that this method brings to her. She intends to keep this up for the rest of her life if possible, and if anything happens that she is housebound in her later years she will not only have a treasure-trove of memories, but will know better how to organize her time and thought to contain some of the many worth-while things in life. Several men who are now in the thick of the business life are quietly enlarging on their hobbies in their spare moments so that their old age will be full of interest. The business man who dies from lack of his usual occupation is without vision to see beyond his own narrow wall, for the world is wide and wonderful and countless explorations may be made from a book or a bedside. In these modern times it is very easy to get in touch with other people, to find ways of helping other lives, and of course the man or woman who is constantly thinking of other people has little time for self-pity or loneliness.

How to be happy though old has sometimes been put forth as a problem more or less unsolvable, but one who has gone gently with the years and followed so many interests that each day is absorbing, can also prepare and plan for an endowment of happiness twenty years ahead as easily as people plan for life insurance. To be conscious of the actual common blessings of each day even in the physical way is to start well on the way to permanent joy. The comfort of the bed when one is tired, the hour of relaxation before an open fire, the thrill of a beautiful scene, the pleasing aroma of food and the added felicity of its taste, the smile of a friend, the unexpected visit, the friendly letter, the hearty laugh with a kindred spirit—all these little things have a savor of their own. To enjoy that savor to its full, deliberately, steadily, day after day, is to form a habit that will add greatly to the years when one has more time and thought for daily living.

To dwell and elaborate on the noble side of humanity is another way to gain a happy old age. There is something about fault-finding that shrivels one, while virtue-finding is a most broadening trait, which brightens all the hours. Add to that a sense of humor that has been allowed for many years to bubble up from the heart like a fountain of fresh water, and old age may limit the physical self but the spirit will be glad and free.

Perhaps one other important preparation for the later years of life may be the practice of being alone contentedly. It quite often happens that one must sit apart from the rushing stream of humanity when one can no longer keep up the pace. To depend on other people for one's happiness at such a time is neither wise nor just. Hours that some may call lonely may be full of rich living if one has had the vision to prepare a full mind and an eager heart to use them. There is always some one's problem to be solved, there is always some person to be helped, and quiet hours may be fruitful and productive of great influence even if spent alone.

One prepares for college, for a career, for travel, for material responsibilities and possible unfavorable circumstances, so while living in this constant state of planning why not prepare for a lovely and lovable old age? It is never too early to begin.—Lydia Lion Roberts in Zion's Herald.

◆

PUTTING AWAY UNCLEANNESS

A little child falls into a cesspool and comes crying into the house, the filth dripping from every part of his garments. The first feeling of the mother is a feeling of revulsion; and the more sensitive she is, the greater is her feeling of revulsion. If she is a half-educated mother, she first gives the boy a box on the ear by way of satisfying her wrath. But if she is a truly refined mother, she takes the child and begins to cleanse him; and in the very process of stripping off the garments and putting him in the bath and washing him and bringing him out clean and pure, she overcomes, she satisfies, she appeases, she utilizes her very wrath against the filth. If she did not have any such wrath she would not touch the child. You can see the proof of this every day. You may see in the tenement house the child with the filthy face. The mother does not cleanse him because she does not mind filth; and you do not cleanse him because the child is not your child. You must have the two, the love for the child and the hate of the filth; then there comes the soap and the water.

And it is in the process of the cleansing that the revulsion is not cured, but satisfied. In the very process of the cleansing, the wrath, indignation, revulsion, does its work. There is no righteous wrath which is not a redeeming, a purifying wrath; and there is no satisfying of it except as love is so joined to wrath that the wrath and the love unite in the process of purification.—From Lyman Abbott.

◆

—Judge Johnson Hayes of the federal judiciary is not only a terror to evil doers when he is in the court room, but he speaks his mind against law violation from pulpits and platforms, urging the people to take their place in law enforcement.

—This morning's paper brings the good news that High Point mills (most of them) will resume operation this morning. In some cases complete agreements have not yet been reached. It is a nice point to determine precisely what to do to work no injury to either employers or employees. Business will we believe have to learn to be more co-operative in order to run more smoothly.

Why Methodist Protestants Should Support High Point College

Why I Sent My Daughter to High Point College

First, because it is our college and I do not feel that I would be loyal to my church or to those leaders who are giving their lives to make it a success if I did not do everything possible to encourage and support them in it.

Second, because I know the instructors of High Point College and am sure that they are among the best to be found anywhere in the state. Also, I believe that these instructors are deeply interested in the future of the institution and of every student that attends it.

Third, because High Point College is my daughter's choice. She loves the college, is happy there and is doing good work.

R. A. HUNTER, Pastor

Forsyth Charge, Winston-Salem, N. C.

LEST WE FORGET

(Note: The Chicago Tribune is one of the wettest of all the wet papers. It calls for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. But it was not always thus. Before prohibition it saw enough of the liquor traffic to realize how bad it was. In 1917, in an editorial, it gave expression to sentiments and stated facts that made its judgment seem entirely trustworthy. The Tribune has been requested to republish that editorial for the enlightenment of those who have never known those old conditions—but it hasn't done so yet. Here is the editorial. L. K. L.)

If the secret records of the brewing and distilling industry were ever brought to light they would tell a story of social and political corruption unequaled in the annals of our history. If the veritable narrative of the American saloon were ever written it would make the decadence of Rome look like an age of pristine purity in comparison.

Whiskey, wine, and beer never caused half as much injury to society as the manufacturers and purveyors of these beverages. If these men have not made a practice of committing murders and arson it is because these crimes did not seem immediately profitable. The liquor business has been the faithful ally of every vicious element in American life; it has protected criminals, it has fostered the social evil, and it has bribed politicians, juries and legislatures.

The inherent corruption has extended even to the so-called decent saloon. There are few that do not serve adulterated products and it is an unusual proprietor that is not more than pleased when his patrons are getting drunk than when they keep sober. Philip Drunk stays longer and spends more money than does Philip Sober. That is one reason why the saloon would rather sell ardent spirits than beer; they are more intoxicating.

We have been speaking of the "decent saloon"; the other variety is almost unspeakable. The smallest count in the indictment against the evil barroom is its persistent evasion of the law. We are not surprised to read that numerous Cook county roadhouses are operating without licenses, that they keep open on Sunday, or that they seem to exercise a mysterious control over public officials. Yet these are only minor offenses in the calendar of saloon iniquities.

The brewers have at times tried, or said they would try, to clean up the saloon business. The head of a great St. Louis brewery often told his conferees that it was the brewer's only salvation. The theory was accepted, but the practice was always to expand every energy to sell one more keg of beer, even if it has to be sold to bootleggers and resort keepers.

It is for these reasons that the prohibition movement has gained such strength. The demand for the abolition of the liquor traffic is the expression of a ripening conviction that it is conducted by nefarious means and for nefarious ends.

A DESCRIPION OF EVOLUTION

Evolution is simply a history, a history of steps, a general name for the history of the steps by which the world has come to what it is. According to this general definition, the story of evolution is narrative. It may be wrongly told; it may be colored, exaggerated, over or under-stated, like the record of any other set of facts; it may be told with a theological bias, or with an anti-theological bias; theories of the process may be added by this thinker or by that, but these are not of the substance of the story. Whether history is told by a Gibbon or a Green, the facts remain; and whether evolution is told by a Haeckel or a Wallace, we accept the narrative so far as it is a rendering of nature, and no more. It is true, before this story can be fully told, centuries still must pass. At present there is not a chapter of the record that is wholly finished. The manuscript is already worn with erasures, the writing is often blurred, the very language is uncouth and strange. Yet even now the outline of a continuous story is beginning to appear—a story whose chief credential lies in the fact that no imagination of man could have designed a spectacle so wonderful, or worked out a plot at once so intricate and so transcendently simple.—From Professor Henry Drummond.

MISSIONARY EQUIPMENT

A life yielded to God and controlled by His Spirit;

A restful trust in God for the supply of all needs;

A sympathetic spirit, and a willingness to take a lowly place;

Tact in dealing with men, and an adaptability towards circumstances;

Zeal in service and steadfastness in discouragement;

Love for communion with God and for the study of His Word;

Some blessing in the Lord's work at home, a healthy body and a vigorous mind.—The Revivalist.

IMMORTALITY

Thou wilt not leave us in the dust:
Thou madest man, he knows not why;
He thinks he was not made to die;
And Thou hast made him: Thou art just.

—Lord Alfred Tennyson.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

The following letter from President Broomfield merits our thoughtful attention and our most generous response:

"Dear Brother President:

"The Board of Missions is in desperate straights, and our missionaries are suffering. To meet the situation the Board is issuing an emergency appeal, and is sending supplies of envelopes to the Women's Auxiliaries for distribution among their churches. In the churches where there are no Auxiliaries, the envelopes are being sent to the pastors for distribution.

"I am appealing to you to send a personal letter to all the pastors in your conference urging them to co-operate in this Emergency Appeal. Please do this RIGHT AWAY; the time is short, and the need is pressing.

"Fraternally yours,

"J. C. Broomfield."

Instead of a personal letter, as suggested by President Broomfield, I am using my weekly Herald letter as the means of communicating with our pastors regarding this matter. I urge that every pastor pass this appeal on to their people, and that the envelopes be distributed in all churches as a means of gathering the offerings of the people. Let the money go promptly to Dr. Brown, and mark it "Emergency Fund" for Board of Missions.

Spiritual Retreat

After conferring with Rev. T. J. Whitehead, chairman of committee on Evangelism, it was decided that we should not attempt to hold a "Spiritual Retreat" in August, as we had previously thought to do. So many of our pastors will be engaged in special meetings during the month of August, and it is for that reason that the "Retreat" was postponed. Chairman Whitehead still has the matter under advisement, and he may arrange for such a day later in the year.

Vacation Sundays

On these days, two of them, we have worshipped with First church, High Point, First Presbyterian church, High Point, and Pleasant Grove church, preaching for Brother Williams in the latter place in a night service during his revival meeting. We also assisted Brother Farmer in the morning service on the third Sunday. Brother Farmer has not been well recently, but is much better now. At the Presbyterian church we found a very "homey" condition—the congregation was wrestling with finances. But they are going on heroically with their work.

Conference Activities

This is distinctively our season of revivals; it is gratifying to note good results in many of these meetings. It is the season, also, of Leaderhip Training schools, and a number of these are being held, and with good results. May God's blessings in rich measure attend these activities.

Brother Bates' S. O. S.

It appeared in Herald of last week. Surely pastors will observe it. If Journals have been sold, the money received for them should go in at once, so the printer may be paid. Please, brethren, do not delay this until you go to conference next fall. If the Journal money is in hand, let Brother Bates have it NOW.

Students

This is the time when students are "signing up" for college next year. We suggest that pastors and others notify High Point College of prospective students. Much help can be rendered the college in this way. And also much help will be given to the students by putting them in touch with a college where the rates are reasonable, and the quality of college work of a high order. High Point students rate well in active life.

Appointments

July 30—Gray's Chapel, in District Rally.

August 21—Orange Charge; Efland, 11 a. m.; Union Grove, 3 p. m.

"Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ."

Fraternally yours,

S. W. Taylor.

July 27, 1932.

◆

LIGHT AND SIGHT

Some men pray for light when what they need is sight. There was plenty of light when the blind men cried out for Jesus to have mercy upon them; but they could not see it until He opened their eyes. So, today, there are floods of light upon every matter over which so many people perplex themselves—upon our duty, our relations one to another; upon what is right and what is wrong among men; upon our responsibility to God; upon His Law, His Love, His Divine selfhood. And yet, amid the effulgence of this sunset hour, some pray for light upon these very things when they should be following in confident obedience the light which is pouring its glory around them. "If any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine." Let us pray. "God, give us eyes."—Publisher Unknown.

◆

NO DIFFERENCE IN THE VOICES

Mercy, a little colored girl, eight years old, was setting the table, when the son of the house who was in the room, said to her, "Mercy, do you pray?"

The suddenness of the question confused her a little, but she answered, "Yes, every morning and every night."

"Do you think God hears you?" the boy asked.

She answered promptly, "I know He does."

"But do you think," said he, trying to puzzle her, "that He hears your prayers as readily as those of white children?"

For full three minutes the child kept on with her work; then she slowly said, "Master George, I pray into God's ear, and not His eyes. My voice is just like any other girl's; and if I say what I ought to say, God don't look at my skin."—Publisher Unknown.

OUR STORY PAGE

"THE BLOOD CURE"

Jim was a big strapping athlete, so big and strong that when he went to school his fellow students admired his physical prowess. He was urged to try for a place on the athletic teams. Jim tried and successfully met his competitors.

Because of his size and strength Jim became a powerful football player. Oftentimes the crowd was thrilled as they watched the husky athlete hit the opposing line with the force of a battering ram, sweeping aside the defensive players as he carried the ball for a consistent gain. The play of the entire line centered around Jim.

One day Jim's team encountered rugged opponents. The game was fought in hard manner. On a certain play Jim was given the ball. Straight through the line he plunged for a three-yard gain ere the opposing players piled on to him. When the pile of humanity was untangled, Jim was found at the bottom, unable to get to his feet. A doctor was rushed to his side, and the cause of trouble was located immediately.

''Broken ankle,'' was his verdict. Kind hands lifted Jim from the ground and carried him to the sidelines. An automobile was commandeered and Jim was on his way to the hospital where the broken ankle was set.

A few days passed with Jim apparently on the gain. And then disconcerting reports reached the school. Jim was worse. The ankle, badly bruised as well as broken, had developed into a septic poison which was spreading through Jim's body. His condition became critical, and for two days he hovered between life and death.

''Nothing will save his life but a blood transfusion,'' was the medical verdict.

Burt Thorne hastened to the hospital on receipt of this information.

''I have come to give my blood to save Jim's life,'' he stated to the hospital authorities. That day the transfusion was made. The ravages of the poison were stayed, and Jim was on the way to recovery. In due time Jim left the hospital and returned to school.

Strangers hitherto, there now existed a different relationship between Jim and Burt Thorne. Burt had given his blood to save Jim's life. Jim, conscious of the debt he owed to Burt, took special measure to let people know what Burt had done for him, and was continually singing praises to Burt. Gratitude would permit him to do no less for the man to whom he owed his life. We would have said he was ungrateful if he had pursued any other course.

But, do we as Christians permit gratitude to guide our praises? Bruised by Satan, and with the poison of sin coursing through our veins, we were saved by the blood cure. Jesus Christ shed His blood on Calvary's Cross for our salvation from this deadly poison. There is no other cure for sin than the Blood of Jesus Christ. The Blood has been applied to our lives, and sin has met defeat. A new relationship exists between us and Jesus Christ. He is now our Saviour, where before He was a stranger.

Do we acknowledge Him before the world as our Saviour? Do we sing His praises, and tell others what we owe to Him? Does gratitude spur us to action, or are we guilty of an ungrateful spirit which relegates the Saviour to an inconspicuous place where others see nothing of Him in us? Each one must answer these questions personally.—L. L. Wightman.

LITTLE MARY'S BIG GIFT

Mary Dean came rushing into her mother's cozy sitting room one Sunday morning and, tossing her pretty bonnet into the corner, she came close to her mother's chair.

''Mamma,'' she said excitedly, ''Miss Rainey is going to pack a missionary box for the minister's family who live out West in some Indian colony. She has already found out about them. There are three girls and two boys in the family, and the three girls are small. So the Junior Helpers are going to send the gifts for them.''

''And what is my little girl going to send?'' Mrs. Dean asked.

''Oh, I don't know yet!'' Mary answered. ''Miss Rainey said to just gives something that we could get along without; and I have several things that I would not miss much.

Mrs. Dean looked at her little girl in surprise. She had been a very kind, loving mother to her child, but the thought had never come to her before that Mary might be selfish. ''Mary,'' she said softly, ''I want you to think seriously about this mission barrel. Just anything will not do to send. Miss Rainey did not mean worthless things, dear; she meant something you could give by doing without yourself.''

''You mean that I must give something of my best?'' Mary asked.

''Exactly,'' the mother answered. ''I tell you, Mary,'' she went on as a bright idea flashed through her brain, ''suppose you go upstairs and look over your clothes and playthings, and imagine yourself the minister's daughter who is living among the Indians. Just imagine,'' the mother went on, ''that of all your things only one of them was coming to you. Which one of them would you choose.''

Mary was silent for a moment as a vision of all her pretty things went flying through her mind. ''I do not know, Mother,'' she said, ''I will go and see.''

Mrs. Dean watched her little daughter go up the stairs. ''What would the outcome be?'' she wondered. But, oh, how she hoped that Mary would prove unselfish, for Mrs. Dean could not stand selfishness!

To pass the time away, Mrs. Dean got her darning basket and tried to mend. She could hear Mary walking about in the room above, and could almost see the look on her daughter's face as she would think of giving away her treasures. Finally, however, she heard a sweet song coming down the open staairs, and soon Mary stood before her with a pretty dress hung over one arm, a Bible in one hand; and her best doll over her shoulder. ''Mother,'' she said sweetly, ''I could not decide which of these I would love best to receive if I were a missionary's daughter; but I picked up my Bible; and it opened right at the verse which says: 'The Lord loveth a cheerful giver'. So that settled it. I am going to give all three.''

Mrs. Dean felt a lump in her throat, and she could not speak.

''No telling what the little girl can accomplish,'' Mary said, ''if she will put on the dress, call the Indians together to show them the doll, and then have the little Bible handy to read to them.''

Mrs. Dean drew her daughter close to her heart. ''You have my consent, dear, to give all three.''

And a missionary box the like of which had never before been received by the minister's family found its way to the Indian colony, and Miss Rainey ever afterwards declared that it was all the result of one little girl's gift.—Unknown.

◆

A SENSIBLE DOG

In Favor of the Eighteenth Amendment

A farmer was one day standing beside his wagon in a market town. Many who passed noticed his happy, smiling face, his well-fed horses, and the fine, fresh vegetables with which the wagon was loaded.

They also noticed the farmer's dog, a beautiful Newfoundland, with a jet black coat and a white patch on his breast. There were a few white hairs on his head, and any one could see that the dog was no longer young. He was very quiet and gentle, and loved children to pat and stroke his curly hair. But every time a man who had been drinking came near the wagon the dog would snarl, show his white teeth, and growl angrily.

A gentleman who noticed this said to the farmer: ''Your dog seems to have no love for strong drink; he has growled each time any one the worse for liquor has passed. Is he a temperance dog?'' he added, laughing.

''That he is, and no mistake,'' said the farmer, ''and a temperance preacher, too. I could tell you something about old Carlo's preaching, if you care to hear it,'' he went on, patting the dog's head.

''Please do. I should like to hear it, as I am a teetotaler myself,'' was the answer.

''Well, a good many years ago this dog belonged to a young farmer called Jimmy Stone. Jimmy bought him from a tinker who used to drink a good deal, and when tipsy, often treated him cruelly, hitting him with a hammer and even burning him with a soldering iron. The dog soon grew fond of Jimmy, and Jimmy was mighty fond of his fourlegged friend.

''One day Jimmy went to town, and foolishly had too much to drink. When he returned home, Carlo came running out to greet him, but as soon as he got close to him he stopped, snarled savagely, and went back to his kennel. Jimmy followed him and tried to pat him, but the dog growled so threateningly it was easy to see he was best left alone.

''Next day Carlo was as good-tempered as ever, and for weeks was as well-behaved as possible.

''When Jimmy went to town again and returned in the evening, Carlo ran out to meet him, but again, smelling liquor, he growled and ran to the back of the yard. For two days Carlo kept away from his master, and spent the time lying in an outhouse.

''Jimmy began thinking! Carlo was ashamed of him, that is what it meant. All day long this thought worried Jim, until he began to feel ashamed of himself! The end of it all was that he made up his mind to leave drink alone altogether, and after that he and the dog were the best of friends.''

''What became of Jimmy, and how did you come to own the dog?'' asked the stranger, who had been much interested in the story.

''Oh, well, you see, I'm Jimmy,'' the farmer replied with a smile. ''I have Carlo to thank that I have now a farm of my own instead of being just a farm worker. He taught me that a tipsy man is not fit company for even a dog, and I never forgot the lesson. I began to save money I had formerly spent on drink: now I own a decent farm, and my prospects are good. But he still remembers the tinker who treated him so badly and still growls when he sees a drunken man, don't you, Carlo, old man?''

Then, mounting his wagon, with a cheery ''Good-day, sir,'' the farmer drove off.—The Advance.

◆

GOOD FOR SOMETHING

''Yes, sir, I was a good boy today,'' a small boy once said, in reply to his father's usual evening question. There was a plain, conscious pride in his own virtue, in tone and childish voice. He went on with the proof: ''I didn't tease Nellie once, or pick flowers, or quarrel with Freddie, or get myself muddy playing around the pond, or—'' and there he stopped to recall some of the other things he had not done.

His father laughed at the list. ''So you were good because you were not bad, eh? But how about being good for something, too? Did you help your mother today? Did you weed the flower-bed for her, or play nicely with little brother and sister, and keep them out of mother's way while she was busy? Don't you think that way of being good is better than not doing naughty things?''

And after a moment's honest struggle with his pride the little fellow admitted that it was, and that while he had been good, he had not been good for something that day.—Publisher Unknown.

◆

HOW TO LIVE IN PEACE

The Chinese have a proverb which says, ''If you talk with a soft voice, you do not need a thick stick.'' If any man desires to live peaceably, this proverb shows the way. The fighting man seldom lacks antagonists. If we carry the big stick, it is sure to be flourished, and it means that other big sticks will appear, with no end of a row in prospect. The man who presists in carrying a gun is sure to pull it sooner or later.

But the soft word has no recoil. It never seems to challenge the other fellow to fight; in fact, it makes him rather ashamed of his fiery speech and combative attitude. Miles Standish was willing to fight, and he had plenty of chances; William Penn would not fight, and the Indians who fought Standish so fiercely had no quarrel at all with Penn. War begets war; peace produces peace.

If you want to make friends with a cross dog; don't stir him up with a stick!—Publisher Unknown.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD

President of High Point College C. E. Society

July 31: PROBLEMS OF YOUTH ON MISSION FIELDS.

Scripture: 1 Thess. 1:1-8

We are a great deal products of our environment. In families and communities where Christianity is fairly universal and where one is supposed to be a Christian, it is easy. Where Christ is little known and His teachings are actively opposed it takes more heroism and faith to confess His name. Did it ever occur to you what it costs a person on mission fields to stand out for Christ?

A study of Oriental family customs will reveal one difficulty of youth in being Christian. Little choice is given young people in selecting their mates and customs are such that people are slaves to them. Children, especially girls, are engaged and often married while mere children. Should the boy die the child widow is prohibited to marry. For one to attempt to substitute Christian principles, is to become a slave to public scorn.

National customs are so deeply impressed that students are ridiculed. For one to suggest changes is to open himself to scorn; to attempt reform, he may become a martyr. The students with enlightened ideals are the hope of India, China, Japan and other nations. National freedom for India and China calls for concerted effort on the part of native castes and political factions. The victory of Japan over Russia in 1905 and the world war have helped break the strength of castes and isolation on the part of Orientals.

The very fact of castes in India makes Christian living difficult. Any class distinction is deadening on industrial and social life and is a barrier to progress. With sixty millions of outcastes there is a barrier that makes Christianity difficult if it is approached from either side. The schools and colleges are doing much to break these class lines and distinctions. In the book "India and Her Peoples" the author tells of coming upon one school in Northern India where the students of different castes had separate cooking houses but the dividing walls were only a foot high.

Probably one of the greatest problems of youth on mission fields is the inconsistency of professing Christians in the home lands. Attitudes are more easily understood than professions. The rival feeling of missionaries of various denominations and the very fact of so many denominations are hard for foreign Christians. Foreigners can scarcely understand why Christian nations fight and why commercial interests are placed before ethical truths and teachings of Christ. When national prohibition came in America, much of the distilling apparatus was sold in Oriental countries to plague them with the blight of alcoholic liquor. The half-hearted financial support of mission work has its deadening effect on the spread of Christianity and makes the acceptance of Christianity more difficult.

When an American student goes to school, he carries the good will and blessings of his parents. When an Oriental boy goes to a mission school and accepts Christ, the family is divided. The only way for a union to be brought about is for the remaining members of the family to accept Christ. It is a real sacrifice and test of heroic hearts to profess Christ where such may cost one's life. It is intereting to note that the difficulties encountered by St. Paul were such as youth is facing on foreign fields. It brings an appreciation that condemns our half-hearted service for Christ when we consider the cost to an Indian youth who decides for Christ. This topic should bring a new love for the heroic who dare families, political customs, traditions, and any other obstacles to follow Christ and for the grace that is sufficient for all of these needs.

Quotable Poetry

CHOOSING TO SERVE CHRIST

My gracious Lord, I own Thy right
  To ev'ry service I can pay,
And call it my supreme delight
  To hear Thy dictates and obey.

What is my being but for Thee
  Its sure support, its noblest end?
'Tis my delight thy face to see,
  And serve the cause of such a friend.

I would not sigh for worldly joy,
  Nor to increase my worldly good,
Nor future days my powers employ
  To spread a sounding name abroad.

'Tis to my Savior I would live,
  To Him who for my ransom died;
Nor could all worldly honor give
  Such bliss as crowns me at His side!

His work shall future ages bless,
  When present evils are no more;
And all the world shall men confess
  His wondrous love, His saving power!

—Selected.

Suggested Program

Prelude.

Invocation: Into My Heart—Sung softly with heads bowed.

Hymn: Jesus Shall Reign.

Scripture: 1 Thess. 1:1-8.

Prayer.

Special Music: We've a Story to Tell to the Nations.

Offering.

Teacher's Talk.

Topic: What do you regard as the greatest problem of youth upon the mission field?

Hymn: In Christ There Is no East or West.

Topic: What is my responsibility in aiding foreign youth in living a Christian life?

Poem.

Sentence prayers ending with first verse of "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," using the Amen.

Let the missionary committee plan and execute the program for this week. News of some active missionary would be interesting.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

APPEAL OF THE CORRESPONDING SECRETARY

Some weeks ago I sent cards to all the officers, secretaries and district chairmen of the Branch notifying them of the Executive Committee meeting to be held in Weaverville, August 10. Mrs. Hammer asked me to ascertain the number of women who plan to attend, and the number of cars available. I must have this information by August 1 so I can notify Mrs. Bates who will entertain the Committee.

So far I have heard from only eight persons, none of whom can attend the meeting. Please let me know as soon as possible whether you plan to attend or not. This is important. I know that present financial conditions make any sort of trip prohibitive to many people, and others may feel that the desperate condition of our Mission Board should call forth every dollar possible if we would save our missionary work; but the fact remains that a breakdown in our Branch and Auxiliary work will retard other than help matters, and it is important that we have an Executive Committee meeting to consider conditions and make plans to inspire sacrificial giving.

If we can not have a meeting at Bethel Home, we must have one somewhere else.

We fail to realize sometimes that we people at home may reach the lowest depths of depression and yet have a friend or relative or a Welfare Board to whom we may turn for aid in our extremity. Our missionaries have no one on whom to call but us and God, and God is calling on us to do this work for Him. They have no friendly grocer to extend them credit. They have no long-suffering doctor to give them aid in sickness and wait for his fee. Our native workers and the children in our orphanage are depending on us.

Now is the time to go the second mile and do without something ourselves in order that those who represent us, and to whom we have pledged our support, shall not go hungry and lose faith in us and in God. We are months behind with their salaries—no money to pay expenses of their homes, their teachers, or their Bible women—no money to get them back home. Imagine if possible the prayers that even now are ascending for help! Will we not help answer these prayers? Will we refuse to be co-workers with God? Let every member of the Methodist Protestant church in North Carolina accept this blessed privilege and do something NOW.

MRS. GEO. R. BROWN.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Miss Lizzie Hardin	$4.00
Rev. R. S. Troxler	2.00
Rev. J. L. Trollinger	2.00
Rev. C. B. Way	2.00
Miss Bessie Holmes, Bethel	2.00
Mrs. W. A. Stafford	1.00
Miss Blanche Hardee	1.00

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Pleasant Union, Mt. Pleasant	$ 1.30
Baraca Class, Gibsonville, clothing child	5.00
Philathea Class, Gibsonville, feeding child	5.00
Mt. Carmel S. S., Forsyth	3.00
Welch Memorial S. S.	3.97
Friendship S. S., Haw River	5.00
Elbaville S. S., Mocksville	2.00
Lebanon S. S., High Point	5.26
Ladies' Bible Class, R. I. Ave., Washington, D. C., clothing child	5.00
St. Paul S. S., Greensboro	4.09
Whitakers S. S.	10.50
Shiloh S. S., Shiloh	3.00
The Woman's Auxiliary, Fairfield, Guilford	10.00
Concord S. S.	20.00
Grace Church S. S.	4.79
Liberty S. S., Liberty-Moriah	2.55
The Onward Class, Connellsville, Pa., clothing child	5.00

We are thankful for the above offerings. Please note, Gibsonville S. S., always sends a monthly offering and besides that the two classes which stand together above send $10.00 per month. The Ladies' class, R. I. Ave., Washington, D. C., sends a monthly offering of $5.00 and so does Friendship on Haw River. The Concord S. S. sends $12.00 per month.

Note also the good offering from Whitakers and especially note the offering from the Auxiliary at Fairfield. The Fairfield S. S. sends its regular monthly offering, and this from their women comes extra.

We just praise the Lord for our dear people and their sacrificial co-operation during these times. God bless and prosper every one of you.

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mt. Hermon Daily Vacation Bible school, by Miss Bessie Holmes, 4 pair pillow cases and 9 dresser scarfs.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson, Bethel, Alamance, 1 pair shoes, two pair pants and 1 suit for boy.

Mrs. J. W. Thacker, High Point, 11 pounds of butter.

Mr. M. C. McDonald, West End, N. C., 45 bushels of peaches for canning.

We are truly thanful for these gifts in substance. We are also glad for the good rain last night. It means much for us in gardens and in fields.

The Coupons

Coupons keep coming in. This is the last week of July, so the contest with prize for $5.00 to the Auxiliary sending in the largest number during May, June and July, as proposed by Dr. C. W. Bates, ends with the going of July. Mail all coupons for this contest to us not later than Monday, August 1.

Our Needs

In just a few weeks now fall will be here and school will be starting. We must put in two carloads of coal, get fall clothing and shoes and buy school supplies. We are just looking to you and trusting you to respond as God gives you ability. We know you will.

Produce

We sent out 150 glass jars last week to be filled and returned in the fall, and other produce will be returned with them. We have a number of jars which we will still be glad to give out. In the meantime we are filling everyone we can at home. It is great to be living and seeing even if we cannot tell what is ahead of us.

There never was a greater need for our Children's Home and its work of love and mercy than today. A strong sturdy pull, all together, will bring us through.

Yours in His blessed service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

TO ALL THE PASTORS OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE

Are you interested in the young people of your church and community? Do your churches have Christian Endeavor societies? Are these societies connected with the State Christian Endeavor Union? The State Union is trying every possible way to get an accurate record of the C. E. societies all over N. C. We need your help and we feel that you need ours. If you have ever tried to keep any kind of mailing list upto-date you know that it is a task almost impossible unless all concerned co-operate. You pastors can be of great benefit in this work. The material that the State Union has to send out cannot reach the proper persons unless we know to whom this should go. Your local society cannot function properly unless it can receive information and instruction from time to time just as you receive such from the general church. In addition to this the Council of Religious Education will be aided in that the Treasurer will have an accurate record, thus helping in raising funds for this organization. Will you help to the extent that you will do the following? Send me the name of the church; charge; name and address of the pastor and the corresponding secretary, if the society be Young People or Senior. If it be Junior or Intermediate I should like to have the name and address of the superintendent. These names will be reported to the State Superintendents of these three divisions who will get in touch with your society. It has been requested that the corresponding secretary not be changed except when necessary, but if you have such an officer who will not report do not hesitate to elect some one who will.

If you do not have a Christian Endeavor society where you think there is a probability of organization, I shall be glad to have this information, too. This will be passed on to the State Extension Superintendent, who will be glad to serve you.

Plans are being made to hold the next Christian Endeavor Convention at our own High Point college and it seems that Methodist Protestants should be particularly interested in the work and should do all in their power to further the cause—"For Christ and the Church."

ELIZABETH HANNER,
N. C. C. E. Union Rec. Sec.
Julian, N. C.

◆

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Nicholson announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Mr. Cornelius D. Sides, on Monday, July the twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and thirty-two, Mebane, North Carolina. They will be at home September fifth, Pine Hall, N. C.

JUDGE HAYES AT REYNOLDS REUNION

The tremendous influence of the Christian home in society and government was discussed by Judge Johnson J. Hayes, of United States district court, in an address at the third annual reunion of the Reynolds family yesterday at Tabernacle Methodist Protestant church, nine miles southeast of Greensboro.

At the same time Judge Hayes, the principal speaker, presented by C. A. Reynolds, of Colfax, former lieutenant-governor of North Carolina, maintained that essential institutions of government and society cannot be preserved without the application of Christian principles in the homes of the people. The Christian mother is one of the chief factors in the development of a civilization designed to stand the exacting tests of the times.

Liquor was characterized by Judge Hayes as "the greatest curse of the home, the curse of society and the individual." It is particularly menacing to young people. The jurist strongly advocated retention of the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States. He feels that its repeal would be calamitous for the country, its people and institutions.

Morning and afternoon sessions were held, with the retiring president, Floyd G. Reynolds of Greensboro, presiding and with approximately 300 persons in attendance. Rev. George L. Reynolds, of High Point, was elected president of the reunion association for the new year, W. C. Reynolds, of route 4, Greensboro, was namd vic-prsident, and Miss Bertha Reynolds, of route 4, Greensboro, was chosen secretary-treasurer. It was agreed that the association will meet annually hereafter at Tabernacle church on the fourth Friday in July.

Musical numbers were given by four groups, the Jarvis, Stamps, Tabernacle and Glenwood quartets. Short talks were made by George B. D. Reynolds, of Albemarle; C. A. Reynolds, of Colfax, and Lee Reynolds, of Richmond, Ind. The address of welcome was spoken by Miss Lois Reynolds, of Guilford county. Rev. Sylvester Billheimer, of Richmond, Ind., conducted the devotional service. Mrs. M. M. Manger was in charge of the program of games and other recreational activities. The picnic dinner was one of the big attractions.

In attendance from distant points were Mr. and Mrs. Payne Reynolds, of Mesick, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Reynolds, of Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds and son, Leon, and Rev. Sylvester Billheimer, of Richmond, Ind.—Greensboro Daily News,.

◆

SONG LEADER AVAILABLE

Prof. T. O. Pender, one of our best leaders of song in revival ueetings, is open for engagement this year. Address him at Mebane, N. C., or R. D. 4, Goldsboro, N. C.

◆

—John Hughes Curtis, of Norfolk, Va., was sentenced to one year of imprisonment and payment of $1,000 fine for obstructing the search for the Lindbergh baby, at Flemington, N. J.

◆

Wife—Dear, what is the difference between direct taxation and indirect taxation?

Hub—Why, the difference between your asking me for money and going through my pockets while I'm asleep.—Exchange.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Gideon Grove, Flat Rock Charge.—The revival services were held beginning the first Sunday in July, continuing through the week with two services daily until Friday night. Rev. S. G. Bethea of Gibsonville, assisted and did splendid preaching. The services were well attended. The people of the church are very grateful to Mr. Bethea for his services and hope that it will be possible for him to be with us again. Although there were no converts we feel that much good was accomplished. Four members were added, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Angel from College Place, Greensboro; Mrs. White and daughter, Gladys, from New Hope. The church was very glad to receive them and feel that they have four strong members.

The Children's Day services were held on the fourth Sunday in June. The program which was under the direction of Miss Virginia Lemons, Mrs. White and Mrs. B. R. Angel was well rendered by the children and was helpful and inspiring to the older people. Much credit was due both to the children and the committee.

The Sunday school under the able direction of Superintendent G. A. Middleton is in session each Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The attendance is very good and interest seems to be increasing.

The Woman's Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting in July with Mrs. F. L. Smith. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. A. L. Lemons. Song, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." Mrs. White had charge of the devotionals; roll called, minutes read and adopted. Quartet by Misses Virginia Lemons, Notre Gordon, Grace and Margaret Angel. Reading, by Miss Gladys White. Poem, Mrs. Smith. Solo, Miss Virginia Lemons.

The Auxiliary adjourned by repeating in unison the Lord's Prayer.

MRS. HASSEL ANGEL, Reporter.

Antioch, Mecklenburg Charge.—Our church had two special services in June. We observed "Old Folks Day" the second Sunday with a varied program. We had a splendid quartet from Kannapolis, also from Weddington and we greatly appreciated them. Especially do we thank Kannapolis for coming such a long distance to help make our program a success.

On the fourth Sunday night our Children's Day program was rendered. The children did well and the church was filled to overflowing.

Our pastor has filled all appointments with splendid sermons. We like him and his dear family so much. We realize that his work is too large and strenuous for his physical condition.

Our Sunday school was organized in the spring with 22 members, it has continued to grow each Sabbath until we have reached the high mark of 74. The interest is fine and we are so proud of our Sunday school.

Our special meeting will begin the second Sunday in August as usual. We are holding prayer meetings each Sunday night in preparing for it. For we realize in order to fight any kind of a battle, we must arm ourselves if we wish to win, so it is with a revival we must make some preparation if we expect results.

Rev. Clifford Craig, of Beulah church, preached for us last night. As our pastor was away in the meeting at Zoar. We enjoyed his talk very much.

We will meet on Wednesday morning the 3rd of August to clean off the cemetery and grove. Let everyone interested come out and help get everything cleaned up for our meeting.

REPORTER.

West Forsyth.—The annual revival meeting which began at Tabernacle church the third Sunday came to a close on the following Friday night. Rev. D. I. Garner, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Protestant church, Greensboro, did all the preaching from the beginning of the meeting Sunday morning. The attendance was good throughout the meeting, considering the extremely warm weather prevailing. Brother Garner did good preaching and the people were attentive to his gospel messages. There were five conversions and reclamations. One new member, John Warden, was received at the last service. We hope to receive others at the next regular appointment.

Last Sunday we began the revival meeting at Baltimore church. A large congregation was present for the first service at 11 o'clock and also for the afternoon and night services. The pastor preached at the morning and afternoon services and Rev. Wayne Curtis, of Burlington, who arrived during the day, delivered his first sermon at the night service. His sermon theme was "The Need of a Vision," and was heard with great interest by the large congregation which completely filled the large auditorium of the church. Brother Curtis rendered an effective solo at this service.

Baltimore church was delighted with the presence of the Friendly Road quartet, of Guilford College, at the morning and afternoon services last Sunday. The quartet sang three selections at each service. They pleased the people also with a number of negro spirituals during the dinner hour.

Our appointment at Harmony Grove church last Sunday morning was filled by Rev. J. A. Blackburn, local preacher, of Baltimore church, for which we are thankful. We also appreciate the kindnes of Brother A. A. Doub for the use of his car to convey Brother Blackburn to and from the church, Aldeen Doub, son of Brother Doub, being the driver for the trip.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

Palestine, Flat Rock Circuit.—Our revival meeting began the third Sunday and closed Thursday night. Pastor Hutton had for his pulpit helper, Brother Edward Suits. He gave us good sermons that I am sure the Christian part of his congregation will long remember. And our prayer is that they may sink deep into the hearts of the unsaved and cause them to think upon their way. For there were more unsaved people attending this meeting than this reporter ever saw here before. Yet they hardened their hearts and would not let Jesus come in. Brother Suits did his very best. He preached to them with all the earnestness of his heart and soul, and our prayer is that the seed he has sown may in the future bring forth an abundant harvest. Brother Suits was no stranger here, for he has helped in two meetings here before and had already endeared himself to many of our people and they were glad to have him back again.

On Sunday of our meeting many of our people reared in and belonging to our church came back to hear their pastor preach. Those returning were Uncle John Landreth and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Pink Tucker; Mr. and Mrs. Jean Gentry; Mr. and Mrs. Please Griffin; Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Griffin, all of Winston-Salem, and Mr. and Mrs. Artie Tucker and family of Mayodan.

We were glad to have Mrs. Lassitor, the good wife of one of the beloved preachers of our conference. Also Rev. Mr. Word, pastor of the Baptist church of Madison, besides a large number of M. E. and Baptist and Christian church people that attended most every service. We welcome them all and say come again.

The third quarterly meeting was Saturday before the third Sunday and Brother H. N. Johnson was elected delegate to conference and Brother Dwiggins, alternate. More than three-fourths of the year has passed and the finances of our church are dreadfully behind. Here we stop and wonder are we doing our best. Ere long conference will be here, the year will be closed. Will we as church people be satisfied? Will our Lord be satisfied? Are we doing our best?

GRACE TUCKER, Reporter.

Mt. Lebanon, Randleman.—On Saturday night before the first Sunday in July the quarterly meeting was held at Worthville.

Mr. J. J. Lamb is delegate to the annual conference.

Our series of revival services were held in June, Rev. C. E. Ridge doing the preaching. Since our pastor was unable to attend the services Brother Ridge had to carry on alone. Even though he was originally from Randolph he came almost as a stranger in a strange land, but he was a stranger not long for he made friends wherever he went. He visited in many homes where there was sickness. The success of the meeting was very gratifying indeed. There were sixteen conversions and nine additions to the church.

Children's Day services Sunday night. It was a splendid program, directed by Mrs. D. M. Ferree. Both Mrs. Ferree and the children should be congratulated.

We are sorry to report that our beloved pastor Rev. T. A. Williams continues ill at his home at the parsonage. He has never fully recovered from an attack of influenza which he had sometime ago. His throat is in a very bad condition and his general health is such that his throat cannot be treated properly. I am sure he would appreciate the prayers of you good people and your letters of encouragement.

He has served us faithfully for over three years, now that he is no longer able to serve, let us, the people of Randleman charge, be loyal to him and prove to him that we are his friends even as he has proven a friend to us.

Sincerely,

REPORTER.

Pleasant Union, Mt. Pleasant Charge.—In our service Sunday morning Dr. Johnson read from Habakkuk 1:1-4 and 7:9-17. Some say that Habakkuk was a "burden struggler" for the public. The law was not enforced and the world was so wicked that it looked as if dead things would almost speak in horror of it. God expects us to take a stand for the right.

Then turning to the 20th chapter of Exodus Dr. Johnson read the ten commandments and pointed out the fact that they were a sort of a constitution for the world. The ten commandments are not always enforced but should they be taken from the Bible because they are not? Would more people obey them if they were not here?

Our revival meeting begins Sunday, July 31st. The children will give their program in the morning at 11 o'clock. Dr. Johnson will preach in the afternoon. Rev. R. S. Troxler will come Monday to be with us during the week. The services will be from 3 to 4 in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The missionary society will meet with Mrs. John Shepard on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Our township Sunday school convention was held at Smithwood Christian church the second Sunday in July. Miss Margaret Causey and Mr. J. P. Bowman gave addresses in the morning and Dr. Humphries gave one in the afternoon. The officers for the next year are: Prof. Eugene Thompson, president; Will Stafford, vice-president; Thomas Lowe, secretary; Rev. Haith, director of young people's work; and Mrs. James V. Hold, director of children's division.

DORTHA CAUSEY HOLT.

* * *

Lexington, State St.—Revival services began in our church Sunday morning with Rev. John C. Cowell, Jr., of Fayetteville, doing the preaching and Mr. Lytle, who works with Mr. Cowell, directing the singing. Already much interest is being manifested and the congregations are growing larger at both the morning and evening services. The messages Mr. Cowell brings are most timely and impressive and we feel sure that a great and much needed revival is coming. The singing under Mr. Lylle's direction, is a great feature of the meeting. The choir space has been enlarged and now seats a large number of people. We desire the prayers of Herald readers everywhere that we may have a great revival.

Miss Maxine Taylor is with us for a period of two weeks conducting the vacation Bible school. She has a good corps of workers and interested pupils and the school promises to be one of the best.

Our Sunday school picnic was enjoyed three weeks ago by a large representation of the membership and many friends from other congregations. Mr. Hedrick, father of Mrs. John Baxter Leonard, invited us to picnic on the grounds near his spring. This is a lovely shady place and the water is delightfully cool and good, and the spring branch is wide enough to furnish a fine place for the young people to wade and swim and this was one of the chief amusements of the afternoon. At 6:30 a delicious supper was spread on an improvised table and greatly enjoyed. We are grateful indeed to Mr. and Mrs. Hedrick for their splendid hospitality.

Miss Lila Aron made the outing more enjoyable for everybody by giving two of her humorous recitations in her interesting way.

We are glad to note that the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hartley has recovered from a recent serious illness.

Mrs. Wooley, nearest neighbor of the "parsonage folks," and good friend of our church although a member of the M. E. church, is very ill. We are wishing for her an early recovery.

REPORTER.

* * *

Lexington, State St.—The revival meeting being conducted at our church by Rev. John C. Cowell, Jr., is growing in interest and is being attended by good crowds at every service. Mr. Cowell is one of the greatest and most convincing ministers that has ever preached in Lexington. People of the various congregations of the town are atteding the meeting and deriving much good from it.

Mr. Lytte, director of the singing, is doing fine work also. The members of the large choir find it easy to do their best under his efficient leadership.

We have been favored with special numbers from time to time by Mrs. Gray Davis, Mrs. Aug Lindsay, Miss Ruth Hedrick and Miss Mary McCann, all of this city and by two young ladies from Concord, the Misses Winecoff, sisters, who visited at the parsonage Sunday afternoon and were in the evening service. These attractive young ladies are members of First M. P. church, Concord.

The Bible school is progressing encouragingly under Miss Taylor's direction. There is a large attendance of wide awake boys and girls and a good faculty. We feel sure great good will crown the efforts of the workers.

We request your prayers for the success of the meeting and of the Bible school.

REPORTER.

* * *

Bellmont, Mt. Hermon Charge.—Our Sunday school is moving along nicely. Our attendance Sunday morning was 144. We are especially glad to see some of our young boys and men come back to Sunday school

Sunday morning Brother Mabry gave us a soul-stirring sermon. Many remarked that it was one of the best sermons he has ever preached. His text was taken from Matt. 5:13-14: "Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have lost his savor wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid." Salt is our greatest preserving agent. We often say, "If salt does not save it nothing else will." So is our Christian religion—it will save us from sin. Salt penetrates, it reaches through. So should our religion. A religion that is only skin deep and does not reach the heart is worthless. Too often we live so far away from God that instead of others seeing Jesus in us, our lives are throwing shadows of doubt in their pathway. May God grant that we, as Christian people, will wake up to our duty and so live that others may see our good works and glorify our Heavenly Father.

A large number of our old members worshipped with us Sunday. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Fogleman, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Randolph, Mrs. Harrison Buckner, and Mrs. W. J. Smith of Burlington. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hawk and Mr. J. H. Rich of Graham. We are always glad to have them worship with us, and visitors also.

Glad to report that Mrs. Paul Lowder, who has been sick for some time, and little son, Jerry are still improving. Hope they will soon be able to come to church.

Master Frank Watkins, who underwent an operation at Duke hospital, has returned home and is convalescing nicely.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sharpe, July 18, a girl, Marcine Joyce. Mother and baby are doing well.

* * *

West End Tidings.—Children's Day service observed on the night of July 10 was greatly appreciated by all present and the service was properly classed as quite a success. Besides recitations and songs a pageant was rendered entitled "Color Blind." The moral of the pageant was indeed helpful and enjoyed by all. The program committee composed of Miss Heath, Miss Livengood and Mrs. Charles Routh, deserve much credit for the faithful and efficient work done in making the program possible.

Plans are now being made for our anniversary service to be observed September 25. This will be the 15th anniversary of the organization of the church. Dr. P. E Lindley, a former pastor, will preach the sermon at the 11 o'clock hour. A musical program will be given at night. A goal of $1,000.00 has been set as the birthday gift to be laid on the altar of the church. All former pastors as well as all members and friends who have worshipped with us in other days are especially invited to be with us on this occasion.

At the recent city union Christian Endeavor meet West End came out second in attendance. The union is to meet with us the next time of its meeting.

Death has visited some of our people and some of our homes have been made sad. On July 12 the home of Mr. and Mrs. Armenius Stack was made sad because of the death of Mr. Ernest McNeill who with Mrs. McNeill had lived in the Stack home for a number of years. The funeral was conducted by the writer on July 14 in the Hanes' funeral home. Our sympathies go out to Mrs. McNeill as well as to the Stack family. The family of Brother T. H. Hicks was saddened on July 15 when death claimed Mr. Henry Nance of High Point, the father of Mrs. Hicks. The funeral was conducted in South Main St. M. E. church, South on July 17 by his pastor Rev. Aycock, the writer assisting. Twice has the Hicks family been saddened in recent months. On April 29 the mother of Brother Hicks died and now sadness has again come because of the death of the father of Mrs. Hicks. Sympathies are extended to this sad family.

Dr. J. R. Shreve and family of Brown Summit, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Greenway, of High Point, and Mr. Carl Efird and family of Albemarle have been recent callers at our parsonage. These are all faithful members of other pastorates the writer has served in other days and we are always pleased to see these good people whose continued friendship we are happy to claim.

Our people continue to be kind to pastor and family. Recently our family enjoyed dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H.

Waynick when we enjoyed plenty of good home made chicken and "with it." I mean an abundance "with it." Yum, yum. Chickens, melons and vegetables have come from Dr. Shreve, Brother Ratledge, Mrs. Crabtree, and Brother Stockard. These good things have come in like as out in the country.

Thanks, thanks, thanks.

GEO. L. CURRY.

Greers Chapel.—We are moving along nicely. We are not capable of blowing our trumpets along the streets and highways yet we do want it known that we are interested in other church work as well as our own. We love to hear from other churches and note the progress being made.

Sunday was our Children's Day. The children carried out their parts splendidly. All seemed to enjoy taking their parts. Rev. R. S. Troxler delivered a splendid sermon in the morning. Dinner was served in picnic style on the ground and the children's program in the afternoon. During the services Rev. J. W. Fitzgerald gave a few remarks on foreign missions. Rev. Fitzgerald preached in Cuba quite a number of years and we seldom have the privilege of listening to such convincing truth as was brought to us by him of the missionaries. Our pastor, Rev. R. S. Troxler, made a few interesting remarks on our missionaries also, which was enjoyed.

During our Children's Day program we had only a few quartets, etc. The Troxler quartet, the Fitzgerald quartet, Troxler trio, a mixed trio of Greers Chapel, a solo by Winnice Allison, and the Greers Chapel choir.

The revival services will begin on the fourth Sunday in August. Let's all pray for a good revival.

The Ladies' society will give a supper Saturday night at the home of Mrs. G. B. Bailey. Every one is invited to come. The proceeds will go to the church.

We were very glad to have Miss Emma Berrier, our new Sunday school superintendent from Shiloh, with us on the second Sunday in July. Miss Berrier made an interesting talk on church and its organization.

Since our last report our Sunday school has made a few changes, which are beginning to prove successful. One of these changes was separating the boys and girls of the Sunshine class. Since this change we have more than doubled the average attendance of both classes.. Mr. W. T. Johnson being the teacher of the Young Men's class and Mrs. G. R. Pope of the Young Ladies' class. These classes are not grown yet because they are still growing. Growing in both number and interest.

May God shower his richest blessings on all our churches and their congregations.

LOTTIE FITZGERALD, Reporter.

Gibsonville Church.—The members of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary held their July meeting at the parsonage on Friday evening, July 8th. After the business program a short Bible study and discussion was led by Rev. Bethea. At the close of the Bible study Miss Orpha Burgess directed a missionary contest, the object being to see who could name the most missionary workers, both home and foreign, and name the correct field in which they were working. Out-door games were enjoyed by all.

Several of the children from our church have been attending a daily vacation Bible school at the Baptist church.

For convenience the choir practice has been changed from Thursday evening to Friday evening. Anyone who is interested is invited to attend the practices.

On last Wednesday evening the members of the Young Ladies' Bible class motored to Spoon's lake where picnic lunch and a general outing was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Pauline Willcox and children were recent visitors at the parsonage.

Miss Katy Lee Taylor returned to her home in Glenwood on last Sunday evening, after spending a week here with Mrs. C. C. Shepherd and Miss Hazel Woodard.

The Intermediate Girls' Bible class held their July meeting with Miss Louise Foster at her home on Third street. A social hour was enjoyed after the business session.

REPORTER.

Salem, Saxapahaw Charge.—Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock our pastor, Rev. T. J. Whitehead delivered another one of his splendid messages for us. We always enjoy his sermons.

Before church service the Brotherhood class and the two missionary circles had their monthly meetings. The attendance was much better.

Our revival meeting will begin the second Sunday in August. Two services on Sunday, dinner on the ground. Then the following week will be one service at 11 o'clock and one at night. We are hoping and trusting that much work may be done toward saving souls during this week. And may be not only be interested in saving souls for just one week but let's start now and continue on and on until every sinner has been brought to Christ. May we bear in mind the words of the song. (Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shall be saved).

We observed Children's Day on the second Sunday in June. A splendid program was rendered by the children. Much credit is due Mrs. Raymond Thompson and Miss Livvie Bradshaw for their work in training the children. Collection amounted to $10.00.

Our vacation Bible school will begin August 2. It will be a two weeks' school. All children between the ages of 4 and 14 are invited to attend. Mothers, may I urge you to send your boys and girls out for this training! Classes will begin at 8 a. m. and continue until 10 or 11 a. m.

We have added two new Sunday school rooms to our church.

We are very sorry to report several of our members are sick. We pray that they may be spared to be with us longer if it is God's will.

The C. E. society is still doing good work. Plans are being made about getting up a play. The Path Across the Hill. The books have already been ordered.

On the third Sunday night in August the children from High Point Children's Home will give a program at our church. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Best wishes to the Herald.

REPORTER.

English Street Church.—We are still working. The Sunday school is doing good work and the attendance is fine. We have had two special programs since our last report. One was given by the children from our M. P. orphanage. The program was fine and greatly enjoyed by everyone. We want them to know that they always have a cordial invitation at our church and hope that they will come again soon.

Another program was given last Sunday night by a group of children under the supervision of the evangelist, Mrs. E. C. Carter. This program was also very good and greatly enjoyed.

The third quarterly conference of this church was held Sunday afternoon at the church. At this time, Mr. A. L. McBride was elected as delegate to our next conference.

The Senior Christian Endeavor gave a program at the Guilford County Sanitorium last week. A good crowd from the society was present, as well as a good number of patients.

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor is doing some fine work. Two of their members are officers in the High Point Intermediate C. E. union. Miss Ernestine Higgs is vice-president and Roger Lee is treasurer. This society recently elected new superintendents. Those selected were Miss Faye Caridde and Miss Hope Loflin. We are expecting some good work from this society in the future.

Next Sunday we are expecting a good crowd at all our services as a plan has been worked out so that everyone who wishes to come may do so. We have heard many reports from people saying that they would come to church if they had suitable clothing. Next Sunday, the men are all urged to wear overalls and the ladies wear cotton dresses. The pastor will also wear overalls. We are hoping for a good crowd.

Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Pleasant Charge.—The third Sunday in this month Dr. Johnson brought us a fine message. After reading part of the first and second chapter of Habakkuk, Dr. Johnson pointed out that Habakkuk struggled to help his people. There always have been people who do evil. Do we have the wrong gods? Are we making material possessions our gods? Or is it true that "In God we trust?"

Dr. Johnson gave another study on Temperance the third Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The group that heard Dr. Johnson seemed very much interested in learning of the development of the Temperance movement from the time of local option up to the present time. We appreciate our pastor's intrest and effort in trying to enlighten the young people on the subject of Temperance.

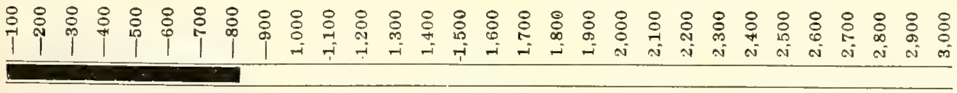
Our Leadership Training school is now in progress with a good number from Pleasant Union and Mt. Pleasant attending. The courses offered are not the same as previously announced. Dr. Brown is teaching "Religious Training in the Home"; Miss Young, "Principles of Teaching"; Mrs. J. T. Bowman, "Materials and Methods for Juniors"; Dr. Johnson, "The New Testament"; Miss Louise Homewood is teaching a group of young people who are not eligible for the Standard Courses.

The first Sunday in August at 11 o'clock the children from our Children's Home will give a program. We are glad to have these children visit us for we feel they are being given the best of training and that they will have a good program for us.

The third quarterly conference will be held on Saturday before the first Sunday at 2

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	14¾
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	3¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	10½
Concord	33	16½
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	11¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9
Greensboro, Grace	42	27
Greensboro, Calvary	25	12½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	13
Halifax	52	13½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¼
High Point, First	72	44
High Point, Lebanon	31	22
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moriah	31	16¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	9¾
Mebane	28	7
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	23
North Davidson	53	12½
Orange	70	18½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10⅝
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	9½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	16
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	22
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	19
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	30
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	19⅞

◆

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

o'clock. The annual Sunday school picnic will be held on the church grounds on the same day, plans are being made for a program in the morning and games and other entertainment in the afternoon.

The Woman's Auxiliary asked Mrs. Nicholson to come to Mt. Pleasant and give a talk the fourth Sunday evening. Mrs. Nicholson held the interest of her audience as she told of her trip to the convention in Cambridge. The messages that she brought from returned missionaries from Japan and India showed us the great need for doing our best to support the missionary work with both our money and our prayers.

MARGARET CAUSEY, Reporter.

Clark's Chapel, Weaverville.—We are very glad indeed to report our Sunday school and church moving on nicely. It is far from what it should be according to membership, but we are thankful as many as are, are coming and also seem interested in seeing the work grow. We have a nice attendance of young folks and children.

Brother Cowan preached a splendid sermon yesterday. He also announced that our special meeting will begin the second Sunday in August.

Plans also are being made for our Sunday school picnic.

I'm sure every one privileged to attend the picnic will have quite an enjoyable day.

LOUISE CHEEK, Reporter.

First Church, High Point.—On Sunday last, the regular schedule of services was observed, opening with the Sabbath school at 9:45 o'clock under the superintendency of Mr. J. H. Jennings with departments for all ages. At 11 o'clock the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, held the usual service in the auditorium, which is quite comfortable despite the summer heat, and delivered a timely and impressive message on "The Hidden Future" from the text, "It doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know we shall be like him." He said that the future is the next thing that we shall come upon. Very few of the direct references of Jesus are to the past, but the majority of them refer to the future. St. Augustine said, "God will not suffer a man to know much of the future, for if he knew of prosperity, it would make him careless, and if he knew of adversity, it would make him senseless." Leigh Hunt says that there are two futures, the far-off future of fancy, in which our imagination runs riot and makes life a miracle. Then there is the near and immediate future in which imagination gives way to fear, anxiety, and dread. Why is our anxiety greater than our imagination? It is because of our selfishness and sinfulness. Anxiety limits us; John says that we are the sons of God. As your pastor, I beg of you, let us think of the joys of the future more than the troubles and sorrows. Christians must face the future with eager expectancy. If we are to get out of our slough of despond, the Christian religion is indispensable. Jesus looked upon the great future as an inspiration. No life is content with one world, but he who believes in Christ must have two worlds.

> "I know not where His islands lift
> Their fronded palms in air,
> I only know I cannot drift
> Beyond His love and care."

We do not know what the future holds in store for us, but we can be ready for it. Whoever sows for a harvest or plants a tree does it for the future. Hope plants a flower garden. Great dreams help us to bear our burdens, and the beautiful part of life is the knowledge that the religion of Jesus helps us solve our problems. The challenge to all Christians is that living or dying we must leave a record of fortitude.

> "Look not mournfully into the past; it comes > not again;
> Wisely improve the present, for it is thine;
> Go forth to meet the shadowy future
> Without fear and with a manly heart."

The Young People's C. E. society held its regular meeting Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock the second outdoor union service was held on the city lot, between the First Baptist church and Chamber of Commerce. The churches participating in this joint service included Wesley Memorial M. E. church, Emmanuel Lutheran, First Baptist, and First Methodist Protestant. A loud speaker was installed in order that those who wished to remain in their cars, would have no trouble hearing the exercises. Rev. F. L. Conrad, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church, delivered the address. A concert of sacred music by the Civic band with soprano solo by Miss Margaret Sloan, and directed by Prof. Lewis L. Stookey, head of the music department of the city schools and organized of the High Point Civic band. These sacred concerts have proved quite popular this summer, and are largely attended.

Monday evening the Senior C. E. society assembled for their weekly srvice on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ballard on Howell street, the meeting being led by Mrs. Ballard.

Messrs. C. L. Gray and F. R. Auman are nominees for delegate to Annual Conference this year, and the vote will be taken next Sunday morning.

The usual mid-week prayer service on Wednesday evening will be sponsored by the young people of the two C. E. societies.

On account of a conflict with the date of another Sabbath school, the annual picnic and outing of our Sunday school has been postponed until Tuesday, August 2, and it will be held at the City Lake Park at Old Jamestown on that date. Games and fishing will be amusements of the day, the main feature being the picnic supper. Doubtless there will be a large attendance at this popular resort.

Communion service will be observed Sunday, August 7, followed by quarterly conference the next Wednesday evening.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Furman R. Auman upon the advent of a baby daughter on Saturday evening, July 23rd at Guilford General hospital.

Miss Irene Reynolds and Mrs. Ralph H. Vance are guests of Mrs. Jack Bulla in Asheboro.

Mr. Tyson T. Ferree has returned from Wrightsville Beach, where he attended the annual meeting of the Architects' and Contractors' association.

After being associated with the Briggs-Jackson Funeral home in Lexington since last October, Mr. Spencer W. Jackson has returned to High Point and accepted a position with the Yow Funeral home.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Tucker have returned from their honeymoon trip to points in Virginia, and are at home to their friends on Colonial Drive. Before their marriage at Danville, Va., on July 15th. Mrs. Tucker was Miss Ruth Moffitt, daughter of the late Mr. Hugh A. Moffitt and Mrs. Moffitt. Both these young people have many friends here, who offer congratulations and best wishes for a long, happy, and useful wedded life.

We are sorry to note that Mrs. S. D. Shelton fell at the church Tuesday afternoon, and suffered a sprained arm. Her numerous friends hope that it will not be serious.

Miss Anne Garrett, of Durham, is the guest of Mrs. Rupert Pickens on Montlieu Ave. They were classmates at Duke university.

◆

Draper.—Our church work is moving along nicely. Sunday school is still growing.

The third quarterly meeting was held July 14th. C. L. McGee was elected delegate. W. T. Howell, alternate.

The congregations at preaching services are growing. Our pastor, R. L. Vickery, brings us a wonderful message each service. Anyone who can go and stays away from service misses a great blessing in not hearing him.

Our finance in these dark days may run low but we thank God that His wonderful power to bless and His love and mercy will never fail us if we are true to Him.

Pray for us as a church that we may live such lives before the world that many may be led from darkness to light.

A MEMBER.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N C

◆

NOTICE TO FIRST DISTRICT

All coming to first district rally on Greensville charge come by Roanoke Rapids, just across the river at Camp's store take Larenceville road to left, number 48 to Virginia line. Then it will be number 401 on hard surface to Brunswick, Va. (Then an old store and long dwelling on left). Take right hand road there for Matthew's Chapel, around a mile.

Those coming need not bring lunch, as this will be furnished for them.

Come, for all things are ready.

R. L. HETHCOX.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Modern, Fire-Proof,
Well-Equipped Buildings

$380.00, Total cost of dormitory student for Matriculation Fee, Tuition, Room and Board.
$150.00, Total cost for Day Student

Methodist Protestant Owned and Operated

Standard "A" Grade

Courses leading to A.B. and B.S. degree in English, History, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Language, Science and Chemical Engineering, Education, Home Economics, Business Administration, Religious Education and Music

The Place for Methodist Protestant Boys and Girls

For further information address

HIGH POINT COLLEGE - - - HIGH POINT, N. C.

Methodist Protest t Herald.
ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN C AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.
VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., AUGUST 4, 1932 NUMBER 38

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

When the Doctor Comes

(To Doctor J. G. Thomas)

When you're feeling mighty blue,
Knowing not a thing to do,
What a dish of comfort's crumbs
Brings the doctor when he comes!

Just to see his smiling face
Gives you zest to run a race;
When you hear his cheering tone,
Sin it is for you to moan.

Feelings up a notch or two
When you see he knows you through;
Springing hope now fills your breast,
Rises high your fallen crest.

Troubles less begin to grow,
Signs of health begin to show:
Doctor's face will plainly tell,
If you will, you may be well!

Have Faith in God's Love

That God loves us in the most precious article of our faith. We feel that in God's love is infinite and endless power to bless. That is, we feel so if we have proper faith in His love. If we do not believe in His love, then it has no power to cheer us or comfort us. In that case it is as though God's love did not exist so far as the assurance of our hearts is concerned. God wants us to believe in His love. That we may believe He gives us strong evidence of His love. Paul said, "He left not himself without witness, in that he did good, and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our heart with food and gladness." The physical world gives evidence of God's love to His creatures on the earth. We see it in the structure of our bodies so wonderfully made for our use. We see it in the fruits of the earth adapted to our pleasure and sustenance. We see it in the distribution of the fruits of the earth according to the needs of men. Ships that move across the seas laden with food-supplies, great railway trains moving with heavy loads across the continents, the thousands of smaller vehicles that swiftly move on similar errands,—all are moved in last analysis by the mighty motor, the love of God. Feeding the world is a daily miracle which we may see with our own eyes. God hears the young ravens when they cry and provides for them. Even men who will not work are permitted to sit at God's table.

He proves His love to us in curing our diseases and healing our wounds. "I am the Lord that healeth thee," He said. He is the Great Physician to our bodies as well as our souls.

But it is in the treatment of our souls that His love shines with greatest splendor. In all the centuries the mean and guilty souls of men have been expecting outbursts of the wrath of God, and many are still living in fear of the divine anger. To them God is nothing if not a storming tyrant.

But what are the facts? The most illustrious and all-embracing fact is this: God so loved this world of mean, guilty men that He gave His only begotten Son for their salvation from sin and wrath and their reception into eternal life. And in giving His Son God gave the mightiest evidence of His love. Love was the moving factor in it all. From love deep in the heart of God sprang the movement for salvation. The Son's love led him from his throne in glory, led him in his life of toil on earth, led him to Pilate's Hall, led him to Calvary's cross. Love led him to come back from the world of the dead and revive the dying hopes of his disciples. Love led him to commission them and send them to the ends of the earth to make disciples of all nations. Love led him to assume control of the new organization as the perpetual head of the church that he might make of it the world-wide Kingdom of God. Love leads him perpetually to make intercession for those slow to yield to the truth.

Surely God has done enough to make us believe in His love. It is true that pains and sorrows sometimes come, clouds form and it seems that God has ceased to love us, but that cannot be. God's love is everlasting. It is as eternal as God Himself.

Believing firmly in God's love will transform us and transport us. As the warmth of the sun changes the face of the earth in springtime, so the warmth of our Father's love will change the face of the spiritual world if men will believe in it and yield themselves to it.

Please Pardon This Reminder

The last Annual Conference seemed about to adopt a recommendation of the Committee on Methodist Protestant Herald favoring an assessment for printing deficit. At the suggestion of the editor of the Herald this was changed to favor a voluntary offering (instead of an assessment). Our thought was that some might question the right to lay an assessment in this case. A voluntary offering could not be opposed on legal grounds and might accomplish the object.

But it has fallen far short because very few churches have made the offering. The consequence is the printers are in distress. They have served us faithfully and well for six years, never being late in mailing an issue and always looking

(Continued on Page Three)

A TONIC FOR OUR TIMES

Although the figtree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labor of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield not meat; the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stalls; yet I will rejoice in the Lord. Hab.

There is here expressed heroism enough to put to shame every whining American citizen. While I had read the Bible through several times, these verses never gripped my attention until just a few years ago. And since then I have often read them and have tried to imagine just how Habbakkuk looked as he stood up on the occasion when these words were uttered. I imagine there was a sublimity in his manner, a glow upon his face and a faraway look in his eyes as he challenged the discouraged members of his group.

Many have been the times when people have been called upon to suffer from dire poverty. And the people in some countries are almost constant sufferers from it. It is expected there and the poor sufferers accept it as a matter of course and say nothing about it.

Some of us have thought for sometime that we were getting more than was due us from the "economic depression," and so we have talked about it so constantly that a stranger might think that we were entirely heathen, that we were without souls and devoid of spiritual life, consequently did not believe in God.

And during the past few weeks it began to look like the bottom was about to drop out and we would all starve together. But it was then that the Editor of Collier's Weekly compiled facts in an editorial, which if true, are enough to shame us for being so deceived as to think that this country had gone to the bow wows. He proceeds to tell us that these one hundred and twenty million paupers (?) in the U. S. A. have in savings banks the astounding sum of twenty-nine billion dollars; and that this is one and one-quarter billion more than we beggars had in these banks at the peak of prosperity in 1929. That the insurance companies wrote sixteen and a half billion in new insurance last year, making the total amount which we beggars carry, one hundred and ten billion dollars, almost a thousand dollar policy for every man, woman and child in these United States.

And while there is so much talk about our country being "busted" let us recall that our total national wealth is three hundred and thirty billion dollars, and this is greater than the combined wealth of a dozen European countries. And furthermore, while we are suffering, let us not forget that our standard of living at its lowest point is six times higher than that of Russia at its highest.

We might as well remember, too, that we beggars devoured a billion and one quarter pounds of candy last year, smoked an innumerable lot of cigarettes, chewed tons of gum, drank thousands of hogheads of dope, seventy-five million of us attended some show every week during last year, and burnt enough gasoline joyriding to destroy by drowning the population of some of our states, and that six out of every seven of us are gainfully employed.

These few facts would prevent us from qualifying with old Habakkuk as a sufferer from poverty. And some of us remember conditions so much worse than these that we ought to be grateful for the privilege of living through such a depression. Not until people are forced to quit drinking dope, to cut out the theater, stop chewing gum, throw away cigarettes and cigars, stop buying candies and to park for a long rest their "lizzies" can they claim to be hard hit by the panicky days that are yet with us.

R. M. Andrews.

THE TREND OF THE TIMES

I have been trying to believe that the world is getting better, especially our Sunny South. It is not what we think young men ought to think, that determnies character, but what they think. Action follows thought. What people do shows what they have been thinking about. What young people think will determine the character of the next generation.

Edward Burke once said: "Tell me what are the prevailing sentiments that occupy the minds of your young men, and I will tell you what is to be the character of the next generation."

Many young people are satisfied with their religion as long as it does not interfere with their pleasures. If that be true, then, pleasure first, though the pleasures be right in themselves, yet they give to religion, to God, the second place, which is to give God no place. Seek ye first the kingdom of God. I am surprised at young men in North Carolina who are willing and do play ball on the Lord's Day. Many people are not as good as they appear to be. Because a man has not committed a theft, is no proof that he is not a thief. A man is not a thief because he steals, but he steals because he is a thief. When the Sabbath is thrown away, the commandment of God ignored, the way is open for the fall of our republic. The demoralization of the people of our country means, eventually, its fall. Rome was overthrown because of internal corruption. Is the world getting better or worse? I do not mean that our country is going to the bad because of ball games on Sunday, but all bad things combined.

G. F. Millaway.

HOW TO SPEED "BETTER TIMES"

Prosperity is primarily an individual matter. What you personally think and do, from day to day, contributes to the aggregate; and when a sufficient number of persons think and act in the right way, we then have "Good Times."

Hence the following suggestions:

1. THINK CONSTRUCTIVELY. Constantly store your mind with helpful, progressive, useful thoughts. Persistently exclude ideas of fear, worry, discontent, and depression. Open your mind to great and noble thoughts, and your character will be strengthened and you will be conscious of vastly increased opportunities.

2. TALK HOPEFULLY. Right talking stimulates right action. Talk about the things and conditions you want. Waste no time about what might have been, but talk of what you wish to achieve. Be a sensible optimist. Look for and expect the best in life. Intelligent optimism will make you an enthusiast, and enthusiasm is the driving force in all great enterprise.

3. WORK ENTHUSIASTICALLY. The best medicine for discontent and discouragement is useful occupation. A well-planned life has no place for worry. Make a program of practical usefulness. Resolve to do constantly better. Fortune favors the forearmed. The power of perseverance is incalculable. There is nothing too great for a courageous and enthusiastic worker.

4. READ WISELY. Turn daily to good books for inspiration and refreshment. The vital thing in reading is what you assimilate. Read helpful newspaper editorials. Read good news of the day. Select your daily reading as carefully as you do your food. Read for useful information and uplifted thought.

5. GIVE LIBERALLY. Acquire the giving habit. It will repay you in surprising ways. Give intelligently, freely, daily. Give money, books, merchandise, counsel, sympathy, and encouragement. The more you give to others, the less you will worry about yourself. Give every day to the utmost.

6. PLAY FREQUENTLY. It will lessen the tension. Stop often during the day and take a few deep breaths. Learn to let go. Play and rest are as necessary as labor. Stop all nervous habits. Work in poise. Give your powers free play, but do not worry about results. Results are with God.

GRENVILLE KLEISER.

OUR ALARM-CLOCKS

Did you ever have an alarm-clock to wake you up in the morning? When it goes off with a loud ring, it warns you not to sleep any longer.

Did you ever stop to think that your body had many alarm-clocks? If you stay up late one night, the next morning you are tired, cross and sleepy. That is your alarm-clock telling you to get more sleep.

When you eat a piece of pie or cake just before going to bed, and all during the night you roll and toss and have bad dreams, that is your alarm-clock warning you not to do it again.

When you sit near an open window on a cool day, the wind blows against you, but you do not notice it. Before you realize it, you begin to sneeze. That sneeze is an alarm-clock telling you to either close the window or move out of the draft.

Do you ever have a toothache so much that it seems you cannot stand it much longer? That ache is an alarm-clock warning you to go to the dentist to have your teeth fixed and to take better care of your teeth after that.

Every pain that you have is an alarm-clock warning you against something. If you want to be strong and healthy, you must listen to the warning of these alarm-clocks of your body. —Dew Drops.

◆

—The High Point mill people did more than adjust their own difference: they showed other people how to adjust theirs. Paul knew the method when he wrote: "Look not every man on his own things, but let every man look also on the things of others, and have the mind that was in Jesus Christ."

MORE FOR DIABETICS

Last week from Canada issued more good news for diabetics. From the duodenal membranes of rabbits, dogs, hogs and cattle they had isolated a new hormone. Fed in powder form or injected into patients with diabetes, it reduced blood sugar to normal. Quietly Dean Archibald Bruce Macallum and Associate Professor of Physiology Norman B. Laughton of the University of Western Ontario Medical School made a preliminary report of their discovery to the Royal Society of England. As a diabetes medicine it may prove as effective as the insulin Toronto University's Drs. Banting & Best discovered.

Insulin is a hormone secreted by the Islets of Langerhans in the pancreas. Its function is to regulate the combustion and storage of sugar in the body. Failure of these small cellular masses causes blood sugar to increase abnormally. Withdrawal of sugar from the tissues results in hunger, weakness, loss of weight; tissue proteins and fats become converted to sugar to satisfy the body's needs, the patient is starved of carbohydrates. As a substitute for the body's insulin the patient is given injections of commercial insulin prepared from the pancreas of hogs or oxen. But to regulate the action of the insulin (i. e., prevent too great a reduction of blood sugar) a strict diet must be observed. The danger of insulin treatment is that the patient by relaxing his diet may get an hypoglycemic shock—break into a cold sweat, have convulsions, collapse. Unless a physician is on hand to give an injection of glucose solution he may even die.

The hormone of Drs. Macallum & Laughton has two advantages that insulin lacks. Not only may it be taken by mouth (insulin must be injected) but it cannot reduce the blood sugar below the normal (.08-.12 per cent.) Experiments both on animals and on human subjects confirmed this. But Drs. Macallum & Laughton, treading wearily, think experiments on human patients in a few U. S. and Canadian hospitals should continue for four or five years before their new hormone may be introduced for general use.—Time.

Please Pardon This Reminder

(Continued from Page One)

to the appearance of the paper, taking more pains because both are members of the Methodist Protestant Church. If we do not come to their relief they may soon be put in a position in which it will be impossible for them to serve us. I am therefore writing to urgently request pastors to lay this matter before all the churches that have not already made the offering and ask for such sums as they can voluntarily give.

The experience of 38 years has demonstrated the necessity that our conference paper be subsidized (it has been subsidized every one of those 38 years), but the editor knows and will soon tell of a less troublesome and more sure way.

We do not believe our people when they know the facts will be indifferent to the pressing and distressing needs of our two young brethren, the printers. Let this situation be thus relieved, and the editor will feel that the HERALD is soon coming out into better days than it has ever known.

J. F. MCCULLOCH,
Editor and Publisher.

READ THE BIBLE

What difference does reading the Bible make?

To answer this question we only need to look at the evidence as manifested in the lives of those who read the Bible and those who do not read it. Psalm 1:1-6 pictures the one who makes the Word his "daily meditation" as a tree planted by the rivers of everflowing fresh water, sending its roots deeper and deeper into the ground and thus receiving a constant supply of that which gives it life and beauty.

This is a beautiful picture of the child of God who is rooted and grounded in the Word of God, constantly feeding his soul on that which gives life and beauty of character. Not only does reading the Bible affect a man's character, but "whatsoever he doeth shall prosper." The truly blessed life is a life of beneficence as the Psalmist shows, "bringeth forth fruit." Most important of all, the reading of God's Word, "is able to make thee wise unto salvation." Just as all roads were said to lead to Rome, so all Scripture leads to Christ our Saviour.

It is said that the superiority of the Scottish peasantry was the result of their memorizing large portions of the Bible and their dwelling in thought upon its teaching, when they awoke early in the morning, when they worked during the day and when they retired at night. It was the only Book that many of them knew, but it was the answer to all their individual needs.

William Wilberforce, speaking of the Bible, said, "Through all my perplexities and distresses I seldom read any other book and rarely felt the want of any other. It has been my hourly study."

Whenever we open the Bible to read, let this prayer come from our hearts: "Open Thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy Law."

"Within that awful volume lies
The mystery of mysteries!
Happiest they of human race,
To whom God has granted grace
To read, to fear, to hope, to pray,
To lift the latch and force the way;
And better had they ne'er been born,
Who read to doubt, or read to scorn."

—Publisher Unknown.

* * *

WAS IT FAILURE

A Moravian missionary named George Smith went to Africa. He had been there but a short time, and had only one convert, a poor woman, when he was driven from the country. They found this man dead one day. He had died praying for the Dark Continent. Failure? And yet when they celebrated the one-hundredth anniversary of the founding of that mission, the people were told that years after, a company, accidentally stumbling upon a place where he had prayed, had found the copy of the Scriptures he had left. They also found one aged woman who was his convert. They sought to sum up his brief life, and reckoned more than thirteen thousand living converts that had sprung from that life which [illegible] a failure.—Peniel Herald.

CHILD'S PLEA, A LESSON IN FAITH

A little more child-like faith, such as a little Texas girl exhibited recently, might help ease the way of many older folks through these troublous times.

The little girl is Maxine Wilmer, 7, of Laredo, Texas. Her parents are poor and she knew how much of a little extra money would mean in her home with her mother ill. And her little heart ached even more for a doll of her very own.

Having been taught in Sunday school there is a God who takes care of His children it was the most natural thing in the world for her to write a letter telling Him about her urgent needs.

Carefully she printed the words asking God for a loan of $5 and the doll. Then she put the letter in an envelope and laboriously addressed it, "To Mister God, Heaven," and marked it "Persenel" and dropped it in a letterbox.

What to do with the letter became a problem that finally was checked up to the postmaster. After due deliberation he ordered it stamped "Insufficient address" and returned to the sender. Next day it was back in the Wilmer mail box, but the mother took it out so as not to disappoint the little girl. In some way the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce heard about Maxine's letter and sent her $5 but forgot about the doll. But Maxine had not.

Next day another letter addressed to "Mister God" reached the postoffice. This too was stamped "Insufficient address" and returned. Her mother read it. Maxine was duly thankful for the $5 but accused the Chamber of Commerce of keeping her doll. She knew becaus ethe money had come in a Chamber of Commerce envelope.

A little more implicit faith in a kind Providence would do wonders for this old sin-cursed world.—Capper's Weekly.

* * *

A BOY AND HIS BIBLE

Few writers and teachers have exerted a winder influence than Professor Henry Drummond. His biography was published some years ago by his intimate friend and colleague, Professor George Adam Smith, who relates an interesting scene in Professor Drummond's childhood in which his early familiarity with the Bible is illustrated: The Rev. James Robertson, a famous preacher to children, was holding a service for all the Sabbath schools of the town in Erskine United Presbyterian church. The Free North School was the last to arrive, and the church being already crowded, one class was arranged on the pulpit stairs, and Henry and two other boys were taken into the pulpit itself with the preacher. Mr. Robertson began his sermon by saying that the Bible is like a tree, each book a branch, each chapter a twig, and each verse a leaf, "My text is on the thirty-ninth branch, the third twig, and the seventeenth leaf. Try and find it for me." Almost immediately Henry slipped from behind him and said, "Malachi third and seventeen." "Right, my boy; now take my place and read it out." Then from the pulpit came the silvery voice: "And thou shalt be mine, saith the Lord of Hosts, in that day when I make up My jewels." Mr. Robertson laid his hand on the boy's head and said, "Well done. I hope one day you will be a minister."—Publisher Unknown.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

The Passing of Brother Moore

On Thursday of last week I was called to Burlington to assist in the funeral of Brother J. E. Moore. In the passing of Brother Moore our Burlington church has lost one of its most dependable members. It was my privilege to be his pastor for seven years. During that time I found him true to the church and earnest in his purposes to live the Christian life. Surely a good man has gone from us. May God comfort the bereaved family.

Brother Lowdermilk Improving

We had a visit with Brother Lowdermilk last week, and found him gradually getting well. When we saw him, just fifty days had elapsed since his fall. He had not walked any up to that time, but was able to sit in his invalid's chair and shove himself. He expected to try walking with a crutch soon, but did not hope to bear any weight on his broken hip for some time yet. He appeared comfortable, and it is gratifying to his many friends that his condition is so favorable. We were sorry to find Mrs. Lowdermilk's sister (Miss Causey) ill. We trust that her health may be promptly and permanently restored.

Gray's Chapel

Saturday, August 30, we were with Brother Suits at this church in a circuit rally. The program opened at 10 A. M., with a devotional service conducted by Sister A. G. Dixon. This was followed by a program rendered by a group of children from the Children's Home. Dr. Dixon then spoke, and an offering for the Home was received. After the noon intermission, and dinner, which was served on the church grounds, we reassembled for the closing program. By request the children from the Home sang again, and Mrs. C. W. Bates followed with an address on the women's work. It was then our privilege to address the meeting. Pastor Suits seemed well pleased with the results of the day. The attendance was good, and each of the four churches on the charge was represented. It should be said, too, that the interest was good. Such meetings are very profitable. We encourage other charges to hold them. This is a compact and well-located charge, and there are signs of progress. Brother Suits is giving earnest attention to the work, and we believe that he will be able to make a good report to the coming conference.

Fifth Sunday

July 31.—On this last Sunday of the month we attended Sunday School at Welch Memorial, and shared the study of the lesson in the men's class taught by Brother E. F. Seagraves. The Sunday School record board revealed the following comparisons: attendance to day, 188; one year ago, 193—a difference of five. Offering today, $3.14; one year ago, $3.18,—a difference of five cents. The present enrollment is 242. A brother sitting by me in the class remarked that the church had ample opportunity to have 300 in S. S. This is encouraging, and we hope that the church may bestir itself and fully use this opportunity. Owing to a business meeting of the congregation at First Church that we wanted to look in on, we found it necessary to leave Welch in the midst of the 11 o'clock service. We enjoyed our visit with this congregation and regretted that we could not hear Brother Williams through his sermon.

We found the brethren of the First Church in business session, and considering ways and means by which they could bring their finances up to date. Their requirement for this purposes is about $4,000, it was stated. Pledges were taken in the meeting, and a committee appointed to secure pledges from other members. It seemed to us that a good beginning was made, and we are hopeful that the follow up may result in the full $4,000. Churches with heavy financial obligations are finding it a little hard now; but there need be no discouragement because of this. Consecration, co-operation, and sacrifice, will ultimately pay our debts.

Can You Realize It?

In three months and seven days we shall be meeting in annual conference. Can you realize it? How swiftly the year is passing! In a brief span it will be gone and our records of another conference year made. We trust that every pastor and every charge will begin thinking now very clearly and very prayerfully about the work of these closing months.

Only God Is Sufficient

We have been reading during the last few days the Autobiography of Peter Cartwright, one of the pioneer preachers of Methodism. In his simple style he recounts at length the revival meetings of those early days. There is one fact that you can not escape as you read his account of these meetings: God was in them. Cartwright was sure of that, and so were the people. It often happened that large numbers were converted, and it was not unusual to find many hardened sinners among the converts. Striking contrasts could be pointed out between the revivals of those days and those of our days, and interesting comments made regarding the difference. But that is not my object here. The thing that we want to emphasize is that God was in those meetings, and the simple faith with which the pioneer preacher looked to Him to convict and save sinners. We fear that in our advanced age we are trying to run the church without God, or at best, by giving him but a scant part in the program. All too often the emphasis is on money, imposing church buildings, culture, a trained ministry, organizations, etc. Against these things we certainly have no railing accusation. God can and does use them all to his glory. But we can not run the church with these things. Nothing is sufficient but God, and the sooner we get back to the simple faith of the pioneer preacher in this particular the more success we will have with the church. We call upon all of our ministers to put the emphasis here with renewed earnestness.

Appointments

August 3.—State Street, in quarterly conference.

August 7.—West End, Greensboro.

August 21.—Orange Charge: Efland, 11 A. M.; Union Grove, 3 P. M.

"For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power."

S. W. Taylor.

OMISSION

It isn't the thing you do, dear,
It is the thing you leave undone
Which gives you a bit of heartache
At the setting of the sun;
The tender word forgotten,
The letter you did not write,
The flower you might have sent, dear,
Are your haunting ghosts tonight.

The stone you might have lifted
Out of the brother's way;
The bit of heartstone counsel
You hurried too much to say;
The loving touch of the hand, dear,
The gentle and winsome tone
That you had no time or thought for,
With trouble enough of your own.

These little acts of kindness,
So easily out of mind,
These chances to be angels,
Which even mortals find—
They come in night and silence.
Each child's reproachful wraith,
When hope is faint and flagging,
And a blight has dropped on faith.

For life is all too short, dear,
And sorrow is all too great
To suffer our slow compassion
That tarries until too late;
And it's not the thing you do, dear,
It's the thing you leave undone,
Which gives you the bitter heartache.
At the setting of the sun.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

JESUS IS COMING

After Jesus has risen from the dead He was on the earth forty days teaching His disciples things concerning the Kingdom of God.

It was now drawing near the time when Jesus was going back to His Heavenly Home, and He was telling His disciples about the Holy Ghost who was soon to come and comfort their hearts. When He had finished talking He was taken up into Heaven.

The disciples loved the Lord Jesus, and as His feet left the earth and He ascended upward they watched after Him.

Jesus was not forgetful of the dear ones He had left on the earth, for He sent two Heavenly messengers to them with this glorious message: "Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into Heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into Heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into Heaven"—(Acts 1:11).

How this message must have thrilled and comforted the disciples! To really know that the dear Lord Jesus whom they loved so well was coming back again was to them a great joy.

Jesus has not come back yet, but He is coming soon. Are we looking for Him? The Bible tells us that unto them that look for Him shall He appear the second time without sin unto salvation—(Heb. 9:28). Let us keep looking for Him "for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh"—(Matt. 24:44).—M. Forsberg.

BROKEN THINGS

A broken pitcher!
Out there flashed a Gideon bandsman's light;
Then came a shout of victory,
"Thro' God avenged our land shall be."
The waking host in terror flee—
God's few have won the fight.

A broken treasure!
Rare oil from riven alabaster wall
Anoints the feet of God's dear Son—
A task by others left undone—
Her love must give her best or none,
While tears of gladness fall.

Some broken loaves!
Just scanty bits from out a basket small;
But as our Christ the food did take,
Then bless and into fragments break,
A feast abundant He doth make
To satisfy them all.

A broken body!
Whisper low as hanging on the Cross we see
God's Son in agony and pain,
Bowed with ev'ry sin and stain,
Broken that we might once again
In His completeness be.

Just broken things
How oft God uses them to show His grace;
If thou wilt as the loaves then be,
Or as the pitcher broken, see
God's light shine forth in beauty free,
Well shalt thou fill His place.

A broken heart!
Thus only able for thy brother's woe,
For canst thou feel compassion true
Unless thy heart is broken too—
To let thee taste God's comfort new,
And then to others show. —Selected.

—Rev. G. F. Millaway and wife are this week visiting in Charlotte and will next week visit in Winston.

OUR STORY PAGE

"I DON'T CARE"

Jack was a naughty boy and abused his Cousin Susie in many ways. When he would hurt her he would say, "I don't care." Susie was a gentle little girl, and one day he threw her ball into the fire, pulled her hair, and hurt her arm so much that it bled. He was shut up in a dark room, and given only prisoner's fare, bread and water. He kept saying, "I don't care." After staying there for three days with only bread and water as food, he kept saying still, "I don't care."

Then Susie said, "Mother, mayn't I go and be shut up while Jack comes out to see how pleasant it is? There is no sun there nor anything."

Her mother told her that she might. She went up to Jack's door and said, "I asked mother if I might come and take your place, Jack, while you go out and see how pleasant it is; it is so dismal and lonely here."

Jack looked at her and said, "What a fool you are!" and he walked slowly out. Susie was locked in. At dinner time Jack took the bread and water up to Susie. After dark he said, "Must Susie stay there all night if I don't?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Stone. Tears started in Jack's eyes. He ran up-stairs and darted into the dark chamber, and said, "Susie, you are the best girl I ever knew. I will never treat you so again. I am sorry, I am. I will be a good boy, I will. Susie, what makes you so good to me?"

He threw his arms around her neck and cried as if his heart would break. It made a good boy out of him to know that Susie had taken his place of punishment.

Jesus took our place. "He bare our sins" (I Peter 2:24). "With His stripes we are healed" (Is. 53:5). He loved us and gave Himself for us (Eph. 5:2).—Bible Morning Glories.

HOW A LITTLE BOY WORKED FOR JESUS

A little boy in England went to his pastor and asked him if there wasn't something that boys could do for the Lord. The pastor said, "Why, I don't know. You are too small to lead a class, and hardly old enough to be a tract distributor. I don't know what you can do."

"Seems to me," said the child, "there ought to be something for boys to do."

The pastor thought a few moments and then he asked, "Is your seat-mate in school a Christian?"

"No, sir, I think not."

"Then go to work, as the Lord shall show you how and get him converted. Then take another, and another. I can not tell you exactly what to do, but if you pray, the Saviour will show you how to get them saved."

Some months after that when revival meetings were held in this place this little boy was lying very ill. The doctors had given him up to die. His father went to the afternoon meeting, and when he came home little Willie roused up and asked his father, "Was Neddie Smith at the meeting this afternoon?"

"Yes, dear."

"Did he give his heart to the Lord Jesus Christ?"

"No, I think not."

"Oh," said the little sick boy, in a sad voice, "I thought he would!"

The next day his father left him again and went to the afternoon meeting. When he came home, Willie asked him the same question and expressed the same disappointment that his little friends was not converted. The third day Willie was yet alive, and when his father came home from the meeting he asked the same question and received a different answer. "Yes, Neddie gave his heart to the Saviour this afternoon."

"I am so glad," said Willie feebly.

After he had gone to be with Jesus they opened his little box and found a list of forty boys. The first one was his seat-mate at the time when he went to the pastor and asked for something to do for the Lord; the last name was that of Neddie Smith. And every boy on the list was converted. He had taken them one by one in faith and prayer, given them books to read, showing them texts of Scripture, praying with them when the Lord awakened them, and the entire forty had been converted through his effort.

There is plenty for us to do, and the Lord will show us how to do it. The only thing is to be ready to obey His voice and let Him lead and teach us.—Unknown.

PRAYER

Dear Boys and Girls:

I always feel very thrilled when I speak over the telephone to some one a great many miles away. Not long ago I spoke to some one like this, and though there were over a hundred miles between us, it made me feel as if she were very near me. Do you know, there is a telephone to Heaven! and the best of it is that we don't have to wait to ring up or to ask for a number, but we can use it at any moment, and just wherever we happen to be; and there is always Some One listening at the other end. This telephone is called Prayer.

You know when we use a telephone we don't see the person to whom we are talking; we just, as it were, talk in faith. Well, that is how the Bible tells us we talk to God. It's rather a wonderful thought that we can talk to God and tell Him everything. Nothing is too big or too small to talk to God about; so we can get the help of Some One who is Almighty! Do you know you can never really pray without getting an answer from God. Isn't it lovely! If we turn to Mark 11:24, we read, "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." Only the

Son of God, the Creator

of all things, could have said such words as these. Only He could make such a wonderful promise. A little earlier He had said, "Have faith in God." What we might obtain from God if only we had faith! A boy in one of the schools in Edinburgh, who went to a prayer-meeting conducted by his teacher, said one day, "Teacher, I wish my sister could be got to read the Bible, she never reads it. If she read it I am sure it would do her good and she would be converted and be saved. I wish at the next prayer-meeting you would ask the people to pray that she might begin to read the Bible." The teacher promised, and at the next prayer-meeting gave out "that a boy was very anxious that prayer should be offered that his sister might begin to read the Bible."

John (for that was the boy's name) was seen to get up and go out as soon as the request was made. The teacher thought it was rather rude and unkind of John to disturb all the people in the room by going away at once, so the next time he saw him he said, "John, I thought it was very rude of you to go out in the middle of the prayer-meeting." John's reply was, "Oh, I am sorry, Sir, I did not mean to be rude, but I did want to go home and see my sister reading her Bible for the first time." And the girl was reading her Bible for the first time when her brother reached home! Oh, it is such a wonderful thing to have answers to our prayers, boys and girls! Do let us make a habit of praying and of telling God everything. We can lift up our hearts and use our prayer telephone even in the street; but especially let us have a quiet time alone with Him every morning and evening.

A warmed-lined garment made for daily wear.
A needless dress until the eventide,
But put it on; accounting prayer
Let not the robe of prayer be hung aside,
And when day should lengthen out space,
Still praise and thank Him for His Grace.

Always remember that we can never really pray without getting something from God. He says everyone that asketh, receiveth. We may not always get just the thing we ask for, or have our prayer answered in just the way we want, but God always answers, and He answers in the way He sees will be best for us. I wonder if any of you have ever done what I have. I used to keep a book and write down all the answers I had to my prayers. I did love that little book! Put the date on which you begin to pray for a certain thing and the date when you receive the answer. The great poet, Tennyson, tells us "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

But, boys and girls, we must not ask God to do things for us and expect to do nothing ourselves. God will not allow us to be lazy and do things for us which we can and should do for ourselves. If you lose your school pencil and ask God to help you to find it, He expects you to get up and look for it. I heard of a girl who was at the bottom of her class. She began to pray that God would send His Holy Spirit into her heart to help her with her work, and at the end of the term she was first on the class-list. But she had done her part, and had got up every morning at 6 o'clock to study.

Then there is the story of two little girls who were on their way to school. They had not started as early as usual, and were afraid they would be late. One said, "Let's kneel down here and ask God not to let us be late." The other said, "No, I think I shall run as hard as I can, and while I am running I will ask God to help me get there in time."

I must tell you one more story before I finish my letter. One day a boy named Tom was on his way home, when he met a man going his way with a load of wood. He offered Tom a lift and the boy scrambled up on top of the wood. Just then the horses began to trot down a hill at a good pace. "Tommy," said his mother afterwards, "were you not afraid to be perched right up there, when the horses came down so fast?"

"Yes, a little, mother," confessed Tommy, "but I asked the Lord to help me and I hung on like a beaver!"

—Your Affectionate, Aunt Edith.

THERE ARE TWO OF US

Some one tells a story of a boy whom some older boys were trying to compel to join them in some mean act.

"I can't do it," he said.

"What's the reason you can't? You will have to, I tell you. We are going to make you do it whether you want to or not. We are all of us against you, and how are you going to help yourself?"

The boy looked at the other a moment and said, "I can't do it; it's wrong, it's mean, and I won't do it. I am not as much alone as you think I am, either. There are two of us, and the other One has always been more than a match for all that have come against Him."

"Two of you," sneered the other boy, "and where's your partner, I'd like to know? Why doesn't He show up? Much help you'll get from Him! You'll be used up before He comes."

"No, I shall not," answered the other boy, quickly, "for He is here now. It is just as I told you; there are two of us, and the other One is God."

The leader of the rough boys was startled. He looked for a moment into the determined face of the little fellow before him, and then, casting a sheepish glance at his companions around him, he said: "Come on fellows; let him alone. There is no use fooling with such a chap as that." And away they went.—Publisher Unknown.

A BOY TEACHER

There is a striking incident of a certain missionary who was sent for on one occasion to go to a little village in an out-of-the-way corner of India, to baptize and receive into church fellowship sixty or seventy adult converts from Hinduism.

At the commencement of the proceedings he had noticed a boy about fifteen years of age sitting in a back corner, looking very anxiously and listening very wistfully. He now came forward.

"What, my boy! do you want to join the church?"

"Yes, sir."

"But you are very young, and if I were to receive you into fellowship with this church today and then you were to slip aside, it would bring discredit upon this church and do great injury to the cause of Christ. I shall be coming this way again in about six months. Now, you be very loyal to the Lord Jesus Christ during that time, and if, when I come again at the end of the half-year, I find you still steadfast and true, I will baptize and receive you gladly."

No sooner was this said than all the people rose to their feet, and some, speaking for the rest, said, "Why, sir, it is he that has taught us all we know about Jesus Christ."—Publisher Unknown.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD

Persident of High Point College C. E. Society

August 7: HOW DOES NATURE SPEAK TO US ABOUT GOD?

Scripture Lesson—Psalm 19:1-6.

Nature speaks a language that is understandable only to the trained listener. Those who have heard the message. Probably there have been few who were able to translate their impression as was Wordsworth. His communion with nature was rich and the inspiration for much of his poetry.

"For I have learned
To look in nature, not as in the hour
Of thoughtless youth; but hearing oftentimes
The still, sad music of humanity,
Nor harsh nor grating thought of ample power
To chasten and subdue."

This quotation is from lines composed a few miles above Tintern Abbey and continues in the same elevated style on the power of nature.

One is almost staggered at the grandeur of nature. From the majesty of a snow capped mountain to the smallest flower there is the consciousness that the hand that made us is Divine. Nature is planned out with the most meticulous care. There is orderliness and precision about the correlation of nature. No one can intelligently study nature without feeling that it took a Divine hand to frame its fearful symmetry. Back of the wonders that we see in a beautiful rose must be a creative hand. The artist is greater and had a bigger conception than the picture he paints. The musician heard more celestial harmonies than he recorded, and nature displays the creative genius of a Mighty God.

The sun, the moon, the stars, the seas,
the hills and the plains,—
Are not these, O Soul, the Vision of Him who reigns?

The poet Tennyson was out walking when he noticed a small flower growing from a crevice in the wall. He expresses his thoughts thus:

Flower in the crannied wall,
I pluck you out of the crannies,
I hold you here, root and all, in my hand,
Little flower—but if I could understand
What you are, root and all, and all in all,
I should know what God and man is.

There is a majesty about a small flower that man cannot duplicate. God creates but man imitates. Imitation flowers have been made so nearly perfect that at first glance they seemed real but they lack the smell of real flowers and the quality of life. The works of man, under close examination, become coarse; the works of God are marvelous in an analyzed form. The beauty of a rose is destroyed by tearing it apart but the separate parts of their unique correlation fill us with wonder. Bacon once exclaimed as he studied the sky in its great beauty and wonder: "Great God, we must think Thy thoughts after Thee." The telescope and microscope have revealed to us worlds unintelligible to the naked eye. Both of these revelations bring us closer, to a God of power and might, yet they make God personal in that He has placed all things under man. The great hymn of Oliver Wendell Holmes—"Lord of all beings, throned afar"—is majestic in the scope of its conception, yet tender and sweet in its personal application of the Love of God to each soul.

Christ frequently used illustrations from nature. Nature is fairly universally understood and appreciated. Christ gave no intimation that nature was God but only that it revealed God. Nature is friendly to man and the richness of it is placed at his disposal. The warm weather, the rain, the abundant vegetation and all the blessings of a fruitful nature are to bless and provide for man.

The beauties of nature reveal a God of infinite beauty. We are unable to harmonize colors but nature carelessly splashes the universe with colors to produce a picture of beauty and pleasing harmony. Beauty is truth and truth is a revelation of God so nature in its beauty tells of a great creator behind it.

Quotable Poetry

To him who in the love of nature holds
Communion with her visible forms, she speaks
A various language; for his gayer hours
She has a voice of gladness, and a smile
And eloquence of beauty, and she glides
Into his darker musings, with a mild
And healing sympathy, that steals away
Their sharpness, ere he is aware. When thought
Of the last bitter hour comes like a blight
Over thy spirit and sad images
Of the stern agony, and shroud, and pall,
And breathless darkness, and the narrow house,
Make thee to shudder, and grow sick at heart;
Go forth, under the open sky, and list
To nature's teachings, while from all around—
Earth and her waters, and the depths of air
Comes a still voice—

"Thanatopsis"—Bryant.

Suggested Hymns

"Lord of All Being, Throned Afar," "Creation," "Sunshine In the Soul," "There Shall Be Showers of Blessing," "America, the Beautiful," and "Doxology.'

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas	$4.00
Rev. C. E. Ridge	4.00
Mrs. E. S. Taylor, Orange	2.00
Rev. Chas. Grant	1.00
Rev. C. L. Spencer	1.00
Rev. E. O. Peeler	1.00
Grenville Kleiser	1.00
Miss Janie Blackwood, Union Grove	1.00

◆

—Rev. T. J. Whitehead is assisting Rev. E. O. Peeler this week in a meeting at Mitchell's Grove.

—The editor thanks a good brother of Calvary church for this sentiment:

"Keep Right On"

So glad to know you're better
And gaining day by day;
Now let me just advise you
To keep right on that way.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

ALL ABOARD FOR WEAVERVILLE

Transportation

These having cars, please notify Mrs. Brown how many passengers they can take. Those wanting seats, consult Mrs. Brown. Last year the cars met at State St. church, Lexington, and the same plan is suggested for this year. Mrs. Brown will know the hour, but we would like for you to start in time to have supper at the cottage. The Weaverville and Asheville ladies are preparing supper.

Entertainment

I will entertain the members of the Executive Committee, and as many visiting ladies as I have room for at the cottage. Mrs. Cowan has kindly offered to take care of husbands who may come as drivers. To get entertainment, I must be notified, but board at reasonable rates can be had by visitors who decide to come at the last minute.

Cost

The cost will be only the car expense. You do not need to bring either linen or supplies.

Time and Place

The Weaverville and Asheville Auxiliaries, the folks at Bethel Home, and the Bates will be looking for you sometime Tuesday afternoon. Supper will be served Tuesday evening at the Bates' cottage. The Executive Committee will meet at the Bethel Home on Wednesday. We are hoping for a good attendance. Come and enjoy this annual visit to Bethel Home.

MRS. C. W. BATES.

◆

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETS IN WEAVERVILLE AUGUST 10

The meeting of the Executive Committee of Women's Work in Weaverville next Wednesday, August 10th, is important. It is hoped a large number will be present. Mrs. George R. Brown, of Reidsville, is arranging for the party, the request having been made that names of those expecting to go be sent to her, also that those arranging to have parties in cars notify her of vacant seats. In this way the expense of taking extra cars will be eliminated. Mrs. Bates has an announcement in this week's Herald and the Bethel Home folks are expecting us. Women, make an effort to attend the meeting.

MRS. W. C. HAMMER, Pres.
N. C. Branch Women's Work.

◆

LET US PRAY

As the Executive Committee meets at Weaverville on August 10th to consult and plan to better carry on the Women's Work we are asking each one of you to be in con-

◆

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Friendship Mount Hermon Charge. — Mr. Clay Holt of this community, who had an operation for appendicitis about two weeks ago at Duke's hospital Durham, is rapidly improving.

The Woman's Missionary society gave two suppers last week: one for the "Merchants association," of Burlington and the other for the "Kiwanis club." The two netted $48.00 toward the annual budget.

Mr. J. W. Bishop is seriously ill.

The Woman's Missionary society met with Mrs. W. A. Patterson Saturday afternoon. Miss Mae Patterson made a wonderful talk on "Christ Comes to the Village." Delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Byron Keck invited the society to meet with her next month.

Mrs. Frank Robinson and friends of Richmond, Va., who have been visiting Mrs. Robinson's parents, returned home Monday.

Our revival will start the first Sunday in August. REPORTER.

◆

Mount Hermon, Mount Hermon Charge.—The revival service began the third Sunday in July and lasted for ten days. Rev. C. G. Isley of Lexington was pulpit help. We had the greatest revival in years. Mr. Isley touched the hearts of the sinners in our community never touched before.

We hope our pastor, Mr. Mabry, will have Mr. Isley as his pulpit help next year. He has done so much good in our community.

Mr. Isley and his mother are always welcome in our community.

A MEMMBER.

◆

West Forsyth.—We closed our revival meeting at Baltimore on Friday night of last week with gratifying results. Rev. Wayne Curtis, of Burlington, was the help in the meeting, preaching and singing to the delight and edification of the people. The attendance was good, with the church completely filled at every night service, and from 75 to 100 persons present at each day service. Bro. Curtis and the pastor alternated in the preaching, and the people were well pleased with the sermons of Bro. Curtis, some making the remark that he did some of the best preaching ever heard at Baltimore. There were six professions and reclamations. We expect to receive new members at the regular appointment next Sunday morning. The East Bend Quartet was present Tuesday night and rendered a number of selections. Bro. Curtis was very pleasantly remembered by the Baltimore church people as having directed the singing for the revival meeting two years ago, and they were glad to have him with them again.

We regret to note the severe illness of Mrs. Florence Whitman, member of Pleasant Hill church, whose condition was reported worse early this week. She has been in ill health for several months, remaining in bed for most of the time. Mrs. Permelia Reid, oldest member of Tabernacle church, is slowly recovering from a dislocated shoulder and broken arm which was sustained in a fall near Tabernacle church during the revival meeting two weeks ago.

Our appointments for next Sunday will be at Baltimore church at 11 a. m., and Stony Knoll church at 3 p. m. We hope to have good attendance at each service.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

◆

Orange Chapel, Saxapahaw Charge.—On July 17 we had our Children's Day program. Very near all the children we have are real small, but they did well. Our pastor, Mr. Whitehead, made an interesting and helpful talk on missionary work. His talks and sermons are always good. If his congregation would live as he wants us to live this world would be a better place for us all.

On the third Sunday in June we held our annual memorial. Regardless of the rainy weather we had a large congregation. The program was very good. The Central quartet of Burlington did some beautiful singing. We always enjoy having them with us. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Maynard's niece was visiting them at that time and she sang two beautiful selections. She sings well. Her home is in Pennsylvania. One thing that seemed to be enjoyed by all was dinner on the ground.

In the afternoon the memorial address was delivered by Dr. Fred Paschall, pastor of the First M. P. church of Burlington. The Orange Chapel people fell in love with his preaching, some of them say they are going to Burlington to hear him preach.

Mrs. Foust Thompson has been seriously ill though we are glad to report she is much better; we pray that her health will soon be restored. We miss her at church.

We are very glad to learn that Mrs. John Crawford, who has been very ill, has gotten able to be out again.

Mrs. C. C. Crawford and her son, Clyde, are also on the sick list. We are glad to say they are better.

Our revival begins the third Sunday in August; we ask all the readers of the Herald to pray that we may have a gracious outpouring of the Holy Spirit and many may find Jesus precious to their souls.

◆

Winston-Salem, First.—Our third quarterly conference was held some time ago and it was found that Brother S. E. Hauser had been elected delegate to Conference. Brother Hauser has been the delegate the past two conferences.

Our annual Sunday school picnic was held at Crystal Lake on July 14 with a splendid attendance. Everybody seemed to have a good time.

Our annual Children's Day service was held the second Sunday in July with a splendid program and an offering of something more than $17.00.

Attendance at Sunday school at church services is holding up well. During the months of July and August we do not have Sunday evening services, so we can major on the morning services.

Some weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Coble and son and daughter and Mrs. Coble's father, Brother E. M. Routh, moved to Burlington. Brother Routh was both a class-leader and a steward while Mr. Coble was formerly secretary and treasurer of the Sunday school.

Recently Brother A. W. Davis and family moved to Greensboro. Bro. Davis is the chairman of the music committee of our church and he and Mrs. Davis and daughter, Miss Sibyl, were among the best singers in our choir.

Recently the Woman's Auxiliary and the Philathea class had some of the class rooms refinished and now the latest improvement is a door from the choir loft to a room back of the choir, so the choir can enter without having to pass in front of the audience. The Woman's Auxiliary is responsible for this newest improvement.

While times are hard and lots of people are moving away, yet there seems to be a greater determination on the part of both pastor and people to fill up the gaps in the ranks and keeps moving. Some new people come in occasionally to take the places of the ones who move away and thus we carry on.

The week following the third Sunday in July it was the privilege of the writer to be with Rev. A. L. Hunter in a revival meeting at Mount Zion church on the Pinnacle-Mount Zion charge. Twenty-one years ago the writer assisted Brother Hunter in a meeting at this some church. It was a great delight to be with Brother Hunter and this good people and to find that some of the leading members of the church now were among the 28 to unite with the church 21 years ago. After serving this people 23 years, Brother Hunter is still held in the highest esteem and I think the people had rather have him as their pastor than any other man in the Conference.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

◆

Baltimore, West Forsyth Charge.—The annual revival meeting of this church began Sunday, July 24, and closed Friday night, July 29. The services were well attended and much interest shown. This was my second time at this church with pastor and people in a revival meeting, and it was a pleasure to be with them again. Rev. C. B. Way, the pastor, preached with great force. His messages were Gospel. Mr. Way is well thought of at this church, and much desire has been expressed for his return for another year. The people of this church are some of the best. May the Lord ever lead them in paths of service. WAYNE CURTIS.

◆

Beulah, Mecklenburg Circuit.—Our pastor, Rev. Mr. Love, on the fourth Sunday in July preached a good sermon; the attendance was very good. Our Sunday schoool is getting along very nicely with very good attendance each Sunday. Our Ladies' Aid held its regular meeting at the church last Wednesday afternoon with most of our members present. Our Christian Endeavor programs seem to be progressing fine with about all willing to do their best. We carried a program to Matthews M. E. Church on the third Sunday night in July. It ws enjoyed very much by all.

Our revival meeting is drawing near; it will begin on the fourth Sunday in August. We will have Rev. Farl Cook with us again to help in our revival. We all pray that this may be the best revival that Beulah church has had in quite a while.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Ethel Morris has been called away since our last report. She died on Tuesday evening, June 28. She was a faithful member of Beulah church and always attended all services when her health permitted. She was always willing to do her part in all good church work. We all miss Mrs. Morris very much in our community. We feel that she was prepared to meet Jesus. We also want to be prepared to meet Jesus on that bright and shining shore where there will be no more pain or sorrow to bear. The funeral servise was conducted at Beulah church by her pastor, Rev. Mr. Love, on Wednesday afternoon, June 29, and ber body was carried to Antioch cemetery for burial where a large crowd of friends and relatives met to pay their last respect. The grave was completely covered with flowers. She leaves her husband and three children, and also her mother and three brothers.

Mrs. C. E. Craig, we are sorry to report, is still on the sick list and not much improved. We all pray that she may soon be restored to health and strength again.

Best regards to the Herald and all of its readers.

MISS LULA DEESE, Reporter.

◆

Efland, Orange Charge.—Our revival meeting closed last Wednesday night after ten services. Of course the results were not what we had hoped for, as is usually the case, but we feel much good was accomplished. There were several reconsecrations and three or four conversions. The pulpit help was Rev. Clyde Auman. His sermons were all very good and inspirational. He was very earnest and sincere in his efforts to win souls to Christ. Am sure he will be long remembered by the folks at Efland and we extend to him a hearty welcome to come again. The influence for good that our pastor, Rev. B. M. Williams, has in our church by the daily life that he lives is of the lasting type and we feel we know him well, for he has served us long and faithfully.

The ladies of the church gave a supper on the church lawn last Saturday night. A sum of something over $20.00 was cleared.

Several of our Sunday school folks are planning to attend the county Sunday school convention at Hillsboro next Sunday, August 7. MRS. E. S. TAYLOR, Reporter.

◆

Liberty.—On the fourth Sunday an attentive and appreciative congregation heard Mr. Chambliss in another one of his good sermons. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered.

Miss Sarah Lou Lindley, daughter of Rev. A. O. Lindley, was the leader for Christian Endeavor that evening, and Mr. Chambliss gave a splendid talk. A large number was present.

Our revival will be in session the week following the fourth Sunday in September. I hope we can have some mid-week prayer services and also some cottage prayer meetings before that time. I hope the Christian people will remember us in their prayers, especially may our former pastors remember the work here.

Rev. Mr. Chambliss was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Holt Sunday.

We were delighted to have Mrs. Irene Albertson, of High Point, worship with us Sunday and visit her sister, Mrs. John W. Curtis.

Next Thursday, August 4th, will be homecoming day for all former students of the Liberty schools.

We were pleased to have Miss Mary Young, of our own High Point College in our evening Christian Endeavor services. We were very glad to have Miss Elizabeth Hanner with us at the same time. We had a union service of all the young people's societies in town. Mr. Fishel gave an excellent address, after which Mrs. Kinchelo gave a splendid talk.

Our pastor, Rev. Mr. Chambliss, is spending some time with his mother in Virginia.

Circle No. 1 of the Woman's Auxiliary met Tuesday p. m. with Mrs. W. M. Hanner. Circle No. 2 met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. B. J. Gregerson.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

◆

Zion, Chatham Charge.—Our revival meeting began the third Sunday in July. During the following week our pastor, Rev. Fred R. Love, brought us very inspiring messages, which were enjoyed by all. We feel that our church as a whole has been greatly revived, and we are glad to report that 20 accepted Christ as their Savior. Four united with the church and six are planning to unite with the Baptist and Holiness churches.

During the past week our pastor was holding a revival at Piney Grove on our charge. Several from here attended the services and enjoyed them very much.

Our Christian Endeavor is still growing in interest and number. Mr. Vertie Scotton was leader Sunday night and rendered a very interesting program. REPORTER.

◆

Henderson. — The Henderson Methodist Protestant Church has been trying to keep ahead of old man "Summer Slump," and has succeeded fairly well, I think. There does not seem to have been any great dropping off in attendance of either the Sunday school or church services during the summer weeks. The evangelistic meeting, coming in the middle of the summer, doubtless has had something to do with keeping up interest and attendance.

The evangelistic meeting was held July 17-24th. The church had asked that the pastor do the preaching, but the pastor requested that he be given the privilege of securing a visiting preacher. The request was granted and Rev. R. I. Farmer, of High Point, was engaged. However, later Bro. Farmer was released that he might assist in the High Point College campaign. So, after all, the pastor had to do the preaching. The members of the church who are usually interested and who attended thought the attendance was real good, and the pastor was encouraged by it. The temperature hovered right close to the hundred mark during the week, but the people thought they could endure it if the preacher could, so they came and gave splendid co-operation. There were about 80 out for the last 9 o'clock service, 50 of which were children and young people. As far as we know very few, if any, unchurched people attended. That is one of our difficult problems in conducting a revival in our town churches—to get the unsaved under the influence of the services. Three little girls united with the church. Already ten had joined at Easter time, so that there was not many of our Sunday school children who were not already members of the church.

The work here seems to be holding up well along the other lines of church activities. Money, of course, is scarce for church purposes, though we are doubtless doing as well or better than the average. The First National Bank, in which so many of our people were interested, has not yet re-opened. The re-opening of that would certainly boost our church finances.

There was a good attendance at the third quarterly conference last Wednesday evening. The officials are interested and willing to co-operate with the pastor in pushing the interests of the Kingdom. I am sure I have never served a more appreciative people than these Henderson folks. It inspires a preacher to want to do his best. The Hon. J. R. Hicks ran Bro. L. R. Gooch a close race for the honor of representing our church in the next Annual Conference, receiving only one vote less than Bro. Gooch. However, he decided not to contest the election and very graciously moved that, as far as the quarterly conference could do so, the election be made unanimous. The motion was passed.

Our efficient reporter, Mrs. C. L. Finch, keeps the readers of the Herald so well informed each month of the activities of our church that it is not necessary, and perhops not wise, for the pastor to write often.

My prayers and good wishes are with our churches and pastors, and especially those pastors and people who are ill. May God richly bless you all and give you grace to endure and to be faithful.

L. W. GERRINGER, Pastor.

◆

Harmony, Yarborough Charge.—The Ladies' Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting the fourth Saturday afternoon with Miss Kate Medlock. An interesting program was carried out, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Our revival meeting began the fourth Sunday and closed the following Friday night. Our pastor, Rev. M. C. Henderson, delivered some very fine messages throughout the entire meeting. Nine new members were received into the church. Two more, Misses Oree and Bernice Page, will come by letter from the Duncan M. E. Church in Greenville, S. C. Attendance was fairly good at all services. We were very glad to have Mrs. Henderson and children with us also.

Our Sunday school is still progressing nicely. We are planning to have an ice cream supper in the near future. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the church.

◆

Spring Church Charge.—On the fourth Sunday in July all-day services were held at Spring church. An interesting inspiring children's service was held in the forenoon. The young ladies in charge deserve much praise for the excellent program. The committee was composed of Miss Catherine Crew, Miss Virginia Massey and Miss Inez Massey, the latter serving as organist.

An interesting and helpful sermon was delivered by Rev. N. M. Harrison in the afternoon.

Next Sunday we are to begin our revival at Lebanon. Dr. L. W. Gerringer is the engaged helper, and is expected to arrive Monday.

Funeral service for Mrs. Odell Vinson Coker, of Kenly, N. C., was held at Pleasant Hill July 19th. The deceased held her membership here with her husband until her sudden passing.

Bernard Robinson, of the M. E. church, and brother of Rupert M. Robinson of our church, died recently in Roanoke Rapids hospital. His body was interred in the family plot near the home of his brother.

In the cases cited above we believe that each was ready for the final call.

Some improvements have been made recently on the parsonage property. For some time steps have been needed at the entrance to the front yard. Mrs. Neese and Mr. John Hart each collected $5.00. The women's organization assisted in putting the project across. The only cost was the cement and the mason's charge, both of which were at a discount. Several persons gave labor gratis. Other improvements are contemplated, but sufficient funds are not yet available.

Wm. H. NEESE.

First Church, High Point.—At the 11 o'clock service on Sunday morning the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, delivered a helpful and earnest message based on the parable of the man who built his house on a rock, and the one who built on the sand. The subject was "Some Things That the Church Thinks it Cannot Do, But Must Do." Julius Caesar was the author of the phrase, "Today determines tomorrow," and it was used by Abraham Lincoln. The chief cause of all human progress is the human faculty. Jesus chose a dozen young men, detaching them from old occupations, and attaching them to new, sent them out for the purpose of healing the sick, feeding the poor, comforting the weary and broken-hearted, restoring sight to the blind, and thus laid the foundation of the Christian religion as we have it in the world today. He laid especial emphasis on human personality. Everybody in High Point is happy this morning because the labor strike is practically ended, and the solution of this difficult and unfortunate situation was brought about by the spirit of Christ working on the hearts of employers and employees. Don't tell me that the church of Christ has lost its grip. High Point's hurts are best healed by High Point's hearts, for Jesus set up a perpetual brotherhood. Co-operation is better than ruthless competition. This church dare not join the ranks of the despairing. It is not bankrupt. The church that would not ask for anything, does nothing and would soon die. You can't move anywhere without money; it takes money to satisfy your groceryman, garage man, milk man, school man. Then you can't reflect on or question the leadership of God. The church must build on a rock. Another thing it must do is to demonstrate sacrificial giving. Malachi said, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse." Christ's followers must learn to tithe and be loyal in giving. A friend of Miss Jane Addams said she had often seen her weary, but never too weary to accept a new idea. At a congregational meeting held after the conclusion of the sermon, the vote for delegate to Annual Conference next November was taken. Messrs. C. L. Gray, Sr., and F. R. Auman were the nominees, and the result will be announced at quarterly conference.

The Young People's C. E. Society held its weekly meeting Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the congregation joined in the union outdoor service on the city lot next to the First Baptist church. Those participating were Emmanuel Lutheran, Wesley Memorial, Methodist Epiiscopal, First Baptist, St. Mary's Episcopal, and First Methodist Protestant. Music was rendered by a chorus of men's voices from these five churches. Mr. L. L. Stookey and his Civic Band have rendered music heretofore, but he was sent from the city. Seating arrangements were made on the lawn, and the message was delivered by Rev. D. W. Allen, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church. This was the third union out-door service for this summer, and they have proved popular and profitable, having been attended by large audiences each Sunday evening.

The Senior C. E. Society will held its regular meeting Monday evening on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. Davis on Denny street, with Mrs. Ralph Vance leading.

The annual Sabbath school picnic and outing will be held at the City Lake Park at Old Jamestown Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 8 o'clock, and all who have no way of conveyance will be taken in cars from the church. Fishing, games, and stunts will be enjoyed, and the picnic supper will be the climax of the evening's entertainment for the children and grown-ups as well. If the weather is favorable, a large attendance is expected.

The midweek prayer and praise service on Wednesday evening will be sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary. New interest and enthusiasm have been injected into the prayer meetings recently by the various groups and organizations, and the attendance has decidedly improved despite the heat. The assembly room is always cool and delightful.

Next Sunday morning, August 8, the Lord's Supper will be observed, followed by baptism and reception of new members. On Monday evening following, quarterly conference will convene.

High Point and our denomination will be well represented at the annual convention of the Guilford County Sunday School Association, which will be held next Friday, August 5, at Sandy Ridge church, nine miles north of the city in an all-day session. Among those who will make addresses are the following: Rev. C. O. Kennerly, of Jamestown, will speak on "The Chief Objectives of the Sunday School;" Rev. R. E. Bundy, also of Jamestown, will tell "How We Do It;" Miss Daisy Magee, of Raleigh, state director of young people's work, will speak on "Meeting the Needs of Young People," and Prof. T. E. Stough will give his annual address as president; Rev. N. G. Bethea, of Gibsonville, will speak on "Religion in the Home," and Rev. E. O. Peeler has the subject, "Witnessing for Christ." Group conferences will be held at 3 o'clock. Miss Josie Wood, of Jamestown, and Prof. Stough are in charge of arrangements.

The emergency, campaign for $50,000 for High Point College, which was postponed from last week on account of the strike, will get under way next Thursday. Word comes from Thomasville that the citizens' committee has completed all arrangements to help "Save the College for service to future generations." Asheboro, with its committee under the leadership of Miss Lollie Jones, is working to complete its part of the campaign early in this week. The work has been going on quietly, and results have been gratifying.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. C. W. Vance, one of our most esteemed and loyal co-workers, in the death of her father, Mr. Walter Britton, who passed away Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at his home east of Kernersville on Highway No. 60. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at Pleasant Ridge Christian church. Mr. Britton was 70 years of age, and highly esteemed in his community. His grandsons, including Ralph, William, and Virgil Vance of High Point, will serve as pall-bearers. He is survived by his wife, five daughters, and three sons.

The camping season at Camp Uwharrie, Boy Scout camp located near Jamestown, and the 12th annual one of its history, has closed. James Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeter R. Montgomery, was on the staff of leaders.

Miss Alda Grey Beaman, of Troy, is the attractive guest of her aunt, Mrs. Richard H. Shaw, on Montlieu Avenue.

Mrs. Chas. C. Robbins has had as her guests at her lovely home on Archdale road Dr. and Mrs. Herman Richardson and little son, of Richmond, Va., who left Saturday for home. Mrs. A. F. Franklin and daughters, Misses Janie and Margaret, also of Richmond, will remain for another week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Montgomery spent the last week-end in Charlotte with Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Blair.

We are much pleased to note that little Miss Sara Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Shaw, is improving after a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Garland and other friends spent Sunday at Blowing Rock.

Miss Erma Suits, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Suits, has been suffering from a severe case of poison oak, but her numerous friends will be pleased to learn that she is somewhat improved. Another daughter, Mrs. Dale Montgomery, has been ill at their home.

We are much pleased to announce that Mrs. S. D. Shelton, who had the misfortune to fall at the church last Tuesday afternoon and fracture her arm, is doing nicely.

Mount Hermon Charge.—A very successful Daily Vacation Bible School has just been completed at Mount Hermon, Cedar Cliff furnishing some students. Our other Bible school will be held for Friendship and Belmont in the near future.

Our revival meeting at Cedar Cliff was a decided success. Bro. C. H. Hill was our pulpit help, and with his straight gospel sermons, won the highest esteem of the entire community. The church was greatly revived and worked harmoniously through the revival. There were 15 conversions; all are or were members of our church but one. There were 11 accessions as a result of the meeting, and some more will come in later. The community was greatly pleased with the results of the meeting.

At Mount Hermon Bro. C. G. Isley from Lexington was our pulpit help. He proved himself well equipped for the task. Much interest was shown throughout the ten-day meeting. It was estimated that at each night service there was an average of 400 in the audience. Bro. Isley did some wonderful preaching. The church took on much strength and interest. There were 50 conversions and 33 united with the church. It is expected that others will come in later.

Thus we have closed what we think were two unusually successful revivals. There are still two others to be held yet. At Friendship we start the first Sunday in August, with Bro. J. Clyde Auman as pulpit help, and at Belmont the fourth Sunday in August with Dr. Dixon as pulpit help. Brethren, continue to pray that God may wonderfully revive each church in the entire conference and that many souls may be born into the Kingdom as a result of the revivals. This is the time of the harvest for the church. May nothing interfere that would keep the spiritual life at a low ebb. L. E. MABRY.

* * *

Asheville.—The Asheville M. P. Church has taken a happy step forward in securing a full time pastor in the person of Rev. J. Elwood Carroll. He came to the church six weeks ago and in that time has not only won the friendship of the congregation, but their enthusiasm as well. Brother Carroll has returned a like enthusiasm in his work of reorganizing and strengthening the departments of the Sunday school and church, and in preaching powerful and spiritual sermons. His series of Sunday evening sermons on "The Meaning of the Depression" has created city-wide interest and the attendance at all services has been most gratifying. Already 13 new members have been added to our lists and a church school of splendid interest and performance is in its second week's work. The enrollment is around 100. Four departments are being superintended and taught by Mrs. E. A. Bolick, Miss Josie McNeill, Mrs. Charles J. Baker, Miss Shoenfelt, of Allentown, Pa., Miss Louise Hanner, Miss Estelle Swain, Mrs. D. L. West, Miss Margaret Fawcett, Miss Claire Douglas, of High Point, and Rev. J. Elwood Carroll, who is principal of the school. These teachers show unusual ability and originality in directing the children. Two departments are meeting at the parsonage, the lower floor of which has been converted into a parish house. This later will be used by the Primary Department of the Sunday school.

Mrs. J. S. Williams entertained the Woman's Auxiliary recently in the form of a birthday party for the benefit of the Children's Home at High Point. Mrs. C. C. McNeill and Miss Eula Taylor read articles concerning the Home and Rev. Mr. Carroll made a fine talk in its behalf. The Auxiliary is taking an active part in equipping and renovating the parsonage for use as living quarters by the pastor and for general church use. Mrs. J. S. Williams is chairman of the committee on equipment. Mr. J. W. Boling has rendered valuable service in making repairs on the building.

The Christian Endeavor Society has witnessed a growth in numbers and interest. The goal of $150 on the church budget is being realized; $120 of this amount is in the treasury. A series of benefit parties for the society has been held at the various homes of the members, including Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fratt, Miss Amy Mitchell, Misses Arlene and Louise Hanner, Mrs. J. H. Bailey, Miss Edna Taylor, Miss Nancy Clouse, Mrs. E. A. Bolick, Miss Elsie Drake and the Misses McIntire. The City C. E. Union will meet in our church Sunday evening, August 7. Six churches of the city are represented in this union.

The Sunday school has evidenced good interest during the summer months. The organization of a Young Men's Bible Class to be taught by Rev. Mr. Carroll is considered one of the most progressive steps yet taken. This organization will be perfected next Sunday. An Intermediate Department has been organized under the leadership of Mrs. J. Frank Patton. The lack of this has greatly handicapped the work of the Sunday school.

Mrs. M. F. Taylor, who suffered a fractured hip several weeks ago, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hanner are the parents of a fine boy born July 25 at the Biltmore Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McIntire and small daughter, Jane, are spending some time at Myrtle Beach, S. C.

Miss Nancy Clouse is visiting in the home of Mrs. G. P. Younginer in Charlotte.

Mr. Gregg Clouse, who was injured in an automobile accident recently, has returned to his home from Aston Park Hospital.

Members of the church were happy to find that their pastor had so quickly won recognition in the newspaper circles of the city and that the Sunday Citizen-Times contained his picture and a splendidly written article under "Who's Who in Asheville." The press has been unusually solicitous in securing our church news for the daily papers.

Shakespeare has called "ingratitude" the chief sin of mankind and we should be ungrateful indeed if we did not give thanks to God for the splendid pastors who have served our church and who have given of their best as J. Elwood Carroll is giving now.

E. C. FAWCETT, S. S. Supt.

* * *

Kernersville Charge.—The work of our charge is moving along very well. Both the Sunday schools and the Christian Endeavors are doing good work. If the older people were as enthusiastic about their work of the church as the young people are our churches would move forward.

Rev. T. Glenn Madison, of First church, Thomasville, is to be our pulpit help in our revival meeting at Pine Grove. It is to start Sunday, August 7th. Come, be with us in this series of meetings. We are looking forward to a real revival, and are asking an interest in the prayers of the Herald readers that we might have this revival.

Rev. H. W. Bell, of West End, Thomasville, was our help in the meeting held at Sandy Ridge church. We had a splendid meeting here and we are very grateful to Brother Bell for it. Brother Bell has done some great work in this community and is loved by all the people.

Kenersville and Ai will not hold their meetings until later in the year.

PASTOR.

* * *

Pleasant Grove.—Our revival meeting closed last Wednesday night a week ago. Our pulpit help was Dr. J. D. Williams, of Welch Memorial, High Point. He brought us some wonderful and inspiring messages. We feel that our church has been greatly uplifted by his wonderful messages.

On the fourth Sunday our pastor, Rev. D. F. Williams, opened the doors of the church with four new members joining. They are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moore, Mrs. Walker Kennedy and Lucille Hilton. We give them a hearty welcome into our church.

The home of our Sunday school superintendent was saddened July 28 when God saw fit to take away their only little girl, Mary Marie, 9 years of age. Our loss is heaven's gain. This world will be more lonely without her, but heaven will be brighter. The funeral was conducted on Saturday evening at this church by the pastor, Rev. D. R. Williams, assisted by Rev. Mr. Safrit, of Zion Reformed. Pallbearers were little boys of the Sunday school. Flowers were carried by her Sunday school teacher, Mrs. Ralph Kennedy, and her roome-mates at school. The large crowd which gathered at the church to pay their last tribute of respect showed the high esteem in which she was held in the community. May the Lord bless and comfort the bereaved family.

The third quarterly conference will be held Wednesday night, August 3. It is hoped there will be a large attendance with good reports. REPORTER.

* * *

Charlotte.—The past week was a busy one for a few of our classes. The young men of Mr. Penny's class and the young ladies of Mrs. McCall's class gave a box supper at the home of Mrs. McCall; the evening was pleasantly spent in games and a nice amount was realized from the sale of the boxes after which a picnic supper was enjoyed.

The C. E. Society is having a swimming party and picnic supper Thursday evening. The side winning in the contest, Miss Sarah Stegall, captain, is being entertained by the losing team, Louis Stegall, captain. Several new members were enrolled during the contest.

Quarterly conference was held last week. Mr. G. W. Stegall was elected delegate to the Annual Conference. The session was interesting and harmonious.

The Sunday evening services sponsored by the various churches around the Park, held in Independence Park, are well attended and enjoyed these hot evenings. Dr. R. M. Andrews, our pastor preached last Sunday evening. His sermon was inspirational and made you feel "it was great to be there."

Mrs. B. W. Little is spending this weekend with relatives and friends in Asheboro.

The Auxiliary is to meet next week with Mrs. G. W. Stegall at 3:30 on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Nancy Clouse, of Asheville, has worshipped with us the past two Sundays. She is visiting Misses Barbara and Janet Younginer.

Our Sunday school attendance was quite encouraging Sunday. REPORTER.

* * *

Lebanon, High Point.—Each fifth Sunday we choose some visitor to speak to us. Last Sunday we were especially fortunate in having Dr. P. E. Lindley, dean of High Point College. He brought us a wonderful message based on the text, Matthew 5:6.

At the evening service our Christian Endeavor presented a musical program, "The Life and Hymns of Fanny J. Crosby." The program follows: Scripture and prayer, Herman Yokley; story of "Rescue the Perishing" told by Hallie Welch and sung by congregation; "Life of Fanny J. Crosby," Ida Guyer; story of "Tell Me the Story" told by Anna Briggs and sung by Eleanor Welch and Irene Harris; story of "Near the Cross" told by Lake Montgomery and sung by choir; story of "Saved by Grace" told by Esther Murphy and played as a violin and flute duet by Jewell and Iris Welch; story of "Safe in the

* * *

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Kirkman

Brother Joseph E. Kirkman, a member of Mt. Pleasant church, Mt. Pleasant charge, passed to his reward while the pastor was absent, attending the General Conference.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. H. L. Isley, pastor of Tabernacle church, where the deceased was buried.

But I wish to pay tribute to the friendly, hospitable, honest, Christian spirit of this man, who has been in declining health for some years and has now gone from us.

He lived in Greensboro during my pastorate there, 1897-1902. I was thrown with him often at church and in his home and elsewhere. During a later pastorate on Tabernacle charge, I was thrown with him less often but from time to time. When I went to Mt. Pleasant last November, he was living in that community and attending church there.

He was uniformly friendly, always smiling, wore the proverbial smile that will not come off. He loved the church, had the church-going habit, loved righteousness. May the dear Lord comfort the loved ones, especially the wife and Earle.

T. M. JOHNSON.

Bowman

Junius Bowman, a member of Mt. Pleasant church, Mt. Pleasant charge, following a prolonged illness, that baffled the skill of physicians in the community and in Greensboro and Burlington, passed from this life June 26th.

It was not my privilege to have acquaintance with this young man of 26 years, except as a sick man. It was another instance of much suffering without complaining, so far as it was my privilege to observe.

He left satisfying evidence of his peace with his God and willingness to go into His presence.

My prayers are for the comforting presence of the Holy Spirit with his grief stricken mother and grandfather, with whom he lived.

T. M. JOHNSON.

Hughes

Marshal J. Hughes, born January 16, 1842, died July 12, 1932.

He had been a member of the church for the past 41 years, attending services whenever he could.

His wife preceded him to the grave six years ago.

In the presence of a large number of friends and relatives, his funeral was conducted Wednesday afternoon. Rev. R. C. Stubbins of Asheboro had charge of the service. Rev. T. A. Williams was also present but owing to the serious condition of his throat was unable to make remarks.

Mr. Hughes is survived by three sons, L. R. Hughes, Randleman, N. C.; R. A. Hughes, Erwin, N. C.; S. M. Hughes, Norfolk, Va.; and one daughter, Miss Nora B. Hughes, of Randleman.

Although Mr. Hughes had been in declining health for the past two years, his death came as a shock to many of his friends.

In his passing Randleman has lost one of her oldest and most prominent citizens.

The sympathy of their many friends goes out to the bereaved relatives.

REPORTER.

Robbins

Mary Marie Robbins died July 28, 1932, being nine years and twelve days old, survived by father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Robbins, and three brothers.

Marie, a member of our Sunday school, was loved by all her little friends, she will be greatly missed; she was a sweet and obedient child at home, school, or play. She loved to be busy helping to do something. She loved to help her father in preparing his songs and work to carry on our Sunday school.

"Ah, blessed sleep that will not break for tears, nor prayers, nor love's sweet sake:
Oh, perfect rest that knows no pain, no throb, no thrill of heart or brain,
Oh, life sublime beyond all speech that only the pure through dying reach:
God understands and his ways are right.
Bid his beloved a long goodnight.
Weep for the day that will come no more
For the sunbeams flown from heart and door,
For a missing step of a nameless grace:
For a tender voice and a loving face
But not for the soul whose goal is won:
Whose perfect joy has just begun not for the spirit, robed in white and crowned, where the angels are tonight."

MRS. CLAY BECK.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the many deeds of loving kindness and beautiful floral gifts shown us during the illness and death of our little girl, Mary Marie.

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE ROBBINS AND FAMILY.

* * *

—Miss Velna McCulloch's Sunday school class are honoring their teacher this evening with a birthday party. Mrs. J. G. Sullivan is class poet for the occasion. This class of ladies is one of extraordinary interest.

If the red star appears to you this week it means that your subscription expires in this month.

—Prof. P. E. Lindley will preach in Calvary church next Sunday morning.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Hickory Grove, Guilford	$ 1.44
Union Ridge S. S., Forsyth	5.00
Caroleen Sunday school	1.88
Chestnut Ridge, Orange	2.20
Bellemont Sunday school	3.37
Charlotte S. S., Richland, clothing child	5.14
H. A. Garrett, treasurer, interest on Manson fund	80.55
Yarborough's Chapel S. S.	1.92
Mrs. M. E. Moore, Siler City, personal	5.00
Friendship S. S., Fallston	6.50
Liberty Hill S. S., Anderson	5.00
Baraca Class, First Church, Burlington, caring for child two months	20.00
Bess Chapel S. S.	2.85
New Hope, Why Not	3.40
Mt. Pleasant S. S., N. Davidson	1.60
Gillbur, Vance	2.00
Creswell Sunday school	5.00
Randolph Circuit Rally, Gray's Chapel program by the children	11.56

Note: In the report last week we meant to say: "Concord S. S. sends $20.00 each month."

Note in this report, Union Ridge, Forsyth, always sends $5.00 per month. Charlotte on Richland obligated some months ago to send $5.00 per month, and they always send over five. The Baraca Class, First Church, Burlington, sends $10.00 per month. They sent for two months this time. Our faithful little band at Creswell also sends $5.00 per month. And dear Mrs. Moore, of Siler City, Hope church, sends a personal gift of $5.00 nearly every quarter.

We surely appreciate our friends who are standing so nobly by us in these times.

Circuit Rally

Rev. Edward Suits, pastor of Randolph Circuit, asked us to take our children to Gray's Chapel for a Circuit Rally last Saturday. We went and had a good time and a good dinner, and received a good offering as above. We also secured the promise of good women to fill five dozen jars with fruits and vegetables. And the farmers will donate some produce. In this way we had the privilege of presenting a group of our children to representatives of the entire circuit.

Engagements to Present Program

We are anxious to visit as many churches as possible before school starts. At present we have an engagement to visit Mt. Pleasant Circuit on the first Sunday in August and Saxapahaw the third Sunday in August. Where may we go after that?

A Good Mule

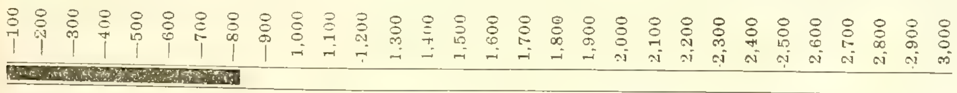
We need one good mule. We have three fairly good mules. We need to do a lot of plowing this fall, and we can at present run only one two-horse plow. One more good mule would enable us to run two plows. Then, too, our work here is such that nearly all the time we need four mules. Will somebody give the Home a mule weighing around 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, and which is not over 12 years old? One that is too old wouldn't stand the work here. May we hear from you?

The Coupons

The Octagon coupons are of more help to us than you know. The contest as proposed

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	14¾
Albemarle	18	7
Anderson	28	3¼
Asheboro	36	14½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	16½
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	9½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	11¼
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	27
Greensboro, Calvary	25	12½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	½
Guilford	43	13½
Halifax	52	13½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¼
High Point, First	72	46
High Point, Lebanon	31	22
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moriah	31	16¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	9¾
Mebane	28	7
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11½
Mocksville	50	6¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	23
North Davidson	53	12½
Orange	70	20
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	...
Randleman	45	10⅝
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	9½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	16
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	22
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	8
Tabernacle	41	21½
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	13½
Weaverville	20	2
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	30
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	20⅜

◆

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

(Continued from Page Nine)

stant prayer that this committee may be divinely guided to work out plans whereby our program may go forward. In last week's Herald, Mrs. Geo. R. Brown made a heartfelt urgent plea that now is the time to go the second mile and help those whom we have pledged to support, by doing without something ourselves! This is our duty and privilege: let's try to put ourselves in their places; imagine if you can how you would feel just now in far-off India, or here trying to take care of any one of the other phases of the Women's Work.

In our recent Sabbath school lessons, all of us no doubt, have found much of comfort for our own selves. During these trying times there are difficulties to be met and obstacles to be overcome, but we can take courage and know that when we come to the Red Sea in our life that there is a Great Leader who is our guide and we will come out of the wilderness, stronger by the experience. He it is, who will lead us through. "By faith they passed through the Red Sea." So let us take courage and keep the faith by pressing on in works and prayer and sacrificial giving, too. The children of Israel were told, "Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord." They were to stand firm, keep up courage, and go forward. How like them are we, to murmur and complain and blame the other fellow! May we all pull together, give more than we think we can, and pray—pray as never before. There is thought for us in this poem:

"Have you come to the Red Sea place in your life,
Where in spite of all you can do,
There's no way out, there's no way back—
There's no other way than through?

"Then wait on the Lord with a trust serene
Till the night of your fear is gone;
He will send the wind, He will heap the flood
And will say to your soul, 'Go on!'

"In the morning watch, 'neath the uplifted cloud,
You will see but the Lord alone,
Where he leads you on from the place by the sea,
To another you have not known:

"And your fears will pass as your foes have passed,
No more afraid nor scared—
You will sing His praise in a larger place,
A place His hand has prepared."

MRS. J. M. STONE.

◆

IS YOUR NAME HERE?

Due to want of space the list of the Executive Committee is given here in abbreviated form, only the names appearing:

Mrs W. C. Hammer, Mrs. R. M. Andrews, Mrs. S. S. Coe, Mrs. J. M. Millikan, Mrs. Geo. R. Brown, Mrs. S. W. Taylor, Miss Mary Young, Miss Esther Ross, Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, Miss Mary C. McCulloch, Mrs. H. F. Surratt, Mrs. H. G. Paschall, Mrs. J. M. Stone, Mrs. J. W. Boyles, Mrs. H. W. Maier, Mrs. D. S. Coletrane, Mrs. F. W. Paschall, Mrs. J. E. Pritchard, Dr. Joy Harris Glascock, Mrs. F. R. Harris, Mrs. C. L. Whitaker, Mrs. J. S. Williams, Mrs. C. W. Bates, Mrs. N. M. Harrison; all of the District Chairmen of Women's Work.

◆

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

by Dr. Bates is over and we will make report on it soon. But keep gathering the coupons. Thank you.

Also keep putting up fruit and vegetables for us. Thank you and God bless you.

The Months to Conference

Three good monthly offerings from each Sunday school in the Conference, with the Auxiliaries helping, will bring us up to Conference with a fairly good report.

Yours in His service,

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

THE TROLLINGER FAMILY REUNION

The Trollinger reunion will meet Wednesday, August 10th, 10:30 a. m. at the Haw River Methodist Protestant church, Haw River, N. C.

Dr. W. T. Whitsett is the historian.

Dinner will be served picnic style. Come, bring your baskets well filled.

The pastor and all the former pastors of the above-named church are invited.

JAMES H. TROLLINGER, President.

Methodist Protestant Herald

J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist
Protestant Church as an organ of the
North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Thirteen)

Arms of Jesus" told by Herman Yokley and sung by C. A. King; story of "Pass Me Not" told by Lois Hedgecock and sung by congregation; story of "He Hideth My Soul" told by Juanita Hayworth and sung by a male quartet; story of "To the Work" told by Ida Guyer and sung by congregation.

Our pastor, Rev. J. C. Madison, spent the week-end at his home in Jennings with his mother, who is very ill. We wish for Mrs. Madison a rapid recovery.

Monday evening our Senior Christian Endeavorers had a very interesting prayer meeting. The program was a trip around the world. After devotionals at the church, the Endeavorers journeyed to three homes representing foreign countries. At each home the program and decorations made one feel more intimately acquainted with the country represented. The countries visited were China, Japan, and India. After the visits the party returned to America with a social at the home of Miss Lake Montgomery. A good time was had by all.

Tuesday evening the Intermediate C. E. Society held its monthly business meeting at the home of Miss Lois Yokley.

Monday morning the Junior society had a sun-rise hike, followed by breakfast cooked over a camp-fire.

The Missionary Circles will meet this week as follows: Wednesday afternoon, Circle No. 1 with Mrs. A. J. Payne; Circle No. 2 with Mrs. J. W. Thacker; Friday evening, Circle No. 3 with Miss Juanita Hayworth.

Miss Lula Thacker, one of our most active church members, is visiting her old home church is Caswell county.

* * *

Calvary, Greensboro.—After an enjoyable vacation I will have to get back to my reporter's job. So many thing happened during my absence I hope I won't leave out anything of importance.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates have been enjoying a restful vacation at their summer home at Weaverville, N. C., near Asheville.

Dr. Paul Kennett preached at the morning service Sunday, July 24. Dr. P. E. Lindley will preach this Sunday morning. There will be no evening service.

Mr. Bates performed two marrieg ceremonies in July. Miss Goldie Bingham and Ether R. Ward were married at a sun-rise service Sunday morning, July 10th. Mrs. Van Tucker and Mr. Woodburn, of Dayton, Ohio, were married Saturday night, July 2nd, at the parsonage.

Our Senior Christian Endeavor Society enjoyed an outing with the city Union Thursday evening, July 8th, at Cone Lake. A picnic supper was served at the lake.

The Friendly class held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robah Fields on the Tabernacle Road. A picnic supper was served on the lawn, after which the class held a business meeting. A social hour was spent after the business session.

Circles Nos. 1 and 2 met Monday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Coble, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was a guest of Circle No. 1. Circle No. 3, the Business Girls' Circle, met Monday evening.

Several ice cream suppers have been held on the church lawn. Miss Velna McCulloch's class and the Senior Christian Endeavor Society held the most recent ones.

Circle No. 1 plans to have an ice cream supper in the near future. Mr. Bates said at the meeting that he would return to Weaverville Tuesday, but would be in Grensboro Friday week. Since he is our star customer we voted to await his return. The date will be announced later. We are going to have home-made ice cream and cake. Please save your appetites till then.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Modern, Fire-Proof,
Well-Equipped Buildings

$380.00, Total cost of dormitory student for Matriculation Fee, Tuition, Room and Board.
$150.00, Total cost for Day Student

Methodist Protestant Owned and Operated

Standard "A" Grade

Courses leading to A.B. and B.S. degree in English, History, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Language, Science and Chemical Engineering, Education, Home Economics, Business Administration, Religious Education and Music

The Place for Methodist Protestant Boys and Girls

For further information address

HIGH POINT COLLEGE - - - HIGH POINT, N. C.

Methodist Protest[illegible]nt Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN [illegible]IST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., AUGUST 18, 1932 NUMBER 40

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

My Lord and I

My Lord and I did not agree!
Of course the fault was all in me:
He could not yield and I would not,
But stubborn stood in self-same spot.

My gracious Lord did reason know,
Did condescend whole truth to show,
But I was proud and stupid, too,
Would not agree the right to do.

And thus for years I held aloof:
Of zeal for God I gave no proof.
My way I loved and not God's own
And sadly grieved Him on His throne.

My loving Lord still loved me so
He could not bear to let me go;
His patient love has won my heart,
Great Friend of Man! How good Thou art!

Henceforth Thy will be also mine!
I'll turn from ways not clearly Thine:
Thy aim and mine in concord be,
My highest joy to serve for Thee!

The School of Suffering

"Man is born to trouble as the sparks fly upward." The sparks fly upward in accordance with a universal law of nature. By a course of nature man comes into a series of troubles, sufferings. Many of our troubles seem to be the result of avoidable accidents. Many of them cannot be foreseen or prevented. Are they the product of a reckless fate? No, they are designed and brought on by an all-wise and good Providence. You think that if you were to make a world you would have no pain or sorrow in it. But you are not all-wise. When you become wise enough to make a world you may be wise enough to see that the best worlds cannot be made without the factors of pain and sorrow. It was formerly believed that all human suffering was due to the sin of our first parents in Eden. But the New Testament finds in our suffering a nobler purpose. Read the twelfth chapter of Hebrews if you would understand our sufferings thoroughly. God is trying to make perfect sons of us. Chastisement is one of His means. Of course He understands our nature and knows the efficacy of affliction. He is making a better world than He could make without pain or sorrow. Chastening is not joyous but grievous for the present, but if it afterward yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness we will thank God for our course in His school of suffering.

Weakness of Hoover's Plan

We mean President Hoover's plan for the liquor traffic. He proposes to give to any of the 48 states that desire it the privilege of having the liquor traffic within their own borders provided they do not have saloons. A wet state will say, If we have the right to determine that we shall have the liquor traffic, we also have the right to determine how we shall have it. If we prefer it in the form of saloons we have the right to have saloons. If the people of other states do not like saloons, that is no reason we should not have saloons. The greater right includes the less. The day we acquired the right to determine whether we shall sell liquor, we acquired the right to adopt any convenient plan for selling it. President Hoover is straining out a gnat and swallowing a camel.

When liquor is admitted to sale in a state the great harm is done. No restraining conditions imposed can materially lessen that harm. We may separate the place of consumption from the place of sale: that will not necessarily reduce the consumption or do away with immoral concomitants. Social clubs and political clubs will do all the evil work of saloons.

The Eighteenth Amendment now holds a protecting shield over every one of our 48 states. Adopt Hoover's plan and you remove every one of these shields and leave every state at the mercy of the people within its borders, no matter how depraved and debauched the majority may be. The strong would no longer be permitted to bear the burdens of the weak. Mr. Hoover's plan does violence to the principles of true sociology.

The drink evil is not merely local but national in extent. For its cure it needs a nation-wide remedy, such as the Eighteenth Amendment.

We would have to regard Mr. Hoover's plan in operation as an ignoble experiment.

Gives the Wets a Chance

Mr. Hoover's plan of state option would give the wet cause a great advantage. As it now is a state cannot become legally wet without the consent of a majority of the states; but under the Hoover plan a state would require only a majority of the votes of its own citizens in order to become legally wet. This gives the wets the chance they want to take the states one at a time or a few at a time and by the use of large money convert them to the liquor column. It is folly to talk about saving the best parts of prohibition by a plan that would eventually sacrifice all of it.

—Rev. W. F. Ashburn is a welcome visitor to the sick in homes and hospitals.

—Rev. E. G. Lowdermilk has sufficiently recovered to walk on crutches.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ADVOCATES OF PROHIBITION

By LUTHER K. LONG

For several months we prohibitionists have been on the anxious seat. Our way seems clearer now.

The "wets"—just preceding and during the last session of Congress—were successful in confusing many "drys," and in placing the entire prohibition movement on the defensive.

So great was the confusion on the part of many people at the time of the Republican convention in Chicago—and so uninformed as to conditions to be faced—that a considerable section could see in the prohibition plank of the platform adopted nothing more than an attempt to straddle the question, and a bid, likely to be unsuccessful, for votes from both "wets" and "drys."

In the Democratic convention that soon followed caution was thrown to the winds. Absolute repeal, with the promise of constitutional beer at once, was in the saddle. The minority report and prohibition speakers received no consideration. Amid great enthusiasm the "repeal" plank was nailed down tight as the most popular part of the Democratic platform.

To make assurance doubly sure, Governor Roosevelt, following his spectacular flight from New York, said to the convention: "The Democratic platform is for repeal, and I am for repeal. I accept the Democratic platform 100 per cent. . . . The Eighteenth Amendment is doomed!"

If you saw in the Heart Metrotone News at the movies, as I did, the pictured attitude of the Governor, and heard the sound of his voice as he uttered these words, I think you must have been impressed, as I was, with his likeness to a demagogue holding out his hands for the votes of the thirsty rabble. His undignified readiness to throw over-board all that prohibitionists had labored for years to reach brought resounding and prolonged cheers from the crowd, but could find no approval on the part of lovers of temperance—even though they are dissatisfied with present conditions.

During the days since the adjournment of the two nominating conventions there has been time for considering what was done in Chicago. The Democratic plank on prohibition is definite enough, but their members of Congress did not so ardently press for constitutional beer—no doubt having an eye on the Supreme Court and what that department of the Government would have to say as to the constitutionality of any beer that would satisfy the Chicago convention. Many of the hasty and ill-advised plans of Governor Roosevelt for providing employment, ending the depression, and securing the return of prosperity have been punctured. Had he a new opportunity today he would no doubt make quite a different response to the nomination as his party's candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

Meanwhile, President Hoover has given his thought and effort, in the main, to the important matters connected with his high office. Members of boards and commissions have had to be secured for carrying out important constructive legislation passed by Congress—legislation in which many Democrats finally joined Republicans. It requires considerable time and effort to get these various wheels to turning and the various organizations to functioning. But already a better spirit is beginning to prevail throughout the country. Confidence is returning. Money is coming out of hiding. Enterprises, new and old, are slowly showing signs of renewed activity. "Happy days"—at least in prospect—"are here again"!

During the weeks since the conventions many of us have been studying the prohibition planks. As to the Democratic plank, it is appallingly bad. Prohibitionists will have none of it. The Republican plank has its good points—and its limitations. Were all Republicans agreed on all matters pertaining to prohibition they could have made a narrow plank like this: "We stand for prohibition as it is." But there was not universal agreement. I believe that the plank as adopted in all groups and all sections of the country—especially for prohibitionists—as fair as could be expected. Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is opposed. Enforcement of the law is supported. In case there is a demand for it an amendment of the Eighteenth Amendment may be proposed and voted upon granting to states so desiring liquor without saloons and under strict supervision of the Federal Government. By this plan large gains secured through the enactment of the national prohibition amendment will be conserved. The place and responsibility of the Federal Government in the administration of prohibition and in the protection of "dry" States from the encroachments of "wet" States will be emphasized. Opportunities for conducting educational campaigns will be more open, and there will be placed on the shoulders and consciences of States and local communities a larger share of responsibility for law observance.

I had written thus far while the Republican clans were assembling here in Washington for the notification meeting and to hear President Hoover "say things" as he formally enters the campaign for re-election. His address impresses me as the ablest and most searching of all his utterances. It merits careful study by every voter. Members of the group—Democrats and Republicans—that sat with me in front of the radio were interested in the entire speech, but all listened with special eagerness for his pronouncement on prohibition. We expected that he would stand for legislative changes—at least for the opportunity of the people to make changes if they so desire.

In his inaugural address in 1929 Mr. Hoover said: "I do not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder. Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and nomic experiment, nkoble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively."

Mr. Hoover now says: "I have always sympathized with the high purpose of the Eighteenth Amendment and I have used every power at my command to make it effective over the entire country. I have hoped it was the final solution of the evils of the liquor traffic against which we have striven for generations.

"Our opponents pledge the members of their party to destroy every vestige of constitutional and effective Federal control of the traffic. That means over large areas the return of the saloon system . . . I cannot consent to the return of that system . . . Our objective must be a sane solution, not a blind leap back to old evils . . .

"The first duty of the President of the United States is to enforce the laws as they exist. That I shall continue to do the best of my ability . . . .

"It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary by which we resummon a proper share of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our government demands shall rest upon the States and local authorities. That change must avoid the return of the saloon.

"It is my conviction that the nature of this change, and one upon which all reasonable people can find common ground, is that each State shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine, but subject to absolute guarantees in the Constitution of the United States to protect each State from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United States shall there be a return of the saloon system with its inevitable political and social corruption and its organized interference with other States."

This plan does not suit all of us. I wish he had specifically come out against profit—both public and private—from liquor. As long as there is a chance for profit the bootlegger will remain with us.

But this is much the best plan now within our reach, and through it we have a fighting chance to reach something better. It retains much of the gains we have already reached, and should aid in getting rid of some evils.

The last sentence of President Hoover on the solution of the liquor control problem is a fine expression of faith in which we should all join: "American statesmanship is capable of working out a solution and making it effective." I believe this is in harmony with inaugural statement in 1929: "I do not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder. Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively." The success of the future constructive working out depends on whom we elect to Congress, and on how well we conduct educational and law-observance campaigns in our communities.

THE TROUBLER OF ISRAEL

Rev. W. A. Ledford

Israel was the new name, which Jacob received after his mysterious struggle at the Jabbok. Later the name came to mean all Jacob's descendants. After a time the Israelites occupying southern Palestine were known as Judah, and those in the northern part as Israel. Ahab, who is portrayed as a rather scheming, compromising politician was king of Israel for twenty years. Apparently he would do anything that promised a remote possibility of making his nation stronger. Through his marriage with Jezebel, daughter of Arthbaal, King of Tyre, he formed an alliance with that powerful maritime province. The ties between Judah and Israel were made stronger for a century because Ahab's son married the daughter of the King of Judah.

Doubtless, these alliances were viewed as masterful political strokes. The alliance with Tyre eventually proved the undoing of Ahab, his household, and almost all of Israel. In her home Jezebel had been educated a zealous Baal-worshipper. As queen of Ahab, she claimed the right of continuing in her ancestral religion, and of trying to impose the same upon Israel. She was assisted in her wishes by King Ahab, who erected an altar to Baal, and imported a large retinue of Baal priests. This movement was vigorously and unflinchingly resisted by the prophets of Jehovah, which cost many of them their lives.

Unexpectedly Elijah appeared to Ahab, predicted a long drought, in punishment for Israel's apostasy, and suddenly disappeared. As the plight of Israel grew worse, the king sought for Elijah in every nation and kingdom of the world. In due time God commanded Elijah to return and again face Ahab. Obadiah, Ahab's steward arranged a meeting between the two. Likely the weak, dissolute king came to the place to meet Elijah with vengeance reeking in his mind, and heart and soul; and confidently expected to find Elijah deeply penitent, and suing for pardon on any terms. Ahab, with all the audacity he could command, addressed Elijah as ollows, "Art thou he, thou troubler of Israel?"

Such a charge would have sent a less courageous man reeling and cowering before the king; but not the bold Tishbite prophet, who 'was made of much sterner stuff.' Confident of his grounds, Elijah dared to hurl the following countercharge into the face of the king, "I have not troubled Israel, but thou and thy father's house; in that ye have forsaken the commandments of Jehovah, and followed after Baalam." The boldness of Elijah wrested the initiative from the weak, dissolute king. Elijah ordered the king to summon all Israel together with the prophets of Baal and the prophets of Asherah, who ate at Jezebel's table, to a great contest to be held on Mount Carmel. The challenge was promptly accepted by the prophets of Baal, and the remainder of the story is too well known to enlarge upon it here.

Perhaps, this story has been thought of as really belonging to the long, long ago. Probably upon closer examination, deeper reflection, this story will become as modern, as the prophecy of Joel did to Peter on the day of Pentecost. The combat is age long between the seed of the woman, and the seed of the serpent. The real combatants are right and wrong; purity and corruption: faithfulness and treachery; yea, God and the enemy of all righteousness. There are neither truces, nor neutrals in this incessant combat. Jesus said, "He that is not with me is against me." The battle royal is on today wherever man is found. The troubler of the nations is the imported worker of iniquity, rather than the church of God, which is 'the salt of the earth'; 'the light of the world', and 'the good seed of the kingdom.'

CAN YOU HELP?

A famous preacher once said that, when God's love reigned in a home, angels might be asked to stay over night there, and that they would not feel one bit strange. Can you do anything to make your home such a place?—Joy Bells.

—Rev. H. F. Surratt was taken to a hospital in Rocky Mount for an appendicitis operation on Monday. Remember him in prayer.

"PRAYER CHANGES THINGS"

We say it and we sing it. Do we believe it? Have we joined the ranks of the modern unbelievers who tell us we live in a world governed by inexorable law, in which what they please to call Nature is unyielding and unchangeable, and that when we pray we simply beat our fists against a wall? Or do we believe with the poet.

''More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of?'' If I read my Bible aright, prayer was a mighty force in the lives of men and women who walk through its pages. Men prayed and God answered. I am certain that we have the same God that they had. I do not believe that men and women are essentially different now from what they were then. The same God and the same folks ought to produce the same result. ''Elijah was a man of like passions with ourselves'' or, if you like it better: ''Elijah was a man just like we are.'' ''And he prayed and it rained not . . . and he prayed again and it rained.'' According to our modern skeptics, prayer didn't have anything to do with it. It was a matter of atmospheric conditions. When they were wrong it didn't rain; when they were right, it did. But the Bible certainly doesn't give us that impression. ''He prayed that it might not rain and it rained not on the earth for the space of three years and six months. And he prayed again and it rained.''

James, who recalls the incident in the life of the prophet, uses it to enforce his belief in the power of prayer. ''The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.'' He tells us that that kind of praying will help to heal the sick, that it will lead to the forgiveness of sin.

We have great need to reassert in these days our beliefs in the power of prayer. What might it mean if the nation got down on its knees, confessed its sins individually and collectively, had a real spirit of penitence! We have tried to find our way out through legislation, we have sought to solve our problems through human wisdom. And neither has availed. We have forgotten the exhortation of the apostle which speaketh on this wise: ''If any of you lack wisdom let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.'' If our legislators held a prayer meeting each day before they set about passing laws, something would happen.

Well, it's a big subject: What shall we pray for, and how? Where shall we pray, and when? I do not have space to discuss it in detail. But there are some things about it that can be said very briefly:

Prayer ought to have in it the elements of certainty and sincerity. ''If any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God . . . but let him ask in faith, nothing wavering.'' If the promises of God are Yea and Amen in Christ Jesus, he cannot fail to give us an answer. If we doubt his power or his willingness, we probably will not get an answer.

And there ought to be in prayer something of persistence and supplication. We give up too soon. There isn't anything of agony in it. ''Elijah prayed, and the heavens gave rain.'' Very simply stated. But turn to I Kings 18: 42-45 and you will see something of effort and agony written between the lines. Pentecost came because ''they all continued in prayer and supplication.'' With that same sort of praying we can bring another Pentecost upon the church and rebaptize it with power.

And there ought to be something of submission in it. We have not really prayed unless somewhere in it we can say, ''Nevertheless, not my will but thine be done.'' God always answers prayer, but not always in the way we want it answered. We need that spirit of submission that will accept God's ''No'' with as good grace as His ''Yes.'' Christ's prayer that the cup might pass from him was as surely answered as if it had been taken away. He was given strength to drink it. Paul's prayer that the thorn might be removed was as certainly answered as if it had been taken out. He was given strength to bear it.

My brother, my sister, what is your sin, your sorrow? What is your task, your trial? ''Take it to the Lord in prayer.'' ''He shall call upon me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him.''

''Lord, what a change within us one short hour
Spent in thy presence will prevail to make!
What heavy burdens from our bosoms take,
What parched ground refresh us with a shower!
We kneel, and all around us seems to lower;
We rise, and all, the distant and the near,
Stands forth in sunny outline brave and clear;
We kneel, how weak; we rise, how full of power!
Why, therefore, should we do ourselves this wrong,
Or others, that we are not always strong,
That we are ever overborne with care,
That we should ever weak or heartless be,
Anxious or troubled, when with us is prayer,
And joy and strength and courage are with Thee!''

C. W. B.

A MAN WHO WAS DESPISED

True holiness will manifest itself in its spirit of sacrifice. A few years ago there lived a Godly Quaker named Arthington who was much moved by the impassioned utterance of a missionary: ''Were I in the homeland again I would gladly live in one room, make my floor my bed, a box my chair, and another my table, rather than that the heathen should perish for lack of the knowledge of Christ.'' This Quaker, although his income was large, lived for years according to that ideal. He had just one room, did his own cooking, reduced his meat allowance to one sausage a day, gathered his firewood from under trees after a storm, wore shabby clothes, and endured the common taunt of being a miser. He paid out the sum of $5,000 to make it possible for the first two evangelists to go to the Congo and paid for the first mission steamer which did service on the upper Congo River. The first two missionaries to Lushai Hills, Assam, India, were sent out and maintained by this despised ''miser.'' He gave largely to other missions as well. The Master still sits over against the treasury and I sometimes think that He gauges our Godliness by our giving. It costs most people more to draw a ten-dollar bill out of their purses for a missionary collection than to eject a shout.—Publisher Unknown.

OPTIMISM EVANGELISM

The President's Letter

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Our Sick Ministers

On last Saturday we found Brother R. S. Troxler confined to his bed, and the probability is that he will not be able to do much work for several days. In today's mail Brother H. L. Isley informs us that he has been very sick since last Friday. He was better when the card was written on Monday, though still very weak. In the same mail came a letter from Sister J. C. Russell informing us of the condition of Brother Russell. He is in Duke University hospital, and was operated on last Friday. A wire from the hospital informed Sister Russell that the operation was "entirely successful" and that Brother Russell was in "excellent condition." We have also received recent word regarding Dr. Forlines. He is in the Maryland University hospital, Baltimore, and is having a satisfactory recovery from his operation. Brother T. A. Williams writes that he is improving, and that he will resume the active care of his work again. Dr. McCulloch is not well, but keeps up his editorial work. There has been an unusual amount of sickness and affliction among our ministers during the year. We hope for all of them a timely recovery. In the mean time, they will have our continued sympathy and prayers.

It Has Been Done

In our letter of last week we expressed the hope that we could cheer our people with the announcement this week that the full $50,000 had been raised for High Point College. Well, we can. IT HAS BEEN DONE, AND MORE. At the victory meeting last night at the Sheraton hotel the reports of the various teams brought the total to $50,659. This was soon raised to $51,000. Mr. G. W. Williams, who managed the campaign, set up a splendid working organization, composed of leading citizens of High Point, and it was through the fine co-operation and the untiring zeal of this group of workers that the thing was done. And it should be said, too, that the general interest of the people of High Point in the College helped greatly in the undertaking. Those familiar with various campaigns in the city to raise money for various favor by the people. High Point is interested in High Point purposes say that this campaign was received with unusual College; this campaign has added marked emphasis to that fact that was already apparent. Thomasville and Asheboro are due much recognition for the important part they played in this achievement, led by Miss Lollie Jones of Asheboro and Mrs. H. W. Maier and Mrs. A. H. Ragan of Thomasville. The total contributions from Asheboro amount to $1,025. Thomasville gave an even $1,100, and took the "communities flag." Asheboro should have had one, too, but there just wasn't another one for this purpose. Our Winston people shared, also, in the campaign, though not so largely as Asheboro and Thomasville. The raising of $50,000 for any purpose is usually not an easy task, and at a time like this it would naturally be looked upon as a very difficult undertaking. Many in High Point so regarded it, even among those who knew that the College needed the money and who wanted to see it raised. But because of the prevailing tight money conditions they looked upon the undertaking with but little hope of success. Nevertheless they were willing to give it a try, and as the try went on faith and hope and courage grew, and an enthusiastic confidence finally took possession of every one. When the "people have a mind to work," as they did in this campaign, the impossible happens. Considering this economic depression, a great achievement has been accomplished in the raising of this $50,000.

President Humphreys is delighted, of course, and is to be congratulated on his important part in this achievement.

Students

About the time the campaign was put on to raise $50,000 for High Point College the secular press, in news items ,indicated some uncertainty about the college opening this fall. We understand that this fact has hindered the student enrollment efforts of the college. Let it be understood by every one THAT THE COLLEGE WILL OPEN THIS FALL. We had not entertained any thought to the contrary, and the success of this campaign gives double assurance to any one who may have been in doubt. High Point College is set for a great career in Christian Education, and the doors to her classic walls will swing wide on schedule time, SEPTEMBER 12.

State Street

On the third of August we were with this church in the third quarterly conference. According to program this was something of "Church Night." The Woman's Auxiliary held their meeting during the first period of the evening. The pastor then took charge and received a number of persons into the church. We then addressed the meeting in a devotional service, after which came the quarterly conference. This was well attended, and all business transacted "in harmony," as we say. The Sunday School, Auxiliary, and C. E. society are functioning regularly and efficiently. The S. S. enrollment is 237, and the average attendance for the past six months was 163. The school had raised during the first half of the year, $450. The class leaders are working among derelict members, with a view to arousing in them a new interest in spiritual things. It is our opinion that here is the distinct field for class leaders, and that they can find in this field possibilities of doing much good. The pastor made a number of recommendations all looking to the present and future interest of the church. These recommendations were all supported by the conference. The Brotherhood seems not to be functioning so well. However, the brethren thought that plans could be worked out by which improvements would result. The church has just passed through a helpful revival meeting conducted by Evangelist John Cowell, of Fayetteville. This church has a faithful membership, and is growing. Perhaps no church in the city is better located. The one handicap is a heavy church debt. But we believe that this will be paid as the years go, and business conditions improve. Brother Hendry is giving himself to the work with his accustomed earnestness and perseverance, and will be able, no doubt, to report a good year when we go to conference in November. Mrs. Taylor enjoyed this visit with us. We had the pleasure of being supper guests at the parsonage.

Appointments

August 21.—Orange Charge.
August 28.—Grace Church, Greensboro.
September 1.—Liberty-Moriah Charge.
September 25.—Love Joy, Why Not Charge.

"Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

Fraternally yours,
S. W. TAYLOR.

August 16, 1932.

NATURE CURES, REST AND QUIET ASSIST

While I no longer enjoy keeping any wild thing confined, I used to have many pets. Among these was "Woodnymph," my flying squirrel. This fascinating little dryad was always entertaining me by her antics in her big cage. There were some cracks in the bottom of her box; and one night she got her left foreleg caught. In her frantic struggle to escape, she broke it. Next morning I found her lying bright-eyed in a sunny corner. As I came up, she shifted her position slightly. But she did not try to entertain me with aerial high-dives as usual. The graceful sprite was an invalid. That I saw. And I knew that if I tried to put her legs in splints, she would struggle fearfully, and then tear the bandages off.

I pushed her water pan up to her, and a few grains of corn. Then I left her alone. I knew that she would know what to do. For a space of several days she lay demure, silent, strangely effaced. I noticed, too, that she always kept her injured paw in the same position. She seemed like a little child, outdoing herself to be good. What impressed me the most was the complete transformation of mood that she imposed on herself. She who had been vividly active, physically vivacious, now lay passive; watchful, yet serene.

In ten days she began to move about the cage. In three weeks Woodnymph was her rollicking self again. She had effected her own cure. Nor, after her accident, was she ever less active and graceful than she had been before.

Fresh water, pure air, sunshine, quiet, steady confidence in recovery, a remarkable degree of patience—these are among the remedies that nature's children apply to themselves; and by them, except in cases foredoomed as hopeless, they heal themselves.—American.

HINDOO CONVERTED

"Do your gods love you?" asked a missionary of some Indians. "The gods never think of loving," was the answer. Then the missionary repeated the verse, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." "That is large light; say it again," said the Indian. When the missionary repeated the verse, he said very earnestly, "That is true; I feel it."—Glad Tidings.

UNDER YOUR FEET

It is not easy to climb the heights of a mountain. Over and over again we feel that we must sit down and rest. Before we reach the top, we find that the strength we had in the beginning is well-nigh exhausted. But the joy of having accomplished our purpose leads us to forget our weariness.

Never could we have scaled the mountain peak if we had not had something firm under our feet. Very carefully do we avoid places where the earth is moist and slippery, for we know that those are the things which have hurled many a traveler down the cliffs and brought him to death and defeat. No, we must have firm footing all the way up for safety and for success.

It was Holland the American poet who said,

> "We rise by the things that are under our feet;"

and then he went on to state what some of these things are, but they are every one things we have mastered. Hate and malice, envy and pride, and so many other wicked passions; but if we place them under our feet they will be stepping stones to us in our upward climb. They are hard; they are rough; they are things which anywhere else would hurt and weaken us; but when we master them they help us to mount step by step to better things.

It will not do to try to go around these hard places in life. That way we shall find the pathway slippery and dangerous. Days come when it seems to us we simply cannot gain a single victory over self. But listen! Every time we do our best to be good and kind and true, God helps us to win the mastery. For it is the trying which makes us victors. Tiresome? It may be. Looking to Jesus and resting in Him, we shall gain strength for the further climb. Footsore? That may be so; but He who loves us and is watching us will not let us fall or fail! What a sweet word it is: "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world"! That makes climbing an ascent to Heaven!—E. L. Vincent.

MAGNIFYING ONE'S WORK

One of the most eminent and successful ministers with whom we have ever been acquainted was much in demand for public and social functions. On one occasion he was invited to attend a notable banquet on a Saturday evening, but declined the invitation. Being pressed for a reason for declining he replied in words that might well be pondered seriously, not only by ministers, to whom they apply directly, but by every Christian worker as well. He said in substance: "When a surgeon is about to perform an operation he is at particular pains to make himself aseptic, that he may carry no foreign substance, no poisonous matter of any kind to his patient. On Sunday I am to preach the Word; I am to be a physician and surgeon of souls. I must do all I can to make myself absolutely aseptic. I must not allow even the possibility of carrying to those to whom I minister anything that might vitiate my ministry or lessen its beneficial effect." For this reason he was accustomed to set apart Saturday afternoon and evening for the mental and spiritual preparation of himself for his Sunday services. He thus was magnifying his work by keeping himself "unspotted from the world." The results were apparent to all.—The Watchman-Examiner.

OUR STORY PAGE

BURTON REMEMBERS HIS PROMISE

"Good-by, Grandma," said Burton Ashley, resting his elbow on the old lady's armchair. The woman kissed the boy. "Have a good time," she said cheerily, "and do as you are bidden."

"I will," promised the boy.

That was one of Grandma's favorite sayings, but Burton knew what it meant. He was going to the family reunion which was to be held in a grove. His older sister Flossie and his cousin Grace were going too. They were going to take part in the program. Burton had heard them rehearsing their pieces. The little boy was eager to start, for he had on a new suit, and on the rack in the hall was his linen crash hat to match.

When the family arrived there was a large crowd in the grove. Then men had made tables and the women were placing on the platters of chicken, the dishes of food, the cakes and pies.

After the meal was over "Uncle Charles Ashley," as everybody called him, announced that the program would follow immediately.

"Go up there with the children and then you can see better," urged Mrs. Ashley, motioning Burton to a place on the front row of chairs.

So the little boy walked slowly toward the front row, but when he arrived there the chairs were filled with bright-eyed boys and girls. Uncle Charles came along and said, "Move along and make room for Sammy."

Before long they all sang America and then a young lady played the piano. The recitations came next. Sister Flossie was not a bit frightened and Cousin Grace spoke a long piece without having to be prompted. Then there were little boys with shining faces and bright eyes who spoke short pieces and everybody clapped.

"And now," said Uncle Charles, "little Sammy Ashley will speak a piece."

No one moved. After a second or two Uncle Charles called out, "Here he is." Burton felt himself taken off the chair and pushed along. Then the big man lifted him to the platform. Everything had happened so quickly.

"Go on, my lad," whispered Uncle Charles.

The little boy looked at the ground. He felt like he was going to cry and he did not want any one to see his eyes. What could he do? He had never learned a piece in his short life. But he thought of his promise to grandma, and that made him think of the song he sang for her every Sunday. So he began timidly at first and then his voice grew stronger.

"Jesus loves, this I know,
For the Bible tells me so.
Little ones to Him belong,
They are weak but He is strong."

Burton looked at mother. She was nodding her head and smiling. So he went on:

"Yes, Jesus loves me, yes, Jesus loves me.
Yes, Jesus loves me, the Bible tells me so."

Uncle Charles lifted the boy from the platform amid the clapping of hands.

When Burton reached home he went directly to grandma's room and told her about Uncle Charles' mistake.

Grandma laughed heartily. "What did you do, dear?"

"I sang my song, grandma; the one you like," he replied.

"You did just right, dear," and she patted his hands lovingly. "And now sing it for me again."—Sunshine for Little People.

BRINGING THE CONGREGATION TO TIME

"I am going to do the washing," announced Luella, with a tilt of her firm young chin.

Mother, sitting up for the first time after an attack of pleurisy, looked despairingly at her young daughter.

"But, dear," she cried, "washing is such heavy work. And you have never done it, Luella."

"No time like the present to learn," said Luella, stooping to kiss the pale cheek. "And Saturday bright and early I'll make a start. There's nothing else to do, mumsie. We haven't any money to pay Anne Judkins, and we have to have clean clothes. Of two evils choose the lesser."

She paused.

"It's just a shame," she went on, her young face serious for the moment, "that father's salary is always behind. Why don't they pay him? Don't they know when they don't it makes hardships for us? They don't go without themselves, though they make us."

"They just don't give the matter serious consideration, Luella," she answered gravely. "These dear, thoughtless people. They don't really mean to work privation on us."

Luella was not convinced.

"It amounts to the same thing," she replied quickly. "When they don't pay, we suffer. But we're still going to have clean clothes. Saturday I begin to wash."

"Oh, Luella," cried mother, weakly.

Saturday morning in the parsonage kitchen, Luella attacked the weekly wash. She wore a faded, blue gingham dress with short sleeves. Her face was flushed with the heat of the stove. The boiler was bubbling merrily and already had several pieces in it, when around to the back door daintily stepped Mrs. Harold Robers, the richest member of the church. She cast an astonished glance at the boiler on the stove, and Luella vigorously rubbing on the washboard.

"I came to inquire about your mother," informed that lady, with another look. "I didn't want to disturb her by by ringing."

"Mother's better," replied Luella as she wrung out a white waist.

"But what are you doing?" asked Mrs. Rogers, glancing at the tub and the washboard.

"Doing my washing," retorted Luella, briskly.

"But I thought Anne Judkins did it," persisted Mrs. Rogers.

"Anne did as long as there was any money to pay her," answered Luella. "But there doesn't seem to be any just now. We have to have clean clothes, and the salary is so far behind, we couldn't pay any one to do it. So I'm at the helm; I've never done it before, but I can learn."

With a start Mrs. Harold Rogers remembered that her pledge to the minister's salary was four months behind. But she had so coveted that fur coat. The purchase of it could not wait; the minister's salary could. She flushed a little.

"Dear me, Luella," she went on, "I'm surely sorry to see you doing the washing."

Luella smiled bravely.

"Tell your mother I inquired about her," hurriedly said Mrs. Rogers.

"I will," returned Luella. "Come in again."

As Mrs. Harold Rogers went on her way, she was feeling singularly ashamed. It was partly her fault that Luella was washing that Saturday morning in the kitchen. She stopped a moment to see Mrs. Hiram Briggs.

"What do you think," she began, "Luella's doing the family washing down at the parsonage?"

Mrs. Briggs stared.

"I thought Anne Judkins washed there," she answered.

Mrs. Rogers shook her head.

"She did, but it seems that we are back on the salary and there is no money."

"Back on the salary," repeated Mrs. Briggs, and then she remembered she hadn't paid her pledge for over five months. That new rug had been so tempting in the shop, she had spent her money for that.

Mrs. Rogers made still another call before she went home. And the two people she called on, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Douglas, were in arrears in their pledges. They, too, were told that Luella was doing the washing down at the parsonage.

On Sunday morning, when the plates were passed, there was a fine collection. And when Deacon Lee came over to the parsonage on Monday, he wore a beaming smile.

"We're able to pay quite a bit on your back salary this week," he said. He paused.

"It's worried me considerable," he added, "having you go without your salary, but I believe now the depression is over. I don't know or understand what has brought the congregation to time, but something has, I'm sure of it."

The minister smiled.

"I'm thankful, I surely am, that something has."

But neither of them knew that it was Luella that had done it. Luella in her blue, faded gingham, washing bravely on Saturday, entertaining meanwhile the elegant Mrs. Harold Rogers, who was already four months behind on the salary. But she wasn't behind now, and neither were any of the others, for the story of Luella doing the family washing had brought each one of the delinquents to a realizing sense of what they owed their minister and his family. Luella had done it all.—Girlhood Days.

◆

—Brother J. E. Jenkins is principal of Locust Elementary School, Stanfield, N. C.

DEVELOPING INITIATIVE

By Grenville Kleiser

You can achieve success, as other men have done, by originality of thought, pertinacity of purpose, concentration of effort, combined with a proper degree of self-reliance. You can find daily opportunity to develop your power to conceive and initiate ideas, plans, and methods.

Real thinking requires mental application. Too many men are inclined to allow others to think for them. You must, however do your own thinking if you would learn to originate and to initiate in a large way, since these faculties are developed only through actual exercise.

Maintain your independence of mind when you are talking and listening to other men. Your own ideas may be superior to theirs; besides, a too ready acquiescence in their opinions will tend to check the development of your originality of thought. For the same reason, when you read a book, think clearly for yourself and form your own judgments. In short, be your own mental arbiter.

Do not be like those men who are always about to say and do certain things, but discover that someone else has just said and done them. The processes of originality are simple. Venture something on your own account. There are ideas and suggestions all about you awaiting development. Appropriate your share of this valuable material.

There is nothing which will relieve and ventilate the mind like the attempt to originate a new idea. It will give your mind exercise, and render it capable of still greater reaches of thought. Delve deeply into your own mind, and you will be surprised at the hidden treasure there.

Imagination plays a vital part in your daily life. Every great plan or enterprise first has its place in the imagination; hence you will see the importance of having a clear and accurate mental image of what you intend to construct, whether it be a building, an automobile, or a business career. It is especially desirable that you hang in the gallery of your imagination a picture of yourself as the strong, self-confident, successful man you desire to be.

There are many imitators to one who can originate. Spend little time in watching what others are doing, but seek rather to develop what is great within yourself. The experience of other men will be of service to you at times, but in the main look within yourself for ideas and learn more and more to depend upon your own unlimited resources. There are things which you can do best, and the surest way for you to realize your immense power is by putting it into actual use.

◆

NOTICE TO PASTORS

Delegates' credential cards will be sent out about the first of September. Do not send names of your delegates until you get your card. When you get it, send it in at once. Brother Taylor will need the list of delegates as soon as he can get it, and you can help greatly if you will not delay sending in your delegate's name.

I have had very little response to my appeal for your Journal money. Come on, brethren, help me to help Brother Reiner meet this obligations by paying him what we owe him.

C. W. Bates.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD
President of High Point College C. E. Society

August 21: QUALITIES OF A CHRISTIAN
Scripture—Rom. 12:9-18; Phil. 4:8.

Many people who are not Christians refuse to join the church because of the inconsistency of many people who are in organized Christianity. Probably we must admit there is too little serious acceptance of Christ. Christianity makes real demands of its adherents and the fruits of the spirit must be evidenced in any real Christian's life. There must be more than a lip confession of Christ, there must be a heart and action expression of Him. There needs to be no hesitancy or doubt about a true Christian for "by their fruits ye shall know them." People outside the church are many times right for the confessor of Christ must express His laws and desires. The inward urge of the heart cannot be submerged but it becomes the emotion that impels the entire being.

Some people have imagined that a moral life is the essence of Christianity. The initial requirement is a new birth. Christ said "ye must be born again." A physical birth is the gateway into a life of unfolding realiment and is very necessary. A spiritual birth is the gateway into a life of unfolding relaities that have as their standard and ultimate goal the fullness of Christ. Christ not only advocated a new birth, He demonstrated it. A full consciousness of Christ is the beginning of a Christian life. Every one who follows Christ must be a reflector of His light. "Let your light so shine, that men may see your good works and glorify your Father in Heaven." We will never attain the brightness or splendor of what we reflect, but we shall be like Him, though in a smaller way.

A positive faith is a mark of a Christian. Active resistance has never hurt the cause of Christ as seriously as half-hearted acceptance. One who answers "I hope so," or "I guess so," to the question: "Are you a Christian?" lacks a positive faith in Christ. There is no doubt or uncertainty about true Christianity. One bold Peter, even though he stumbles, is better than a score of Josephs and Nicodemuses, who hesitate to do anything about thier secret faith until their Lord is ready to be taken down from His Cross.

A Christian is forgiving. Christ, on the Cross, prayed, "Father, forgive them, for they know not whate they do." In our model prayer Christ prayed, "Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors." How can one pray for forgiveness to forgive? We need this quality unless being oft forgiven, we forget to forgive. If we receive mercy is first ours to show deeds of mercy.

A Christian overcomes temptation. Here again Christ is the great example. "He was tempted in all things as we are tempted, yet without sin." It would show a lack of courage and moral stamina for a Christian to even wish for all temptation to be removed. Too much ease would callous us to need and the hardships of others. There are dregs in the cup that go along but there is a source of power which makes temptation light. "Did we in our own strength confide, the battle would be losing." But the word of God is a shield that gives victory in temptation. An intimate communion with God is a help that no Christian can do without.

Christians love. The pagans were astonished at the way the early Christians loved each other. It is the most dynamic power in the world. Here Christ stands supreme again: He loved the world so much that the agony of Gethsemane or Calvary could not defeat His purpose. Love for God finds expression in love for mankind: "Who feeds his hungry neighbor feeds three, himself, his neighbor, and Me." Wherever love is expressed between men and where the weak is cared for, the star of Bethlehem has shined. The policy of survival of the fittest is not the Christian code. More of love in the world would transform the world and beautify and soften experiences and relations between people.

Quotable Poetry

COME CLEAN

When the game is on and your friends about,
And you could put your rival out
By a trick that's mean, but wouldn't be seen,
Come clean, my lad, come clean!

When exams are called, and you want to pass,
And you know how you could lead your class,
But the plan's not square—you know it's mean
Come clean, my lad, come clean!

With the boss away you've a chance to shirk,
Not lose your pay, not have to work;
He'll neither fire you nor vent his spleen;
Come clean, my lad, come clean!

When you're all alone with none about,
And not a soul will find it out,
You're tempted to do a thing that's mean,
Come clean, my lad, come clean!

For a home awaits, and a girl that's true,
And church and state have need ofyou;
They must have your best, on you they lean
Come clean, my lad, come clean!

Suggested Hymns

"I Love Him Because He First Loved Me," "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "I Would Be Like Jesus," "More Like the Master," "Help Somebody Today," and "Have Thine Own Way, Lord."

During the meeting set aside a few moments of quietness in which the searchlight of God's truth is turned inwardly. Have the expressions of your life been such as reflect Christ and evidence a working faith in Him? Is your Christianity mere lip confession or is it heart expression?

◆

REV. H. F. SURRATT

Mr. Surratt is in Park View hospital, Rocky Mount, N. C. He had appendectomy operation this morning. Preached yesterday morning as usual. He seems to be doing nicely. Asks the prayers of our people.

Sincerely,
MRS. H. FREO SURRATT.

Our Children's Home

Chapel Hill S. S., Davidson	$ 1.50
Mizpah S. S., Haw River	1.48
Mt. Lebanon S S., Randleman	4.36
First Church S. S., Burlington	15.22
Mt. Hermon S. S., Mt. Hermon	2.34
Mebane S. S.	4.65
Cedar Falls S. S., Richland	4.00
Efland S. S., Orange	1.86
Level Cross S. S., Randeman	1.00
Fairfield S. S., Gilford	2.00
First Church S. S., S. Lexington	3.53
Maple Springs, Forsyth	5.00
Friendship Station	4.36
Corinth, Littleton	1.00
Grace Church, S. S.	6.56
First Church S. S., Winston-Salem	12.00
Whitaker's Chapel S. S., Enfield	2.05
New Salem, Randleman	2.00
State Street S. S.	3.30
Pleasant Grove S. S.	8.00
Siler City S. S.	3.00
New Hope, Vance	2.00
Welch Memorial S. S.	3.23
Mitchell's Grove S. S., Guilord	3.61
Peasant Hill S. S., Spring Church	.76
Stony Knoll, W. Forsyth	1.00
Yarborough's Chapel S. S.	1.50

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mr. C. L. Steed, Candor, N. C., one truck load of peaches, about 68 bushels. Mrs. J. W. Thacker, High Point, six pounds of butter.

Thank you, one and all, for the gifts in money and substance.

Blackeyed peas and sweet potatoes are coming in now, so we are to have this added food for our tables for some weeks.

Fuel Supply

In your monthly offerings please remember that we must put in our winter supply of fuel soon. Thank you and God bless you.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

GIVE SHILOH A REVIVAL

Lord, we want a revival; may it start in each heart. May the desire for more of Christ's love be in our hearts. Help us to pray for othes as well as for ourselves. Let us pray at the family altars, let us pray at our work and whatever we do. Let us pray for an old-time revival; may we ask for a revival like old Shiloh has never had. When our hearts are revived may we not be satisfied until we have won some lost soul.

Fill the pastor with the Holy Spirit, may his preaching not be in vain, but may it be as seed sown in good ground, that it may bring forth a bountiful harvest. May each Sunday school teacher speak to his class. If there be any who are out of the ark of safety, may they be brought safely into Thy fold. May the people let Jesus use them that all sin may be thrown aside and Jesus crowned King and Lord of lords.

May this revival reach even those members who would like to be there and can't. May we be revived not only for one week, but may it go on in the hearts and the lives of those Christian friends. May old Shiloh ever stand as that good old place where we like to go for our Spiritual food. Lord give Shiloh a revival.

A member who loves Shiloh.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The members of the executive committee and visitors were entertained in the hospitable manner for which the Weaverville, Asheville, and Bethel Home folks are noted. Mrs. C. W. Bates entertained the visitors at her "shack." The delicious supper was served by the Weaverville Auxiliary, Mr. B. D. Altman, "the Sunshine Man," sending the usual generous supply of ice cream.

On Wednesday morning, August 10, at 10 o'clock the executive committee met at Bethel Home. The devotional program was beautifully conducted by Mrs. J. M. Stone.

Mrs. W. C. Hammer, president, presided at the business sessions. Roll call showed a total attendance of 21, including several visitors.

Reports of officers and secretaries of departments were very encouraging, considering the economic conditions.

Mrs. J. E. Pritchard, secretary of Temperance, asked to be relieved. Her resignation was accepted with regret and Mrs. R. M. Andrews was elected as her successor. The N. C. Branch of Women's Work went on record as recognizing the crisis through which we are passing and determining to stand by the 18th Amendment. Mrs. Bates, Children's Home Secretary, read a letter from Dr. Dixon urging more liberal contributions. Motion was made and carried that placards calling attention to monthly offerings for the Home be purchased and paid for by the Branch treasurer, and that the district chairman co-operate in the distribution.

The committee then adjourned to enjoy a lovely luncheon given by Rev. Homer Casto. Each lady found at her place a beautiful powder box, a gift from Mr. Altman. August 10 being Mr. Altman's birthday, Mrs. Bates had prepared a birthday cake with pink candles. Guests sang "Happy Birthday," and also said it with a gift subscription to our church papers.

After visiting the patients, the committee reconvened at 2 p. m. Dr. C. W. Bates, in an impressive manner conducted the devotions. Interesting reports of the Missionary Conventions and General Conference were given by Dr. and Mrs. Bates. Mrs. Hammer told of her recent visit to Pine Ridge.

Attention was called to the fact that the report of the finance committee read at Branch meeting had not appeared in the Herald and motion was made and carried that report and suggestions for raising money monthly be printed as soon as possible.

A standing finance committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. S. W. Taylor, Mrs. C. W. Bates and Mrs. J. E. Pritchard.

All recommendations contained in the report of the corresponding secretary were adopted.

Motion was made and carried to have an adjourned session at Mrs. Bates' home.

The delightful picnic supper was the treat of Mrs. J. S. Williams and Mr. Casto.

At the adjourned session held on August 11 at 9 a. m. motion was made and carried that the $1,000 subscribed at Branch meeting for High Point college be credited on the conference apportionment. Motion made and carried that N. C. Branch purchase a $1,000 college bond, and that Mrs. C. L. Whitaker and Miss Mary E. Young direct plans for purchasing.

The Branch went on record as pledging its support and hearty co-operation in the effort now being made for High Point college. The women also pledged themselves to aid in the collection of $1.00 per capita for the Emergency Fund for Missions as requested by the Board of Missions.

Mrs. D. S. Coltrane expressed the appreciation of the visitors for the generous hospitality extended during the entire stay at Mrs. Bates' home.

Before adjourning the committee fixed the time and place for regular meetings; the summer meeting to be held at Bethel Home early in July, the November session at the seat of conference, the January meeting at the Children's Home, and a session just preceeding the Branch meeting.

The meeting closed with earnest prayers led by Dr. C. W. Bates and Mrs. Stone.

MRS. C. L. KOONTZ.

◆

TROLLINGER REUNION

Year by year the annual gathering of the Trollinger families and their friends grows in interest, and yesterday proved to be one of the best gatherings yet held. The crowd was larger than usual: never before was the church so beautifully decorated; the music and addresses pleased all who listened; and the picnic dinner left nothing to be desired in the way of "good eating."

The Trollinger Memorial M. P. church is a handsome structure, and stands on the original church grounds given by Adam Trollinger the pioneer settler who came here in 1745 from Pennsylvania, bringing his family with him. A portion of the fine grove of walnut trees that once covered the hill is still standing, and it was under their shade that the dinner table was spread today. Just down on the banks of the Haw River near by is the old tree to which Lord Cornwallis had William Henry Trollinger securely tied for a full day in 1781 for defying him when the Trollinger grist mill was raided for its supplies for the army of Cornwallis which was then encamped at this place on its way to Guilford Court House where its fate was sealed on March 15, 1781.

The one-acre cemetery adjoining the church is well worth a visit. One seldom sees so attractive a spot, or one so crowned with interesting history. Here sleep the various lines of the Trollinger and Roney and other erlier families, the tombstone of Adam Trollinger carries quite a full line of early family history; here is buried Artelia Roney Duke, mother of Benjamin N. and James B. Duke, and the splendid granite wall surrounding the cemetery is the gift of the Duke brothers.

The officers who had charge of the successful meeting of today were re-elected as follows: Rev. James H. Trollinger, Rockingham, Richmond county, president; H. W. Trollinger, Burlington, vice-president; Charles E. Trollinger, Burlington, treasurer, and Mrs. H. D. Lambeth, Elon College, secretary.

Dr. W. T. Whitsett of Whitsett was made historian for the Trollinger family some years ago, and he gave an interesting address on "A Family Bi-centennial" in which he mentioned many of the outstanding events now claiming attention as we celebrate this year the Washington Bi-centennial events, and showed that likewise the Trollinger family having been in America for the past two hundred years had just cause to celebrate its bi-centennial history also. He showed the family connection with the Revolutionary history of the country, and the patriotism that has always been a family characteristic.

Rev. John Fonville who has known the local history of the family over a long period spoke interestingly of many things that had come under his own personal observation.

Rev. J. L. Trollinger of Brown Summit presented the memorials that had been prepared for departed members of the family, and paid specially fine tribute to the memory of the late Capt. Boyd Trollinger of the police force of Burlington whose sudden passing the past year so shocked the community. Captain Boyd Trollinger was the son of the late Benjamin and Pattie Whittemore Trollinger.

The time for these annual reunions was fixed as the first Wednesday after the first Sunday in August of each year, and the place is to always remain here upon the historic grounds at Haw River so long associated with the family history. Visitors were present this year not alone from Alamance and Guilford counties but from many surrounding sections.

◆

ARTIFICIAL HEART

A Vienna physician, Dr. Eisenmenger, has perfected a machine or "artificial heart" that pumps the blood when the real heart stops. By use of this new apparatus persons apparently dead have been brought back to life. It keeps the blood circulating for a while although the heart has stopped. The machine is designed to apply alternate pressure and suction to that part of the chest containing the heart, so that blood is alternately sucked into the organ and forced out again, stimulating approximately the normal circulation maintained by the heartbeat.

◆

THE MAN WHO SAID "NO!"

They offered him fame
For the use of his name
To make a big worldly show;
He knew what they meant,
But refused to consent,
He gave them a positive "No!"

A millionaire he
Could easily be,
And let his high principles go;
But he would not give way,
To schemes of the day,
He answered a definite "No!"

This man who said "No!"
Suffered hardship and woe,
As he faithfully toiled in his place;
But when he laid down,
His cross for a crown,
Men called him a prince of his race.

GRENVILLE KLEISER.

◆

—Rev. J. E. Pritchard, D. D., is assisting Rev. R. A. Hunter in a revival meeting at Hickory Ridge church this week. Brother Hunter reports that large congregations were present at the three services held on Sunday

◆

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Friendship Station. — The annual revival meeting of Friendship closed Sunday, August 14, after a week of services. Rev. H. W. Bell of Thomasville was the assistant. Brother Bell brought us some very helpful and inspiring messages throughout the week. Many professions of faith were made; a good many others reconsecrated their lives to God. Attendance was exceptionally good at all services. The presence of so many young people was encouraging. The church seems much revived and inspired in its work for the Master.

The Christian Endeavor society is to celebrate its first birthday August 28. A special program including the installation of new officers is being arranged. The president urges that every member be present for this program. Visitors are always welcome.

The condition of our sick remains unchanged. Our beloved brother "Uncle Frank" Mason seems to be resting fairly well. Bro. J. A. Herlocker remains in about the same condition. Our superintendent, Brother J. H. Snotherly was present at services last Sunday after a two weeks' absence due to an operation. Mrs. Wm. Snotherly is very restless.

Our Sunday school attendance reached a high peak last Sunday. REPORTER.

* * *

Fairview Church, Anderson Charge.—Our revival meeting, which we feel was a decided success, was held during the week of July 31 to August 7. Our pastor did his own preaching and delivered some very inspiring sermons. There were twenty-five conversions and we were glad to have join us four new members, two coming by letter and two by confession of faith. Our singing was led by Mr. Heyward Addison of Greenville, S. C.

The Sunday school attendance during the summer months has been fine indeed. Several classes have staged contests to see who could secure the most new members. The number in our classes has rapidly increased. The young people's class has just completed one among themselves and the winning side was delightfully entertained by the losing side and our teacher with a picnic at River Falls. The entire Sunday school enjoyed a picnic at Rocky Bottom, S. C., on July 21. This was given by our superintendent, Mr. T. B. Nalley. It was thoroughly enjoyed by all, thanks to Mr. Nalley.

Coming as a surprise to their many friends was the marriage of Miss Florence Nalley and Mr. L. N. Tate of Easley, S. C. Mrs. Tate is one of the outstanding members of our church and is the third daughter of Mr and Mrs. T. B. Nalley. We wish for them a long and prosperous married life.

Our Christian Endeavor society still continues to make progress. We are very proud indeed of our membership committee as they were able to report at the last consecration meeting that we had one hundred and six members on roll. We think that splendid for a rural church. Claude White, our newly elected president, is, we feel, making a splendid success although the work is new to him. We were glad to have in our meeting of August 7, Professor L. M. Banknight, of Easley high school who gave us a very inspiring talk on "Nature." We were more than glad to have with us Sunday night one of our former members, Mr. Bruce White who gave for us a very interesting talk on "God's World." Mr. White is one of our own boys but at present he is located in Darlington, S. C., where he is a very prominent young lawyer. He is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. White .

The Ladies' Aid meeting for the month of August will be held with Mrs S. M. Watson with Mrs. T. B. Nalley as co-hostess on Friday afternoon of this week.

Misses Montez and Ann Henderson enjoyed a delightful stay at Myrtle Beach, S. C., last week.

The annual Nalley reunion was held at the old homestead on Thursday, August 11. It was a great day for all and one that will be long remembered.

Miss Irene Poole of Greenville was the guest of relatives here last week.

Miss Willie Smith spent her vacation with her brother in Mobile, Alabama.

REPORTER.

* * *

South Lexington Charge.—Our work is moving along very well. The Sunday school at both churches is holding up well.

Our revival meeting began at Mount Carmel the first Sunday night. The annual Home Coming was observed at the morning and afternoon services. At the morning service Rev. Charlie Grant, of Midway-Shady Grove charge, delivered an excellent sermon on the importance of the home. In the afternoon brief addresses were made by different laymen who went out from Mount Carmel church, each one speaking very highly of what the church has meant to him. Rev. Atlas Ridge, one of the former pastors, was present and made a short talk.

Rev. C. B. Way, of West Forsyth charge, arrived in time for the beginning of the revival at the evening service, and preached during the rivival meeting. His Gospel sermons were very forceful and convincing through all the meeting, and all the people seemed to enjoy having Brother Way back with them again, he having served Mount Carmel church as pastor eight years ago. There were fourteen conversions and reclamations, and nine new members received. We feel that church was revived. We were glad to have Rev. Wayne Curtis, of Burlington, present on Tuesday night. He rendered two effective solos during the service. We were very glad to have the Midway and Tyro quartets present and render special music at different services. We were glad to have Mrs. Way and children attend the last half of the revival meeting.

On Tuesday night during the revival at Mount Carmel the people gave the pastor a surprise. After the service I was informed that I had a flat tire, and going to the car I found a big pounding instead of a flat tire. We cannot give the names of all those who took part in this, but I wish to thank each one for his gifts.

Mount Carmel church was painted during the week before the revival meeting and it has greatly improved the appearance of the church. One coat of paint has been put on and another coat of paint will be put on soon.

At the First Church, Lexington, an attractive marker has been erected at the corner of Main street and Ninth avenue, which was donated by J. L. Mallard and Charlie Auman. We wish to thank these men for this nice donation.

The building committee of First Church met on Tuesday night of last week and decided to let the contract for the erection of five additional Sunday school rooms. The addition of more rooms to the church was made necessary because of the increased attendance at Sunday school. We have nearly all the money in hand with which to make this needed improvement.

The third quarterly conference will be held on Tuesday evening after the fourth Sunday at eight o'clock at First Church. We urge all official members to be present.

Brother Gilbert Trantham, one of the oldest members of Mount Carmel church, entered Davidson hospital on Sunday, August 7, for treatment. We are glad to report that his condition is improving and we hope that he will soon be entirely well.

C. G. ISLEY, Reporter.

* * *

Mt. Hermon Charge.—We have just closed another very successful revival at Friendship Brother J. Clyde Auman was with us as pulpit help, and did some splendid preaching. There were twenty-two professions and ten accessions to the church.

The Children's Day service at Belmont on the second Sunday night was a decided success. At this writing it is not known what the offering amounted to, but judging from the interest on the part of the children, it will be a creditable one.

Our next, and last revival, will be at Belmont the fourth Sunday in August, with Dr. Dixon as pulpit help. Already must interest is showing itself on the part of the Christians of the church. A pre evangelistic meeting has been planned by the pastor and people. Christians, we need your prayers in these meetings.

The third quarterly conference of the Mt. Hermon charge will be held on Saturday before the third Sunday at Friendship church, the hour is 3 p. m. A full attendance on the part of the church officials is requested.

L. E. MABRY.

* * *

West Forsyth.—Attendance was fairly good at Union Hill and Tabernacle churches last Sunday. After the service at Union Hill we were invited to the home of Brother J. E. Douglas where a good dinner was enjoyed. Brother Douglas has been in poor health for the past two or three months, and has been to church only a few times during the period of ill health. His son, Pearson Douglas, and family live with him and Mrs. Douglas, and they are among the faithful members of Union Hill.

At Tabernacle, as well as at Union Hill, a very attentive congregation was present. John Warden, one of the converts of the revival meeting at Tabernacle last month, was given the ordinance of baptism by immersion in the Yadkin river last Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the writer. A large congregation witnessed the service.

Mrs. Florence Whitman, member of Pleasant Hill church, who has been confined to her home with illness for the past three months, became worse about a week ago, and her condition is serious. We hope a change will take place for her recovery.

The writer enjoyed the privilege of preaching at Mount Carmel church, on the South

Lexington charge, last week. It was a genuine pleaseure to work with Rev. C. G. Isley, the pastor, who is agreeable, congenial, consecrated and happy in his work as pastor of the First Church, Lexington, and Mount Carmel church. It was the privilege of the writer to have served the South Lexington charge eight years ago, and we were pleased to note the remarkable improvement made in the church building at Mount Carmel, a new building having been erected last year. The people there are loyal and consecrated to the work of the church and the Kingdom of God.

Our appointment for next Sunday will be at Pleasant Hill church at 11 a. m. The annual Long-Sprinkle reunion will be held at Pleasant Hill next Sunday, with dinner to be served during the noon hour, and a program of music and speeches in the afternoon.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

Union Grove, North Davidson Charge.—We are still alive, although we haven't reported lately. Attendance is about like usual for the summer months. Our pastor, Rev. O. C. Loy, has been bringing to us inspiring sermons.

The third Sunday in this month, August 21, we will begin our revival meeting. We hope that you will find it convenient to attend, but if you can or can't will you please unite with us in prayer for a real deepening of our spiritual lives and the salvation of the sinners? ANNA TESH, Reporter.

Orange Charge.—The revival meeting began at Efland the third Sunday in July. Rev. J. C. Auman did all the preaching after Sunday. He was with us for ten services and his preaching was fine. Several were reclaimed, two or three converted, they joined the church.

Last week the revival meeting was held at Union Grove. Rev. C. L. Spencer did the preaching after Sunday. Brother Spencer is a good preacher. The church was revived. Several were reclaimed, two converted, and three joined the church.

Brother Bethea is to be with us at Hebron this week. We are hoping and praying for a great revival.

Dr. Taylor will visit this charge the third Sunday in August. Appointments are as follows: Efland, 11 a. m., Union Grove 3 p. m.

The Hebron Woman's auxiliary will give a missonary pageant at Efland church the third Sunday in August, 8 p. m.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

Fountain Place.—The Children's Day service was held August 14. The service was a splendid one, each child rendered his part well and it showed that they had been well trained. Mrs. R. S. Hornaday, Mrs. Lee Black, Mrs. Hubert Terrell, and Mrs. T. A. Amick assisted by Miss Pauline Pickard at the piano trained the children. The offering was something over $12.00.

The Annie Forest Bible class has decided to organize into a Philathea class. They hope that it will quicken the interest in the class to be connected in this way with a larger organization. In the contest (which closed at the end of July) between this class and the Auman Bible class the girls won. This is the second contest held recently between these two classes and the boys won in the former one.

The Christian Endeavor society are meeting regularly with good attendance. One meeting this summer was held at the home of one of the members at the same time. The juniors also held their meeting at a nearby home. We hope to have more of these outdoor meetings during the summer. About two weeks ago a good many of the members of our senior society attended the quarterly Christian Endeavor County Union meeting at Haw River. This meeting was very interesting and helpful to the society. Following the Christian Endeavor meeting last Wednesday night the third quarterly conference was held. D. D Glenn is our delegate to the annual conference.

Out attendance at Sunday school has held up better during the hot weather this summer than formerly. A few times we have passed the hundred mark which is unusual for any season. The Sunday school will hold its annual picnic at Kimesville Lake next Thursday evening.

The Ladies' auxiliary meets Monday night with Miss Emma Baldwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Glenn have a little daughter, Verona Lee, born August 8.

Two weeks ago, on Sunday, our hearts were made sad by the accidental death of Richard Jones, one of our boys. Richard was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Jones, faithful members ot our church. Although Richard had been a member of our church for only a few months he has attended Sunday school and church all his life and is greatly missed. The funeral was conducted at the home on Monday with a large attendance. Rev. Mr. Bethea, assisted by Dr. F. W. Paschall of Burlington First M. P. church and Rev. Mr. Potter of the Presbyterian church, conducted the funeral. Our hearts go out in sympathy to the bereaved family which will miss him most.

MRS. A. V. AMICK, Reporter.

Glen Raven Circuit.—On the second Sunday in July, with the help of Rev. H. L. Isley, revival services were started at Fairview continuing through the week. Brother Isley gave us interesting and vital Gospel messages. Both pastor and people greatly enjoyed his stay among us. There were five additions to the church.

Rev. J. C. Madison was our help at Haw River in a very successful meeting that closed last Saturday. All were delighted with Bro. Madison's preaching. Ten new members were received into the church.

We are planning to have Rev. C. B. Way to assist in the Glen Raven meetng the first week in September.

The third quarterly conference for the Glen Raven circuit will be held in the Haw River church, August 20, 7:45 p. m.

J. P. PEGG, Pastor.

Mebane.—Brother Loy is away helping Bro. Shelton in a meeting, both last week and this week. We miss him from our Wednesday evening prayer services. Mr. J. E. Foust has given us two very interesting studies at these services. Our Sunday school has kept up fine during the vacation season.

The Woman's auxiliary is the most wide-awake organization in the church. Under the leadership of Mrs. A. H. Jobe we are accomplishing more along many lines, especially the study of missions. Several ladies are co-operating that have never before taken any interest in the work. We have recently organized a circle of teen age girls known as the Willing Worker's circle. They are beginning in earnest and we expect them to do good work.

We are glad that Lewis Nicholson is improving, although slowly. He has had an infected hand for two months and may yet lose a finger, but the doctors hope to save the hand.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ray was buried July 23. We extend sympathy.

Dr. and Mrs A. N. Ward of Western Maryland college passed through Monday and stopped for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nicholson.

Miss Majorie Welborn of High Point spent last week with Miss Alta Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Sides returned from their wedding trip Thursday and stopped over with Mrs. Sides' parents, going on to Concord for a visit to Mr. Sides' parents.

Our pulpit was filled Sunday a. m. by Rev Kenneth Holt, one of our young preachers.

The third quarterly conference was held Monday night, August 1. The reports were very good. Of course we are behind with finances but we hope to catch up before conference. Mr. C. F. Jobe was declared elected delegate to annual conference. This will be his first time to represent or church as delegate and we feel that he is a very capable and is an interested member of the Board of Stewards.

Miss Bessie Barnette of Greensboro spent the week-end with her parents.

REPORTER.

Glen Raven Charge, Haw River Church.—Our revival meeting began August 7 and closed August 13. Rev. Glenn Madison was engaged here. He came Sunday night and stayed until Saturday. He was at his best and did some fine preaching. The people of the community enjoyed his preaching very much. The congregation was good from start to finish. There were ten additions to the church. This church is getting along fine under the splendid leadership of our pastor, Rev. J. P. Pegg. This charge esteems him and his family very highly. We think he will be able to give a good account of himself at the annual conference. T. S. COBLE.

First Church, High Point.—Everybody, old and young, is rejoicing today over the successful close of the campaign for High Point college, which has been waged for more than a week by 75 to 100 active workers here, in Asheboro and Thomasville. Announcement of the successful compeiton of the intensive drive was made at a dinner at the Sheraton hotel last evening. Reports of pledges amounted to $50,659, and members of the Workers' committee quickly added a sufficient sum to make an even $51,000. President G. I. Humphreys in an address expressed great appreciation for the generosity and confidence of High Point people. Dr. J. T. Burrus, H. A. Millis, and T. Wingate Andrews, general chairman of the campaign, also made talks at the dinner. This happy culmination relieves a long strain of uncertainty and foreboding of the future prospects of the college. Too much cannot be said in praise of the fine spirit of loyalty manifested by members of the faculty, who have worked cheerfuly and heroically for years with only partial pay, and the spirit of generosity and benevolence manifested by the citizens of High Point, irrespective of denomination, are worthy of the highest commendation. The mettle of the community has been tested as never before, with the result that High Point has shown to the world that whatever she undertakes to do, is put across promptly and efficiently.

The pulpit was occupied by Dr. P. E. Lindley, dean of High Point college, on Sunday morning, who chose as the subject of his message, "The Language of God," from the text in Psalms 81:13, "Oh, that my people had hearkened unto me, and Israel had walked in my ways!" This splendid sermon has brought forth many complimentary tributes; Dr. Lindley is an impressive speaker on whatever subject he undertakes, and commands the intense attention of his audiences. The congregation united in the open air service Sunday evening at 8 o'clock on the city lot, when Dr. Joseph Rennie of the Presbyterian church delivered the sermon.

The different circles of the Woman's auxiliary held meetings in the following homes on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock: Circle No. 4, Mrs James G. Ryan, chairman, with Mrs. L. R. Peacock, West Farris St.; No. 5, Mrs. C. L. Whitaker, chairman, with Mrs. R. T. Pickens, 704 West Broad St.; No. 6, Mrs. S. D. Shelton, chairman, with Mrs. R. W. Riggins, Greenway Drive; No. 7, Mrs. J. H. Allred, chairman, with Mrs. A. A. Holton, Steele St.; No. 8, Mrs. R. H. Gunn, chairman, with Mrs. J. A. Gray, Lindsay St.; No. 2, Mrs. Lucy Oakes Harper, chairman, met last week with Miss Nellie Martin, North Main St., and No. 3, Mrs. N. P. Yarborough, chairman, plans to hold their meeting in the form of a picnic Thursday evening.

Circles No. 6 and 7, sold ice cream, cake and lemonade on the city lot next to Chamber of Commerce last Saturday afternoon and evening from which they realized the sum of $25.00. No. 8 is planning a similar lawn party at the home of Mrs. W. P. Pickett next Thursday evening, beginning at 5 o'clock. Circles No. 4 and 5 will give one later. Circle No. 5 is making a Dutch Girl bedspread, which will be offered for sale later.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robbins left a week ago for a motor trip through the mountains of Western N. C.

Congratulation are extended by a large cirlce of friends and relatives to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Martin on the arrival of a baby daughter at High Point hospital on Wednesday, August 10. The young lady will bear the name of Elizabeth Anne Martin. Mrs. Martin before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Welch, daughter of the late Mr. Walter P. Welch and Mrs. Welch.

Miss Blanche Armfield of Concord was the week-end guest of her aunt, Mrs. R. T. Pickens. She teaches in a junior college in Charitone, Iowa, and expects to leave about September 1 to resume her work after spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armfield in Concord.

Mrs. R. H. Gunn who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs Lee Northcutt, at McFarlan, Anson county for three weeks, is expected at home in a few days. Her husband will drive down and bring her back with him.

Mr. and Mrs. 'Thomas Moffitt returned to Ramseur Monday afternoon after a visit to their daughter, Mrs. John C. Whitesell.

We are much pleased to announce that C. L. Gray, Jr., is resting more comfortably today. He has a light attack of enfluenza.

The Senior C. E. society held an interesting meeting with Miss Lois Snipes on Steele St., Monday evening.

Miss Clair Douglas is spending a few weeks in Asheville. She taught in the Vacation Church school for two weeks.

* * *

Calvary, Greensboro.—Our pastor was in the pulpit Sunday morning. He spoke on, "The Soul's Greatest Asset."

Sunday evening the Mission club gave a four-act play, "Religious Eudcation in Home, Church, and School." They gave a splendid performance. An offering was received for Missions. Miss Eloise Hayes, of Norfolk, Va., sang the offertory solo. The young folks have been asked to give this play at Midway M. P. church in the near future.

Last Friday evening Circle number 1 of the auxiliary held its ice cream supper. Due to occasional light showers the cream was sold on the church steps. They sold out and wish to thank all who attended.

The Ladies' auxiliary met Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coble on Tabernace road. A picnic supper was served on the lawn. A large crowd was present, approximately 65. A business session was held after the supper. We wish to thank the Cobles for their gracious hospitality. They have a lovely place for a picnic. All who attended enjoyed themselves hugely.

We wish to welcome Mrs. E. R. Ward into our midst. She was baptized at the morning service last Sunday and joined with us.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

* * *

Thomasville, First. — The third quarterly conference was held on Wednesday evening, August 3, with a very good attendance. The vote for delegate to Annual Conference was counted, and Mrs. I. A. Teague was declared elected, with Mrs. T. A. Lloyd as alternate.

During the summer months we have had a number of visiting speakers for Sunday evening services During August we had the pleasure of hearing Rev. O. C. Loy, pastor of North Davidson charge, and Brother Geo. Barrier, a member of Canaan church, of the same charge.

On the first Sunday night in August we had with us Dr. H. W. Maier, pastor of Community church, this city, and on last Sunday evening Rev. D. D. Groom of the Kernersville charge, brought us the message. Dr. Maier used as his subject, "What Am I Worth?" Rev. Groom took his text from the eigth chapter of First Kings and brought us a very helpful message on the subject of "A Successful Failure." We were indeed, glad to have these visitors with us.

The Minnis circle met Monday evening. Devotionals were lead by Mrs. T. A. Lloyd and 26 members answered to the roll call. Mrs. W. J. Loftin conducted the study of "God and the Census." This group of boys and girls enjoyed an outing on July 19 at the country home of Messrs. Knox and Marx Teague. A picnic supper was served to about 25.

The Woman's auxiliary held its monthly meeting on last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The president, Mrs. A. H. Ragan, presided. Mrs Wilson Myers was program leader and the theme used was "Youth's Day."

Our Senior C. E. society held an outdoor meeting Sunday evening. There were 62 members present with quite a few visitors. Mr. Ishmael Dorsett was program leader, using as his topic, "Our Father's World." The C. E. society has accepted an invittion, through our pastor, to a program to Pine Grove church, on Kernersville charge.

Miss Rosa May Pearson has returned to her home in Roanoke Rapids after spending several weeks with her sister, Mrs. T. Glenn Madison.

Miss Hattie Mae Teague is still confined to her home on Sunrise Ave., but we are pleased to report her condition somewhat improved.

We were happy to have the Christian Endeavor City Union meet with us on the evening of the 5th. Mr. Luther Medlin, state president of Christian Endeavor, was with us and brought a most interesting and helpful message. Mr. Medlin commented upon the large attendance and interest. He added that Thomasville might be hit with an economic depression but that there were no signs of a C. E. depression.

Our attendance at the morning service is holding up well. Rev. Madison is bringing us some splendid sermons. The church appreciates the fine work that our pastor and his wife are doing. Our attendance Sunday evening was 108.

The revival meeting will begin the first Sunday in September, with Rev. O. C. Loy as pulpit help.

We are looking forward to having the Children from our High Point home with us on the Fourth Sunday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. A. H. Ragan's class of young men and the Ladies' auxiliary are to be the guests of Mrs. I. A. Teague at a watermelon feast on Thursday evening. A MEMBER.

* * *

Midland. — Our revival meeting began at Loves Grove Sunday. We had unusually large crowds Sunday and Monday with good interest. Bro. C. G. Isley of Lexington is doing the preaching. Brother J. W. Hulin, a former pastor, brought us a soul-stirring message Monday evening. He is greatly beloved by the people and they heard him gladly. He will preach at Midland the third Sunday in August.

Our revival meeting will begin at Midland the fourth Sunday in August. Rev. D. I. Garner will be the help. We are trying to arrange our meetings so that we will not be forced to close pre-maturely for another meeting. In these days of uncertainty it takes time to have a revival. Brethren, pray for us.

PASTOR.

* * *

Lexington, Mt, Carmel.—Sunday, August 7, was a great day for Mt. Carmel. One hundred and twenty-five were present for Sunday school. This being Home Coming day, Rev. Charlie Grant preached a wonderful sermon at 11 o'clock on "Home Coming." A number of people were heard saying that his message was one among the best ever heard. Dinner was served on the grounds. The afternoon program began at 2 'clock with the following laymen and members making short talks: Mrs. H. M. Koont, Mr. D. T. Fritts, Mr. Adam Young, Mr. Clayton Koontz, Mr. Jeff Fritts, Mr. Hege, Mr. H. V. Swicegood, and Rev. Atlas Ridge, a former pastor, also made a short talk. It was indeed a pleasure to have all these splendid speeches from these men who were reared in and near Mt. Carmel community. The revival services begin Sunday night with Rev. C. B. Way, of West Forsyth charge, arriving in time for the evening service. His sermons were forceful and helpful both encouraging the members to recognize their responsibility in bringing back the wandering ones and saving the unchurched. It was indeed a pleasure to have Rev. Mr. Way and family with us during the revival.

Some of the largest crowds that ever attended Mt. Carmel were present during the revival and one among the best revivals was witnessed with something like fourteen conversions and nine additions to the church as follows: Mrs. Adam Berrier and four sons, Claude, Bruce, Hubert and Paul, from Shiloh church. Mr. J. I. Tussey from the Reformed and Mrs. Cliff Rowe from Welcome M. E. church and Willie Leigh Fritts and Jack Rowe on confession of faith. We were indeed fortunate in having special music both Sunday and at each night service by a number of different ones.

……

Mr. J. G. Trantham is slowly improving at the Davidson hospital where he is under treatment.

The last coat of paint is being added to the church, which has added much to its appearance.

The next appointment which is the third Sunday afternoon at three o'clock was called off due to the revival at Shiloh beginning.

ZULA FRITTS, Reporter.

◆

Shiloh.—The Y. M. C. A.class heard a splendid lesson taught by their teacher, Mr. Jesse Evans, on Sunday, August 14. The class was called to order by their president, Mr. Paul Leonard, and all sang together an opening song, "The Old Rugged Cross." Mr. Leonard turned the lesson over to the teacher.

In Mr. Evan's talk he said that if people don't respect their earthly parents they can't respect their Heavenly Father. That the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," does not only mean deliberately taking a life but many people have been murdered by the unkind and slanderous things said about them; that Christ said if a person is angry with his brother without reason, he is guilty of murder; and many other interesting things.

We are sorry to say that our pastor is ill from an attack with his heart. He is a little better new and we hope that he can be back with us next Sunday to begin the protracted meeting.

W. FRANK SHOAF,
Class Reporter.

◆

Spring Church Charge.—Our meeting began at Lebanon the first Sunday in August. Rev. H. S. B. Thompson preached an able and interesting sermon at the 11 o'clock hour. Rev. Mr. Mustian of Roanoke Rapids preached for us in the afternoon. He also gave us an able discourse.

Dr. L. W. Gerringer came Monday, and stayed through Friday night. Everybody was highly pleased with Dr. Gerringer. All three churches on the charge attended and cooperated with a fine spirit. Members of all other denominations in reach entered into the meeting with the same spirit as our own. There were thirty-one professions, and nineteen accessions. Three others are to join elsewhere.

Dr. Gerringer proved himself an able and tireless revivalist. Both pastor and people are greatly pleased with the helper and the results of his efforts.

We are to begin the third Sunday at Spring church. Brother Fogleman will come to our aid on Monday.

When going to our car after the closing service at Lebanon Friday night, we found seven fine friers in our car, placed there by friends. Each giver has our thanks.

Mrs. Rupert Robinson was very sick a few days ago, but was better last report.

We are vacationing in Guilford county this week.

Wm. H. NEESE.

◆

Shiloh.—Rev. R.S. Troxler, the faithful and beloved pastor of Shiloh, has been right sick since Saturday morning. He was unable to preach at Friendship Saturday night or Sunday and is still in bed. We all sincerely hope for him a speedy and complete recovery.

We extend to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Arnold who live near Shiloh, our sympathy in the loss of their nine-months-old baby. We commend the parents to the Great Comforter.

Mrs. Gilbert Trantham, one of this community's oldest men, is critically ill at the Davidson hospital. He has had leakage of the heart for sometime, but has been seriously ill for two weeks. May he be sustained in his hour of need.

Mrs. Abner Leonard, who fell three months ago and broke her leg, is able to walk some with crutches, but is not yet able to come to Sunday school because she can't walk that far. A prayer service was held at her home the first Sunday afternoon.

We send out to all sons and daughters and friends of Shiloh an urgent invitation to be present next Sunday, August 21, which date marks the beginning of the revival meeting. Come not only to see old friends and loved ones, but also to worship and to once more enjoy that sweet spiritual fellowship which is always so precious to all Christians. Come praying and if you can't come, pray for us any way. Yours in His service,

MRS. W. L SHOAF, Reporter

◆

Kistler's Church, Cleveland Charge. — The revival meeting began Sunday, August 7, and closed August 12. The services were well attended and much interest shown. Our pastor, Rev. C. E. Ridge, brought us very interesting and soul-inspiring messages at all 12 services.

There were 12 conversions and two new members added to the church and a great revival of the church. We feel that thishas been one of the greatest church revivals that we have had in many years.

On Sunday night, we were pleased to have Mr. Hoyt Wood from Handy, Davidson county to conduct the services. We were glad to have him with us, and extend him a welcome to come again.

We are very grateful to the visitors that came and took part in these services especially the ones that took part in the singing. We want you to feel that you are always welcome to our church.

Our Sunday school is growing by the results of the revival. On last Sunday our Sunday school was doubled in attendance. We have been having thirty on roll and last Sunday we had sixty present. We pray God's richest blessing on our Sunday school and church that it may keep on growing in service for the Master.

I am sure the church is with me when I attempt to scatter flowers on the rough path way of our good pastor. We love him for the good preacher he is, and for the good man he is. Much desire has been expressed for his return for another year. He has been so good, we feel we can't do without him and his family. With best wishes to the Herald and its many readers.

REPORTER.

◆

Liberty.—At the 11 o'clock service the minister, Rev. M. P. Chambliss delivered a helpful and earnest mesage, based on the text, "In quietness and confidence shall be your strength."

It is difficult to find words to express just how much we appreciate Mr. Chambliss and his earnest soul-stirring sermons. He is a man of faith and experience. Who really believes in the geedness of our Heavenly Father. May the Lord abundantly bless him as he labors in His vineyard.

The Woman's auxiliary will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. Mrs. F. A. Shepard, president, will preside. This organization is doing splendid work.

Miss Marie Ward was leader of the Christian Endeavor the first Sunday night. This was an impressive meeting. The Christian Endeavor will enjoy a watermelon feast Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wiley.

The third quarterly conference will convene at Moriah church on the third Sunday night.

Rev. Mr. Chambliss was the dinner guest of Mrs. F. A. Shepard Sunday.

Miss Pauline Kennett, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul S. Kennett of High Point college, was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Estella Ray, recently. Dr. Kennett is a much loved former pastor of Liberty church.

Miss Bertina Shepard is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Ownbey in Greensboro.

Miss Marjorie Elkins was leader of the Christian Endeavor service last night. Her subject was, "Our Father's World."

Dr. A. D. Gregg gave an interesting and inspiring talk on the "Beauty and Grandeur of Nature."

Little Miss Cladora Curtis sang very sweetly, "This is My Father's World," accompanied on the piano by Little Miss Verle Ward.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

◆

Union Chapel, Granville Circuit.—Our revival closed on the fifth Sunday with 14 services. Three prayers services were held previous to these and much interest taken in them. The pastor, Rev. C. L. Spencer did the preaching. His sermons were all good and inspirational. Attendance was very good, especially at the beginning of the revival. Quite a number rededicated their lives to Christ and much interest was shown. There were four new members added.

Once after a revival I heard a leading church member make this remark, "Well, we will get back to normal again." Friends, we don't want to go back where we were but go on higher and doing more than we have in the past, and we are not doing it, but are having C. E. and prayer services combined each Sunday night since the revival closed There were seventy present at the last meeting. We want the prayers of the people that we may go forward.

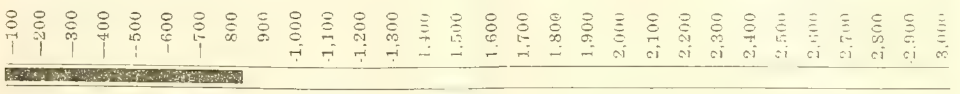
The C. E. officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Eugene Huff; vice-president, Mr. R. M. Edwards; secretarytreasurer, Miss Josephine Edwards.

Our Sunday school attendance is holding on well, considering the extreme hot, dry

◆

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	14¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	3¼
Asheboro	36	15½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	16½
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	11¾
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	12½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	2
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1
Guilford	43	14½
Halifax	52	13½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¼
High Point, First	72	47½
High Point, Lebanon	31	22
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moriah	31	16¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	9¾
Mebane	28	7
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11½
Mocksville	50	7¼
Mount Hermon	92	14
Mount Pleasant	62	23
North Davidson	53	12½
Orange	70	21
Pinnacle Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	..
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	9½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	16
Seeloy Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	9
Tabernacle	41	22
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	30½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	20⅜

◆

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Pag Fourteen)

weather, people visiting, and various other reasons. The picnic was held on Thursday after the third Sunday in July at Mr. N. F. Parham's pond, with a large attendance and a bountiful supply of dinner besides two pots of stew, ice tea and lemonade.

Several of our members have gone from us since my last report: Mrs. Tony Edwards, Mr. Carter Hedgepeth, Mrs. J. L. Stone and Mr. Huliett Hunt. These will be greatly missed in our church and community.

Mr. Walter Finch has gone to Baltimore for an operation and is in a serious condition.

REPORTER.

◆

Bellmont, Mt. Hermon Charge.—Children's Day service was held Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock. The pageant, "The King's Children," was presented in a very impressive way. Misses Carrie Nicholson, Nonie Coble, and Margaret Pickett deserve much praise for preparing such a splendid program. The offering fo Missions amounted to $12.21.

Our revival will begin the fourth Sunday in August with Brother A. G. Dixon, of the Children's Home, High Point, as pulpit help. Let us work and pray that our church may be greatly revived and that many souls will be saved. We hope to have a large number of our old members, who are living in other communities, worship with us throughout the meeting.

The third quarterly conference will be held at Friendship church Saturday afternoon, August 20, at two o'clock. All church officials are urged to be present.

We are sorry to hear of Miss Beatrice Shutterly, one of our faithful Sunday school girls, being in Duke hospital, Durham, where she has had an operation for her eyes. Hope she will soon be well. REPORTER.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Moore

James Edwin Moore was born in Alamance county on August 30, 1873. After several years of suffering and several days of critical illness he passed away at his home in Burlington on July 27, 1932. He bore his suffering, which was intense at times, with much patience.

In the passing of Mr. Moore, his home has been bereft of a loving and faithful husband and a devoted father; his church has suffered the loss of a loyal member, one who served her well as Sunday school teacher and as a member of various boards and committees; his friends have lost a friend whose advice was sound and whose friendship was rich and inspiring; his community has lost a citizen, progressive in spirit, and high in ideals.

Mr. Moore sought the opinion of his pastor in the civic and business affairs of life as well as in spiritual relationships and obligations. He had a very keen sense of justice and always followed the right as he saw and understood the right. He often said that after all the most important thing in life was not the accumulation of things material, but the laying up of treasure in heaven. He made it very clear that this life was not an end in itself, but a place of preparation for the larger and fuller life of heaven. He made these things so clear and placed such emphasis upon them that the writer believes that his physical death was simply the entrance into the larger and fuller life of heaven. His death was his coronation of the faithful child of God.

May the bereaved be comforted in their sorrow and have a consciousness that the eternal God is their refuge, a verp present and all sufficient help in all the experiences of life. Fred W. Paschall.

◆

Sink

Not now but in the coming years; it may be in the better land, we'll read the meaning of our tears, and then up there we'll understand are the words which convey our thoughts to you better than we can. Why a home seemingly so happy, should be shattered, and hopes so bright should be crushed, is more than our finite minds can understand, yet it is death; and death is always shrouded in mystery; and the only light that can pierce it, and the only hand that can conquer it, and rob it of its black terror and sting, is Christ.

Yes, she whose form lies beneath the new made mound is sleeping the sleep of death, and should we call her this morning, she would not answer, and only Jesus Christ can wake her some time in the future; but why should we try to wake her when she sleeps so peacefully? She is in His care, He watches over her. She is safely sleeping there.

We did our best to keep her, incessant prayer was offered for her, answered too, in this I will give you grace to bear it. Loving hands outstretched tried to save and bring back the one so dear, but our tender Heavenly Father said, not now, but then you shall have your desire. So, Holy Father, help us to be submissive to Thy will.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

To her church she was faithful and true, to her family she was devoted, to all who knew her she was a friend indeed; the family, the church, the community and friends will miss her, for she has gone, yet not gone, for she will live in the memory of each.

We stand in awe in the presence of death and repeat the words of the poet, "Lead, kindly light, amid encircling gloom, lead thou me on; the night is dark and I am far from home, lead thou me on. Keep thou my feet I do not ask to see, the distant scene, one step enough for me, so long Thy power hath blessed me, sure it will lead me on. O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent, till the night is gone and with the morn these angel faces smile, which I have loved long since and lost a while."

She had faith, for the fiercer the storm the closer she would wrap the mantle of faith about her, and closer she would cling to the Rock of Ages, for the night before she went to the hospital she called all the children in to join her in reading and prayer around the family altar, and on the following Wednesday as she started to the operating room, she said to her husband, "What ever happens will be right, for all is well with my soul."

Claudie M. Foster Sink was born May 2, 1885, she lived a short and useful life for 47 years, two months and 14 days, on July the 16 she feel asleep to be awakened on the Resurrection Morn.

On Decemeber 22, 1920 she was happily united in marriage to R. B. Sink. God blessed this union with two children.

She made a profession and joined Reeds Baptist church in young womanhood, about ten years ago she moved her membership to Shiloh M. P. church, where she remained a faithful member unto death.

In her passing many are left behind, for she leaves a husband, R. B. Sink, two children, Esther and Paul Franklin, five step-children, Kyle, Reva, Ruth, Homer, and Beatrice; her father G. W. Foster, six sisters, Mrs. J. W. Koontz, of Reeds; Mrs. George Redell, Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. M. P. Farabee, Reeds; Mrs. Burton Charles, Lexington; Mrs. James Hall, Lexington, and Esther Foster, of Reeds. Two brothers, Mr. Ray Foster, of Churchland, and Mr. Wade Foster, of Tyro.

Her pastor will miss her, for she was always at the post of duty, to do anything she could do for her church. She bore her burden well, for during her suffering she never complained, but always carried her cross with a smile. She was held in high esteem and loved by all who knew her, for about one thousand people came to the church to pay her their last tribute of respect, and covered the grave with flowers as a token of appreciation.

Rest in peace, beloved friend;
For thee, death could have no sting,
And Heaven is nearer because thou art there.
It seems such a little way to me across to that strange country—
The Beyond—
And yet, not strange—for it has grown to be,
The home of those of whom I am so fond.
It is but crossing with abated breath,
And white set face—a little strip of sea—
To find the loved ones waiting
On the shore
More beautiful, more precious than before—
Waiting and watching for you
And—and me.

Her pastor,
R. S. TROXLER.

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. C. W. Bates	$ 2.00
Rev. J. R. Anderson	2.00
Rev. Robert Short	2.00
E. L. Douglas	2.00
Mrs. W. G. Starr, Grace	2.00
Rev. B. M. Williams	1.00
Miss Janie Blackwood, Union Grove	1.00
Printing Deficit
Moriah, by Rev. M. P. Chambliss	2.80
Rev. H. L. Isley, personal	1.00

Thanks!

HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Modern, Fire-Proof,
Well-Equipped Buildings

$380.00, Total cost of dormitory student for Matriculation Fee, Tuition, Room and Board.
$150.00, Total cost for Day Student

Methodist Protestant Owned and Operated

Standard "A" Grade

Courses leading to A.B. and B.S. degree in English, History, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Language, Science and Chemical Engineering, Education, Home Economics, Business Administration, Religious Education and Music

The Place for Methodist Protestant Boys and Girls

For further information address

HIGH POINT COLLEGE - - - HIGH POINT, N. C.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., AUGUST 25, 1932 NUMBER 41

Seminary Library 5dee2
Westminster MD

The Coming One

When sin began its fearful sway
And human life was dark and sad,
The promise of the Coming Christ
Long helped to make believers glad.

When Christ had come and must away,
He did not leave us void of hope;
A Promised One quite soon would come
With light to guide us as we grope.

Today we look for Coming King,
For Him who came to save our souls:
"I'll come again" was His glad word,
"To gather Mine from utmost poles."

Our gracious God thus feeds our hope
And saves us from abject despair;
His promise is a firm amen,
And men may hope quite everywhere!

To every age a Coming One!
For God projects His love afar,
And cheers the souls of sinful men
By rays of bright new morning star.

◆

Substitute for Walking

Walking is still a very popular mode of travel. Most of the creatures go out walking almost every day. The Centipede is still seen in the procession, proud of his hundred legs. Six-legged creatures abound, many of them equipped also with flying apparatus. Perhaps the best equipped for walking are the four-footed creatures. Their balance is perhaps best secured and they fall least often. The proudest of all the walkers are the bipeds with their heads high in air. Some of them have wings and can mount up to the heavens.

In this age of invention wheels are taking the place of legs and riding is taking the place of walking. Riding machines are one-wheeled, two-wheeled, three-wheeled, four-wheeled, eight-wheeled. Speed varies from a snail's pace to a hundred or more miles an hour. But if you want to make a quick, safe and easy journey to the Land of Nod, I would recommend a vehicle that has no wheels or wings—an old-fashioned rocking chair.

◆

—Western farmers are putting on a new sort of strike—a strike for higher prices for their farm products. They picket the roads to stop trucks going to market.

Missed at Church

Are you so faithful in church attendance that your friends will form a searching party if you are absent just one time? This occurred last Sunday at Fair Grove Methodist Protestant Church, Rockingham County, in the case of Miss V. E. Hopkins. When she was absent from church service it was known that there was something the matter. In the afternoon two friends of the neighborhood went to investigate. They were horrified to find the body of Miss Hopkins lying dead on the floor of her bedroom. The coroner's examination discovered evidence that she had been strangled. Her church clothes were found laid out on her bed, indicating her purpose to go to church. She was a woman of noble character, aged seventy, sister of Brother J. W. Hopkins. Rev. J. L. Trollinger, her pastor, conducted the funeral service on Tuesday. The crime of her death is wrapped in mystery.

◆

Is All Right With the World?

It has been said that God is in His heaven and all is right with the world. Is it true? It is true that God still reigns over the world (through Jesus Christ), but He reigns in such a way as to permit wrong in the world. Man is given liberty to exercise his free agency and he chooses to do wrong. Yet God causes the wrath of man to praise Him. He brings good out of evil. The world is not as bad as man would make it if left absolutely free to follow his own devices. God protects His people from many injustices that the wickedness of man would inflict. Good men may trust in God and evil men may well fear Him.

There are those who assert that whatever is is right, but that can be justified in only a very special sense. We may say that it is no doubt right for God to permit the wrongs He does permit, but those wrongs are still wrongs.

◆

A Boy's Last Will and Testament

A schoolboy accidentally swallowed a little steel ball. He went home at the close of the day in distress of mind. He went straight to bed, telling his mother that he might be dead in the morning; if so, he wanted to be buried in a coffin. Morning came and he was not dead as he might have been if the steel ball had been shot into him from a gun. And he had to postpone the pleasure of being buried in a beautiful shiny coffin. But he had shown somewhat how a boy feels and thinks.

◆

—The editor of Zion's Herald, Boston, expresses himself as sorely disappointed with Hoover's plan for the management of the liquor traffic.

WISE TREATMENT OF CRIMINALS

By LUTHER K. LONG

Two or three years ago, in Michigan, a woman was sentenced to imprisonment for life on being convicted for the fourth time of selling intoxicating liquor illegally.

This was under a law, enacted many years ago, making a life sentence mandatory for one convicted for the fourth time of a felony. Violation of the Eighteenth Amendment is a felony, so the habitual criminal law automatically applied to this offense.

This Michigan woman, in her fourth offense, had only a small amount of booze in her possession. Moreover, she was the mother of ten children. What a cry was raised by the wet press: "The mother of ten children condemned to prison for life for possessing a pint!" That she was an habitual criminal was lost sight of. And that she was such a neglectful mother that the most of her ten children were dead was not mentioned.

Eventually, wisely or unwisely, the law was repealed and, later, the woman was allowed to go free. This pleased the lawbreakers and those who sympathized with them, but nothing special was done concerning the treatment of habitual criminals.

Around 1910, before prohibition days, a large inter-denominational association of ministers appointed a committee to interview their circuit judge. He had been assessing rather light penalties for offenses against the liquor laws—for there were offenses against the liquor laws even in those far-away prohibition days—and the ministers thought it would be well to tone up the Court's system a bit. When the committee called upon the Judge, I was asked to lead off. Following my statement of our desires, the Judge said that he had been called upon by saloon keepers, and others, who protested that he was imposing too heavy penalties, that they couldn't stand it.

"Have they quit violating the law?" I asked.

"Well, no," replied the Judge. "But they say they can't pay such heavy fines when business is as it is."

"What we ministers are concerned with, your Honor," I said, "is that they obey the law, then there will be no court proceedings, no fines. "It is like this," I continued. "In the old school-days when one of our gang was kept in after school to be punished we boys hung around until he came out. 'Did it hurt?' was our first question. If he grinned and bravely stroked the seat of his pants, we knew he hadn't been really punished. But if his head was bowed, if his hands rubbed deeply into his tear-moist face, and if he was careful how he sat down, we felt quite convinced that he had been adequately punished—and if he quit that particular offense, we knew he had. What we want is that these particular offenders who come before your Honor, and whose habits of law-breaking are well-known, shall be given such stiff fines and jail sentences—one sentence following another at short intervals—that they will become convinced that they are being punished. This, we think, will so work upon them that they will eventually become law-abiding citizens."

I rode to the polls for the 1928 Presidential election with some friends. Before we got out of the car we noticed a man and his wife leisurely driving here and there in their nice new car. I knew them by sight as rather prominent bootleggers. They were Democrats, Roman Catholics and, as I have said, bootleggers. That looked like two good votes for Al Smith. But they kept driving about, and did not seem anxious to deposit their ballots. I was told later, by a woman who usually voted the Democratic ticket and who had an opportunity to know the facts, that this couple continued to drive around until they were handed some of the good money that was circulating for the benefit of certain voters. You see they were practical politicians, as well as successful in business!

A few weeks ago I was visiting in that community. I asked about these people. The man had been arrested for operating a still, tried, convicted, fined, and sentenced to serve a term in prison. So shocked was he at this that he fainted in court and had to have the services of a physician. So effectively did he and his wife and the physician plead with the court that his prison sentence was suspended, with certain guarantees of good behaviour. He says he is now through with booze. It is rather interesting that, like Adam, he blames his wife for all his troubles: "She urged me to get into the business and make money as other men were doing, threatening to leave me if I didn't."

What shall we do with the criminal, especially the habitual criminal? is a serious question. Vengeance seems to be the most prominent thing in the minds of many. Fine the offender, put him in prison, make him suffer, give him a chance to think it over in close confinement for a long time, let him know he can't commit such offenses without suffering for it. The result is that a fine to a prosperous offender counts for little, and the displeasure of society counts for less. A prison term, with the usual after treatment, tends to make a confirmed criminal.

If offenders can only be impressed that the crime is the thing that displeases society, and that the desire and habit of offending is the thing we want to cure, the way should be much clearer and easier. It isn't necessary to overwork the idea that the criminal is sick—mentally and morally and, perhaps physically. There is, however, much truth in it. The giving up of criminality, and the restoration of the offender to the normal life of society, is the main object in dealing with lawbreakers; and this must be made clear to the offenders themselves, and their co-operation secured, if worth while results are to be obtained.

I have seen nothing better that the suggestions of August Vollmer, chief of police of Berkeley, California. Chief Vollmer is one of the country's leading authorities on police matters. He says:

"1. All commitments to penal institutions should be for indefinite periods, as in cases of persons committed for insanity.

"2. Persons received at penal institutions should be studied by experts in the science of behavior and psychology.

"3. From the day of admittance, a program of rehabilitation should be outlined and followed for each individual.

"4. The individual should be observed from time to time, as a patient in a hospital is watched, to see if the program for him is having its desired effect.

"5. No prisoner should be released until the qualified experts are satisfied he can be trusted to re-enter society.

"6. Released prisoners should be supervised for a reasonable period to determine without doubt that the desired readjustment has been brought about."

Three other suggestions may be added:

1. There should be worked out a system that would make prison life as nearly self-supporting as possible. An idle prisoner is a menace to himself, and can give no assurance to society that he will conduct himself properly when freed. Shops, farms, and certain forms of construction work can be made a part of prison equipment, discipline, and support.

2. Adequate measures should be taken to prevent defective criminals—and many habitual criminals are defective—from propagating their kind. In California and some other states laws provide or this to a certain extent, and the sentiment in favor of such action seems to be growing throughout the country. Our stability, safety, and progress are increasingly endangered by the fertility of our criminal population.

3. Seek divine aid. This is good advice for the criminal. And it is something every reformer needs to do. We should remember that God is in his world hearing the cry of the penitent and aiding those who work for his restoration. All of us have many times been disobedient children. We should never fail to show sympathy and extend a helping hand to those who are undergoing discipline.

ALLEGED BIBLE CONTRADICTIONS

By Rev. James L. Elderdice

It is inevitable that readers of this article will sooner or later come into contact with the mass of atheistic propaganda that is being placed especially in the hands of high school and college students, in which hundreds of alleged contradictions are said to be found in the Bible. Many of the so-called discrepancies can be so easily refuted by a careful reading of the context that one wonders how such assertions came to be made.

But the contradictions to which objections are made are only seeming, not real, and are capable of a rational explanation, though it may take years of study to find it. Fortunately there are certain considerations, which if kept in mind, as we study the Bible will greatly assist in clearing up many supposed difficulties. Then too, books and pamphlets dealing especially with this subject, are now easily procurable by those who desire to possess them.

The attempt to prove the incredibility of the New Testament by asserting that in one place it states that the multitude fed was five thousand with five loaves, and in another place four thousand with seven loaves is met by the fact that these were two distinct miracles, one performed on a mountain and the other in a desert place. It is said that Paul and James teach contradictory doctrines because the former says we are saved by faith, the latter by works. But Paul is considering the subject from one aspect, that of the justification of man before God by faith alone, wholly apart from works, while James speaks of the proofs before men that such faith is possessed because exhibited by works. See how James combines the two aspects when he speaks of Abraham: "Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect."

Many similar incidents could be mentioned, thus explained somewhere in the Scriptures themselves, which serve as a key to assist us in the elucidation of others. At one place it is stated that Jesus baptized, yet a few verses further on it is said that He baptized not. But the former passage is explained to be intended not of baptism performed by Jesus, but by His disciples who baptized in His name: "The Pharisees had heard that Jesus . . . baptized more disciples than John, (Through Jesus Himself baptized not, but His disciples.")

Much is made of apparent contradictions in numbers. The Scriptures sometimes speak in whole, or as we would say, "in round numbers," when an odd or fractional number would be more exact. What more common than to say "There were a thousand men engaged in the battle," when, perhaps, there were really in exact numbers one thousand and sixty-five? Stephen, in his address before the council, says that the children of Israel sojourned in Egypt four hundred years, while both Moses and Paul mentioned four hundred and thirty. In Numbers 14:33, the murmuring Israelites were told that they should wander in the wilderness forty years; but if we compare Numbers 33:3, with Joshua 4:19, we find that some days, if not weeks, were wanting to complete the number: but forty years being a round and entire number, and because, in so many years, a few days were inconsiderable, therefore it is spoken of in this manner.

At one place in Genesis it says that "the souls that came with Jacob into Egypt were 66." A verse or two after we read "the souls of the house of Jacob were 70." The apparent discrepancy disappears when we emphasize "the souls of the house of Jacob," that is the entire Jacobean family were 70—the 66 which came with Jacob, Joseph and his two sons, already in Egypt, 69, and Jacob himself, 70.

There are a few variations in different accounts of the same event. For instance, the four evangelists, in recording the incidents connected with the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ. But variations are not contradictions. In a court trial several witnesses, while they all agree on the essential fact to be proved, may vary in the details. One may have been more impressed by a certain incident than another: he may not have noticed it, his attention having been diverted by something else, or he may have forgotten something that he did see. These little discrepancies do not invalidate the testimony of the witnesses, if they have an established reputation as truthful, honest men.

When Jesus was led away to Caiphas, in the high priest's palace, where the scribes and elders were assembled, John informs us that Peter did not immediately enter in, but that the "other disciple" being known to the high priest went in first, while Peter remained at the gate. "The other disciple then went out and brought in Peter. Matthew, Mark, and Luke have omitted this circumstance. John may have recorded it because they omitted it, and because he was the "other disciple" concerned in it.

The evangelists differ in their statements concerning the title which Pilate set up over the head of Jesus on the Cross. Mark says it was "The King of the Jews." Luke says "This is the King of the Jews. John says "Jesus of Nazareth King of the Jews." But difficulty may be removed by the statement of John, that the title was written in Hebrew, Greek and Latin. It is not improbable that the inscription varied in these languages. One Evangelist may have translated from the Hebrew, another from the Greek and a third from the Latin, and a fourth translated a little differently from another. But there is complete agreement on the main point, that Jesus was "The King of the Jews."

Whatever errors may have been made by copyists, or whatever apparent contradictions may be pointed out, nowhere in the Bible can be found that which contradicts its teachings concerning man's need of salvation, and God's gracious provision of eternal life and a heavenly inheritance for all who will accept them.

Oxford, Maryland.

THE DEPRESSION AND SUMMER CONFERENCE LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL

"Old Man Depression" has succeeded in many fields of endeavor. There remains one, realm, however, in which he has received a crushing defeat! That field is the Summer Conference Leadership Training Program being fostered by the Department of Religious Education and twenty well-organized Conference Councils of Religious (Christian) Education in twenty Conferences of the Methodist Protestant Church.

In our last communication we told of the successful conference schools held in Missouri, Iowa-Missouri, Indiana, Eastern, and North Carolina, during June. The following is a brief summary of conferences held during July and to date:

Illinois—July 4-10

This school had practically the same attendance as that of last year. A goal for one hundred students was set for next summer. There were 68 students enrolled; 12 signed Life Service Declaration cards and five graduated from the Young People's Division. Rev. F. E. Rueckert was the director of the school.

Onondaga—July 11-16

Onondaga broke all records. The school was held separate from the Camp meeting. It was a new experiment and it proved successful. Instead of a handful of students as in previous years this Conference surprised a number of our larger conferences in attendance. There were 118 enrolled; 76 signed Life Service Declaration Cards. Rev. G. Charles Weaver, the director of the school and his co-workers deserve much credit and our congratulations!

Pittsburgh—July 18-24

This Conference School had an increase over last year. Under the efficient leadership of Dean A. J. Green and his co-workers another great school was held. There were 122 students enrolled, 15 graduates; and 48 signed the Life Service Declaration Pledge. We predict a further growth of this work in the Pittsburgh Conference. Rev. J. W. Shell is the newly elected Council President.

West Virginia—July 11-17

At Jackson's Mill, West Virginia, had a Conference School second to none in efficiency. Rev. Ralph Richards, dean and Rev. F. L. Shaffer, the Council President and their helpers certainly stood old man depression off. There were 105 students enrolled; 14 graduates; and 32 signed Life Service Declaration Cards. Larger plans are being made for next summer. Watch West Virginia grow under the leadership of these two constructive leaders.

Maryland—July 25-31

The Maryland School convened in Western Maryland College in Westminster and in the graduating exercise on Sunday afternoon, it was declared the best school ever put on by Maryland. In this service the young people publicly testified as to the value of Vesper services, morning worship periods, evening services, wholesome recreation and abundant fellowship, together with splendid instructors and interesting, helpful, and inspiring classes. There were 199 students enrolled for credit; 82 signing the Life Service Declaration Card and nine graduates. Rev. R. W. White acted as dean of the school, due to Dr. Forlines' illness.

Let us turn to the Southland for additional victories. This section of the country, because of being primarily agricultural has suffered severely in recent years. Not so in leadership training. On with the story!

Georgia—July 11-17

One of our smallest conferences is now united in one common task. Determined to have a trained leadership for each local church, a great project has been undertaken. $552 was pledged for a permanent camp site. The camp will be located in the beautiful natural situation of Clifton Church community, six miles east of Atlanta. Plans are going ahead for two dormitories and a dining hall. A girls' dormitory will be completed in time for next summer's school. The attendance for credit was 56, practically double over last year. One four-year graduate and 22 Life Service Declarations.

Mississippi—July 18-24

This Conference broke all previous records. A pastors' training conference was held at Meridian, Miss., one week prior to the opening of the leadership training conference at Clara, Miss. And what an opening! Attendance more than doubled. 101 enrolled, 15 converted at the altar during the decision service. There were 23 to sign Life Service Cards and three graduates. Plans are made to use the Waynesboro County Agricultural School dormitories and dining hall next year. Funds have already been pledged for this new venture. 200 is the goal for next summer! There may be a two-weeks' school instead of one. Watch Mississippi forge ahead! Miss Bettie Ridgway and her helpers deserve much credit for this splendid work.

Louisiana—July 25-31

Can hardly believe it—but it's true, nevertheless. Ninety-three students enrolled. Almost double over last year which was high-water mark for Lawrence Little's home conference. There were 35 Life Service Declarations, and 93 receiving credit. Plans were laid for a great school at Grayson next summer. A committee was appointed to secure a permanent camp site since the school has grown so rapidly. A delegation of three from this school attended the school in Magnolia, Ark., two weeks later.

Alabama—August 1-7

At Robinson Springs near Montgomery, 52 students had a great week. One more student than last year. Thirty-five signed Life Service Declarations. One young man answered definitely the call to the ministry. Ambitious plans were made for next summer. "150 in attendance at Montgomery the first week in July, 1933" is the slogan. Much credit for this school belongs to Rev. W. O. Lynch, the Alabama Council President and Dean. There were five graduates.

Arkansas—August 8-14

Because of a lack of funds this Conference did not have a school last summer. The work is now re-established. Results: 43 finished work for credit. Thirteen answered the call to the ministry, mission fields and other phases of full-time Christian service. One young man, having had three years in college, is to become the associate pastor to Rev. C. A. Calhoun. These two young men will supply the two beautiful churches at Haynesville, La., and Magnolia, Ark. Eleven others signed for definite Christian work in their local churches. This school has put new life and vision into the work of the Magnolia church, which a few months ago was about to be lost to our Communion. Plans were made for two schools next summer, one in or near Magnolia and another in the northern section of the conference. The success of this school is due largely to the work of Rev. C. A. Calhoun, the new pastor of the Magnolia church and the newly-elected president of the Arkansas Conference Council.

In our next report a summary of the rest of our Conferences will be given. Ohio met last week at Sabina. The report has not reached us. East Texas (Paris), Kansas and Michigan are in session this week, August 15-21. Central Texas (Westminster College) and Fort Smith-Oklahoma follow. The season closes with a two-day's Young People's Rally of the new Texahoma Conference to be held at Comanche, Okla., Saturday and Sunday, September 3-4.

The Lord has wonderfully blessed our efforts this summer. We are profoundly grateful to all those who have cooperated in this undertaking.

Yours for "EVERY CHURCH WITH A GROWING LEADERSHIP."

F. L. Gibbs, Director of Leadership Training.
Wichita, Kan., Aug. 15, 1932.

NEGLECT

Neglect is one of the most dangerous words in human language. It calls for no effort, no talent or ability. More souls are lost by this one little word than any other one thing. Neglect is the universal destroyer. This little serpent has lurked among the roses, in the hedges, to kill the eternal hope of mankind. Neglect a garden and it grows up in weeds. Neglect a house and it falls into decay. Neglect your business and it is ruined. Neglect your health and you will lose it. Neglect your house and it will become a wreck. Neglect your religion and you will lose your soul. It is simply letting things alone. It calls for no effort. It is the simplest, easiest thing in the world, the costliest and most fatal thing.—He. 2:3.

G. F. Millaway.

FINDING GOD IN JESUS CHRIST

One of the most graphic descriptions of how a sinful soul finds its way to God is Henry Ward Beecher's story of his Christian experience. Here it is:

I was a child of teaching and prayer; I was reared in the household of faith; I knew the Catechism as it was taught; I was instructed in the Scriptures as they were expounded from the pulpit asd read by me; and yet, 'till after I was twenty-one years old, I groped without the knowledge of God in Christ Jesus.

I know not what the tablets of eternity have written down, but I think that when I stand in Zion and before God, the brightest thing I shall look upon will be that blessed morning in May when it pleased God to reveal to my wandering soul the idea that it was his nature to love a man in his sins for the sake of helping him out of them; that he did not do it out of compliment to Christ, or to a law, or a plan of salvation, but sorry, that he was not furious with wrath toward the sinner, but pitied him—in short, that he felt toward me as my mother felt toward me, to whose eyes my wrong-doing brought tears, who never pressed me so close to her as when I had done wrong, and who would fain with her yearning love lift me out of trouble.

And when I found that Jesus Christ had such a disposition, and that when his disciples did wrong he drew them closer to him than he did before—and when pride, and jealousy, and rivalry, and all vulgar and worldly feelings rankled in their bosoms, he opened his heart to them as a medicine to heal these infirmities: when I found that it was Christ's nature to lift men out of weakness to strength, out of impurity to goodness, out of everything low and debasing to superiority, I felt that I had found a God.

I shall never forget the feelings with which I walked forth that May morning. The golden pavements will never feel to my feet as then the grass felt to them; and the singing of the birds in the woods—for I roamed in the woods—was cacophonous to the sweet music of my thoughts; and there were no forms in the universe which seemed to me graceful enough to represent the Being, a conception of whose character had just dawned on my mind.

I felt, when I had with the Psalmist called upon the heavens, the earth, the mountains, the streams, the floods, the birds, the beasts, and universal being to praise God, that I had called upon nothing that could praise him enough for the revelation of such a nature as that in the Lord Jesus Christ.

GOOD EXAMPLES TO FOLLOW

The obedience of Abel.—Heb. 11:4.
The piety of Enoch.—Heb. 11:5.
The perseverance of Noah.—Heb. 11:7.
The venture of Abraham.—Heb. 11:8-10.
The self-denial of Moses.—Heb. 11:24-26.
The courage of David.—1 Sam. 17:32, 47.
The patience of Job.—James 5:11.
The prayers of Elijah.—James 5:17, 18.
The spiritual force of Peter.—Acts 2:15, 37-41.
The missionary zeal of Paul.—Acts 9:19, 20.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Our Sick Ministers

THE HERALD of last week brought us the first information that Brother H. F. Surratt belongs to this list. We understand that he is in Park View Hospital, Rocky Mount, N. C., and that he has undergone an operation for appenticitis. We trust that he is doing well, though we have no late information. He will have our deep sympathy and earnest prayers.

We are happy to report that some of our sick brethren are better. Mrs. Forlines writes, under date of August 17, that Dr. Forlines expected to be sitting up by Saturday or Sunday, and that he is talking "home" now where he can "convalesce in a less expensive environment." He desires his North Carolina friends to know that he has been greatly helped by their interest and their prayers.

On last Saturday we had a brief visit with Brother Troxler. He was up, and expected to fill his appointment at Shiloh yesterday (Sunday).

After filling our appointments on the Orange charge yesterday we drove over to Duke University hospital to see Brother Russell. He was cheery of spirit and seemed in most excellent physical condition, considering the fact that he has just had a large stone removed from one of his kidneys. He hopes to return to his home in Creswell in about ten days.

We have no word at this writing from our other sick brethren. Our earnest hope is that they are better. We assure all of our continued interest and prayers.

Assigned

On the 17th Rev. G. I. Humphreys, D.D., was assigned to the pastorate of Grace Church to fill the unexpired term of Rev. R. J. Tamblyn, resigned. Dr. Humphreys will assume the active pastorate of the church September 1, at which time the resignation of Mr. Tamblyn becomes effective. We predict for Dr. Humphreys and the congregation of Grace the most pleasant relations during the coming two months, and we are sure that the church will be blessed by his ministry.

West End, Greensboro

Sunday, August 14th. On this date we were with this church in the morning service. The congregation was gratifying in number and pleasing in attentiveness. We noted the presence of quite a number of young people. Upon our arrival we found a large Sunday School class of mixed adults assembled in the main auditorium of the church and being taught by Mr. Allen, a member of the legal profession of the city. Mr. Allen was a visiting teacher for this Sunday, we understood. The Sunday School is well organized, as well as other departments of the church. The women maintain an active Auxiliary and the young people a good C. E. society. This church is well located in a promising field, and we predict for it increasing growth. Brother Curry and a part of his family were away on a brief vacation. They will return soon, and take up the work with renewed vigor for the fall closing. Brother Curry is giving his best to this charge, as is his custom, and we believe that the good seeds that he is sowing will produce a harvest for the church and the kingdom. We trust that there may be increasing evidences of this for him and his people as the year lengthens. We understand that 17 persons have already been received into the church during the year. A heavy church debt, for these times, is somewhat hampering to our work at this place. But co-operation, courage, and consecration will ultimately free the congregation of this burden, and when it is done they will be all the stronger for other tasks. The work of the Sunday School has been greatly facilitated by the new building for which the debt was incurred. We were glad of the opportunity to visit this church again. Our deep interest in our work at this place and our prayers for our people here will continue.

Rally Day

We are rapidly approaching the period in our conference year when this day holds right of way. Dr. Stephenson is designating September 25, or October 2 as the date for its observance. The Rally Day program this year is entitled "Comrades for Service." "It consists of a number of exercises, recitations, etc., together with some numbers by the board. A special feature is the music, more than usual, and of an extra fine quality." We are giving you this word as to the quality of the program as Dr. Stephenson puts it. Send your order for program to Rev. Frank W. Stephenson, D.D., 613 W. Diamond St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Bear Ye One Another's Burdens"

There is no time nor place where this injunction does not have application. Always and everywhere there are those who are burdened, and always and everywhere there are those who are able to share these burdens. But the place of application that we want to suggest just now is in our own Brotherhood—the Conference. Many of our churches are beset with perplexing problems, and in a short time the conference year will be over and changes in fields of labor, incident to each annual conference, will be facing many of our ministers and many of our churches. This is no small matter, either for the minister or the charge. It means the interruption of a number of things that are vital to the pastor and to his family, and likewise to the churches. We can not go into details here. And it is not necessary for all of us know what it means. Now what we want to suggest is, that through our prayers for the remainder of this conference year, we "bear one another's burdens" in these matters. "Prayer changes things," and there isn't any way of telling how we may lighten the burdens of heavy hearts, both of pastors and churches, by making these matters subjects of special and earnest prayer.

This Is Good

"We are working on Spring Valley church yard, putting it in shape for lawn grass this fall. As soon as we can get a good rain we will prepare Flat Rock yard for grass."—J. W. Braxton. We are glad to pass on this good word from Brother Braxton. We trust that this work of beautifying churches and church grounds may become a contagion with us.

Must Begin Now to Press It

For some time we have put but little emphasis on our financial obligations, and for obvious reasons. Much of our work is rural and the summer months with us are not good for financial gleaning. And, too, the depression has left us with but little more money than was necessary for local work. For these reasons we have not been strongly pressing our financial obligations. BUT WE MUST BEGIN DOING IT NOW. In two and a half months conference will be here, and between now and that time the major part of our finances is to be raised. Treasurer Brown informs us that for three months—May 10 to August 10—he has received les sthan $100 on A. C. B. and the total received for all purposes, not including women's work—up to August 17 is only $4,363.73. These figures will indicate how little we have raised so far during the year, and the imperative necessity of pressing collections from now until the close. One pastor writes, "We are going to do our best in spite of the hard times." Another one says, "We are going to do all that we can to pay up in full on every thing." This is the spirit that will give us victory, and we expect to see it grow throughout the conference during these next two and a half months. All together, now, on our finances—working, praying, paying—that God may be honored by our generous offerings.

Appointments

August 28.—Grace church, Greensboro, 11 a. m.
September 4.—Anderson charge.
September 10-11.—Vance charge.
September 11.—Henderson, 7:30 p. m.
September 13-14.—Greensville charge.
September 15-16.—Enfield and Whitakers.
September 18.—Creswell charge.

"Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied."

Fraternally yours,
S. W. Taylor.

August 22, 1932.

THERE IS STILL ONLY ONE BILLY SUNDAY

Never was Billy Sunday in more effective form than Monday evening, July 25, at the Des Plaines Chicagoland Dry Assembly. His grand new address on "Your Uncle Sam: Shall We Repeal the Eighteenth Amendment?" should, for the sake of the cause, be repeated in every state in the Union during the next three months and the 4,000 who packed the Auditorium seemed for the most part of that opinion. Here are one or two of the high points of his address:

"What means this assault against the Eighteenth Amendment? They are attempting to bind and rivet the old breweries, and distilleries and saloons around the neck of the American people for their own profit. The one and only arguments the wets have is the amount of money they will make of the repeal of prohibition. Where will the money come from? It will come out of the pockets of the poor devils who do not have money enough now to provide for their women and children. . . .

"We're better off with the bandits than we would be with the breweries. Since prohibition went into effect we have built 500,000 new homes, 65 per cent of them are owned by men who never owned a home before. We've installed eight million new telephones in the homes; eight million radios. Twenty million homes are eqquipped with electric lights and nine million with washing machines. Prohibition has lifted the drudgery from the shoulders and backs of American womanhood but the wet crowd would pile that back on if they could. . . .

"Prohibition has given a high school education to three million American youth from homes that could not afford it before. Today there are five million boys and girls in the high schools of the United States and there is not the slightest foundation today that conditions are worse in the high schools and colleges since the 18th Amendment. . . .

"If you legalize the sale of beer the saloon must of necessity come back. Al Smith says he's opposed to the saloon. Yes, but, how would he sell the stuff? What would he call the place where you would sell it? A whiskey store, a booze cafeteria? We don't need the money bad enough to rip the shirt off the working man or take a dress from the back of your wife, or to rub the rose from her cheek, or to take bread from the mouths of the small children that the brewers might build palaces and castles on the Rhine and travel in private yachts. . . .'"

SELF-SUGGESTION

By Grenville Kleiser

Fatigue is often more mental than physical. The next time you feel prompted to give up, apply the self-suggestion that you are mentally and physically equal to the task. Persist in this suggestion and you will be surprised at the latent power which will rally to your aid.

The power of suggestion is so strong that if you once persuade yourself that you possess exceptional power, influence, and authority, this conviction will itself greatly augment these qualities within you. Assert your moral self-control and at that moment you have added something vital to your personal power. It is a psychological truth that you can if you think you can.

The care with which you control your thoughts should be exercised also in the control of your emotions. Here, again, the power of suggestion is important. Just as you select the best and most desirable thoughts as your general habit of thinking, select also the best and most desirable emotions as your general habit of feeling.

Cultivate such feelings as cordiality, kindliness, generosity, sympathy, justice, and enthusiasm. These attributes in themselves are a strong, attractive force. Proper self-discipline will enable you to control your emotions just as you control your thoughts, and whatever your natural temperament may be you can mold it into nobility and greatness of character.

Your personal power will increase in proportion as you habitually think along these mental and moral planes which have been described. Resolve to think and feel on these better and higher lines, and you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you are developing the power which leads to enduring achievement.

OUR STORY PAGE

A VERY SHORT LESSON

"Oh, dear!" whined James, "I just hate to do errands. Does Sarah need the sugar right away?"

"Right away," said mamma. "She is baking doughnuts, and wants the powdered sugar to roll them in while they are warm. Run, dear, and get it as soon as you can."

"When I get big I'll never do a single thing that I don't want to," said James, when he was back at his play once more. "It seems like boys have to do all the mean jobs, and it isn't fair."

"But you like doughnuts so well," said mamma, "and Sarah does so many nice things for you that I should think you would like to do errands for her once in a while. Do you think you would be happier if you only did the things you enjoy?"

" 'Course," said James, promptly. "I'd like to try that way for awhile."

"Well, suppose you do this week. We'll do just the things we like, and see if we get along better. I think you will be ready to go back to the old way before supper time, though."

"Indeed I won't, mamma. That is the best thing you could say, for I want to play in the sandpile all day at my fort without having a single thing to do. Are you sure you mean it?"

"Perfectly certain, James. We will wait till you are ready to go back to the old way, if that is a month."

James came into the house for dinner at noon.

"Nothing but bread and butter for dinner?" said James in great surprise. "I'm hungry as anything."

"I told Sarah to get some other things," said mamma, buttering a slice of bread for herself, "but she said she wanted to finish canning her berries. She hates cooking anyway. Don't you want anything for dinner?"

"Yes, please spread me some bread, mamma."

"I just hate to spread bread, dear. Help yourself."

"This is the afternoon of the party, mamma," said James after dinner. "When will you get me ready? I'm afraid I'll be late."

"I don't want to stop reading," said mamma. "I thought we were to do only the things we liked today, and I don't like to leave this comfortable chair."

James went slowly to his room and began to put on his new suit by himself, but everything went wrong. A button came off, and he couldn't find his shoes, and his hands looked dirty in spite of all his efforts, and the first thing anybody knew the big tears were rolling down his cheeks. "I want to go back to the old way, mamma," he sobbed, throwing himself down on the floor by her side. "I didn't know how horrid it was to be selfish till today."

"Are you sure?" asked mamma, lifting the little head from her lap to look straight into the tearful eyes. "Do you want to do the hard jobs along with the easy ones?"

"Well, well," said Sarah, next day, "how's this? My kindling-basket's full, and I didn't have to say a word about the scraps for the chickens. I think a small boy must have had a very good time at the party yesterday."

"I did; but I found out before I went that it doesn't pay to be mean and selfish," said James.—Publisher Unknown.

THE TWINS

Tom and Joe were twins, but you would never think so except by their looks. They looked just alike but they didn't act alike at all.

One day Joe came home from school alone.

"Where is Tom?" mother asked as she gave Joe a sugar cooky to eat.

"Oh, Tom is so foolish!" said Joe. "The teacher wanted some one to stay and help her put up some shelves, and Tom was the only one who knew how, so of course he had to stay. It doesn't pay to know how to do things; you're always getting into some kind of a job. That is why I never practice doing odd jobs. It is the best way to keep out of trouble."

By and by Tom came running in, his eyes shining with happiness.

"Oh, mother," he cried, "the teacher wanted some one to help her and I was the only one who knew how, so I stayed and helped! My, I was glad I knew how. It pays to know how to do things, doesn't it?"

"Indeed it does," mother said, "and I am certainly proud of my little boy."—Our Little Ones.

PURITY OF MIND

Make your life harmonious by thinking only harmonious thoughts. Resolutely shut your mental door against all contrary ideas. Keep your mind inviolate. Make your life beautiful by looking only at beautiful things. The world about you is wonderfully attractive and you can deliberately choose what subjects shall engage your attention. Make your life pure by cultivating purity of heart. To the pure all things are pure. Moreover, purity of mind builds bodily health. Keep your life simple by conforming it to simple tastes, desires, and habits. Simplicity is a safeguard against many of life's greatest disappointments. Keep your life righteous by studying God's truth every day, and by implicit obedience to your own conscience.

Grenville Kleiser.

AT CHURCH

If you have no conscientious scruples, it would be a good idea to bow your heads, instead of sitting bolt upright with your eyes wider open than usual, during the prayers.

And if you are not afraid of becoming a Catholic or an Episcopalian, it would do no harm, and it might do much good, to bow your head when you take your seat, in a moment of silent prayer.

C. S. P.

—However high authority lies behind any teaching—church, scholarship, or personality—test it by the Scriptures! The men of Berea after they heard Paul preach went and searched the Scriptures daily to see whether those things were so.—Charles R. Brown in The Christian Sun.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD

President of High Point College C. E. Society

August 28: WHY DO SOME APPROVE OF CHRIST, BUT REJECT ORGANIZED CHRISTIANITY?

Scripture—1 Cor. 3:1-7.

There is a great deal of apprehension today among conscientious church leaders. The church has advanced very little in the past few years and has failed to impress the world with its great message. It is well that we face the problem and discover the underlying causes. There are thousands of people who approve of Christ and believe in Him, yet are unwilling to ally themselves with the church. May we face the facts seriously, Christianity must re-establish itself in the hearts and minds of people and regain the place of prominence and prestige which it once held. Critics say the church is dead. The church has too much of man-invented and man-propelled machinery in it when Christ should be the center and power of the church.

The World War gave the church a setback which will be hard to overcome. Many pepole had imagined that a war was impsossible in a world as near Christianized as ours was in 1914. Instead of preventing a war, the strongest Christian nations were the ones which carried it on. The recent disturbances in the East brought another shock to Christianity. Jesus said, "Put up again thy sword into its place, for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." The disputes of nations cannot be settled by war for there are sore spots left which do not heal and which serve as future aggravations. Troubles will be permanently settled when the law of love is substituted for the rule of might. The example of two South American states in erecting the "Christ of the Andes" should be a potent example to the world. The churches must be more determined in preventing future wars if they keep their grip on the world. The churches have a great deal at stake in world peace.

The division of churches into denominations is puzzling and distressing. Christ prayed that His followers might be one and there are hundreds of divisions. Unity brings strength and the weakness of the church financially and spiritually is due largely to its division. There is no basic reason for our great number of denominations. It is a sign of the selfishness and greed of church leaders that denominations remain divided. If the Spirit of Christ was put ahead of the selfishness of man our denominational lines would be erased and a United Church would impress the world with Christianity. If the denominations would ask how much spiritual strength could be gained, and how many souls saved rather than how many debts could be paid and new churches built, the church would be one in Christ. The lack of harmony among the branches of the church is a sad commentary on its lack of its dominance by the ideas and ideals of Christ. Christ is undivided and divisions are inexplainable in Him.

The inconsistent living of the ones who profess Christ is a handicap to the church. Foreigners are struck by the sincerity of missionaries and are confounded at the greed and jealousy of American Christians. American business has exploited nations for selfish gain and put the rule of gold far above the Golden Rule. It is a source of chagrin to the earnest followers of Christ the things that have been done in the name of Christianity and by those who profess Christ. Much of the world which does not accept Christ would be Christian today if America could aid in impressing the world of Christ.

Church quarrels are a disgrace to any church. They drive away people who would otherwise align themselves with the church. The ill effects of disputes in a crurch are often reaped many years afterward. Often a new generation must grow up before the curse of a church quarrel is passed. The unity of a church is the yardstick of spirituality.

Coldness and lack of interest have disgusted many people with the church. The "State Church" of Russia extracted money from the people to maintain an ecclesiastical machinery that was as heartless as steel. People were hungry but were not fed, souls shriveled for want of spiritual sustenance. How much does the church lack of feeding the sheep of Christ? The rattle of church machinery is so loud that worship is drowned out and the voice of Christ cannot speak.

Some practices of the church are a disfrace to it. Every conceivable means of selling old clothes of slaving over suppers to sell and even of chance games are used to finance the church. One can hardly conceive of Christ being pleased with such methods. The practice of churches owning golf courses and bowling alleys shows a selling out to lesser values. If Christ were put first finances would no longer trouble the church. Many churches are asleep beneath complacent shade while the needs of the world are unheeded. Ecclesiastical luxury has stopped the ears of many church members to the call of the orphan, the needy, and the heathen.

It is time for the church to awaken and put reality into its confessions. The Head of the Church must dominate and dictate the policies and His principles guide the actions. Selfish elevation must be subdued and everything be made secondary to the feeding of souls. When the church is thoroughly Christianized, it can win the world for Christ and bring His kingdom to earth.

Quotable Poetry

HARK! THE VOICE OF JESUS CALLING

Hark the voice of Jesus calling,
  "Who will go and work today?"
Fields are white, the harvest waiting;
  Who will bear the sheaves away?
Loud and long the Master calleth,
  Rich reward He offers free;
Who will answer, gladly saying,
  "Here am I, O Lord, send me."

If you cannot cross the ocean,
  And His heathen lands explore,
You can find the heathen nearer,
  You can help them at your door.
If you cannot speak like angels,
  If you cannot preach like Paul,
You can tell the love of Jesus,
  You can say He died for all.

While the souls of men are dying,
  And the Master calls for you,
Let none hear you idly saying,
  "There is nothing I can do."
Gladly take the task He gives you,
  Let His work your pleasure be;
Answer quickly when He calleth,
  "Here am I, O Lord, send me."

—Daniel March.

Suitable Songs

"I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," "The Church's One Foundation," "The Church by the Side of the Road," "The Church in the Wildwood," "Faith of Our Fathers," "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

LET US PRAY

While this issue of the Methodist Protestant-Recorder is current seven Annual Conferences will be in session: Kansas, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa-Missouri, Michigan and West Virginia.

The gathering of these important bodies of our church leadership challenges us to intercession.

May the Holy Spirit brood over our churches in Conference assembled making every heart sensitive to God and guiding every mind into the knowledge of His will. May the leadership of Jesus be evident and unquestioned. May every minister be consecrated anew to his work and may the spirit of co-operation be regnant in every charge throughout the coming year. Our power is of God. LET US PRAY.—The Methodist Protestant-Recorder.

◆

WESTERN DISTRICT PASTOR'S FEDERATION MEETING

The Western District Pastor's Federation meeting will be held at Friendship Station, near Albemarle, on Monday after the fourth Sunday in September, beginning at 10:30 a.m. Dr. R. M. Andrews, chairman, is preparing the program and will publish it in the Herald soon. We urge all pastors to lay their plans to be present. I understand the Friendship members will furnish free lunch.

E. A. BINGHAM, Secretary.

◆

PRIZE

A prize of $100.00 is offered by Grenville Kleiser, the author, for the best essay of 600 words or less, on the subject: WHY PRESIDENT HOOVER SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED. It is open to everyone. Manuscripts should be typewritten. Contest closes October 1, 1932.

The prize will be sent early in October. The winner's name will be announced in the November issue of The American Author, Upland, Indiana. Mail manuscripts to: Grenville Kleiser, One West 72nd Street, New York City.

◆

—Reverend and Mrs. John Dudley Williams announce the marriage of their daughter, Mabel Elizabeth, to Mr. Benjamin Harvey Hill on Tuesday, the 23rd of August, 1932, High Point, N. C. At home, 7206 Thirty-fourth Ave., Jackson Heights, New York City.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

THE COUPON CONTEST

Mrs. Dixon has asked me to make a statement concerning the contest for Octagon soap coupons which closed with the month of July, and to announce the result. I shall do that first and say that the contest was won by Calvary church.

The auxiliaries sending in more than 1,000 coupons, with the number sent in, are as follows:

Calvary	2,270
Enfield	1,861
Henderson	1,544
West End, Greensboro	1,434
High Point, First	1,408
Winston	1,261

During the three months the contest was running a total of 18,725 coupons came in, for which Mrs. Dixon will receive a check for $93.63. This, as with all the money she has received from this source, will be used for the replacing of worn-out equipment in the Home, or the purchase of much needed equipment. AND IT DIDN'T COST THOSE WHO GAVE THE COUPONS A CENT, except the loss, in some cases, of that which they might have received in the way of premiums.

I do not know how many coupons came in as a result of this contest that might not have come in if the prize had not been offered. It is too much to say that the $5.00 had multiplied 20 times. But it was worth while, and, I think, helped greatly. You women folks keep on sending in the coupons. They are helping wonderfully in these hard times.

C. W. BATES.

◆

PREPARE FOR SEPTEMBER THANK-OFFERING

Let all auxiliaries plan to observe Thank-Offering in September in some way. Mrs. Marie Thompson informs me that the board is publishing a suitable pageant in the September issue of the "Missionary Record." Watch for it and use it if you can, and take a special offering for Thank Offering. And then again, please remember to have a big program in Febraury, using the Candle-Lighting service (as published in the M. P. Herald of April 28, 1932) at either the September or February service.

Under number 3, "The Roll Call," by your secretary of Thank Offering should be made up as follows:

First Your Pastor.

Second Your Auxiliary President.

Circles—Beginning with No. 1, as many as there are.

Children's organizations make their offerings (one child to represent each organization in the church).

Individual Offering then General Collection.

As Roll is called one person will go forward, lay the offering on the altar, receive a lighted candle, remain standing until all have presented their offering. Then the Creed as given under No. 5 can be repeated in concert while candles are being held by the group around the altar. As you observe your T. O. services I trust you will report it in the Herald for the inspiration and encouragement to others. If you need further help and will write me I will be glad to do anything I can for your success. Let's not let this part of our work suffer, or grow cold. Work your T. O. program in a way to bring Good Cheer, and Hope and Happiness to all. I believe that will do as much good now as the money you will receive will do. And a good program will certainly add to the church's influence.

"For there are little feet that you must guide
And little forms go marching by your side,"
Watching, yes, watching you.

MRS. J. W. BOYLES,
Thank Offering Sec'y. of N. C. Branch.
Thomasville, N. C.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

L. H. Sides, Concord	$7.00
Rev. M. P. Chambliss	4.00
Rev. L. E. Mabry	3.00
Rev. C. W. Bates	2.00
Rev. D. I. Garner	2.00
Rev. T. J. Whitehead	2.00
Mrs. T. F. McCulloch	2.00
Miss Nannie McAdams, Hebron	1.75
Rev. J. E. Pritchard	1.00
Chester Fultz, Porter	1.00
Miss Laura Shutt	1.00
Miss Lillie Mae Braxton	1.00

PRINTING DEFICIT

Pleasant Hill, Cleveland, by Rev. C. E. Ridge	$2.00

Thank you!

◆

BITS OF FUN

Dora was in the middle of her singing lesson when her mother came into the room. She listened for a moment or two, and then broke in: "Ah—er—how is my daughter getting on? D'you think she will make a great singer?"

The teacher coughed and seemed at a loss for a reply.

"It—is is hard to say," he said at last.

"But surely she possesses some of the qualifications?"

"Well—er—she's got a mouth, certainly!"—Churchman.

—Asylum patient (to new appointee)—"Who are you?"

Appointee—"I am the new superintendent."

Patient—"Oh, it won't take them long to knock that out of you. I was Napoleon when I came here."—Bystander.

◆

NOTICE!

Since my secretary, Miss Barnhill, will be on her vacation, August 26 to September 7, our office of the Department of Religious Education will be closed and all mail received there will be held until her return. Anything important should be addressed to me at Fort Smith, Arkansas, General Delivery, the week of August 29 to September 4. After September 7 I shall be back in the office also.

F. L. GIBBS, Associate-Executive Sec'y,
Board of Christian Education.

◆

—The bill of a Scanderoon pigeon is so crooked that it has difficulty in feeding its young. A specially designed food cup has to be used to enable it to feed itself.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Shoals S. S., Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	$ 3.10
Fountain Place S. S.	6.53
Gibsonville S. S., regular and birthday offerings	8.16
Fairview, Anderson	1.75
Hickory Ridge, Forsyth	4.50
Union Ridge, Forsyth, special offering	10.00
Bethel S. S., Randolph	2.25
Pleasant Union, Mt. Pleasant	1.50
Calvary S. S.	10.00
Friendship S. S., Shiloh	3.00
Haw River S. S.	4.60
Concord S. S.	20.00
Elbaville S. S., Mocksville	2.00
Bethany S. S., Randolph	1.56
Efland S. S., Orange	2.00
Shiloh S. S., Randolph	2.50
Brown Summit S. S., Haw River	2.00
First Church S. S., High Point	20.36
St. Paul S. S.	3.44
Stallings, Mecklenburg	1.00
Center S. S., Alamance	6.06
Orange Chapel, Saxapahaw, program by children	21.17
Concord, Saxapahaw, program by children	8.89
Salem, Saxapahaw, program by children	13.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

The Mother's class of Emmaus Baptist church, four suits of overalls and six shirts for two boys. Mr. Peele Pender, Randolph Circuit, two and one-half gallons of molasses.

We are profoundly thankful for these gifts of money and substance. The situation here is very trying and at times very discouraging, but we do love and appreciate that fine spirit of loyalty to a great and good cause which causes our friends to keep responding to the needs of these dependent children. May the dear Father bless and prosper every one of them.

Your Prayers and Your Co-operation

Your most earnest prayers and your most loyal co-operation are solicited for the Home during the next few months. It takes faith in God and His people to do what we are doing today; but it has to be done.

We are today ordering two carloads of coal. We have to pay cash for the freight before it is unloaded, and we have to pay cash within thirty days for the coal, and the only way we can get that thirty days is through the kindness of a High Point dealer who orders for us and charges no commission. The money is not in sight, so we are just trusting the Lord and you to help us get it early in September.

O How They Loved Him!

Yesterday, Sunday, August 21, we attended the funeral of Dr. M. L. Kesler, superintendent of the Mills Home at Thomasville.

Between four and five hundred children and workers were gathered around the porch of the Kesler home from which the funeral was conducted, and back of these and all around them were gathered tthousands of Baptists from all sections of the state, as well as many sorrowing friends of other denminations. How he was loved and appreciated by the people of North Carolina and the South irrespective of denominations.

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Friendship, Mt. Hermon Charge.—Our annual revival began the first Sunday in August, with Brother Auman, returned missionary from Japan, as pulpit help. The sermons preached by Brother Auman were helpful and inspiring and I'm sure much good has been accomplished through his preachings.

The annual Baraca and Philathea picnic was held at Boman's Pond last Saturday afternoon.

The quarterly conference will meet at this church Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Mr. J. W. Bishop, who has been sick for some time, is slowly improving.

REPORTER.

* * *

Davidson Charge.—We are in the midst of our revival on Davidson charge. Pine Hill began the fourth Sunday in July. The pastor did all the preaching except two sermons by Rev. Mr. Brown of Denton. There was good interest, four professions; but no additions to the church as yet. We began at Alleghany the second Sunday in August, with Rev. R. S. Troxler as the engaged help, but Brother Troxler took sick and could not come. We then secured Rev. J. W. Hulin to do most of the preaching. Brother Hulin still preaches well. There was good attendance and interest. There were five professions, with two additions to the church. The meeting is now in progress at Liberty. Charlie Cranford, a local preacher, brought us a good message Sunday afternoon at Liberty. Pray for us that we may have good meetings.

The ten days singing school conducted by Professor T. O. Pender at Chapel Hill in the afternoon and at Lineberry at night, was a great success. We hope Professor Pendor will be able to come back next year and teach another school.

Mr. C. L. Surratt is the duly elected delegate to the next Annual Conference.

Davidson charge had a Produce Day to help raise the finances. I think it was worth while. A number took part. E. A. BINGHAM.

* * *

West Forsyth.—Last Sunday was a good day for Pleasant Hill church. There were 70 in Sunday school, and the preaching service was attended by the largest congregation of the year. The Long-Sprinkle reunion was held at the church, and many of the people of these two well-known families were present for the church service. The pastor delivered the sermon for the occasion. Mrs. R. G. Holder, of Charlotte, formerly a member of Pleasant Hill, sang a solo, "Face to Face."

The people reassembled in the church at two o'clock for a program of special music and speeches. Sanford Sprinkle, one of the oldest members of the Sprinkle clan, made an interesting talk. The pastor made remarks, which brought the program to a close. The reunion will be held at Pleasant Hill next year at the same time, the third Sunday in August.

The writer is engaged in preaching in a revival meeting at the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at East Bend Yadkin county, this week. Rev. T. A. Plyler is pastor of the church. He was a pastor in our conference for seven years, transferring to the M. E. conference 19 years ago. His father was a pastor in the Methodist Protestant conference in this state for 39 years.

The pastor and family were delighted with the following guests at the parsoinage last Sunday afternoon: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hartley and two children; his mother, Mrs. Mollie Hartley, and her friend, Mrs. Emo Wharry, all of Lexington. The Hartleys are among the church people whom the writer served as pastor eight years ago. They attended the service at Pleasant Hill Sunday morning, and it was an inspiration to have them with us.

Some of the people on West Forsyth charge have remembered their pastor and his family with suitable gifts since our last report, for which we are very thankful. The following are the givers: Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Doub, of Stony Knoll church; Mrs. A. A. Doub, Mrs. Sarah Doub, and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Long, of Baltimore church; Mr. and Mrs. Ammon Long, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sprinkle, Mrs. Will Long, Mrs. J. H. Long, and T. J. Sapp, of Pleasant Hill church; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Doub, Mr. and Mrs. Pearson Sprinkle, neighbors.

The third quarterly conference was held at Tabernacle church last Saturday, August 20. The sermon at 11 o'clock was delivered by Rev. R. A. Hunter, pastor of the Forsyth charge. The subject of the sermon was, "Approaching the Ideal Church." The sermon was very helpful to those present. We had a dinner in the grove near the church. The business session was at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. In the absence of the secretary, Bro. A. A. Doub was elected temporary secretary. Four of the six churches on the charge represented, Union Hill, and Harmony Grove not having any representatives present. The ballots taken at the various churches for delegate were counted, and the result of the election of delegate announced. Brother A. A. Doub, of Baltimore church, was declared elected, he having received a majority of the votes cast. Brotrer A. R. Long, of Pleasant Hill church, was the other nominee. The pastor's report revealed that the finances are far behind, but not any more so than in former years at this time of the conference year. His report showed that a total of $427.78 had been paid on salary, leaving a balance of $572.22 to be raised for the pastor by the annual conference.

Our appointment for next Sunday will be at Harmony Grove church at 11 a. m. We are invited to attend the Shore reunion at Maple Springs church, on the Forsyth charge next Sunday, and will go from Harmony Grove to Maple Springs for the reunion at 1 p.m.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

* * *

Winston-Salem, First.—A week ago at the morning hour our people had the great privilege of hearing their former pastor, Rev. G. F. Millaway, preach again, and a privilege it was for us all. To say that Brother Millaway has his old-time zeal in preaching is to put it mildly. One of the most marvelous things about his preaching was his wonderful ability to quote Scripture. Without any notes or mansucript of any kind he took up passages in all parts of the Bible and gave the chapter and the verses and quoted them in a marvelous manner. It certainly was refreshing to hear him.

During the past week it was the privilege of the writer to be with Brother R. A. Hunter in a meeting at Hickory Ridge. The meeting was well-attended and splendid results obtained.

It is an encouraging fact that both the Sunday school and church attendance at our church this summer have run a little higher than they did on the corresponding Sunday a year ago. So long as we can feel that we are doing a little better each year it is easier for us to keep our couagre up.

We have not had any evening services for the months of July and August, but beginning with September we expect to go back on the regular schedule.

So many of our peaple have been away on vacations and so many are away now that it would be too big a job to mention them all by name, however, we trust they have had a good rest and will be back with us for bigger things soon. J. E. PRITCHARD.

* * *

Shiloh, Randolph Charge.—Our special meeting began on August 14 and continued through the week closing on Friday night, August 19. Brother Suits, our pastor, preached practically all the sermons and gave us some splendid talks.

Mr. T. O. Pender of Goldsboro assisted in tre singing, successfully directing it through the entire week. All in all, we sincerely believe that we had a real revival. Several people, including many children, were converted and eight joined the church. May we have the prayers of all the Herald readers that the revival may continue in our lives and in the churer.

CLARICE WHITAKER.

* * *

Midland, Loves Grove.—Our revival meeting is running into the second week and is going strong. The large church is filled to its capacity. We have had 65 professions; had 20 last night. Seventeen have already joined the church and we are expecting a much larger number when meeting closes. Brother C. G. Isley is doing the preaching to the deligrt of all.

The people are convinced that it pays to take time for a revival.

Our second quarterly conference will be held at Pageland, S. C., on Saturday before the second Sunday in September at 2 o'clock.

W. D. REED.

* * *

Rehoboth, Granville Circuit. — We really have not been having a vacation as one might judge, since we have failed to send in a report for quite a while. You have often heard the expression, "No news is good news," this might be applied in our case. We have been steadily at work all the while.

We have been having good church services at the regular appointments; and during the week of revival services, the first week in July, we had some splendid sermons. Mr. Spencer conducted the revival. There were a dozen new members received into the church at the close of the revival.

Since our last report we have had several cases of illness:

Mr. J. T. Cozart has been ill for some time, but is some better now, and was able to come out to services Sunday morning.

Little Bert Wrenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wrenn, was able to return to his home last week after spending four weeks in a Durham hospital. We are glad the reports are favorable and we hope these will continue to improve.

At the last appointment Mr. Spencer had as his text Titus 2:11, "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men." This was a very interesting and inspiring sermon.

The Woman's Missionary auxiliary will hold its August meeting in the home of Mrs. Maude Hight. Wednesday afternoon, August 24, at 8:30 o'clock. All members are urged to come and bring their self-denial contribution.

Best wishes to all. REPORTER.

Alleghany, Anderson Charge.—Our protracted meeting began the second Sunday in August and closed on on Friday night. We had a large crowd all the time especially on Sundays and at night. Brother Hulin was the pulpit help and was at his best. We were glad to have him with us again; he seems like one of our family. He stayed on our circuit so long and we all love him; even those who were children then have not forgotten him, and enjoyed his preaching. We think that he was glad to be back with us and to visit in some of the homes; but the time was too short for him to visit all of us. We ask God's richest blessing on Brother Hulin and that he may come our way again. Our pastor, E. A. Bingham, preached part of the time; he preached some soul-stirring sermons. Brother Charley Cranford of Denton preached on Sunday evening a good sermon which we also enjoyed.

The meeting was not what we would love to see, yet we hope that there may yet be a great harvest. There were some converts and two joined the church; let us all stand by them, for they need our prayers to help them on in life. We hope that they will be useful in the church. We have a good crowd of the young folks that seem to be doing their best for Christ and the church. May the Lord bless them. Some have not yet decided to be Christians. We hope that they may not rest until they get in the right way, for it is dangerous to live in sin, for we do not know when death is coming.

Let us not forget to pay Brother Bingham.

ABIGAIL COGGIN.

St. Paul, Greensboro.—Our pastor was back Sunday to fill his regular appointments at the morning and night services after having been away on a two weeks' vacation; the two weeks were spent visiting Mrs. Garner's parents near Concord.

The annual Sunday serool picnic was held Saturday at Camp Louise where swimming and boat riding was the main sport of the evening. The table was full of good things to eat and all reported a good time.

The Sunday school has bought one hundred new song books, which were badly needed. "The Spiritual Life" was the book that the committee decided to buy.

The second Saturday night in this month the Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. R. L. Yates. After the business meeting was over the hostess gave a real watermelon feast. No doubt most of those present would like to meet with Mrs. Yates again before the watermelon season is over.

Miss Martha ??——? of Hickory is spending some time visiting Miss Lillian Wade and has attended sermons at St. Paul for the past two Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lineberry of Norfolk, Va., are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lineberry; also Mrs. Lineberry's mother and sister of Randleman are spending some time there this week.

The Ladies' Aid society are giving a stew at the hut the first Saturday night in September. The fourth Sunday in September Rev. Garner will be away to help in a revival meeting at Mill Grove, Midland charge. In his absence Brother Millaway will preach at the 11 o'clock hour.

The second Sunday in September will be Rally Day and all day services and dinner on the grounds. There will be special music. Old-time friends and members are invited to be present and help make it a good day.

MRS. J. S. WADE, Reporter.

Efland, Orange Charge.—We were delighted to have President S. W. Taylor preach forus Sunday morning. His text was, "Have Faith in God." Am sure everyone enjoyed having him and we hope he can come again soon.

Sunday night the Hebron Auxiliary put on a pageant, "The Coming of the Kingdom." It was well presented and was very much enjoyed by all. The offering will go for missions.

Our pastor is away helping in revival meetings. We missed him Sunday.

There are several of our members sick at this time. We hope that if it be God's will that they may soon be restored to health.

MRS. E. S. TAYLOR, Reporter.

First Church, High Point.—The pulpit was occupied on Sunday morning by Rev. R. F. Tuttle, associate pastor Wesley Memorial M. E. church, who delieverd a splendid and impressive sermon on the Youth Problem. Himself a young man, he spoke with spirit and understanding on this vexing question, taking as his text, "No man poureth new wine into old wine skins." He said that young people have learned many things, one of them is to think for themselves. Each one has a life of his own to live, and will not allow him to be denied this privilege. Youth has been imposed upon; we have tried to put too many antiquated social customs over them. You can't blame them for reaction. The standards of living must be revised. The time has come to cast off non-essential things and throw aside old traditions. It is a large task to construct a mutual rule in a platform for youth of today, but I wish to submit four planks, the first of which is honesty, for tre world is depending upon the honesty and dependability of individuals and organizations. The secon plank is courage, physical which faces the future unafraid, and moral courage to do the right always and to put others before oneself. The third is fidelity, a person must be loyal to principal, and take a firm stand for personal purity and against immorality. The fourth plank is unselfishness; some people think life is something to take from, but we must put into it if we would find happiness and joy. Test your motives and actions, and plan your lives by these principles of honesty, courage, fidelity, unselfishness added to love and disposition of good will to all men; and you may be assured of a life of stability, joy, and peace. At 8 o'clock in the evening the congregation joined with all uptown churches in the delightful union outdoor service on the city lot, when Rev. E. Ray Jordan of Wesley Memorial M. E. church, brought an inspiring message, and Professor L. L. Stookey and his Civic band gave a program of pleasing sacred music. This service was attended by a throng of thousands.

We are pained to announce the death of Lloyd Hancock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Hancock of Archdale, as the result of an operation for appendicitis at a local hospital last Wednesday. His death occurred on Sunday at noon, and funeral services were conducted at Springleld Friends church Tuesday afternoon, of which he was a member. Officiating ministers were Rev. Tom Alderman Sykes, Miss Clara Cox, Dr. A. G. Dixon, and Dr. McAlister, president Mt. Pleasant Collegiate institute. Lloyd was 21 years of age, was born in High Point, and his parents, older brothers and sister were active and loyal members of First Church for a long period of years before they moved to Archdale to make their rome. He was a young man of bright promise, having graduated from Mt. Pleasant institute last June, and had won a scholarship in Washington and Lee university, Virginia. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hancock, three brothers, and two sisters, to all of whom the loving sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended.

Circle 8 of the Woman's auxiliary held a lawn party at the home of Mrs. W. P. Pickett on N. Main St. last Friday evening. Homemade ice cream and cake were sold, and the sum of $16.50 was realized. Circles No. 4 and 5 will unite in a sale on the city lot next to the First Baptist church next Thusrday afternoon and evening. Ten gallons of ice cream and ten cakes will be furnished by members of the two circles, and it is hoped that it will all be disposed of readily.

Members of Circle No. 5, of which Mrs. R. S. Russell is committee chairman, will take 30 children in cars on a picnic on Deep River between Deep River Friends' church and Hickory Grove church next Wednesday afternoon. These children do not enjoy the pleasure of a picnic often, and they will be allowed to wade in the river, and will be served a picnic supper of milk, sandwiches, cake, watermelon, etc. No doubt this event will be a great pleasure to the young recipients as well as the donors. Mahomet said, "A man's true wealth is the good he does in this world. When he dies, mortals will ask what property has he left behind him; but angels will inquire, 'What good deeds hast thou sent before thee'?"

A wedding of widespread interest to friends and relatives throughout North Carolina was solemnized at 4 o'clock Tuesday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Wililams, when their only daughter, Miss Mabel E Williams and Professor Ben Harvey Hill of Ft Worth, Texas plighted their troth in an impressive but simple ceremony in the presence of only immediate families and a few friends. The bride is an A. B. graduate of Salem College, and has been a member of the faculty of High Point college since its opening in 1924. She is attractive, cultured, and greatly beloved. Professor Hill was also a member of the college faculty, having resigned to take post-graduate work in Chicago university. He has accepted work on the faculty of the University of New York, where the happy pair will be at home after a short honeymoon trip. Hearty congratulations and best wishes will be showered on them by numberless friends, former and present students of the college, and members of the faculty.

Mr. Furman R. Auman will represent First Church at the Annual Conference in Burlington next November.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Merrill of Westminister, Md., arrived Sunday to be the guests for a few days of Judge and Mrs. Lewis E. Teague on Johnson St.. Mrs. Merrill before marriage was Miss Elizabeth Mitten, and she and Mrs. Teague were classmates at Western Maryland college.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert T. Pickens returned Sunday afternoon from a delightful vacation of two weeks spent on Lake Champlain, N. Y. They give a glowing account of the fine fishing, boating, swimming, and they succeeded in catching a large number of bass and pickerel, some of which weighed three pounds. While in Albany, N. Y., they saw Mayor "Jimmy" Walker of New York City, and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for the Presidency.

The Merchants' association of High Point, of which Dr. Astor Dowdy of Mann Drug stores is president, will enjoy a barbecue at the city lake, Jamestown, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. C. Hammond, executive secretary of the Board of Public Welfare, has recovered from an attack of pleurisy, her many friends will rejoice to learn.

Miss Anita Morris of West Virginia, Miss Ruth Woodcock of Charlotte, and Mr. A. F. Franklin, Jr., of Richmond, Va., rave been guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Robbins, south of the city. This morning Mrs. Robbins accompanied by her daughter, Anne, and son, Frank, these three guests and Mr. Ludwig, a student of High Point college, left for Paradise Point to spend a few days at their cottage.

Miss Eliabeth Welch and a party of friends returned Monday evening from Paradise Point, where they spent the week-end.

Dean P. E. Lindley of High Point college delivered the principal address at the reunion of the Clinard family, which was held last Sunday at Oak View school, four miles north of the city. His subject was "Love and Fellowship," and there was an attendance of 100 members of the Clinard family and their friends.

Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Taylor left Tuesday morning for Reidsville and Fair Grove, Rockingham county, where they will attend the funeral of a relative, Miss Virginia Hopkins who was found murdered in her home Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. She lived alone in tre old farm home, and it is thought that thelast act of her life after eating breakfast Sunday morning was to prepare to dress for church services at Fair Grove, where she had been a lifelong and faithful member. Neighbors, when she did not appear at church, knew there was something wrong and instituted search at once; she had been strangled to death, and life had been extinct for ten hours. How many of us are there whose friends and neighbors would be alarmed because we did not show up for Sunday morning service? We trust that punishment ample and proper will be meted out to the perpetrator of this dastardly deed. Miss Hopkins will be pleasantly remembered by many old students of Yadkin College who will be grieved to learn of her tragic death.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bodenheimer and son, William, and daughter, Frances have returned from a visit to Lester B. Teague and sister, Gertrude, at Sumter, S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Holleman expect to leave Saturday for a visit to a friend, Mrs. Jennings Site of South Boston, Va., their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Long Holleman, and two children, who spent several weeks with them after Mr. Holleman's death in June, have gone to Miami, Fla., to visit her mother.

West End.—On July 20 the third quarterly conference was conducted. The usual business of the third quarterly conference was attended to. Plans were made to make a drive for finances for a bithday gift to be laid upon the churchaltar on our anniversary day which is September 25. Brother L. W. Routh was declared elected delegate to the Annual Conference.

At one of our Sunday morning services the congregation made the pastor happy by voting a generous vacation which is very much appreciated. To add to the vacation 25 gallons of gas supplied to be used during the vacation.

Out of the thoughtfulness and kindness of Brother and Sister Lawrence Routh the pastor and wife were recently given a fine trip by way of Chapel Hill to Duke university to attend one of the chimes recitals. This was greatly enjoyed and thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Routh.

President Taylor made his official visit to our church on Sunday, August 14 at the 11 o'clock hour. The pastor was on vacation at the time. The vacation was greatly enjoyed but the pastor regerts very much that he could not be present at the time of the president's visit. Taking the evidence of those who heard it a great sermon was missed by those of us who could not be present. It is greatly regretted that a number of our people, like the pastor, were vacating. We hope President Taylor may find the time to be with us again some time during the year. We are always glad to have our president. He is always an inspiration to both pastor and people.

A birthday dinner was enjoyed at the home of Brother and Sister M. K. Hall on last Sunday after church. Perhaps it would not be proper to say just how old Brother Hall was on that day but it is proper to say that they are among our fine young people and that they well know how to have a good dinner and give the preacher and his wife a good time.

Brother Zeb Osborne who met with a serious automobile accident at Mebane August 6, has returned to his home and is improving nicely. Brother and Sister Osborne greatly appreciate the kindnesses shown them by Brother Paschall and his good people while Brother Osborne was in the Burlington hospital. We thank you, Brother Paschall, and your good people for being so good to our people who were unfortunate and away from home.

GEO. L. CURRY.

Springfield, North Davidson Charge.—Rev. O. C. Loy was with us Sunday morning at his usual appointment. He used as his text the seventh chapter of St. Matthew, reading the first 12 verses, but he centered his thoughts on the 11th verses of the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, "When I was a child I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things." His subject was "The Importance of Spiritual Development." Mr. Loy went on to say that there is a great improvement in America today in the various fields but we neglect the spiritual development. We train physically and mentally for the different occupation or life. Life is made up of three things, namely: mind, body and spirit. It is necessary for us to have all three elements or we can't stand alone. Mr. Loy compared our lives to a table. If it has only three legs and should have four we know that it will not stand. In many places today the Bible is regarded as a book of superstitions and many don't believe it. We are not going forward with the great burdens of life. Neither do we appreciate the church as we should. Why? Because we have failed to have the inward part developed. Food for the spirit world be prayers, singing, and reading the Bible. Every one enjoyed this splendid message by Mr. Loy.

The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Julius Craven last Saturday evening at 2 o'clock.

The primary class of Sunday school was entertained last Saturday evening to a canteloupe feast by its teacher, Edith York.

The Young People's C. E. has changed the time of meeting from the second and fourth Sunday evenings at 3 and 6 o'clock to 7:30 o'clock. Miss Bertie Craven will be in charge of the program Sunday. We would like to have a large crowd present.

EDITH YORK, Reporter.

Cleveland Charge.—We have been reading some very interesting reports about the good meetings that our brethren are having throughout our conference, and I thought perhaps others might be interested in a report from our work here. Our meetings here on this charge have been the best we have had in the past three years. On the third Sunday in July we began our first meeting at Pleasant Hill with Rev. J. D. Cranford doing the preaching. He preaches well and the people were highly pleased and greatly benefitted, and God was glorified in the meeting. We had only two profession here, but we had a good revival in the church. This meeting closed on Friday night. It was a pleasure to have Mrs. Cranford as a guest at the parsonage during the meeting. We were also delighted to have Mrs. N. G. Bethea with us in the meeting. Pleasant Hill is the church of her childhood and she is one of its honored members. On the Fourth Sunday in July, we began our meeting at Oak Grove church. Rev. J. B. Trogdon and wife came to us for the Sunday evening service and remained until the close of the following Sunday night. In this meeting we had seventeen professions, and eight additions to the church. We greatly enjoyed having Rev. and Mrs. Trogdon with us here and the people enjoyed the splendid gospel messages that Brother Trogdon brought to us. We had the best meeting here that we have had during the pastor's stay on the charge. We feel indebted to Brother Shelton for two inspiring sermons he preached to us during the meeting.

Our next meeting began at Kistlers the first Sunday in August with the pastor doing the preaching. We had a good meeting with twelve professions with two additions to the church. Since our reporter has already given a report of this meeting I will not enlarge here. On the second Sunday in August our meeting began at Mt. Moriah church, and closed on the following Friday night, with Rev. Robert Short doing the preaching. There were twenty-one professions and seven additions to the church. Brother Short was at his best and did good preaching throughout the meeting. The church was greatly revived and the people greatly appreciate his services.

Mr. F. H. Grigg was elected delegate to the next Annual Conference and we are hoping to come up to conference with a good report, both spiritually and financially.

C. E. RIDGE, Pastor.

Charlotte.—Now that vacation time is almost over, we will soon be down to real work again. So many of our Sunday school teachers have been absent from time to time we have been handicapped in our work. Our Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Ledbetter, has also, been absent several times, due to the illness of Mrs. Jones, mother of Mrs. Ledbetter.

Mrs. R. M. Andrews and daughters, Misses Rosalie, Alma and Dorothea, spent last week visiting Mrs. Andrews' mother.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season for the adults of our Sunday school was the fish fry given by the members of Mr. Garmon's class in complement to the members of Mrs. Atkins' class. The men certainly did prove themselves to be good cooks as well as charming hosts. The committee on arrangements was composed of Messrs. McCall and Perry. Entertainment, Rev. Andrews and Mr. R. S. Garmon. Various games were enjoyed but the most popular one was the sack race. The affair was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, five miles out of the city.

We had a very interesting and inspiring membership meeting Sunday during which plans for rounding out the year's work and various plans were discussed concerning next year's work. A helpful talk was made by Mr. G. W. Stegall and a most earnest and pa-nealing talk was made by Mr. J. C. Penny to the members for hearty co-operation in helping to bring these plans to pass.

Little Patsy and Buddy Fesperman, children of Mrs. L. O. Fesperman, were baptized last Sunday. Sara Anne and Lucille Parrish were also baptized and received into the church.

REPORTER.

Graham.—Since our last report a number of things have transpired in the life of this church. On June 12th Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Black were received as members. During the last days of July and the first days of August, a Standard Leadership Training School was held. Miss Mary Young, Mrs. J. T. Bowman, and Dr. Geo. R. Brown were the teachers. A number from churches outside of this church were in attendance. Everyone seemed to be highly pleased with the work of the school. The Senior Christian Endeavor was the prime mover in making the school possible. Rev. N. M. Harrison was the dean of the school, was present every night to have general oversight.

During the months of July and August the churches of Graham have united in having union services on Sunday nights. So far these services have been very satisfactory. On the second Sunday night the service was held at our church. Dr. Woody, the pastor of the Friend's Church, was the speaker. The church was filled to its capacity.

At the third Quarterly Conference, Dr. W. R. Goley was made delegate to the next Annual Conference.

The spirit of the people here at Graham is progressive, especially those who attend church. In fact these are in the minority, for the greater percent of her membership never come at all, or drop now and then to see if the old church is still there and doing business. This crowd, of course, knows nothing about the business. I judge this is the experience of the most of the churches in our conference. What are we going to do about it? I still keep feeling that we ought to do something.

Finances of course are slow, but considering that the mill where the most of our people work, has been on a two-day week time for a number of months now, and sometimes no time at all, I suppose we should feel gratified that we have done as well as we have.

J. CLYDE AUMAN.

Lexington, State St.—Our pastor has been given this month as a vacation period, but he is spending the greater part of the time serving in other fields. Just now, however, and for the past week he and his family are enjoying a visit to their native homes in Florida. We hope they will return to us rested and refreshed by this period of change and recreation that they have earned many times over by faithful service and some times difficult work.

There has been no evening service during the month but the regular Sunday morning address has been given us by Rev. Atlas Ridge the first Sunday morning, Rev. Ronald Wall on the second and Rev. Gilmer Cross last Sunday morning. We appreciate the kindness of all these brethren and all the messages have been helpful and good. Mr. Wall and Mr. Cross are ministerial students of the Baptist denomination and are among tre most promising young ministers of the day.

Mrs. C. L. Koonts reports a most delightful and profitable trip to the meeting of the executive committee of Women's Work, recently held at Weaverville. The sessions were of great interest and help and the entertainment all that it should have been. Mrs. Koonts speaks in glowing terms of the hospitality of the Weaverville people.

We are glad to note the improvement and, in some cases, recovery of several of our number who have been sick.

There will be meetings of all branches of Women's Auxiliary this week.

REPORTER.

Why Not.—Our third quarterly conference was held at Flag Springs and the usual line of business transacted. Since then we have held meetings at Fair Grove and Macedonia. We had a splendid meeting at Fair Grove. There were nine conversions and six accessions. Others will join later we hope. At Macedonia the meeting was largely attended and two claimed to be converted. The congregations were unusually large at night for that place and very attentive. Rev. Geo. Laughlin was present and preached several times during the meeting. This we believe is his twentieth revival meeting to attend at this church.

At our quarterly conference Brother Noah Williams, of Seagrove, was found to be elected delegate to our annual conference. Brother Williams is an interested church worker and will make the charge a splendid delegate.

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

In Memoriam

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband, W. T. Phillips, who departed this life June 18, 1932.

Dearest husband you have left us,
Left the ones you loved so well.
But some day we hope to meet you,
And together we shall dwell.

We miss you through the long, weary hours;
We miss you as others miss sunshine and flowers.
Day time or night time, wherever we go,
Dearest husband, we miss you so.

He is gone but not forgotten;
Never will his memory fade.
Sweeter thoughts forever linger,
'Round the grave where he is laid.

Goodbye, Dear husband, but not farewell;
Till we meet on that Golden Shore.
There we will be happy forever,
And be parted never more.

Luck

Charlie T. Luck was born January 16, 1861, and died July 10, 1932. December 20, 1883, he was married to Miss Mary E. Allred to which union nine children were born, seven of whom survive. She died some swenty years ago. December 26, 1915, he was married the second time to Mrs. Fanny Vuncannon Page, who survives.

The deceased professed religion and joined Flag Springs M. P. church when a mere boy. Of this church he lived a consistent member all his life. He loved his church and was a regular attendant when health permitted him.

The deceased was popular in his community and one of the leading farmers in Randolph county. He will be missed not only by his family, his church, and his community, but by all who knew him. The funeral service was conducted at his home by his pastor, assisted by Rev. R. C. Stubbins, of Asheboro, Rev. W. F. McDowell and Rev. Mr Cummins. His body was then placed in the family burying plat at Hopewell Friends church near his home.

We extend the hand of sympathy to his companion, his children, and the many friends who mourn his going.

GEO. L. REYNOLDS.

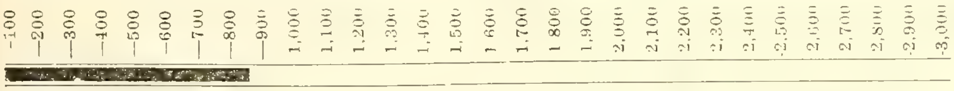
Faw

Sara Anne Stone Faw, the second daughter of the late Joseph and Mary Stone, departed this life July 9, 1932, at the age of 82 years, six months, and nine days. She was united to the late John E. Faw, April 1, 1886. She is survived by one step-daughter, Mrs. A. C. Patterson of Lewisville, five step-grandchildren, one great-grandchild, one sister, Mrs. J. R. Osborne of Davidson county, and two brothers, Charles Stone of Davidson county and James Stone of Richmond county.

Grandmother Faw was one of the oldest members of Mount Carmel church and al-

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	15¼
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	3¼
Asheboro	36	15½
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	6
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	11¾
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	14½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1
Guilford	43	14½
Halifax	52	13½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¼
High Point, First	72	47½
High Point, Lebanon	31	22
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moirah	31	18¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	9¾
Mebane	28	7
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	11½
Mocksville	50	7¾
Mount Hermon	92	15½
Mount Pleasant	62	23
North Davidson	53	12½
Orange	70	21⅞
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	8½
Reidsville	14	9½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2
Saxapahaw	56	17
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	9
Tabernacle	41	22
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	20⅜

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

Since last report we have received substantial gifts from the following: Mrs. J. S. Presnell, Mrs. Sink, and Mrs. Russell Williams, of New Hope; Mrs. Lewallen and Mrs. Hammond, of Flag Springs; Mrs. Rufus King, of New Zion, Mrs. L. A. King, of Seagrove, and Brother T. J. Bean, of Pleasant Hill. This is correct if our memory has not failed us. If it has, we beg pardon for any omission.

Our special meeting begins at New Zion next Sunday, and at Pleasant Hill first Sunday in September.

The camp meeting at Love Joy includes the fourth Sunday in September and Flag Springs the first Sunday in October. This will close our meetings on Why Not charge for this year. It takes the pastor just one-sixth of his time to hold these meetings. There are possibilities on this charge, but it will take time and sacrificial efforts to make these developments.

At Ula last Sunday evening we met a large congregation in the school building. We have six or more M. P. families living in or near this village. Our third quarterly conference added this point to Why Not charge and the pastor now has a regular appointment there for third Sunday evening. At Seagrove some years ago, while we slept, another denomination went there and organized a church composed almost entirely of our members. Now Seagrove has two weak churches instead of one strong M. P. church. The same thing will occur at Ula unless we keep awake.

GEO. L. REYNOLDS.

—The owl cannot move the eye in the socket but can turn its head around in almost a complete circle without moving its body.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

but a few months I learned from those who knew her best that she was loyal nad faithful to the church as long as her healthpermitted. I visited her a number of times during her sickness and found that the passing of the years increased her faith in God whom she had served so long and faithfully. I am sure she was ready to go when the summons came.

Th funeral service was conducted at Mt. Carmel church by the writer and Rev. Geo. L. Curry, a former pastor. The large auditorium was full; relatives and friends who came to pay a tribute of respect to one who had lived among them so long and one whom they had learned to love.

We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family and trust that going on of this good woman may bring heaven just a little nearer to us all.

R. A. HUNTER.

Shepard

Mrs. Sarah Shepard, wife of Samuel R. Shepard, after a period of illness and suffering, passed to her reward June 6th.

Mrs. Shepard had been a member of Mt. Pleasant church, Mt. Pleasant charge, for more than 40 years.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. G. F. Millaway, who had served two pastorates of Mt. Pleasant church, the second pastorate for a period of seven years. The writer also participated in the service.

A unique feature was that six policemen of Greensboro, served as pallbearers—friends of Henry Shepard of the police force, a son of the deceased.

Mrs. Shepard was one of those quiet, inoffensive, unpretentious spirits, strong and courageous in prolonged physical suffering, intense at times, yet with no complaining from the sufferer.

My prayer is for the comfort of the husband, the sons and daughters, and the 17 grandchildren.

T. M. JOHNSON.

Bradshaw

Mrs. Pattie Clendenin Bradshaw, of Moore's Springs, wife of the late Jess G. Bradshaw, and daughter of Mrs. Lydia Clendenin, of Elon College, died August 8th at the home of her mother after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Bradshaw had been a patient at Duke hospital, Durham, for two weeks where she was suffering with a serious heart trouble. She returned to the home of her mother on Saturday, August 6th, and had seemed much improved; death came quite suddenly Monday morning at 7:45. She was a life-long member of the Methodist Protestant church, having united with the Mt. Hermon church early in life, later transferred to Salem church with her husband, when they came to make their home at the old Bradshaw homestead just a short distance from the church where they lived for several years. She leaves no children, her husband died in November of 1928.

Aside from her mother the following survive: R. M. Clendenin of Elon College; Mrs.

though it was not my privilege to know her

G. W. Ford of Washington, D. C.; and J. W. Clendenin, of Richmond, Va. Her eldest sister, Mrs. W. C. Kirkpatrick, died last December. The funeral was conducted from Whitley Memorial auditorium, Elon College, by Dr. G. O. Lankford, pastor of the First Christian church Burlington, with whom she attended college, and Rev. A. F. Hurst, pastor at Elon. Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw moved to Moore's Springs about 13 years ago from Greensboro, which place they owned and operated.

Her welcome smile and cheerful greetings to the guest of the resort and to friends and relatives will not soon be forgotten. Surely she was one of the noblest and finest spirits that ever graced a home or blessed a community. She was a devoted wife and almost constant companion to her husband with whom she walked life's way for about twenty years.

Mrs. Bradshaw did not attend her home church as it was not convenient on account of the distance, but she, as did her late husband, contributed largely to the little Baptist Mission located near the resort. She was also a friend to the poor and unfortunate mountain people with whom she came in contact every day. Administering to their many wants and contributing to their necessities. She has gone to her well-earned reward. Those who knew her are saddened by her going and will greatly miss her, yet her cheerful disposition and fine spirit has left an influence lingering about us that will be a sweet benediction through the years. A great assembly of relatives and friends gathered at the home and grave to show their esteem. Her body was laid to rest beside her husband in Greenhill cemetery in Greensboro, beneath numerous and beautiful floral designs.

Those who attended her funeral and burial from a distance were Mrs. Arthur Bruckner, of Hastings, New York; her nephew, Everette Kirkpatrick, of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haden, Baltimroe, Md.; Mrs. Charles Haden and T. P. Gray, Washington, D. C.; Dr. and Mrs. James O. Nolan, Kannapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williard, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williard, of Winston-Salem; Mrs. W. C. Hammond, High Point; and Alton Kirkpatrick, nephew, of Gastonia.

A FRIEND.

◆

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued from Page Ten)

He gave the best of his life in service for the dependent children of the Baptist church. He will live on in the lives of the hundreds of children who came under his care.

We predict that the great Baptist church will do even greater things for the Mills Home because of the sacrificial life Dr. Kesler lived and the sacrificial death he died.

Dr. Kesler was a source of inspiration to all orphanage workers who met him. God bless his memory. A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

—Rev. G. L. Curry assisted in the funeral of Miss Virginia Hopkins. The large throng present included nine or ten ministers. She had many friends.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE $2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

—The pileated woodpecker of North America sometimes pecks a square hole in a tree.

We announce with pleasure the addition to our personnel of Mr. James M. Simpson, of Grace Church, who is abundantly qualified to render sympathetic service in times of bereavement.

STANSBURY & RACKLEY
FUNERAL SERVICE, Inc.
301 Church St. Phone 5232
GREENSBORO, N. C.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Modern, Fire-Proof,
Well-Equipped Buildings

$380.00, Total cost of dormitory student for Matriculation Fee, Tuition, Room and Board.
$150.00, Total cost for Day Student

Methodist Protestant Owned and Operated

Standard "A" Grade

Courses leading to A.B. and B.S. degree in English, History, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Language, Science and Chemical Engineering, Education, Home Economics, Business Administration, Religious Education and Music

The Place for Methodist Protestant Boys and Girls

For further information address

HIGH POINT COLLEGE - - - HIGH POINT, N. C.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., SEPTEMBER 1, 1932 NUMBER 42

God's Chief Glory

Who can sing a song of praise
Worthy Him of Ancient Days?
Who with words can frame a story
Fitting His resplendent glory?

World so vast and so complete
Spreading out beneath His feet
Shows to us amazing power
Ev'ry day and ev'ry hour.

Each new thing that He has made
Highest wisdom has displayed;
Noble purpose fills the whole,
Product of His mind and soul.

All the parts in concord work,
Nothing does its duty shirk,
Will divine fills every part,
Making all one work of art.

Would you see God's greatest glory,
Find it in man's sinful story:
Pardoned man is seen above,
Basking in God's deepest love!

◆

How Can God Help?

The question has a skeptical sound. Men who believe that God cannot help will not ask His help, will not pray. "He that cometh to God must believe that He is and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." "Without faith it is impossible to please God." He that believes that God cannot help must have gone astray in his thinking about God. Would the Creator of a great world of creatures strip Himself of the power to help those He has created? Especially a world that gives abundant evidence of His loving regard for them? It is incredible. Our blind unbelief may greatly reduce in our estimation the resources of God for our relief. We may impoverish ourselves by imagining God poor; but to do so is greatly against our own interest. Why feel poor when we are the children of the Great King?

The fact is God has so many ways to help that we cannot number them all. He can help in innumerable ways through the physical world. The gold and silver are His and all the material substances. The world of vegetation, rich in resources, in His. His are the cattle grazing on a thousand hlils. He can make helpers of all these and also of one's fellowmen. Greatest of all, He is able to help by the direct operation of His mind upon the human mind. He can bring to us helpful messages which each man may translate into his own language. He has been known to help through the intervention of celestial spirits. His arm is not shortened that He cannot help. He has so very many ways to help that surely we can trust that in some way He will help. "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him; and He shall bring it to pass."

◆

"Not Ashamed to be Called Their God"

In the 11th chapter of Hebrews the writer tells of a class of people of whom he says God is not ashamed to be called their God. He gives the reason: they show that they seek a better country, that is, a heavenly. They are not satisfied with a worldly life; they have longing for a higher and better state of life. God approves of their aspirations and hath prepared for them a city in keeping with their high and holy desires. These pilgrims of the upward way are not on the way through compulsion. They were not forced to leave their habitations. Even after they had started on their journey they might have turned back and been re-instated. But their spiritual instincts led them ever onward. The life of worldliness has lost its charm and does not draw as once it did. These people have caught a glimpse of a far better land. They have seen afar a city whose maker and builder is God. The vision has set their souls on fire. They have no thought of turning back. They are of high quality. No, God is not ashamed to be called their God. They will make model citizens in the celestial city. Not only will God not be ashamed of them, but He will delight to honor them and receive from them loving praise and service.

◆

Cover Too Short for the Bed

A good lady sends us four dollars in a check, saying, "This is to extend my subscription for two years and to renew Miss Blank's subscription for two years." Somehow we can't make ends meet.

◆

—Our Conference Faculty had a special meeting in Calvary church on Tuesday at 2 P. M.

—"Every time we break a law of health, we drive nail in our own coffin."

—True joy is a serene and sober motion, and they are miserably out that take laughing for rejoicing; the seat of it is within, and there is no cheerfulness like the resolutions of a brave mind that has fortune under its feet.—Selected.

A CALL TO PENITENCE AND PRAYER

By Jesse M. Bader

Field Sec., Commission on Evangelism Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, New York City

These are serious days throughout the world. The present unparalleled situation, economic, financial, moral and religious, demands that all Christians, everywhere, should face fearlessly and with undaunted faith in God, the issues of the hour. It is apparent that confusion and disillusionment grip the heart of humanity today as a result of the world-wide economic depression, which on the one hand has resulted in unemployment with its attendant miseries, and on the other hand in fear, pessimism and bewilderment.

There is a growing conviction that beneath all the present difficulty the real cause is sin. We are suffering in our nation today from the blighting sins of war, undisciplined desires during prosperity, the lust of the flesh and the pride of life. "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people." The exceeding sinfulness of sin is revealed afresh in our generation. The deliverance from our sins is the problem of our times.

The Call to Penitence and Prayer, issued by the churches for the first week in October, has this timely statement, "The Church dares not stand aside and whisper peace, either to itself or to the nation, when there is no peace. Only a national turning to God in repentance and moral restitution, seeking His divine forgiveness will restore the spiritual health of our people. We have looked for signs of repentance and the fruits thereof. We have not seen them. On every hand there is the demand for prosperity but little evident desire to return to the ways of faith and prayer. The times are giving us moral discipline. God waits on man's response. No social or political awakening can arise out of religious indifference. The only adequate way is the way of Christ and the Cross."

During the last year there has been a feeling among individuals, churches and religious bodies that something should be done to change the situation. Many are yearning and praying for a spiritual awakening. God seems to be saying again as of old, "If my people, who are called by name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land."

A proposal was made by the Presbyterian General Assembly at its annual meeting in Denver, calling upon their churches for an observance of a period of Penitence and Prayer. They indicated that they would be gratified to see a nation-wide observance on the part of all the religious bodies.

Subsequent to the Presbyterian action, the Virginia Christian Missionary society of the Disciples of Christ took a similar action in their annual state convention in June. They also expressed the hope that the observance might become nation-wide.

At its Northfield Conference last June the Federal Council's Commission on Evangelism had this matter brought to its attention. The proposal met with heartiest approval. Action was taken, offering the good offices of the Commission in helping to make the observance simultaneous and unanimous on the part of the churches throughout the country.

At the suggestion of the officials of the Presbyterian General Assembly the Commission on Evangelism wrote to the heads of over 25 communions to ascertain whether they would join in an observance of Penitence and Prayer. Many replies were received indicating a willingness to co-operate.

After receiving these replies from the heads of the various communions which indicated such a wide spread interest, a committee of three was selected to help in this special observance. The committee consists of Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, Philadelphia, stated clerk of the Presbyterian church in the U.S.A.; Dr. F. H. Knubel, New York City, President of the United Lutheran church in America, and Dr. Charles E. Schaeffer, Philadelphia, former President of the General Synod of the Reformed church in the U. S.

This Committee at its first meeting adopted a CALL to Penitence and Prayer. This CALL has been signed by about 25 official representatives of as many communions.

The date set for the Penitence and Prayer Observance is the week of October 2-8. There are two reasons for the selection of this week—first, it comes early, and second it comes at the very beginning of the autumn's work among the churches. Such a week is needed for self-examination, confession and rededication.

A series of daily prayer topics has been prepared under the direction of the Committee. These are available in printed pamphlet form and may be had through the denominational headquarters or from the Commission on Evangelism of the Federal Council. These prayer topics may be used in the local church, by prayer groups and in the home. The daily prayer themes are:

Sunday, October 2.—"The Examined Life."
Monday, October 3.—"Penitence."
Tuesday, October 4.—"Confession."
Wednesday, October 5.—"Acknowledging God's Sovereignty."
Thursday, October 6.—"Prayer."
Friday, October 7.—"Consecration."
Saturday, October 8.—"Discipleship."

Each daily prayer topic includes a scripture text and references, a meditation and a prayer. The topics and lesson materials are prepared to serve as a guide for the pastors and churches participating in the week's observance.

It is the judgment of the Committee that the promotion of plans and the working out of details may best be done simultaneously and by each communion following its own customs and traditions. While the promotion of the plans and the distribution of the prayer program is to be done denominationally and simultaneously yet this does not preclude the united observance on the part of the City Federations of Churches and Ministerial Associations, where this seems advisable.

There are a number of things the pastor and his local congregation can do to make the week's observance effective. The following are a few suggestions:

Keep the church open daily during the week. Ask all who will, to come into the sanctuary for meditation and prayer.

This is to be a week of heart searching confession, penitence and prayer.

Sunday, October 2nd, is Rally Day in many churches. The pastor will want to preach on the theme suggested for the day—"The Examined Life." In the sermon he may well give attention to the present necessity for Penitence and Prayer. Make this subject the theme throughout the day in all the organizations of the church. During September frequent announcements by the pastor from the pulpit and in the church bulletin will help prepare the congregation for the week's observance. The regular mid-week prayer meeting should be given over to the Penitence and Prayer theme for that day. Many pastors may desire to suggest an observance of Penitence and Prayer in the homes of the church. The family may follow the daily topics for the week-end and make use of the prayers. The ministers of a community or city may well give over their October 3rd Monday morning preacher's meeting for a consideration of Penitence and Prayer and how best to make the observance effective in the churches. This can be done by the ministers whether their meeting is held denominationally or unitedly. Some communities may desire to hold united daily meetings. Morning meetings in some central church or in homes may be possible. Initiative for all united meetings must be assumed and carried out locally. If copies of the daily prayer pamphlets are desired, they may be ordered from the headquarters of each communion or from the Federal Council of Churches, 105 East 22nd Street, New York City. Price one dollar per hundred or four dollars per five hundred.

This CALL to Penitence and Prayer has in it wonderful possibilities if taken seriously by all who love the Lord Jesus Christ and who are anxious to see a better day for things spiritual. The greatest need of our times is the religion of Jesus. So many are saying this during these hectic days. This is the church's hour, for the night of the world is the day of the church. But have we a ministry and a church big enough for the hour? The observance of the week of Penitence and Prayer, October 2-8, seriously and simultaneously by all the pastors and churches can mean a better day for the cause of Christ and a more hopeful future for the nation.

◆

THE HERALD CAMPAIGN

The Herald Subscription Receipts as reported in the last issue are the largest for a long time. This is gratifying. Only two more months of this Conference year in which to raise your church's quota. With the recent increase in the price of commodities a new faith is being born in the minds of our people. In other words the depression hit the bottom some time ago, and we are now headed upward. So far, for the ten months of this year Herald Subscriptions Receipts are the lowest probably they have ever been, but with a determination for the next eight weeks this campaign could still be put over. Who will be the next to raise their full quota? Pastors and Subscription Chairmen are asked to talk and advertise the Herald until their quota is raised or until every Methodist Protestant home has been canvassed.

E. L. Douglas, Chairman
Directing Committee.

TREASURE MOUNDS OF THE MIDDLE WEST

Mute Evidences of a Prehistoric Civilization Which Await the Coming of the Sightseeing Tourist

When the New Englander starts his automobile on a sightseeing tour to the far West he is thinking of Niagara Falls, Yellowstone Park, the Grand Canon. The wide middle country is to him an endless prairie with little of scenic or historic interest. Yet the Mid-West is the great mound area of the United States.

At a reasonable estimate there are one hundred thousand prehistoric earthworks in our country. In the Eastern coastal states none of significance occur north of North Carolina. The Alleghany Mountains seem to have been a barrier. But from western New York to Nebraska, from North Dakota to the Gulf of Mexico they are found by the thousands, scattered especially along the convenient waterways of the Mississippi Valley. Ohio is richest in these earthworks. Its capital, Columbus, began its existence on the site of a razed mound.

When the forefathers pushed across the Alleghanies into the wilderness beyond the Ohio River, they were amazed to find, on strategically located hills, embankments of earth and stone, evidently built for observation or defense. Later they came upon mounds that contained human remains. At once questions arose. Who built these mounds? And when? The pioneers were too strenuously occupied felling forests and erecting their own homes to give careful attention to these mute evidences of a prehistoric civilization; but their curiosity was kept whetted by the constantly occurring new discoveries. Interest centered on the question "Who were the mound-builders?" Ancestors of the Indian tribes? Europeans of a remote time who had been overwhelmed by Indians? Or a distinct race coming from a distant somewhere and vastly superior to the Indians who succeeded them?

Speculation was rife. Newspapers of that early day discussed the subject. Men of note, among them two who were afterward Presidents of the United States, wrote treatises on it. Thomas Jefferson leaned to the theory of Indian origin. William Henry Harrison saw the mound-builders as "a superior vanished race." As early as 1786, General S. H. Parsons sent descriptions of several mound groups to the presidents of Harvard and Yale colleges. In 1788 General Rufus Putnam made a map of the Marietta group for the Ohio Company. (Marietta, you recall, was the first permanent white settlement in Ohio.) But not till the middle of the nineteenth century was the importance of the mound-builders' works to the story of mankind realized. Then two men, Squier and Davis by name, made extensive explorations, the results of which were issued as the first volume of publications of the Smithsonian Institution. Even then their collection of specimens from the mounds, offered for the mere price of expenses, failed of a purchaser in the United States. This rare treasure is now in a museum in England. In 1880, thorough scientific examination of the tumuli was undertaken under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution and the findings were published in 1890. Since that time great advance has been made.

The prehistoric earthworks fall into three classes—the so-called earthworks, the burial and domiciliary mounds, and the effigy mounds.

The simple form of earthworks consisted of an embankment of earth and stone or both together built to fortify the tops of hills. The more elaborate "enclosures" are embankments of geometric form, squares, circles, octagons, and so forth being used either singly or in combinations. The accuracy which these geometric structures exhibited lent plausibility to the "superior race" theory. Recent surveyors' tests indicate that the builders had a knowledge of the simple elements of geometry. Either within or near the enclosures, mounds are usually found. The Marietta group is most widely known. The early settlers of Marietta chose to make the mound the nucleus of their own cemetery—a cemetery which time has rendered unique, for in it are buried more of the Ohio Company and more Revolutionary soldiers than sleep in any other cemetery west of the Alleghanies. The enclosure seems to have been built for social and religious purposes.

The burial mound is found in greatest numbers and has contributed most of the archeological treasures. Usually conical in form, they vary in size from a simple mound, a few feet high, to imposing tumuli like the Grave Creek mound in Moundsville, West Virginia, which is the largest conical structure in the whole mound area, being "upward of seventy feet in height." In the interior of the large mounds rooms or compartments have been constructed of stone. Graves lined with stone or mica, also log burial vaults are found. Implements, domestic utensils, and ornaments of the greatest interest abound. A group of burial mounds, called Mound City, situated at Chillicothe, Ohio, consists of twenty-three mounds within a rectangular enclosure of thirteen acres. A noted group for many years, it owes some of its fame to the fact that it has been the site of military camps in several wars. It has now become a fine park with the preservation of the mounds assured.

The domiciliary mound, found largely in the lower Mississippi Valley, is a variation of the conical mound, having a flat or platform top. This platform served as a base for the houses constructed of poles, skins, and bark for the chiefs and sachems. Dr. H. C. Shetrone, in his recent authoritative and fascinating book, "The Mound-Builders," makes a significant statement contrasting the architecture of the mound-builders with that of the Pueblo Indians of the Southwest. The Pueblos built of stone and sun-dried brick for the living, paying scant attention to the homes of their dead; the mound-builders built painstakingly and securely for their dead, but the abodes of the living perished with the using. The Pueblos survived to see the Europeans arrive. But the mound-builders had then been long extinct.

Effigy mounds are to many the most interesting. In form they represent some bird, animal, serpent, or even human beings. They were apparently totemic in character and probably were used for ceremonial observances. They are found mostly in southern Wisconsin. An excellent example, the Lower Dells Group in Sauk County, Wisconsin, consists of three mounds in the shape of birds with wings widespread. The distance between the tips of the wings of the largest mound is two hundred and forty feet.

The most famous mound of all and "the most mysterious" is the Great Serpent Mound, located on Brush Creek in Adams County in southern Ohio. The Great Serpent Mound occupies "a high ridge, or rocky cliff . . . The head of the serpent impinges upon a sheer precipice of rock, one hundred feet high, overlooking the waters of Brush Creek, while the undulating body terminates in triple coils at the tail, one thousand feet to the southward. The length of the serpent, following its sinuous coils, is one thousand three hundred thirty feet. The somewhat triangular head gives the impression of an open mouth and spread jaws, in front of which is an oval figure which the serpent seems about to swallow." This mound and the surrounding park are visited annually by thousands of tourists.

The numerous relics from mounds and the neighboring ground enable us to visualize something of the life of the mound-builders. We see them skilfully fashioning their flint arrow-heads, knives, and daggers; patiently transforming the rough mass of stone into axes, hoes, and mauls. Yonder mortar and pestle was for grinding their corn. We know they raised maize, for considerable quantities of charred kernels have been found—charred and hence preserved—not only single grains but whole ears. Hundreds of tobacco pipes testify to the free use of tobacco. Smoking was for personal pleasure but also a part of sacred ceremonies. The stone effigy pipes carved in the form of birds, squirrels, dogs, and even the human head were favorites for votive and burial offerings. Many specimens of pottery are beautiful in form and workmanship. Indeed, designs painted or stamped upon some of them are being used by modern artists.

The mound-builders' fondness for personal adornment is evidenced in the ornaments of copper and silvery mica attached to the woven fabric of burial robes and in the lavish use of pearls, of the fresh-water-clam variety. Many thousands of pearls remain, mostly valueless, for owing to long exposure they crumble easily when touched. However, one neckless of three hundred thirty-two beads, remarkable for the excellent preservation of its pearls, was found recently in an Ohio mound and is now displayed in "the world's most extensive collection of mound relics" in the State Museum in Columbus.

Why not include this museum in your next coast-to-coast trip? Your automobile may then head toward Bainbridge, from which town the Great Serpent Mound is easily reached.—Zion's Herald.

TRUE POWER

Kindness wins where coercion fails. Sympathy smoothes out difficulties and disarms antagonism. The supreme qualities of kindness and gentleness can be rapidly cultivated by close attention to little things. They grow through use. It is erroneous to think of gentleness as necessarily weak and timid. In the truest sense gentleness is power and poise. It is positive virtue reaching out to understand, help, and encourage. It is eloquent evidence of nobility of soul.

Sympathy and gentleness are safeguards against selfishness. Three valuable personal qualities are kindness, gentleness, and sympathy. The time you devote to cultivating these virtues will give breadth to your character, and help to shape your life toward noble ends.—Grenville Kleiser.

OPTIMISM EVANGELISM

The President's Letter

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Brother Surratt

A card just received from Brother H. F. Surratt brings us the gratifying news that he is at home again. He is able to be up in the house, and is gradually regaining his strength. He and his wife are very grateful for the interest and thoughtfulness of their many friends—both those of the charges that they serve—and elsewhere. Friends are always valuable, but especially so in times of affliction. We trust that Brother Surratt may be entirely well in due time. But we suggest that he allow "due time" for this. It will be a very easy matter for him to over-tax his strength now, and in that case, the last state might be worse than the first. We have information that Brother T. A. Williams is improving, and that he was able to preach last Sunday. Brother Lowdermilk is out on his crutches now. No recent word has come from our other sick. We trust that "no news is good news," and that all of our sick brethren may soon be entirely well.

Orange

August 21.—At the request of Pastor Williams, we filled two appointments for him on this date. In the morning we were at the Efland church. It is always an inspiration to worship in this simple but attractive church building. The congregation filled the house, and the people were attentive and worshipful. At the close of the service we had a brief business meeting with the officials regarding finances. It was gratifying to learn that the pastor's salary at this church was just about up-to-date. The brethren assured us that earnest efforts would be made to raise the budgets. A church debt here hinders some in raising conference allotments. This church is carrying a building indebtedness which is being gradually reduced, and in due time will be paid in full. The people built wisely and they are laboring faithfully in paying their debt. They have, also, an appreciation of their conference and denominational relations and obligations. All indications in this service encouraged us to believe that this church is in good condition, and that it is prospering. We enjoyed dinner with Brother Mack Efland and his interesting family.

In the aternoon we were at Union Grove, a rural church nestling beneath the virgin forest trees just off the Hillsboro and Chapel Hill road, and about five miles from the former place. The people who make up the congregation are the sturdy citizens of the community. For most of their lives, and with some, perhaps all of their lives, they have been going to this Holy place from Sabbath to Sabbath to participate in the Sunday School and in public worship. And still they go, and find at the altars of this church spiritual refreshing and strength. It is impossible to measure the good that God has accomplished in this community through the ministry of this church. And the good does not stop within the immediate circles of this church. Through those who have gone out from its portals it is enlarging its good works, both through fields of religious activity and in other channels of life. No one is wise enough to estimate the good that has been done—and is being done by the rural church that graces the country everywhere. A conference with the officials here gave us assurance that finances would receive their marked attention during these closing weeks. This church has a good record in this particular. We believe that they will try to maintain it this year. We enjoyed the day on this charge, though we missed the pastor. He has a warm place in the hearts of his people. We were glad to have a few minutes with Sister Williams and the family on our return Sunday evening, and to break bread with them. It was highly gratifying to find Archie Gray improved in health, after his long illness.

Grace

August 28.—On this date we were with this church in the 11 o'clock service. The congregation was gratifying as to numbers and worshipful in attitude. We were glad to note the presence of one of our honored superannuates, Rev. W. F. Kennett. Brother J. Norman Wills made the announcements for the week. He stated that a missionary (regret not to be able to give her name) would speak in the prayer service Wednesday night. A further announcement of interest was that Rev. E. Lester Ballard had been engaged, by special arrangements, to take up at once the religious educational work of the church. Brother Ballard will preach at the morning service next Sunday. We were glad to worship with this congregation again, and to share in their good fellowship. Dr. Humphreys is expected to return from his vacation in time to preach again on the second Sunday in September, at which time he expects to enter, without interruption, upon his work here as pastor for the remainder of this conference year. We bespeak for him and for Brother Ballard and for the congregation, happiness and success in their work together.

Delegates

By this time all third quarterly conferences should have been held and reports made as to election of delegates. We are asking, therefore, that pastors give us names of these delegates so we can begin shaping up committees for the coming conference. A post card will do. Thank you, pastors.

Rally Day

Have you ordered the program? It is off the press now, and a simple request will bring it to you without cost. Let's make the Rally Day this fall a real RALLYING occasion in which every department of the church shall be included. Such a Rally would help much in creating a new impetus for the closing work of the year. And the first secret of such a Rally is that it be spiritual. "Except the Lord buildeth the house they labor in vain that build it."

Appointments

September 2-5.—Anderson and Yarborough charges.
September 10-11.—Vance charge.
September 11.—Henderson, 7:30 p. m.
September 13-14.—Greensville charge.
September 15-16.—Enfield and Whitakers.

September 18.—Creswell charge.

September 25.—Love Joy, Why Not charge.

"And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us."

Fraternally yours,

S. W. Taylor.

◆

DEPRESSION AND PRAYER

"How is business?" I asked a merchant in the bank. The next moment I almost apologized for the platitude. Besides, the question must be annoying in these days.

The merchant, however, did not seem to think so. In fact, he became confidential, as we stepped outside and stood at his car. He did not gloss over conditions with the cheap optimism that says, "Business is fine; never better." He faced facts.

"Do you know," he said, coming a little closer, "I prayed last night."

After that, we had a talk that lasted longer than five minutes.

Well, if the depression will make us pray, then let us be thankful for the depression. We are gifted with no faculty more precious than prayer, but we never really use it until we feel the need of God's help. How well the Hebrew singer understood the human heart when he chanted, "Out of the depths have I cried unto Thee, O Lord."

Men that live with God always feel the need of God, and they always pray. But many do not think of Him until they are in dire distress. Then they pray, and as they pray, new fountains are opened up within them. Hidden resources are revealed to them, and they look at life with new eyes and new courage. They begin to say, "I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me."

Man comes to himself as he comes to God, and he comes to God as he comes to himself. We are most real when we pray. We must be, for only the honest heart can come in touch with the heart of God. And when we are our real selves, we are mighty, for then we are one with the Almighty.

We shall gain immensely through the depression if it will make us pray, and we shall lose immensely if it does not make us pray.—Arthur B. Rhinow.

◆

"FORGETORY," A DIVINE BLESSING

"A good memory is a priceless possession, but a good 'forgetory' is a divine blessing. There are things we ought to remember, and other things that will corrode and destroy our happiness unless we forget them. Train your mind to forget all cross words, all evil gossip, slander, all unkind looks, and invitations you didn't get. Forget the seeming carelessness of those who love you; they may only be preoccupied with their own troubles. Forget unpleasant things. By carrying them in your mind you make it a chamber of horrors, a junkyard of worthless wreckage. Exercise your memory on good things only. Let your forgetory dematerialize the things that would do you harm. Remember that bad memories hurt us. Memories of good things build us up."—Miami, Fla., Edison Herald.

GIVE THE BEST CHANCE TO THE BEST

The public money is now spent largely on the indolent, the pauper, and the criminal. Institutions are provided for the lame, the halt, and the blind. There are almshouses by the score. There are free hospitals and public clinics. There are schools for feeble-minded and backward children.

This type of social sanitation may be wholly proper, though in part the results are of questionable value; but one wonders why a whole-souled benevolence must include the encouragement of the recipients to produce increasing batallions of their own kind to weigh down the burden of the next generation.

And one is entitled to ask why this benevolence stops at just the wrong place. Why are there not schools for precocious and brilliant children? Why do the ambitious and industrious have to fight so hard for education and for health? Why are the rotten timbers of society repaired and painted, while the more solid framework is abandoned to wind and weather? Why is the producer repressed and his fertility restrained to make room for the parasite?

One of our prominent social workers is quoted as saying that every child is worth $5,000 to society. Stuff and nonsense! Some of them are not worth 5,000 Soviet roubles—they are liabilities, not assets; others are worth golden millions. If prosperity is to be promoted, the assets should be increased and the liabilities reduced.—E. M. East in Mankind at the Crossroads.

◆

BECOMING HOLY

The Gospel method of making men holy is God in Christ drawing them into likeness to Himself through the action on them and in them of the Cross of Christ. The human life of God in Christ was the supreme expression of holiness. In and through that life and death God draws men to Himself and shares with them His own holy life. The resurrection of Christ is constantly employed in the Epistles of the New Testament as the measure of the power working in believers. Paul never wearies of asserting this great truth. There was a casual relation of the resurrection of Christ to the Christianity which followed. Of course, Christ's resurrection bears vitally on the doctrine of immortality. To the Christian the present life is the beginning of the future life. Immortality ceases, for him, to be a speculation and becomes an experience.—The Watchman-Examiner.

◆

BEES ON THE WING

Have you ever wondered how fast a bee fles? Well, the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, says that a bee can fly twenty-five miles an hour, but usually it travels about fifteen miles an hour. A bee which is weighted down with its precious load of honey often travels as fast as a bee which bears no such sweet burden. If a bee is carrying a heavy load, however, it will stop sometimes to rest on a long journey. Bees which are crossing lakes or rivers sometimes become exhausted, drop into the water, and are drowned. A heavily laden bee sometimes makes an ungraceful landing, bumping into the hive or dropping on the ground before it. The average load of honey which the bee brings to the hive weighs about one-half as much as the bee's body.

OUR STORY PAGE

THE TOAD'S TRANSFORMATION

It was a mild summer day. I had been leisurely watering my roses and was standing in loving contemplation of their beauty, when, happening to glance down, I noticed a toad under the nearest bush. He had a forlorn, dusty look, and there was something unusually abject and discouraged in his attitude.

"Pooor toad!" I said to him in my softest tones,—for I like to have toads in my garden, and always address them in as winning a manner as possible,— "poor toad, are you very tired and warm?" and by way of refreshment gently dropped a little water from the pot in my hand upon his dusty back. He seemed to shrink yet closer to the ground, and I fancied that he did not care for my assistance, so I gave him no more, but stood for a moment idly watching him, hoping that he would stay all summer to feast upon the hundred winged and many-legged visitors who also seem fond of my garden.

Suddenly, as I looked, in his worn coat there came a widening crack down the middle of the back. I rubbed my eyes in amazement, almost thinking they were playing me false,—but, no, slowly the frail garment shrank, until with his long arms Mr. Toad could reach the edges and pull it forward. It seemed to divide into portions, like a tailor's pattern, and presently he was working the tiny trousers off; first one leg and then the other, as a boy his overalls. Then, with a swing of those same long arms, he pulled the torn upper sections down from his head. To my surprise, as each portion came off, there was a gulp and a swallow, and it disappeared like a large pill down his big throat.

With awe and admiration I watched, and then came perhaps the most interesting part of the spectacle,—the pulling off of the long gloves, as he gently worked them down from the shoulder, one arm at a time, drawing them wrong side out over his shoulder as a lady might her evening gloves, and doing it fully as deftly and daintily.

And then, resplendent in his new raiment, Mr. Toad stood forth, a knight arrayed for the most august of Batrachian courts. Rich shades of bronze and pale gold, attractive to the eye, and I felt that even the princess of the fairy tale need not hesitate to kiss that burnished head, sure that Prince Charming himself would emerge from such an irreproachable covering!

A transformation like this was indeed a revelation and, though I am watching closely, I have not yet seen another.

His cousin, — a dapper young gentleman, who enjoys sitting in my low bird-bath on warm days,—is very friendly, and allows me to come quite close before he springs away to the shade of the big azalea near by, but his coat is apparantly doing good service at present. Nevertheless, I am watching and it may be that some time I shall be allowed to be present once more at the investiture of the shining armor.—Annie Laurie Brooks.

THE MAN CONSENTED

Mr. Robert Aitken, bookseller in Philadelphia, was the first person who printed a Bible in that city. He was a Scotch Seceder, and an eminently pious man. While he kept a book store, a person called on him and inquired if he had Paine's "Age of Reason" for sale. He told him he had not, but having entered into conversation with him and found he was an infidel, he told him he had a better book than Paine's "Age of Reason," which he usually sold for a dollar, but would lend it to him if he promised to read it, and if, after he had actually read it, he did not think it worth a dollar, he would take it back again.

The man consented, and Mr. Aitken put a Bible into his hands. He smiled when he found what Book he had engaged to read; but he said he would perform his engagement. He did so, and when he had finished the perusal, he came back to Mr. Aitken, and expressed the deepest gratitude for his recommendation of the Book, saying it had made him what he was not before—a happy man; for he had found in it a Saviour, and the way of salvation. Mr. Aitken rejoiced in the event, and had the satisfaction of knowing that this reader of the Bible, from that day to the end of his life, supported the character of a consistent Christian, and died with a hope full of immortality.—Armor of Light.

◆

WITHIN CALLING DISTANCE

"I didn't hear you call, mother," said a boy somewhat sheepishly, as he stood before his mother. "I was in the garage, but I guess I was so busy working on my new airplane that I couldn't hear."

Possibly the boy's reason for failing to respond to his mother's call is the reason why many do not respond when God calls; they do not hear. They are so busy with their business, their ambitions, their material activities and interests, that the Divine voice does not reach them. "No, I do not know that I should like to be a missionary," said a youth to his pastor. "I have never felt any compelling call to give my life in that direction." "Are you sure you are within calling distance?" was the disquieting response.

Is there not something in the latter question for us all to think seriously about?—The Elim Evangel.

◆

WHAT IS A BOY?

He is a person who is going to carry on what you have started.

He sits where you sat and attends to important things after you are gone.

He is going to occupy your place in the senate and the supreme court bench.

He will assume control of your cities, states and nations.

He is going to take over your church, schools, universities and corporations.

Your reputation and future are in his hands.

All your work is for him, and the fate of the nation is in his hands.

So it might be well to pay him some attention.—Home and School.

Poems That Heal and Inspire

By GRENVILLE KLEISER

LEAVE IT TO GOD

Does the path seem rough and steep?
Leave it to God.
Do you sow, but fail to reap?
Leave it to God.
Yield to Him your human will,
Listen child-like and be still,
Know that Love your mind can fill,
Leave it to God.

Is your life an up-hill fight?
Leave it to God.
Do you struggle for the right?
Leave it to God.
Though the way be drear and long,
Sorrow will give place to song,
Good must triumph over wrong,
Leave it to God.

If in doubt just what to do,
Leave it to God.
He will make it plain to you,
Leave it to God.
Serve Him faithfully today,
He will guide you all the way,
Simply trust Him, watch and pray,
Leave it to God.

DIVINE LOVE

Love is the liberator,
Love dwells right here,
Love is the demonstrator,
Love casts out fear.

Love inspires, illuminates,
Love heals today;
Love clearly designates,
Love leads the way.

Love divine law fulfills,
Love makes sin flee;
Love cures our human ills,
Love sets us free.

Love flows to all mankind,
Love is a stream;
Love will our chains unbind,
Love is supreme.

Love begets holiness,
Love is a call;
Love gently comes to bless,
Love is for all.

WAKING PRAYER

I thank Thee, God,
For this new day,
Another chance
To do thy way.

I pray Thee, God,
To so teach me,
That childlike
I may humble be.

When it is night,
May I then say:
I know I walked
With God today.

HEALING PRAYER

Healing Mind of Christ supreme,
Be Thy thoughts my daily theme;
Teach me how to do thy will,
Know the Truth and just be still.

Healing Power of Christ profound,
More and more in me abound;
From self-seeking make me free,
Build my life alone in Thee.

Healing Love of Christ divine,
I would make Thee fully mine;
Dwell within me now I pray,
Keep me strong and brave today.

Healing Word of Christ so dear,
Speak to me that I may hear;
Let my daily life express
Truth and Love and Righteousness.

GOD

God is my guide,
I cannot stray;
He walks with me
And shows the way.

God is my strength,
He keeps me well;
His love for me
I daily tell.

God is my light,
Through Him I see;
In every hour
He leadeth me.

God is my shield,
My strong defense
'Gainst human pride
And sinful sense.

God is my life,
Supreme, divine;
His Love and Truth
Are ever mine.

God is my all,
In Him I trust;
I know naught else,
Serve Him I must.

VISION

God is my sight,
Through Him I see;
He knows the way
And walks with me.

God is my sight,
I have no fear,
No lack, no doubt,
Since He is here.

God is my sight,
His hand in mine
I safely dwell
In Love divine.

God is my sight,
His Word is sure;
I know tonight
I'll rest secure.

CHRIST WALKS WITH ME

Christ walks with me today,
Christ helps me all the way;
Chirst fills my every need,
Christ guides my every deed.

Christ grants me power do,
Christ makes my prayers true;
Christ shows me how to live,
Christ teaches me to give.

Christ solves my darkest doubt,
Christ shuts all evil out;
Christ rules my human will,
Christ bids me "Peace, be still."

Christ heals my ills and sin,
Christ cleanses me within;
Christ gives me faith for fear,
Christ dwells so very near.

Christ crowns my life with love,
Christ turns my eyes above;
Christ guards me through the night,
Christ leads me to the light.

GOD OF MEN

God of men of gentle grace,
God of men of radiant face,
God of men of valiant race,
We thank Thee!

God of men of lowly birth,
God of men who till the earth,
God of men of sterling worth,
We thank Thee!

God of men who do and dare,
God of men who burdens bear,
God of men who freely share,
We thank Thee!

God of men who light the way,
God of men who serve today,
God of men who watch and pray,
We thank Thee!

God of men who combat wrong,
God of men who labor long,
God of men who cheer with song,
We thank Thee!

God of men who truth proclaim,
God of men of selfish aim,
God of men who love Thy Name,
We thank Thee!

STAND PORTER

Stand porter at the door of thought;
Let not base evil in;
Guard well the sacred citadel;
Cast off intrusive sin.

Stand porter at the door of thought;
Shut fear and failure out;
Disease and dread are impotent
When swiftly put to rout.

Stand porter at the door of thought;
Choose well your mental guests;
Bid every form of strife depart;
Obey Love's true behests.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD
President of High Point College C. E. Society

Sept. 4: WHAT IS OUR ATTITUDE TO WORK AND THE WORKER?

Scripture—Eccl. 9:10; 1 Thess. 4:9-12

Any endeavor which is as near universal as labor should be discussed freely and intelligently. Work is honorable and finds Divine sanction. When God placed Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, He commanded that they dress and keep the garden. After the disobedience God said that their living should be gained by the sweat of their brows. It is impossible to think of this world existing and yielding without work. Christ was a living example of the honorableness of labor. As He entered His public ministry, no doubt, His hands were strongly calloused from working in the carpenter shop. When men were gathered to Him to learn His way and carry the message to the world, working men were selected.

If man should think seriously on his destiny and the great goal of life, he would become discouraged and despondent. There is needed an immediate goal which occupies one's thought; this is found in work. Work to be satisfying must be enjoyable. Some types of work are pleasant to one person and unpleasant to others. To take a person, who by training and endowment is fitted for a mechanic, and put him to work on delicate wood carving would be punishment. The man who likes to carve wood finds enjoyment in such work. It is my belief that every person should be in work where he is happy. Work is satisfying to most people and idleness brings broodiness and dissatisfaction. The man or woman who finds no pleasure in work is to be pitied for labor to such people is an extreme punishment.

In a time of depression such as the present thousands of people are unemployed. Periods such as this make dissatisfaction. The seeds of communism and propaganda find ready soil in restless situations and often prove disastrous. Crime is increased when unemployment is experienced. The wants of physical life are satisfied by stealing when they are not appeased by honest labor. "An idle brain proves to be the devil's workshop." Confidence in men and institutions is often lost in periods of depression. Not only does the church suffer for money but it is also doubted for its power to prevent some actions that occur. The strife between capital and labor is accentuated in depression and confidence is lost in the Christianity of both groups because of some actions. Steady employment for those who desire to work is necessary to happiness.

Nature has little place for drones in life. There are many who will not work and delight in accepting charity; there are many who do not have to work because of their wealth. These classes are contributing little in a constructive way but the working man is the hope of our society.

"Princes and lords may flourish, or may fade,
A breath can make them, as a breath has made:
But a bold peasantry, their country's pride,
When once destroyed, can never be supplied."

Our great west as well as the east was won by men and women who loved work and saw it as nobility. Such people have left their stamp on America but as wealth increases and labor is disdained, crime and idleness increase. While the Romans were in their tents and working for each rod of ground they won, there was strength and vitality; when they rolled in the idleness of wealth, decay set in. While America has labor to occupy its citizens its solidity is secured, but when idleness begins, a moral decadence saps its strength.

Personality, as the crowning achievement of God and sacred heritage of man, must not be lost in a mechanical age. Man must never become a monkey wrench to serve only as such, but factories must build personalities rather than destroy them.

Labor is honorable and the working peasant is more noble than the idle lord.

"Let not ambition mock their useful toil,
Their homely joys, and destiny obscure;
Nor grandeur hear with a disdainful smile.
The short and simple annals of the poor."
—Gray.

Quotable Poetry

LET NOT THY HANDS BE SLACK

Let not thy hands be slack, live not in vain;
Out on life's lonely track men toil in pain.
Play thou a brother's part; strength, love and hope impart;
Bid thou the fainting heart look up again.

Let not thy hands be slack, haste to the fray!
Dream not of turning back; life is not play!
Gird thou thine armour on; fight till the battle's won,
Then shall thy Lord's "Well done" more than repay!

Let not thy hand be slack; "Fear not! Be strong!"
Cease not to make attack on every wrong!
Press on for truth and right, hold thou the gospel light;
Expel the dirge of night with heaven's song!

Let not thy hands be slack; the days fly fast.
Lost moments come not back from the dark past.
Then, be not slack of hand! help thou the weak to stand.
To God and fatherland give all thou hast.
—S. E. Burrow.

Suggested Service

Prelude.
Hymn: "Work for the Night Is Coming."
Introduction of topic.
Scripture lesson: Eccl. 9:10; 1 Thess. 4:9-12.
Prayer.
Leader's Talk.
Hymn: "We'll Work Till Jesus Comes."
Topic Discussion.
Poem: "Let Not Thy Hands Be Slack."
Sentence Prayers.
Hymn: "Take My Life and Let It Be."
Roll Call—answering with verse of Scripture relating to work.
Mizpah Benediction.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Ladies' Bible class, R. I. Ave., Washington, D. C., clothing child	$5.00
Charlotte S. S.	5.55
Charlotte, Richland, clothing child	5.00
Bethel, Alamance	.00
Bethel Baraca class, Alamance	.70
Union Ridge S. S., Forsyth	6.56
Midway S. S., Midway-Shady Grove	1.00
Mr. John Webb, Concord, Ill., personal	10.00
Young Men's Bible class, First church, Thomasville, clothing child	10.00
Midway S. S., Haw River	3.76
Mt. Carmel, Forsyth	2.95
Creswell S. S.	5.00
Henderson S. S.	7.01

Clothing and Other Gifts

Miss Mollie Wheelis and Misses Sarah and Charlotte Johnston, Whitakers, N. C., 2 dresses and pillow slips.

Our report is short this week, but we are very thankful for every gift. God bless and direct all His workers.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

PICTURES PROMISED

During last year we promised a group picture of all the children in the Home to each Sunday school which would make the regular monthly offering to the Cihldren's Home for six months.

There were several schools that qualified, but we found ourselves in a very embarassing situation. We ordered three dozen pictures made, but the photographer who took the pictures went into bankruptcy and left the city before the pictures were finished. We tried to get in touch with him but failed.

We have not had the money to have more pictures made. But we have always tried to keep our promises, so if under these circumstances those who claim a picture will just write us a card and say so, we will undertake to fulfill our promise as soon as possible. We are sorry for this, but amidst the failures of these days, we could not help it. Yours in His service. A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

SALEM MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION

W. T. PAYNE, Pres.—W. A. JOBE, Sec.-Treas.

Annual Meeting, Sunday, Sept. 4, 1932
11:00 o'Clock A. M.

Program

Hymn.
Prayer.
Scripture Lesson.
Special Music.
Report of Treasurer.
Offering.
Special Music.
Address: Dr. P. E. Lindley, Dean of High Point College.

Picnic Lunch

2:00 o'Clock P. M.

Business Meeting.
Report of Treasurer.
Election of Officers.
Appointment of Committees.
Motions and Resolutions.
Short Talks by Friends and Members of the Association.

◆

Wm. G. McAdoo is candidate for U. S. Senator from California.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Tabernacle Charge.—Revival services have been held at both churches on this charge. Rev. J. P. Pegg was our pulpit help at Julian and Rev. J. R. Anderson at Tabernacle. These brethren brought soul-stirring Gospel messages to large congregations. We have received eight new members at Tabernacle and five at Julian. We are grateful to Brother Pegg and Brother Anderson for the splendid work they did; also to Brothers Ashburn and Pike for one sermon each.

The folks continue to remember the pastor with donations. The following have our thanks: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones, Mr. Sam Bowman, Mrs. G. A. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hanner, Miss Anna Hardin, Mr. E. T. Coble and Mr. Casky.

Brother W. T. Hanner, of Julian, will represent Tabernacle charge in the next annual conference.

H. L. ISLEY.

* * *

West End, Thomasville.—It has been some time since I have written any report but we have been growing in every service in both attendance and attention. Our Sunday school broke its record of attendance last Sunday and we hope it will continue to grow.

Pastor Bell is away this week helping Mr. Short in a revival meeting and we are hoping he will have great success and soon be back with us. Our Christian Endeavor has the largest number on roll we have ever had. And we are still climbing.

Our Sunday school went on a picnic last Saturday evening at High Point Municipal lake and everyone had a most enjoyable evening with plenty of entertainment and watermelon and other eats.

At the last writing a number of our members were sick, some at home and some at the hospital, but we are glad to have them back with us at this writing.

REPORTER.

* * *

Pinnacle and Mt. Zion.—Our first special meeting was held at Shoals the second Sunday in July. We had the help of Rev. R. A. Hunter, of Forsyth circuit. We had good attendance all through the meeting, and everyone seemed to enjoy the preaching but practically all the people who attended were church members, hence we had no conversions.

The third Sunday in July we began at Mt. Zion with Dr. J. E. Pritchard as help. The attendance was good and the preaching was interesting and helpful to all; here again we had no conversions, but as at Shoals, the sinners didn't attend as they should.

We began at Pilot church the fifth Sunday in July with R. A. Hunter again as help; here we also had good attendance with two accessions to the church. We with the people greatly enjoyed the preaching and work of these helpers, they both were at their best. Since the meeting our church at Shoals was struck by lightning but the damage was not very great.

Brother O. F. Hauser has been elected as delegate to annual conference.

Our annual Home-coming at Pinnacle church that is usually held the fourth Sunday in September will be held this year the second Sunday in September instead of the fourth and will be held in connection with the Mickey reunion. We are hoping to make it an interesting occasion. All day services with dinner on the ground, every body invited to come and bring a full basket.

We expect to begin our special meeting at Pinnacle the fourth Sunday in September with Rev. Glenn Madison of Thomasville First church as our help. The work here seems to be in normal condition spiritually, though very much behind financially, but I hope to bring up a good report to conference.

A. L. HUNTER.

* * *

Pleasant Union, Mt. Pleasant Charge.—It has been so long since we have sent a report to the paper that some might believe us sleeping but the truth is that many important meetings have been held.

On the fifth Sunday in July our meeting began. For our morning service the children presented a program. The offering amounted to twenty-one dollars. In the afternoon Dr. Johnson brought us a most helpful message. Rev. R. C. Troxler was with us during the week, doing some splendid preaching. Five children joined the church at the close of the meeting.

We were happy to have a group of children and Dr. and Mrs. Dixon with us the first Sunday morning in August. They brought a splendid program consisting of songs and readings. An offering was taken which amounted to ten dollars and the Sunday school is going to try to send five dollars each month for the children who are less fortunate than ourselves.

Many of our people attended services at Mt. Pleasant and each time received much help from Dr. Paschall's splendid messages.

Several of our members are planning to attend part of the Farmers' Convention being held at Raleigh this week and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Causey and Mrs. Blanche Brower are spending the entire week there.

The delegate from our church to the Annual Conference will be Mr. Oscar Ingold.

DORTHA CAUSEY HOLT.

* * *

Thomasville, First Church.—The Ladies' Auxiliary is doing a great work for the church. Just the other week Mrs. I. A. Teague, an active member of the auxiliary, had a diminishing tea at her home to raise money for the church. Approximately 50 people attended it, and it was made a great success by the leader.

We have had very many visiting ministers recently and have enjoyed their messages very much. Last Sunday evening we were entertained by the High Point Children's home. We enjoyed hearing many good recitations and songs by a group of the children.

The church as a whole is proud of its C. E. society. Its membership has increased to about 75, and these members are interested in working for the church. Our society, belonging to the city union, has won the banner in a contest every time but once. We lost the banner when we challenged all the other societies in the union. Last Sunday evening the C. E. society enjoyed putting on a program at Pine Grove church near Kernersville. They tried to bring out the importance of prayer in our lives today.

A revival meeting begin at our church next Sunday, September 4th. We are expecting to have good services with Rev. O. C. Loy helping in the pulpit.

We invite everyone to attend these services as visitors are always welcome at our church.

REPORTER.

* * *

Vance.—There will be a home-coming and memorial service at New Hope church, Vance charge, next Sunday, September 4th. Bring your lunch and your friends and let's have a day of real fellowship and worship. A number of local and visiting speakers will occupy the morning service and Dr. F. W. Paschall will preach the memorial sermon in the afternoon. It is hoped that all former pastors and all other friends of tre church and community will be present for these services.

There will be both an anniversary and memorial service at Harris Chapel church, Vance charge, on the second Sunday, September 11. sermon at 11 o'clock, celebrating the 75th anniversary of the church. At the afternoon service Rev. H. L. Powell, a former pastor of the church, will preach the memorial sermon. Every one is invited to attend these services. Bring your lunch and spread with us and let's have a merry feast together. All former pastors of the church are invited to be with us in these services as special guests of the church. We are looking for you.

REV. J. W. BRAXTON, Pastor.

* * *

Midland, Loves Grove.—Our meeting closed here on the 9th night with a packed house. The results were far beyond the expectations of the most visionary. The number converted and reclaimed went beyond the hundredth mark. Forty-four have already united with the church with more to follow. The older people said it was the greatest meeting by far, that was ever held at Loves Grove. The most skeptical have been converted to the program of longer meetings. It takes time to reach the older hardened sinner.

The interest of the meeting increased to the last hour and we felt that it was almost a tragedy to close, but the call that came to attend the funeral of our very dear friend, Miss Jennie Hopkins, who met death in such an awful tragedy, made us feel the necessity of closing the meeting.

Brother C. G. Isley rendered us splendid service and the people loved him dearly.

We are now in the midst of a meeting at Midland. Rev. D. I. Garner is doing the preaching with demonstration and power.

We will begin a second meeting at Pine Bluff the first Sunday in September. Brother Hulin will be the help.

W. D. REED.

* * *

Siler City.—The Sunday school met on the lawn of the church last Friday and enjoyed an old-time watermelon slicing. Our Sunday school has been a little on the decline in number the past few Sundays, due to the hot weather, but we hope this good feast will cause us all to get back on the job.

Then again on the night of the 23rd the Men's Bible class, Baraca and Philathea classes, and all intermediate classes enjoyed a real picnic supper on the spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Fox. A long table was placed on the lawn and loaded down with plenty of fried chicken, biscuit, sandwiches, corn on the cob, pickle, pies, cakes, deviled eggs, and all the iced tea one could drink. Mr. L. L. Wrenn returned thanks and after all had eaten to their heart's content, several trays were prepared and sent to some of our sick who could not be with us. I'm sure everyone present had a wonderful time.

Circle No. 1 met with Mrs. Hattie Stout on Monday afternoon and Circle No. 2 met with Mrs. C. E. Brady at night of the same day. Both had good attendance and rendered good programs. Circle No. 1 is planning to make some money by using the vegetable exchange system. If we succeed we'll pass it along.

The pulpit was filled the 3rd Sunday morning by Rev. W. M. Pike. Again we had the pleasure of enjoying another one of his inspiring messages.

The Woman's Auxiliary met at the church Wednesday the 24th. The president, Mrs. J. E. Fox, conducted a short business period, and then the meeting was turned over to the program committee. "Youth" was our subject and many interesting discussions were heard. We planned to give a picnic supper at the home of our president Thursday night. This is to get all our members together and try to arouse more interest in the meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Cooper, of Baltimore, Md., are visiting Mr. Cooper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cooper.

MRS. J. A. COOPER.

Randolph Charge.—We have held two of our special meetings for this charge. The first was at Shiloh beginning the second Sunday in August. The next was at Bethel beginning the third Sunday. The pastor did all of the preaching in these meetings except one sermon by Brother Pike at Shiloh. We greatly appreciate this help by Brother Pike. The people were delighted to see him and hear him again. Brother T. O. Pender was with us in both meetings and directed the singing. His services were of a high order and contributed much to the meetings. The interest in these meetings was good. There were 34 conversions and reclamations. Seventeen at each church. Eight joined the church at Shiloh. There were no additions to the church at Bethel. We hope some will join later. At the close of these meetings we were well supplied by both churches with flour, meat, sugar, lard, beans, peas, apples, pears, chickens, and numerous other tokens of kindness. We greatly appreciate these gifts and trust that we may be able to render service that will give evidence of our appreciation.

EDW. SUITS.

West Forsyth.—We had the usual attendance and interest at the service at Harmony Grove church last Sunday. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper was administered after the sermon. The attendance in the Sunday school was good, with only one less than one year ago. Our plan was to go to the Shore family reunion at Maple Springs church, but owing to a birthday dinner at the home of Mrs. Daisy Craft, we changed our plan and attended the dinner in the Harmony Grove community. The dinner was given as a surprise to Mrs. Craft's son, Fletcher Craft.

The past week was spent by the writer in East Bend, Yadkin County, where we assisted in a revival meeting at the East Bend M. E. Church, South. We enjoyed very much the association with the pastor, Rev. T. A. Plyler, and his church people during the week. The unsaved people of the town did not attend the meeting, except in very small numbers, and the results were not what we had hoped they would be, but it seemed that the church was revived. It was out of the ordinary for an M. P. pastor to be called on to help an M. E. pastor, but what happened at the close of the meeting was more unusual. The writer erceived a nice pounding at the hands of those good M. E. people. What other pastor in our conference can report such a pounding?

Our appointments for next Sunday will be at Baltimore and Stony Knoll churches, and will be met by Rev. J. A. Blackburn, who will preach at Baltimore at 11 a. m. and at Stony Knoll at 3 p. m. We will be at Glenn Raven Methodist Protestant church with Rev. J. P. Pegg, the pastor, in the annual revival meeting at that church, beginning next Sunday morning.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

Charlotte.—Our revival meeting started on the second Sunday, with Rev. Huff from Indiana Trail preaching at 11 o'clock, and Dr. Andrews of Charlotte, First M. P. church, at 3 o'clock. Both messages were fine and very inspiring. We feel very fortunate in being able to have these splendid speakers. Our pastor preached on Sunday night and during the remainder of the meeting, which continued until Saturday night. We had a good meeting with quite a number of conversions, and eleven members. I feel the entire church was greatly benefited and raised to a higher standard, spiritually. Our pastor poured out his whole soul in some wonderful messages. Some of the best we have ever heard. His next appointment will be at 3 o'clock the second Sunday in September at which time he will receive the numbers into the church.

I am glad to say we have organized a Ladies' Aid in our church with eleven members.

Our Sunday school is still holding its own with much interest being manifested.

REPORTER.

Love's Grove Church, Midland Charge.—Our revival meeting began on August 14, and continued through August 22. The pastor, Rev. W. D. Reed, was assisted in the meeting by Rev. C. G. Isley, who preached appropriate and convincing sermons with forceful delivery. Attendance throughout the meeting was unusually good.

Love's Grove was blessed this year with a genuine revival which swept through the church congregation and reached out into the community as well. Our church membership has taken on new zeal, and our friends of other denominations have been generous in expressions of joy and spiritual elevation derived from attending our services.

During the nine days services there were 70 conversions and 37 reclamations and reconsecrations. There were 46 additions to the church, 43 by confession of faith and three by letter.

Rev. J. W. Hulin, for five years pastor of the church, was with us several times during the meeting. All enjoyed the opportunity to again clasp his hand and were greatly benefitted by his enthusiasm.

On the last Sunday night of our meeting there were five boys in age from 12 to 14, who voluntarily went out in the congregation and brought to the altar practically every person who was not a professed Christian, about 30 in number. Most of the 30 professed faith and were united with the church.

The conviction of these boys and their willingness and courage to do work of this kind in a revival service, together with the effectiveness of their efforts has made a lasting impression on the older people of Love's Grove community. By their good act these boys drew expressions of esteem and admiration from the teachers in the local high school, and liberal praise by our pastor, Mr. Reed.

Mr. Reed, after many years of absence, is serving as pastor in the community in which he was raised and the results of his efforts here is a striking example of the right man in the right place.

JOHN L. LITTLE, Reporter.

Shiloh.—The 3rd Sunday of August marked the beginning of the revival meeting at Shiloh, as has been the custom for years.

Three hundred and forty-two were in Sunday school Sunday morning.

Rev. R. S. Troxler preached Sunday both at 11 a. m. and at 3 p. m. Dr. J. D. Williams of High Point, did the preaching during the week except Tuesday afternoon. This writer meant to give some thoughts from the sermons, but had the misfortune to have the pocketbook containing her notes stolen from her in Winston-Salem on Saturday. However, will be glad to give the texts. Sunday morning Brother Troxler preached from Jno. 7:17, "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine."

At 3 p. m. Bro. Troxler used Matt. 27:19-27 with special emphasis on part of 22nd verse, "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?" Monday at 3 p. m. Dr. Williams brought a message from Ps. 85-6, "Wilt thou not revive us again?" Monday night, Dr. Williams preached from Rev. 22:17, "And let him that heareth say come."

Brother Troxler preached on Tuesday afternoon from John 6: 66, 67, 68, with emphasis on part of verse 67, "Will ye also go away."

Tuesday night and for all the remaining services Dr. Williams preached from the following texts in order named:

Tuesday, 8 p. m., Ps. 119: 59, "I thought on my ways."

Wednesday, 3 p. m., Acts 8:35, "Then Philip opened his mouth and began at the same place and preached unto him Jesus." Wednesday, 8 p. m., Luke 19:8, "And Zaccheus stood, and said unto the Lord, Behold Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken anything by false accusation, I restore him four fold."

Thursday, 3 p. m., Genesis 13:12, "And Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom." Thursday, 8 p. m., Mark 10:21. "One thing thou lackest."

Friday, 3 p. m., Luke 12:20, "But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night shall thy soul be required of thee; then whose shall those things be which thou hast provided?" Friday, 8 p. m., Daniel 5:30, "In that night was Belshaz-zar, the king of the Chaldeans slain."

Many souls were revived and some saved at almost every service and several were added to the church. We Shiloh folks love Dr. Williams and thank God that he has been permitted to again come among us.

We were glad to have with us on the third Sunday Brother Troxler's brother and sister and niece; also we were delighted to see Mrs. C. A. Cecil, wife of the late Rev. C. A. Cecil, a former pastor. With Mrs. Cecil came Mrs. Newby and Mrs. Cecil, a niece. We were glad to see all visitors and home folks who had returned to the home church once more. Among the home folks, was Fred Berrier of Richmond.

Three hundred and forty-eight were present at Sunday school and 278 were present on the Sunday following, and the C. E. society went over the top with a record attendance of 101 Sunday night.

Rev. Troxler, who was right sick the week before the meeting, was able to be with us in every service and is this week holding a meeting at Greer's Chapel. However, Mrs. Troxler was unable to be with us at the first of the week, but improved enough to come back and help us, for which we are grateful.

And now, Shiloh, nourish and strengthen those babes in Christ who have just come into the fold and need encouragement. "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ."

MRS. WILEY SHOAF, Reporter.

Gibsonville, First Church. — On Saturday evening, August 6th the members of the Young Men's Bible class entertained the members of the Young Ladies' Bible class with a brunswick stew at Patton's Spring.

On Tuesday evening, August 9, Miss Lessie Faucett was hostess to the members of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary. Each member of this society has been assigned the name of a missionary, either home or foreign. Each person will correspond with the missionary to whom he has been assigned. We hope to become better acquainted with the missionaries and their work, by a more direct contact.

The young ladies are collecting old clothing for the missionary field at Pine Ridge, Kentucky.

The Woman's Auxiliary held their August meeting on Wednesday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. F. R. Owen.

On last Wednesday evening the young ladies met at the parsonage and motored to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McCollum where they enjoyed a picnic lunch and watermelon slicing. Games were also a special feature of the occasion.

The Junior choir will meet for practice Friday afternoon of this week. The Senior choir will meet Friday evening, 7:45 p. m.

We were glad to have Misses Charlotte and Maxine Hammer, of Washington, D. C., to worship with us last Sunday. While in Gibsonville they will visit Maxine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hammer.

Rev. Bethea has been preaching some unusually good sermons. We think each sermon gets better.

REPORTER.

Shiloh C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—First I want to correct two mistakes that were made in my last report. The program for July 10 was led by Miss Ruth Shoaf in the place of Miss Edith Shoaf. Also the lesson for July 24 was led by Mr. Frank Shoaf in the place of Miss Grace Evans, as was stated.

The lesson for Sunday night, August 14, on "Our Father's World" was led by Miss Florence Berrier, with 79 present. Immediately following the lesson Mr. H. L. Leonard made a much enjoyed talk; in this he compared the advantages of youth today and a few years ago when he was a boy, in regard to training for Christian leadership. Mr. Leonard also gave us some good advice in relation to the growth and interest which maintained a society. He spoke briefly about our debt to God, and how we should use what He gives us to the advancement of God's kingdom here. He referred us to Malachi 3, Lev. 27-32 and Num. 18-26. We appreciated these splendid and helpful words from Mr. Leonard, and we hope he will soon see fit to meet with us again.

Sunday evening, August 21, 82 young people met to hear the lesson on "Qualities of a Christian," led by Miss Grace Evans; this lesson was interesting and very helpful to those present.

Sunday evening, August 28, our lesson on "Why do some approve of Christ but reject Organized Christianity?" was led by Miss Katie Edna Leatherman.

The average attendance continues to climb, 101 were present to hear this lesson discussed. Our enrollment also continues to grow. Twelve new members entered last Sunday evening making an enrollment of 96. We welcome you new members and hope you will get a blessing by joining with us, and we are sure we will be blessed by your presence and help. We have some visitors each Sunday night; we want to welcome you. We want you to feel at home when you're in our midst, and above all we want you to enjoy the spiritual fellowship that we so much enjoy.

Following this lesson we enjoyed talks from Mr. H. A. Leonard, Mr. Willie Swicegood and Mrs. Wiley Shoaf. We always enjoy talks from those who are older than we are and have had more experience in the Christian life than we have, we wish our parents would come more often and give us a word of encouragement. So request that more of our parents come and see the training that your boys and girls are receiving when they are in some live, wide-awake young people's Christian organization.

C. E. REPORTER.

Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Pleasant Charge.—The first Sunday in August Dr. and Mrs. Dixon brought 18 of the girls and boys from our Children's Home to Mt. Pleasant. At 11 o'clock this group of girls and boys gave us an interesting program consisting of songs, recitations and stories. Mrs. Dixon spoke of some of the needs of the Home and how we might help to meet these needs. Dr. Dixon spoke of some of the things that the Home is doing to help itself in the way of farming, canning, sewing, etc. We feel that Dr. and Mrs. Dixon and their helpers are due much credit for the splendid work that they are doing and that we should give them our loyal support both in substance and in prayer.

The Girls' Mission Band gave a pageant, "The Challenge," the third Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The large crowd that saw the dramatization seemed to be well pleased. Much praise is due all of those who helped so faithfully in training the young people for the pageant. Mrs. Walter Underwood of Greensboro, assisted the choir in the choruses.

On the invitation of Rev. Pollard, the pageant was presented in Smithwood Christian church last Sunday evening to a well filled house. The Mission Band is expecting to take "The Challenge" to Fountain Place the first Sunday evening in September.

On the third Sunday our revival services began with Dr. Fred Paschal as pulpit help. Dr. Johnson gave us a splendid sermon Sunday morning, Dr. Paschal preached in the afternoon. Dr. Paschal deliveerd a series of sermons that were helpful and inspirational to the large number of people who attended the services. The church people were revived and much good was accomplished. There were about thirty conversions and a arge number who were reclaimed. On the first Sunday in September, Dr. Johnson will receive thirty new members, most of them are children, some young girls, and one elderly man. We hope to keep alive the good impressions received during the meeting by doing our best to promote the work of Christ.

Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Millaway visited in the community and attended part of the revival services. We were glad to have them with us again. We were pleased to have Rev. and Mrs. Lowdermilk worship with us. It was the first time Mr. Lowdermilk had been able to attend church since his accident early in June.

Dr. Johnson is holding revival services at Liberty Grove this week, Rev. Pegg is doing the preaching.

MARGARET CAUSEY, Reporter.

The Y. M. W. A. Class of Shiloh had a splendid service Sunday morning, August 21. We sang as opening song, "I Need Thee Every Hour." There were 63 present in this class and everyone there seemed to be drawn nearer to the Master.

The teacher of this class, Mr. Evans, had Mr. Ray Leatherman to take charge of the class. In his splendid talk he told the new converts that they will not find it easy to serve Christ always. He told them to pray that they may overcome temptations and not to watch his mistakes but use them as stepping stones to climb upwards. He asked the Christians to stand for the right even if they do have to stand against the crowd; that it will make the others notice their wrongs and probably turn to right side.

Mr. Leatherman read a portion from the last chapter of Revelations and explained it He told us to get ready NOW to meet God because after you die it is too late. He said for us to get far enough on God's side that if we fall we will not fall back on the devil's territory.

When he finished, he asked us to bow our heads for prayer. Then he asked all that were not satisfied with their religion and who wanted us to number them in this prayer to hold up their hand. Several held up their hand and after we had prayer several gave Mr. Evans their hand that they will live better in the future. We had a real revival there. Several stood up and testified for the Master.

We ask for your prayers that we might grow in spirit and number.

W. FRANK SHOAF, Reporter.

Roberta, Fairview Church.—We started our revival the first Sunday in August and closed last night, the 23rd. Brother J. M. Morgan did the preaching the first week. He endeared himself to the people and God the water troubled and many were saved, but according to promise he had to leave Sunday to help Brother J. D. Morris, but we could not stop what had been set in motion so we just let it go on over the third Sunday so he came back and preached twice for us this week. There were 203 reclamations and conversions. We took 27 in the church last Sunday morning and there will be a number to take in next Sunday. Of course we did not reach all the unsaved, at least there were many at the last service who would not yield to the Christ. People came far and near and we had throngs of people at every service. Many said it seemed like revivals of forty years ago. We have some real good people here and to be sure we have plenty of people not as good as it is their privilege to be, but we find people everywhere that are not willing to pay the price for the peace that belongs to the Children of God. They fail to study the word. They neglect to pray. They do not keep the vow they make to God and the church they join, therefore they are not worthy. But there is a different attitude among the people toward each other and the church. I believe lasting good has been done. I feel the church has a great responsibility upon it now to feed the lambs and nourish the babes in Christ. I pray God the tongues of those who are so ready to criticize may cleave to roofs of their mouth and only those who are filled with the spirit of Christ may speak, for they alone can give encouragement and show sympathy with all long suffering gentleness and love. These are they that must feed His lambs. "Now if any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of His."—Rom. 8:9. No man can give to others that he does not have.

The people have remembered us very kindly by bringing in flour, sugar and wood and many other things that space will not permit us to mention. But our heavenly Father knows and we pray that each heart may be enriched by His love, and may we be better servants of God and the people. That His kingdom may be advanced and that God may be glorified in all that we say and do.

We desire the prayers of those who pray.

JOEL B. TROGDON, Pastor.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—There were no Sunday morning services except Sabbath school at 9:45 o'clock, and at 8 p. m. the congregation joined with the open air union service on the city lot next to the First Baptist church at which Rev. Tom Alderman Sykes of Central Friends church presided. The speaker on this occasion was Dr. Henry Louis Smith of Greensboro, president emeritus of Washington and Lee university, Va., and prominent member of a distinguished Presbyterian family of educators and ministers, who made a scathing denunciation of those who would repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, and launched a bitter attack on the wet plank in the Democratic platform. He urged his large audience of thousands of listeners to vote as they pray, and those who heard him had small doubt of which way his vote would be cast in November. The former university president said that he is a Democrat by tradition and heredity, but he did not propose to allow Democracy to come before Christianity. He ridiculed the idea of states' rights and state control of liquor, when it can be carried by airplanes from one state to another with ease. He lashed the wet plank in the Democratic platform vigorously. Speaking on the general theme of America, Christianity, and Alcohol, he branded the last mentioned as the arch-enemy of Christianity. Keep prohibition in force for the next four or five years and the fight is won. The gigantic crime wave which has swept over the nation since the World War will decrease. This masterly address aroused much comment here. A brilliant sacred concert by the High Point Civic Band, directed by Lewis L. Stookey, was a pleasing feature of this service.

Dr. Paul S. Kennett, registrar of High Point college, announces that the institution will open on Friday morning, September 16. Freshmen will arrive for registration on Monday September 12, followed by a week of orientation, during which time the new students will become acquainted with their new surroundings, class rooms, faculty members and fellow students. The upper classmen, sophomore, junior and senior, will register Wednesday and Thursday, September 14 and 15, and the first chapel period will be held Friday morning at 8:40 o'clock. Indications at present are that the enrollment will reach the 300 mark, a slight increase over that of 1931-'32 school year. A large number of these will be students from the city. Faculty changes are announced as follows: Dr. Carl R. Bower will succeed Dr. Ben Harvey Hill as head of Department of Biology the latter going to the University of New York. Mrs. Henry A. White of High Point, who has been a member of the faculty since the college opened in 1924, will teach the Journalism class, which was done last year by Miss Mabel Williams, now Mrs. Ben H. Hill. Miss Vera Idol of High Point, returns as head of the English department, after a year's leave of absence. Miss Ruth Bellamy of Enfield, who received degrees from N. C. College for Women and Columbia university, will be the new teacher of speech and dramatics. Mrs. Geddie Strickland of High Point, will have charge of physical education for young women. Miss Louise Jennings, a local girl, who received her degree in Library Science from the University of N. C. last June, will be the new Librarian in place of Floyd R. Garrett, resigned. C. Virgil Yow, graduate of High Point college and star athlete, will be assistant to Coach Julian Beall. The second term of summer school closed a week ago, and the buildings and grounds are being prepared for the fall opening. President Humphreys and officials believe that the coming year will be highly successful at the college.

The city schools will open Monday, September 12th, with a force of 126 teachers, according to announcement of T. Wingate Andrews, superintendent. The first teachers' meeting has been called for Wednesday, September 7 at the Junior High School building.

Rev. R. I. Farmer and family, who have been spending their vacation with relatives in Ohio, are expected home on Thursday.

Miss Lucille Pickens will resume her former position in High Point public library next Thursday, September 1.

Mrs. H. A. Moffitt spent last week in Liberty as a guest of her sisters, Mrs. J. H. Johnson and Mrs. C. R. Williamson.

Prof. C. R. Hinshaw, his children, Reginald and Garnett and Miss Margaret Walton are on a visit to relatives in Gates County.

Miss Anne Doris Pope of Salisbury, Md., arrived Friday to be a guest of Miss Dorothy Rankin.

Miss Denree Younts of Trinity, spent the past week-end with Miss Dorothy Bowen on Mountlieu Ave.

Mrs. C. C. Robbins, her daughter, Anne, and son, Frank, Miss Anita Morris of Amherst, W. Va., Miss Ruth Woodcock, of Charlotte, A. F. Franklin, Jr., of Richmond, Va., and William Ludwig of High Point college, have returned home from a week's stay at the Robbins cottage at Paradise Point.

Miss Ethel Arey of Salisbury, has returned home after a visit to Miss Irene Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Merrill of Westminster, Md., left Saturday for their home after a week's visit to Judge and Mrs. Lewis E. Teague on Johnston Street.

Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Lindley and Mr. and Mrs. O. D. McPherson on last Saturday attended the reunion of the Lindley and Holiday families at historic Spring Friends church two miles from Saxapahaw, Alamance County. The principal address was made by Dr. William Thornton Whitsell, historian, poet and educator. One thousand persons, descendants of the pioneers, Thomas Lindley, John Newlin, Joshua Hadley, and Henry Holaday, were present to greet old friends and listen to the story of the early Quakers in this section as told in a most interesting manner by Dr. Whitsell. A stone memorial was dedicated to the memory of Henry Holaday in the old cemetery across the road from the present church, which is the third in line from the rude log building first used by the Quaker settlers as a house of worship. A sumptuous picnic dinner was spread in the seven-acre grove near the old spring from which the church gets its name.

Circles No. 4 and 5 of the Woman's Auxiliary sold ice cream, cake, and candy on the city lot last Thursday afternoon and evening, and the sum of $18.00 was realized.

A unique and enjoyable picnic for 50 children, who are wards of the Board of Public Welfare, was given by members of Circle No. 5 last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. S. Russell suggested the idea and carried it to a successful conclusion. These children were taken in cars to a spot on Deep River, between Hickory Grove and Deep River Friends churches, were allowed to wade in the stream, play on the grass, and a wholesome picnic supper was served, consisting of milk, sandwiches, cake, and watermelon. The joy of these children in their first automobile ride and the delicious meal more than repaid these women and it is hoped that other circles and clubs will follow the example.

* * *

Asheboro.—On Sunday morning, August 14, we were very glad to receive into church membership, Mrs. Bertha Rochelle and son, Talmadge.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Nicholson and daughter of Mebane, who were spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Cranford, were welcome visitors at the service.

The annual reunion of the Ross clan was held on Thursday, the 11th of August at Pleasant Garden with a full attendance of members of the family and connections from all over the state. Mr. R. R. Ross, of our church, who is 82 years old, was present with all his sons and their families and Miss Esther Ross, who was re-elected historian of the organization.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the church held their annual picnic with Mrs. Earle F. Bulla at Maple Grove Dairy on Tuesday afternoon, August 16th. A large number of the membership and several visitors were present to enjoy the occasion. The subject for the month was "Our Young People," Circle No. 4 with Mrs. W. F. Redding, Jr., as chairman, had charge of the program for the day. After the devotional service members of the circle presented in a most effective and pleasing man-

* * *

(Continued on Page Fourteen)

Woman's Missionary Department

REPORT OF THE FINANCING COMMITTEE

In view of the fact that heretofore we have been able to apportion only about $6,000 of the New Century Service Budget, we recommend:

1. That the New Century Service Budget for 1932-33 be $6,000, all money raised for Mr. Minnis' salary to be included in this budget; that the North Carolina budget be $3,000, to be divided as follows:

Children's Home	50%
Bethel Home	20%
Student Loan Fund for H. P. College	20%
Cntingent Fund	10%

and that we raise $1,000 for High Point College as last year.

2. That the Branch authorize Mrs. Geo. R. Brown, as a member of the Board of Missions, to ask that our Thank Offering in North Carolina be applied on Mr. Minnis' salary as last year.

3. That the Treasurer be requested to advise each auxiliary of the amount of it budget immediately after Branch meeting.

4. That the Branch pay to Dr. McCulloch $100 for space in the Herald.

5. That the Finance Committee suggests a definite plan for the raising of money each month.

6. That the budgets and the $1,000 for High Point Cllege be apprtioned to the auxiliaries as follows:

Aux.	Col.	N.C. Work	N.C. Ser.
Asheboro ....$	50.00	$ 150.00	$ 250.00
Asheville	5.00	25.00	25.00
Bess Chapel	5.00	10.00	10.00
Balt., W. Forsyth.	5.00	10.00	10.00
Bethany, Ran.	5.00	10.00	10.00
Bethel, Alamance.	10.00	35.00	90.00
Bethel, N. David.	5.00	15.00	85.00
Burlington	25.00	225.00	475.00
Calvary	25.00	75.00	200.00
Charlotte	15.00	25.00	150.00
Chestnut Ridge	10.00	10.00	10.00
Concord	10.00	75.00	125.00
Concord, Sax.	15.00	10.00	40.00
Creswell	5.00	10.00	15.00
Eden	5.00	20.00	30.00
Efland	10.00	25.00	25.00
Fair Grove, W.N.	5.00	5.00	5.00
Flat Rock, Vance.	5.00	20.00	10.00
Ft. Place	5.00	15.00	35.00
Friendship, Mt. H.	15.00	80.00	60.00
Friendship, Shiloh.	5.00	10.00	10.00
Gibsonville	10.00	45.00	70.00
Grace	25.00	150.00	150.00
Graham	10.00	15.00	65.00
Harmony	5.00	10.00	30.00
Haw River	5.00	10.00	10.00
Hebron	10.00	15.00	15.00
Henderson	25.00	200.00	300.00
Hickory Ridge	10.00	25.00	40.00
High Point	50.00	325.00	525.00
Hollister	5.00	10.00	40.00
Hope	5.00	5.00	10.00
Julian	10.00	5.00	10.00
Lebanon	10.00	85.00	190.00
Liberty	10.00	25.00	25.00
Maple Springs	10.00	35.00	40.00
Mebane	15.00	155.00	180.00
Moriah	10.00	60.00	90.00
Mt. Carmel, Gran.	10.00	50.00	60.00
Mt. Carmel, S. Lex.	5.00	5.00	5.00
Mt. Carmel, For.	5.00	10.00	10.00
Mt. Hemron	15.00	25.00	50.00
Mt. Pleas., Mt. P.	15.00	65.00	140.00
Mt. P., N. David.	5.00	5.00	10.00
Mt. Lebanon	5.00	20.00	25.00
Mt. Zion	5.00	15.00	15.00
New Hope, W.N.	5.00	5.00	5.00
Orange Chapel	5.00	5.00	25.00
Pinnacle	5.00	5.00	5.00
Pleasant Hill	10.00	30.00	50.00
Rehoboth	10.00	45.00	80.00
Reidsville	10.00	85.00	140.00
Rock Creek	15.00	15.00	35.00
Salem	5.00	5.00	15.00
Sapling Ridge	5.00	5.00	25.00
Seagrove	5.00	5.00	5.00
Shiloh	10.00	10.00	35.00
Siler City	10.00	25.00	25.00
Spencer	5.00	5.00	10.00
Spring Valley	10.00	15.00	15.00
State Street	5.00	5.00	15.00
St. Paul	5.00	5.00	10.00
Shoals	5.00	10.00	20.00
Tabernacle	15.00	85.00	140.00
Thomasville, First	10.00	25.00	30.00
Thomasville, Com.	25.00	90.00	185.00
Union Chapel	15.00	60.00	90.00
Union Grove	5.00	25.00	30.00
Weaverville	5.00	25.00	25.00
Welch Me.	10.00	50.00	75.00
West End	10.00	25.00	25.00
Whitakers	10.00	5.00	85.00
Winston-Salem	25.00	150.00	150.00
Enfield	5.00	10.00	25.00
Pleasant Union	2.00	3.00	5.00
Spring Ch. C. Aux.	5.00	10.00	10.00
Bethesda, Halifax	5.00	8.00	20.00
Union, Halifax	5.00	5.00	5.00
Matthews Chapel	5.00	5.00	5.00
Hawkins Chapel.	5.00	5.00	5.00
Philadelphia	5.00	5.00	5.00
Hobbs Chapel	2.00	2.00	2.00
Ebenezer	2.00	2.00	2.00
Gillburg	5.00	10.00	10.00

The Committee,

MRS. S. W. TAYLOR,
MISS VELNA McCULLOCH,
MRS. S. S. COE.

◆

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Thirteen)

ner a short play, entitled "The Spirit of Missions." Mrs. R. C. Stubbins and Mrs. Euclid Auman singing in the background, the hymns of consecration made it more effective. Immediately after this, the regular business for the month was transacted. Then all enjoyed a very pleasant social hour upon the spacious lawn until 6 o'clock when all partook of a bounteous picnic supper, following the supper Mrs. Bulla served delicious watermelons. The picnic was made more complete by a number of the husbands joining us for the supper. We have been enjoying this pleasant occasion for a number of years and are grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Bulla for this, another happy time spent together.

A wedding of interest to the people of this section of the State was that of Miss Ruth Jarrell of High Point, to Charles Clinton Hoover of Asheboro, on Tuesday, the 16th of August, at the Central Friends church in High Point, by the bride's pastor, Rev. T. A. Sykes. Mr. Hoover is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A Hoover of Denton. He has made his home in Asheboro for the past two years, being associated with the Hoover Funeral Home. Mr. Hoover connected himself with the membership of our church soon after coming here and has made many friends among the people here. We are glad to welcome them to Asheboro as their home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wood of Tampa, Fla., recently visited in the home of their uncle, Mr. Clyde Wood. The church was glad to have them present in the morning service on Sunday the 21st, and render special music, they also gave special numbers at the evening community service on the Presbyterian lawn, where Rev. R. C. Stubbins was the speaker for the evening. Dr. R. S. Trusdale of the M. E. church preached last Sunday evening, this was the last service for the summer.

Miss Louise Swaim has returned to her home from New York City, where she has been taking a post graduate course in music for six weeks.

Miss Kate Hammer is back from New York, where she bought stock for her millinery establishment, she was accompanied upon the trip by Miss Cleta Rich.

Mrs. N. M. Harrison and son, Nat Mason, Jr., are in Mobile, Ala., for a visit to her uncle, William Lewis.

Mrs. Wm. C. Hammer returned Saturday from ten days in Indiana and Michigan, where she attended the conferences of the M. P. church in those states. Mrs. Hammer, who is president of the general mission work of the church, was invited to speak at these conferences and at several summer camps sponsored by the church.

Many of our people have had short vacations recently, but space will not permit me to name all of these.

At the third quarterly conference of the church Monday evening, August 22nd, the vote for delegate to annual conference which had previously been taken, was announced with W. L. Ward as delegate in a close contest over O. E. Rich.

LOLLIE JONES, Reporter.

◆

Hope, Chatham Charge.—Our revival meeting was held the second week in August. Pastor Love did his own preaching, and did it well. He certainly brought us good, plain messages and we feel that is exactly what our churches need. The visible results were not what we had hoped, but we believe that much good may yet come from the efforts put forth during this meeting.

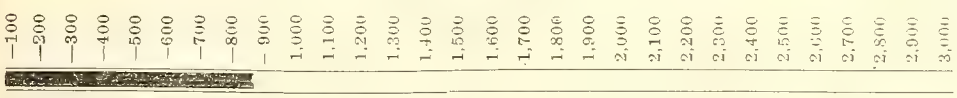
We are indebted to Miss Minnie Cooper, of Siler City, pianist, and Mr. Wade Ward who directed the singing throughout the meeting. The church is grateful to them for their faithful service. We were also glad to have Rev. Ward Buckner worship with us at several services. He is a Baptist ministerial student of Wake Forest college, and preached for us one afternoon.

Rev. and Mrs. Love have been away the past week in a ten days revival over near Charlotte.

Our Woman's Auxiliary is still functioning, although we have not done as much this summer as we would have liked to do, but we hope to do some good work this fall.

KARA ANDREW, Reporter.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	15¼
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	4¼
Asheboro	36	16
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	13¾
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	14½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1
Guilford	43	14½
Halifax	52	13½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¼
High Point, First	72	49
High Point, Lebanon	31	22
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moirah	31	18¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	9¾
Mebane	28	7
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	7¾
Mount Hermon	92	15½
Mount Pleasant	62	23
North Davidson	53	13½
Orange	70	21⅞
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	9½
Reidsville	14	9½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2
Saxapahaw	56	17
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	9
Tabernacle	41	22
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	22⅜

◆

T. H. HICKS PASSES.

Sadness prevails in the West End church because of the very unexpected death of Bro. T. H. Hicks one of the most faithful members of the church. Brother Hicks worked until noon Tuesday, August 30, and died that night about eight o'clock. This is the third time death has visited the Hicks family within the last few months. The first was the passing of the mother of Brother Hicks the second was the going of the father of Mrs. Hicks and now Brother Hicks himself. We are all sad and our heartfelt sympathies and our most sincere prayers are extended to Mrs. Hicks and her two sons.

GEO. L. CURRY.

◆

WORLD DAY FOR ANIMALS

World Day for Animals, sponsored by the World League against Vivisection and for Protection of Animals, (London, England) will be celebrated Tuesday, October 4, the birthday of St. Francis of Assisi. The League suggests observance by the distribution of literature, especially among editors, teachers and other leaders of thought, also by the individual and cooperative efforts of those in every land who desire to secure justice for animals. —Selected.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. Lawrence Little	$1.00
E. L. Douglas	3.00
Rev. Edw. Suits	2.00
Rev. A. G. Dixon	2.00
Rev. Chas. Grant	1.00
Rev. R. C. Stubbins	1.00

◆

—And editor was dining out. "Would you like some more pudding?" his hostess asked. "No thank you," replied the editor absent-mindedly. "Owing to tremendous pressure on space I am reluctantly compelled to decline." —Sunday School Herald.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Barbee

John Barbee, age 49, died at his home in Belmont, August 15th. He had been in declining health for some time, and died suddenly after having read his Bible, and preparing to retire on last Monday night.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maggie Barbee; four daughters: Miss Lillian, Lala, Bulah and Mrs. Mabel Lozier. Three sons, Howard, Edgar, and Allen. One sister, Mrs. Etta Inglebright and four grandchildren.

It seems that this man was a constant reader of the Bible. Some of the scripture which he read just previous to his death was read at his funeral by the writer. He had just finished reading the 69th Psalm, 2 Cor. 2 and 3, and Jude.

The family has our deepest sympathy in their affliction. The writer was assisted in the funeral by Rev. Wayne Curtis of Belmont. The body was laid to rest in the Belmont cemetery.

L. E. MABRY.

◆

Coble

The home-going of this good man occurred on Monday, July 11, 1932, having reached the age of 73 years. In his passing Julian Methodist Protestant church has lost one of its most faithful members. Brother Coble first united with Tabernacle church. When Julian church was organized 26 years ago he joined this church, thus becoming one of the charter members. It can be truly said of him that he did what he could to promote all the programs of his church. At one time he represented Tabernacle Circuit in the Annual Conference, and was for many years an official member of Julian church. A good man has gone to his reward.

His widow, Mrs. Annie Allred Coble, survives; also two brothers, Vinson and John Coble of near Liberty, and one sister, Mrs. Hilary Burgess, of Greensboro.

The funeral was held at Shiloh church, near Julian, by the writer, assisted by Rev. C. W. Bates and Rev. Edward Suits. Revs. T. F. McCulloch, T. M. Johnson, and D. I. Offman were also present. Burial took place in the church cemetery.

H. L. ISLEY.

◆

Bristow

[Adopted by Cedar Council, No 210, Jr. O. U. A. M.]

With sorrowing hearts, we the members of Cedar Council, No 210, Jr. O. U. A. M., record the passing of one of our oldest and most beloved members, Brother William N. Bristow, whom God recently called from our midst to his eternal home. Uncle Billy, as most of us called him, was a charter member of this council, a loyal, faithful member, and a devoted Christian. He was a firm believer in the basic principles of our order and did all in his power to promote its interests. His patience during his extended illness was an inspiration to us all, and since he has been taken from our council and installed in the Supreme Council above, it is with sad hearts we sever our earthly bonds of fraternal fellowship, and although he is absent in the body, we believe he will be present in the spirit and help us to carry on for the great principles for which we stand.

Because of our great love and esteem for our brother, we the members of Cedar Council, No. 210, Jr. O. U. A. M. do hereby resolve:

First: That we humbly bow in submission to God's will, thank Him for the good influence of our brother.

Second: That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family, commending them to Christ Jesus our Lord, who is every ready to sustain the sorrowing, and whose strong and everlasting arms are always outstretched, ready to draw them to himself that he might console.

Third: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, that a copy be sent to the county and church papers for publication, and that a copy be spread upon the records of our council.

C. F. LAUGHLIN,
C. S. JULIAN,
Committee.

◆

Smothers

During the early morning hours of August the 25th one of the choice spirits of the community slipped away from the cares of earth and went to be with Christ, in the person of Mrs. Sallie Ann Smothers.

Mrs. Smothers who before her marriage was Sallie Ann Dixon, sister of the father of Rev. A. G. Dixon of our Children's Home at High Point, was born in Rockingham county 86 years ago the second of July. She was united in marriage to W. G. Smothers March 8, 1868. In early life she united with Flat Rock Methodist Protestant church in Guilford county where her membership remained until she moved to Winston-Salem. Here she united with the First M. P. church where her membership remained as long as she lived. As a church member and a Christian she was loyal and consecrated. She was loved and respected by a large number of people whose lives have been made better because she lived. Mrs. Smothrs was spared the painful experience of a long illness. Two days before her death she slipped on a rug and fell, fracturing a rib. Pneumoria developed and soon she was gone. The funeral was held from the home on August 27 and the body laid to rest in Salem cemetery here. She is survived by six daughters, four sons, twenty-ofur grandchildaughters, four sons, twenty-four grandchil-

J. E. PRITCHARD.

◆

—W. D. Hardin, aged 44, was buried at Pleasant Garden last Monday, many friends in attendance. His father of the same name was long a distinguished member of Tabernacle M. P. church.

—Rev. C. W. Bates is to enjoy the pulpit help of Rev. J. R. Anderson of Albemarle in his meeting at Calvary, beginning next Wednesday evening.

—For failure to stop and give aid after his car had hit and injured a dog, Raymond E. Harlow of Pasadena received a ten-day jail sentence.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

—With a temperature of 103 August 30 broke a forty-year record in Greensboro.

We announce with pleasure the addition to our personnel of Mr. James M. Simpson, of Grace Church, who is abundantly qualified to render sympathetic service in times of bereavement.

STANSBURY & RACKLEY
FUNERAL SERVICE, Inc.

301 Church St. Phone 5232

GREENSBORO, N. C.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Modern, Fire-Proof,
Well-Equipped Buildings

$380.00, Total cost of dormitory student for Matriculation Fee, Tuition, Room and Board.
$150.00, Total cost for Day Student

Methodist Protestant Owned and Operated

Standard "A" Grade

Courses leading to A.B. and B.S. degree in English, History, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Language, Science and Chemical Engineering, Education, Home Economics, Business Administration, Religious Education and Music

The Place for Methodist Protestant Boys and Girls

For further information address

HIGH POINT COLLEGE - - - HIGH POINT, N. C.

Methodist Protestant Herald.
ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.
VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., SEPTEMBER 8, 1932 NUMBER 43

Seminary Library 5dec32
Westminster MD

Higher Aims of Labor Day

Labor day is not to spend
Vainly seeking baser end,
Not to while away in play
Like a common holiday.

Not a day to seek our ease,
Doing only what we please;
'Tis a time for higher thought,
Noble things as yet unsought.

Day to help the common man
Choose his work and form his plan,
Each receiving honest pay
For the work of full-size day.

Day to think of broader life,
Making peace, avoiding strife;
Looking up and onward, too,
Seeking noble things to do.

Neither Wet Nor Dry

The Lord said to the church of the Laodiceans, "Because ye are neither hot nor cold I will spew you out of my mouth." Must He not say a similar thing today to many of our citizens who are neither wet nor dry regarding the liquor traffic? What a great host of the inconsistently dry! Men who have no use for strong drink and yet who are doing absolutely nothing to save from the curse of alcoholism the thousands of unfortunate victims. Not only doing nothing themselves, but actually trying to discourage those who would do something. Let a man cry out against the liquor traffic and they say he is a fanatic. Let a liquor advocate be nominated for office and they will by their votes help to elect him. The official advocate of temperance representing the Methodist Episcopal church dares denounce men in high position for responsibility for the continuance of the liquor traffic and ministers of his church lift up their voices in protest against his plain speaking. Let the ministers of any church plead for the retention and enforcement of the prohibitory law and some of their laymen will say they ought to preach the gospel and let politics alone.

O great host of indifferent drys! Does the terrible trade in rum make no more appeal to you than does the pageant of fleecy clouds in a summer sky? Is it nothing to you that your fellowmen are being lured and swept to ruin and death? Can you not hear their moans of wretchedness or their sighs of despair? Can you turn your face to the wall and sleep while they suffer and die? O it is terrible to think of the ravages of rum and feel our responsibility for them and realize that we are doing almost nothing to lessen them. While Rome burned Nero played a fiddle. While the world burns in its alcoholic fires we amuse ourselves with our pastimes. With what petty excuses we try to justify ourselves. We deny our responsibility. We minify the evil. We imagine it will cure itself in time, although its nature is to grow worse constantly.

God hears our excuses and sees the stream of blood flow on. In the day of judgment can we plead guiltless?

The Sonship of Man

Jesus declared the Fatherhood of God. This implies the Sonship of man. Because God is our Father we are His sons. There are those who think of man as a son of God by natural birth. In this conception all men are sons of God. But Jesus had a higher conception. He distinguishes between the natural birth and another birth which he speaks of as being born of the Spirit. The man born of the Spirit acquires powers not possessed before. We may wonder why the powers conferred in the new birth were not conferred in the first birth. But shall the thing formed say to Him that formed it, Why hast Thou formed me thus? It is not for us to cross-question God. It is or us to hear when God speaks and to take to heart what God says. It is a great thing to know that we may yet become sons of God. Because God did not give us sonship ages ago does not justify us in postponing for a minute the entrance into our lofty privilege recently made known to the world by Jesus. Jesus was the pioneer of a new way. He said: "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No man cometh unto the Father but by me. He that believeth on me, to him will I give the right to become a son of God." His sonship will entitle him to the highest privileges. He will become an heir of God and a joint heir with Me. He will share in the Father's glory and power. His inheritance cannot be portrayed. It does not yet appear fully what it shall be, but it will be great beyond present conception and it will be evermore satisfying. We cannot too highly prize our inheritance in Christ.

◆

—The report of the treasurer of our Annual Conference reveals a deplorable state of affairs if this state is due to a want of faith in God; not so deplorable if due to the mere scarcity of money. We mean to say that lack of faith is worse than lack of money. Lack of faith dishonors God: lack of money merely inconveniences us. God has promised to supply our need of material things if we are faithful to Him; but if we have no faith in Him we are robbing ourselves of our best ground of assurance. Let us try exercising faith in God and refrain from anxious thought regarding food, raiment and other things purchasable with money. Jesus knew what he was talking about. We can afford to spend our last cent for His cause.

FOR AN AUTUMN "DRIVE"

By William T. Ellis

Less for their own sakes than for the public's, the churches should be seriously at the business of a Fall "drive" this year. For the bewildered and burdened people are readier than ever for leadership and guidance.

Without any pretentious machinery or "movement," but by agreement and co-operation of local units, under pastoral leadership, it should easily be possible for all churches to pursue unwonted activity in behalf of three great objectives; upon which they are already in complete agreement.

First of all, and fundamentally important, is the gathering of children and young people into the Sunday Schools. Men who deal in statistics tell us that there are fourteen million young people of school age in this country who are receiving no religious instruction whatsoever. Every local community has its proportion of children and youth outside of the Sunday School, who could be recruited by little more effort than a personal invitation. It should be a simple matter to conduct a "drive," participated in by old and young, for a great increase in Sunday School enrollment.

Second in importance—many will say first—is the grave problem of how to increase church attendance.

There are ominously too many unemployed pews in the land.

Religious "leaders", engaged in weighty matters of polity and finance, pay scant heed to this question, which underlies all other aspects of church life.

Obviously, if the church does not get the people into her pews, she cannot get them anywhere else. Before any influence can be exerted upon the public by the clergy or the organization, men and women must be got into the pews. Overshadowing all other grave concerns of the church today is this one of widespread non-attendance upon the public services of Divine worship.

It should be possible to create a vogue of church-going. This, however, requires co-operation and concerted activity. Methods are many, and mostly obvious. The voice of the nation's leaders should be heard in support of this activity. Display advertisements in the newspapers, when of the right sort, have proved powerfully effective; and they have the advantage of enlisting active press support for a "Go-to-Church" campaign.

Third, and least tangible and most difficult of the objectives of an autumn "drive" should be an increase of personal piety. Only praying, Bible-studying, God-experiencing Christians can maintain the life and work of the Church; and the creation of such characters is the Church's first work.

◆

THE CHRISTIAN CONTEST

Rev. W. A. Ledford

Dr. Halford E. Luccock has rendered a distinct service in his book, "Preaching Values in New Translations of the New Testament." Various translations are compared; new slants on interpretations are given, and the way pointed out for all Bible students to do likewise. My brethren in the ministry know, how one is actually thrilled over the discovery of a new word, or thought lending a new slant in the interpretation of some Scriptural text. Dr. Marvin R. Vincent, performs such a service in "Word Studies in the New Testament" again, and again. A fine illustration is in Heb. 12:1, where he observes that the Greek word usually translated "Race" is the general word meaning "Contest"; which is more comprehensive, denoting any struggle between opposing parties.

The contest is compassed with a great cloud of witnesses. The ancient arena answers the modern bowl, where the world marathons are held. Former stars usually are accorded prominent places in such classics. The Christian Contest may not be very different. Perhaps, Enoch who walked with God 300 years, is trying to encourage those, who can scarcely walk with Him from one revival meeting to another. Abraham would like to teach this materialistic age to live by faith. Elijah is calling out to those weak-kneed Christians, who are undecided whether to vote wet or dry, "How long halt ye between two opinions." Jeremiah is still weeping over a worldly generation. John the Baptist is calling for volunteers to help prepare the way of the Lord. The Apostle Paul is present, bearing the marks of the Lord Jesus. Jesus, the Captain of our salvation is still leading. May not many of our fathers and mothers be looking on with added interest! For surely eleventh chapter of Hebrews should be marked "continued."

None of the witnesses named could be thought of as mere spectators at the Christian Contest. They were there because they had won a right to be there, and were occupying the place prepared for them by the Father. They were there to testify to the faithfulness of God to all His promises. Heaven and earth would pass away before His word would fail. They who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouth of lions, quenched the power of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, from weakness were made strong, waxed mighty in war, turned to flight the armies of aliens, were able to testify to a victorious faith. God was able to sustain them in all their struggles.

The Christian contestants were exhorted to lay aside every weight, or encumbrance. Among these may have been pride, conceit, timidity or false-shame, which had caused some of the Hebrews to shrink back from their profession. Some habits of Christians, which may not be sinful in themselves; but are as great encumbrance to them as excessive clothing to a runner, or excessive baggage to a traveller. They were also exhorted to lay aside the sin, which doth so easily beset, or cling so close. Parting with this sin may call for as drastic action as Jesus implied, when speaking of plucking out the right eye, and cutting off the right arm. Authorities are not agreed whether the besetting sin is something that clings so close as to trip one as a rope would a runner; or something made popular because the multitudes gather around it. Christians need to learn that whether a thing is right or wrong is determined by the eternal principles of God, rather than society staying away, or flocking around it. Each may have a different besetting sin, and hence will have to conquer it in his own way, time and place.

The Christian will require patient fortitude; yea, passive endurance and active perseverance, in the different contests, conflicts, struggles, trials that will confront him in his earthly pilgrimage. The sooner he learns that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, the better. Each contestant should be guided by a lofty purpose, a steadfastness of character, and an unflinching loyalty to the rules of the contest.

The last, but by no means the least of the rules, is to look unto Jesus the Author and Finisher of our faith. Many lose sight of the goal by looking around at the witnesses, or looking back over their shoulder to see if the others are coming. The figure is that of an artist lifting his eyes from his unfinished canvass to his model. I have seen artists gaze and gaze at a beautiful flower, which they were painting, or look so steadfastly as if trying to catch the blue out of the sky. The contestants in the game of life are exhorted to lose sight of the tempting, tormenting, distracting things around them; looking unto Jesus for guidance and for salvation. As Israel looked away from the serpents that were biting them unto the one Moses lifted up; so those bit by the serpents of sin, should look into Jesus, who said, I, if I be lifted up will draw all men unto me.''

Look unto Jesus for the best example of success in the Christian Contest. Jesus is the author and finisher of the faith delivered unto the saints. Others that have done well have given way to more excellent ones, which followed; but Jesus will never be superseded. Every Christian should press for the prize, praying that his star of hope, may not grow dim or disappear.

LET'S HELP THEM

I am going to do something now that I have not done before during the past five years—ASK FOR BUILDING HELP FOR A NEEDY BUT WORTHY CHURCH.

Our South Winston congregation has a lot 50x150 feet on Carrie avenue, and they have in process of erection on this lot a building 39x60 feet, with six Sunday School rooms provided for in the rear of the building. The grounds lie well for a basement, and the foundations were laid with this in view as a later project. Red brick were used for the foundation and underpinning. The building is weatherboarded, covered. The windows are yet to be put in and wired for lights, and with this done the church could be used while it is being finished. The brethren have plans for getting temporary pews which will result in but little cost to them, they think.

Our work here was started by Brother Kinnaman some years ago, and from its beginning it has been carried on in a small privately owned church building near the site of the new location. This building has been inadequate but has served to hold the work together, though the limit of growth in the old building has long since been reached.

We are located here in a community where a church seems to be needed. The brethren say that they have access to about 1,500 people, and that many of them will not attend church any where unless one is established in this community. The membership of the church is about 50, and the Sunday School has 110 in attendance. The brethren say that they could have many more in Sunday School if they only had the room. And they are equally confident of increase in church membership when they get into their new building. IT IS OUR OPINION THAT WE SHOULD CULTIVATE THIS FIELD. There is not one cent of debt on the property, either lot or building. Our folks here are paying as they go. AND THEY DESERVE HELP. I am giving this information about our work here with the hope that some of our people may be induced to make a contribution to it. A dime or a dollar—any amount that you may feel disposed to give will be greatly appreciated by our worthy South Winston people. LET'S HELP THEM.

Send your contribution to me and I will see that it gets to work promptly for the church there. Thank you.

Sept. 1, 1932. S. W. TAYLOR.

FRIENDSHIP

Friendship, my friend, is like the weather,
Sometimes for days and days together,
There's not a cloud; the sun will shine,
For I'm your friend, and you are mine.
So let's cheer up, forget and smile,
It can't be sunny all the while,
Look up and laugh through tears and rain,
Forgive, and let's be friends again.

—Grit Supplement.

HELP NEEDED FOR DESERVING STUDENTS

I am hereby appealing to individuals, churches, Sunday Schools, Christian Endeavor Societies or any other groups who might be disposed to make possible a college education for ambitious, brilliant, consecrated, financially poor Methodist Protestant boys and girls. There are several such students who have made application for entrance to High Point College but who cannot attend unless they can get financial assistance. They have not asked for gifts but for loans or self-help work. More applications for such have been received than we can possibly award. Several of these young people, some of them ministerial students, will have to forego a college education for the time unless somebody responds to their need. In some instances a loan of $50.00 would make it possible for them to enter college. In other cases it will take $100.00.

Who will feel the burden of this appeal and respond with such a loan?

The few loans which are made at the college are non-interest bearing and we hope there will be liberal-hearted individuals of our Church and constituency who will make such loans now.

One young lady, a bright girl, true to her church, and who has had two years of college work must have $100.00. A young man, a ministerial student, a leader in his high school class, an outstanding debator and public speaker, the president of his Christian Endeavor Society, must have $100.00. A young man in his middle twenties with a wife and four children, having served six years as a pastor with less than a high school education, took work during the summer and received sufficient credits to graduate from high school and must have $50.00 to enter college. Many others just as deserving could be here mentioned.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

A Word Regarding Our Sick

A card from Sister Forlines informs us that Dr. Forlines returned to his home in Westminster on Saturday, August 27. She says that he eats and sleeps well, and is steadily improving. The mail today brought gratifying messages from Brothers Surratt and T. A. Williams. Brother Williams is still taking treatment and steadily improving. Brother Surratt went to Sunday School last Sunday, and expects to fill his appointments next Sunday. This will be gratifying information to the many friends of these brethren. We are grateful, with them, for the restoring mercies of a gracious Providence.

South Winston

A few days since we made a trip to South Winston to investigate the status of our work there. Our reference to it here is simply to urge our people to read the appeal that we are making this week on behalf of that church. (We trust that the Editor may find space for it in this week's HERALD) Our band there is faithful and heroic, and they merit our help. Let's give it to them.

Anderson and Yarborough Charges

Three days, September 2 to 4—were given to these charges in a visit to each of the four churches. Friday night we were at Liberty Hill, Saturday night at Cross Anchor, Sunday morning at Fairview, and Harmony at night. At most of these points we found the work in hopeful and growing condition. Good revivals have been held and several persons received into the membership of the churches. There are Sunday Schools at all the churches, and in the main, this department of the work seems to be progressing well. Mr. T. B. Nalley, the superintendent of Fairview, is a candidate for the legislature from his district. He ran ahead in the first primary, and his prospects to win in the "run off" appear good. He is a staunch dry, and so declares himself in his campaign speeches.

At Liberty Hill some needed work has recently been done on the grounds. A large tree has been removed from the cemetery, and a concrete border built around the cemetery next to the church. The roads leading to the church have been improved also, the county road force assisting in this. This work has made noticeable improvements on the church grounds, and the cost has been but little. Since our last visit to this church Brother Frank Compton, a faithful member, has passed to his eternal reward. We missed him in the service. All of our church buildings on this charge are in good condition. We noted that the paint on Harmony is wearing some. Our people there will no doubt give this attention at no distant date.

At Yarborough's Chapel we have a problem growing out of title to and control of certain church property, that is hindering the work at that place. We shall hope and pray that this may yet be satisfactorily settled, and that the work here may go on unhampered. The churches on these charges are remotely located from each other; but good roads connect them, and this makes it possible for Brother Henderson to serve them all. We were glad to hear the people speak commendingly of him, and he in turn had many good things to say of the people. There will be united and earnest effort during these closing weeks to pay salary and budgets, and to close the year with good reports in every particular. We enjoyed our visit with the churches, and wish to acknowledge our indebtedness to the pastor and his family, and to other friends, for kindness shown us while on these fields. Space debars us from giving names of all those who provided us with generous entertainment. Blessings on these churches! Harmony is entitled to credit on A. C. B. for $2.60 contributed toward our traveling expenses.

Salaries

Charges are beginning now to think about salaries for next year, and in a very short time fourth quarterly conferences will be meeting and salaries for the ensuing year will be fixed. We are writing this to urge against reducing salaries. There may be some instances where there will be justification for this, but on most charges salaries are already low, and should not be reduced, we think. During the past two years, not including this year, salaries were reduced twenty per cent., and unpaid salaries added another twelve per cent., making thirty-two per cent. We trust that our people will conclude that pastors have borne their share in reductions, and that they will not attempt any widespread lowering of salaries for 1933.

"Slowly and in Small Amounts"

Treasurer Brown writes that money is coming in "slowly and in small amounts." There is cause for gratification in that. No money at all would be much worse than a little money. And a little money regularly from all of our 87 charges would provide necessary running expense, and keep our totals going up toward a good aggregate when the counts are all in. So we are not despising this "little money." But now, brethren, we are in our pay period, and we must begin to give earnest and united attention to our financial obligations. Pastors must be paid, and let us urge that this be done IN FULL. Budgets must be paid, and here again we must spare no effort to secure that last possible dollar. The need is so urgent, both in the conference and for denominational purposes! Begin now, brethren, and keep right on working at this, tactfully, earnestly, prayerfully, until our best has been done to meet these obligations. The great Head of the Church expects this of us. Let us not disappoint Him by a failure to do our best.

Rally Day

The importance of this day justifies us in calling attention to it again. If you have not received the program, please send a card to Dr. Stephenson at once, requesting it. There will be no cost to you for the program. This day affords one of the means by which our Board of Education is financed. All receipts are credited to this Board. This should appeal to us here in North Carolina, since the Board is dealing so generously with High Point College. A wide-spread observance of the day and a generous offering would show gratitude for what the Board of Education is doing for us. WE URGE THAT THE DAY BE OBSERVED, and let it be an occasion for the rallying of all the departments of the church. We shall not forget, either, that the most successful Rally is the one that is most spiritual. NOW FOR A GOOD RALLY DAY IN EVERY CHURCH.

Appointments

September 10-11.—Vance charge.
September 11.—Henderson, 7:30 P. M.
September 13-14.—Greensville charge in three appointments.
September 15-16.—Enfield and Whitakers.
September 18-19.—Creswell.
September 25.—Love Joy, Why Not charge.
October 1-2.—Mecklenburg charge.
October 3.—Charlotte.
October 5-6.—Midland charge.
October 9.—Tabernacle charge.
October 16.—Weaverville.
October 17-18.—Democrat.
October 19.—Asheville.

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."

Fraternally yours,
S. W. TAYLOR.

September 6, 1932.

MENTAL ATTITUDES ARE IMPORTANT

By LUTHER K. LONG

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." The mind strongly affects the body, and everything with which we have to do. If the mind is enslaved, the man is a slave. If the mind is free, the man is free. What a man is, he has become, in the last analysis, by his own choice and determination.

Mind is sometimes thought of as steel—cold, though sharpened to a penetrating point and a keen edge. But, normally, mind has emotion as an essential part of its make-up. The man who speaks or writes or lives with his fellowmen in what we refer to as a "merely intellectual" way cannot exert the power and influence of the man who has—along with his intellect—well developed, controlled, and directed emotions.

I suppose that, biologically and historically, the development of the emotions somewhat preceded the development of the intellect. They have progressed through the ages irregularly; sometimes the one, sometimes the other taking the lead. We have noted individuals rich in intellect and poor in feeling, while others are seen with abundant emotions, and sadly lacking in mentality. The ideal is to secure the adequate, simultaneous development of both.

Let us look at some mental attitudes, hoping that the right ones will also be lighted and fired by emotion:

The attitude of the cynic. The cynic takes the position that everything is in moral confusion. There is no order or system of good. Men are selfish and self-seeking, unworthy of confidence, no one can be trusted, all have ulterior motives when they do anything for the approval or benefit of their fellowmen. Or, if you prefer to have the dictionary definition: "A cynic is one who disbelieves in and sneers at disinterestedness and moral worth." Henry Ward Beecher's definition is a good one: "The cynic is one who never sees a good quality in a man and never fails to see a bad one."

The cynical attitude works out badly. We cannot get along without relations with other people. If we start out with the cynical mental attitude that we cannot believe half of what we see, and scarcely anything of what we hear, we shall have a bad time in life. Confidence begets confidence, a generous, trustful attitude appeals to the best in our fellowmen.

As to success. Success is not something to be worshipped, and secured at any cost. But to succeed in our worthy ambitions and undertakings is something on which we may set our hearts and to which we should devote our best energies. To make a good home and at least a fairly successful business, to be a vital part of a lively serving church and a well-knit-together community, and to be in a fair way of leaving a goodly heritage of character and achievement to our children following us—these are some of the important things on which our hearts may well be set.

Our mental attitude toward success will make a lot of difference. If we are pessimistic, if we have no confidence in ourselves and in our plans, if we go at our enterprises coldly and half-heartedly, we are only inviting failure. But if, having well considered the matter and being fully persuaded in our mind, we start out confidently and maintain an attitude of assurance, the way will open up and success is pretty well assured. Our emotions should have a fair chance to engage themselves. They will contribute greatly to the success of our undertaking.

Concerning habits. We are largely creatures of habit. The more right habit enters into our work, the more smoothly and successfully do our enterprises move along. Breaking up old habits that are hurtful, and forming new ones that are helpful, should have thoughtful consideration. Bad habits are formed by repetition, by imitation, and by yielding to a certain natural disposition, or taste, or objectionable way of thinking or acting. Likewise, good habits are formed by repetition, by imitation, and by following certain natural or instinctive dispositions and tastes that are fine and elevating.

No person can be expected to give constant, persistent, conscious attention to everything he may be thinking and doing. This would make his progress and achievement so slow that but little would be accomplished in the course of an entire life-time. Most actions are performed unconsciously, or subconsciously.

We start down the street, and the movements of our feet and legs, our stopping and starting, are taken care of with but little conscious effort. We step into an automobile and, if we have been properly trained and have had adequate driving experience, our hands and feet, our eyes and ears perform their varied and complicated operations almost as by instinct. The success with which we drive is largely due to the attitude which we assumed in the beginning toward the forming of the necessary habits. We didn't consider driving an unimportant matter. We knew it was complicated and fraught with dangers. So we set ourselves consciously, purposely, and with strong determination to master the mental and bodily actions necessary to be performed repeatedly in the course of an hour's driving. Gradually—it seemed to some of us, very slowly—our hands and feet, our eyes and ears, and our appreciation of situations fell into line. Thus the un-conscious element, the habit element in driving became increasingly effective and we were able to do more and better driving with less and less of mental, nervous, and physical strain.

Concerning marriage and the family. The old institution of marriage, and the family that is the result, are up for renewed investigation and judgment today. This is not the first time our most sacred institutions have been called to give an account of themselves—and, no doubt—it will not be the last.

It would seem to be wise for young people, contemplating marriage, to give conscious and deliberate thought to everything connected with these important matters. Nothing should be too readily taken for granted. Shall I get married at all? Shall I look upon marriage as a permanent relation, or as a more or less temporary and experimental union? What sort of a person—physically, industrially, socially, mentally, morally, religiously, racially—shall I consider suitable as a life companion? Shall I have children and, if so, how many and when? Not that all these questions can be settled at once, but a somewhat correct and intelligent mental attitude should be arrived at.

Some of my readers will recall the time when it was taken for granted that every normal person would marry, and that every couple would be true to each other to the end; that a companion would likely be found in one's own or an adjoining neighborhood amongst the attendants of a church of the same denomination, and that the young people would be more or less well-mated physically, mentally, socially, financially, and morally. Children there would be, of course. They were thought of as coming from the Lord and, if a man were poor enough, the Lord would probably make him a family like a flock. The attitudes of many young people are today much unsettled on many of these questions. It is a time for them to do much conscious and purposeful thinking and planning. They are not safe in depending on habit and instinct—the danger is that they will become enamored of some fad or some current line of thought and action that will lead them into a complication that will be regretted all the rest of their lives.

That is why parents and teachers, and physicians and ministers, should realize the opportunity and the responsibility to instruct the young toward clear understanding and right attitudes. There is getting to be a considerable supply of literature on these subjects—some of it is of excellent quality. Access to this should be free and young people should be encouraged and directed in the use of it. I am glad that there are intelligent and responsible persons who are interested in clearing the thought of the present generation on these matters.

The time will come when new thoughts and standards on marriage and the family will become generally accepted—and that, it is to be hoped, without any seriously destructive changes in standards and with no loss to constructive living. Habits and instincts, newly formed and settled, will again be good guides, and we shall go on again for a long time in the ways that commend themselves to the wisest and best of our leaders. Then, in due time, there will come another period of disturbance calling for another readjustment, and another time of conscious, determined thought will be necessary. Just now, it is well for everyone to maintain an open mind, to be fully persuaded in his own judgment and conscience, using the best information available, and setting himself toward the highest and finest ideals and attitudes within sight.

THE ROAD TO RUIN

Graft killed Rome. Men in high place sacrificed the nation to their own greed and lined their pockets with the money collected for national defense.

Graft wrecked France. The ladies of kings made merry with the tax money wrested from starving peasants and brought the State so near the verge of ruin that a revolution was required to save it.

Graft makes vast China the weakest of nations. Every official and every business agent takes his "cut" of the money that passes through his hands. Millions appropriated for national defense, or contributed to feed the destitute, enrich thieving officials and serve no other purpose. And there is no hope of better things, for custom has made graft respectable.

The Russia of the czars was destroyed by graft. The war with Japan was lost because grand dukes and lesser gentry filled their pockets with the money that should have been spent for guns and ammunition. The soldiers at the front were betrayed—as their brothers were in the greater war that followed.

Graft is the cancer that destroys every nation when prosperity has made the people soft and lust for money has destroyed their sense of honor and their patriotism.

Do you realize what is happening in America?

Do you realize that business men in all great cities pay tribute for protection; that buyers are offered and often accept bribes, whether buying tires for an employer or school supplies for a State; that builders bribe officials for the privilege of violating building codes; that deposits of public money and contracts for public work are given to those who offer the biggest bribe; that laws are made and millions of public money appropriated to benefit those who "stand in" with the right people; that Big Business pays for tax exemptions; that our "big men," in and out of office, work together for their personal gain regardless of the cost to the nation?

Why? Because the people don't care. Because any mention of common honesty is called "preaching." Because a cynical public has lost its capacity for indignation and no longer feels an honest contempt for rottenness.—Robert Quillan in Philadelphia Bulletin.

◆

—Patience is a lesson to be learned. Christ is the Teacher, but you are the scholar, and it is the scholar who must learn the lesson. Not even Christ can learn it for you to spare you the effort. Nor can it be made an easy lesson for you even by the Divine gentleness. It costs to grow patient, and you must pay the price yourself.—J. R. Miller.

OUR STORY PAGE

MOTHER

"Where are you going this evening, Kate?"

"To the Temperance meeting. I promised to play for the society tonight. You won't mind, will you?"

"Be home early, dear."

"Yes; but don't worry if I should be detained. Johnny will take care of me. Can you have a little hot chocolate ready for me when I get home?"

And when evening came the bright face and cheerful voice were gone.

"Everywhere but here," sighed the weary mother, as she turned up the light and seated herself to her long evening's work.

"I didn't dream of this," she mused, "when I made plans, with Katie's little baby face looking into mine. She will be such company for me when she grows us, I said, and now I seem to be nothing but a convenience. Night after night I sit by myself. It is either lecture, or party, or concert, or company, when I am expected to exert myself and wait upon her and John. It is hard to be forced to admit it, but I think my child cares for everybody else but me. And I can not tell her that I think she neglects me. If she can not see for herself, I must suffer on." Her eyes moistened. "It seems to me I have been unselfish," she said. "I know I have tried to be."

There was a knock at the door. A neighbor came in, one of those women who, though not generally liked, contrive to keep on a good footing with their neighbors through sheer force of persistence. Her name was Grace, though not a particle of that quality so often found in the humblest of women appeared in her speech, manners or garments.

"I was sure I should find you alone," she said. "Kate is out?"

"Yes, she has gone to the temperance meeting. She is very useful there."

"Hum!" said Mrs. Grace, her keen eyes reading the pale, patient face, "Kate seems to be a great favorite everywhere, but I should think you'd want her at home more. Are you not lonesome evenings? I shouldn't know what to do without my Liza."

Kate's mother almost smiled involuntarily. Liza was a very homely girl, without ambition, and almost without spirit. She was Kate's senior by nearly twenty years; yet there seemed to be something pathetic in the care and love she showed her mother. "Yes, I think Kate is a favorite," she made reply. "Nothing in the way of amusement seems to go on without her help. I want her to enjoy herself while she can; trouble always comes soon enough."

"Most likely it will if she marries Johnny Palmer," ventured Mrs. Grace.

"Why, what do you mean? What about Johnny?" asked Mrs. Raynor, with nervous interest.

"Oh, nothing—only he neglects his mother as much as—"

"As Kate neglects me, you would say," exclaimed Mrs. Raynor, with a touch of anger. "You may be sure, Mrs. Grace, that my child hasn't the least thought that she is neglecting me—and she isn't," she added, with a mother's self-abnegation. "I can't expect to keep her so young and full of life, housed day and night with an old woman like me."

"Old!" laughed Mrs. Grace. "Why, Kate is seventeen, and you are only twenty years her senior. You ought this moment to be almost as youthful and fresh looking as she is. Why not? You old?" she went on, when Mrs. Raynor failed to reply. "Why, I'm in my sixty-first year, and I can enjoy my share of the world's goods yet. The trouble is, you've forgotten yourself, and have made your whole life bend to her preferences and inclinations. That is the reason she never thinks of your pleasure or convenience. Kate is a good girl, I'm sure, but people are talking, Mrs. Raynor, 'specially since Joe died."

Joe was Mr. Raynor. He had been dead now nearly three years.

"What are people saying?" asked Mrs. Raynor, her blue eyes full of lightning.

"Well, they speak of your being left alone so much. You used to be the life of the place."

"I don't care about going out. It's my own fault."

"Thats what I say. At least, that's what I tell them you say. It's almost always the way; the same old story over and over with parents and children. You bring up your children with painstaking and care only to have them laugh at your old-fashioned ways, and leave you, with hardly a regret, on the first opportunity."

"Don't!" exclaimed Mrs. Raynor, in tears. It seemed like the echo of her own words.

Meantime Kate sat at the little organ in the brightly-lighted hall, and played and sang, and looked very happy. She thought she was doing her duty, and the girl really desired to do some good and be of some service in the world.

She belonged to the Dorcas Society, that met once a week to sew for the poor, and to the Mite Society and other kindred associations. She taught in the Sunday School, was a member of a literary club, and she often said she had scarcely a moment to call her own.

A stranger was speaking. It was a man freshly caught in the temperance net, and he floundered and blundered until it was a positive pain to look at and listen to him.

Belle Lockwood, who sat next to Kate, whispered something in her ear that made her laugh, and then she caught the eye of Bessy Birch. Bessy shook her head, and Kate looked at her music and then back at Bessy again.

For a long time she gazed, growing more thoughtful every moment. Earlier in the evening she had overheard some one say: "Did you ever see a happier-looking woman than Bessy's mother? Or a younger? One would take them to be sisters."

Somehow the words had lingered in Kate's mind, and now she turned and looked at Bessy's mother.

Yes, she was looking as young, almost, as Bessy herself. And as Kate watched her she remmbered that they seemed always to take delight in each other. Almost everywhere they were together.

"Mamma is my beau." How often she had heard Bessy say that! Somehow her own mother's sad, pale face formed itself before her.

"If mother only looked like that," she sighed; "if mother would only be bright and stirring, and go about with me!"

And then it occurred to her that she had never really thought of that before. She had preferred Johnny—the clumsy lad that she cared no more for than any other friend, only that she liked to show her power over him.

It was not quite honorable. She felt herself blush. If Johnny were to ask her tomorrow, she could not marry him. How much better Bessy was acting!

And there was poor mother, all alone. Nobody to speak to, evening after evening, seldom going out, except to church—and so much prettier than Mrs. Birch! If only she had some incentive, she would be a mother to be proud of.

"How selfish I have been!" she thought, with a sigh.

"Kate, are you dreaming? Did you hear them give out the hymn?"

It was Johnny who spoke, and Kate almost resented his attention. He found the place, opened the music, hovered about her till the girl's cheeks burned again—everybody was looking at them.

"Johnny, I'm going home with Bessy," she said, at the close of the evening. "You take some one else home tonight."

Johnny stepped aside like one stunned, conscious that something had offended the girl—he could not tell what—and Kate walked home on the other side of Bessy's mother for they passed Kate's house.

"Doesn't Mrs. Raynor ever go out?" asked Mrs. Birch, unconscious of the sting of the question. "It seems as if she would enjoy these meetings. You see, Bessy won't go anywhere without 'Mother,' and so we enjoy all the good things together."

With these words sounding in her ears, Kate reached home and went in. It seemed rather odd to be without Johnny, but she respected herself more when she thought of his commonplace, even silly remarks, and his often recurring laugh.

Her mother had evidently been asleep, and it smote the girl's newly-awakened conscience to meet the weary, sad smile.

"I never thought how lonesome you would be," she said, with a kiss so tender that it thrilled the aching heart.

"Oh, well, Mrs. Grace was here a little while," said her mother.

"Deliver me from her society!" laughed Kate. "Nobody escapes her merciless tongue."

"I didn't expect you so soon, or I'd have had a little chocolate. Did—who came home with you?"

"Bessy and her beau," said Kate demurely.

"Bessy and who?" asked her mother. "I didn't know any young man waited upon Bessy."

"Ah, you don't know everything! Bessy has the nicest beau you ever saw—perfectly devoted to her, and I'm going to have just such another. I have done with Johnny."

"Well, you astonish me," said Mrs. Raynor. "I didn't know that I should ever be curious again. How long has it been? I never saw her with anybody but her mother."

"And that's just what I mean!" said Kate, her eyes dancing. "Mother, I've been asleep this long, long while, and I've only just waked up to realize what I've been dreaming about, and to feel sorry for it. I am ashamed of myself because I have neglected and forgotten you. You are ever so much younger and prettier than Bessy's mother, and if you will accept the office, I will have you instead of Johnny hereafter for a companion. I've waked up to realize that nobody does, or ever will, love me as a mother does."

"Oh, my dear child!" exclaimed her mother, with a half sob, taking her in her arms, "This repays me for all the past. I have sometimes—not often—felt a little neglected and lonesome since your father died, and tonight I was thinking what plans I used to make against the time you should be my companion as well as my daughter. And when I have seen Bessy and her mother—well, no matter. I shall never feel, never think that way again, for the good Father has granted my prayer, and given my darling back to me."—S. S. Banner.

TWO SIDES

Two boys went out to gather grapes. One was happy because they found grapes. The other was unhappy because the grapes had seeds in them. Two men, being convalescent, were asked how they were. One said, "I am better today." The other said, "I was worse yesterday." When it rains, one man says, "This will make mud;" another, "This will lay the dust." Two boys, examining a bush, one observed that it had a thorn; the other, that it had a rose. Two children, looking through colored glasses, one said, "The world is blue." And the other said, "It is bright." Two boys having a bee, the one got honey, and the other got stung. The first called it a honey bee. The other a stinging bee. "I am glad that I live," said one man. "I am sorry I must die," says another. "I am glad," says one, "that it is no worse." "I am sorry," says another, "that it is no better." One says, "Our good is mixed with evil." Another says, "Our evil is mixed with good."—Publisher Unknown.

THE SAME SOIL

Billy Sunday once told a party of people who were taking a train from Pasadena, a city that, as every one knows, is one of the beauty spots of California. From the car windows the passengers looked with delight upon the trees with golden oranges gleaming through the deep green foliage; upon velvety lawns, banks of blooming roses, and flowing fountains. But all that beauty was soon left behind, and the hot, sandy desert enveloped them. Perspiring passengers mopped their brows; porters closed the windows; yet the dust sifted in at every crack. From the car windows one saw only a desolate waste. "Isn't this awful!" said some one, but another replied, "Yes, but this is just the same soil as that of Pasadena, only that is irrigated land; it has water, and this has not."

"Just such," said Mr. Sunday, "is the difference between the soul that lets God have His way with it and the one who will not."—Publisher Unknown.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD

President of High Point College C. E. Society

September 11: DOES GOD REALLY CARE?

Scripture Lesson 6:25, 26

The infidel says God does not care for people, the skeptic doubts it, but the Christian unhesitatingly says, "Yes, God really cares." The world would be dreary and void of a great assurance if we merely assumed that God was distant and disinterested in mankind. We lie down with the knowledge of a protecting hand and arise with a prayer of gratitude to Him.

Christ taught His disciples that God cared infinitely for the lilies and sparrows but that man was of more value than many sparrows. From the book of nature we still read the wonderful care for the individual soul. Nature in each of its seasons is beautiful and calls forth our gratitude to the God who cares for all.

Many people easily believe that God cares when life is smooth and bright but doubt His interest in man when troubles arise. "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth." A child could as sensibly doubt the love of a parent when punishment is inflicted. We come through our chastening with a higher regard for God and fully conscious that His chastening was good for us. Some people doubt the love of God when their prayers are unanswered. In our childish ignorance we often ask for things which we could not use or which would be disastrous; the wisdom of God withholds from us our petitions or substitutes a richer blessing.

To suppose that God does not care for His world because there is suffering in it, is foolish. There is much of suffering and want which God would gladly relieve if men and women could be found to do the work. The best cure for such skepticism is action. God is calling for workers in the world to alleviate suffering, preach a gospel of place. and carry the glad news of His Son. God is ready to prove His love when man responds. One can as sanely argue that light does not penetrate darkness as that God does not care because there is misery in the world. If conditions are met the "light of the world" will dispel all of our darkness.

A newspaper editor, by research work, found that each year of depressions the winters have been mild. It could be passed casually as a co-incident that the winter of 1931 was especially hard financially and very mild weather. When we consider that such has occurred a great number of times, it is taken out of mere proxy and we see a revelation of Divine Providence. The Loving Heavenly Fathere is seeking to overcome the disasters of man's manufacture. The people of God are used in such times to alleviate the suffering and want of the needy.

Christ is the supreme revelation of God's love. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begottten Son." The woes of the world cut the compassionate heart of God so deeply that the most extreme measure was not averted to relieve sin. Christ taught the infinite care and love of God and demonstrated it on Calvary. Calvary stands as the fulness of the love of the Great God of the universe for His creation. We no longer doubt His love, all stand in amazement and exclaim with Thomas, "My Lord and My God!"

Quotable Poetry

Thou art my shepherd,
Caring in every need,
Thy loving lamb to feed
  Trusting Thee still.
In the green pastures low,
Where living waters flow,
Safe by Thy side I go,
  Fearing no ill.

Or if my way lie
Where storms are raging nigh,
Nothing can terrify
  I trust Thee still.
How can I be afraid,
While softly on my head
Thy tender hand is laid,
  I fear no ill.

—Elsie Thalheimer.

Suitable Songs

"Joy to the World," "Since Jesus Came into My Heart," "He Keeps Me Singing," "God Will Take Care of You," "O God Our Help in Ages Past," "His Eye Is on the Sparrow," "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say."

◆

ON FOOT AGAIN

On June 7th I fell while picking cherries and broke my hip and on the same day was carried to the Wesley Long hospital and remained there for treatment 25 days.

During my stay there I received from kind friends many beautiful flowers both by hand and by mail. Cards and letters expressing sympathy were also received. Many friends including a number of the ministerial brethren also visited me.

Dear friends, through these lines I wish to express my heart-felt appreciation for all the flowers, cards, letters and all other kindnesses received during my affliction. Such kindness has cheered and comforted me to an extent untold.

It has been a little more than thirteen weeks since the accident occurred, and I am now on foot again, but not without crutches. I have been to church once, heard some sermons over the radio, and in addition to the above made a few visits by auto with a good driver. A good friend furnished the radio.

Many multiplied blessings to one and all who have in any way remembered me while passing through these changes.

E. G. LOWDERMILK.

2018 Asheboro St., Greensboro.

◆

EVENING PRAYER

I lay me down
In peace and sleep,
For Thou, dear Lord,
My soul will keep.

And as I rest,
This prayer I make:
To do thy will,
When I awake.

—Grenville Kleiser.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

The Onward class, Connellsville, Pa. clothing child	$ 5.00
Liberty S. S., Liberty-Moriah	2.00
First church, Thomasville, porgram by the children	10.00
Friendship, Haw River	5.00
Caroleen S. S.	3.56
Lebanon S. S., High Point	3.82
Union Grove, Orange	2.00
Chestnut Ridge, Orange	2.00
Baraca class, Gibsonville, clothing child	5.00
Hickory Grove, Guilford	1.00
Mt. Pleasant, Guilford	.50
Mt. Pleasant, Guilford	1.65
Spring Church, Spring Church	1.65
Friendship, Fallston	3.40
Fairfield, Guilford	2.00
Asheboro S. S.	35.00
Mt. Pleasant, N. Davidson	1.60
Bellmont, Mt. Hermon	3.42
New Hope, Why Not	2.35
Mt. Pleasant C. E. Society, Mt. Pleasant	2.50
Bess Chapel S. S.	1.17

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mrs. Minnie P. Harrell, High Point, N. C., 2 dresses.

We are sincerely thankful for every gift in money and in substance.

The needs of the children are pressing in upon us as the fall draws on. School starts two weeks from today, and the condition of getting all our children ready for schools are now upon us. Please let every Sunday school in the conference send good offerings for September and October. That brings us up to conference.

God bless and direct in the winding up of every department of the conference work.

Yours in His service,

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

A WORD FROM OUR TREASURER

Conference will be here in two months, and so far I have only received a mere drop in the bucket towards our budget. When I say that I have not been able to pay our President but $1,200.00 to date and several hundred dollars of this amount is borrowed money, we realize I hope how desperate is the condition of our treasury. Such a condition as this ought not to exist in our conference. Our President deserves better treatment than this, even in these times of financial depression.

I have received just about half enough to pay our Representatives' expenses to the General Conference, a little more than $150.00 from our Sunday schools and Christian Endeavor societies for Religious Education, less than a hundred dollars for our Superannuates, and nothing to be applied on our Gratitude Gift debt.

I hope our pastors will call the attention of the members of their churches to these facts and urge them to do their best to change them in order that the treasurer may have no occasion to grumble.

GEO. R. BROWN, Treas.

◆

—Rev. William H. Neese is assisting Rev. H. F. Fogleman in a revival at Union church, Halifax charge, this week.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Enfield.—We are happy to state that our pastor, Rev. H. F. Surratt, is back at the parsonage after a stay of about two weeks at hospital in Rocky Mount. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

The meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held Monday afternoon, August 29th, in the hospitable country home of Mesdames Mary and Egbert Barnhill. There was a full attendance and everyone enjoyed the meeting.

Mrs. Ernest Bellamy and Mr. Rolph Rives, directors of Intermediate C. E. society took their group on an outing Monday afternoon.

Our Auxiliary has recently given two suppers to help raise money to put a new roof on parsonage These suppers were given on lawn at home of Mrs. Ale Hunt, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Mann, her sister, have just recently joined our Auxiliary, they are splendid workers. We appreciate the co-operation and help they render our church.

A number of our members have been sick, Mrs. Bulah Myer, Mrs. Willie Herbert; we are glad to report that Mr. Henry Neal is improving, he frequently is seen on street in wheel chair.

We are glad to have those back who have been away on vacations, and trust that each and every member has renewed strength for better kingdom service.

REPORTER.

* * *

Hebron, Orange Charge.—The revival meeting began here the second Sunday in August and closed the following Friday night. Bro. Pethea came to us in time for the first service Monday and did all the preaching from then to the close. His preaching was of a high order and was well received. Visible results: several reclaimed, two converted, two additions to the church.

Chestnut Ridge: The special meeting began here the fourth Sunday in August and closed the following Friday. Rev. D. R. Williams preached the opening sermon. Brother W. M. Loy came for the Sunday afternoon sermon and did all the preaching from then until the close. Brother T. O. Pender led the singing.

Brother Loy was at his best. His sermons were earnestly and faithfully delivered. They made a deep impression upon the hearers.

Visible results: Twenty or more reclaimed; nine converted; 8 additions to the church. We thank each of above named brethren for their faithful service.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

* * *

North Davidson Charge.—We are glad to report the spiritual condition of our charge as good. We have held revivals at all our churches with approximate total of reclamations and conversions numbering 105. Our pulpit help was as follows: Spring Hill, Rev. T. G. Madison; Mt. Pleasant, Rev. W. M. Loy; Canaan, Rev. C. G. Isley; Bethesda, Rev. J. L. Trolinger; Union Grove, the pastor did the preaching. All the visiting help did splendid preaching with gratifying results.

Due to conditions our finances are very far behind. We hope that after our tobacco markets open that finances will pick up on our charge, and that by conference we will be able to make a very good showing on all the conference claims. We have a loyal people but they have been greatly depressed by general conditions and local bank failures.

We recently held our third quarterly conference at Spring Hill. The pastor preached at 11 o'clock, this was followed by a splendid dinner furnished by the hospitable women of Spring Hill church. We thank them for their contributions to our day's enjoyment. At 2 o'clock we held our business session at which Brother C. M. Yokley, of Bethesda, was declared elected delegate to the next Annual Conference. Brother Yokley is greatly respected on this charge, and we are sure he will make a good delegate.

O. C. LOY.

* * *

Forsyth Charge.—Although the reporters on this charge say very little through the columns of this paper, I feel that the work at all the churches is progressing satisfactorily.

Revival services have been conducted at Maple Springs and Hickory Ridge since our last report. The pastor did the preaching at Maple Springs. There were no additions to the church here but the attendance was splendid and we are sure that the services did much good. At Hickory Ridge Rev. J. E. Pritchard, D.D., did the preaching. There was marked interest from the very first service. There were six conversions and seven additions to the church membership. The people were highly pleased with Brother Pritchard's preaching and the church was strengthened and encouraged by the meeting.

We are in the midst of revival services at Union Ridge, a church in the southern section of Winston-Salem. Rev. G. E. Brewer, a local Moravian minister, is doing the preaching. Cottage prayer meetings have been held for several weeks in preparation for the meeting. We are hoping and praying for a great meeting.

The parsonage has just been re-painted on the outside, which improves the appearance wonderfully. The good women of the charge are largely responsible for this work, and Mrs. Ira W. Baity, who was chairman of the committee, deserves special mention for her services in engineering the job through to completion. We thank all who had a part in this improvement to the preacher's home.

We are hoping and expecting to report a successful year's work when our conference convenes at Burlington in November. Of course much remains to be done yet, but we are serving a people that are in the habit of making a good showing at anything they undertake and we feel sure that this conference year will be no exception to the rule.

R. A. HUNTER, Pastor.

* * *

Liberty, Davidson Charge.—The revival meeting closed on Saturday night before the fourth Sunday. There were, if I am not mistaken 16 renewals and conversions, and two joined the church. There are yet a number who did not accept the way of Christ. We hope they may yet profess faith before the revival meeting closes.

We wish to thank Rev. Mr. Brown, Uncle Charlie Cranford and Mr. Paul Fine for assisting Rev. Mr. Bingham in the ministry.

We also thank Misses Mildred Russell and Anna Cranford who were organist.

To those from the other churches who assisted in personal work and song service, we thank you very much.

The revival meeting will begin at Hillsboro a nearby church, at 3 o'clock p. m. the first Sunday in September. All who can attend would be appreciated very much.

The pastor called in his regular appointment the third Sunday in September as the revival meeting begins at Chapel Hill at that time. We hope there may be much and lasting good accomplished during the meeting.

I have a little motto which I think a description of a good home:

I turned to an ancient poet's book, and—
Found upon the page,
That granite floors and guilded walls
Do not make a home, nor iron bars a cage;
But every house where love abides
And friendship is a guest,
Is home, sweet home,
For there the heart can rest.
Best wishes to all.

ANNIE HILL, Reporter.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—The congregation was delighted to greet the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, after his vacation of four weeks spent in Ohio, on Sunday morning, when at the 11 o'clock service, after a lovely solo, "As Panteth the Heart," sung by C. L. Gray, Jr., whose voice improves all the time, accompanied by Professor E. B. Stimson at the organ, he delivered an admirable sermon from the text, "Thou shalt see greater things than these." This was a special message to young people, students who are going away to college, teachers in high school, elementary schools, or colleges. He said that Jesus seemed to feel that it was greater to get in touch with God in communion and prayer than to perform the miracles which he did. He never calls a man, woman, or child to less work than he has been doing. No one becomes so useful but that he may be improved. A small duty faithfully performed leads to larger and more important tasks. If you will use what is in your hand just as Dorcas, who made little coats for the children about her, the poor widow who cast her mite in the offering; David, the lad, who used an ordinary boy's sling to kill the giant; Mary, who broke her alabaster box to anoint Jesus' feet, your scope of work will be enlarged, and Jesus will lead you into a larger place. Don't you believe with me that to have put the spirit of Christ into some heart is a greater thing than the miracle at the pool of Siloam? Thank God, I believe we are seeing greater things today—much that is modern is better than what is old. More than 25 per cent of living scientists are Christian, which is encouraging. It is great, and there is no other greatness to ease some burdened soul and to make some heart happier."

The evening services have been moved up to 7:30 o'clock, and Sunday evening Rev. Mr. Farmer brought a splendid message appropriate to Labor Day on "The Dignity of Labor."

The Young People's C. E. society met as usual on Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock, and the Senior society on Monday at 7:30. The mid-week prayer and praise service will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30.

The Executive committee of the Woman's Auxiliary held a meeting Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church. The different circles have been active in spite of the extreme heat, and through the month of August sold ice cream and cake every week, thus adding several dollars to the treasury.

On Sunday morning Mr. E. L. Douglas, chairman Directing committee of the Methodist Protestant Herald, just before the sermon asked to be allowed a few minutes, when he urged all subscribers to renew promptly. He announced that very few are in arrears for any great length of time. Rev. Mr. Farmer said that he will make a special request for an offering for the printers' deficit at an early date.

A marriage of wide interest, but a distinct surprise to many friends, is announced by the parents of the bride; Mr. Leroy D. Gibson, of Durham and Miss Lois Snipes of High Point, were married in Durham August 7th. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wallace Hartsell in the presence of a few close friends of the young couple. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Snipes of 408 Steele Street, this city, and was educated at the local high school and High Point college; she is attractive, popular, and an active worker in First church, Sabbath school and C. E. society. Mr. Gibson is a son of the late Mr. S. S. Gibson and Mrs. Gibson of Fourth street, and holds a position in the Durham office of J. S. Bache, brokers. The happy young couple returned Monday evening from a honeymoon trip to Norfolk and Virginia Beach. A shower of best wishes and congratulations is extended to this popular and highly-esteemed young pair by a host of relatives and friends.

Miss Anne Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. C. Robbins, left Thursday, September 1st, for Richmond, Va., where she will be choir director and soloist in Westminster Presbyterian church. She was graduated in voice from Cincinnati Conservatory of Music last June.

Miss Louise York, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. York, will leave next Monday, September 12 for Gainesville, Ga., to enter Brenau college. She was graduated in June from High Point high school.

Friends of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams, Jr., of Stokesdale, will regret to learn of the death of their baby daughter, Dorothy Anne, on Wednesday, August 31, aged 23 days. Sympathy is extended to these young parents in the loss of their first-born child.

Miss Claire Douglas returned Sunday afternoon to Lenoir, N. C., to resume her work as teacher of Romance Languages in Davenport college.

Professor L. R. Johnston, principal High Point high school, announces that of the 64 graduates of last June who will enter college, 34 have enrolled as students at High Point college. The second highest number, 14, will study at the State university.

The city schools are scheduled to open Monday, September 12, with 226 teachers. The first teachers' meeting will be held on Wednesday, September 7. Already more than 1,100 students are enrolled in the high school alone.

Miss Rosalie Andrews of Charlotte, will return here to resume work as teacher in the city schools. Miss Grace Koontz, who was graduatted from High Point college last June, will be one of the new teachers.

Numerous friends here of Rev. and Mrs. E. Lester Ballard, who are very pleasantly remembered, are pleased to know that they have arrived in Greensboro, where Mr. Ballard will have charge of the religious education work at Grace church.

Judge and Mrs. Lewis Teague and Miss Dorothy Rankin returned last night from Washington, N. C., where they attended a house-party at a cottage on Pamlico river.

Miss Anna Doris Pope and Mrs. Malcolm Winfrey of Salisbury, Md., who have been guests of Miss Dorothy Rankin, have returned home.

We are pained to announce the illness of Mrs. W. G. Friddle in High Point hospital, and Miss Selma Clapp underwent an operation for appendicitis a few days ago in Guilford General hospital. They have our best wishes for an early recovery to health.

James Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Montgomery, will enter the University of N. C. as a freshman at opening of the fall term.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Neese and daughter, Margaret, have returned from a visit to relatives in the eastern part of Guilford county.

Professor and Mrs. L. R. Johnston and Rebecca Holt are at home again on Montlieu avenue after their summer vacation.

Clark's Chapel.—Beginning the second Sunday in August Brother Cowan held our revival, with Rev. Earl A. Cook as pulpit help. We had splendid preaching and also a good meeting, although apparent results were far from what we wanted them to be.

Only two were converted. But a number asked to be remembered in prayer. We truly hope our young people will yet be converted and make a power for the church and community.

On last Sunday morning Brother Cowan filled his regular appointment at the 11 o'clock service, preached a good sermon; after which the Lord's Supper was administered.

We are greatly encouraged with our S. S. work. Sixty-one being present last Sunday.

LOUISE CHEEK, Reporter.

Tabernacle Charge.—Funeral service for Mrs. Martha Monnett was conducted by Rev. H. L. Isley Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

The C. E. society met Sunday afternoon at 2:30. After a brief program by the members an impressive address was given by Mr. Adrian Thompson of High Point college.

A MEMBER.

Calvary, Greensboro.—The various circles of the Auxiliary met Monday for their monthly session. The meetings were opened with a prayer meeting, asking for guidance and assistance in the coming revival. Plans were made for the booth at the fair. Various committees were appointed to solicit and make arrangements for the booth. We hope to make a big success of this.

For the past week or ten days our members have been holding prayer meetings in the homes. Our revival began Wednesday night and will continue for ten days, ending Sunday evening, September 18th. Rev. J. R. Anderson of Albemarle will assist our pastor in the meeting.

We wish to welcome Miss Helen Wray as a member of our church. She joined this past Sunday. She was baptized at the morning service.

The Friendly class met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Journey on the High Point road. A weiner roast was enjoyed by the members who were dressed in tacky costumes. Their next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. S. Current on Burtner street.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

Dulin's, Mocksville Charge.—Our series of meetings began August 29th with Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hendry of State Street, Lexington, as pulpit help, and continued 'till Thursday night.

Rev. Mr. Hendry delivered long and inspiring sermons but the unsaved failed to respond to any efforts. It seems that Mrs. Hendry left a deep impression on the young people.

We hope there was invisible good done that we haven't seen yet.

We were delighted to have Mr. and Mrs. Griffin of Monroe, with us on Sunday; also Brother Ferree's family worship with us throughout meeting. We were glad to have them.

The depression has put us behind badly with our pastor's salary.

REPORTER.

Liberty.—Our pastor, Rev. M. P. Chambliss, will preach at the 11 o'clock hour Sunday morning. We always look forward with interest to the church service, and the good message he brings.

Our Sunday school and Christian Endeavor is very dear to our hearts too. The leader Sunday evening was Mrs. Lora West. The Endeavorers are going on a picnic on Thursday evening at 6:30.

Circles No. 1 of the Woman's Auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. V. H. Dameron. Helpful articles were read on the subject of "Youth." Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughters, Helen, Eva and Bettie.

Circle No. 2 met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Clarence Highfill at her lovely home in East Liberty. Mrs. Mamie Smith had charge of the program. Articles were read and an inspirational Bible contest was engaged in, after which delightful refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Bertine Shepard.

Mrs. Jno. W. Curtis was the guest of her parents and sisters in High Point last week.

Mrs. W. H. Albright is very ill at this time. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

Misses Alta Hudson and Miss Nettie Stuart spent the week-end in Washington, D. C.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

Elbaville, Mocksville Charge.—Our pastor, Rev. G. B. Ferree, preached a splendid and inspiring sermon at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning. He read part of the sixteenth chapter of St. Luke's Gospel, using as his subject, "The Two Beggars." He gave a splendid description of both the poor man, and the rich man. Friends, let's read this chapter, and dedicate our life to Jesus Christ, as the poor beggar did, for we are told; That it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven. And if we study this chapter about the poor beggar and the rich man we will find this to be true.

The Sunday school and church members pounded our pastor and family Sunday morning, loaded his automobile with food and several things to be used otherwise. As not knowing what our pastor was going to speak to us about, our giving and his messages corresponded in various ways. Each one of us enjoyed giving what we gave, and hope he will enjoy using what was given.

Our Sunday school is moving along nicely at this time. Our attendance was 98 Sunday. There is some sickness in our Sunday school, we ask the Christian people of all other churches to pray that they may soon be able to be back to Sunday school again.

As there has not been any report sent in for sometime, I would like to give a few words of the past; on the third Sunday afternoon of July, at 2:30 o'clock, we had with us, Dr. N. M. Harrison of Asheboro, to speak to the young people. We enjoyed having him with us and wish to invite him back any time he wishes to come.

The first Thursday in August our Sunday school attended the "Sunday School Township Convention," held at Dulin's M. P. Church, Mocksville charge, and brought back the banner and Bible for having the largest attendance. We are proud of what our Sunday school has done in the past. But we are working to make it better in the future than ever before.

LIZZIE BAILEY, Reporter.

* * *

Chase City, Va., Friendship Church.—We are glad to report that Friendship Sunday school is doing splendid work. On August 20, at 3:00 o'clock the revival meeting began.

At 2 o'clock we had Sunday school. We had 89 present and $1.13 collection.

At 3 o'clock we had a wonderful sermon preached by our pastor, Rev. C. L. Spencer. We had a duet sung by Mrs. Haras Lenheart, and Mr. Tonnie Hoyle: "He Makes Me Forget."

We also had preaching again on Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

The revival meetings were arranged to have a sermon in the evening at 2:30 o'clock and again at 8:00 o'clock by our pastor, Rev. C. L. Spencer. On Monday at 2:30 o'clock we had a wonderful sermon preached by Rev. C. L. Spencer and another one at 8 o'clock. We also had one of the Baptist members of Black Branch, to help lead in singing: Mr. Tonnie Hoyle.

We had two sermons preached again on Tuesday by Rev. C. L. Spencer, one at 2:30 o'clock and one at 8:00. We had a wonderful quartet, sung by Miss Edith Whitener, Mrs. Lenheart, Mr. Tonnie Hoyle, and Mr. Orbey Lenheart: "Jesus, I'm Coming."

Again on Wednesday, we had two wonderful sermons preached by Rev. C. L. Spencer and on Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock we had one of the Baptist members of Black Branch to help lead in singing: Mr. Lee Hoyle.

Again on Thursday we had two wonderful sermons preached by Rev. C. L. Spencer. On Thursday night we had a wonderful quartet sung by Miss Edith Whitener, Mrs. Lenheart, Mr Tonnie Hoyle and Mr. Orbey Lenheart: "Wonderful One."

Friday we had two wonderful sermons preached by Rev. C. L. Spencer and on Friday at 2:30 we had with us Mr. Hunmire, who is carrying on a tent meeting in Chase City and he offered prayer. Friday night, Miss Edith Whitener and Mr Tonnie Hoyle, sang a duet: "Jesus He Is Able."

There were no meetings on Saturday. We had meeting as usual on Sunday at 3 o'clock. We had Sunday school at 2 o'clock and there were 110 present and .81 collection, and at 3 we had preaching and again at 8 Sunday night.

Monday we had two wonderful sermons preached by Rev. C. L. Spencer and at 2:30 we had with us the Baptist preacher of Black Branch, Rev. Sinclair, and he offered prayer, and he also played the organ. We also had Mr. Lee Hoyle to help lead in singing. On Wednesday we had two more wonderful sermons preached by Rev. C. L. Spencer, one at 2:30 and one at 8 which was the closing service. We had ten converts to unite with Friendship church and several that wish to unite with other churches and a lot that reconsecrated their life and a lot that asked to be prayed for. The members that wished to unite with the church will be Baptized on the third Sunday in September. The Baptism was postponed on account of not having a Baptism pool, but arrangements will be made to Baptize the third Sunday in September.

We feel sure that the revival meeting has been a blessing to every one.

Mr. Ben Parker was kind to all of the people. He went both day and night and took a truck load of people to the revival. I am sure that they all appreciate his kindness very much. We also had a large attendance, and the most beautiful singing you ever heard and the most wonderful revival and we all give praise to Rev. C. L. Spencer.

There will be preaching at Friendship at 2 o'clock the third Sunday in September by our pastor and after preaching the Baptism will take place.

* * *

REPORTER.

Chestnut Ridge, Orange Charge.—The revival meeting began the fourth Sunday in August and closed September second.

Rev. R. S. Williams preached an able and interesting sermon at the 11 o'clock hour. Brother Loy came to us for the afternoon service and stayed until the meeting closed. He brought us some very helpful and inspiring messages throughout the week. There were about 25 conversions and eight joined the church.

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Craven and family to move their membership back with us from Efland M. P. church.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. John Sykes is very ill; we trust that she will soon be up again.

ANNIE SQUIRES, Reporter

* * *

Lexington, State Street.—Mr. Hendry and his family are home after an absence of nearly a month. A part of this time was in the nature of vacation but two weeks were spent in revival work. Last week Mr. Hendry conducted a successful meeting at one of the churches on the Mocksville charge. The usual morning and evening services here were conducted by the pastor last Sunday.

A week ago Sunday Mr. Otis Lanning brought us a fine message at the 11 o'clock hour. There was no preaching on any Sunday evening during August. The C. E. societies and all other branches of the work functioned as usual.

The Women's Bible class met at the home of Mrs. M. L. Streetman Thursday night, September 1, devotional, business and social periods were observed and a very enjoyable meeting in gneral was the verdict of all who attended.

Mr. T. J. Aron recently underwent an operation at a Greensboro hospital at which time one of his eyes was removed. He is reported as doing well since the operation and his many friends wish him a complete and early recovery.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Clyne and Mr. Arthur Craver and Mr. J. R. Petty among the sick this week and hope to see them all out again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leonard are the proud possessors of a fine son who will be a week old Thursday of this week. This baby is at present our "newest" and youngest.

REPORTER.

* * *

Shiloh.—"Prove all things; hold fast that which is good," as found in 1 Thessalonians 5:21, was the text used by Rev. R. S. Troxler on the 1st Sunday. Will give you just a few thoughts gleaned from his sermon.

To prove all things and be able to hold fast to that which is good, we must understand the source of authority. That source is not the church, for the church is only a medium, a vessel, a place where we go to worship a Person who is the head of the church itself. True, its the finest institution in the world, and in it you will find the best people in the world, but the church in itself is not the source of authority. We worship not the church, but the Person around which the church centers.

The source of authority is not the Bible, even though its the greatest book in the world, read by more people than any other book in the world, contains more truth than any other book, is the best guide to life for it shows us the way; it is open here, and it will be open yonder at the judgment bar of God and yet the Book is just a revelation of a Person about whom it is wrapped. The Bible reveals the Christ to me and reveals me to myself, yet the source of authority is not the Book, but it is the Christ of the book, even the Holy Spirit.

Then to be able to prove all things, and to hold fast the good, there are some fundamental things we must do:

First we must believe in the existence of God, for "They who would come unto Him must believe that He is, and is a rewarder of all who diligently seek Him" and it takes faith to do it.

Second we must believe in the immortality of the soul.

Third we must know the worth of a man, and we may catch a glimpse of his worth when we consider the price paid by God to redeem him.

Fourth, we must believe in the reality of Jesus Christ as our Savior. We may never be permitted to see the nail-prints as was materialistic Thomas, but we can take hold of Him by faith and share in the blessing Christ spoke when he said: "Because thou hast seen me thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, yet have believed." "The just shall live by faith" and can say with the authority of the Holy Spirit "I know whom I have beloved."

We had 278 in Sunday school on the last Sunday in August and 270 present today. A great lesson we had today on "Temperance," and a great opportunity for every teacher in this broad land of ours to speak fearlessly for God on this great prohibition question that is before this nation today. And this writer sincerely hopes there were no slackers or fearful ones in the ranks, but that all were bold to stand for a law given first by God himself and only a few years ago was put on our statute books, and has been enforced as well as many other of our laws that we would even shudder at the thought of repealing. And we firmly believe the 18th Amendment can be satisfactorily enforced if the church of Zion will put on her strength, present a united front and say it must be done. "Awake, awake, put on thy strength O Zion," we may sleep, but Satan does not, but "goes around as a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour."

The third Sunday of September will be 'Tithing Sunday." Each member is asked to bring one tenth of all he makes during the precedng week and lay tt upon God's altar for service.

Circle No. 2 will make ice cream at Mr. Jeff Berrier's on Saturday the 13th and will carry it to town to sell at some good location. All who can furnish a freezer or milk and sugar for cream or a chicken for salad sandwiches, please bring it to Mr. Berriers Saturday morning.

The Woman's Auxiliary will give a thank offering service at Shiloh on the fourth Sunday night. All circles and program committee will please bear this in mind.

Mr. Gilbert Grantham, who has been seriously ill with a heart ailment for several weeks, is reported somewhat improved.

Brother Troxler has just closed a meeting at Greer's Chapel, and a goodly number was saved. Yet Brother Troxler asks your earnest prayer for that church, which is working faithfully, but against great odds. Let's remember this faithful band, and know that God can change circumstances and remove obstacles.

Yours in His service,

MRS. WILEY SHOAF, Reporter

◆

Mebane.—The Ladies' Aid met Monday afternoon with Mrs. C. C. Smith. Mrs. W. J. Sykes and Mrs. Albert Sykes were joint hostesses with Mrs Smith. The usual number of ladies were present with four visitors. After the business a pleasant social hour with refreshments of ice cream and cake was enjoyed. During the meeting a real refreshing shower of rain fell. This being the 79th birthday of Mr. Smith, he was called in and given the hearty applause and the good wishes of the ladies. Miss Margaret Nicholson has gone to to New York to do some extra work in her study of nursing. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nicholson and a graduate of Wesley Long hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Sides spent several days with Mrs. Sides' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, leaving Monday for Pine Hall where they will teach this year. We were glad to have them in our services Sunday. We are sorry to learn of the accident that put Mr. Harvey Patton in a N. J. hospital. We hope his injuries are not serious.

Mastter Kempwell Loy has been visiting his grandmother at Alamance.

The board of stewards met with Mr. Odah Terrell Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Pender of Goldsboro, were visiting friends here last week. They are members of our church that we miss and we are always glad to have them return. Mrs. Pender attended the meeting of the Auxiliary Monday night.

We are looking forward to our revival meeting which we expect to hold some time in October.

Dr. R. M. Andrews and son, Robert, of Charlotte, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nicholson Friday.

◆

THE WESTERN PASTORS' FEDERATION

The last meeting of the conference year will be held with the Friendship church, near Albemarle, Rev. O. B. Williams, pastor, September the 26th; this is the last Monday in this month and the meeting is stated to start at 10:30 o'clock.

The program is being planned for morning and afternoon sessions. At the morning, it is hoped to have a spiritual "Retreat"—that is, a meeting entirely devoted to soul-searching and planning for larger spiritual achievement.

The afternoon session will deal with other elements in the success of the church. The meeting is a pastor's meeting, what shall be said will apply more particularly to the pastor than to laymen, and yet any layman or laywoman who desires to come will be cordially welcomed. Let every pastor in this district make a note of the date and plan to be present.

R. M. ANDREWS, Chairman.

◆

HELP NEEDED FOR DESERVING STUDENTS

In these days when it appears to many that our youth is not serious minded, shall we turn a deaf ear to those who are and who desire to do Kingdom work. The church has a responsibility toward these Methodist Protestant boys and girls. We must share with them and now while ambition and religious fervor burns within their hearts make possible for them that training which they must have in order to successfully realize the noble desires of their life.

If those who would respond hereto cannot advance the total amount at this time, we would receive the student promising the loan and permit you to pay it gradually as the students' bills become due which dates are as follows:

September 15th.
November 15th.
January 15th.
March 15th.

We hope sufficient response will come from this appeal to make it possible for every one of these boys and girls to matriculate September 15th.

Do not delay your response.

Let us know your intentions so that we can notify the students that the loans will be made.

N. M. HARRISON,
Promotional Secretary.

◆

—Mr. and Mrs. Leon McCulloch of Pittsburgh, Pa., were week-end visitors in Greensboro this week. For about 20 years he has been employed in the Westinghouse Laboratories. They are always welcomed here.

—The obituary notice of Brother Thomas Coble of Julian church, recently published, did not contain his name, due to an oversight. We ask pardon of this oversight.

LEARN TO RELAX

Carefully avoid today all jerky and useless movements. Conserve your vital energy by doing your work in poise. When you find youiself "contracting" any part of your body, immediately "let go." Do not drum with the fingers or tap the feet. Avoid all forms of restlessness, worry, anxiety, fear, and excitability. Aim to accumulate rather than expend your vitality. Be quiet and deliberate in your actions. Assume the mood and manner of a strong, self-controlled, magnetic man. Make it your special object today to keep your mind well poised.

1. Sit still, erect and relaxed, for one minute.

2. Stand still, erect and relaxed, for one minute.

3. Stand erect, relax your arms and shake them vigorously for a few moments.

4. Sit down. Drop the tension from every part of your body. Quietly direct your mind to your neck, arms, hands, legs, and waist, and completely relax every muscle. Close your eyes gently. Dismiss every thought from your mind. Maintain this position of thorough relaxation for three minutes. As you stand up from this execise, try to realize your increased poise and physical energy.

5. When you retire at night relax every part of your body. Think of yourself as storing great vital power. Then assume a feeling of drowsiness and repose.—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

THE CANDIDATE

The speaker's busy life,
Is filled with daily strife.
Hi! Ho! How words do flow,
When politics are rife.

The speaker's in his den,
With acrimonious pen.
Hi! Ho! How words do flow,
By candidating men.

The speaker's on his feet,
To practice and repeat.
Hi! Ho! How words do flow,
When tongues are very fleet.

The speaker's out to dine,
With oily-mouthed design.
Hi! Ho! How words do flow,
When politicians shine.

The speaker's up to speak,
While voters wildly shriek.
Hi! Ho! How words do flow,
When thoughts are very weak.

The speaker's home in bed,
With palpitating head.
Hi! Ho! How words do flow,
AND NOTHING MUCH IS SAID!

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Mrs. H. C. Nicholson	$2.00
Miss Cora McCollum	2.00
Romaine Poole	1.00
Rev. C. W. Bates	1.00
Mrs. E. S. Taylor, Efland	1.00
Gift Subscriptions
Reidsville Philathea Class	$2.00

◆

—Miss Sallie Amick of Mt. Pleasant church, Mt. Pleasant charge, is visiting her sister, Mrs. William H. Neese at Pleasant Hill, N. C.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

THANK-OFFERING SERVICE

I want to urge all the Auxiliaries, and all the churches where there are no auxiliaries, to put on a thank offering service this month. The offering received at this service goes to Christian Education, and is to be credited to the auxiliary budget. Where there are no auxiliaries, if the money is sent to the Conference Treasurer, the church will get a direct credit on the "World Service" budget.

A program for the service will be found in this month's Missionary Record. Or the program gotten out by the Board of Education can be used.

Let us remember that the offering helps support our colleges at a time when they greatly need it. Many young people will be forced to quit their college training unless they can get help from the Board of Christian Education. And that Board cannot help unless we give them the money. So it comes back to us and our willingness to do our part.

MRS. W. C. HAMMER.

ATTENTION, DISTRICT CHAIRMEN

Cards for the Children's Home offering, which the last Executive Committee meeting ordered purchased, have been received, and are ready for distribution. To save postage, I am asking each District Chairman to find out from the pastors in her district how many cards will be needed, one for each church. Send me the number, and I will forward the cards, which each District Chairman will distribute as needed.

One side of the card has printed on it: "NEXT SUNDAY CHILDREN'S HOME SUNDAY." On the other side is printed: "THIS IS CHILDREN'S HOME SUNDAY." We want these used in each church on the Sunday before and the Sunday on which the offering for the Children's Home is taken. We believe it will stimulate giving to the Home. I am asking your co-operation in getting out these cards. Please do not delay. The need of getting more money for the Home is imperative.

MRS. C. W. BATES,
Children's Home Sec.

"If any joy has blessed our home,
If any gift has made life sweet,
For answered prayer, for light in gloom
Come lay a gift at His dear feet
For friends on earth who share your love
For friends safe in the home above
Thank God in this fine way."

Many requests have come to me for programs for Thank Offering services for September. I want to explain, our Mission Board has issued a program which is in the September Missionary Record. The privilege of getting out a program is not mine but must come through the Board of Missions, or use your own ideas or plans. I suggest a short interesting program with all the women of the church present at a home or the church or where you may have a speaker, good reader, special music or a playlet. Open Blessing boxes, make an offering, tell how you earned your Thank-Offering money and the blessings you have received. Either one or two of the above named can be made interesting. You might have a social hour afterward, while light refreshments are being served.

Second, I have no literature, but write Mrs. D. S. Coletrane, Greensboro, N. C., who is secretary of literature; she can perhaps help you.

Third, I only have the Thank-Offering boxes which I shall be glad to send you free, one for each woman member of your church, which could last from one Thank-Offering service to another, box to be opened each time and money given is as her Thank-Offering. Also I have small envelopes to be given each member of the Sunday school and church just preceding the public service. They are to put their offering into these envelopes and hand them in to the one in charge of their department who will then turn it in at the public service.

Fourth, on the Woman's Missionary page of the M. P. Herald of the December 31, 1931, issue you will note the duties of secretary of Thank-Offering. Please look it up, secretaries of Thank-Offering.

Fifth, September Thank-Offering goes for Christian Education. Our N. C. Branch have asked that the Thank-Offering funds be allowed to go on the Minnis fund as last year. I do not know if that has been granted.

Sixth, Money sent to Branch last April for the Thank-Offering service there applies on this year's budget.

MRS. J. W. BOYLES,
N. C. Branch, Sec. of Thank-Offering.
Thomasville, N. C.

Missionary News of Spring Church Charge

On August 11 at Lebanon church an adult missionary society was organized with 15 members. The following ladies were elected as officers: Mrs. Wm. H. Neese, president; Mrs. W. W. Grant, vice-president; Miss Macon Floyd, sec. and Treas. The object of the society is to learn more about our church, study missions, raise money for our local church and for missions, and to learn each other better as sisters in the church.

Yeterday after church a called meeting of the society was held at which time it was decided to hold a short meeting twice a month between the Sunday school and morning service. Much interest was manifest at the meeting and we believe that much good can be done by the ladies. It was decided that each member would give either a chicken or something else of like value at the next meeting. The ladies also decided to give their Sunday eggs for the benefit of the church.

We have a fine group of young people at Lebanon and we hope at an early date to get them organized and lined up for missionary work.

At Pleasant Hill we have the young people and a few not so young, organized into a Christian Endeavor society that meets every Friday night. They are doing a great work and we are proud of them.

We hope to organize the young people at Spring church at an early date. We have a group of fine young people there that should be getting training along missionary lines. Who knows but there may be a missionary or preacher among the number?

Our Circuit Auxiliary is still alive and doing good work.

MRS. Wm. H. NEESE, Aux. Reporter.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas the All-wise and Meciful Master is His infinite wisdom has removed from our midst our beloved friend and brother, Mr. J. E. Moore, knowing He doeth all things well,

Be it Resolved:

First, That we, the members of Moore's Union Memorial association, feel most deeply this separation from one who has labored unceasingly in the interest of the association and has proved his loyalty to the ideals of duty and service to his friends andcommunity.

Second, That we mourn with his bereaved family over the vacant chair in the home and in our association and that we will cherish the memory of his devotion and faithfulness to our organization.

Third, That the influence of his good deeds properly and honestly performed will be everlasting monuments to a life that was truly upright and noble.

Fourth, That a copy of this be sent to the bereaved family, one to be spread upon the minutes, and one to be sent to his church paper for publication.

H. J. STOCKARD,
MRS. MARY G. HARDEN,
Committee.

Noah

Miss Sallie Jane Noah, passed away at her home at Snow Camp August 9, 1932; age 74 years, 2 months and 7 days. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Noah. She was never married and only leaves to mourn her departure one sister and one brother, Miss Mary Noah and C. J. Noah.

She lived a quiet life with her sisters, one of which preceded her to the grave several years ago. Now only her sister is left in the home formerly occupied by the three. She has an interest in our prayers, as it will be terribly lonely at the old home now.

The funeral was preached by the writer and the body placed in the Mt. Hermon cemetery, the family burying ground. The family asked the writer to express the appreciation of the family for the kindness of the many neighbors who administered to their needs and comforts during the illness and death of their loved one. May the Dear Lord bless the loved ones that are left, and feel the loss so keenly.

L. E. MABRY.

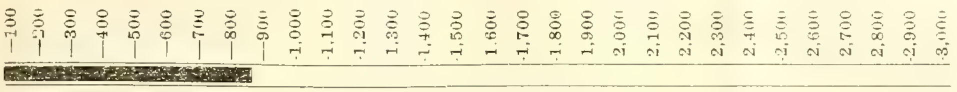
Ball

Mrs. Victoria Jane Wagoner Ball was born March 24, 1866, and died August 25, 1932. She was the daughter of the late Jacob and Jane Wagoner.

In her early life she professed Christ as her Savior and joined Pilgrim Reform church. Later she transferred her membership to Mt. Pleasant Methodist Protestant church of the North Davidson charge. She remained a faithful member here until death. Her passing is a great loss to the community, the church, and especially to the home from which she was taken.

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	15¼
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	4¾
Asheboro	36	16
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	1
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	13¾
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	15½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1
Guilford	43	14½
Halifax	52	13½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¼
High Point, First	72	49
High Point, Lebanon	31	22
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moirah	31	18¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	9¾
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	7¾
Mount Hermon	92	15½
Mount Pleasant	62	23
North Davidson	53	13½
Orange	70	22⅜
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	9½
Reidsville	14	10½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	17
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	9
Tabernacle	41	22
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	22⅜

◆

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

Survived to mourn their loss are her husband, Joseph Ball, and two children, Mrs. Herman Murphy of Martinsville, Va., and Ray Ball of the home. To them we extend our deepest sympathy.

The funeral was conducted at Mt. Pleasant church of North Davidson charge by her pastor, Rev. O. C. Loy, assisted by Brother Cox of Thomasville, a retired Reform minister. Interment took place in the local cemetery.

O. C. LOY.

◆

Edwards

John Henry Edwards died February 22, 1932, age 73 years, 7 months. He was married to Maggie Mendenhall September 15, 1878, and to this union were born 12 children.

He is survived by his widow and six children, Avant, Lebert, Romie, Fennie, Vallie, and Lola, also 22 grand-children and one great-grandchild.

He professed religion when about 30 or 35 years of age, and joined the M. P. church at Mt. Zion 21 years ago. He was a kind, loving father an affectionate husband and a good neighbor, and will be greatly missed in the home and community.

Funeral services conducted by the pastor after which the remains were placed in the Mt. Zion cemetery to await the resurrection.

A. L. HUNTER.

◆

Powell

James H. Powell died June 6, 1932, aged 79 years, 8 months and 6 days. He was twice married, first to Miss Jane Bowman; to this union was born one son; she preceded him in death 22 years ago. He was later married to Mrs. Ellen Creed, who survives. He professed faith in Christ, and joined Mt. Zion M. P. church in early life, where he remained a member until called to the Church triumphant.

He leaves a widow, one son, five grandchildren, one brother, Rev. H. L. Powell, two sisters and a host of other relatives and friends.

He had been in declining health for some time, and often spoke of death, and as being prepared and ready to go.

Funeral services were held by the writer and Brothers Chrisman and Oakley of the Baptist church, after which interment was made in Pilot M. P. cemetery.

A. L. HUNTER.

◆

Pritchett

Brother Isaac Pritchett, aged 88 years, veteran of the Civil War, and for many years a member of Friendship church, came to the end of his journey, and crossed over the river to rest under the shade of the trees, on July 17, 1932. In the death of Brother Pritchett, is noted the passing of the oldest member of this church.

Brother Pritchett, had been almost an invalid for more than ten years, and had not been able to attend church, and since he had become practically deaf, he said it were better that he stay at home. He is survived by nearly 100 children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

He will be remembered by his friends and neighbors because of his sympathy towards all in trouble and sorrow, and because of his Christian piety, which is undisputed by any. A good man is gone, and will be missed.

The funeral was conducted by the writer, assisted by Dr. F. W. Paschal, and interment followed in Apples Chapel Christian church cemetery.

J. L. TROLLINGER.

◆

Hopkins

Tragedy again strikes close to the heart of Fair Grove church, in the sudden and tragic death of Miss Virginia E. Hopkins, who was murdered in her dressing room as she prepared to attend Sunday school, at this church, so dear to her heart. It was on Sunday morning August 21, that the congregation assembled for Sunday school, and failed to see "Miss Jennie" in her accustomed place, not far from the altar table. And not until dusk did they find her body, and when it was found, the shock rocked the entire community and country round-about.

To the mind of this, and other pastors, "Miss Jennie" was always thought of, when Fair Grove was mentioned, for they seemed to be as nearly synonymous as names of persons and places could be. This was proved by the appearance of Revs. J. R. Hutton, W. D. Reed, Drs. A. G. Dixon, Geo. R. Brown, and S. W. Taylor, at the funeral.

In early life "Miss Jennie" was converted, and joined the church at Fair Grove, which was her ancestral church home. And throughout her long life of more than 75 years, she remained true to the church, and her Christ.

She could rightly be called a Puritan of the 20th Century Simplicity of life, in all its aspects, was the outstanding mark of her character. Undaunted belief in the truth of the Bible was her strong staff. Reverence for the Sabbath, compelled her to do nothing on that day that was not an absolute necessity. She always left her cow in the stall on the Sabbath, and the very minimum of other duties were done that day. She spent it in going to church, and reading God's word in her home, where she lived alone. She believed tithing to be the Christian method of church finance, and to this she gave her whole life and thought, having a separate place for the tithe so the personal, and tithe money should not "get mixed, and cause confusion." Preachers loved to stop with her because she made them feel that Christ lived there, and that Christian hospitality ruled supreme.

She is gone from us. Her body terribly bruised and disfigured beyond recognition, but her soul is marching on to the strains of triumphant music of the Upper Kingdom of God's Saints. For hours before the funeral, hundreds of people passed by and viewed the remains as they lay in state at the church. In the mid-afternoon, we gathered, and the funeral under the direction of the writer, assisted by Rev. Geo. L. Curry, was conducted in the church she loved so dearly, and beneath the stately oaks, where lingered pleasant memories of three-quarters of a century, we tenderly laid the body to rest, awaiting the final Resurrection, when the real truth concerning her going shall be made known.

J. L. TROLLINGER.

◆

Mickey

Jacob Mickey died May 8, 1932, aged 61 years, 7 months and 9 days. He was married to Miss Carrie Lee Fulk October, 1892. To this union were born three children all of whom survive: Mrs. J. W. Pack of Germanton; Mrs. W. G. Hester and Odell Mickey of Winston-Salem; also surviving are three brothers, T. O. Mickey of Pinnacle; Julius Mickey of Dalton; and Marcus Mickey of Galax, Va. Three grandchildren, besides a host of other relatives and friends who are left to mourn his going.

He became a Christian and joined Mt. Zion M. P. church early in life and lived a faithful Christian life until the end. Funeral services were conducted by the writer after which the remains were laid to rest in Shiloh Baptist cemetery.

A. L. HUNTER.

◆

RECEIPTS FOR THE COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Sunday Schools

High Point, First	$6.00
Burlington, First	6.00
Gillburg, Vance	2.00
Elbaville, Mocksville	2.00
Mt. Lebanon, Randleman	3.00
Melton's Grove, Rockingham	2.00
Midway, Shady Grove-Midway	2.00
Julian, Tabernacle	2.00

Christian Endeavor Societies

Fair Grove, Why Not	$2.00
Mizpah, Haw River	2.00

J. CLYDE AUMAN, Treas.

◆

—Readers will be pained to read that our good Sister Kernodle of Reidsville has had to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE - $2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

—Rev. H. L. Isley is on Littleton charge this week assisting Pastor Bingham in a meeting.

We announce with pleasure the addition to our personnel of Mr. James M. Simpson, of Grace Church, who is abundantly qualified to render sympathetic service in times of bereavement.

STANSBURY & RACKLEY
FUNERAL SERVICE, Inc.

301 Church St. Phone 5232
GREENSBORO, N. C.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Modern, Fire-Proof, Well-Equipped Buildings

$380.00, Total cost of dormitory student for Matriculation Fee, Tuition, Room and Board.
$150.00, Total cost for Day Student

Methodist Protestant Owned and Operated

Standard "A" Grade

Courses leading to A.B. and B.S. degree in English, History, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Language, Science and Chemical Engineering, Education, Home Economics, Business Administration, Religious Education and Music

The Place for Methodist Protestant Boys and Girls

For further information address

HIGH POINT COLLEGE - - - HIGH POINT, N. C.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., SEPTEMBER 15, 1932 NUMBER 44

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Lifting the Depression

He was but a babe in arms,
Troubled sore with life's alarms:
Mother's kiss in course of day
Many times drove fear away.

Little Mary tore her dress,
Found herself in keen distress:
Passing lady pinned the rent,
Sent her on with mind content.

Young soul suffered keenest pain
Caused by slander's foulest stain:
Friend came in and told the truth,
Bringing joy to troubled youth.

Honest man of slender means
Trembled much behind the scenes:
Business man of cash and soul
Paid him out and made him whole.

Guilty soul by sin oppressed
Nowhere finds a place of rest:
Christian tells of Jesus' way,
Makes him happy every day.

Quickly will depression yield
When we all shall take the field:
By each one uplifting one
All the task may soon be done.

◆

Liquor Question Not Our Only Moral Question

This has been said recently by several persons in prominent position. It sounds like an apology for disregarding or neglecting the liquor traffic. But where is the logic of such an argument? Is an evil to be ignored because it is one of a group of evils? Will giving free rein or license to the sale of liquor restrain any other evil? Do not all moral evils spring from the same spirit of lawlessness and should not government shape its measures to suppress all cognizable evils?

◆

Quadruple Tragedy

You know about it and have no need that any one tell you of the four new coffins and four new graves. Such awful events invite to silence. One knows not what to say or think. We cannot but feel that efforts provoked by a very bad state of affairs have made things far worse. We would spread a veil of profound pity over all in any way involved in this disaster.

N. C. Anti-Saloon League

This body is in session in Greensboro this week, attended by representative members from different parts of the state. The thought of the convention is expressed in the adoption of the following paper:

"Contrary to the judgment and desires of the dry forces of this country the two great parties have made a political issue of the 18th amendment by incorporating it in their respective platform planks dealing with this question. This imposes upon this convention the inescapable necessity of interpreting those two party planks for the information of the dry forces of both parties in North Carolina. The Democratic plank calls for naked repeal and for wine and beer by modification of the Volstead act without waiting for repeal of the 18th amendment. That much is perfectly clear. The rest of the plank is without any meaning whatever. The framers of that plank were men of intelligence and they knew when they framed it the futility and invalidity of 'urging' the state to be temperate and not to open saloons, and the futility and invalidity of 'demanding' that the federal government 'enable' dry states to protect themselves against importations. They know that the moment the 18th amendment is repealed, under their naked repeal formula, at that moment all authority of the federal government in respect to the control of the liquor traffic practically disappears. Therefore these 'urgent' and 'demandful' gestures must have been for the purpose of making the electorate think that they would have repeal under that formula without the return of the saloon and with federal protection of dry territory. It is our duty to advise the dry forces that this formula is utterly impotent so far as preventing the return of the saloon and the protection of dry territory are concerned and that the only meaning the plank has is 'naked repeal, and wine and beer and be quick about it.'

"HUGE MISTAKE" OF REPUBLICANS

"If there are any who conclude from the foregoing that we are going to swallow the Republican plank they will have to think again. The meaning of the Republican plank is perfectly clear. It can mean but one thing. It contains no futile 'urges and invalid demands.' It is for re-submission as a non-partisan issue for modification if you please, restoring to the state the power to deal with the liquor traffic, subject always to the power of the federal government to protect those states whose prohibition may exist and safeguard our citizens every where from the return of the saloon and attendant abuses,' and detaining in the federal government 'power to preserve the gains already made.' That is all there is to the Republi-

(Continued on Page Four)

FINDING OUT THE FACTS

By Luther K. Long

A few days ago Professor Auguste Piccard rose to the height of more than 50,000 feet, nearly ten miles and a half. This is more than a half-mile higher than he ascended in 1931. The ascent was made in a sealed metal gondola borne aloft by a gas balloon.

"One explanatiton"—as stated by the press—"of the purpose of this daring scientist in seeking the stratosphere, or the region above the atmospheric envelop, in which life cannot be sutained without aid, is that he hoped to obtain data to determine whether this universe of which the earth is a unit is in decadence."

Whether or not the data obtained is of any practical value can be determined only after careful study of the records made by the various instruments carried in the ascent. The ordinary mind is incapable of following the intricate calculations and reasonings in such a study. Probably, if it should be ascertained that this universe, of which our earth is a part, is in decadence, the time which it will require for the decay to culminate will be stated in so many millions or billions of years that the whole thing can mean but little or nothing in our short lives.

There is, however, a sort of "decadence" with which we are more intimately concerned. What about the morals and manners of the young? Whither are they tending, and what is the destiny of these young people? Is decadence ahead of them and the society to which they belong?

I went to see a new moving picture a few days ago. It was advertised as a daring and vivid portrayal of the lives of students, boys and girls, in college. It showed them on the campus and in class, in their private rooms and in restaurants, eating and drinking, listening more or less attentively to lectures in class and talking together on the walks. It showed them making love more or less seriously and having misunderstandings, getting into troubles of a serious kind and consulting their teachers. Standards of conduct and rules of right were called in question, and doubt was thrown on the teachings and ways of life of older people. The actors were of the age and appearance to make an observer feel that he was looking upon life as it is, or as it might be, lived in our own day. It was all very realistic.

It did not convince me, however, that the young people are going to the dogs at an unusual rate. Neither did I yield to the suggestion of many persons that prohibition is the cause of all our troubles.

Have you read these words from the report of an address? —"Girls not out of school are to be seen drinking cocktails, champaigne, and liquors. It has become a serious national question that young women should be living on excitement and keep themselves going on drugs and alcohol."

A hard blow at prohibition, that? Oh, no. That is a quotation from a cable dispath reporting a speech made in London, England, referring to English school girls. England, you know, does not have prohibition. Yet liquors seem to be had freely enough by young girls!

J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the National Education Association says: "Conditions in our high schools are much better than before prohibition."

"It all depends upon the parents of the young people—their intelligence, their friendly attitude toward their children, their understanding of the situation, their home life and ideals." I get that response from many parents who have successfully brought up their children; and the same comes from many other parents who are in the midst of the problems of their boys and girls in school and college.

The young have always been reported as going wrong. Alarmists have always been abroad in the land. Let us not take these cryings-out too seriously. Let us be just enough concerned to attend faithfully to our home and family and social and religious business—and all will be well.

◆

REVIVE THY WORK!

A Plea for Penitence and Prayer

M. S. Rice

Metropolitan Church, Detroit, Mich.

I have just been reading the earnest prayer of a prophet in the midst of a trying day. He turned through and out of it all, and called for what he fully believed to be the real deliverance. "Oh Lord! Revive Thy work in the midst of the years!"

Personally I have always believed that the greatest danger involved in any problematic period of life is the spiritual danger. We do not list it on our market reports. We call crisis years the years when stocks and bonds go tumbling in quotations. We are slaves of economics. Keep our markets strong and you cannot write crisis across our day. We, however, have come to realize of late that there is a stifling atmosphere about prosperity which chokes some finer things than mere economics.

Amid all the other crowding perils of this troubled hour through which we have been conscripted to carry the story of human progress, I am sure the spiritual peril is the gravest. It is not now for great civic reforms, and great industrial reforms, and great social reforms, and many more upon which we so easily can persuade folks to spend their enthusiasms, that I am to direct attention. Not that I do not favor the very highest development of every good ideal, but because I am fully convinced that the heart and hope of all good reform in this world lies in a genuine application of spiritual religion to the ways of man. I have been reading some very excellent historical estimates which boldly declare that the Wesleyan revivals actually saved England in that hard day from the very same fate which crushed France in her red revolution. In the light of what had been done, I dare in the face of what needs doing, to declare my faith in the same Gospel they had, and in the same Christ they preached, and in the same salvation they experienced, and in the same triumph they wrought.

There is a waiting place today for a giant figure in the church to appear. We must not walk carelessly now. We must not walk uncertainly. The issue is between God's truth which must be championed by His Church, and ease and indifference, and skepticism, and materialism, and flagrant sin.

We must not be afraid of deserting our calmness. These are enlisting days. There can be no neutrality. We indulge enthusiasm otherwhere, in fact we require it. Enthusiasm among salesmen is made an essential. Why should we cool toward an enthusiasm for God's Kingdom on earth? As someone has said, "Why should a gladiator be sane and St. Paul be mad?" I would say it modestly, and deny all comparisons personal that might seem to be involved in such a statement, but I have come to a time in my ministry when I can at least understand the feelings of splendid old John Knox, when in a perfect agony of soul he cried, "Oh God! Give me Scotland or I die!"

Not long before his death our greatest psychologist, Prof. William James of Harvard, offered a very keen observation upon the condition of our evangelical faith when he said, the true spirit of the church evaporates under those able and rationalistic booklets with which we have in certain quarters begun to evaporate religion in intellectual terms. That is not an exact quotation of the great student but it is the meaning of a very penetrating observation upon a very liable condition.

I am not concerned as to what type the new revival shall be. I am no stickler for form, or phrase, or manner of its propagation. The term "Old time religion" is an easy term to use and a hard term to define. Religion is neither old fashioned nor new fashioned. It is not a question of fashino. It is little concerned with form. We are not doing other things as we used to do them. Why leave the expression of our religion to wear, alone of all our life expressions the old manners and ways of yesterday?

I have a faith in Jesus Christ that cannot be outrun by any generation. I have faith in a Gospel that cannot be laid aside by any problematic conditions that may arise. I am not for a Christianity that would be narrow, and severe, and conceited, and unprogressive. I would, however, have a living, aggressive, passionate church enjoying the communion of a personal Saviour from sin. After having done my best to give consideration to every phase of the present day demand upon the Church, and after having fought my own way through a mass of suggestions in emphasis, I have arrived at a conviction which was most vigorously announced by Dr. Dawson a few years ago in a phrase somewhat thus, "though much may have been shaken in the realm of thought, nothing has been shaken in the realm of experience!" That may not be Dr. Dawson's exact wording, but the meaning is there. I cling to the message of evangelism. The form of utterance may differ, but the manner of statement is not the issue. I am far more concerned about the actual salvation of the soul than I am to discuss the speculations about truth which after all may hold interest for but a very few and hold no ultimate help even to them. This I know, the power of Jesus Christ does save folks, and that is enough vital knowledge in itself to command all the power I possess and to consume my best energy in application.

We need not look afar to see a Nero fiddling while Rome burns. There are vast numbers today making less harmony than fiddling, as with some shallow thing they are seeking personal joy, while a world all about them is in the immediate peril of tumult and strife.

I would call, from the most compelling conviction I have ever known, for a new and consuming passion for the evangel, to come over the Church. Enough for us to know that we have been entrusted with the message that will bring the broken hearted and the sinful to a sufficient deliverance. As never before, in my all too little ministry, do I see and appreciate the meaning of this commission. I have never doubted its worth. I have never questioned its surety. I have never feared its ability. I do now see it however as I never did see it heretofore, as truly underlying all the stability of government and the hope of every reform. These are days for the declarations of the great fundamentals of our beliefs, shorn of all our bickering contentions. Nations are in upheaval. Whole systems are in revolutionary change. Governments and law and order are in perilous criticism and protest. Revolution is no word to be carelessly handled about this world now. What we need is a gracious and genuine revival of the religion of Jesus Christ, a religion that will plant the life of God in the hearts of men.

"Awake! Awake! put on thy strength O arm of the Lord." We are waiting a consuming devotion to the task in which faith is unalterably set. Devotion to the faith has been the characteristic that has marked the outstanding ones in revived days. Bernard of Clairvaux, Anselm of Canterbury, Francis of Assisi, Luther, Knox, Wesley; these may not have agreed in many of the details of doctrine, but in devotion they were in perfect step. What would avail a noble ideal to a nerveless unheroic generation. But if the things we preach are true there can be no excuse for anything other than the most devoted work for salvation of a lost world. Our times we know are disturbed. We are troubled by vast and clamoring problems which will either work out our deliverance from all trifling matters that have confused us from the real truth, or will plunge us into abject failure. The very peril of this demanding hour is the irresistible challenge to our faith. it is not enough for us to have a sound system or social economics, important though that be. Well stated creeds and high-idealed politics are not enough. The very most practical and virile principles will weaken and faint unless they be motived in a character unique and irresistible because of an unbroken communion with God. This world never needed Jesus Christ more than now. That great deliverance will not be supplied by reading the splendid stories of the tireless characters who met the calls of other days. Today, when every street corner is made an orator's platform for the proclamation of some social theory: Today, when the press of the world is pouring out a flood of varied suggestions and speculations: Today when enthusiasm extreme stamps men and women who eagerly seek every ear into which to cry their proposed doctrines: Today when plastic nations and whole races of people are lying exposed to influences that can impress them: Surely at an hour like this, we will not dare to fail as Christians to be solicitously loyal to our faith.

God knows I am ashamed and sorry for the little, the all too little, I have thus far been able to render Him as the fruit of my years of service in His pulpit, entrusted as I have been with the Gospel! I would, however, pledge you, even as I call you, that we may all join hearts and hnads to make sure no lack of union and effort shall be cause for any larger failure.

THE HERALD CAMPAIGN

To Subscribers: I appeal to you to look at your label on this paper, if your label shows a date that is past, your subscription is due for renewal and in that case I urge you to renew at once. From the publisher's standpoint this is a very serious matter. Just to see how it is imagine yourself in the publisher's position for awhile. The paper going out regularly but the income too small to cover expenses, with subscribers failing to renew their subscriptions and the financial situation getting worse week after week. Please therefore hand your renewal to the Subscription Chairman for your church or to your Pastor. Please do not fail to renew your subscription, to the Herald, promptly on its expiration.

To Subscription Chairmen: Please work all your members for new subscriptions and all old subscribers for renewals. Conference time will soon be here and I am asking you to do your utmost to raise your quota and ask that you please start a new campaign for subscriptions immediately.

To Pastors: To help out the Herald subscription campaign, could you not arrange to put on a program of one Sunday for each church in which the program for the day be built around the Herald. The young people might be called into this program and interested in the success of the campaign. Anyway the more that is said about the Herald the better it will be advertised and the more subscriptions will be available. A little help from every Pastor will work wonders in an increased subscription list.

E. L. Douglas, Chairman,
Directing Committee.

CLEAR THOUGHTS AND ACCURATE STATEMENTS

Inaccurate and misleading statements usually result from confused and illogical thinking.

It is a good habit, as one reads from day to day, to make a note of every specially clear thought effectively expressed.

By turning the thought over and over, examining it from all sides and angles and expressing it in as many ways as possible, it becomes one's own. Kindred thoughts are sure to appear, and may be linked together. It is thus that the number and range of one's ideas are increased and the power of expression grows.

I have not in a long time come across so fine a bit of clear religious thinking and effective writing as that by Rev. Daniel Bliss, given below. Dr. Bliss was for many years an American Board missionary in Syria, going out in 1856. For thirty-six years of his long life he served as President of the Syrian Protestant College at Beirut, Syria. Dr. Bliss wrote in his Reminiscences:

"Some people have no clear idea in matters of religion as to what is cause and what is effect.

"Some seem to think that God loves mankind because Christ came and died for them. Just the opposite is true, for God so loved the world that He gave His only Son to us.

"Some think that God loves us because we love Him. The opposite is true: we love God because He first loved us.

"Some seem to think that the Atonement made a change in God's attitude towards us; God changeth not, and the Atonement was not made to change Him but to change us.

"Some seem to think that God was angry and Christ came to reconcile Him; Paul says the opposite is true: God was in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself."

Luther K. Long.

N. C. Anti-Saloon League

(Continued from Page One)

can plank, free from meaningless 'urges' and 'demands' and in comparison with the Democratic plank is far more protective of the purposes of the 18th amendment, but failing to indicate just how these things are going to be accomplished, and making the huge mistake of initiating in a political convention a non-partisan constitutional amendment for whose congressioal initiation our constitution already provides, and in dallying with the idea of changing the constitution instead of standing squarely for its preservation and enforcement."

The statement contained a declaration of faith in a younger generation with a "mental habit of basing their conclusions on the facts" and returning to the question of politics continued: "We, the dry forces of North Carolina, are opposed to the untried convention plan of ratification as proposed by the platforms of the two major parties. Let the dry forces see to it that the men they vote for to represent us in Washington and Raleigh, senators, congressmen, and members of the legislature are loyal, upstanding, courageous defenders of the 18th amendment." The advice in regard to Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hoover was freer of adjectives. "As to the candidates for President," said the statement of principles, "our advice is to carefully study their respective records and their utterances from time to time, and for each citizen to vote for the man in whose hands he believes the cause for prohibition will be safest."

—Rev. J. R. Anderson is preaching twice a day with great acceptability to growing audiences in Calvary church. He believes in personal salvation.

—If you are lounging around indulging in self-pity, shake off that terrible mental malady. Feeling sorry for yourself is like taking slow poison. There are millions of people worse off than you—millions.—Van Amburgh.

—Brother David Glass of Calvary church recently returned from Europe where he spent nearly three months in visiting principal cities and countries and special places of interest. He inspected great cathedrals. He looked into the mouth of a volcano. He saw relics of antiquity said to date back to the time of Christ, though he did not believe everything told him. He brought back a number of choice souvenirs and European coins and has memories enough to furnish topics of conversation for a long time to come. His friends are congratulating him.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

At Home

Brother J. C. Russell is at home again. His stay in the hospital was shortened much beyond what he expected, owing to his rapid recovery. He writes that he was greatly comforted by the nearness of God to him during his affliction, and for that, and the prayers that were offered for his restoration, he wishes us to publicly acknowledge his gratitude. It is a blessed privilege to cast all your care upon Him, and do it with the assurance that He cares for us. It is comforting, too, to know that others are remembering us at a throne of mercy in times of our special need. We trust that Brother Russell may soon be entirely well, and back again with his churches for the work of these closing weeks.

Vance

The third quarterly conference of this charge was held on Saturday, September 10, at Gillburg church. The attendance of officials was not large, though each of the five churches was represented. The pastor reported that meetings had been held at four churches, and with good results. The church rolls have been increased by 21 accessions, with others yet to join. In the main the organizations of the work appear to be functioning well. The C. E. society of Spring Valley has lapsed into a state of inactivity, but there is hope that it will be revived soon. Preparation is being made by the pastor for the organization of a society at Flat Rock church. The Auxiliaries at Spring Valley and Flat Rock are active, with special attention being given at the latter place to the organization of the young people. At these two churches considerable work has been done on the church grounds. Grass seeds will be sown later in the fall. We heartily commend these churches for their efforts to beautify the church premises. The spiritual condition of the charge appears to be good, and a normal condition of progress seems in evidence. We noted with pleasure what seems to be an effort of the pastor to enrich the worship programs of the churches. Here, as on other charges, finances are much in arrears. However much can be done in these remaining two months. We were assured by the conference that very faithful effort would be made at all of the churches to raise the last possible dollar, both on salary and in budgets. The pastor indicated his purpose to make this an object of his special efforts during this closing period. We trust that best results may attend his labors and that of his people and that final reports may show that Vance charge has had a good year.

On Sunday, September 11, it was our pleasure to be at Harris' Chapel and to preach in the 11 o'clock service. The occasion was the 75th anniversary of the church, combined with a Home-coming and Memorial day. Rev. H. L. Powell, a former pastor, preached the memorial sermon in the afternoon. The attendance at each service filled the house. From its beginning, which dates back to four years before the Civil War, this church numbered in its membership leading people of the community; that is still true. As would be expected in a period of 75 years, many have served their day and generation through this church and have passed on to their rewards; others have been raised up to take their places and by their faithfulness the church has been kept steadily engaged in its God-given mission and certainly no one is wise enough to calculate the good that has been accomplished during these 75 years of service. We trust that this special day may provide inspiration and lead to consecration for present tasks, and that increasing good may crown the labors of God's people here as the years go by. We enjoyed our two days on this charge. Pastor Braxton is giving thoughtful and zealous attention to his work, and has the hearty co-operation of his people. We are indebted to him for his kindness while on the charge, and to Brother Britt and his family for the hospitality of their home. Since we were there last Sister Britt has gone to her reward. The family has our sympathy. There is much to comfort them. Sister Britt was a good woman.

Henderson

According to appointment we preached here Sunday night, September 11. The service was well attended and we were helped in our effort to preach by sympathetic interest. Our visit here revived many pleasant recollections of former days when it was our privilege to serve the church as pastor. We noted many in the congregation who sat under our ministry then; it was pleasing to find them still faithful and active in the work. The church has recently suffered the loss by death of two of its most faithful and highly esteemed women: Sister G. B. Harris and Sister A. E. Smerdon. They will be greatly missed. We extend sympathy both to their loved ones and to the church.

Brother Gerringer, the pastor, is serving his first year here. He and his excellent family have been cordially received by the church and the community, and the work under his leadership is prospering. The general depressed attitude of the people, growing out of economic conditions, is somewhat reflected in the church here, as at other places, and especially is this true regarding finances. However, this is only on the surface. The people know that God has the church in his keeping and that his overshadowing presence is with his own. In that confidence they will press the work that He has committed to their hands. Our people at this place are fortunate in having no church debt. This fact should encourage them in paying salary and meeting budget obligations.

For years this has been one of our well-organized churches and all organizations are functioning with usual regularity and efficiency. The women of the church have always maintained effective organizations, and this work means much to the local cause and to conference and denominational programs. It was a great pleasure to us to worship in this service, and to meet the people again whose friendship we so highly esteem. Some were kept away from the service because of illness; we hope and pray for them a speedy recovery. For the hospitality of their homes we are indebted to Brother

Gerringer and his family and to Brother G. B. Harris and his family. In the latter home we missed the presence of Mrs. Harris. May God make up to the family, in his own good way, what they have lost in the going of this noble woman.

A Week of Penitence and Prayer

The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America has designated October 2-8 as a week of Penitence and Prayer to be observed in all evangelical churches throughout the United States. The need of this is suggested by the "grave difficulties confronting the nation and the world." I earnestly urge upon our churches the observance of this week. Printed helps can be secured from our Publishing House at 516 North Charles St., Baltimore, Md., at $1.00 per 100 copies. Write today for sample, and plan to observe this week.

Appointments

September 13-14.—Greenville.
September 15-16.—Enfield.
September 18-19.—Creswell.
September 25.—Love Joy.
September 26.—Meeting of Conference Program Committee.
September 30.—Spartanburg.
October 1-2.—Mecklenburg Charge.
October 3.—Charlotte.
October 5-6.—Midland Charge.
October 9.—Tabernacle Charge.
October 16.—Weaverville Charge.
October 17-18.—Democrat Charge.
October 19.—Asheville.

"Have faith in God."

S. W. Taylor.

TODAY

Make this day one of painstaking, earnest, useful work.

Apply your best thought and energy to the special work in hand. Check every tendency to waste time or effort.

Stimulate your best powers into use. Observe your habits of thought, and promptly correct any deficiencies. Improve your ways and methods at every possible opportunity.

Combine energetic work with strong inherent faith. Believe that you are capable and worthy of great success. Rely upon yourself; trust your own powers; keep your mind constructive.

Faith is the mainspring of life. Expect much and you will be more likely to achieve much. Put your faith to the test by attempting difficult things.

Repeat the following statements and apply them to today's work:

1. I devote my best thought and energy to the work of the day.
2. I correct every undesirable thought habit.
3. I have implicit faith in my own powers.
4. I fill the day with diligent work.
5. I expect and demand much of myself.
6. I cultivate industry and self-reliance.
7. I aspire to exceptional achievement.

Grenville Kleiser.

A CASE OF PERSONAL EVANGELISM

Let a single incident illustrate the simplest form of evangelism.

It is at the close of a morning service in a country church.

The stranger that has preached approaches a young man of eighteen, learns his name and then frankly and kindly says, "George, are you a Christian man?"

"Not yet, sir."

"George, if you knew exactly what Christ wanted you to do to get started, to take the first real step in the Christian life, would you do it?"

"Yes, sir, I think I would."

"Sit down a minute," and then in a few moments he explains what it means to accept Christ as Saviour and as Lord.

"Now, George, understanding the matter thus far, are you willing?"

"I am."

They bowed together, and George prayed thus: "O Lord Jesus, I have not been serving You up till now; but from this time I will count that I belong to You. Please help me. Amen."

"George, do you want to keep this a dead secret?"

"Why, no."

The pastor is called over, and George walks up to him, and with tears of joy says, "Pastor, I have given my heart to Jesus; I am going to work for Him now."

That was evangelism.

Simple? Yes. It required two things: First, a genuine loving interest in George on the part of the minister; and, second, a clear enough knowledge of Christ and of Christ's saving relation to men to state it so George could get hold of it. Both of these things are within reach of the ordinary disciple.—The P. H. Advocate.

THE OIL THAT FAILED

"Maeterlinck tells of a lighthouse that stood in a village by the sea. Here dwelt humble fisher-folk. One winter when their season's catch had been poor, their cottages were dark, because they lacked money to buy oil for their lamps. The keeper of the lighthouse, loving them, gave them of the oil that was intended for the great lantern. Thus used, the supply failed, the lighthouse was dark, and great ships were shattered upon the rocks. Oh, the tragedy that lies in giving one's oil for secondary needs!"

The Church is a lighthouse, too, and Christ's great commission to His Church is to send forth the light of Truth to the ends of the earth. Time, money and energy constitute the oil needed to keep lighted those ocean channels over which the Gospel must be carried to the ends of the earth. What a tragedy that this precious substance should be diverted to secondary and even selfish uses!

Instead of indulging ourselves in ways which under ordinary circumstances might be permissible, in times of distress and general privation we should deny ourselves that God's great lighthouse of salvation might not fail and souls and civilizations like ships, go down in the dark.—The C. U. Herald.

OUR STORY PAGE

JIMMIE'S DOLLAR

"Look, mother," cried Jimmie, running into the room where his mother sat sewing. "Uncle Tom gave me a whole big dollar for my birthday."

"How splendid," said mother. "What will you do with so much money?"

"I think I'll get a new wagon," said Jimmie. Then the door-bell rang and mother went downstairs. By and by Jimmie followed her, and found her talking to a ragged woman with a thin, sad face. Mother gave the woman a glass of sweet, cold milk to drink out on the shady porch, and then mother hurried into the house.

"Who is she?" asked Jimmie.

"A poor woman that we do not know," answered mother, "but she is troubled and we can help her."

"But she has dirty clothes on," whispered Jimmie. "She isn't one of our friends."

"Jesus says that everyone is our friend," said mother. "Jesus helped everyone. He loves and cares for everyone.'

"Would Jesus know that I love Him if I gave the poor woman part of my dollar?" asked Jimmie.

"I'm sure He would," said mother. So the shining dollar was changed into four quarters, and Jimmie slipped one into the poor woman's hand, saying: "This is part of my birthday dollar. I want you to have it because I love Jesus and He loves you.'

The woman's face looked suddenly happy. "I surely must love Him if He sends me such friends as you," she said.—The Sunbeam.

◆

MARY AND HER FATHER

"For there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

In one of the western States a little girl was sent to a Sunday School. It happened soon after that the father of this family was awakened to feel his sinfulness and danger. He became very anxious about his soul, and one night, at the midnight hour, he arose from his bed in agony. He begged his wife to pray for him, as he said he did not know how to pray for himself. She said she could not pray any better than he could.

"What will I do then?"

"Perhaps," said she, "our little Mary can pray."

So the father went up to her room, where she was fast asleep, and took her up from her bed in his arms, and bore her downstairs, and putting her gently down he said to her with great earnestness, "Mary, can you pray!"

"Oh, yes, father, I can pray!"

"Will you kneel down and pray for your father?"

"Yes, I will pray for you."

So she kneeled, put up her little hands, and prayed for her father in her own language, asking God to save him for Jesus Christ's sake. When she had finished, her father said to Mary, "Can you read in the Bible?" "Oh, yes, I can read! Shall I read to you in my Bible?"

"Yes, read to me."

She began at the third chapter of the Gospel of John, until she came to the verse, "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life."

"Oh, Mary, is that there?"

"Yes, father, it is here. Jesus Christ said so."

"Well, that is just what your poor father needs."

"Yes, father, and hear the rest of it—'God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life'."

"Oh! that is for me, just such as me," and from that day the father went on his way rejoicing in Christ Jesus with great joy.—The Christian Courier.

◆

SHINE JUST WHERE YOU ARE

Don't waste your time in longing
  For bright, impossible things;
Don't sit supinely, yearning
  For the swiftness of angel wings;
Don't spurn to be a rushlight
  Because you are not a star,
But brighten some bit of darkness
  By shining just where you are.

There is need of the tiniest candle
  As well as the garnish sun;
The humblest deed is ennobled
  When it is worthily done;
You may never be called to brighten
  The darkest regions afar;
So fill, for the day, your mission
  By shining just where you are.

—Publisher Unknown.

◆

WHAT IS A FRIEND

At a social function the conversation drifted to the subject of friendship, and an athlete said: "In my opinion, a friend is a balancing-pole that enables us to walk the tightrope of life without falling."

Said a physician: "I believe a friend may be likened to a soft bandage and a soothing ointment for the cuts and bruises of life."

"A friend is a golden link in the chain of life," said a jeweler.

To a botanist it seemed that "a friend is a vine that clings to us and hides the discrepancies and rough places of life," to which a florist added: "Yes, and the greater the ruin, the closer a friend clings."

A woman in mourning responded: "A friend is the one who comes in when the whole world goes out."

"The best Friend of all," said a white-haired man of eighty, "is Jesus, who said, 'Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friend'." -Illustrative Incidents.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. N. HOWARD
President of High Point College C. E. Society

Sept. 18: SOME "OTHER GODS" TODAY

Scripture Text—Ex. 20:3; 1 John 5:21.

There is in every man the inherent quality of worship. The heart of man does not find satisfaction within itself and reaches out for other attachments. Often, however, the wrong thing is embraced and man becomes an idol worshiper. We call the people, who have never heard of Christ, pagans, but there are a great many pagans in "Christian America." The true God is one who refuses to be pushed into place: "Thou shalt have no other Gods before Me." God has a holy jealousy for the love of His children and demands such from them.

This is not the first generation which has turned to the gods of its day. We find that in the days of Noah the people continued to eat and drink and enjoy pleasures even when the storm clouds hung heavily in the west. Again the people tried to build a tower which would reach to heaven. This idol worship of their own ability and genius brought confusion and disaster. The gods of their neighbors continuously enticed the Israelites to turn from God and go after the gods of the Hittites, the Amorites, and the Philistines. We need not wonder then that the hearts of many are now deceived and their worship is sold to secondary values.

Christianity has ever opposed false gods and false religions. There is no compromise, active resistance is the only possible act in such a case. Some people propose a "religious hash" made up of the best of all the religions. Without boastful pride but with the tested truth of accumulated experience and faith, the religion of Christ is the only true faith. Bound up in Christ are the indestructible values of life which can justify man's faith and give a satisfying anchorage to his hope and desire.

Many modern pagans exonerate themselves by saying that they have no graven images or likenesses of animals and humans. We see no golden calves, yet we see those who place the pursuit of gold above all else; we have no idol of pleasure, yet people seek it to the exclusion of God; we see no worshipers of the Statue of Liberty, yet many people are rationalistic devotees. We cannot free ourselves from a pagan title while such continues. Pleasure is the idol of many hearts. The eternal pleasures have been sacrificed for momentary joys which die with the stimulated emotions and leave an empty, depressed feeling. Great groups of joy-riders on Sunday morning and half-filled churches attest the worship of pleasure. The drink habit, sexual indulgence, the movie craze and other vices of the day show an increasing pursuit of momentary joys. The love of money has become with many people an adoration.

The rich man who pulled down his old barns and built new ones because of the abundant harvests finds a parallel in modern life in those who forget God in the desire for wealth, nice homes, fine automobiles, and extravagant dress. The love of money has brought its share of spiritual depression. The desire for social prominence and family advancement has often eclipsed the soul's desire for God. An overflowing desire for political power has often drowned the sensibility of the rights of others and the regard for public integrity.

"Benedict Arnold was one of the most dashing, daring, and successful generals of the early years of the American Revolution. But he had an ambition to attain supreme command. He chafed under restraint, becoming jealous of others who were promoted over his head. Finally his ambition blotted out loyalty, good judgment, honor, and God. He betrayed his country to avenge his thwarted ambition, and brooded for his remaining days in the obscurity of a London lodging house. The Saratoga battle monument in New York state has the bust of a leading general who participated in the famous battle in each of the several niches. One niche is vacant, without any bust or inscription. Benedict Arnold, a real hero at Saratoga, has received this empty and tragic recognition. Here is the place he earned on the battlefield, but lost later because he worshipped the false god of ambition."

God refuses a secondary place and those who offer only this lose contact with Him and are rejected. The false gods cannot be placed in heart without a blighting effect. "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon," the choice is ours. "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve."

Quotable Poetry

GOD OF THE EARTH, THE SKY, THE SEA

God of the earth, the sky, the sea!
Maker of all above, below!
Creation lives and moves in Thee,
Thy present life through all doth flow.

Thy love is in the sunshine's glow,
Thy life is in the quick'ning air;
When lightnings flash and storm winds blow,
There is Thy power; Thy law is there.

We feel Thy calm at ev'ning's hour,
Thy grandeur is the march of night;
And, when Thy morning breaks in power,
We hear Thy word, "Let there be light."

—Longfellow.

LOWDERMILK FAMILY REUNION

The annual reunion of the Lowdermilk families will be held this year on Sunday, September 25th, at Flag Spring church, seven miles below Asheboro, N. C., on route 70. By marriage the Lowdermilk family is very widely connected with many other families in Randolph, Guilford, Alamance, Chatham and other counties of the state and this year a special effort is being made to have all the family connections present for the reunion. Most of the present Lowdermilks and their relatives trace back to Jacob and John Lowdermilk who are named in the first N. C. Census of 1790. These had come down from Pennsylvania where Gottfried Lowdermilk, an ancestor, had landed at Philadelphia in 1730, to be followed by William Lowdermilk in 1731, and Jacob Lowdermilk in 1732. The family name was originally spelled Lautermilch. The Lowdermilk family is now well scattered throughout the United States but all trace back to a common ancestry coming from the Palatinate region of the Rhine river at an early date.

The reunion this year is in charge of A. C. Lowdermilk of Seagrove, N. C., who is president of the family association, and he has secured as special speaker for the occasion Dr. W. T. Whitsett of Whitsett who will deliver an historical address that is expected to carry much interesting information. This address will be at 11 a. m. A picnic dinner will be one of the features of the day, with special music, short talks by visitors, etc.

A cordial invitation is being extended to all who are interested to be present, and a large gathering is assured. Material is being collected year by year for a complete history of this interesting family, and these reunions grow in value and interest from year to year.

Suggested Program

Prelude.
Hymn: "O, Worship the King."
Scripture: Exod. 20:3; 1 John 5:21.
Prayer.
Introduction of topic by leader.
Hymn: "O, Master Let Me Walk With Thee."
Topic discussion.
Poem: "God of the Earth, the Sky, the Sea."
Doxology.
Benediction.

Under topic discussion it would add variety to the program to personify such false gods as pleasure, wealth, nationalism, ambition, success, or power. Give the evils of defying these and the suggested use of each.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas, Higt Point First	$11.00
Mrs C. B. Welch, High Point Lebanon.	5.00
T. E. Stafford, Mt. Pleasant	3.50
Rev. J. A. Burgess	1.00
Mrs D. W Sides, Friendship	100
Giver of Subscription
R. T. Pickens	2.00

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

FOURTEENTH DISTRICT

An all-day mission study class will be held at Pleasant Hill church Thursday, September 29, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. The devotional will be in charge of Miss Alma Cox. Mrs. W. B. Speas will review the Foreign Book and Dr. J. E. Pritchard the Home Book. Our chairman of Districts, Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, will be with us and make a talk; all the ladies will want to meet and hear her. We are anxious for a large delegation from each church. Whether you have an Auxiliary or not come and bring a light lunch. The men are always welcome at our district meetings. We are counting on the pastor to help get the crowd.

MRS. T. L. SPEAS,
District Chairman.

ATTENTION DISTRICT NO. 1

There will be a District Meeting of the women in District No. 1 at Enfield church, Thursday, September 29th. Please plan accordingly and come, each person bringing lunch. A complete program will appear in next week's Herald. Dist. No. 1 is composed of the following charges: Enfield, Whitakers, Speights' Chapel, Roseneath, Littleton, Spring Church, Greensville, Halifax and Creswell.

MRS. J. H. CUTCHIN, Chm.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

I have copies of the Thank-offering program as appeared in our Missionary Record, September issue, which I will be glad to send to any Auxiliary or church who will drop me a card with your address. These programs are free, and all ready for you, just for the asking. The offering received will go to the college within area where occasion is observed, so our High Point college will benefit therefrom, and certainly this appeals to us all. Let's do what we can to make this Thank-offering service a big success.

Do not send money to me, but to the N. C. Branch Treasurer, Mrs. S. W. Taylor, High Point. .

I would appreciate a report from you of your service, results, etc.

MRS. J. W. BOYLES, Sect. T. O.
Thomasville, N. C.

THANK-OFFERING FOR CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

The General Conference in May passed a motion which gave to Christian Education the fall thank-offering of the Woman's Auxiliary. An effort is being made this quadrennium to personalize the budget, the February thank-offering is to be given to our missionary interests while the fall thank-offering goes to Christian Education. Both thank-offerings will be credited to the Branch budget.

A letter from Dr. Stephenson today gives us the information that our September thank-offering is further personalized in that it is to go to the denominational college in the particular area from which the money comes. Thus, the money given as thank-offering in the North Carolina Branch will go to High Point college. This being true, certainly the women of the church will have a very special interest in making a thank-offering.

We are asking each Auxiliary to hold a public Christian Education thank-offering service sometime in September.

Mrs. Thompson appealed to our Board of Christian Education to provide program material for the September thank-offering for Christian Education. The Board of Christian Education delegated to me the task of preparing this material. After conferring with Mrs. Thompson, Dr. Stephenson and the members of the Executive Committee of our Board of Christian Education, the pageant which appears in the September issue of the Missionary Record was prepared. It is published in the September issue rather than the October issue for the special benefit of North Carolina since our fall thank-offering is held in September rather than November.

If you do not have enough copies of the Record in your Auxiliary, Mrs. Thompson, 516 North Charles Street, Baltimore, Md., will be glad to supply you with additional copies. You may also secure from her copies of our college songs and yells.

The pageant is so flexible that an Auxiliary can give the whole or any part of it. If the prologue, the three acts and the three episodes will make too heavy a program, then you can give just the three acts, or the three episodes. Other program suggestions for Christian Education Day through the Auxiliary are given in the September issue of the Record.

Please, may we urge that we not only make a thank-offering for Christian Education, but that we present a Christian Education program to our people at this time.

MRS. H. W. MAIER,
Sec. of Christian Education.

NOTICE TO PASTORS

Credential cards were mailed out the latter part of last week. I am hoping that before this appears in print all of them will have come back. If you didn't get yours, send me a postal card with the name and address of the delegate and the name of the charge. Thank you. And don't forget the Journal money.

C. W. BATES, Secretary.

—Rev. R. A. Hunter assisted Rev. Robert Short in a meeting at Denton last week.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Mt. Lebanon S. S., Randleman	$ 3.55
Maple Springs S. S., Forsyth	5.00
N. C. Branch Woman's Auxiliary, per Mrs. S. W. Taylor	84.32
Concord, Saxapahaw	1.65
Level Cross S. S., Randleman	1.00
Union Chapel, Granville	9.30
First Church S. S., Winston-Salem	7.73
Mizpah, Haw River	1.20
Pleasant Hill S. S., W. Forsyth	2.50
Miss Bertha DeLoff, Lexington, personal	1.00
Enfield S. S.	3.90
Friendship Station	3.12
Whitakesr Chapel, Enfield	2.55
Mt. Pleasant S. S., Mt. Pleasantt	6.70
Grace Church S. S.	8.08
First Church S. S., High Point	26.34
Siler City S. S.	3.15
Graham S. S., caring for child	30.00
Reidsville S. S.	10.00
New Hope, Vance	2.00
Friendship S. S., Mt. Hermon	20.00
Efland S. S., Orange	2.75
Gillbury, Vance	2.00
Gibsonville S. S., and birthday offering	7.37
Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Pickett, Graham per..	2.00
Mt. Hermon S. S., and program by Children	31.16
Belmont, Mt. Hermon, program by Children	14.15

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mrs. Minnie P. Harrell, High Point, two dresses. Mrs. W. C. Mengel, High Point, one dress, one shirt, and two handkerchiefs. Friends, Takoma Park, Md., one coat, nine dresses, two sweaters, two scarfs, two hats and two suits pajams.

We are profoundly thankful for the offerings recorded in this report. It cheers us on in the work when thus remembered. We have been taking our children out for pragrams a great deal this season. Yesterday was one of our best days. Note the good offerings made at both Mt. Hermon and Belmont. Other good offerings came in. This helped to pay freight on coal for the winter, and we hope to pay for the coal this week. Freight was the highest ever this year.

Just ahead of us comes clothing and shoes and school supplies for the fall.

Farm Produce

Our farming force is gathering in the fall crops rapidly. When this week is gone all our hay will be in and all the ensilage will be in the silo. The crop is a bit short because of dry weather, but it looks like we will have enough feed to carry us through the winter.

A number of pastors and workers are planning for contributions of produce from their charges. We thank you.

School

All our children except one or two start to school next Monday, September 19. We thank you for your prayers and your interest.

Yours in His service,

A. G. DIXON, Superintendent.

—A teacher was giving his class a lecture on charity.

"Willie," he said, "If I saw a boy beating a donkey, and stopped him from doing so, what virtue should I be showing?"

Willie (promptly)—"Brotherly love."

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

West Forsyth.—The services were well attended at Union Hill and Tabernacle churches last Sunday. The Lord's Supper was administered at each church. A good dinner was enjoyed by pastor and family at the home of Brother Hinson Webb and sisters in the Union Hill community.

We were pleased to have Mrs. Flynt, of Ohio, a niece of Brother S. H. Speas and Mrs. Permelia Reed, worship with us at Tabrenacle church Sunday night. Mrs. Flynt was married in Tabrenacle church bany years ago and has been residing in Ohio for several years.

One new member was received at Tabernacle church last Sunday night, Mrs. Pauline Richardson, recent bride of Brother Champ Richardson. She was formerly Miss Pauline Williams, of Norfolk, Va., and held a certificate of church membership from LeKies' Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Norfolk, Va. We are glad to have Mrs. Richardson unite with Tabernacle church.

It was the pleasure of the writer to spend last week with Rev. J. P. Pegg and his people at Glen Raven church in their annual revival meeting. We enjoyed the work with Brother Pegg and it was our privilege to meet many friends and acquaintances of former years.

The annual Mission Study program of the Women's work of the 14th district will be given at Pleasant Hill church, on West Forsyth charge on Thursday, September 29, according to an announcement made by Mrs. T. L. Speas, chairman of the district.

The appointment for next Sunday will be at Pleasant Hill church at 11 a. m. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper is expected to be administered in connection with the service.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

◆

Friendship, Shiloh Charge.—As it has been quite awhile since I sent any report so I must tell about our good Sunday school that is still thriving. We number 215 with our good Sunday school superintendent and teachers and think that we have the best Sunday school in the county. The teachers are getting along so well and opening Sunday school with their classes it is just wonderful to see little folks respond so well. Some of the little girls said that they felt like they had had Children's Day after opening Sunday school. We sincerely welcome all visitors to worship with us.

Our pastor, Rev. R. S. Troxler, preached a wonderful sermon Sunday morning, which everyone enjoyed so much, it had been such a long time since we have had preaching that everybody was very anxious to hear him. His text was, "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good." Mr. Troxler opened the doors of the church; there were six united with the church that we are happy to have. They are: Miss Perry Miller, Mr. Lawrence C. Sink, Henry V. Shoaf, Hartley Shoaf, Odell Lanning, Add Wood. Afterward the Lord's Supper was observed.

The Ladies' auxiliary has been fortunate in having Miss Margaret Perryman speak to them two Sunday nights past on her tour through the Holy Lands. It was so wonderful and interesting and she told it so well that all enjoyed it. Her doing this was greatly appreciated by all the Friendship people. Some good quartets are to give us some good singing in the near future. Don't know the exact date yet. But we are anxious for them to come.

ADELE PHILLIPS, Reporter.

◆

Porter.—Our work here has been moving along about as usual since our last report. Our reports have been few and far apart, however, we are not dead. The attendance has been good and the Sunday school has grown quite a bit this summer.

Our revival meeting began the second Sunday in August and continued through the following Friday night. Our pastor did the preaching with Mr. Carl Efird of Albemarle directing the singing. We had a good meeting. While the visible results were not so gratifying we feel that much good was accomplished. Five new members were added to the church and we most heartily welcome them into our midst. We enjoyed very much having Mr. Efird with us during the meeting and appreciate his help with the singing.

Misses Ruth Thompson has been elected delegate to the Annual Conference.

Mr. Chester Felts left yesterday for Salisbury to enter school this week. We shall miss him very much in the church and Sunday school. And we wish for him success in his work.

MRS. W. T. BRASWELL.

◆

Pleasant Union.—Our church was very well pleased Sunday morning in having Rev. J. T. Bowman, a young minister from our community, to preach for us. For his text he chose a part of Galatians 2:20—"Christ Liveth in Me." He pointed out in the beginning that life is made up of many experiences, both valuable and worthless. The Bible is a book of the experiences of a few great men. He stated that there are three stages in the Spiritual life: First—Faith, that which causes adventure with hope; Second—Knowledge, that which comes after reaching out in search of, we learn to know God and to have Christ to live in us. Our most inspiring hymns such as "Blessed Assurance," would not have been written had their poets and composers not had God in their own hearts. Then third comes love, the most important stage—that of loving God.

Just before the sermon Mrs. J. T. Bowman sang that lovely hymn, "My Jesus, I Love Thee."

The Lord's Supper was observed Sunday morning.

As visitors in service Sunday morning we were very glad to have the following: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Horniday and their two sons of Liberty; Mr. D. A. Neese and daughter, Margaret Opal, of High Uoint, and Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Futrelle and son of Jamestown.

DORTHA CAUSEY HOLT.

◆

Henderson.—With vacation times mostly over and the opening of schools and colleges started, a more definite and encouraging routine of all our church organizations has also begun. A large increase in Sunday school and church congregations is noticeable and with great hope of finishing up another conference year, as it should be, felt among us.

The regular monthly meeting of the Philathea class was held on Thusrday night, September 1, at the home of Mrs. C. H. Haynes, with Mesdames R. T. Nichols and Joe Hayes as joint hostesses. The president, Mrs. Silas Powell, presided over the meeting. During the business period the reports from various committees were heard. New committees were appointed for the coming year and plans made by the president and class member. During the meeting it was voted to have our attendance contest and Misses Claurice Grissom and Ethel Woodlief chosen as captains of the two sides. During the social hour the hostess served refreshments.

On Sunday night, September 4, the members of Circle No. 5 gave a pageant at the church, entitled, "Christian Education in the Home, the Church, and the School." There was a large attendance and those taking part did so with much credit due themselves and Mrs. L. W. Gerringer who was in charge as director.

The monthly meeting of the auxiliary was held at the church, Monday night, September 5, with the president, Mrs. Gerringer, presiding. The devotional period was in charge by Circle No. 5, and Miss Helen Hayes leader. Responsive readings, songs and prayers were the form of this program and was very impressive. A short reading, "Love," was given by Ruth Finch. A duet was sung by Misses Martha Faulkner and Pearl Allbright, accompanied at the piano by Miss Florence Faulkner.

During the business period reports from the circle chairmen were given. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. A resignation of the former secretary, Miss Lucy Taylor, was accepted and a new one to be selected by the nominating committee. It was voted to furnish one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) to the hospital clinic that is to be held each month at the local hospital for thepoor and needy of our community. This to be used to buy medicine and milk for those unable to do so when prescribed by the doctors. A committee for resolutions for Mrs. A. E. Smerdon was appointed by the president. Plans were discussed for the Thank Offering services to be held some time in September. Mrs. J. M. Baity who is seretary of that department being absent, no definite time was set. During the social period the girls of Circle No. 5 served delicious punch and wafers.

The different circles of the auxiliary will meet on Monday afternoon, September 12, as follows: Circle No. 1 with Mrs. J. B. Fox. Circles No. 2 and 3 with Mrs. T H Hight. Circle No. 4 on Thursday night with Misses Gertha and Myrtle Trodgen. Circle No. 5 with Miss Eugene Boyd.

Several of our young people are leaving for their various schools nad colleges and we pray God's blessing upon them in their new fields of labor and study.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nuckles who were married on Saturday morning, September 3, at the M. E. parsonage. Mrs. Nuckles was before her marriage Miss Dorothy Grissom, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grissom. Mr. Nuckles is the only son of Mrs. W. T. Nuckles and the late Mr. Nuckles.

Among the sick are Mr. R. T. Nichol on Arch St., and Mr. Claude Harris on Young St. We hope for them a speedy recovery.

Mrs. C. F. Tankersley, Sr. is still confined to her bed due to an auto accident which occured as she was going to church last Sunday morning. Mrs. Tankersley, Jr. was driving and a grasshopper struck her in the eye causing her to lose control of the car and strike a tree. The other occupant of the car, Miss Maude Gibson of Baltimore, was also badly shaken up. However we are glad to report they are all improving.

The death of Mrs. A. E. Smerdon which occured on August 29, was somewhat of a shock to her friends and relatives. Mrs Smerdon was sick only one week and seemed much better the day before she died. Funeral services were conducted from the church with Rev. L. W. Gerringer in charge, assisted by Rev. I. W. Hughes of the Episcopal church. Mrs. Smerdon was very active in her church and will be missed by a large number of friends and relatives.

Miss Agnes Harris has gone to Durham to do social service work with the Junior League of that city as they conduct clinics with the cooperation of the physicians there.

Dr. S. W. Taylor, president of the North Carolina Conference, will preach at the local church Sunday night, September 11.

REPORTER.

◆

Lexington.—Our work continues to go along nicely. Our Sunday school is progressing very well and our prayer services and preaching services are being well attended.

On last Tuesday night a week ago we held our third quarterly conference here. Both churches were well represented at the meeting. Our pastor made an interesting report on his activities during the year. Both Sunday schools had a good report. Our church heard a good report made by our church treasurer, Mr. J. J. Mallard. He reported all local expenses including pastor's salary paid up to date. We have also paid a good part of our conference claims. This was the best report this writer has ever heard at a third quarterly conference.

On Thursday night of the same week Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Koonts entertained the board of stewards at a good old time chicken stew. It is known that a preacher can eat more chicken than any one else; but the stewards ran Brother Isley a close race for honors at this chicken stew. Immediately after the pastor and Brother C. L. Hedrick and Brother H. C. Koonts met in the home of Brother B. F. Everidge, one of our stewards, and had our monthly meeting.

Brother Mallard, our treasurer, made his report and he and Brother Isley insisted that we make a special effort to raise the remainder of our conference claims and all of the stewards made a pledge and we feel sure that we can get up the rest of it from other members.

We held our regular class meeting on last Wednesday night and there was a large crowd present. Brother Hedrick, our class leader, made a good talk and urged all of the members to be loyal to the church and to support all of its activities and to stand ready to do all they can to help keep the church growing. At the conclusion of his talk several members made a talk and the meeting was a very enjoyable one.

On last Thursday evening at 7:30 the building committee met with Brother C. L. Hedrick chairman presiding. We heard a report from the committees who had been appointed to see about the land and to figure with contractor for the erecting of four Sunday school rooms at the rear of the church. Bids were submitted by four contractors and a ballot was taken and Mr. W. M. Link was awarded the contract. The contract calls for four rooms 12'x12' at the rear of the church to be joined to the present rooms. The work on the building will be started this week and we hope to have them completed and ready to use Sunday, September 25. We have been in bad need of more room for the past year, and we have been raising funds to do the work with.

When Rev. C. G. Isley came to the work four years ago we had seventy-five members and we have enjoyed a steady growth ever since. Last year when the Ham meeeting came here all of the members of this church took an active part in it and when the meeting came to a close we had received one hundred and fifty members who had been converted in the meeting, and we now have three hundred members.

We got some of our most active members out of this meeting. The following officers are now serving the church who are converts of the Ham meeting. J. J. Mallard, church treasurer; C. A. Auman and Roy Wallace, trustees; G. D. Westmoreland, Glenn Younts, Willie Kimball and Oscar Koonts, stewards.

We are hoping and praying that our work will continue to grow and that we may be able to do more for the advancement of God's Kinugdom in this part of our community.

We extend a cordial invitation to all to worship with us.

PHONSE BEAN, Reporter.

◆

Henderson.—The Workers' Council of the Sunday school convened September 7th with ten teachers and officers present. Rev. L. W. Gerringer, the pastor, led the devotions. He made a talk on the importance of teachers being in the attitude of learning. He says the best teacher is a learnable teacher. A good teacher is one that is at all times learning.

The minutes of the August meeting were read and approved.

The superintendent, Mr. C. F. Tankersley, reports that the attendance to the Sunday school for August was wonderful and that it was very encouraging to make that almost every Sunday's attendance is better than a year ago.

The superintendent spoke on the very poor attendance to the Workers' Council meetings held once each month. He reports that the largest number present yet was 11 which is just 25 per cent of those that are members of the council. He says that there is business to come in the council meetings to be settled that should not come up in the Sunday school, taking up time on Sunday morning that should be used in the class room. Mr. Tankersley is pleading that we all do what we can to get the attendance to the Workers Council up to 75 per cent.

Miss Myra Hight, superintendent of the Primary department, reports that their attendance is fine, they are receiving new members almost every Sunday. The report from this department is always good.

Report from Miss Elizabeth Fox, teacher of the class of Willing Workers, is good. This is one of the very best classes in the entire Sunday school. Their average attendance is about 95 per cent.

Mr. E. C. Kittrell reported for the Men's Bible class, their average attendance is about 90 per cent each Sunday.

The report from the Baraca class is very encouraging. Attendance holding up well.

Miss Alice Faulkner, teacher of the Junior Philathea class, reports that their average attendance is good.

Mrs. L. W. Gerringer, teacher of the Woman's Bible class, reports that their attendance continues to hold up well.

Following reports the superintendent appointed a Rally Day committee, Miss Alice Faulkner, chairman, with Miss Mabel Hayes and Mrs. R. W. Dixon assisting. They are to call all they want to help in the program.

The item carried from the last meeting in regards to literature was settled, Mr. J. M. Allen was elected as literature secretary, working with T. J. Evans, the Sunday school secretary and treasurer. Mr. Allen is to distribute the Sunday school papers each Sunday. He is to try to get only one paper in each home, in this way trying to cut our literature cost down.

On motion the superintendent of the Primary department could bring just the children up from the basement on the second Sundays as wanted in her programs. It is not necessary to bring the whole department as heretofore.

The meeting adjourned with prayer by the pastor.

MRS. T. J. EVANS, Reporter.

◆

Spring Church Charge.—Our meeting began at Spring church the third Sunday in August. Rev. H. F. Fogleman came on Monday and remained through Friday night. The congregation was made up of those who were already in the church. A goodly number reaffirmed their faith. Brother Fogleman, as well as his messages, was gratefully received. One joined by letter.

On the fourth Sunday all day services were held. Rev. Edward Jordan of Philadelphia, preached both morning and afternoon. This is Brother Jordan's home community. His many friends heard him gladly and with pleasure and profit.

At our recent quarterly conference Brother J. J. Massey was declared delegateelect to the ensuing annual conference.

On last Friday night the C. E. society at Pleasant Hill voted to pay their church's superannuate assessment in full. The amount has been forwarded.

Miss Virginia Massey and brother, James, both of Spring church, and Miss Virginia Grant of Lebanon church left Monday for High Point college. This is Miss Massey's second year. Miss Grant and Mr. Massey are entering the freshman class. Miss Catherine Crew of Spring church will leave this week for W. C. U. N. C. This is Miss Crew's second year.

These are talented young people and are of the highest type of Christian character.

Wm. H. NEESE.

◆

Calvary, Greensboro.—Well, the Ladies' Auxiliary met Monday afternoon. They are the meeting-ist bunch of ladies. However they had business to 'tend to. They are meeting again Monday, October 25th. In order to make my reports brief, I will say "ditto" in reference to the Auriliary meetings hereafter.

I have heard Brother Anderson, the visiting preacher in our "Revival Services" and I have heard the opinions of numerous other members of Calvary. We like him fine! We hope he likes us as well. We are enjoying his sermons at both morning and evening services. More of our folks would like him if they would come and hear him. Our attendance has been small according to our membership. Come on folks don't let's disappoint the preachers who are giving "their all" to this meeting. Let's come out and show them we are "church going" folks. Let's get results too. Bring friends, neighbors and the family. Talk to those who are not church members. Try to bring the "Lost Sheep" to the fold. The revival lasts three Sunday nights. We still have time to do some good work. Last Sunday afternoon a number of our church members met Mr. Bates at the church and went over our church register with him. The members who have not attended church services or the meeting were visited and also those known to us who were unsaved or were not church members. Don't wait to be asked to do this. Do it of your own free will and do it now.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

Hebron, Orange Charge.—The revival services were held at Hebron the second week of August. The pastor, Rev. B. M. Williams, delivered two excellent messages on Sunday. He is doing all in his power to carry on his work successfully, all he needs is more cooperation. On Monday Rev. N. G. Bethea came to assist in these services. His messages were very spiritual and were well received by a large crowd at each service. This church was revived to some extent, but still the church and community are not harmonious in many ways. May God by His wonderful power help this church and community.

A union revival will begin at Gravelly Hill school Sunday night. This revival is sponsored by the Grange. Rev. B. M. Williams is in charge of these services. He will be assisted by pastors of other denominations. We wish to have the prayers of all Christian people that this may be a success and good to the community.

NANNIE McADAMS.

Calvary, Greensboro.—Our reporter is very faithful to her task, and it is hardly necessary for me to add anything to what she has been telling you. But there are some angles of the work that perhaps as pastor I ought to report.

First to tell you that last Sunday was almost a record-breaker in point of attendance at the services. Two hundred and forty-four in Sunday school, just nine short of the all-time record. And this without any effort being made to boost the attendance. Some of the classes had 100 per cent attendance; others had record attendance. The attendance at both church services was exceptional. One hundred and sixty-six in the morning; 163 at night. It was the first Sunday of our special meeting, which explains the attendance somewhat.

As I have indicated, we are in our special meeting. It began on September 7, and will continue through this coming Sunday. The attendance has not been as good as we had hoped, but there is good interest and we are expecting fine results. A number have indicated their intention of uniting with the church by letter, and we are hoping a good many more will come by confession of faith. Brother J. R. Anderson is doing effective preaching, and those who are attending are being greatly helped.

These are anxious days for us financially, but we are encouraged to believe we will come out on top as usual. In spite of the depression we have had a good year. We are overpaid on "World Service," paid out on College Assessment; lack about $30 of having our A. C. B. All current interest payments have been met, and some accumulated interest taken care of. And we have paid about $1,000 on principal. Not a bad showing for these times! The church is rather far behind on pastor's salary, but we are hoping this will be paid in full.

The Auxiliary is planning for a booth at the Greensboro fair, and are hoping it will be a financial success. We will have our old stand, and are asking those who read this and may attend the fair to patronize us. Calvary cooks are famous for good food. You will enjoy it and help us.

Our Brother David Glass returned last week from a trip to Europe. He imitated the Apostle Paul in that he went as far as to Rome. He reports a very interesting trip. Not many churches the size of Calvary financially, or otherwise, can boast of a member going to Europe in these hard times.

C. W. BATES, Pastor.

Midway, Haw River Circuit. — The second Sunday in August Brother Trollinger was away helping in a meeting. So his appointment was filled by Brother Forest Waggoner, a young man from Friendship church. His message was good, and enjoyed by all who were present.

The fourth Sunday our pastor was with us and gave us a good message, after which the Lord's Supper was administered.

Last Sunday we had another good message from our pastor. This sermon was especially to the boys and girls who are now entering college and high school, but was good for all; the text was: "Keep yourselves in the love of God."

G. W. Apple, Jr., and Pattie Bartee are leaving this week for High Point, while others are entering high school at Reidsville and Bethany.

Our Sunday school is moving along nicely; we have very good attendance.

Chirstian ESndeavor was conducted last Sunday night by Pattie Bartee.

MRS. G. W. APPLE, Reporter.

Shiloh C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—The C. E. society met at the church Sunday evening, September 4, and heard the subject: "What Is Our Attitude To Work and the Worker?" led by Miss Blanche Sink. Eighty-seven young people enjoyed this program; and especially the song by the Berrier sisters trio. At this meeting the society went over the top with their enrollment; this band of young pepole now numbering 100. We set our goal at 100 the first of the year. We have gained that goal now but hope not to stop with that because there are several young people who are still out of young people's organizations in our community. We hope they will see fit to join with us soon.

Sunday evening, September 11, our lesson on "Does God Really Care?" was led by Miss Kathleen Lanning. As we think of this lesson our minds go to the scripture lesson for this topic found in Matt. 6:25, 26; in this God says if He takes care of the fowls of the air and the flowers of the field how much more thought does He have for His children. Our earthly parents first care for their children, then for their other interests, so our Heavenly Father first cares for His chldiren and then for other creatures. Then our mind goes to this passage of scripture: "If God so clothe the grass of the field which today is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, how much more will He care for you." O ye of little faith, if we would be submissive to God's will, and not worry about temporary things, but put our faith and trust in God. He is willing to keep us at all times, and through every temptation.

Come out to C. E. next Sunday evening at 7:30 and hear the lesson on "Some Other Gods Today."

C. E. REPORTER.

First Church, High Point.—At the Sunday morning 11 o'clock service the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, chose for the subject of his message a most timely theme, "The Business of the Church in Trying Times;" the text was from Ephesians 5:24, "The church is subject unto Christ." He said that each generation has new problems, tasks and tests, but the same mission. So far as Christians are concerned, their duty is to find out their mission and presence the sense of Christ. The duty of the church, those persons believing in Jesus Christ, is to make men aware of God and the spiritual world. Despite its defects it is still the most vital, wide-awake force on the earth. As creator of sentiment for righteousness it needs encouragement instead of criticism and denunciation. The business of the church is religion. If there are failuers, they are due to the weakness of human character, sin and irreligion. It must remind the world of the sinfulness of sin, and point to Christ as the Saviour of the world. It must also stress repentance for sin. There is now much need for public and personal repentance. Whatever moral cleansing was begun in war days must be accentuated. Faith must be taught and practiced. Once we trusted God too little because we trusted ourselves too much. Now we are losing faith in God's power because we have lost faith in ourselves. The church must teach service. Jesus "went about doing good." It is a sign of some canker when members of the church hang back and shirk responsibility, and sinners are afraid to seek salvation on account of service. Righteousness of life results from these steps. With Whittier we must say, "We test our lives by thine." The Man of Galilee is counting on His church.

High Point city schools opened Monday morning for the 1932-'33 year. According to official report as released at noon by Supt. T. Wingate Andrews, the enrollment was slightly smaller than on the opening day of last year. The report shows a total of 7713 students as compared to 7742 of last year. School officials have employed seven teachers fewer than last year, the total being 216. The decrease in number of pupils this year is due to a change in the age requirements for entering. It is necessary this year for a child to be six years of age on or before October 1st in order to enter as a pupil in September. Last year children who were six on or before January 1st were allowed to enter. The decrease is in the elementary enrollment.

The Woman's Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. R. Zimmerman on Montlieu Ave. The persident, Mrs. P. S.

Kennett, was in the chair. A vote was carried to give a reception to the faculty and students of the college at an early date.

Rev. Edward Suits, member Board of Directors, went to Greensboro Monday to attend a conference of the Anti-Saloon League, which continues its sessions through Tuesday.

We are pleased to announce that C. L. Gray, Sr., who has been suffering from eye trouble, is improving, and is able to take car rides every afternoon.

The congregation welcomes the Teague family back to High Point after a year's residence in Sumter, S. C. The family consists of Messrs. Hunter, Lester and Earl Teague and their sister, Gertrude.

Mrs. Mary Farmer, sister-in-law of Rev. R. I Farmer, her sister, Mrs. Taylor and friend, Miss Brooks of Dennison, Ohio, left last Friday for their home after a visit of a few days to Rev. and Mrs. R. I. Farmer on Colonial Drive. They made the trip to N. C. by automobile.

Mrs. A. A. York, accompanied by her daughter, Louise, left Monday for Gainesville, Ga., where the latter will enter Brenau college as a freshman.

Miss Esther Pritchard has returned home from a visit to friends in Atlanta, Ga. She was accompanied by her brother, Wilbur Pritchard, who has been a student in the Georgia School of Technology during the summer.

The congregation was pleased to see Rev. and Mrs. E. Lester Ballard of Greensboro, in the Sunday evening service.

High Point people, irrespective of denomination, greatly regret the resignation of Prof. L. L. Stookey, director of music in the city schools, who is leaving for Mobile, Ala., October 5th, to accept a similar position in that city. Mr. Stookey has been in High Point eight years and has built up the music department of the school system to an unusually high grade of efficiency and has trained the Civic Band, whose sacred open-air concerts on Sunday evenings at the City Lake, Jamestown, and on the city lot, have been greatly enjoyed by thousands of our citizens.

We regret to announce the serious illness of Mr. E. E. Spencer, father of John B. Spencer and prominent citizen, at his home on Greensboro road, adjoining the Children's Home.

Bellmont, Mt. Hermon Charge.—Our revival meeting began the fourth Sunday in August and closed the following Friday night. Rev. A. G. Dixon, of the Children's Home, High Point, was the pulpit help. Brother Dixon gave us some wonderful sermons which made a deep impression upon the people. There were about thirty reclamations and conversions. Twelve have united with our church and we are expecting several more to unite later.

Sunday afternoon Rev. and Mrs. Dixon with a group of children from the Home, visited our church. The children rendered a splendid program. Rev. and Mrs. Dixon made interesting talks. Several made the following expression: "I could sit all day and listen to Mrs. Dixon."

Before the meeting the name, A. G. Dixon, meant very little to us. Why? Because so few of our people had ever met either of them personally. Brother Dixon was such a faithful worker during the meeting that we learned to love him. Now, we feel that they are no longer strangers, but our best friendse.

I am sure the Christian Endeavor society was happy when Brother Dixon introduced one of the children to the congregation as the one whom the Bellmont Christian Endeavor society had been clothing for several years. Two, and probably more, of the Sunday school classes are making some definite plans toward supporting the Home.

Brother Mabry filled his regular appointment Sunday night. He gave us another inspiring message. REPORTER.

Liberty Hill, Anderson Charge.—The work in all departments is in fair shape and doing well. We were glad to have with us Dr. S. W. Taylor on the second of this month and we all enjoyed the wonderful message that he brought us and the new zeal that he put in each one that heard the message.

This church yesterday raised their A. C. B. in full and they are working hard to send their preacher and delegate to conference with a good report and I appreciate the way the people here respond when you ask them for money. And I want to say to the brethren and other churches to come on and let's pay our claims up in full. I find the more I raise on claims the more they get on my salary; so again I say let's pay up and make our beloved president feel good the last year of his office as president. We feel sure that next week we can say that Fair View church has gone over the top on A. C. B. and we believe they will pay their pastor in full. Look for next week's report from Fair View church and pray for us that God may lead us in paths of service.

M. C. HENDERSON, Pastor.

Whitaker's Church.—On Friday night of this week we are expecting the president of the conference with us. On Sunday following our meeting is to be with Rev. R. L. Hethcox as pulpit help. We are glad our pastor is about well again.

The first Sunday in October our Sunday school will have promotion of pupils in lower grades. The attendance has fallen off some. We do hope it will pick up soon and do better.

On of our young girls, Emma Aveus Butterbridge, is on the sick list now, hope she will be well soon. She is leaving for Greenville Training school the 27th of this month We will miss her but hope she will get on well with her school duties. We ask the prayers of our people in behalf of our meeting.

REPORTER.

Charlotte.—The Woman's auxiliary will meet with Mrs. C. H. Daughtry Tuesday p. m. It is hoped a large number will be present.

Dr. R. M. Andrews, our pastor, will motor to High Point Tuesday with his daughters. Dorothea and Alma who will enter High Point College for the year. They are bothe active in church work and we shall miss them.

We are sorry to report that Mr. T. A. Shaw and family have returned to their former home in Norwood to live. They wero active in the various activities of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw were members of the choir. Mrs. Shaw was a Sunday school teacher; Mr. Shaw, church treasurer; Miss Mary Shaw a Sunday school teacher and president of the C. E., so you see why we will miss them. We need more active, loyal memebrs like them.

At the C. E. society meeting Sunday night a committee was appointed to select the officers for the ensuing year.

After service Sunday morning a membership meeting was held and officers for the coming year elected. Trusttees, J. C. Penny, J. J. Atkins, and W. H. Scarboro; Stewards, Mrs. B W. Little, Mrs. J. J. Atkins, G. W. Stegall, Mrs. J. H. McCall, and Mr. R. S. Garmon; Church Treasurer, Mrs. Leon Blake.

The Everready Philathea class of which Mrs. J. H. McCall is teacher are to have a business meeting at the classroom at the church Monday evening and a prayer service will be held immediately after the business session.

We are having cottage prayer meetings this next week in preparation for our revival services which will be held the last week of the month. Rev. J. R. Anderson of Albemarle will assist Dr. Andrews in the meeting. Pray for us and with us for a good soul-saving revival service. We will have with us for our last revival service our conference president, Rev. S. W. Taylor.

Laurel Hill.—An inspiring revival meeting was held in our church the second Sunday in August, the service being conducted by our pastor, Rev. A. D. Shelton. We believe we had a successful revival, only one member was added to the church membership but the church was revived and several were converted.

A bunch of new song books has been bought for the church

On Sunday, September 11, our pastor delivered us a good sermon from the text found in the 27th verse of the 14th chapter of St. John: "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you."

Communion services were observed at this time also.

On Saturday before the fourth Sunday in October the last quarterly conference for the Fallston charge will be held at Laurel Hill.

This is near the Annual Conference, and our conference year is coming to a close. Let all of us be on our jobs and remember how good the Lord has been to us with health and strength and many other things and not forget to pay Him his part.

Our Sunday school attendance has been excellent this summer. We have what we believe a progressive Sunday school.

REPORTER.

Corinth, Littleton Charge.—Our revival meeting began the fist Sunday morning in September. Our pastor brought us a good message at the 11 o'clock service. At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was spread under the shade trees. Rev. Bradley from the M. E. church, Littleton, preached for us in the afternoon. The male quartet from Aurelian Springs sang for us at this time.

Rev. H. L. Isley came on Monday night and did all the preaching until Thursday night when the meeting closed. His messages were good and enjoyed by all. The church nad people were revived. Two accepted Christ as their Savior. We greatly enjoyed having Bro. Isley with us in the service and in our home. We hope he will come this way again.

We were very glad to have Mrs. Stuart Glasgow of Winston-Salem worship with us on Sunday. It looked like old times to see Miss Fannie at Corinth church.

Rev. and Mrs. Bingham are wearing broad smiles over the arrival of a little son, Joseph Lawson, in their home on August 28th. Also Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Pepper are happy over the arrival of a little daughter in their home on August 12.

Mrs. McSwain of Blacksburg is spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Bingham at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Morris were visitors in Greensboro Tuesday.

Miss Virginia Insco left Tuesday for Greensboro W. C. U. N. C. where she will attend school again this year.

MRS. B. F. MORRIS, Reporter.

Union Grove Church, Mocksville Charge.—Our Sunday school is successfully traveling onward. Our Christian Endeavor and prayer meeting have been very low but the faithful few members are detetrmined by the help of God to build it up so it will be a success in the future.

The fourth Sunday of this month our revival meeting starts. We are very glad to have Rev. R. C. Stubbins to aid in the meeting. I want to ask all the Christian people to help us pray for our revival, that it may be a success and that many a lost soul may be saved from sin.

I want to give everybody a special invitation to attend our meeting, Sunday school, Christian Endeavor, and prayer meeting.

A MEMBER.

Beulah, Mecklenburg Circuit.—Our revival meeting which began on the fourth Sunday in August came to a close on Sunday night, September 4. We had a very good revival and we were glad to see the interest that was shown through each service. We were glad to have Rev. Earl Cook and family with us again in our revival. Rev. Mr. Cook preached some wonderful sermons which were enjoyed by all. We hope that Mr. Cook and family will be able to come and be with us again next year in our revival. We also appreciate Mr. Johnnie Carter of Charlotte coming down and helping out in the singing so much. Mr. Carter also sang a lot of special songs, enjoyed very much by all. We are looking forward to Mr. Carter's coming back next year and being with us in our revival. Our pastor, Rev. Mr. Love, filled his regular appointment Sunday night. He preached for us a wonderful sermon. We wish that more could have been present to hear this good sermon.

Our Ladies' Aid society held it regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the church with just a few members present. We appreciated Rev. Mr. Love and family coming down and attending this service, but we wish to have a much better program prepared the next time they pay us a visit.

Mrs. C. E. Craig, we are sorry to say, is still on the sick list not much improved. We hope that she will soon be restored to health.

LULA DEESE, Reporter.

Hawkins Chapel, Littleton Charge.—We did not have any preaching the first Sunday on account of the Corinth revival beginning.

Rev. P. E. Bingham filled his appointment Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Guess Rev. Mr. Spencer thinks by now that we are not going to report about our revival. There was a large congregation each time, friends from Florida. We sure enjoy his messages. We feel very much was accomplished we had six to add to our church. Mr. Spencer, come again.

Mr. D. M. Loy, our former pastor about nine years ago, was able to be with us, and Rev. Mr. H. S. B. Thompson at some of the services.

Mrs. Clarence Hawkins, our junior teacher will be the next to give in her report of her Sunday school class. Our Sunday school seems to be improving. Miss Elynn Hawkins, the intermediate teacher, entertained her class at her home Saturday evening, September 3, 1932.

Thre was a large crowd at the C. E. society Sunday afternoon, glad Mr. Bingham could attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldy Green were the host of the C. E. society August 31, 1932, games were played; for refreshments ice cream and cake were servred.

Mr. Bingham was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hawkins Sunday.

Misses Fannie May and Elizabeth Hale have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hale, their half brother, of South Rosemary.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bingham are glad parents of a little son.

Mrs. G. A. Hawkins and little daughter, Agnes, have gone to Hopewell, Va.

Mrs. Clarence Hawkins and Mrs. Tom Carpenter visited their mother, Mrs. C. M. Hawkins, Sunday.

Misses Eram, Maggie, Esther and Clara Hawkins have been visiting friends to attend the revival at Smiths.

Mrs. Jessie Astrap has been very ill for some time with fever. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

MRS. CLAUDE HAWKINS, Reporter.

Lexington, State Street.—Mr. Hendry gave us a splendid and stirring message Sunday morning on the parable of the Prodigal Son.

We were pleased to have a number of out of town visitors worship with us Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin of Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Pope of Concord visited at the parsonage and Mr. and Mrs. Waddell of Concord visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Shoaf.

Mr. Griffin sang a solo which was very much enjoyed by every one present; Mrs. Griffin accompanied Mr. Griffin at the piano.

All departments of the work are progressing encouragingly.

We are trying out some new methods of increasing Sunday school attendance with a prospect of success.

The sick ones of our number are all reported convalescing. REPORTER.

Winston, First.—Fall is here again and harvest time is near at hand. We always think of fall as bringing us into the "Thanksgiving" time of the year. Every day of the year we should be thankful for all the things we have and for God's goodness to us. Now is the "gathering in" time of the year, so to speak. We hope all the harvesters will remember to share with our Children's Home, whether it be food we gather or whether it be salary we gather.. First Church, Winston is looking forward with a great deal of interest to the coming of Dr. Dixon and a number of the children from the Home on next Sunday. Their programs are always enjoyable and it is always good to have them in our church.

With vacations over and school beginning our attendance seems to be on the upward incline. People are getting back to work and school and church. There were quite a number more present last Sunday than a year ago. Dr. Pritchard kept a very definite record of last year's attendance at Sunday school, and church worship, morning and evening and also a record of the weather conditions. He's always extremely happy when we make an uphill climb, and so are we.

The women of the church are working hard as ever and are getting along splendidly, raising their budget. The capable president, Mrs. J. E. Pritchard, is helping as much as possible in every way.

PAULINE L. BRANSON, Reporter.

Liberty.—Sunday was a good day for us, both in Sunday school and church service.

Mr. Chamblis brought a good message based on the text from Galatians 6:7. Our revival meeting will be in session the week following the fourth Sunday in September. We would be delighted to have friends from our neighboring church: Mt. Pleasant, Pleasant Union, Julian, Shiloh and Liberty Grove worship with us during this coming revival. We should count it a great opportunity to plan and work and pray for this meeting. There are many little deeds of kindness we can do to help others to attend and to get those who have not been attending church, at all, to begin now.

Miss Margaret Way was the leader for C. E. Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holt celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday, their "Golden Wedding." A number of good speakers including Rev. A. O. Lindley, Dr. J. D. Gregg and Dr. A. D Gregg, gave interesting talks. Rev. Mr. Chamblis led in prayer. The honorees were then the recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts which included gifts of gold pieces of money. Piano music and singing were enjoyed. A unique feature of the occasion was music on the old-fashioned "Dulcimer," played by Mrs. Flora Shoffner of Gibsonville. A bountiful picnic dinner was enjoyed.

The various circles of the auxiliary will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30.

William Hardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Hardin has returned to Wake Forest college where he will be a sophomore this year.

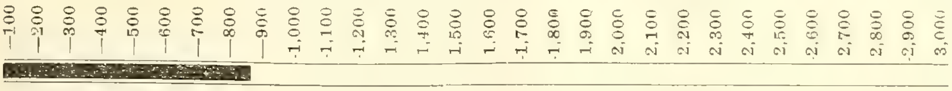
Frank Shepard, Jr., is visiting his uncle, Dr. Flavius Amick of Marion, Indiana, and his aunt, Miss Joy Amick of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Circle No. 1 served dinner Friday evening to the Rotarians of Liberty under the supervision of Mrs. J. B. York. A nice sum was realized. BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

Lebanon, High Point.—At the Christian Endeavor mass meeting last week the president of the city union, Rev. J. C. Madison, resigned in view of the fact that he will leave in the near future to attend school at the University of Chicago. His resignation was accepted by a rising vote of thanks for his splendid leadership during the past year. Miss Ida Guyer, another member of the society and a former president of the union, was then elected to finish the term of Mr. Madison. The award for the most service during the past three months was then presented to our society. At the same time in an intermediate union meeting, our intermediate society was awarded the

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	15¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	4¾
Asheboro	36	16
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	12½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	1½
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	13¾
Glen Raven	38	7½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	16½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1
Guilford	43	14½
Halifax	52	13½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¼
High Point, First	72	54½
High Point, Lebanon	31	24½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	6½
Liberty-Moirah	31	18¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	9¾
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	7¾
Mount Hermon	92	15½
Mount Pleasant	62	24¾
North Davidson	53	13½
Orange	70	22¾
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	9½
Reidsville	14	10½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	17
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	9½
Tabernacle	41	22
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	22⅜

◆

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

loving cup for the best work of any intermediate society in the city. The president of the senior society is Miss Ida Guyer, while the intermediate superintendent is Hermon Yokly. The spelndid work in these societies is due largely to their leadership.

At the opening of Sunday school last Sunday morning our pastor, Rev. J. C. Madison, presented a short Christian Endeavor program. He not only presented the senior and intermediate awards but also praised the work of the junior society. The superintenents of this society are Misses Jewell Welch and Juanita Hayworth.

Our pastor delivered splendid messages at both the morning and evening services last Sunday. Next Sunday at the 11 o'clock hour there will be a special service, and at the evening service our pastor will preach to us for the last time this year. During the remainder of the time until conference, various ministers will occupy the pulpit.

About two weeks ago the members of the Baraca class expressed their appreciation of the service Rev. Mr. Madison has rendered the church by presenting to him an expensive leather suitcase with a Jr. O.U.A.M. emblem. On Thursday of this week Mr. Madison will be entertained with a picnic at the City Lake. These and many other things are being done to show our appreciation to our pastor for the splendid work he has done here during the past two years.

Our revival that was held two weeks ago was very successful. Rev. Mr. Madison did the preaching. Several people were converted, and 11 joined the church.

We were glad indeed to have Mrs. J. W. Montgomery and Mrs. Dale Montgomery, who have been sick worship with us again last Sunday.

REPORTER.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Hopkins

David Reid Hopkins was born April 4, 1857, and departed this life August 10, 1932, having lived to attain the age of 75 years, 6 months, 4 days.,

Brother Hopkins was a familiar figure at Friendship church. When he was able to attend church, he was always found in his accustomed pew. His financial support, as well as his moral influence was given to, and supported every program fostered by his church.

He had served as steward in his younger days, and according to those who knew, it is said, that he put into that office the same fidelity and zeal, that characterized his own affairs. He loved his church, and was best satisfied when serving her, or attending services at her altars.

Several years ago Brother Hopkins suffered an attack of influenza, and was left incapacitated for further active service, but as he neared the end, there were no visible marks of fading interest in the things of the kingdom.

The simple, but beautiful funeral service was conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. W. F. Ashburn, and the body of him whom we loved so much, was left to rest beneath the shadows of the grove, where he had gathered so often with his brethren.

J. L. TROLLINGER.

Neese

Mrs. Bettie Ellen Neese passed away at her home August 23, 1932. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Foushee. She leaves to mourn her passing two daughters, Mrs. I. E. Sharpe and Mrs. D. W. Patterson; two sons Ben F. Neese and J. Horace Neese; one sister, Mrs. Mary Ann McKinney; one brother, W. H. Foushee; ten grandchildren, two great grandchildren and a large host of friends.

She was a life long member of Mt. Hermon church, the interest and concern of which was hers till her departure. One of our best and most faithful church members has gone from our midst. She manifested a great interest in the spiritual welfare of herself, home, and the church, but by the influence will be greatly missed, not only by the church, but by the community as well. She was loved and respected by all who knew her.

Even in the midst of her prolonged illness, her faith in her Redeemer was unshaken. While we know that a devoted Christian has gone from us, we realize that our loss is heaven's gain.

May the bereaved be comforted, and have grace to say, the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord.

L. E. MABRY.

Sain

A shadow was cast over our church and the surrounding community Sunday, September 4, when the death angel came and took from our church our faithful Sunday school superintendent, Mr. A. A. Sain. He was a devoted Christian, a loyal church member. He had been Sunday school superintendent

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

for the past 14 years. If Mr. Sain wasn't at church ready to begin Sunday school on Sunday morning on time there was some good reason for it.

We thank God, who doeth all things well, for a life rendered among us so lovable, loyal and faithful.

We the members of Laurel Hill church, very keenly feel our loss, and we would do well to emulate his example of patience and kindness and unselfishness. The church has lost a consecrated Christian. We trust that God will send us another leader as Mr Sain was and that they will have the fine Christian character and that they will render service in all Christian activity, in all walks of life as he did.

He joined Laurel Hill church in early life and ever after remained loyal. He travelled and sold pianos and many a morning in Sunday school we have heard him tell how God would bless him and how he would pray on the road.

He was 71 years old. He had been suffering quite a while, suffering from heart trouble. He was conscious of the fact that death was near. He made the remark, "I love my church and love my people and would like to stay here longer, but that is all right, I'm ready to go."

Funeral service was conducted at Laurel Hill Monday, September 5th at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. D. Shelton, assisted by Rev. J. D. Morris of Falston, and Rev. Wall of Shelby.

Grand daughters and other immediate members of the family acted as flower girls. The Masons, an order of which Mr. Sain was a member, acted as pall bearers. A Masonic service was held at the cemetery. The body was laid to rest in the cemetery under a beautiful mound of flowers. The floral offering and the large audience (two churches full) present for the funeral showed how highly esteemed Mr. Sain was held among his friends, in the church and in the community.

Mr. Sain leaves his wife, and four children: Mrs. D. M. Mull of Lawndale, N. C.; Mrs. Arthur Pendleton of Shelby, N. C.; Mr. Clarence Sain of Lawndale, N. C.; Mr. Odus Sain of Charlotte, N. C. Eight grand-children, one brother, Mr. Andy Sain of Morganton, N. C., and a host of other relatives and every one that knew him has lost a friend.

May his going be a means of drawing each one of us nearer and closer to Thee. May God comfort and bless his family, and ever keep them in His fold. May, we, the members of Laurel Hill church, try to live up to the example Mr. Sain has set for us.

LOIS WILLIS.

LUTHERAN CHURCH CONFERENCE

On Tuesday and Wednesday, September 20th and 21st, the Eastern Conference of the Lutheran church will be held at Coble's church in Eastern Guilford county, six miles south of Whitsett, N. C. This conference will include the ministers and delegates of about thirty Lutheran churches in the territory between Thomasville on the west and Wilmington on the east.

A special feature this year will be the observance of Washington's bi-centennial with an address on "The Religion of George Washington," by Dr. W. T. Whitsett at 11 a. m. on Wednesday, September 21st.

The sessions of the conference are open to the public and many visitors are expected from the various congregations represented.

HIGH POINT COLLEGE

Modern, Fire-Proof,
Well-Equipped Buildings

$380.00, Total cost of dormitory student for Matriculation Fee, Tuition, Room and Board.
$150.00, Total cost for Day Student

Methodist Protestant Owned and Operated

Standard "A" Grade

Courses leading to A.B. and B.S. degree in English, History, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Language, Science and Chemical Engineering, Education, Home Economics, Business Administration, Religious Education and Music

The Place for Methodist Protestant Boys and Girls

For further information address

HIGH POINT COLLEGE - - - HIGH POINT, N. C.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRI AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., SEPTEMBER 29, 1932 NUMBER 45

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Why My Church Is Dear to Me

Why my church is dear to me?
Think awhile and you will see:
There I weekly meet my friends—
Heart with heart in concord blends.

There I see the sons of God
Whom He leads with His own rod,
Pilgrims to a better land,
Helping me to understand.

There I join in songs of praise
As we all our voices raise,
Thanking God for tender care
O'er our race quite everywhere.

There I learn God's wondrous love
Shown to earth from Heaven above,
Trying hard to save us all,
Giving each a special call.

Best of all, God's servant comes
Breaking bread of life in crumbs,
Giving food enough for all,
Whether great or very small.

Very much I love my church—
Couldn't leave it in the lurch!
Dearest spot on earth to me
Is my church, which you must see.

Trying to Live by Bread Alone

Jesus said it cannot be done, but many people are trying to do it. They think the only wise way to spend their money is to spend it for something that will satisfy some physical want or desire. To exchange a bushel of wheat for a Bible seems to them absurd and still more absurd to exchange it for a book of lesser worth than the Bible. The only valuable knowledge to them is that necessary to secure food and raiment and shelter and possibly some hobby of theirs. They have never thought what Jesus meant when he said, "I am come that they might have life and have it more abundantly." Jesus thought of men as destined for a higher and grander life than the beasts that perish. He came to give men a broader and better view. He saw Heaven and immortal glory open to men. He was not willing for men to fall short of their best possibilities. He thought of men as potential sons of God and did his best to make them actual sons of God. But if a man would grow in spiritual stature he must take spiritual nutriment—he cannot live by bread alone.

How pitiable are those that try it. Physically they may be like a stall-fed ox, but in soul they are starving for what they might have in abundance. Jesus illustrated Heaven's spiritual bounty in his great miracles of feeding the multitudes. God has an abundance of spiritual supplies for all. Jesus promised satisfying supplies of spiritual bread. All hunger may be removed to be felt no more. Why do not all men feast their souls on what God has promised in Christ? The nominal Christian life feeds itself on husks and is never satisfied. Its religious exercises cannot satisfy. It needs spiritual food such as only Christ can give. But somehow men refuse to sit at Christ's table and partake of His spiritual diet. They lack faith in its reality. They do not realize that it will nourish in their souls real life, eternal life. They turn rather to material things. They try to feed on bread alone and are famishing and dying. O, that men would take Jesus seriously!

A Haunted House

It was a neighbor's house. Strange sounds were heard almost nightly. It became the talk of the town. It made the family very uncomfortable. People seemed to be avoiding them as though they had leagued themselves with infernal powers. What could they do about it? The strange sounds could not be denied. Anybody walking along the street at night was liable to hear the sound. There was always a swift lumbering sound unaccompanied by groans or outcry and immediately followed by a deathly silence. The head of the house decided to secure the service of a "haunt expert." The expert came and spent a night in the house. The next day he went about town interviewing older citizens. He then framed his report which was as follows:

"Forty years ago when your house was new it was used as an inn and boarding-house. One day a young fellow giving his name as Joe Varner came along and stopped at this inn for the night. He was a sleep-walker and in the course of the night he walked out into the hall, fell down stairs and broke his neck. He probably had some suspicion of foul play in the manner of his death and tried to get even by coming back and disturbing the peace of mind of everybody in this house. If I am correct in this he is going to be hard to get rid of, but I have a plan: Give me $500.00 to build him a splendid monument in his home town where he lies buried and I think he will prefer to spend his nights there gratifying his vanity than here gratifying his revenge."

The house-owner decided to wait awhile before trying so costly experiment and "Lumbering Joe" as he came to be called went on with his disturbances. It was noticed, however, that on the coming of cold weather in the fall he discon-

(Continued on Page Two)

METHODIST PROTESTANT MISSION
Dhulia, West Khandesh, India

August 31, 1932.

Dear Friends of the North Carolina Conference:

It has been quite a long time since I last wrote to you of our work in India. It is a great convenience to have a reporter for each congregation such as you have at home. With us if anything is written we must do it. Blowing one's horn is not so bad as long as there is something unusual to blow about, but to blow like I am doing now furnishes no great enthusiasm. For months we have been on a hard pull with nothing extra done. To add to the daily grind our financial situation is most acute, which possibly puts us in the same class as many of you. Knowing as we do that you have not found the past few months easy, we have loathed the idea of adding to your all too heavy load of care. But the time has come when we feel that possibly you, our friends and supporters, should have some facts. For some time, we have feared that our missionary work was dangerously near a financial disaster, but never did I dream that our Board would permit to happen what is now happening. Feeling as we did about the matter we agreed to return to India for only three years, and now with only two years up, we are expecting to be recalled at any time now. Our checks are six months behind now and we have just cabled for immediate help, as we cannot borrow more. Our Board's Secretary has informed us that the budget would be cut 52 per cent. for the coming year. Not a little cut, you must admit. As bad as this cut is, our condition grows gradually worse by not getting even that amount. Our native workers are most loyal and have taken a reduced salary without a complaint. With the greatest economy we could make out with the budget if the Board could only send that. Tomorrow is the first of the month, and we are expected to pay off at that time, but there is nothing with which to pay the people. It requires a comparatively small amount to pay the salaries of all the native workers, but because their salaries are small, they have nothing laid up for a time like this. In my department alone there are about twenty families on the pay roll. For these people I need less than a hundred dollars to pay their salaries, less than $5.00 per month for each family. We missionaries are ready to divide our salaries with the workers, but as the Board is behind months with salaries for the missionaries, it makes it impossible for us to do anything. Our hearts were made to rejoice just after the Branch Meeting when the Secretary of Thank-Offerings wrote us that a most liberal Thank-Offering had been laid upon the altar. We thought that possibly this offering would relieve matters a little. We have received one cabled check since that time and two days ago, I, as treasurer of the mission, sent another cable asking for immediate funds. Possibly in your minds will come a question like this: What about the Missionaries, have they suffered? I am happy to say that so far we have not suffered. We have been able to borrow and thus get along. But unless funds come soon we must suffer. This is the third month our store-bill remains unpaid. The merchant is most gracious, but it is most embarrassing for us to have to ask him to carry us longer.

Now, friends, may we ask you to come to our aid with your prayers. If possible make your offerings for Missions more just at this time and help your workers to stem the tide. But we plead for your prayers that we may be faithful and not grow weary. It may be that the Lord has a special blessing for us but wants to see if we are ready to receive it, or worthy of a blessing. So if you will remember us in a special way, we shall be most grateful.

Congratulating you upon the splendid work you are doing in every department of the North Carolina conference, I beg to remain,

Faithfully yours,

J. F. Minnis.

THY SUFFICIENCY

Is there a load on thy heart today?
 Christ is sufficient for thee.
Is there a trial, a doubt, or a fear?
 He is sufficient for thee.
He knows thy sorrow, thy need, and thy care,
He will support thee, thy burden will bear,
There's not a heart-ache that He will not share;
 The Lord is sufficient for thee.

What is thy sorrow, beloved of God?
 Jesus will bear it for thee;
Wisdom and might He will give thee to know;
 He will thy Comforter be.
Do not essay to walk on alone,
He would go with thee, th' Almighty One,
Peace shall be thine which guards His own throne,
 Jesus will succour thee.

O thou afflicted, tossed with thy fear,
 God thy Companion will be;
Fear not thy foes that surround will prevail,
 God is sufficient for thee.
He who is with thee will be thy Reward,
God thine own Father who loves thee, thy Guard,
'Tis God thine exceeding great reward,
 God thy sufficiency.

—Help and Food.

A Haunted House

(Continued from Page One)

tinued his visits. But when summer returned Joe made his presence known. But one summer in a very unexpected way Joe's visits were brought to an end for all time. A new electrical refrigerator took the place of the old ice box and scared Joe away to come no more. The rumbling had all been caused by avalanches of melting lumps of ice in the ice box.

—We thank Rev. J. F. Minnis for some clippings from a paper published in India, showing some of the strange doings of that pagan land. We are glad to have an article from Brother Minnis this week.

—We thank the kind friends who have sent us notes of personal regard recently. They do us good like a medicine.

GIVING

"It is more blessed to give than to receive." Such were the words of our Lord Jesus Christ.

They are unrecorded in the pages of the Gospels, but they are stamped upon every footprint, they are written clearly on all His self-sacrificing life, and stand forth in unmistakable characters on the Cross of Calvary. His stoop to the manger-cradle. His ministry of grace to man, His unswerving faithfulness to His mission, all tell the same story—He had come, the Son of Man, not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many.

"To Minister, and to Give"

And to minister is but another form of giving. The "more blessed" portion was ever with Him—and though we can have no part in His finished atoning work, yet He has left us an example that we should follow His steps, and "minister" and "give."

In the Apostle Paul's history we have the record of one who has trodden that pathway—following afar off it may be, but following surely.

The Lord Jesus was perfect, "by evil all untainted," Holy in His being—the Holy Thing born of the virgin—Holy in all His goings—Holy in all His thoughts. And we are so unlike Him.

And yet Paul, a man of like passions with ourselves, has known what it was to spend and be spent for others—and to teach by his actions the greater blessedness of being a donor than of being a recipient. How nobly he stands forth before the elders of Ephesus and calls them to bear witness how he had labored with his own hands among them for the supply of his necessities and of those who accompanied him, thus stirring up their pure minds to recall Christ's course of giving.

And of others Paul could testify that they had surpassed his expectations, for they had first of all given themselves to the Lord and then laid themselves out for the welfare of the Apostles "and to us by God's will." Then free-hearted liberality was evidenced—up to and beyond their power they were willing to bestow their goods to meet the needs of saints they had never seen, but with whom they were linked by spiritual ties.

And we all may give. For this we are here. Our business on earth is to give. We are the Lord's almoners. In what moral dignity we may come out in this world of greed and lust. We are privileged to dispense of Heaven's best for the supply of the world's dire distress. "Out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water" said the blessed Lord of the One who believes upon Him. Shame on us if we turn aside from our high calling and seek the riches, honors, glories and favors of a world which has murdered Christ.—Scattered Seed.

THE CHRIST-FILLED LIFE

Jesus is in you, but waits to fill you. Away with every hindrance, and let Him sanctify you wholly! As He fills, He will drive your sin before Him, as the stream in the radiator drives the cold before it when you turn the valve. The radiator is an ugly piece of cold iron. It is as destitute of heat as you and I of holiness. When you want heat in it, you must let it in from outside, just as, if you want holiness, you must get it from the Holy One. If you turn the valve a little way, just half a turn, a little heat comes in, but the steam makes a terrible noise, which always makes me think of people who have just enough holiness to make them miserable. But when you turn the valve until you can turn no more, and the whole aperture is open toward the supply of hot air or steam, it rushes freely in. Oh that this were a true emblem of the condition of our hearts toward God, when the whole nature lies unveiled before Him, that every part of it may be sanctified, because God-possessed.—F. B. Meyer.

SIGHT!

When upward do I turn my eyes
'Tis then I see beyond the skies.

When forward do I take a look,
'Tis then that life's a puzzling book.

When sideways, I commence to stare,
'Tis then I see the devil's snare.

When backward do I take some glances,
I see that I've missed many chances.

When inward I direct my gaze
'Tis then I dwell in dark and haze.

When outward do I try to see
'Tis then that all o'erwhelmeth me.

When all around my eyes do wander
On falseness they perforce must ponder.

Yes, upward is the place to look,
Then life becomes an open book.

Faith's sight goes on when eyes you close,
"Trust Me," Christ says, "and find repose."
—Warren H. Lloyd.

ESCAPING TRIBULATION

Most Christians eagerly desire to escape tribulation. Yet Scripture says that tribulation worketh patience! Tribulation also worketh courage. Rightly accepted trial, persecution, ridicule make us more courageous for Christ. In the midst of the battle we learn to fight. We were recently told of a man who had a dog that was afraid of rats—yet the dog should have been a rat-catcher. The owner therefore caught four rats and put them into a deep tub, and then threw the dog into the midst of them! The rats attacked the dog, but their very attack stirred him up into frenzied activity. At the close the dog remained badly bitten—but the rats were dead! From that time the dog was a terror to rats. He learned to fight by being plunged into the battle. If you are afraid to give out tracts because of what people will say, the best way is to start doing it in the midst of a frivolous crowd of the ungodly. Their taunts will sting you, a blush may frequently come to your cheeks, but in the midst of the battle you will become strong. Don't be so anxious to escape tribulation as to learn the lessons that God has for you in the midst of it.—Elim Evangel.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Not So Well

We visited Dr. McCulloch, our beloved Editor, yesterday, and found him not so well, though he was up and giving attention to his editorial work. His failing health is a source of much regret to his many readers, and he will still have our prayers for the healing touch of the Great Physician.

Creswell

According to appointment we were on this charge Sunday, September 18, and visited all of the five churches. By arriving Saturday we had an appointment at Rehoboth that night. The other four churches were visited on Sunday, with appointments as follows: Mt. Hermon 11 a. m.; Woodley's Chapel, 2 p. m.; Mt. Elma, 4 p. m.; and Creswell at night. At three of the churches the attendance was gratifying. The largest number present during the day was at Mt. Elma. This is the first time we have seen the work as a whole. Our impressions are favorable. There are pleasing evidences of opportunity and progress on the charge. Brother Russell, the pastor, was able to attend us during the day, though he has not yet fully recovered from his operation. He is giving himself thoughtfully and earnestly to the work. We were pleased to hear the people speak commendingly of him, and to find this attitude reciprocated by the pastor. The salary is as well up as on the average charge, and considerable will be paid,—we hope all. Budget claims are very much in arrears, practically nothing having been paid up to the time of our visit. However, we trust that this may be changed before the year closes. We bespeak for the brethren an earnest attention to this, and also salary obligations during these closing weeks. We enjoyed our visit to this charge, and our indebtedness is hereby acknowledged to the following persons for entertainment in their homes: Brother and Sister Guilford Davenport, Brother and Sister Elwood Davenport, Brother and Sister O. D. Hatfield, and Sister Alfred Alexander. It was a pleasure to us to be in these homes.

More Help for South Winston

On our return home this week from our eastern trip we found in our mail another donation for our South Winston church. The amount is $5, and comes, as did the other offering, from one of our good women—the wife of a devoted member, now of sainted memory, of one of our prominent rural churches. It is interesting, too, to note that both of these offerings came from the eastern section of our conference. Thanks to these good women. NOW FOR MORE! The immediate pressing need is windows and some way of heating the building for the winter. We understand that the windows will cost about $10 each. There will be twelve or fifteen in the building. Let's have 150 persons who will give $1 each for these windows. It is our judgment that this will be a $1 well invested. We have $6 now; let's run that "way up" by next week. Watch for the report.

This Is Good

Brother Bates writes: "We are overpaid to date on World Service, and are within $30 of having our A. C. B. paid in full. The College assessment is already paid out. All church debt is taken care of to date. A fine increase in church membership, with several more coming in next Sunday. So we are happy. Why not." And we say, "Why not?", too.

Brother M. C. Henderson writes: "We raised our A. C. B. at Liberty Hill yesterday, and I am sure that we will raise it at Fairview next Sunday. We are using the cotton plan again, and it works well." In the HERALD of this week he says, "Yesterday was a fine day for us at this place (Fairview). We raised our A. C.B., and I am sure that they will pay pastor in full and send him to conference happy."

These reports reflect a very happy and encouraging condition both spiritually and mentally. We trust that they may be duplicated on many charges. We shall appreciate it if pastors will notify us of specially encouraging aspects of their work, so we can pass it on for the inspiration that it may give to other charges.

October

By order of the Conference, this is Tithing and Pay-Up month, and the SECOND Sunday is designated as Annual Conference Day. The idea is to enroll as many permanent tithers as possible, and to get all of our people to tithe at least during this one month. On the Second Sunday emphasis is to be given in the public services to our Annual Conference interests;—as Our Children's Home, High Point College, the METHODIST PROTESTANT HERALD, our Superannuates, Board of Church Extension, Conference Council of Religious Education, Women's Work, Laymen's Organization, Bethel Home, and anything else that concerns us primarily as a Conference. We urge upon our churches the program of this month. These are all worthy objects, and if they are thoughtfully and earnestly pressed, good results will follow. As Pay-Up Month, October is timely from two considerations: Crops are being gathered and marketed. This is important because many of our churches are rural. And second, this is the end of our conference year. If we do not pay-up in October, we will not pay up at all. Of course something will be done during the one week that follows in November, but we can't count on that for a great deal. In point of time, October is "sure enough" Pay-Up Month. If we fail then, not much will be done during the few remaining days to change our records. Let's bestir ourselves, brethren, and make October a real "PAY -UP" Month.

Allotment for Conference Council (Young People's Work)

Schools with 100 members and less	$2.00
Schools with 101 members to 200	3.00
Schools with 201 members to 301	4.00
Schools with 301 members to 400	5.00
Schools with 401 members, and over	6.00
C. E. Societies with 10 members or less	1.00
C. E. Societies with 11 to 20 members	2.00
C. E. Societies with 21 to 30 members	3.00
C. E. Societies with 31 members and over	4.00

For the past four years we have been attempting to finance the Conference Council of Religious Education by small contributions from our Sunday Schools and C. E. Societies. We give above the allotment for this purpose. The amount is not large for any school or society; but if our 216 schools and our 119 societies would contribute this small amount the aggregate would be from $800 to a $1,000. We urge that this matter be pressed in all of our churches. It is imperative that we have these small offerings, and the time in which we have to raise them is short. Please begin next Sunday, and let there be no let up until every school and every society has paid. And when the amount is raised, please tell us so. A postal card will do. SEND THE OFFERING TO DR. BROWN. IT COUNTS ON YOUR A. C. B.

An Appeal to Our Stewards

For sometime I have been imbued with a growing conviction that the financing of the church belongs to the laiety. And I have good precedent for this,—that of the Apostles. They requested the laymen to take over the material business of the church and leave them free to pray and prepare sermons. I believe that this is still God's plan. I am therefore, appealing to our laymen, and especially to our stewards, to accept this obligation, and to undertake wholeheartedly and thoughtfully this task of the church. I hear this remark frequently: "The stewards have done very little." And where that can be said it almost invariably follows that the finances of the charge are greatly in arrears. A consecrated and active board of stewards will nearly solve the financial problem of the church. You notice I say "nearly." Stewards, of course, can't extort money from members,—even those who have it. And they should not, if they could, for "God loveth a cheerful giver." But a board of stewards, who are themselves consecrated, and who recognize their responsibility to God in this phase of the church, have much,—VERY MUCH,—to do in determining whether the financial obligations of the church are paid or unpaid. I APPEAL TO THE STEWARDS THROUGHOUT THE CONFERENCE TO PUT THIS TO THE TEST DURING THESE CLOSING WEEKS.

Appointments

September 30.—Spartanburg.
October 1-2.—Mecklenburg charge.
October 3.—Charlotte.
October 5-6.—Midland charge.
October 7.—Community Church, 7:30 p. m.
October 9.—Graham, 11 a. m.
October 9.—Julian, 7:30 p. m.
October 16.—Weaverville charge.
October 17-18.—Democrat charge.
October 19.—Asheville.
October 22.—Cleveland charge.
October 23.—Connelly Springs.
October 30.—Yadkin College.

"Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God."

Fraternally yours,

S. W. Taylor.

September 27, 1932.

UNSELFISHNESS

'Tis only a friendly greeting
Or lending a helping hand
To cheer some life that is lonely,
Or point to "the better land."

A word or a smile costs nothing,
And 'twill make your own heart light;
Then shun not this duty gentle,
Of making some sad life bright.

Only to lighten the burdens
That sorrowing ones must bear,
There are kindly deeds and many
To lessen the loads of care.

It need not cost you a penny—
Perhaps you have none to spare—
Yet you may ease in a measure
Some weary one's grief or care.

Just try it and find the echo
Returning to fill your heart,
A blessing of fullest measure
Where springs of gentleness start.

—Grit Supplement.

WORKING FOR HIM

Oh, may I ever work for Him
Who shed His blood for me;
And may I ever feel the price
He paid upon the tree.
How could I see Him suff'ring there
For all the world—for me,
Then work for fame—for price in gold—
Oh, Lord, forbid—I pray.

Just let my feet go here and there,
But at His bidding move
My hands and heart surrendered are
To show to man His love.
So, may I ever live and teach
Because I love Him so—
Till sight replace the faith I hold
When Jesus takes me Home.

—Selected.

LOVE

Peter Miller, pastor of a Baptist church in Pennsylvania, walked sixty miles to see General Washington in Philadelphia in the days of the Revolutionary war to ask a pardon for a man condemned for treason. Washington refused the request, saying he was sorry he could not do what he wanted for his friend. "My friend," Miller exclaimed, "I have not a worse enemy in the world." Washington asked him why he walked sixty miles to try to save his enemy's life, and Miller told him that he was endeavoring to carry out the Saviour's commands. Washington was so impressed with the Christian spirit of the man, that he signed the desired pardon.—Publisher Unknown.

OUR STORY PAGE

HOW ROBERT SPENT HIS BIRTHDAY

The writer was passing through one of the London streets on his way to make some usual business calls in the locality, when suddenly he became aware that a little boy was by his side, evidently desiring to join in the walk by trying to keep pace. He was very poorly clad, having no hat, and his boots were well-nigh worn out.

Giving the little fellow a look of encouragement, I soon secured his confidence, and the following conversation took place between us.

''Ah!'' he said, looking up and showing me a note he held in his hand, ''I am going home from school.''

''What!'' I replied. ''A quarter past nine and you are going home from school? You ought to be in school.''

''No,'' he again repeated; ''I am going home.'' Being curious as to this I inquired, ''What for?''

''Because my sister is ill,'' was the answer.

I continued my inquiry by asking, ''What is the matter with your sister?''

''She is very poorly with her ear, and the teacher at school says I am to take this note to my mother, and my mother is to take my sister to a doctor.'' Then, looking up into my face, he said simply, ''Are you a doctor?''

''No, I am not a doctor, but I do hope your sister will get better,'' I replied.

And then, as we walked on, he disclosed the fact that it was his birthday, and that he was eight years old that day. We became very sympathetic on that subject at once and both of us agreed that birthdays were good. I then asked him if he had a Bible.

''Yes, I have,'' he said.

''And do you read it?''

''Yes, I do,'' came the reply.

I then suggested that because it was his birthday and that he was going home from school, he was very glad, and would not, on that account, hurry back to his lessons.

He at once replied, ''No, I am not glad, and shall run back to school as fast as ever I can.''

I was not quite prepared for this answer, and said, ''For what reason?''

''Why,'' he replied eagerly, ''because it is our Scripture lesson this morning.''

''Well, that is interesting,'' I remarked. ''What are you reading?''

The little fellow slowed up in his walk and said quietly, and in a tone of reverence with which I was deeply touched, ''We are reading where Jesus died on the Cross.''

''Ah!'' I said, ''and can you tell me why Jesus died on the Cross?''

''That He might save us from our sins,'' came the sweet reply.

''Yes,'' I answered, ''that is quite right. And now tell me—do you know that Jesus died to save you from your sins?''

''Yes, I do,'' said he, and waving the note he was still holding in his hand, away he ran to the left of a bridge, whilst my way was to the right, over the bridge. And so we parted.

Our walk together was finished, but before taking up my daily toil I gladly lifted up my heart to God with deep joy and praise to thank Him once again for giving Jesus, His own dear Son, to die, and for the happy experience of seeing one so young with the desire for the Word of God that tells us about Jesus; and then for the happiness of speaking together as we walked of the precious Saviour in such a simple and touching way.

Hebrews 2, verses 8 and 9, came in a fresh way to my mind: ''But now we see not yet all things put under Him. But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that He by the grace of God should taste death for every man.''

When Jesus was on this earth, treading that path of sorrow and suffering which led Him to the Cross to die on account of sin He said, ''I am the Good Shepherd: the Good Shepherd giveth His life for the sheep'' (John 10:11). How wonderful! and if we will believe His Word and trust in Him, we too shall be able to say, ''The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want'' (Ps. 23:1), for now in Glory He is the same yesterday, and today, and for ever (Heb. 13:8).

Dear reader, will you trust Him and trust Him now? Do not rest until you know the Lord Jesus as your own personal Saviour, and be able to say, like the dear little boy, ''Yes, I do know that He died to save me.''

For ''whosoever shall call upon the Name of the Lord shall be saved'' (Rom. 10:13).

Jesus, how much Thy Name unfolds
To every opened ear,
The pardoned sinner's memory holds
None other half so dear.

The mention of Thy Name shall bow
Our hearts to worship Thee,
The chiefest of ten thousand Thou,
Whose love has set us free.

—Gospel Stories for the Young.

HOW THE GUILTY BOY GOT FREE

One morning Willie, the younger brother, was rather unwell, and for a while it did not seem as if he would be able to attend school that day, but he became better, and it was decided that he might go.

There were certain rules and regulations in the school—things which the pupils were to do and things they were not to do—and it was known to the boys that the master would not allow an act of disobedience to go unpunished. He had given full directions and stated distinctly what was to be done, and he would not depart from his word.

The school began, and the boys were all attentively at work. The master looked around; everything was going on well, and he was pleased. But presently a boy did the very thing which he had been told not to do—went quite contrary to the master's known desire and will. How gladly this boy would hide himself. But the master's quick eye was scanning the room, observing all that was going on. His eye rested upon the guilty boy, and he called him up.

Now, while the master and the school were looking upon the offender, Johnnie grew exceedingly thoughtful, for the guilty boy was none other than his brother Willie, whom he loved very much. Johnnie thought of the punishment which Willie's offence must certainly receive. He knew it would be useless to ask the master to let his brother off; besides the master would only be acting right in punishing little Willie, and Willie would only be receiving that which he had brought upon himself. But Johnnie kept wondering if he could get his brother free.

Presently he thought of a way by which perhaps Willie could escape.

"What, Willie get off!" does my young reader say? "How could the master keep his word, and yet the guilty boy get free?"

Johnnie knew very well that the master could not let the offence go by unpunished and still keep his word; but, for all that, he had thought of a way by which the master might maintain his position and the act of disobedience also receive the full penalty due to it. So he went up straight to him, acknowledged that his brother was guilty and deserved to suffer, and then said: "My brother deserves the punishment, but, please, sir, allow me to bear it in his stead."

Now, the master was a gracious man and was quite willing to let the boy go free, if that were possible, so he accepted Johnnie as the punishment-bearer instead of his brother.

Willie's freedom now depended entirely upon Johnnie's accomplishing that which he undertook to do. Should Johnnie fail, then Willie must bear the punishment. And if Johnnie would only bear part, then the remainder must come upon Willie. For him to be free the whole must be borne.

A touching scene ensued. The guilty boy was taken from the place where he stood and the boy who had done nothing deserving of punishment stood in his place. The boys all looked on in wonder while the master took the rod, and stroke upon stroke fell upon Johnnie, and when the last stroke was borne then Willie was free. The offence had received its due; it had been borne by one who did not deserve it, but who willingly stood in the place of the guilty.

Thus you see how the guilty boy got free. His punishment was borne by another—by his brother who loved him, and who patiently endured it so that he might be saved from it.

I have often thought of this incident. It is an illustration of the way in which God can righteously save the sinner who believes, seeing that Christ has died.

In Christ, the beloved Son of God, we have the only One who could answer to the requirements of God, who could do anything for the sinner. He, according to the Father's will became man, and on the Cross received the full weight of the judgment due to sin, leaving nothing to be done—nothing to be borne. Hear His own words, "It is finished"; and see in God's raising Him from the dead and taking Him to His own right hand in Heaven that which gives assurance that all is accomplished. He who had done "nothing amiss" suffered, the "Just for the unjust." The full amount of stripes came upon Him, for God did not lessen the judgment because His Son was the bearer of it, but dealt with Him according to that which sin deserved.

God is now able, righteously, to save all who, believing Him, put their trust in Christ Jesus.—The Prairie Overcomer.

◆

A HIDDEN TREASURE

A poor man died in France, and his wife could not earn enough alone to buy her daily bread.

She sold everything she could spare, and then went to live in a garret of an old house.

One day she sat there all alone, hungry and hopeless, when she thought she saw something like the shape of a little door behind the whitewash on the wall.

There had been a great war. People had hidden their treasures from the soldiers, and afterwards had been killed themselves.

"Perhaps there is some rich treasure hidden there," thought the woman; "perhaps it is for me."

She began to pry about the little place to see if anything were there, and sure enough a little door opened. But she found only a damp, moldy old Book!

The poor woman was going to shut the door and leave the Book where she found it, when she began to wonder what kind of a Book any one would want to hide like that.

She opened the volume and read: "Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. * * * Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your Heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much more than they?"

"Ah, that was very sweet!" The poor widow read on, all day and nearly all night, almost forgetting to sleep.

She began to see that she had found a treasure indeed. She felt no longer alone. God was with her in her garret, and she cried no more as she ate her simple food.

When at last God called her Home, she went with joy and love.

The Book she found was our own Bible. Some poor soul had placed this where he thought angry soldiers would not find it, and take it away from him.

Was it not hidden treasure?—Publisher Unknown.

◆

—The editor regrets inability to attend the anniversary service at West End last Sunday. A visiting brother reports an interesting and appropriate service with the biggest pile of money in the offering he ever saw. West End pastor and people have the spirit of progress and devotion to the church.

—Some think the hardest thing editors have to do is to write editorials. But that is easy compared with this: Convincing a zealous young brother that his castigating article should not be published.

—Rev. R. J. Tamblyn has accepted a call to the pastorate of First Presbyterian church, Chapel Hill, N. C.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

By W. M. HOWARD

President of High Point College C. E. Society

Oct. 2.—HOW DOES THE TEACHING OF JESUS CHANGE BUSINESS.

Scripture Text—Luke 19:1-8.

With the great complications which have arisen in the industrial world, one can easily see that some remedy is needed. The teachings of Jesus have changed living conditions, both materially and spiritually, where they have been tried. We are asking tonight, how much have the teachings of Jesus changed business where they have been given a reasonable trial. Business is changed only as the individuals engaged in it are changed. Laws can never right the evils of unfair business but the power of Jesus in the heart will destroy the desire for these sins.

There are many qualities which make up good business; one of these is confidence. There is not enough money available to do the business of the United States alone so a system of credit is used. With our checking exchange great amounts of money are passed from hand to hand without any cash being used. Great amounts of money are loaned on a note. All of these are necessities to business for the system of barter (of past days) is not workable today. This requires confidence; but what if the trusted one proves untrustworthy? Without the right control of one's life and a sense of honor, it is a real danger to business. Fair dealing is another quality of good business. The grocer has plenty of chances to give short weights or to put inferior goods off on you. The spirit of Christ in the heart makes the grocer as honest with you as he would expect you to be with him. Fair dealing, truth in advertising, co-operation between employees and employer are other qualities of good business.

There are firms which are unfair to their customers. They are putting inferior goods on them and are charging too much for their commodities. A firm that is dominated by the teachings of Jesus will be free from such. Many companies are working their employees at a starvation wage and are amassing fortunes themselves. Any business which is crushing and destroying personality is sinful. The greatest goal of any people is to build personality and all other aims should be secondary to this.

Employers owe their employees a fair wage and the best working conditions which they are able to supply. The employee has a debt equally as large. Every wage-earner is morally bound to give his benefactor value received for his wage. Instead of beating time each chance that comes, the employee would be as diligent when the "boss" is present as when he is absent. Christianity places a moral imperative to do good work and condemns slighted work. A wreck occurred in which a young man was killed. An examination showed that it was caused by defective workmanship in a part of the car. A workman slighted his work, probably because the whistle was blowing, and a loss of life was the result.

A dealer is expected to be honest with his patrons and in return may demand the same from them. I once knew a blind man engaged in a type of business. He could tell a person the price of his goods but must depend on the customers honesty to give him the correct change or trust them with his money in making change. You may think no person would cheat a blind man; no, and no real Christian will fraud when there is little chance of being detected. At a certain place, candy and various kinds of eats are displayed on tables and it is left to the purchasers honor to play fair with the owners. There is little temptation here for a person who is dominated by the teachings of Jesus.

At the time of Christ, one who loaned his money with interest was a usurer; we count a person a usurer who charges more than the legal rate of interest. There is a man of my acquaintance who lends money to a great number of people. He lends mainly to people who are in need of a small amount of cash and in addition to his regular rate of interest he generally draws a bonus. The teachings of Jesus in use in this man's heart would condemn such a practice.

Most people would free themselves by saying that there is nothing that they can do. Each is responsible for himself, yet one's example may lead others to practice the teachings of Christ. Every person has a personal responsibility in the business world whether his part is small or great.

The teachings of Jesus in practice in the world offer the only satisfactory settlement of the ills of the business realm. When men become dominated by the will of Christ rather than the love of gain, honor and honesty will be the soul of business. The imperative to righteousness is from within and can never be legislated.

Quotable Poetry

THE GOSPEL OF LABOR FROM "THE TOILING OF FELIX"

"Hearken, good and faithful servant, true disciple, loyal friend,
Thou hast followed me and found me: I will keep thee to the end.

"Well I know thy toil and trouble; often weary, fainting, worn,
I have lived the life of labor, heavy burdens I have borne.

"Never in a prince's palace have I slept on golden bed,
Never in a hermit's cavern have I eaten unearned bread.

"Born within a lowly stable, where the cattle round me stood,
Trained a carpenter in Nazareth, I have toiled, and found it good.

"They who tread the path of labour follow where my feet have trod;
They who work without complaining do the holy will of God.

"Where the many toil together, there am I among my own;
Where the tired workman sleepeth, there am I with him alone.

"I the peace that passeth knowledge, dwell amid the daily strife;
I, the bread of heaven, am broken in the sacrament of life.

"Every task, however simple, sets the soul that does it free;
Every deed of love and mercy, done to man, is done to me.

"Thou hast learned the open secret; thou hast come to me for rest;
With thy burden, in thy labour, thou art Felix doubly blest.

"Nevermore thou needest seek me; I am with thee everywhere; Raise the stone, and thou shalt find me; cleave the wood, and I am there."

—Henry Van Dyke.

Suggested Program

Hymn—I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord.
Introduction of Meeting.
Scripture—Luke 19:1-8.
Hymn—Father in Heaven, Who Lovest All.
Topic—Is the Golden Rule applicable in modern business?
Topic—Christ, the cure for business diseases.
Poem—The Gospel of Labour.
Business Ethics—discussed by some business man or men.
Poem.
Offertory—Living for Jesus.
Hymn—I Am Thine, O Lord—first and second verses.
Roll Call—answered by Bible Verse.
Stand with bowed heads and hum one verse of I Need Thee Every Hour.
Mizpah Benediction.

Timely Poem

I want to go out with my head erect,
I want to deserve all men's respect;
And here in the struggle for fame and pelf
I want to be able to like myself.
I don't want to look at myself and know
That I'm bluster and bluff and empty show.

I can never hide myself from me;
I see what others may never see;
I know what others may never know;
I never can fool myself; and so
Whatever happens I want to be Self-respecting and conscience-free.

—Anon.

ATTENTION TO PARENTS, STUDENTS AND TO PASTORS

A number of students come to Greensboro every year to attend college. A number of these students come from good Methodist Protestant homes. West End church is only a few blocks from our colleges and our church is a nice little home-like place whose doors are open to all and the students are given a special invitation. A card from any pastor or parents requesting that pastoral attention be given any student would be appreciated. The undersigned would be glad to be of any service possible. We have a good Sunday School with good classes where students would be welcome. Those who would like to teach might find work of that kind to do.

GEO. L. CURRY,
1801 Spring Garden St.
Greensboro, N. C.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Mt. Carmel, Forsyth	$ 3.00
Shiloh S. S., Shiloh	4.44
Concord S. S.	20.00
Mr. Geo. R. Ross, Raleigh, personal	5.00
Charlotte S. S., Richland, clothing child	6.41
Union Grove, Orange	1.50
West End S. S., Thomasville	7.00
Friendship S. S., Haw River	5.00
Mt. Zion, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	3.11
Glen Raven, program by the children	7.90
Glen Raven C. E. society, clothing child	5.00
Fountain Place, program by children	20.00
Gibsonville, program by the children	20.75
Philathea class, Gibsonville, feeding child	5.30

Clothing and Other Gifts

Friends at Fountain Place, 13 dresses, two coats, two pieces underwear, two hats and one tam, one waist and one skirt, two suits, two cans fruit, coat hangers and coupons. We are thankful for all these gifts in money and in substance. We had a good day last Sunday with Fountain Place, Glen Raven and Gibsonville, thanks to the pastors and their good people.

We realize that conference is approaching and that not many churches will be wanting us to give a program with our children in their communities before conference. We have one more engagement and that is at First church, Burlington, on Sunday evening, October 9th. If we may visit your church please let us know, and we will come if possible.

One More Month to Conference

When this reaches our readers it will then be just a bit over one month until conference meets. Just one more monthly offering for the Home. May we depend upon every Sunday School in the conference for a good offering?

We are headed into the winter with many things to provide for our children. All of you love the children, and we thank you for your response to this.

Harvest-Home Offering

Every church and every charge can, and many will plan a good harvest-home offering for the Children's Home. Give everybody a chance and many will respond. We thank you and may God bless all of you.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

Note.—A good hand bell for use in the Girls' dormitory has just been left at the office, the gift of Mrs. C. W. Bates. This will ring through the halls each day for many months calling the girls to get up, to come to meals and to respond to duties. Thanks Mrs. Bates.—A. G. D.

◆

—Napoleon hated to wear a new hat and wore his old ones until they literally fell apart on his head.

SPECIAL OFFERING OF TITHING LITERATURE

The Layman Company, 730 Rush Street, Chicago, will furnish to churches a set of bulletins for a tithing campaign, including one especially written for present conditions entitled "Tithing in Hard Times." These bulletins have two pages blank for the use of the local church. Price list and samples sent on request includes a pamphlet, "Teaching the Church to Tithe," containing full directions for a ten weeks' program of silent, church-wide education at trifling expense.

Please mention the M. P. Herald, also give your denomination.

SONG OF MY HEART

I do not want riches
Or great public name,
I sigh not for conquest
Or immortal fame;
I want only you, dear,
And never to part,
Mine now and for ever,
Song of my heart.

'Mid shadows and sunshine,
When life seems all wrong,
I'll turn to you, sweetheart,
The theme of my song.
One thought of you, dearest,
New joy will impart,
You're mine, dear, forever,
Song of my heart.

As joyful years pass
Like a rose-laden day,
When life etches wrinkles
And your hair turns to grey,
I'll hold you still closer,
And fill my true part,
You're mine, dear, forever,
Song of my heart.

—Grenville Kleiser.

THE PEARL OF GREAT PRICE

The precious pearl of price,
I sought to make my own;
Far and wide I searched
But came back tired and lone.

In books I looked in vain,
Enquired of learned men;
And when morning dawned,
My quest began again.

Hopeless seemed the search,
At last in deep despair,
One way still left to me,
I turned to God in prayer.

"Go sell all that thou hast
And give unto the poor;
Then yours will be the pearl,
And happiness secure."

—Grenville Kleiser.

END OF A RADIO BARK

Mike, whose bark has been heard by thousands over the radio, is dead. He is supposed to have nibbled at some poison bread put out for sparrows. He started barking for Filmore's band over WLW and wound up by barking in rhythm with Goldman's band over a national hookup.—Pathfinder.

NOTICE TO PASTORS, S. S. SUPERINTENDENTS AND C. E. PRESIDENTS

Please see that your Sunday Schools and Christian Endeavor societies pay their apportionment for Young People's Work. The needs of the council are many and the dollars are few. But if every Sunday School and Christian Endeavor society will do their part. We can close our year's work in a very satisfactory way. Friends, please do not fail us.

The following is the apportionment for Young People's Work:

Schools with 100 members or less	$2.00
Schools with 101 to 200	3.00
Schools with 201 to 300	4.00
Schools with 301 to 400	5.00
Schools with 401 and over	6.00
C. E. Societies with 10 members or less	$1.00
C. E. Societies with 11 to 20	2.00
C. E. Societies with 21 to 30	3.00
C. E. Societies with 31 and over	4.00

Remember that money sent in for this work counts on A. C. B. Send all money to Dr. Brown.

T. J. WHITEHEAD, President,
Council of Religious Education.

TO THE 14TH DISTRICT AND NEARBY TERRITORY

This is to give notice that there will be conducted a Leadership Training School in the First Methodist Protestant church, Winston-Salem, beginning Monday night, October 10 and closing Friday night, October 14th. Those who can find help in a school like this are: Sunday School officers and teachers, Christian Endeavor workers, those interested in missionary work, those interested in the Bible, those interested in Christian living and those wanting to make ther homes more Christian.

There will be four standard courses taught and one Young People's course. The work will begin each evening at 7:30 and there will be two class periods for each course with a brief devotional period. Rev. N. M. Harrison will be the director and will give further notice concerning the couses and the teachers. Plan now to attend. The cost will be 25 cents registration fee, plus cost of the book you study.

J. E. PRITCHARD, Chm. of District.

CREATER PRODUCTION WITH FEWER LABORERS

In the New York Times William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, enumerates a few instances in which improved machinery and administration are throwing men out of work. The problem is to find new and profit-employment for these displaced men. Here is the list:

1. There were 32,000 razor blades per operative in 1930 as against 500 in 1913.

2. Thirty men with ten machines in the shops of the Sun Tube Company do as much work as 240 men had done previously.

3. One man with a "gang" of semi-automatic machines replaces 25 skilled mechanics.

4. Within five years the Bessemer process was improved so that it required 24 per cent less labor, and in pig-iron production seven men did work which formerly took the labor of 60.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

West Forsyth.—Our revival meeting at Harmony Grove church had a splendid beginning last Sunday. The church was practically filled at all three services. The pastor preached at the morning and afternoon services. The Friendly Road quartet, of near Guilford College, was present and sang three selections at each of the day services. Rev. Wayne Curtis, of Burlington, arrived in time for the morning service and directed the congregation in singing at both day services. Brother Curtis preached at the night service and his message was received with rapt attention by the large congregation. Brother J. M. Brown, of Guilford College, was present and directed the song service.

The pastor and family had as their weekend guests the following: Mrs. C. I. Hargrove and son, Clyde Hargrove, and Miss Gaynell Harmon, all of Burlington. Mrs. Hargrove is a sister of Mrs. Way. Guests at the parsonage for supper Saturday were Miss Flora Thomas and brother, Mr. A. L. Thomas, members of the faculty of Old Richmond school.

Our appointments for next Sunday will be at Baltimore chorch at 11 a. m. and at Stony Knoll church at 3 p. m. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at each service. After next Sunday we will have only one more appointment at each church on the charge before the meeting of the annual conference.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

◆

First Church, Burlington.—This church observed yesterday as Rally Day. A very interesting and helpful program was arranged for the evening service by an appointed committee as follows: Misses Swannie Coble and Nettie Mae Smith, Mrs. H. W. Wade and Mrs. Floy Rogers. Mr. C. C. Lindley, S S. superintendent, was in charge of service. Special music was rendered by the Central quartet and a ladies' quartet composed of Misses Elizabeth Rogers and Lula Riddle, Mrs. H. W. Wade and Mrs. Floy Rogers.

The speakers were as follows: Professor Roland, superintendent of city school; J. W. Lindsey and Mr. Robertson. All of them were teachers in graded schools and they gave some good points to children and parents also. The program as a whole was splendid and the committee is to be highly commended for their work.

Attendance at S. S. was 308 yesterday. After church at the 11 o'clock hour, a report from the nominating committee for officers for the coming year, was given, which was accepted as read and the new officers will be installed next Sunday.

The pastor is away this week helping with a revival in Reidsville.

On Sunday, October 2, at 3 o'clock the Central District Convention will convene at the First M. P. church of this city. We are hoping that this convention will be the best yet, but it cannot be without the co-operation of your society. An award will be given to the Young People or Senior society traveling the most miles to reach the convention, the total miles being the number of miles from the society to the convention multiplied by the number of Endeavorers present. An award will also be given the Intermediate society traveling the most miles and an Intermediate rally will be held separate and apart from the other convention. The Junior society traveling the most miles will also receive an award, and the Juniors will also have their own rally. Everyone is requested to bring a picnic lunch and enjoy the good fellowship of the picnic hour from 6 to 7. A good program is arranged for both the afternoon and evening service.

REPORTER.

◆

Hebron, Orange Charge.—Rev. B. M. Williams filled the regular appointment Sunday morning. He delivered in his usual manner a helpful and earnest message. It is difficult to find words to express just how much we appreciate Mr. Williams and his earnest soul-stirring sermons. He is a man of faith and experience. May the Lord abundantly bless him as he labors in His vineyard.

Communion service was held at the service Sunday. Many people took part in the sacrament.

The Sunday School is a very interesting part of the church work. The superintendent, J. A. Nicholson, is capable of carrying on this work in a successful manner.

Christian Endeavor is held each Sunday night. This phase of the work is proving very helpful in training the young people. The pastor met with the society Sunday night and gave many splendid thoughts, also, Rev. N. N. Flemming, pastor of Hawfield Presbyterian church, came and delivered a helpful message. Many thanks for this help in order to make the meeting a success.

Rally day will be observed the second Sunday in October at the 3 o'clock service, also officers for the coming year will be elected. A musical program, sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary, will be given at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, October 9. At this program an offering will be taken. This will apply on the budget of the auxiliary. Everyone is invited to attend this program.

NANNIE McADAMS.

◆

Siler City.—After reading the first twelve verses of the third chapter of Revelations, Rev. W. M. Pike gave us another helpful and inspiring sermon using the twelfth verse of the same chapter as his text. Mr. Pike comes to us each third Sunday morning and we are always glad to have him with us.

The C. E.'s are looking forward to next Sunday when they will go to Burlington to attend the C. E. convention.

Mr. B. E. Fox will represent the Siler City church as delegate to the Annual conference in November.

In the afternoon of September 8th, the Baraca class gave a big fish fry in the grove at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fox, in honor of the Philathea and Men's Bible class, and all teachers of the Sunday School. About 75 pounds of fish were fried. Messrs. J. E. Fox, George Siler, J. A. Cooper, Dan Hinshaw, Bill Wright and Dewey Fox were the cooks and they proved themselves to be very efficient. After Mr. T. L. Smith returned thanks the large crowd present showed by their actions just how much they enjoyed the fish, rolls, pickles, and hot coffee such as Mrs. J. E. Fox knows how to make. We feel very grateful to the Baraca class for the good feast and outing and hope they will repeat this same stunt in the near future.

We are very sorry to report one of our Philathea members, Mrs. C. L. Forrester is right sick and is in Wesley Long hospital in Greensboro. Special prayers were offered in her behalf in her class Sunday morning. We are hoping if it is God's will that she may soon be restored and permitted to return to her home and loved ones.

Miss Sallie Smith assisted by the primary teachers and C. E.'s are planning a program for Rally day in the near future.

MRS. J. A. COOPER.

◆

Chase City, Va., Friendship Church.—There will be prayer meeting at Friendship church every Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock and it was appointed by the superintendent, Mr. Deviney. On September 10 at 7:30 prayer meeting was conducted by Mr. John Lenheart, and he made a wonderful talk. The scripture was read by Miss Vista Baxter. We had one of those Baptist members to help lead in singing, Mr. Tommy Hoyle, and also a duet by Miss Edith Whitener and Mr. Tommy Hoyle: "He Makes Me Forget." There were several others that made talks.

On September 18 at 2 o'clock we had Sunday School. There were 104 present and $1.34 collection and preaching at 3:00 by Rev. C. L. Spencer. A duet was sung by Mr. Tommy Hoyle and Miss Edith Whitener. After the preaching all followed to Mr. Self's to the baptism. There were ten baptized and united with the church.

There was preaching again on Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock by Rev. C. L. Spencer. A duet was sung by Misses Edith and Donnie May Whitener.

The quarterly conference will meet the third Sunday in October.

Remember the prayer meeting every Sunday night at 7:30.

REPORTER.

◆

Pleasant Union, Mt. Pleasant Charge.—In our service Sunday morning Dr. Johnson read from Isiah 44. In the reading we find a man who knew something of wood and its use but who was wrong in thinking it could satisfy the longings of the human soul for a God to worship. It is typical of life to find those who do not because it takes some effort. There are many who do not know how to get out of the Sabbath that which will satisfy their souls. Sunday is a day for rest and worship and anything that interferes with those two things is wrong. Dr. Johnson closed the splendid sermon with the words of the text: "He fed it on Ashes." That is the man who places untrue gods before him to satisfy his longing for a true God.

A most impressive service was held Sunday morning when Mr. and Mrs. T. Grady Bowman dedicated the life of their year-old-son, Albert Bryan, to their God in a baptismal service.

The Woman's Auxiliary will meet with Mrs. Roy L. Bowman Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The churches of our community are meeting at Mt. Pleasant church Tuesday afternoon at t o'clock for a temperance meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Troxler of Alamance, and mother and father of Mrs. Blanche Bowman, are celebrating their fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on Wednesday, September 28th. Friends will call at the home from 2 to 5 in the afternoon. We congratulate them and wish them many more years of happiness.

We are very glad to welcome the following teachers back into our community and Sunday School: Miss Emily D. Gayle, of Farmville, N. C.; Miss Lois G. Frady of Asheville, N. C.; Miss Pearl Thompson of Laurinburg, N. C.; and Mr. Fred G. Gilreath of Wilkesboro, N. C.

Miss Lizabelle Foust of Graham, was a welcome visitor in our Sunday School and church services. Miss Foust spent the week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Causey.

DORTHA CAUSEY HOLT.

* * *

Draper.—We are enjoying our work here very much and our work seems to be moving on nicely. We have had an increasing attendance for some time; our building is almost filled each service.

Our Sunday school is doing well under the leadership of our faithful and tireless superintendent, Bro. A. L. McGee. The enrollment has more than doubled since we came here.

Our C E Society is doing very well and we feel encouraged in spite of the financial burden. We have been provided for and only a few weeks ago we were surprised somewhat when some of the members drove into our yard with a large supply of groceries, but a glad surprise. We are very grateful to our friends and Heavenly Father for caring for us so bountifully.

We just closed a two weeks' revival last Sunday night. We did not have the results that we hoped to have but there were two that were saved and one reclaimed. We had only one to unite with us. There are several that I believe will follow yet, for they seem deeply interested in their soul's salvation. Please pray that they will surrender and come on. We had the co-operation of all the other churches here.

Now as the Conference year comes to an end I am praying that we may all be submissive to God's will. If it His will then I would like to stay here, but if sot, I can only say, His will be done.

R. L. VICKEDY, Pastor.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—On Sunday morning last, Promotion Day was observed in the Sabbath school, and next Sunday Rally Day will be held. The Men's Brotherhood and Woman's Auxiliary will be responsible for getting out our strength. At 11:15 the members of the Sabbath school and the congregation will assemble in the main auditorium. Let us rally our forces and see our strength after the summer months.

The minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, at the 11 o'clock service delivered a forceful message especially to the young people on the topic, "Electives in Life's Curriculum," the text being from Deut. 30:15, "See, I have set before thee this day life and good and death and evil." He said that all problems of life are not solved on paper as we work out a lesson in mathematics at school. Life is made up of a succession of choices. Moses was dealing with great themes.. There are other organizations, such as the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., Salvation Army, Junior Service League, and others, which are doing some of the work of the church, and it is glad for these groups to help, but despite all they are doing to assist it is the business of the church to urge people to choose life or death, blessing or cursing. By faith Moses was hidden by his mother. Many choices are made for us before we come into the world. Like a college curriculum, the electives are few, but the compulsory subjects are many. Our greatest freedom comes when we choose between life's varieties, life or death, blessing or cursing. Moses by faith refused to be called the son of Pharoah's daughter, People's character may be judged by their friends, and often by those from whom they keep away. Although the trend heretofore has been wrong, you may turn and make your life successful. Both temporal and spiritual blessings come from a right choice. We may choose the easier way, but in the course it becomes harder as we go alosg, which gives us stamina in the Christian life. Young people who would be successful must choose a life of purity. Forces that undermine the home should never have our support, but opposition. By faith Moses forsook Egypt. All you who are in the thrall of sin, you must forsake evil ways. Those who follow the course of those about them are like a chameleon, the little animal which changes its color to that of the object it rests on at the time. Know your soul's needs and get them right.

At 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening the Young People's C. E. Society held its meeting at the church, and on Monday evening at 7:30 the Senior Society met. A free-will offering was taken for the work in the state.

Wednesday evening the mid-week prayer service will be held as usual, and the minister will speak on the general theme of Exodus, the second in the series of the books of the Old Testament. These talks are extremely interesting and helpful.

At the Sunday morning service Rev. Mr. Farmer took occasion to voice his commendation and approval of the annual campaign launched by the Young Women"s Christian Association at a supper Monday evening at the home of the body on West Green street. Rev. Mr. Farmer delivered an address on this occasion, as well as several brother ministers. The goal asked for is $8,800 this year. Mrs. M. J. Wrenn is president of this worthwhile and helpful organization.

At a called meeting of the High Point Ministerial Association at Wesley Memorial church on Monday morning, it was decided to sponsor a temperance rally day at an early date, when prominent state and national temperance leaders will make addresses. A committee of five ministers was appointed to make arrangements for this rally, to set a dat and secure a place for it, and the committee is made up of Rev. G. Ray Jordan, of Wesley Memorial church, Rev. Tom Alderman Sykes, of the Friends' church; Rev. R. I. Farmer; Dr. A B. Conrad, of the First Baptist church, and Supt. T. Wingate Andrews, of the city schools.

Circle No. 7, Mrs. J. H Allred, chairman, will give a chicken supper in the assembly room next Thursday evening at 35 cents per plate. Circle No. 5, Mrs. C. L. Whitaker, chairman, are making a Dutch Girl bedspread for sale.

At a congregational meeting last Wednesday evening the budget for next year was discussed in detail for nearly two hours, and it was voted at $1,400.00.

W. M. Snipes and daughter, Mrs. Walter Lorenz, of Portland, Ore., who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Snipes on Steele street, left last week for a visit to relatives in Sanford and Raleigh.

Wilbur Pritchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pritchard, left Monday to resume his studies at State College, Raleigh, for his senior year.

James Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Montgomery, entered the State University last week as a freshman.

Miss Dorothy Rankin, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. A. M. Rankin, will leave Thursday, September 29, for Westminster, Md., where she will be a senior in Western Maryland College.

Rupert T. Pickens went to Kinston, N. C., last Monday on professional business.

Miss Claire Douglas, who teaches Modern Languages in Davenport College, Lenoir, N. C., spent the past week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Douglas, on Montlieu Avenue.

Misses Gladys Kivett and Erma Suits are teaching again this year at Union Hill school, east of the city.

Alfred Moffitt, son of Mrs. H. A. Moffitt, has returned to Chapel Hill to resume studies in the University.

Misses Doris Hayworth and Josephine Smith, of the Children's Home family, who have been quite ill, are now improving nicely.

During the summer vacation several children of High Point made records in reading books from the city library, notably Dorothy Dean Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davis, who read 36 books. She is a pupil in fifth grade at Ray Street school.

Master John Lindley is spending some time with his relatives, Dean and Mrs. P. E. Lindley, on Circle Drive.

* * *

Bethesda.—A very interesting Rally Day program was rendered at Bethesda September 25. The good lady who got up this program and was so faithful in the training of the children was Mrs. Odessa S. Williams, with the assistance of Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Pearce. Mr. and Mrs. Pearce also rendered some very fine singing We are always proud to hear the great messages sent to us even through our little children. May God ever bless our children.

Please pray that God will bless our church and Sunday school.

JNO. GULLEDGE.

* * *

Haw River Church, Glen Raven Charge.—Rev. J. P. Pegg filled his appointment here Sunday, September 25. He preached two excellent sermons Sunday. We had a good congregation both times. The people of this community appreciate Mr. Pegg and his family very much. He has only one more appointment for this charge before the Conference year will come to a close. We hope the Conference will see fit to send him back to us next year. Some of the members of our church had the privilege of of hearing a concert rendered by some of the children from the Children's Home at High Point Sunday afternoon. These children showed excellent training under the splendid leadership of Dr.

A. G. Dixon and his wife. The church was filled to its capacity, and all the people seemed to appreciate the work Dr. and Mrs. Dixon are doing at the home. The C. E. Society of Glen Raven is supporting one child at the home, and this church sends a monthly offering to the Home. It would be a fine thing for each church in the Conference to set aside an offering one Sunday in the month for the Home. T. S. COBLE.

◆

Hollister, Halifax Charge.—Silence on the part of the reporter is no indication that the work here isn't moving forward. The attendance and interest in the Sunday school and preaching services have been very good during the summer months.

Sunday at the regular service our pastor, Rev. H. F. Fogleman, delivered a wonderful sermon taken from that verse of Scripture that says "And the soul of the people was much discouraged because of the way." Num. 21:4. At this service four boys were received into membership of the church.

The revival meeting began here on the fourth Sunday in August. Dr. L. W. Gerringer assisted in the meeting. We enjoyed hearing Dr. Gerringer preach and we were glad to have him in our homes.

The third quarterly conference was held in Hollister church some time ago. The business of the conference was transacted in a spirit of love and harmony. The nominees for delegate to Annual Conference were Mr. R. H. Arrington, of Hollister church, and Mr. J. W. Hardee, of Eden church. Mr. Hardee was declared elected by receiving one vote more than Mr. Arrington.

The Christian Endeavor Society meets every Sunday evening with good attendance. We had 34 people present Sunday night. Miss Louise Shearin was the leader. A very good program was given. Miss Sallie Wood will lead our meeting next Sunday evening.

The Woman's Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. W. E. Knight on Tuesday afternoon, September 13. We had an interesting meeting. The theme for this meeting was "Temperance." Mr. Fogleman and Mrs. Alston gave splendid talks on temperance. Our next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Alston on the second Tuesday afternoon in October.

Since writing my last report death has entered our Sunday school and church and taken one of our members, Henry Hawington, away. Henry had been suffering with asthma nearly all of his life. Some time in July he was taken ill with typhoid fever, from which he never recovered. An obituary will appear in the Herald soon.

We have had several visitors in our Sunday school and church services during the summer. Among them were Mrs. J. C. Edwards, of Portsmouth, Va., and Mrs. T. C. Dorsey, of Goldsboro, N. C. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Dorsey were some of our most faithful members when they were living in Hollister. Come again; we are always glad to have visitors worship with us in our services.

KATHLEEN SHEARIN, Reporter.

◆

Bellmont, Mt. Hermon Charge.—Our Sunday school attendance is increasing; for the last two Sundays 146 have been present.

The preaching service today was also well attended. Our pastor, Rev. L. E. Mabry, preached a helpful sermon from the parable of the prodigal son. Luke 15:11-32.

Bro. Mabry and family have moved from our community to Durham, where he will continue his studies at Duke University.

On Friday afternoon, September 16, at 5:30 o'clock, a very impressive home wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Cora Hargis, when her daughter, Miss Marie Hargis, and Mr. Clay W. Holt were united in marriage. Rev. H. L. Isley, pastor of Tabernacle Methodist Protestant church, officiated, using the ring ceremony. Mrs. Holt is one of our faithful church members. At present she is pianist and Sunday school teacher. Mr. Holt is the son of J. G. Holt, of the Friendship section, and is a splendid young man We extend wishes for them for a happy life together.

Rev. J. Elwood Carroll, our former pastor, was a welcome visitor in the community last week. REPORTER.

◆

Hope, Chatham Charge.—Since my last report our pastor has filled two appointments and brought us good messages both times.

On last third Sunday night we were delighted to have some good singers with us, and we just feasted on their good singing. Mr. Thomas and his family, also Mr. Lashley and Mr. Smith, all from near Liberty, were with us. This was not the first time any of them had sung for us, and we always enjoy having them. We hope they will come our way often.

The Woman's Auxiliary held its Thank-Offering service last Sunday. Although the offering was not large, we were well pleased with it, for we felt that it was a real thank-offering on the part of those who contributed. The young folks and children of the Sunday school contributed to the offering and also took part in the service, which all seemed to enjoy.

In my last report I failed to state that Mr. M. H. Wicker was elected delegate to Annual Conference from this charge.

It is not long until Conference and there is much to be done yet. Let us rally and do our best.

KARA ANDREW, Reporter.

◆

Liberty.—Our revival meeting is in progress. Rev. Mr. Hethcox, of Virginia, is the pulpit help. We hope that much interest will be manifested, and that much and lasting good will be done and a goodly number of members added to our church. Mr. Hethcox gave us a soul-stirring sermon Sunday morning, using as his subject 'Life," from the text: "I am come that ye may have life and have it more abundantly." He spoke of the spirit of Pentecost, how they had much preparation, praying and being with Jesus those 40 days; how He forgave them all their sins, even Peter. Then they received the fullness of life and the power of the Holy Spirit.

Miss Pauline Frazier was leader of the Christian Endeavor Sunday evening at 6:45. We enjoy Mr. W. N. Howard's helps for Christian Endeavor in our Methodist Protestant Herald.

Circle No. 1 will meet with Mrs Cecil Frazier Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Circle No. 2 will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. S. M. Smith.

We are planning to give the Rally Day program some time in October. We have already received the literature.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

◆

Shiloh.—On Sunday, September 25, the Young Men's Wide-Awake Class of Shiloh had 58 present, including four visitors. The class was called to order by our president, Mr. Paul Leonard, and the business was attended to.

When he had finished Mr. Ray Leatherman asked if we were going to have a weiner roast. We decided to have it Saturday night, October 1. The men who have wives are to bring them and each of the others is to bring his girl. We are counting on having a splendid time.

After all this business had been attended to we went back into the auditorium and heard the lesson taught by Mrs. W. S. Shoaf. On the last Sunday in each quarter the senior classes generally assemble in the auditorium to hear the lesson taught by one of the teachers.

We request the prayers of each and everyone that we may continue to grow in spirit and number.

W. FRANK SHOAF, Reporter.

◆

State Street, Lexington.—The usual Sabbath morning services were observed at State Street church Sunday morning. The minister's message, one of great force and helpfulness, was heard by a large and appreciative audience.

At the evening hour we heard an address by Mr. J. P. McGougan, of Roanoke, Va., on some of the strange leadings of Providence in his own life. His has been an unusually sad experience, the climax of which was a false charge of murder, for which he served 20 years in prison The real murderer confessed the cime just before his death a few years ago and Mr. McGoogan was released from prison an old and feeble man. He held a large audience deeply interested while he told of his varied experiences, the greatest of which came to him as he read a Bible in prison. His gentle and forgiving attitude is much like that of the Savior and nothing but the power of God could have brought about such a spirit under such circumstances.

Next Sunday morning the Rally Day program will be given. It will also be Promotion Day in Sunday school. We are expecting our number to go far over the 200-mark Sunday morning.

The Women's Bible Class will hold their monthly business and social meeting with Mrs. Lester Koonts. This meeting promises to be one of much interest and is different from any of our previous meetings in that the ladies may bring their husbands. There will be "eats," so we are expecting all the husbands to be there.

Miss Lila Belle McCrary had as her guests Sunday Mrs. Ernest Collins and Miss Lucile Haines. We were glad to have them with us in the morning services.

Miss Helen Harkey goes back to Greenville, N. C., to resume her studies at E. T. C. T. College. Miss Harkey enters as a senior this year.

There was a joint meeting of Circles Nos. 1 and 2 of the Auxiliary held at the church last Thursday evening. REPORTER.

◆

Randleman Charge—Our special meeting began at Level Cross the first Sunday in September with Rev. B. M. Williams as our pulpit help. He did a wonderful week's preaching and it was much enjoyed by all who heard him. It was a pleasure to have him in our home. We had two conversions.

On the third Sunday our meeting started at New Salem with Rev. Will Garner, a Baptist minister of Randleman, as pulpit help. He was at his best. We had 12 conversions and reclamations, one received into the church; hope others will unite later.

Mr. Williams has been filling his appointments for some time, and seems to be improving. Of course, it has been slow. Dr. Bonner, of High Point, is treating his throat each Tuesday. The Lord has been so good to us in many ways during Mr. Williams' sickness. We want to thank the brethren for filling his appointments for two months; also the ones that remembered him so kindly by writing him while he was confined at home.

The Ladies' Aid made their pastor a present of a new suit last week which was greatly appreciated.

Give us your sincere prayers.

MRS. T. A. WILLIAMS.

Salem, Saxapahaw Charge.—Realizing that our year's work is almost ready to close, we feel sure there is much yet to be done. May we get down to real work so that we can start 1933 with a clean record.

Our revival meeting began the second Sunday in August. We had Brother E. O. Peeler as our pulpit help. Brother Peeler's messages were enjoyed by all. He did some splendid work during the week he was with us. Several souls were converted. One joined the church. Others are expected to join the second Sunday in October. We were very glad indeed to have Mrs. Peeler with us during the revival and Bible school also. We appreciate her work very much.

Our Vacation Bible school began the second of August and lasted for two weeks. Fifty or more students attended. All except two or three received certificates. We had our commencement the second Sunday in August. Five or six members of the school joined the church at that time.

Memorial day was observed at our church the first Sunday in September. Dr. P. E. Lindley, dean of High Point College, delivered the memorial address for us. Dr. Lindley's address was greatly enjoyed by all present.

We had our regular monthly meetings of the two missionary circles Sunday.

We are glad to report the sick of our community are improving.

There will be a monument erected to the pioneer members of the Thompson family at the Thompson cemetery near our church on October 8th. The morning program will be at our church. Dinner on the ground. The afternoon program will be at the cemetery. The public is cordially invited.

Best wishes to the Herald.

MRS. T. R. CRAWFORD.

Fountain Place.—It was the privilege of the Fountain Place people to have a group of children and young people from the Children's Home with us last Sunday morning. The program was enjoyable and impressive and the people enjoyed this direct contact with the leaders and young folk of the home. I am sure we are all more interested in the Children's Home and its workings since we know the people better. This is the first time they have been at our church.

The second Sunday night in this month the Young People's Circle of the Mount Pleasant Ladies' Auxiliary brought a pageant, "The Challenge," to us. This is the pageant that was given in Enfield at the Branch meeting and those of us who didn't see it there were glad of this opportunity. The parts were well rendered and the missionary message should awaken us all to greater efforts for missions. We greatly appreciate their bringing this treat to us.

The Christian Endeavor Societies, both Junior and Senior, the Annie Forrest Bible Class and the Auman Bible Class greatly enjoyed a watermelon slicing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Glenn about a month ago. The Christian Endeavor program was held on the porch. The topic was a missionary one and Mr. Dan Rader gave the message of the evening. Though not a missionary himself he belongs to a family well represented in the mission field and his heart is in the work. He gave us new and interesting facts about the work there. Then everyone enjoyed the watermelons. The attendance was large but not too large for the number of watermelons and everyone went home happy.

Three weeks ago the Auman Bible class entertained the Annie Forrest Bible class, winners in a recent contest, with a social at the church. The basement was neatly arranged with attractive tables, but room enough was left for games. After an old-fashioned spelling match and other interesting games they served ice cream and cake. The boys seemed to enjoy entertaining as much as the girls enjoyed being entertained, so everyone had a splendid time.

All organizations of the church are functioning about as usual except the Sunday school attendance seems to be off. It held up so well during the hot weather that we wonder at this change.

The Ladies' Auxiliary is practicing a play, "The Home-Made Choir," under the direction of Miss Ruth Huffman, of Gibsonville. Only a few practices have been held but we hope it will not be many weeks before we are ready to give it.

Our pastor continues to give us helpful and inspiring messages.

MRS. A. V. AMICK, Reporter.

Calvary, Greensboro.—Our reporter will doubtless tell you something about the Calvary booth at the fair, and I have no desire to anticipate what she may say. But I do want to express my appreciation for the fine spirit of co-operation that was manifested by all who had any part in it. Some cooked, some served, some hauled, some washed dishes; but whatever they did, they did cheerfully. And I think the group got out of it much more value than the $122 they cleared.

We were glad to have two more additions to the membership last Sunday night, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Leach coming to us from the M. E. Church, South, at Trinity. I have been pastor here lacking about seven weeks of making five years. During that time I have received 146 members, practically doubling the church membership.

This coming Sunday will be observed as Rally and Promotion Day. A number of the children will be advanced, and certificates will be awarded. We are hoping to do the same with the attendance at the morning service. The Sunday school will have charge of the evening service and will put on an exercise, "The Builders." This program will be in charge of Miss Elizabeth Williams, assisted by some of the teachers in the Hut. We isvite you who read this to attend the Rally Day services.

C. W. BATES, Pastor.

Weaverville.—We are moving along slowly but surely, and prospects for the future on the charge are brighter than at any time during this writer's pastorate here. The churches are in far better condition spiritually than at the same time last year. Financially, however, we are much further behind than at the same time last year, but we are making an earnest effort and pray that this will all be taken care of in due time and that we may have a good report to carry to our Annual Conference.

Special revival efforts have been made at each church. We began at the Weaverville church in May. Brother Auman was with us for ten days and was at his best. He preached the Gospel with force and clearness. The church was revived and greatly helped and five united with the church.

Our next revival meeting was at Mount Zion the latter part of July and first of August. We held a union meeting with the Baptist congregation at this place, the two congregations uniting together in the work. Rev. Frank A. Snyder, pastor of North Asheville Baptist church, did the preaching very acceptably for two weeks. Great congregations filled the church every evening. There were a great number of professions, reclamations, and reconsecrations. Eight united with our church there as a result of the meeting.

Our last special meeting was held at Clarks Chapel, beginning the second Sunday in August, with Brother Earl Cook, of Democrat charge, as the pulpit help. Brother Cook did some splendid preaching and the church was greatly revived. Great numbers came for prayer. A number were also reclaimed; only a few professions, with three uniting with the church.

Unusually large congregations attended all of the services in all three of the churches, and a great deal of good was accomplished by these efforts. We could see the results of the meetings immediately after the close of each meeting. Brother Cook endeared himself to the people at Clarks Chapel, as did Brother Auman at Weaverville—not only our people, but to all who heard them, and the same was true of Brother Snyder at Mount Zion. We were glad indeed to have these brethren with us in these services and hope that they will come our way again.

We have been delighted to have a number of the brethren of the Conference visit in our home during the summer months—Brothers Bates, Shelton, Isley, H. L., Ridge, C. E., and family, Auman, Cook, and Carroll, and of course Casto comes to call quite often.

The year has been delightful to say the least, and while we have been very hard hit by the depression, yet we have been able to accomplish some things for the Master. Congregations have been good as a whole at all of the churches for the year, better than last year. Sunday schools have grown during the year, and some improvements have been made and are under way now at the parsonage, which will add very materially to the comfort and convenience of the parsonage.

The people have been very kind to us, and we are truly grateful for every kindness. Space forbids the mentioning of the names of all those who have been so very kind to us, but God knows every one of them, and our prayer is that He may enable us to render service worthy of acceptance in return for all the kindness shown us during the year.

Our poundings began on Thanksgiving night, when all the people from Mount Zion community, not only our own people, but many others came en mass. What a pounding it was, the largest we have received since we have been in the ministry. This was followed by the Weaverville folks in a few weeks, and it has not stopped yet; it goes on continually from all three of the churches. Very often a member from one of the churches will drive by the parsonage and leave a nice gift for the table, and then, too, often, too, when out visiting among the congregations of all three churches we find some nice table comforts in our car when we go out to start home. We are truly grateful for every kindness shown, and we wish to thank each and every one for all that they have done for our comfort and happiness.

God has wonderfully blessed us this year, and we feel that we have had a really successful year in the work, and certainly a pleasant one. And we hope that we may have a good report for the year's work on the charge to carry down to our Annual Conference.

We were delighted to have with us just recently for a little visit our good friend and brother, C. L. Spencer, of Granville charge, who was here on a visit with Mrs. Spencer to their daughter, Mrs. R. H. Roberts. Delightful guests at the parsonage for a week were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whitby and two daughters, Doma and Darnell, from Matthews Chapel, Greensville charge, Virginia. These were former parishoners and we were delighted to have them.

The death angel has invaded our ranks during the year, removing from the ranks four of our members, Brother Wesley Edmunds, Brother Robert Rice, Sister Hattie Parker, Sister Annie Patton, all from Clarks Chapel, and Brother Charles Roberts, from Mount Zion. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved.

As the Conference year comes to a close may we one and all put forth every effort for a successful closing for what we hope and pray may be one of the best years of Kingdom service in the history of our church.

E. G. COWAN, Pastor.

West End, Greensboro.—The West End 15th anniversary service, which was observed on September 25, was a success such as will not be forgotten. One of the outstanding events of the Sunday school hour was the gathering together of money from the "Pint of Pennies" campaign. About the first of last March the classes of the departments of small children were given pint jars in which the little ones were to deposit pennies for the building fund. These jars were opened and contents poured into a five-gallon jar as a part of the "birthday" gift to the church. Other classes and departments of the church took on to the penny idea and pennies came in by the thousands. By the end of the service the great five-gallon jar was nearly full. When counted it was found that more than 19,600 pennies had been deposited. Besides the penny offering there were other contributions to the "birthday" found which made the sum total amount to $466.13. This is not as large a 'birthday gift" as the church should have had, but since there are some other matters that claim our attention just now it was thought best not to make our goal so high at this time. We think that under existing circumstances this was a great gathering of money. As a part of the 11 o'clock service a memorial was conducted at which time the names of 1[illegible] persons who had died as members during the 15 years were read. This was followed by a dirge by Kieffer, beautifully rendered by the choir as the congregation stood with heads bowed. During the service well prepared music was rendered by the choir, which added much to the worship of the hour and made it very impressive. Dr. P. E. Lindley, of High Point College, who for two years served the West End church as pastor, preached the sermon. The text was Matt. 23:8: "For one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren." Dr. Lindley gave us a fine sermon which was greatly enjoyed and appreciated. We thank you, Dr. Lindley. At the evening service the choir rendered a beautiful and well prepared program. This service was greatly appreciated. Our ministers of the city and their wives were invited to be our special guests and among them we were glad to have Bro. Ashburn, Bro. T. F. McCulloch, Bro. and Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. W. F. Kennett. We were also glad to have a number of Grace and Calvary people with us. Greetings were read from President Taylor, Dr. Andrews, who was the president to assign the first pastor to the charge, and Rev. R. A. Hunter, who was the first pastor. We think the day was one of red letters and we are happy.

Bro. L. M. Foust, who has been our efficient Sunday school superintendent for the last three years, has for a number of days been confined to his room because of a wounded leg received from a rolling horseshoe being used in a game. We missed Bro. Foust at the last two Sunday services. Especially did we miss him at the anniversary servile. We hope to have him with us by next Sunday.

Bro. and Mrs. W. V. Routh are on the seacoast resting. Bro. Routh has not been well for some time and he finds the seacoast to be greatly to his advantage.

Bro. and Mrs. O. F. Stafford are in Philadelphia. Bro. Stafford underwent a very serious operation some months ago and while he has recovered nicely, his physicians advised that he go to this northern city to consult a specialist in his case.

On last Tuesday evening the Foust Bible class served a fine Brunswick stew and realized quite a clear profit. My, that was fine eats! and the pastor is ready for another one.

Mrs. Maggie Stafford was the hostess to the pastor, wife and little girl, Johnsie, at a fine supper some days ago. Mrs. Stafford not only knows how to prepare the good things to eat but she knows how to make the pastor and family happy in her home.

GEO. L. CURRY.

Lexington, Mount Carmel. -Rev. Mr. Isley gave us another of his splendid and stirring messages Sunday afternoon. This service was well attended. At the close of the service the door of the church wa opened and Lucien Fritts was received into the church. He is the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fritts.

The Sunday school continues to grow. We have the largest attendance and enrollment Mount Carmel has ever had.

The ladies of the church have put on two suppers recently that have proved a financial success. The proceeds were put on the indebtedness of the church.

Mr. H. V. Swicegood has been elected as delegate to attend Annual Conference. Mr. Swicegood is the faithful superintendent at Mount Carmel.

We are glad to report the improvement of Mr. J. G. Trantham, who has been confined to his room for about two months. He is now able to be up.

ZULA FRITTS, Reporter.

Asheboro.—Pastor Stubbins has been giving us some most helpful sermons; among the recent subjects were: "I. O. U.," not only in dollars and cents, but indebted in other ways to many people; "God's Cure for Depression," and "Missing Something." Mr. Stubbins is assisting Rev. G. B. Ferree in a revival meeting on the Mocksville charge this weeks. In his absence last Sunday Mrs. Wm. C. Hammer spoke very interestingly to the congregation at the 11 o'clock service. She asked us to go with her on a tour of our missionary work, starting at Our Children's Home at High Point and stopping in India. She told of the work at each place along the trip and was very instructive to the children as well as the adults. Mr. R. T. Lloyd preached at the evening hour.

A union evangelistic meeting will begin next Sunday, October 2, and continue through the week, with Rev. Chas. F. Myers, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Greensboro, as the preacher. The services are to be held in the high school auditorium. There will be a large choir, composed of members of the various choirs of the town. Rev. John Permar, of the Friends church, will lead the singing.

Among the recent additions to our church are Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Soady and daughter, Miss Ruth, by letter, from Garner, N. C., and Winifred and Ted on profession of faith. This fine family came to Asheboro several months ago from Toronto, Canada. We feel indeed fortunate in having them unite with our church.

We are glad to report that Miss Ethel Lovett is able to be out again, after being confined to her home for several weeks with neuritis.

Auxiliary was that of Thank-Offering service
Auxiliary was that the Thank-Offering service at the church Monday evening, September 12, with Mrs. W. C. Hammer, thank-offering secretary, in charge. Rev. and Mrs. E. Lester Ballard, of Greensboro, were in charge of the program, the subject being "Chistian Education." Mrs. Ballard conducted the devotions in a very impressive manner, after which Mr. Ballard made a most interesting talk on the subject. An offering of $19.22 was made for Christian Education.

Following the program, the president, Miss Lollie Jones, had charge of the business meeting, which consisted of reports from circle chairmen and officers for the quarter.

Circle No. 2 was hostess to the meeting, serving light refreshments.

The Philathea class entertained at the home of Mrs. J. S. Lewis Tuesday evening, September 6th, in honor of Mrs. Charles Hoover, a recent bride. Progressive hearts was played at seven tables for some time, after which heart-shaped ice cream, cake and nuts were served by the committee. A beautiful hobnail bowl was presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Earl F. Bulla and Miss Iola Lowdermilk were hostesses to the Philatheas at the September meeting with a six o'clock dinner in the social room of the church Thursday evening, September 15th. Mrs. L. F. Ross, president, presided over the business. Miss Enolia Prenell had charge of the devotional period. Several teachers who have returned to the city were honor guests as well as several other invited guests. About 30 enjoyed the delightful occasion.

LOLLIE JONES, Reporter.

Calvary, Greensboro.—Last week when I wrote my report I was busy cooking for the fair, I was rather rushed and sorry to overlook an important announcement. Mr. Arthur Fiddle of High Point had charge of our choir during our revival meeting. He was also our soloist. We wish to say, "Thank you," to him and to Rev. Ballard of Grace church who took charge of our young people's meeting and also led our singing on the last night of the meeting.

I believe I promised a report from the Fair booth. First I wish to say there was no fair. Just a merry-go-round. I believe it can be truthfully called a "Carnival." The weather was against us, although we needed the rain and are thankful for it. We cleared approximately $122.45. The ladies and some of our men worked hard for this. We are proud of this amount. A number of merchants and wholesale houses here were generous in donations. Our members responded wonderfully to the call for donations and workers.

I think the next thing on the program is a "Brunswick Stew." I heard some of the ladies saying the other day it was "Brunswick Stew Time at Calvary." They make stew fit for a king.

Last Sunday we had the pleasure of receiving Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Leach into our church. We wish to say "welcome" to them.

Our young folks are planning a Rally Day program for this coming Sunday. The offering will go to the Board of Christian Education. We are striving for a record in attendance at Sunday School this Sunday. Our classes are hoping for 100 per cent attendance. Let's see how many can reach that goal and remember—"It Is More Blessed to Give Than to Receive."

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas	$3.00
Rev. N. G. Bethea	2.00
Mrs. T. R. Crawford	1.00
Rev. H. F. Fogleman	1.00
Miss Nannie McAdams	1.00

Milt Fall had been fishing, but with bad luck. On his way home he entered a fish market and said to the dealer, "Harry, stand over there and throw me five of the biggest of those trout."

"Throw 'em? What for?" asked the dealer in amazement.

"I want to tell the family I caught 'em. I may be a poor fisherman, but I'm no liar."—Pathfinder.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

In Memoriam

The home-going of Mrs. R. B. Sink, "Miss Claudie," as we all affectionately knew her, has brought sorrow not only to her own individual circle No. 2, and the Woman's Auxiliary, but to the whole church and surrounding communities. To all she was faithful, and by her cheerful manner and encouraging words was always an inspiration.

She was always found at church whenever she could possibly endure the pains of her body. Often she came when she should have stayed at home, but for fear of hindering someone else from going to the church of God she would go and say, "I should have stayed at home, but I am so glad I came."

Yes, we shall miss her sorely, but her cheerfulness, her fortitude and patience during her illness, her submission to her Master's will both before and after her operation, leaves us a rich memory indeed.

Miss Claudie would have been the last one in our church to call herself a leader, yet her very unassuming qualities of leadership which consisted of her faithful support of others and the sincerity of her oft-spoken words of commendation cheered many hearts that so sorely needed it, and caused her to lead to greater heights than she knew.

And somehow we believe that from that other and better land she often looks this way to beckon her loved ones and friends to carry on faithfully and to remain in the narrow way that leads to life.

"They are not gone who pass
  Beyond the clasp of hands,
Out from the strong embrace,
  They are but come so close
We need not grope with hands,
  Nor look to see, nor try
To catch the sound of feet.
  They have put off their shoes,
Softly to walk by day
  Within our thoughts, to tread
At sight our dream-led paths of sleep."

"They are not lost who find
  The sunset gate, the goal
Of all their faithful years.
  Not lost are they who reach
The summit of their climb,
  They peak above the clouds
And storm. They are not lost
  Who find the light of sun
And stars and God."

MRS. R. S. TROXLER,
MRS. IRA KOONTS,
MRS. FLOYD LEATHERMAN,
MRS. WILEY SHOAF.

Dezarn

Edith Jewell, daughter of Silar and Della Dezarn, was born August 2, 1928, and died July 1, 1932. Her brief stay on earth was sufficient to endear her to the hearts of her parents and many friends, who are left to mourn their loss and who will miss her more than they can ever express; but we know from the words of the Master, who said: "Suffer the little ones to come unto me," that we shall see her again some day if we are faithful to all our duties here, and the family will be reunited where sad parting never comes. This is a blessed thought.

Funeral services were held in Pilot M. P. church by the writer, assisted by Rev. Mr. Myers of the Baptist church, Winston-Salem, after which the little body was laid to rest in Pilot cemetery.

We extend our sympathy to the bereaved.

A. L. HUNTER.

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas our Heavenly Father in his all-wise providence has seen fit to call from labor to reward our brother and fellow-member of the First Methodist Protestant church, Burlington, N. C., James Edwin Moore, and whereas we know that He is too wise to err and too good to be unkind, we bow in humble submission to His will.

Because of our great love and esteem for this our departed brother, we the members of the First Methodist Protestant church, do hereby resolve,

First, that because of Brother Moore's clean Christian life, his great strength of character, his faithfulness to all noble causes, and his loyalty to his church, we will continue to remember his activities among us and his keen interest in the general church work, even after he became unable to attend. And while it is human to err, we believe that he had as few faults as any man. So we will write them on the shifting sands of time, and his many virtues upon the tablets of loving memory, and will strive to so live that we may meet him in that upper and perfect church, where there is no more parting.

Second, that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his loyal wife and children, and to his bereaved brothers and sister, commending them to Christ Jesus, our Lord, who is ever ready to sustain the sorrowing in such trying hours.

Third, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the wife and children, that a copy be spread upon the church records, and that a copy be sent to the Methodist Protestant Herald and the Methodist Protestant-Recorder for publication.

M. A. COBLE,
J. C. JONES,
J. G. ROGERS,
Committee.

Hicks

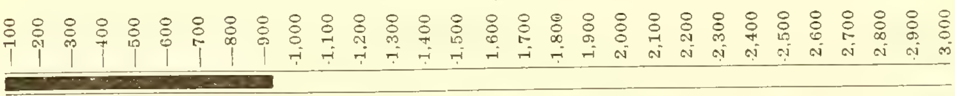
Thomas Jackson Hicks, the son of the late George and Mary Hicks was born in Franklin county, N. C., January 29, 1885 and died in Greensboro, N. C., August 30, 1932. At his death he was 47 years, seven months and one day old.

On December 25, 1908, he was married to Miss Fannie May Nance, of High Point, N. C., and this happy couple became the parents of two sons, Hall Worth and Roy Thomas who with their mother survive.

There are two sisters and two brothers

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	15¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	4¾
Asheboro	36	16
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	13½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	2
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	15¾
Glen Raven	38	8½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	16½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1½
Guilford	43	14½
Halifax	52	14½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¾
High Point, First	72	63
High Point, Lebanon	31	24½
High Point, Welch	28	2½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	7½
Liberty-Moriah	31	19¼
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	10
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	7¾
Mount Hermon	92	16½
Mount Pleasant	62	25¼
North Davidson	53	13½
Orange	70	23⅜
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	9½
Reidsville	14	10½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	17½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	10½
Tabernacle	41	29
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	10¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	28¾

◆

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

(Continued from Page Fifteen)

who also survive. The sisters are Mrs. H. F. Hermon of Louisburg, N. C., and Mrs. E. A. Vuncannon of High Point, N. C. The brothers are Rev. F. C. Hicks of Atlanta, Ga., a member of the Georgia Methodist Protestant conference and Mr. Lawrence Hicks, of Wake Forest, N. C.

As a young man Brother Hicks joined the Baptist church. Later in life while living in High Point, N. C., he became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of that city. When for business .interests he lived in Lexington his membership was transferred to the Lexington Methodist Episcopal Church, South. When his business caused him to locate in Greensboro, he became a member of West End Methodist Protestant church, in which he remained a faithful, loyal and consistent member until the day of his death. In the death of this good man West End has lost one of its very best members. Brother Hicks was always at his place. He was regular in his Bible class, he was always at his place in the choir and he was one of the good hearers in the preaching service. If for any reason he was not in attendance it was well known that there was a real reason for his being absent. The pastor always found a friend and a stand by in season and out of season. We shall miss him for a good man has fallen and a vacancy has been made that will be difficult to fill. This man of God loved his home, his family, his church, his fellowman and his God. And he was a man who was loved by those who knew him.

Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past;
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last.

It is difficult for us to understand why one in the prime of life, so useful and so much loved should be taken. Why a home should be broken and the loved ones made so sad. Why a church and community should be so shocked and so hurt by the going of one so loved and so appreciated because of his usefulness. We cannot now understand but one day we shall know. But even now in the words of the poet we can sing:

Though cast down, we're not forsaken;
Though afflicted, not alone:
Thou didst give, and thou hast taken;
Blessed Lord, "Thy will be done."
Mercy still is on the throne;
Though today we're filled with mourning
With thy smiles of love returning
We can sing, "Thy will be done."

In West End church on September 1 the funeral was conducted in the presence of a large audience by the pastor who was assisted by Dr. P. E. Lindley who was a former pastor. There was a very large and most beautiful floral contribution from the many friends who in this way expressed their esteem and appreciation. After the funeral the body was laid to rest in Forest Hill cemetery under the large bank of flowers contributed by friends.

GEO. L. CURRY, Pastor.

◆

Monnett

Mrs. Martha Ann Monnett, age 76 years, passed away at her home near Tabernacle church, September 2, 1932, having been a constant sufferer for more than three years. She was united in marriage to Peter Monnett January 1, 1876. Mr. Monnett preceded her to the grave several years ago. Mrs. Monnett passed through the school of suffering and we believe she came out as pure as gold.

Four daughters and three sons survive: Mrs. C. H. Coble, Mrs. A. M. Deviney, Mrs. W. A. Craven, Miss Emma Monnett; and Mr. E. C. E. and P. L. Monnett.

The writer conducted the funeral at Tabernacle church on Sunday, September 4.

H. L. ISLEY.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHR ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., OCTOBER 6, 1932 NUMBER 43

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

"Hallowed Be Thy Name"

There is a name no mortal tongue
Has ever spoke or angel sung:
A name too grand for human thought,
Too high to be in rapture caught.

It is the name of Him who spoke
And light from out the darkness broke:
Who spoke again and worlds were made
With strong foundations firmly laid.

Who clothed the worlds with living forms
To move around by given norms:
Who breathed on one of all the whole
And made of him a living soul.

O Unnamed One, the First to Be,
We would fall down and worship Thee:
In truth and right hast Thou made all,
With power to see that none shall fall.

Most holy be the matchless Name
Through all the world's extended frame:
May all endowed with breath and thought
Revere Thy Name and cease it not!

The Fitful Worker

Every religious worker is well acquainted with this type of worker in the church. He is a ''spellbinder'' in the sense that he is bound by a spell. He is like a locomotive, in that he must be fired up before he can move; or like an electric motor, somebody else must throw the switch to get it started. This type of folk depend upon the revival wave to carry them forward and too often are borne back by the ebbing tide beyond the starting place.

Jesus compared them to the stony ground hearer in the parable of the sower. The soil was thin, shallow, so the heat from the sun easily went to the bottom and germination started quickly, but did not endure. There was not sufficient root to support the plant. So this type of person in the kingdom is among us. Quick to start but quick to stop; ready to say, ''I will'' but very soon forgets the pledge.

But that is not the worst thing about this worker; he is easily made angry. A look, a failure to greet him, a failure to recognize him, often means the loss of his friendship. He is ''touchy,'' sensitive, ''thin skinned,'' prone to imagine himself the brunt of a jest or the object of a slight; he wears his feelings on his sleeves like the Pharisee wore his phylacteries on his arms. He is your friend and supporter today but is opposing you tomorrow; praises your efforts today and blames you tomorrow.

The devil makes much of this sort of person. He is such a poor example of a Christian but so often found among the Christians in public places, that the critics of the church and of Christianity pick him out as a fit subject for their carping criticism. Bunyan named him Mr. Pliable in his allegory. If the church depends upon this type it is most sure to find that ere the task Mr. Pliable was given to do was well started, he has deserted it; resigned his place, and left the thing to itself. The weather must be fair, the sun must always shine, the winds must be constantly from the tropics, the season perennially spring, the flowers generous in their aroma or he shall imagine himself deserted and left alone to stand against the opposition, in which case he never stands.

He is fitful, i.e., he works by fits and spells, but you never know when the spell is coming nor just when it is going off. He will surprise you by his sudden flare up of enthusiasm and then pain you with his heartless indifference to every appeal to loyalty and faithfulness. Naturally when such people direct the affairs of the church what is done must be done with the first effort; the distance must be covered by the first move, all the money pledged by the first man, the revival must reach its highest pitch the first night, the preacher preach to please him the first time; in fact all things must be just right if you are to have him with you the next time.

Every pastor has met this person as he tried to carry on the work of his pastorate; but how many ever cured him? Is there a cure for him? Is he not lacking in the basic qualities of manhood and womanhood that are rarely ever supplied by the efforts of his friends? I am not limiting the power of grace in a human life to save it from all its faults, but salvation must somehow get into the life ere it saves it; and such people are not constant long enough to receive an adequate supply for their dire needs.

R. M. ANDREWS.

X's Editems

That man is foolish who does not love his life and seek to protect and prolong and save it; but he is doubly foolish who seeks to save his life to this world only. He may succeed in prolonging his days beyond the three score years and ten; he may gather around himself a coterie of friends; he may heap up wealth unto himself, but in the evening of his life he will realize that all these things do not satisfy the deep cravings of the soul. There will come to him an indescribable longing for something that he does not have, and it will be borne in upon his disturbed and restless soul that he has neglected the

(Continued on Page Six)

ANIMALS COMMUNICATE WITH EACH OTHER AND WITH MEN

By Rev. Luther K. Long

I used to own a driving horse, Bessie. Once I moved her and my household goods in a freight car from Michigan to Illinois. The second night out we spent on a side-track in an Illinois town, waiting for a train on a branch to pick us up and carry us to our destination. About 10 o'clock—soon after the car had been placed on the siding—a man climbed to the top of the car and tried to slide the door open. Bessie had been eating hay. She stopped and was evidently listening to what was going on. I spoke up, asking what was wanted. My visitor, thinking his entrance would be disputed, was still for a time, then quietly went away—and Bessie resumed her eating. I feel quite sure that had the man returned while I was asleep, and attempted to break in, she would, by word of mouth or otherwise, have aroused me.

When settled in our new home Bessie was lonely at times and seemed to appreciate my company as an old friend. As I came out of a store down town she would be quick to recognize me, raise her head and express in a soft whinnie her pleasure at seeing me. She understood my caresses when I released her from the hitching post as well as I understood her language of friendship.

Our Jersey cow, Daisy, was understanding and friendly. She always recognized me when I came near her out of doors, and usually made a gentle sound of greeting. If I had been absent a few days and she was tethered out on the grass, she would recognize me as soon as I came in sight, come toward me as far as her chain would permit, stand with head up, and utter a low sound of welcome.

Sheep and lambs—though many times quite dumb and dull—are proverbially understanding and friendly in their relations with people. Royal Dixon, in his book, "The Human Side of Animals," relates an interesting incident:

"I was on a sheep ranch in Western Texas once when one of the sheep came bleating up to the camp late in the afternoon. She uttered the most distressing calls. A friend, whom I was visiting, assured me that something unusual was wrong. Together we followed the sheep back to where she had been feeding in the pasture, she going forward in short spurts and continually looking back to see if we were coming. She finally led us to an old well, and we heard the plaintive voice of her young lamb that had fallen in. As the well had no water in it, and was only six feet deep, we secured a ladder and in a few minutes the lamb was restored to its mother. She seemed delighted at the successful outcome of the accident. She had come and told us of her troubles and got aid."

Practically everybody has contacts with cats and kittens. If records were made of what happens in relation to them informing incidents could be collected. Here is one that came into the experience of a woman. It, no doubt, could be duplicated many times:

"It seems that the cat, with her three small kittens, at one time slept in a box prepared for her in the kitchen. But one night when it was particularly cold, some one left the kitchen window open, and late in the night the cat went to her mistress' bed and mewed continuously until her mistress arose and went to the kitchen and closed the window. The cat was perfectly satisfied, as she had made her great need understood."

It is said that elephants never forget, that they understand language very well, and that they are not at all averse to causing embarrassment to anyone who has played them a nasty trick. "Menault tells of an elephant that was employed to pile up heavy logs. The managers, suspecting the keeper of stealing the grain set aside for the elephant, accused him of that, which he denied most vehemently in the presence of the elephant. The result was remarkable. The animal suddenly laid hold of a large wrapper which the man wore round his waist, and tearing it open, let out some quarts of rice which the fellow had stowed away under the voluminous covering."

I have just seen the moving picture, "Congorilla," made in the wilds of Africa. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson have for years been traveling in that country, collecting animals and pictures. They have entertained and instructed multitudes of people by means of their books, lectures, and magazine articles. In this talking picture, which they had made in Africa, one is surprised to see such vast numbers of wild animals, and to hear such a variety of voices. How can they live together? How can they find food, and protect themselves from so many enemies? The lions are the kings, the wild dogs and the vultures are the scavengers, the deer, the antelope, giraffes, zebras and many others are the food diligently sought.

Well, they have to learn to understand sounds and to read signs. The hunted have to interpret the various voices of the lions, and other hunters, and to do their best to escape. The wild dogs follow the killers, and judge by their voices and manner when it is safe to go in for the remnants of the feast. Vultures, seated on a nearby tree, await their turn to swoop down and clear up the last vestige of the remains. Gorillas show a special grade of intelligence, and power to communicate and work together. Many of these—and the greatest exhibit of pigmies ever seen on the screen—are in this picture.

"Congorilla," and Frank Buck's great picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive"—the latter depicting the hunt for specimens for zoos, and showing the lives and conflicts of fierce wild beasts and serpents—are well worth seeing and studying.

◆

QUALIFICATIONS FOR WRITING

By Grapho

Rebecca, beginning to feel stirring within herself the ambition to become a writer, was talking with Miss Maxwell, her English teacher, concerning the matter.

"Oh! if I could only think and speak as you do!" sighed Rebecca. "I am afraid I shall never get education enough to make a good writer."

"You could worry about plenty of other things to better advantage," said Miss Maxwell, a little scornfully. "Be afraid, for instance, that you won't understand human nature; that you won't realize the beauty of the outer world; that you may lack sympathy, and thus never be able to read a heart; that your faculty of expression may not keep pace with your ideas—a thousand things, every one of them more important to the writer than the knowledge that is found in books. Aesop was a Greek slave who could not even write down his wonderful fables, yet all the world reads them."

Thus does Kate Douglas Wiggin—herself a very skillful and entertaining writer—set down some of her ideas concerning her craft. She has done this in her delightful story, Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, putting the words into the mouth of Miss Maxwell, one of the attractive characters in the book.

We may be sure that Mrs. Wiggin is right in the opinion that many things are more important to the writer than the knowledge that is found in books—merely by studying in books how to do it.

Understanding human nature, realizing the beauty of the outer world, sympathy, and the ability to read a heart—these are no doubt fundamental, qualifications. Directions cannot be given as to how to acquire them. They are, in large measure, born with one or one does not possess them. They are like mother-love, and taste for music and art, in that beginnings must be there or cultivation will be in vain.

Your faculty of expression is to keep pace with your ideas. Here we come upon something with which you may have considerable to do. When come ideas? From reading, from conversation, from listening, from observation, from inner and outer experiences, from thinking, from opening oneself to the many sights and sounds and wonders all about one.

Now the writer's business is to set forth ideas, thoughts, feelings, facts. Expression, interpretation, making things clear, enabling readers to know and understand and appreciate conditions and situations—there are the things with which the writer occupies himself. And Miss Maxwell said to Rebecca that she might to advantage worry a bit lest "your faculty of expression may not keep pace with your ideas."

Many years ago I heard Bicknell Young, a celebrated baritone concert singer, in a lecture recital. He sang some of Schuman's songs, remarking in his introduction to the great German song writer, that it had been said of Schuman that he could set a placard to music. And by that was meant, said Mr. Young, that Schuman could give an appropriate musical equivalent to anything—a feeling, an experience, an incident, a hope, an ambition—even so unpromising a thing as a placard announcing an approaching meeting of some sort.

As everything has a musical equivalent, so—even more so—does everything have a literary equivalent. Everything can be put into literary form—every idea, every experience, every incident, every feeling, every hope, every doubt, every fear—all these, and everything else with which anyone has to do, can be expressed in some one or more of the many literary forms. Among the forms of expression available are the story, drama, poem, history, farce, joke, humorous sketch, sermon, lecture, love letter, message of comfort. These and many other methods of literary utterance are at the service of the writer who can use them.

You are beginning to see, I think, why your faculty of expression must keep pace with your ideas. The days of Aesop the Greek slave who could not write, but whose Fables were of such great interest that others took them down from his lips, are gone. If you do not care enough to learn to read and write, the chances are that no one will care enough for what you say to make a record of it.

While clothes do not make a man, they greatly improve his appearance after he is made. While skill in writing does not make a "writer," ability to write does greatly improve the literary appearance of the individual who is found to have the real "writer" stuff in him.

Here are four suggestions for consideration:

1. Let everything you write be an exercise in "writing"—your letters of all sorts, notes and invitations, Sunday School and church notices. You will be surprised how many sorts of literature you will thus be writing. Of course you may become disgustingly "literary," in which case you should get over it or quit writing.

2. Learn to judge your own work. This is more important than angling for compliments. Much of what you write should be condemned, so, if you do not learn to judge it severely yourself, no one else will long care to bother with you.

3. Get the dictionary habit. Familiarity with words, and their exact meaning, makes possible a fine feeling for them. They become living things, and their skillful, tasty combinations make glowing pictures in living, fadeless colors.

4. Expose yourself to the best works of the best authors. If you are good fuel, they will set you on fire. Accustom yourself to discern, discriminate, judge, appreciate. See if you can get at the secret of the attractiveness of a favorite author. Why are some books read over and over by succeeding generations of interested folks?

In the course of years there will probably develope within you the feeling that simplicity, clearness, sincerity, and a high regard for reality, are about the most desirable qualities in a "writer."

AN IMAGINARY CONVERSATION

The head porter of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery is a colored man who is an ardent Amos 'n' Andy fan, and models his speech upon theirs. The head of the company happened to encounter the porter in the main warehouse the other day. The following is a purely imaginary account of the conversation that might have ensued. Mr. Busch seemed a little worried over the plan of the drys to concentrate upon electing enough dry Congressmen to block the return of beer, and Zeke advised him:

"Well, what we got to do is educate folks to see it our way."

"The drys have beat us to that, Zeke, I'm afraid—"

"Now don't pay no 'tention to that, Mr. Busch. We just got to keep tellin' folks things we want 'em to believe—just tell 'em over an' over. There's lots of folks that, if you tell 'em anything often enough, they will believe it after a while whether it's so or not."

"What'll we tell them, Zeke?"

"Keep on tellin' 'em 'bout makin' beer goin' to give work to a million men."

"But the drys have pretty well showed up that argument—"

"Don't make no difference 'bout that. Plenty of people'll believe it if we keep tellin' 'em. Use lots of big figgers. Most folks don't understand big figgers, so that's why it's good to use 'em. F'r instance, tell 'em this here brewery used to use 48,000 freight cars every year, an' if there was a hundred breweries that'd be—les'see—4,800,000 freight cars. An' that'd be—lemme see—100,000 trains of 48 cars apiece. Countin' a crew of five men for each train, there's—lemme see—500,000 men got jobs right there."

"But there wouldn't be any such number, Zeke."

"That's all right—tell 'em so anyhow. Then there's hops—jus' tell 'em there'd be another hundred thousand or two get jobs raisin' an' pickin' hops out in Oregon an' them places where hops grows."

"But there never were that many—"

"The folks were's talkin' 'bout won't know it. They don't even know where Oregon is nor nothin' 'bout it. Then tell 'em about kegs and bottle caps—'bout the thousands and thousands of men'd get jobs makin' them things when we get started to makin' beer agin. And jus' go on that way—'bout all the rest of the things—don't make no difference just so long as you keep using big figures—they sound good, anyhow."

"But, see here, Zeke—we'd quit making near beer then—and the kegs we'd use for real beer, and the bottle caps wouldn't be so many more than we use now; and the same number of men could run the brewery—"

"We won't say nothin' 'bout that. Jus' keep tellin' 'em what you want 'em to believe, Mr. Busch, and keep mum 'bout what you don't want 'em to know. That's the onliest way—I'm tellin' you."—The Christian Herald.

UNEMPLOYED PEWS

By William T. Ellis

One of the serious unemployment problems of our day, and of our own community, is that of Unemployed Church Pews.

Here they are, in abundance: comfortable, competent pews, each a potential asset to our common life, but unemployed, because unoccupied.

Money, brains and devotion went into the making of them. They were designed for a great mission. It was purposed that they should provide rest and worship and spiritual inspiration and brotherly fellowship for soul-hungry men and women.

These pews were intended to be a meeting place for man and his Maker.

While seated in them, men and women would worship and fellowship: and hear the Everlasting Word that is life.

So these pews were meant to be vital factors in our community life. They should have a high place in the economy of society.

Every empty pew is somebody's missed opportunity.

Life would be very different today for many persons who should have been in these pews, Sunday after Sunday, but have been absent. Nobody can reckon the spiritual values which the absentees have missed—values of comfort, of recreation of the spirit's powers, of peace, of higher wisdom, of glimpses of the Divine, of a sense of solidarity with the friends of God.

How different the tale of many a life would have been had it filled its Sabbath place in the House of God!

There is intellectual stimulus, also, to be found in the unemployed pew. Therein are to be heard thoughtful discussions of the most important subjects that ever enriched or taxed the mind of man.

In these pews there is room for whole families. Traditionally, church-going America took the entire family to church on Sunday. The children grew up with reverent impressions of the Lord's Day and the Lord's House. Unconsciously, a sense of awe and solemnity, and of reverence for holy things, became part of their natures. They absorbed the great hymns of the Church—a priceless memory for later years. Their ears became attuned to the stately language of Scripture. Prayer and stewardship were established in their nature.

One of the real forces making for the solidarity of the family was the good old custom of common church attendance. There would be less of a "younger generation" problem today if fathers and mothers had followed their parents' usage of taking their sons and daughters regularly to church.

As better times appear on the horizon, let us end the Unemployment Problem of the Pews.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Ellis Service, Swarthmore, Pa.)

WAS THE BIBLE "BOSH?"

The wife of a skeptic became interested in the question of personal salvation. When he found her regularly reading the Bible, he said, "Bosh! I will give you enough of that. I will read the Bible to you every day till you are sick of it." And he began. Day by day when he came home he read the Bible, chapter after chapter, having his wife sit and listen. At last one day, when he had finished the third chapter of John, he said to his wife, "Won't you pray for me? I am a poor lost sinner." They knelt and prayed together, read the Word together (John 6:63), and God came in and saved them both.—Glad Tidings.

—How many years in succession should our annual conference elect the same man president? It is a difficult question. Much depends on the man. Not every good preacher or good man will make a good president. Some speak of the office as though it were a personal honor to be bestowed most worthily. That is positively wrong. The first question is that of ability and willingness to serve the conference and the church. But that is not the only question or the church law would not set a limit of five years. This limit shows that our law-makers believed that a man can be president too long. Wouldn't one year be too long for some men? Isn't five years too long for a fixed rule? Every time a president is elected regard should be given to all pertinent considerations, not electing a man simply because he has been elected before nor refusing to elect a man simply because he has never been elected before.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Love Joy—Why Not Charge

On Sunday, September 25, we were with this church, and preached morning and afternoon in the opening services of their revival meeting. Both of these services were held under the large arbor on the church grounds. The congregations were large. There were probably 700 present at the morning service, and nearly as many in the afternoon, though the attendance was slightly off at this service. Brother J. M. Morgan came in the afternoon to assist Pastor Reynolds in this meeting. The new church recently built at this place has been further enhanced in appearance by a broad walk-way, bordered by stone walls, and leading from the highway to the front church entrance. This improvement has just been made. We congratulate the church and pastor. There is life and vigor in a congregation that is concerned for the attractiveness of church building and grounds. Pastor Reynolds is among his neighbors and kinspeople here, this being the community and the church in which he was reared. It is a compliment to him to serve the church in which he grew up. The pastor announced that the offering Sunday morning would apply on the A. C. B. We did not learn the amount, though we trust that it was generous. We trust, too, that the meeting resulted in much good in every way. On this charge, as on most others, much work remains to be done in closing the year. We bespeak for Pastor Reynolds and his people all diligence in these final efforts, and we earnestly hope that they may experience much satisfaction in the results.

As a superannuated minister, Brother J. W. Hulin is fortunate in his home location. He lives on the highway immediately in front of the church. And this is his home church, also. We were glad to see him and his family again. It was a pleasure to us to be with Brother Reynolds and his people in the two services of this day.

Mecklenburg

October 1-2, Saturday and Sunday, were given to this charge, and three churches visited. We began Saturday night at Antioch. On Sunday we were at Zoar in the morning, and closed in a night service at New Hope. The attendance at these services was very gratifying, though at Zoar it was not so large as at the other two points. At each place our message was received with helpful response. Brother H. B. Furr, the circuit steward, was present in two of these services and urged the people to meet their financial obligations, both to the pastor and to the budgets. Pastor Love finds encouraging signs of progress on the work. We found Sister Love and the Antioch women organizing an Aid society Saturday night. This may probably be changed later to an Auxiliary. On Sunday afternoon the C. E. Society of Beulah gave a program at Stallings church, which, we understand, was well received. The Stallings church will probably organize a society later. There is a field here for these churches, and by patient and efficient effort they should grow in strength and usefulness. Most of them need painting. We trust that a way may be found for doing this in the near future. The parsonage needs some repairs. Also we have an idea that this could be done without much money cost if the people of the charge would donate some timber and some labor. We trust that the charge will give attention to these needed material improvements. We found the finances in arrears, though salary paid to date is about on a par with other charges. The New Hope officials think that salary will be paid in full at that place, and we were assured by them that they would do their best on this obligation, and also on budgets. We bespeak for the other churches a like earnest effort to meet these obligations. Brother Love is giving earnest attention to his work as pastor, and he is kindly spoken of by his people. We are glad to have had this visit with this charge. While on the charge we were kindly entertained by the pastor and his family, Brother Wesley Osborne and his family, and Brother M. L. Stallings and his family. We are grateful for the hospitality of these homes.

Next Sunday

By order of the conference, this is Annual Conference day. The purpose of this day is to put emphasis on our annual conference work, and to raise our annual conference budget. We urge that recognition, in some way, be given to this day, and that special effort be made to raise the A. C. B. In many of our churches the amount of this budget is not large, and it is not at all improbable that it can be raised, if presented to our people. We trust that this day may be made worthwhile, both as an occasion for emphasizing our annual conference objectives and for raising this budget.

Stewards

In our report of our visit to the Mecklenburg charge we called attention to the fact that the circuit steward was present at two of the churches to urge the people to meet their financial obligation to pastor and budgets. This is good work, and timely. Both circuit stewards and stewards of local churches must get busy now, if we are to bring up our finances to a creditable showing. Let us urge that stewards assume this responsibility, with a new and real understanding that it is their responsibility, and go at this work with a determined purpose to get results. When stewards have a "mind to work" the financial receipts of the church pile up. We appeal to our stewards for united, persistent, prayerful efforts during these closing weeks for both salary and budgets.

"Our Brethren Have Discouraged Our Hearts"

Forty years after the children of Israel were turned back from Kadesh-Barnea Moses rehearsed before them their failure to enter the promised land, and reminded them that they said at that time, "Whither shall we go up? our brethren have discouraged our heart." This was a terrible inditement to bring against those ten faint-hearted spies. But the charge was true. By their adverse report they did discourage the hearts of the people and turned them away from their promise inheritance to perish in the wilderness. In these closing weeks let there be none among us who will raise a discouraging voice. If we encounter giants of difficulty let us not be grasshappers. God is for us, and we can rely upon Him with absolute assurance that He will give us strength to subdue these giants and to possess our spiritual land. In that confidence let us press the work of these closing weeks, and when the end comes may there be none among us who can say "Our brethren have discouraged our hearts."

"These Things Do"

1. Elect church officers for the coming year and duly install them.
2. Revise church register (See Discipline, 1928 revision, pages 30, 45, 46).
3. Attend the fourth quarterly conference. This conference closes the work of the old year, and makes plans for the new. Every official should be present.

Appointments

October 9.—Graham, 11 A. M.
October 9.—Julian, 7:30 P. M.
October 16.—Weaverville charge.
October 17-18.—Democrat charge.
October 19.—Asheville.
October 22.—Cleveland charge.
October 23.—Connelly Springs charge.
October 30.—Yadkin College, 11 A. M.

"Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed."

Fraternally yours,
S. W. Taylor.

PASTORS, PLEASE NOTICE

The report blanks are being sent out this week, and should be in your hands before you read this. With one exception, I am sending out only one of a kind. My supply is not sufficient to send two to each pastor; but if any one wants more I can supply him, if there are not too many requests.

We are improving all the while in filling out the report blanks; but some of the brethren still persist in putting in cents. Please leave them out. IF YOU HAVE MORE THAN FIFTY CENTS TO REPORT, MAKE IT AN ADDITIONAL DOLLAR. IF LESS THAN FIFTY CENTS, DISREGARD IT. We cannot print cents in the Journal without adding a great deal to the cost.

Begin to get your facts together for your report, and don't wait until you get to Conference to make it out.

The following charges have failed to report their delegates to this date: Anderson, Greensville, Kannapolis, North Davidson, Spencer, Vance, South Winston, Yarborough. It is quite possible that the credential cards have gone astray. But I should like to complete my roll, and will greatly appreciate it if the brethren will send in these names.

Don't forget the Journal money. I wish very much I might have the money in hand before Conference. You can help me by sending in the amount due from your charge.

C. W. Bates, Secretary.

X's Editems

(Continued from Page One)

only way of escape from everlasting death. "Now is the day of salvation," and thrice happy is that man who realizes it.—X.

◆

Love is all comprehensive. It demands all the faculties of a man. The intensity of love may be understood when it is called to mind that it takes all of a man to love in the religious sense. It takes all of the heart, from which issue all the streams of life; it takes all of the mind, from which proceed all pure, ennobling thoughts and meditations; and it takes all of the soul, from which come all the deep emotions which inspire men to noble deeds to enable them to love as Christ wants them to love.—X.

◆

A beautiful refrain is this to our life-song, "Trust in Him at all times"—in youth, in old age, in sorrow, in joy, in poverty, in wealth; at "all times," in good harvests, in the wilderness and in the garden, on the firm earth and on the tempestuous sea; at "all times," until time itself has mingled with eternity.—X.

◆

The church was intended from the beginning to be a spiritual household. What a thought! Here all who are of the same blood,—the purifying, saving sanctifying blood of Christ,—are one family. They have all things in common. They experience the same joys, and share in the same blessings. They love the same things, and worship at the same shrine. The bond of sympathy and love binds them to each other in ties that are stronger than death. There is no other institution known to men that gives so much for so little.—X.

◆

When men neglect the church they neglect God. When they lose their reverence for the church they lose reverence for God. When they cease to worship in public assemblies they cease to worship at all. We may say what we may about the church, but one fact remains, viz., that it forever stands as a reminder of our responsibility to God. It is His appointed place of worship; it is our Ebenezer.—X.

MEETING OF THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The 105th session of the North Carolina Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant church will sit in the First church, Burlington, Rev. Fred W. Paschall, pastor, beginning on Wednesday, November 9, 1932, at 10:00 a. m. All delegates, ministers and preachers, are urged to be present for the opening and to remain until the close. One of the difficulties with our work at Annual Conference is the fact that much of the important legislation must be passed during the closing hours when many of the brethren have left. We need the wisdom and counsel of the whole body. So we are asking you to stay even though it may involve considerable sacrifice.

S. W. Taylor, President,
C. W. Bates, Secretary.

◆

—Our nation exepcts to elect a president November 8; our conference, November 9th.

CALL TO GOD FOR A BETTER WORLD

Whereas National prohibition has been betrayed by both major political parties, and the public mind has been poisoned by the secular press; and

Whereas temperance leaders are at variance over united plans for action, thereby discouraging vigorous effort by Christian people; therefore

Be it Resolved that we reaffirm our steadfast faith in the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act as the all sufficient and final remedy for the evils of alcoholic beverages, and that we solemnly adjure all civil authorities, from the Chief Magistrate of the Nation to the committing magistrate in every community, to fearlessly and faithfully enforce the Law; and

Be it further Resolved that we earnestly plead with all believers in sobriety throughout the whole world, and especially in these United States and Canada, to set aside the week, beginning October the 17th, 1932, as a period for penitential prayer for the triumph of prohibition, in the November election, and for the overthrow of its enemies.

The time has passed for a War of Words; the time has come to PRAY—to TALK with GOD. Man plus man is two; man plus devil is legion; man plus God is ALMIGHTY. This battle has been and still is God's fight; with Him, we win; without Him, we lose.

Therefore, with confidence, we humbly submit this Cause to the Sovereign God, our Heavenly Father, and implore his mighty power to deliver us from the threatened scourge of legalized liquors.

Yours for God and Home and Country,
PRESBYTERIAN MINISTERIAL ASS'N.,
Zed H. Copp, Chm. Law and Order Committee.

MONEY TALKS, AND IT SAYS:

"Catch me and keep me, if you can, but I have wings. Find me and bind me, and I mysteriously disappear. Dig and delve, scratch and scrape, grind and grasp in order to get me, and lo, I am a broken bauble and a bursting bubble!

"Save me and store me for worthy ends—for budget and bonds, for rainy days, for self-improvement and for service of others, and I will be as faithful a servant as you are an honest master.

"Hide and hoard me for selfish ends, to see me glitter and glow, to hear my clink and crackle, to feel my pressure and power, and I will pauperize your mind, poison your soul, paralyze your will.

"Give me and guide me to serve and to save others, to meet and to match entrenched human need with incarnate human love, to share and to spend my brightest and best, and I will come back and crown you with satisfaction and success."

Money talks, and it says:

"I am you! You will be what you make of me!"—Publisher Unknown.

—He that works deeds of righteousness at so much per deed is not working for righteousness.

—The Liberal Arts College Bulletin pursues the even tenor of its way. A new and attractive number is on our table. It has the inspiration of a great and noble undertaking.

HOW A LITTLE GIRL PREACHED

The story is told of a school in Madagascar, where one of the pupils, a Malagasy girl, was a fine scholar, and was especially interested in Bible stories. After she had been at school for ten months her mother came to take her home for the vacation.

The distance to be traveled was a two days' journey. At night they stopped at a village, and were asked many questions while waiting for supper.

The little girl told where she had been, and repeated some of the Bible stories she had learned. After supper she was kept up till late telling more stories and what she knew about the new religion.

In the morning the people would not let them leave, but promised free food and lodging and rest through the day if they would stay another night. The evening was spent like the night before, others coming to hear the Bible stories and the hymns.

The following morning a whole company came from the other end of the village with a like request. In the end, a week was spent there, and Sunday was filled with calls upon the little girl to repeat all she had learned about Christianity. —Publisher Unknown.

THE TRULY BRAVE

Be not dismayed!
True hearts grow never weary,
Though long the way and dreary.
In patient trust press onward toward the goal;
Pursue your way with gladness in your soul,
And unafraid.

Oh, falter not!
Though steep the path before you,
Though darkening clouds hang o'er you,
Safe you shall gain the hilltop of success,
Where all the journey's pain and weariness
Will be forgot.

—Unknown.

WHAT PROHIBITION STOPPED

No one would accuse the Chicago Tribune of being fanatical on the liquor question. Nevertheless, an editorial in that paper, under date of July 11th, paints a gripping picture of the evil the American people attacked in passing the prohibition amendment. "If the secret records of the brewing and distilling industries were ever brought to light, they would tell a story of social and political corruption unequalled in the annals of our history.

"If the veritable narrative of the American saloon were ever written, it would make the decadence of Rome look like an age of pristine beauty in comparison . . . If these men have not made a practice of committing murder and arson, it is because these crimes did not seem immediately profitable.

"The liquor business has been the faithful ally of every vicious element in American life. It has protected criminals, it has fostered the social evil and it has bribed politicians, juries and legislatures."—Exchange.

OUR STORY PAGE

RUTH'S PERSECUTION

Persecution. That is a big word. Do you know what it means? Ruth was finding out.

Ruth had been a happy little Christian for three whole months. She had been saved on her tenth birthday. So although she was a ten-year-old girl she was only a three-months-old babe in the family of God.

Ruth's home was with her grandmother. Grandmother had given her some very precious Scripture texts and mottoes to hang up in her own little room. One of them was her "Rules for Today."

"Do nothing that you would not like to be doing when Jesus comes."

"Go to no place where you would not like to be found when Jesus comes."

"Say nothing that you would not like to be saying when Jesus comes."

Ruth earnestly tried to remember those things. It was easy at home with grandmother to help her, but at school it was quite difficult. Her playmates did not understand. And her dearest friend Emily was the worst of all.

Emily and Ruth had always been chums. Ruth so longed to have her friend with her in seeking to live for Christ. But Emily would have none of it. It seemed she even tried to make Ruth stumble and fall.

One day the trials had been harder than usual. Ruth ran home from school, and shut herself in her room. Then what do you think she did?

She snatched down her lovely mottoes, and turned them every one face to the wall. Then she threw herself on the bed, and cried and cried. She did not even hear grandmother's soft tap on the door.

After a while Ruth got up and wiped her eyes. Now she felt ashamed of herself. Then she looked at the wall,—and then she truly was ashamed.

"Oh, Oh!" Ruth gasped, "how could I do such a thing!"

She went quickly and turned the mottoes back as they should be. Then she cried again, but in an entirely different way. The tears just rolled down her cheeks as she knelt by her bed, and told Lord all about it. Pretty soon she went to find her grandmother.

Grandmother sat in her low rocker by the window. She smiled lovingly at her granddaughter. Ruth brought a stool, and sat down close to grandmother's knee.

"And how is my little girl?" asked grandmother.

"She is a very naughty girl, grandmother," answered Ruth with a little tremble in her voice.

"Well, we are all naughty children sometimes," said grandmother. "How much patience the dear Lord has with us!"

"Oh, not you, grandmother!" cried Ruth quickly. "You never had a naughty thought, did you?"

"Yes, dearie, many of them, I am sorry to say. You know, when we are born into God's family, and the lovely new nature is given to us, our old naughty nature still remains with us, and it gets us into trouble whenever it can."

"I—I guess that explains what I did," said Ruth after a minute's thought. And she told how she had turned her mottoes to the wall.

"Do you think the Lord will forgive me?" asked Ruth.

"'If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins'," quoted grandmother.

"I did confess, grandma. I told Him all about it," said Ruth.

"Then He has forgiven you. His Word says so, and that settles the question."

"But grandmother, I don't want Emily and the others to hate me. What can I do?"

"They hated our Lord. They crucified Him. Are we better than He? We may expect them to hate us," said grandmother reverently.

"If the world hate you, ye know that it hated Me before it hated you" (John 15:18).

"We can pray for them, dearie. Have you asked the Lord to make Emily His child?"

"I am afraid I haven't, much," confessed Ruth. "But I am going to now every day. Won't it be lovely when Emily is saved too!"

That evening when Ruth went to her room, she found a new text hanging near her dresser. It was this:

"Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution" (II Tim. 3:12).—Messages of the Love of God.

◆

CLARA'S VOICE CULTURE

"Why can't I, mamma? Mary Simpson is going to, and I should think we could afford it as well as they."

"But we can't, my dear; and it's of no use to argue the question. So try to take it pleasantly."

But instead of doing as her mother suggested, Clara stamped her foot, and in a loud, shrill, petulant voice began to complain that she could never have anything like other girls, and she didn't care, so she didn't.

"You can take lessons in voice culture whether we can afford to employ the teacher or not," answered her mother.

"I can't, I won't, I don't want to!" snapped out Clara, impatiently.

"But you can, and you will, and you must want to, or you wouldn't," replied her mother coolly.

"Or else I wouldn't?" repeated Clara in surprise.

"Yes—for that is what you are doing at this very moment—taking a lesson in voice culture. You are cultivating your voice to be harsh and unmusical and unkind."

"I didn't know that was voice culture," Clara answered, a little bit ashamed of her performance.

"It is culture of a wrong kind," replied her mother. "It is training downward instead of upward. Anger and impatience are your teachers, and they are never good teachers in anything. I will tell you of a far better teacher, whom you can have every day without paying anything."

"What do you mean, mamma?" asked Clara, her curiosity aroused a little.

"I mean love," answered her mother. "Love is the best teacher of voice culture in the world, and all the other teachers amount to nothing without her."

"Why, mamma, how can you say that?"

"I can prove what I say," replied Mrs. Wilson. "There comes Harry. You know how much fault you find with him about speaking so loudly and in tones so rough and unrefined. Now notice when he picks up Baby Alice and greets her, what sort of tone he uses."

Clara observed as her mother suggested, and she could not fail to notice how soft and tender and pleasant Harry's voice was when he spoke to the baby and called her his dear "little sweetheart," and wanted her to kiss him and "love" him by patting him on the cheek, which was her way of loving.

"Now, do you know," asked her mother, after Harry had gone out of the room, "who it was that gave him lessons in voice culture that made his voice soft and sweet and tender just then? It was Love; and if you cannot take lessons of Miss Martin and have the benefit of artificial culture, you can at least take lessons of love every day and hour."—Publisher Unknown.

ROBERT'S HELPERS

Robert Allen came home from Sunday School all excited one bright spring morning.

"Papa—Mamma!" he exclaimed, looking from one fond parent to the other, "may I have a little garden?"

"Why, sonny," Father Allen said in surprise, "what do you want with a garden?"

"Well," said Robert slowly, "Miss Nellie, my Sunday School teacher, asked each of us boys in her class to plant some vegetables that we could sell, and the money from them is to go to our annual missionary fund."

"And what do you think you could raise, son?" Mrs. Allen asked, doubtfully.

"Well," Robert said, thoughtfully, "I was thinking about raising potatoes."

"That's a good idea, Robert," Mother Allen put in, "and I'll save you the trouble of finding a market by offering right now to buy all you raise."

Robert was delighted, and early the next morning, with his father's assistance, prepared a little plot of ground in their back yard, and planted the seed potatoes.

"Now," said father, when the last row had been finished, "you will have some job on hand for the summer—they will have to be hoed and kept clean of weeds, and remember that, the better you tend them, the better will be your crop—but it will take work."

And it wasn't long before Robert learned that his father had spoken truthfully—it was some job to keep the weeds down—but every morning found Robert out in his potato patch, and one morning he discovered that something was eating the tender, green leaves, and he immediately went to tell his mother.

"I guess it's bugs," said mother.

And, sure enough, when Robert examined his plants he discovered bugs on them. That gave him something more to do.

Robert hadn't minded the hoeing and weeding so much, but, oh, how he did hate gathering those nasty, squirming potato-bugs! But mother said they would kill his plants if he didn't gather them, and Robert was no shirker.

Then, one morning Robert was taken very ill with fever, and it was several weeks before he was able to be out of bed. He had forgotten for a time all about his potato patch, but when he was able to sit up again he remembered.

"I guess the bugs have just about killed 'em," he said to his mother as she assisted him to a chair by the window.

Suddenly Robert gave a little exclamation of surprise, for his potato plants were in blossom, and what surprised him even more was the large number of birds hopping about among the plants. There were robins, bluebirds, wrens and various kinds of sparrows.

"I wonder what all those birds are doing in my garden, mamma?" Robert questioned.

"Why, Robert," his mother answered, "those are your helpers—they have kept your plants free from bugs."

"And—and they have saved my potato crop, mamma!" he exclaimed joyously.

"That's just what they've done," Mrs. Allen returned.

"Mamma," Robert said, thoughtfully, "I wish I could do something for those little helpers, for they've not only helped me, but they've helped some poor little heathen children, too, by saving my missionary potatoes."

"That's a lovely thought," said mother. "You might make some birdhouses to protect them from their enemies."

And that's just what Robert did. When he had gathered his potato crop, for which he received ten cents per pound, he felt very proud of the missionary money he handed over to his teacher. Then he told the class about his helpers, and every boy in the class agreed to make bird-houses to protect these feathered friends.—Boys' Weekly.

BY WAY OF THE TELEPHONE

Late one evening a gentleman came home unexpectedly, and found his house closed. He could not arouse any one, and he had no key with him. Going to a nearby drug store, he telephoned to the central office several miles away, and asked the one in charge to ring up his house number and tell the one who answered that he was on the front steps waiting to get in. The ringing of the telephone near his room aroused the sleeping butler to answer it and soon he was at the door letting in the owner of the house.

It was a long way round by which this gentleman accomplished his purpose, but it was a very efficient way. There was a time when Peter was in prison, behind a strong iron door, chained to two soldiers. He expected to die the next day, but he was sleeping soundly. His friends could not get near him. They had no power to deliver him. But they prayed all night to God for him, and the Lord heard them and sent an angel to open the prison door and set him free. When we cannot come near our friends to help them, we can reach them by way of the throne in Heaven.—The Youth's Evangelist.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for October 9, 1932:

"HOW DOES THE LIQUOR PROBLEM AFFECT YOUNG PEOPLE TODAY?"

Scripture Text: Matt. 7:17, 18; John 8:32.

There is no problem confronting American citizens that is more discussed than the enforcement of prohibition. This step which became law in 1918 was not a whim of the moment, but was the result of careful consideration and earnest, prayerful thought on the part of thinking people. Many advocates of repeal say that prohibition was the result of the World War, but they forget that 46 of the states voted for the amendment and that many of these had outlawed the sale of alcoholic liquors before the national statute was enacted. The inauguration of prohibition was the consummation of sound thinking and demands as much of every citizen today. We cannot blind our eyes to the evident values in economic, social, and religious ways. Is a nation with our mental capacities blinded to reason and seeking only the satisfaction of the desires of its lower nature? America is facing a question that is not only pertinent to present welfare, but one that will vitally influence generations that shall follow.

A great deal of the literature issued by the friends of prohibition and of its enemies has been too shallow and devoid of sound reasoning. It is hoped that you who discuss this topic tonight will be open-minded and fair. Has the manufacture and sale of liquor anything to commend it to the welfare of this and succeeding generations? In a past day when the saloon was the congregating center, it also served as the radiating point for vice and crime. It was the direct cause for poverty and family troubles in numerous cases. The open saloon never contributed to schools, churches, or civic betterment in any way; instead it was the enemy of good and general welfare. Some of the greatest advocates of repeal of the 18th Amendment are ones who do not remember the conditions before prohibition or are so blinded by selfish intemperance that they have lost a regard for the people who are helpless and ignorant. It sounds unreasonable that a man can claim any amount of altruism and careful analysis who is standing for repeal.

If prohibition goes down in history as a "noble experiment" it will be a sad commentary on American democracy. People who are incapable of better analysis are incapable of a self-government. Prohibition is probably the greatest piece of American legislation and the strongest ally of the working man. The two classes who are fighting prohibition strongest are the extremely high and the very low. Neither of these groups has contributed greatly to advancement and general welfare; therefore, it is the duty and privilege of the middle class to keep prohibition as a national enactment. We have looked to the political parties for salvation and are still in the state of doubt. The hope of prohibition is not in political parties, for they are working for votes rather than virtue, but the final unit of enforcement is the citizen. The Kingdom of God was never hurt as badly by open resistance as by inactivity; so it is with prohibition: disinterested citizens are responsible for the weak enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Those who are responsible for enforcement are half-hearted in the attempt. It has been a comparatively easy matter to buy over public officials and violate the Eighteenth Amendment under their very eyes. Since the Eighteenth Amendment is a Constitutional enactment, a person, who by act are advocacy violates it, is a blood cousin to the traitor. A lawyer, who is not law-abiding enough to reverence and attempt to enforce prohibition, should lose his license. Wet propaganda should not be allowed to pass through the mail, for a governmental agency is being used in an attempt to undermine a legal statute. It should be impressed on American minds that it is a serious matter to declare oneself in favor of disobedience to law. Clarence Darrow declares that a person who disfavors the Eighteenth Amendment should show his contempt for it by outright refusal to obey. This is the seed of anarchy: the breakdown of all law.

There has been too little thinking going on regarding the enforcement of prohibition. It is my opinion that if legislation could be effected to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, a stronger and better enforced law would be enacted within a short time. People are not thinking of the seriousness of the matter when they advocate repeal. Any return of the old curse would awaken them and allow them to see clearly what advantages prohibition has over the open saloon.

The need of the hour is that citizens will awaken and help enforce the Eighteenth Amendment. If the church and good citizens lose in this endeavor, they will see the world return to a period of darkness comparable to the dark ages. We cannot and we must not see our generation bind future generations in the chains of sin when we are able to avert the danger. Be certified, young people, those who advocate repeal are not the friends of progress and wholesome citizenship, but are seeking license for their sinful lusts. Accept the challenge, learn the truth that shall free you from this evil!

Quotable Poetry

Dare to be brave, dare to be true,
Strive for the right, for the Lord is with you.
Fight with sin bravely, fight and be strong;
Christ is your Captain, fear only what's wrong.

Dare to be brave, dare to be true,
God is your Father, He watches o'er you.
He knows your trials; when your heart quails,
Call Him to rescue, His grace never fails.

Dare to be brave, dare to be true,
God grants you courage to carry you through;
Try to help others, ever be kind,
Let the oppressed a strong friend in you find.

Suitable Songs

"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "As a Volunteer," "Throw Out the Life-Line," "Rescue the Perishing," "The Victory May Depend on You."

There is so much material appearing in book form and in newspapers and magazines, that a small amount of material is given here. If you desire a good speaker for this meeting he can be easily found near you. Prohibition is not a static subject and a great deal of enthusiasm should be evidenced in the discussion of this vital question.

◆

—Today, Monday, October 3, Mrs. Neese was admitted to Roanoke Rapids Hospital where she will be given surgical treatment. She desires the prayers of all who read this note.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Liberty Sunday school, Liberty-Moriah..	$ 2.00
Yarborough Chapel Sunday school	1.00
Bess Chapel Sunday school	3.00
Caroleen Sunday school	5.00
Chestnut Ridge, Orange	3.50
Spring Valley Sunday school, Vance ..	6.00
Mr. Britt M. Armfield, personal, clothing child	14.00
Bellmont Sunday school, Mt. Hermon ..	3.39
Bethel Baraca Class, Alamance	1.50
The Onward Class, Connelsville, Pa., clothing child	5.00
Mrs. M. E. Moore, Siler City, personal..	5.00
Spring Church Sunday school, Spring church	1.67
New Hope, Why Not	1.40
Mount Pleasant C. E. Society, Mount Pleasant, clothing child	2.50
Mitchell's Grove Sunday school, Guilford	2.00
Mitchell's Grove, program by the children	3.00
Hickory Grove Sunday school, Guilford	1.36
Spring Hill, North Davidson	5.74

Clothing and Other Gifts

Fountain Place, 6 dresses, 1 apron and 1 piece of underwear.

Mrs. Vance, High Point, 4 pain of hose and 2 pieces of underwear.

We are thankful for all these gifts.

Harvest-Home Donations

We have now reached that period in the year when our many friends are planning their donations of wheat, corn, potatoes, canned fruit and vegetables, clothing, chickens and such other produce as they may get together. When you have laid your plans and gathered your produce together then please load it on farm trucks and send to the Home, if possible. If you cannot send it, then please write us and tell us when and where to go, and we will send for it. Orange Circuit is planning their harvest-home offering at an early date. We always get a good offering in kind from Orange.

Money Offerings

Money is scarce, we know, but in this last month of the Conference year please share with us just as liberally as the dear Father will permit. We know you will and we thank you.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Spencer Mission.—It has been, and is, a joy to preach to this faithful band two Sunday afternoons per month.

The Sunday School holds steady; the Woman's Auxiliary is active. Each month a little is paid on the Building indebtedness. About $300.00 will have been paid on the debt during the year. That is about $1.00 per member per month.

I think a new arrangement ought to be effected by the Conference by which this church could have either a morning or night service, or both. If it is to go forward this is imperative.

This is a delightful little group of loyal and co-operative people and their faithfulness pledges a future for their church.

G. H. HENDRY.

* * *

Yadkin College.—This work is in much the same condition it was when I first begun to preach there. There is a noticeable increase in the congregations at the preaching services. Our church and the M. E. South hold a sort of joint Sunday School. It works well and good comes of it.

As has been the custom for some time we held our meeting jointly with the M. E brethren. About all of the young people of that community were effected by it, leading them either to reconsecrate or profess faith Some twelve or fourteen were received into the membership of the two churches.

Some of God's own are found on this field.

G. H. HENDRY.

* * *

West Forsyth.—Our services at Baltimore and Stony Knoll churches last Sunday were fairly well attended. The congregation at Stony Knoll was larger than usual. The ordinance of the Lord's Supper was observed at each church, with many participating in the service. After the service at Baltimore the pastor and family were invited to the home of Mrs. Ella Doub, where an excellent dinner was enjoyed and a very pleasant visit made. Rev. J. W. Doub, who has served as superintendent of the Baltimore Shnday school for about 60 years, makes his home with Mrs. Doub, his sister-n-law. A new arrival in the home is Peggy Lee Phillips, two weeks old last Sunday, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermitt Phillips, and granddaughter of Mrs. Doub. A new baby arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John WesleyLonglast week.

After the service at Stony Knoll last Sunday afternoon the pastor and family went by special invitation to the splendid home of Mr. and Mrs. Ammon Shore, where a good supper was enoyed and a brief visit made. We regret to report the serious illness of Brother Charlie Hunter, a member of Stony Knoll church. He has been confined to his home and also spent a while in a hospital since the first of June. We hope his condition will soon be better, aalthough little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Pleasant Hill church had the pleasure of entertaining the annual mission study class of the fourteenth district of women's work on Thursday of last week. The outstanding features of the program were the devotional service, led by Miss Anna Cox, of Hickory Ridge church; review of the foreign mission book by Mrs. W. B. Speas, of Pleasant Hill church; duet by Mrs. J. F. Hunter and Mrs. B. A. Sprinkle; review of the home mission book by Dr. J. E. Pritchard, of Winston-Salem; solo by Rev. Wayne Curtis, of Burlington; address by Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, of Mebane. (The sumptuous dinner served during the noon hour was also a big feature of the occasion.)

Our revival meeting which began at Harmony Grove church the fourth Sunday morning ended on Friday night. The pastor had the help of Rev. Wayne Curtis, of Burlington, during the meeting. Brother Curtis was a great help in the preaching and singing. His sermons and solos were enjoyed and appreciated very much. He and the pastor did all the preaching, alternating in the services, except on Thursday night when Rev. G. W. Fink, of the M. E. Church, South, delivered the sermon. Brother J. M. Brown, of Guilford College, was present for all the services except the last service. He did good work assisting with the song services. Considering the rainy weather and the fact that only night ervices were held after Sunday, (a total of only seven service,) it was the best meeting we have had on West Forsyth charge this year. There were six professions, two of them being reclaimed. We hope to receive members at the next regular appointment.

Our appointments for next Sunday will be at Union Hill church at 11 a. m. and Tabernacle church at 7:30 p. m.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

* * *

State Street.—After a year of silence, it may be that I ought to break into print again and tell about my stewardship as a pastor and member of the conference.

The reporter has kept the Herald group well informed about the work of the church but there are certain matters not fully covered by these reports, they may be of more or less personal character but there are those who will be interested in them.

The church was kind enough to relieve us of our duties here for the month of August that we might have a vacation. This was greatly appreciated. The time was spent fifty-fifty in rest and assisting in two revival meetings; one at Stallings church, Rev. J. L. Love, pastor; and the other at Dulins church, Rev. G. B Ferree, pastor It was a joy to be thrown with these brethren in this way again. The meetings were a joy to me and Ihave reasons to believe that good was accomplished. During my rest period of August I visited my parents who reside in Florida. That, too, was a real experience. Friends went along and paid the bills.

The Woman's auxiliary, Mrs. A. H. Evans, president, continues to go forward in a three circle unit, holding all the regular meetings and getting off lots of valuable service to the church. The Men's Brotherhood is a sort of mixed success which I rather think has succeeded more than they have failed; it continues to press on toward larger usefulness. The Sunday school is doing quite well, some falling off in attendance during vacation but there is a steady pickup from Sunday to Sunday since vacation. The average attendance will be a little short of two hundred per Sunday for the year. The attendance at the preaching services has been uniformly good throughout the year. The Senior C. E. society under the efficient leadership of Mrs. H. S Lanier is going forward in a fine way and the Junior society directed by Mrs. L. B. Koonts is likewise doing well.

Financially we are about where we were this time last year. Money has been much harder to secure than formerly but our people have worked and secured it. A very little has been paid on A.C.B. or G.C.B. to date. Something more will be paid.

Notice in February or March of the withdrawal of the $400.00 appropriation made by the Board of Church Extension on pastor's salary for this church threw us into financial embarassment. The church tried to offset it by raising the salary to $900.00. They have done and are doig about what they can under existing industrial conditions here in Lexington but some kind of new arrangements will have to be effected. No pastor can live on $900.00 and pay his debts.

After three years here, we have a great deal to encourage us. Looking backward we can recount a number of advances: The Sunday school doubled in enrollment and attendance; the church membership more than doubled, having received a little short of one hundred and fifty members; a Men's Brotherhood organized; a junior C. E. society organized and thriving, and other minor advances made all along the line. One thousand floating indebtedness has been retired, all current expenses cared for except a part of the last interest, due only a few days ago, on the bonds of the church. This $960.00 annual item runs our current budget up.

We are doing our best to come out on top by the close of the year. Greetings and benediction to the whole family.

G. H. HENDRY

* * *

First Church, Lexington.—There were 273 present in Sunday school today; this was not as many as we had expected to see present, but we were glad to see this goodly number here.

As we had previously stated in this paper, today was our Home-Coming Day. We also dedicated our four new Sunday school rooms today. Rev. Charlie Grant preached the dedicatory sermon at 11 o'clock; he brought a very interesting and helpful message and we were very glad to have him with us.

In our afternoon service at 2 o'clock we had one former pastor and a good number of people who had once been members here. Rev. H. L. Powell, who served this church for six years as pastor, was the first to make a talk. He made a good talk on home-coming and he also recalled some of the incidents which took place while he was here. The next to make a talk was Bro. John Hayes, of Thomasville, who had his first experience in church work here at this church. Bro. Hayes praised the progress of the church very much and rejoinced with us over the recent improvements which we have made on the church. The next to speak was a former Sunday school superintendent, Bro. Lee Teague, of High Point. He told of the time when he was here at the church and was very glad to see the church moving forward as it is. The next speaker was Bro. George Berrier, who was also superintendent of the Sunday school here in the early days of the church. He praised the work we are doing and urged us to go forward in the Master's work. We were glad to have the Canaan chorus with us in the service to do the singing for us; we always enjoy their good singing.

We are through with the work on the church now; we have built four new rooms and painted the church all over. We have also made some good improvements on the church grounds which makes it show up much better from the main street.

On next Sunday the Chisholm Sisters will be here to sing for us and we are hoping to have a large crowd present to hear them. Bro. John Hayes will preach for us and we extend a cordial invitation to all to worship with us. REPORTER.

◆

Reidsville.—It is not my purpose to arrogate to myself the role of a reporter for my church, this duty having been assigned to another; however, I am sure no one will censure me for writing to the Herald once in a dozen moons.

A year ago I had Dr. Fred W. Paschall, of Burlington, conduct a meeting in my church. His preaching was so acceptable to all who heard him that he was asked to return this year. He came and for two weeks he did the preaching for us, meeting in every particular the high expectations of every one who heard him. It is no easy thing for a preacher on a return engagement to measure up to the expectations of the people, however, Dr. Paschall did it on this occasion, and our members would be glad to have him return for our next meeting.

Through the kindness of our Philathea class, Rev. J. L. Trollinger, of Brown Summit, was engaged to conduct the singing during the meeting, and he did it well. He made the service inspiring and devotional, using for the most part the grand old hymns of the church, hymns that stir the deepest emotions of the human heart. I want to express my personal appreciation to the class for this splendid service.

While the visible results of the meeting were not what we hoped for and expected, I am sure much good was done, and certainly seed were sown that will bring forth an abundant harvest some day to the glory of God.

GEO. R. BROWN.

◆

Denton.—Our church work on the Denton charge is progressing nicely. Our protracted meetings have been very gratifying in results. Bro. Bell, of West Thomasville, did the preaching at Canaan, and he seemed to be at his best during the entire meeting. The people were well pleased with his splendid sermons and passionate appeals to the unsaved. Bro. J. B. Trogdon came to us at Piney Grove and brought a series of Gospel messages in the usual able manner, with a passion that was well nigh irresistible. We had the best meeting that has been there, it is said, in several year. Bro. R. A. Hunter, of Winston-Salem, came and did the preaching throughout the Denton meeting. He conducted the meeting to the delight of all. His sermons were full of inspiration, instruction and optimism. We were all greatly encouraged by his coming, and feel that we have been built up in the "Most Holy Faith" and better prepared for the struggle that is inevitable for all who fight the good fight and keep the faith. All these brethren have endeared themselves anew to us, and we thank them for their splendid work and love.

We are to begin a few days' special meeting at Mount Eable next Sunday at 11 o'clock. This is one of our old camp meeting sites, and the mother church of several other M. P. churches in this section. It was organized about 70 years ago, and has had some of the old outstanding preachers for her pastors. Among them were Wills, Dunn, Loftin, Lineberry, and others enrolled among our honored dead. We are expecting a number of visitors from abroad, who have left the dust of loved ones in the church burying-ground to await the resurrection of the just. Come with your dinner and spend another day where your mother used to pray and bless the Lord. Remember the date—October 8.

If you think this report a bit long you will forgive me when I tell you on last Saturday at noon we had the biggest pounding we have had in many a day. Space will not permit me to name the ones who took part and the long list of articles that makes glad a preacher and his family's heart found in the 40-odd packages of what must have been the very best things their pantries and store could afford from the cellar to the garret, and from the hen-house through the granary to the milk dairy. May God bless you, Denton church. I hope we may prove worthy of your splendid benevolence and thoughtfulness to your pastor. ROBERT SHORT.

◆

First Church, High Point.—An enthusiastic Rally Day service was observed Sunday morning. The different classes of the Sabbath school assembled at 9:45 o'clock in their own department rooms, and at 10:30 with their respective teachers marched into the main auditorium for the merger service. It was an inspiring scene, with representatives from the Cradle Roll Department, through Beginners, Primary, Intemediate, Junior and Senior groups, not forgetting the Baracas, Philatheas, and matrons of the Aunt Lizzie Welch class, which almost filled the large auditorium, and all these active, restless youngsters were quiet, gentlemanly and lady-like. All arose and sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers" with enthusiasm. Too much praise cannot be spoken of the faithful and efficient teachers, who meet from Sabbath to Sabbath through winter's storm and summer's heat to instruct and train these children, youth and adults of the different ages and departments. A pageant, "In the King's Service," by Mattie B. Shannon, was presented in an admirable manner by different groups of Sabbath school children, including Spirit of Rally Day, Service, Progress and Spirit of the Sabbath School. The superintendent of the Primary department, Miss Margaret Neese, led five children on the pulpit, and each recited a Bible verse. Four Juniors entered from the right, and four from the left, then four Intermediates and three Seniors. This pageant was carefully directed by Mrs. L. R. Johnston, Misses Myrtle Davis, and Annabel Thompson. Rev. R. I. Farmer then delivered a brief, but impressive message on "Advance or Retreat?" from the text, "Who knoweth but that thou art come unto the kingdom for such a time as this?" He said that Rally Day is a time when everybody determines that we are not going to retreat or turn back. Nature never stands still, but always advances. So it is in the Christian life, with inertia and inactivity come death. The challenge is that we keep struggling and striving with God's help. We get discouraged about our church, but everything worth while advances slowly. As far as we are concerned, there must be no surrender in the fight. Cyrus W. Field labored 13 years in laying the Atlantic cable. In our daily battle we need wisdom, patience, hope, strength, and, above all, we need God. At a time like this we need persons; not so much a preacher who will draw a crowd, but a church that will hold. I plead with you to be loyal to your church. There are two ways to strengthen the church, by numbers and by deepening the spiritual life of the membership. There are two roads to success, not to do things that you know you ought not to do, and to do things that you know you should. At the close of the minister's practical and splendid message, Misses Juliaa Coe and Ernestine Yuncannon, Messrs. C. L. Gray, Jr., and W. C. Ferrell, Jr., sang a beautiful quartette, Professor Stimson accompanying on the organ.

At the evening service the minister's subject was "Jesus Meeting Human Needs." The Young People's C. E. Society met Sunday at 6:30 P. M. as usual.

The Juniors and Intermediates of the Sabbath school will sponsor the Wednesday evening prayer service, and be responsible for getting a good attendance.

Next Sunday, the minister announced, will be the time for taking the free-will offering for deficit in publishing the Methodist Protestant Herald, which should have been paid long ago.

Committees have been announced for bringing forward names for new officers for the Sabbath school and the church for the ensuing year. These names will be posted for two weeks in the lobby, and will then be voted on by the congregation.

On Tuesday evening the Woman's Auxiliary will tender a reception in the church in honor of faculty and students of High Point College and the Methodist Protestant teachers in the city school system.

The reporter begs leave to correct an error that crept into her report of last week: the type-setter or proof-reader gave First church a budget of $1400 fo next year, whereas it should have been $14,000.

An earnest appeal for valuable aid to the Children's Home is hereby broadcast to the church people and also those of other denominations throughout North Carolina, which may be given without any donation of money and without any great trouble. The manufacturers of Octagon soap products, Borden's Premium Brand Milks, and Kirkman Soap products, of Jersey City, N. J., are offering to give the sum of $2,500 to the Home for 500,000 coupons, one of which comes on every cake of soap and other article. This sum will pay for the complete redecoration of the walls and woodwork, and install new flooring in the two buildings. The wear and tear of time and sturdy young feet for 20 years are beginning to be plainly visible, and the buildings need a thorough oferhauling. Through the generosity of friends in saving and sending these coupons in the past, several useful pieces of equipment, notably Frigidaires, have been placed in both buildings. Rev. C. W. Bates, of Calvary church, Greensboro, offered a prize of $5.00 to the Woman's Auxiliary of North Carolina which would collect the largest number of coupons during the summer. This prize was won by his own Auxiliary by sending in 20,000 coupons. Now if 24 Auxiliaries will do likewise, the Home will have the required number. A friend of the Home outside the state is offering a similar prize to the Auxiliary beyond the confines of North Carolina, which will collect the largest number. Now, nearly every housewife in the bounds of the N. C. Conference, we will venture to say, knows and uses these splendid soaps, both laundry and toilet, wahing powders, etc., and if every one will save her coupons, ask her friends and neighbors for theirs, pack them in bundles of 100 each, keeping those of a like kind together, and send them direct to Mrs. A. G. Dixon, care Children's Home, High Point, N. C., a worthwhile service will be rendered to the large family there. Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Dixon are giving unstintedly and with much sacrifice their time, strength, and talents to maintain a real home for these 107 dependent children and youth and to give "mother love and father care" to this large group, a task that all of you will agree is not an easy one in these difficult days of depression and hard times. We as Christian people who were instrumental in founding and building this munificent institution, the only one in the bounds of the deomination, cannot afford to neglect this slight service, and turn away from the appeal of the neglected child in our midst. You have all probably heard this before, but good things will bear repetition, and we thank you, for we feel sure that the Home will soon be deluged under a flood of Octagon soap coupons as deep as we hope the wet candidates in the November election will be swamped—if anyone can tell who they are!

Numerous reports of record catches of fish are being reported by High Point "Isaac Waltons," but the honor comes to J. E. Perryman, Sr., one of First church's highly esteemed members and well-known groceryman for 20 years, of hooking the biggest fish of the season, a giant gar four feet in length and weighing 25 pounds. Mr. Perryman and his son were fishing in Lake Waccamaw when this catch was made, and residents of that section say it was the largest of its kind ever taken from the lake.

Misses Annabelle Thompon and Myrtle Davis went to Burlington Sunday afternoon to attend the Central District C. E. Convention. Miss Thompson was elected superintendent of Intermediates, Miss Ida Guyer, of Lebanon, was re-elected secretary, Rev. Lester Ballard, of Greensboro, superintendent of Quiet Hour and Life Work, and all three banners were awarded High Point churches, the Senior banner going to First Reformed church and Intermediate and Junior banners were given to Lebanon church. Rev. Mr. Farmer, who was scheduled for an address, was unable to be present on account of funeral services of Mrs. W. M. Horney, one of the members of First church at 3 o'clock, p. m.

Miss Vista Dixon is the guest of Miss Cleo Harrell at East Bend for a few days.

Rev. and Mr. R. I. Farmer entertained at dinner lat Friday evening Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Maier, of Thomasville, and Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Ballard, of Greensboro.

News comes from Wyatt A. Pickens, of Baton Rouge, Lauisiana, who was ill in August and was unable to make his customary visit to home folks here, that he is about well again, and resumed his work in Department of Romance Languages in Louisiana State University September 21. His large family connection and friends are rejoiced to hear this good news, for his annual visit was sadly missed this year. The University seems to be prosperous, and has a new record enrollment of 3,700 pupils. One co-ed drove a herd of nine cattle 40 miles, with which to pay her tuition as a freshman, and predictions are made that she will be a winner when honors are passed out at graduation time.

* * *

Hawkins Chapel, Littleton Charge.—On the first Sunday evening Rev. P. E. Bingham brought to us a wonderful message.

On the second Sunday morning there will be no preaching service. He asked if we would be satisfied if he preached the fifth Sunday morning at 11 o'clock; his wife's mother wishes to go home. She has been with them for some time.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held at Littleton Saturday, October 22, at 2 o'clock. All that can please be present. Our Conference year is fast coming to a close.

Our pastor has been with us two years. We have learned to love him and his wife.

We are sorry that our superintendent, Mr. Leo Pittard, is absent, yet on the other hand we feel very much accomplished, for he has gone to High Point to study for the ministry. Old Hawkins Chapel feels proud of it. We are fortunate in having a splendid young assistant superintendent, Mr Edward Hawkins.

Mr. E. B. Pair was to hold prayer service Sunday, but was sick. Our class leader, Mr. C. F. Hawkins, held it. Guess Mr. Pair will held it the third Sunday. Come, for he is a good speaker.

Mrs. Bertha Hawkins welcomed Miss Ellyn Hawkins and her class in her home Saturday evening, October 1.

Our C. E. Society is moving along.

Sorry to note that the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Pittard has the fever.

Misses Mary Virginia and Mildred Hawkins spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Esther Hawkins.

Marvin Hawkins visited his uncle, Mr. Claude Hawkins, Sunday.

Mr. Willis Hawkins' wife and children came to his sister's, Mrs. J. E. Hawkins, Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. Mollie Hawkins, who has been with her daughter for some time.

MRS. CLAUDE HAWKINS, Reporter.

* * *

Calvary, Greensboro.—Last Sunday was Promotion Day for our young folks. The certificates were awarded to them Sunday evening. Our Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Claude Coe, expressed himself as very much pleased with the progress our young folks are making. He spoke very highly of our teachers. The various departments of the Sunday school took part in the exercises Sunday evening. "The Builders" was enjoyed by all present.

Rally Day was observed Sunday. There were 250 present at Sunday school and a large congregation at both the morning and evening services. The offering went to the Board of Christian Education at High Point College.

Circles Nos. 1 and 2 of the Auxiliary met Monday afternoon with a goodly attendance. The Business Girls' Circle met Monday evening. The Brunswick stews were planned, one for Wednesday of this week by Circle No. 2 and No. 1 will have theirs Friday, October 21st.

Tuesday evening the Friendly Class met with Mrs. C. S. Current for their regular monthly meetings. After the business session a social hour was spent.

This coming Sunday is "Empty Box" Sunday. We hope the altar will be piled high with empty boxes and the collection plates filled with envelopes.

Next week I hope to have an interesting report. MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

* * *

Mitchell's Grove, Guilford Charge.—We have all been busy as the little bee and have accomplished great things for the Kingdom. During the first week of August we held our special meeting. Mr. Peeler had for his help Rev. T. J. Whitehead. He brought us such inspiring messages we feel we were fortunate in having him to conduct the services and will be glad to have him come this away again. During the week of the revival Mr. Peeler suggested that we hold a Vacation Bible School. These classes were held each morning. The number of children enrolled passed all expectations. There were over 70. Mr. Peeler had charge of the Junior class. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Burgeron taught the Intermediate class, and Mrs. Peeler and Miss Mae Ingram had the Primary class. Outside of the Bible story work of these classes an activity period was held each day. During this time the classes made many pretty articles: Bird houses, vases, wall pockets, fancy match boxes. The Intermediates sent pretty hand-made handkerchiefs to some of the children at the Home. Rev. Mr. Whitehead conducted the devotional each morning, using as his subject a part of the Lord's Prayer. This was such a help to the school a a whole. At the close of the Bible school a commencement was held. This was indeed an interesting program. The Primary class gave a little playlet. This was followed by a pageant, "The Children of Other Lands," by the Intermediate class. Then the Junior class gave their part in the form of a Christian Endeavor program at the close. Certificates were given to almost 50 children. This was the first Bible school we ever held and we thank Mr. Peeler for suggesting one; also we want to thank the other teachers for their efficient work; they worked hard to make the school a success and worked without money and without price. The children were delighted and begged their teachers to continue the school until the opening of the regular school term, so we feel sure the children enjoyed every moment of the time spent in the school.

We had a good revival besides having the school. One service was givene over to the children and Mr. Whitehead's sermon was so effective that a number accepted Christ and have joined the church. In all, we have had added to the church on profession of faith and by letter 20 new members and the church is also much revived. We want to praise the Lord for His mercy that endureth forever.

Our pastor is still giving us real Gospel messages such as inspire us to go on and to endure hardships as good soldiers of Jesus Christ and be faithfun unto the end, for in due season we shall reap a great reward.

MARTHA PARSONS.

Alamance Charge.—We are nearing the close of another Conference year. It seems such a short time since the closing of the last Conference and the beginning of this year's work. At that time there was the vision of a large task ahead. It has been by no means accomplished, and cannot all be done. We have had some losses by death. Our last one was at Rock Creek, Bro. Eugene McPherson. He had suffered long and he had suffered much. His death released him from the discomforts of time and, we believe, introduced him into the comforts of eternity.

We have finished our special meeting work. In this work we have had the assistance of Rev. W. M. Pike, Edward Suits, W. M. Loy and G. W. Holmes. Those who know these men know that at each church we had preaching of the first order. In all there were about 46 conversions and reclamations. There were 14 accessions.

In finances we are much behind, and the outlook is not good. This I do not think is due to any lack of loyalty on the part of our people, but rather to a lack of cash with which to do. J. A. BURGESS.

Winston, First Church.—Sunday was Rally Day and was an extremely full day in our church. In Sunday school the Chisholm Sisters, of Thomasville, sang for us. Those who have heard them will, no doubt, recall their singing with a feeling that the Gospel is coming to the hearers in song from the lips of those two Godly creatures, who seem to live the message as they sing it.

At the morning church worship Dr. Lindley brought us a very wonderful and inspiring message on "The Coming Revival." It was a pleasure to have had Dr. Lindley in our midst and may we say, Welcome back again.

Mr. F. D. Voss, Mr. W. W. Weatherman and the two brothers of Mr. Weatherman gave two selections at the morning hour which were thoroughly enjoyed. Two of the Weatherman brothers were visitors and came to us from other congregations to give us this splendid music. Messrs. Voss and W. W. Weatherman are members of our congregation.

The Christian Endeavor program on Sunday evening was very fine; it was well participated in by all attending and was helpful and uplifting to all. Mrs. J. E. Kirk had charge of the program. Mrs. Kirk is the foremost Endeavorer in our church and is doing all she possibly can to put the society over in a bigger and better way. Mrs. R. H. Shous gave a splendid talk on her experience in the Christian Endeavor from her childhood up. Her talk was most interesting.

Mrs. William C. Hammer and Miss Essie Ross were present for the thank-offering service of the Woman's Auxiliary on Sunday evening. A reading was given by Miss Ross pertaining to "Gratitude," that big, wonderful word. Then an address was given by Mrs. Hammer on "Thanksgiving," which was instructive as well as urgent to do the better things in life and always be thankful for that which God has given to us.

Beginning next Monday a Leadership Training School is to be held at our church which will last for five days of that week. Many are looking forward to this school with enthusiasm and much interest; these schools are always helpful.

One of our most faithful members has been ill for quite some time, and has undergone two head operations. Although she is recovering she has not gotten able to attend the services, from which she is missed so much. The person to whom we have reference is Mrs. H. O. Sapp. It is truly hoped that she will be well and strong soon.

PAULINE BRANSON, Reporter.

Greer's Chapel.—The C. E. Society met Sunday evening, October 2. Miss Ethel Fitzgerald was leader. The program was well planned. Those taking part were: Ethel Fitzgerald, Mrs. R. P. Fitzgerald, Mrs. R. E. Smith, Winnie Allison, Bessie Allison, Dorothy Moore, Lottie Fitzgerald, Glenn Swicegood, Jack York and Margaret Styers.

Our pastor, Rev. R. S. Troxler, was also with us and made a short talk after the program. He always brings a ray of sunshine with him and we hope he will be with us more often.

We have about 56 on roll and an average attendance of about 40. We are still growing. BESSIE ALLISON, Reporter.

Charlotte.—The past three weeks have been glorious weeks for us M. P. church folk. Two weeks spent in prayer meetings at various homes in preparation for our revival, which began last Sunday night. Dr. Andrews, our pastor, has been assisted by Dr. J. R. Anderson, of Albemarle. We have been wonderfully blessed and the Lord has truly been in our midst blessing, reclaiming and saving souls.

Sunday morning we had 129 in attendance at Sunday school. It is inspiring to have a full house. The new Sunday school officers presided.

Dr. S. W. Taylor, president of our Conference, passed through Charlotte Saturday. He will return and preside over the business session of the church.

The C. E. Society will hold a business meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Misses Sarah and Ruby Stegall. The nominating committee will present the list of officers for the ensuing year. These young people are doing splendid work. After the business session a social will be enjoyed.

Among outstanding things in our church is the Junior choir. It is a treat to hear them sing. Mrs. Bruton is to be praised for her splendid work with the Juniors.

We are pleased to report the addition to our church membership of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ledbetter, Messrs. Herbert Garrison and Worth Cole. We are indeed fortunate and are happy to welcome them in.

The Ever-Ready Philathea class will hold its monthly business and social meeting next Monday, October 10, at 7:30 at the home of the Misses Younginer, 208 Circle Avenue.

The Woman's Auxiliary will meet Tuesday, October 11, with Mrs. L. D. Fesperman at her home, 524 Beaumont Avenue. A full attendance is requested by the president.

The angel of death visited our church family Monday morning and claimed one of the charter members, Mrs. Sara Roxanna Belk, aged 72. Rev. R. M. Andrews conducted the funeral service. Interment was in Oaklawn cemetery. We extend love and sympathy to the bereaved family.

REPORTER.

Liberty.—Rev. R. L. Hethcox, of Virginia, assisted Mr. Chambliss in our revival meeting last week. He did a wonderful week's preaching. He preached the Gospel with force and clearness, and endeared himself to all who heard him or chanced to be with him. The church was greatly revived. A number of members will be added next Sunday.

While here Mr. Hethcox had a room in the home of Mrs. F. A. Shepard, and every day he and Mr. Chambliss were invited out to lunch and dinner in the evening. We hope the Conference will see fit to send Mr. Chambliss back to us. We believe he lives what he preaches.

We are looking forward to his sermon next Sunday morning.

Miss Marie Ward was the leader for Christian Endeavor Sunday evening, using as her subject, "How Do the Teachings of Jesus Change Business?" A large number were present.

Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. H. B. Reitzel in the loss of her mother by death.

Miss Mary York and Miss Margaret Shepard have resumed their studies at the Woman's College of the State University, where they will be seniors this year.

Mrs. Vance York has returned home after an extended visit with her son and family in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Elkins entertained at their home recently for the benefit of the Children's Home at High Point. A nice sum was realized.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

Enfield.—Rev. H. F. Surratt deliveerd two splendid sermons to us on the fourth Sunday. We wish all our people would come out and hear these messages.

We expect to hold Rally Day services next Sunday. We trust we shall have a large audience. Mrs. P. S. Bellamy is chairman of the program.

Our Auxiliary is still raising money to put a top on the parsonage. We are having a tacky party at the Hut Friday evening at 8 o'clock for that purpose. REPORTER.

Harmony, Yarborough Charge.—Our pastor, Rev. M. C. Henderson, was with us Sunday morning and evening, delivering two very impressive sermons. Attendance had dropped off considerably, probably due to the bad weather. One new members was received into the church. Dr. S. W. Taylor preached for us the first Sunday evening. We were very glad indeed to have Dr. Taylor with us.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held its meeting Friday night with Mrs. Henry Balentine. An interesting program was rendered on the subject, "Christian Stewardship," after which delicious refreshments were served.

The third quarterly conference of the charge was held at the church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Our Sunday school is doing fairly well. Attendance is not as it should be, nevertheless, it shows an increase since one year ago.

REPORTER.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

FIRST DISTRICT MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliaries of the First District convened in the Enfield church Thursday, September 29, at 10:30 with Mrs. J. H. Cutchin, district chairman, presiding.

Mrs. Cutchin read for the Scripture lesson the 12th chapter of Romans, the theme of her remarks being "Deeper Consecration."

Mrs. Ruby Pierson, president of the Enfield Auxiliary, gave the address of welcome, to which Mrs. Cutchin responded. Mrs. Cecil Matthews and Mrs. Exum Bellamy, of the Enfield choir, sang a beautiful duet.

Mrs. Cutchin introduced as the speaker of the morning Mrs. C. W. Bates, of Greensboro, secretary of the Children's Home. Mrs. Bates' subject was "How to Build a Better Auxiliary." In her pleasing and interesting manner she compared our work as Auxiliaries to the work of a farmer on his farm or any man in business, saying in part that no part of the work could be neglected without impairing the whole. She touched on the work at the Children's Home, emphasizing the importance of our efforts in a financial way at the present time, also telling of the value of coupons, second hand clothing, and farm produce, sent to the Home.

During the business session a count of the delegates from the several charges in the district was made; all charges except two were found to be represented with a goodly number of delegates, Halifax leading with 17. Over 50 delegates were in attendance.

Mrs. J. H. Cutchin was renominated as District Chairman, with the following Vice-Chairmen:- Mrs. Rupert Robinson of Spring Church charge, Mrs. Horace Mitchell of Halifax charge. Miss Winnie Burt was elected secretary.

Mrs. Cutchin stated the possibility of the First District securing Miss Olive I. Hodges, returned missionary from Japan, to speak on the several charges in the district some time between the first of November and the last of December. This met with the hearty approval of the women, the time of inviting her to be decided in the afternoon session.

The meeting re-assembled at 1:30 p. m. Rev. C. W. Bates had charge of the devotionals, taking as his theme, "Go ye into all the world." Miss Lucy Nunnery, a Whitakers and a graduate of High Point College, gave an intensely interesting talk on our church papers, The Herald, The Recorder, and Missionary Record, stating the importance of reading these in order to be intelligent Methodist Protestants.

Mrs. D. S. Coltrane, of Greensboro, our Branch secretary of Literature, told in her delightful way about what she was doing as secretary of literature, showing us some of the literature we must have in our Auxiliaries if they are to function efficiently.

In the afternoon business session two invitations were extended to the district for the next meeting, Spring Church and Creswell. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Spring Church. It was decided to invite Miss Hodges to the district the week following Annual Conference. Reports on new plans used in raising money were given. Rev. W. H. Neese offered the closing prayer, after which Rev. H. F. Fogleman pronounced the benediction. WINNIE BURT, Secretary.

OUR HEADS ARE BOWED IN SHAME

A note was passed to me as I sat in the Missionary convention in Baltimore two years ago last May, with this message: "Tell Minnis North Carolina is supporting him." Other branches were announcing the support of their missionaries. And we were proud to present ours.

Two years and a little more have passed, and we must confess with shame that we have not been true to that message; we have not supported Minnis.

I do not know just how much was raised last year, but an amount practically equal to his salary was raised aside from the apportionment to the Auxiliaries; the larger portion of this coming from Christian Endeavor Societies, Sunday schools, churches, and thank-offerings. But even this amount was not raised in a way to make us proud of ourselves. It came in too slowly.

The following recommendation was adopted at the last Branch meeting:

"1. That the New Century Service Budget for 1932-33 be $6,000, all money raised for Mr. Minnis' salary to be included in this budget." This is a reduction of $3,000 of the budget for 1931-32. And the apportionment shows a reduction in almost every Auxiliary. The recommendation carries the thought that no money be sent in designated for Minnis.

No pressure has been brought to bear on Christian Endeavor Societies, Sundays schools or churches to take an offering for Mr. Minnis, either to apply on this budget or as a special. Consequently practically nothing has come in from these sources. The fall thank-offering has been designated by the General Conference for Christian Education, so that source of help is cut off. And the budget to this date is far short of being raised. Of course, the less raised on the budget the less the missionaries, including Mr. Minnis, get.

The General .Conference in May put the emphasis on the raising of "specials," and asked us to "Personalize the Budget." Nothing has been said through the North Carolina Branch executives along this line, but I am sure if you want to send a special to Mr. Minnis, Mrs. Taylor, the treasurer, will be glad to send in so designated. (I got in too much of a hurry and sent him a small draft this week direct. Of course, this will not count on any budget.)

When I read Mr. Minnis' letter in last week's Herald, I tried to put myself in his situation: 12,000 miles from home, in the midst of a foreign people who look to our missionaries as examples of honesty and integrity. But no matter how much they may want to meet that test, we are preventing them from doing it because we are not doing what we promised. Mr. Minnis reports that his salary has been unpaid for six months, and not only that, but there has been no money with which to pay the native workers.

Shall we stand calmly by and see this situation? Shall we give a penny to the church, five cents to the drug store, a dime to the movie? Does that indicate the measure of our interest in the Kingdom? What is your response?

This is no more my business than it is yours. The task assigned me this year by the Branch is the Children's Home. But this matter is so urgent that I cannot let it pass. I have been working at my job, and you will hear more from me in the next few weeks.

MRS. C. W. BATES.

A PRODIGIOUS MOMENT

I want to say a few words of the condition of our country as I see it in regard to the liquor traffic, or to our prohibition question.

It seems to me the church is falling down on the job of upholding our law that we fought for so long to get. The whiskey interests are far from being dead. Just now a great movement is on foot in Alamance and other counties. A group of some five or six young men and women are canvassing the county with petitions for signers to modify the Volstead Act as soon as Congress meets. They are going to only the business men of the town. I am happy to say for Graham that no one signed as I know of. I know it to be a fact that the brewers are paying them for this work and their scheme is to ask a donation when you sign. You would be surprised when you saw the names. I asked one of Burlington's best business men why he put his name to it and he said he never noticed much what it was, but in talking with him a little I found the trouble. He didn't go far until he produced the same argument they all will put up—it can't be any worse.

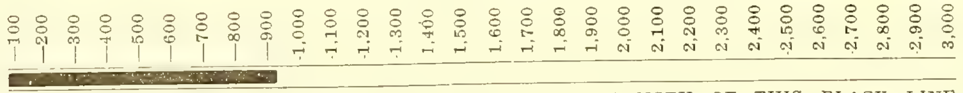
As I see it, they are getting their petitions and if their wet men are elected we may wake up some morning with no liquor law. I don't know whether I am too much of a pessimist or not, but it looks like we are going to have to fight as we have never fought before. J. L. AMICK.

Graham, N. C.

UNKNOWN MAMMALS

Many kinds of mammals as yet unknown to science may be hiding away in obscure corners of the earth. They lurk in the spots unvisited by man—dense jungles, high mountains, isolated islands, or in burrows under ground. Only when they come into collections do they attract the attention of systematic biologists. Several new types of mammals have just been found in the collections of the Smithsonian Institution. In most cases they are close relatives of known animals, yet differing sufficiently to merit independent classification. One of the most striking new discoveries is a black ape described by Gerrit S. Miller, jr., Smithsonian curator of mammals. It was discovered in a collection from the island of Celebes. While it belongs to the baboon family it is a smaller relative of the big Celebes ape that we commonly see in the zoos. Another new creature is a hitherto unknown type of mole, a tiny rat-like rodent, which lives mostly in burrows above the timber line high up in the Endicott mountains of Alaska. Still others are two new members of the cat family—"longtailed tiger cats," closely related to the Central American ocelat, from Mexico, a new fox from Trinidad Valley, lower California, and an unknown variety of the Permyscus from the Coronado islands.—Pathfinder.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	15¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	4¾
Asheboro	36	17
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	13½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	2
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	15¾
Glen Raven	38	8½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	17
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1½
Guilford	43	14½
Halifax	52	14½
Haw River	49	12½
Henderson	38	13¾
High Point, First	72	63
High Point, Lebanon	31	24½
High Point, Welch	28	2¾
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	7½
Liberty-Moriah	31	19¼
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	10
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	9¾
Mount Hermon	92	16½
Mount Pleasant	62	25¼
North Davidson	53	13½
Orange	70	23⅜
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	9½
Reidsville	14	11½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	17½
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8½
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	10½
Tabernacle	41	30½
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	11¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	12½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	28⅜

◆

JOY IN COMMON THINGS

God give me joy in the common things:
In the dawn that lures, the eve that sings;

In the new grass sparkling after rain,
In the late wind's wild and weird refrain;

In the Springtime's spacious field of gold,
In the precious light by Winter doled.

God give me joy in the love of friends,
In their home talk as Summer ends;

In the songs of children, unrestrained;
In the sober wisdom age has gained.

God give me joy in the tasks that press,
In the memories that burn and bless;

In the thought that life has love to spend,
In the faith that God's at journey's end.

God give me hope for each day that springs,
God give me joy in the common things!

—Selected.

◆

Imagine sitting down on a chair that suddenly clamps you in a vise so that you are at the mercy of its owner! Well, we inspected such an uncomofrtable seat at the local Sears, Roebuck and Co Art Galleries where there is always something to arouse one's interest. Some call it a "debtor's chair." At any rate, this richly carved relic from Merry Old England, and now part of the Lessing Rosebach collection of Philadelphia has iron clamps hidden in its sides that, through the act of sitting in it, fall over the knees of the victim. The releasing lever is far out of reach of the occupant. Samuel Pepys describes such a device in his dairy, in 1660, when he mentioned "King Harry's chair where he that sits is catched with two irons that come around him, which makes good sport." The occupant could be drenched with water, pelted with fruit, or worse.—Pathfinder.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL AT WINSTON

A Leadership Training School will begin at Winston First Church, Monday, October 10, and will run nightly through Friday night, the 15th. There will be two class periods each night, and a short devotional service between.

Four standard courses will be offered, as follows:

The Principles of Teaching.

Primary Materials and Methods.

Training in Worship and the Devotional Life.

Religious Education in the Family.

One Young People's Course will be gven: The Christian Citizen.

Text and reference books will be in the hands of the dean of the school. Reference books will be loaned, but textbooks must be rented or bought.

N. M. HARRISON, Dean.

◆

IMPORTANT NOTICE IN RE BOUNDARIES

For some time now it has been the custom of the Boundary Committee to hold a meeting just prior to the meeting of the Annual Conference, provided there was need for such meeting.

The Boundary Committee has no personal interest in any changes. In fact, the present committee is slow to make boundary changes especially under present day conditions. So we are not asking anybody to plan changes; we would rather urge that where it is practical all boundaries remain unchanged.

But if changes are necessary then please write the undersigned, or write the President of the Conference, Dr. S. W. Taylor, West College Drive, High Point, N. C., early enough for us to call a meeting of the committee about one week before Conference meets.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Chairman.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. G. B. Ferree	$4.0
Rev. H. L. Isley	3.0
Miss Dola McCollum	2.0
Rev. L. E. Mabry	2.0
Rev. C. W. Bates	1.0
Miss Lena Hunter	1.0
Rev. J. D. Williams	.5

Offerings on Printing Deficit

Center, Alamance, by Ernest Whitehead	2,7
Friendship, Mt. Hermon, by pastor	5.6
Mt. Hermon, Mt. Hermon, by pastor	4.3

Thanks to all these kind givers.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., OCTOBER 13, 1932 NUMBER 44

Seminary Library 5dee2
Westminster MD

Occasions to Preach?

When's the preacher called to preach?
Why, just when a man's in reach;
Waiting till they're more than one
Keeps his task from being done.

Preacher's audience, all the race,
Part at time in little space;
He must see just when there's need,
Meet the want with greatest speed.

Any time and any where
Preacher may be called to share
Store of Heaven's richest grace
With the poorest of his race.

Waiting not for garb or gown,
Seeking not best place in town,
He must feel the urge to teach—
More than that, the call to preach.

Pulpit, pew and altar rail,
Common aids that often fail—
Non-essentials all are they
When he'd shed the light of day.

Christless soul brings call to preach
If he's only found in reach.
Any needy human creature
Brings loud call to any preacher.

◆

As Conference Approaches

Apparently there is more than ordinary interest within the North Carolina conference centering about the selection of our next conference president. Perhaps this is as it should be.

However, these words lead in a different direction. In fact they are based upon the assumption that the coming annual conference will have something vastly more important before it than the election of a conference president.

First, and before we elect our president, we should give full consideration to the suggestion that we at least temporarily dispense with the office of "traveling" president. By this step alone we could in two years place in the hands of the Board of Church Extension $5,000.00, an amount equal to its present indebtedness, thereby putting the Board on its feet again, ready for constructive service.

Second, there must be some way provided whereby we can save the Methodist Protestant Herald. We have tried to save it by pushing the price higher and higher; why not try the reverse? Set for the conference is a goal of 4,000 subscribers distributed wisely among the charges; then have two subscription rates; all charges that attain their goal, $1.00 per year, all charges that do not attain their goal $2.00 per year. Such a plan would do two things: increase the income and more than double the subscription list and ultimately bring to the paper a proper circulation and security. Even from the viewpoint of our conference, this need is imperative.

Third, the North Carolina conference should lead the way in finding a new approach to the problem of church finances. In fact, the only approach that has not as yet been tried is so reasonable that it can scarcely be called new; it is, let those who pay the budgets determine the budgets. The North Carolina conference has, if it chooses, the power to initiate this policy in part at least.

H. F. Fogleman.

◆

In the Other Fellow's Place

The title of a splendid novel is, "Put Yourself in His Place." But centuries before the novel was written another more ably expressed the same sentiment. Ezekiel (3:15), journeying to his brothers in exile, went in bitterness and heat of spirit. Going to find fault he remained to feel great sorrow. He said, "I sat where they sat and remained there astonished among them."

Brand Whitlock once wrote, "I do not know just what I would do if I knew I had just two minutes to live . . . However, if I were given power to do for humanity what I wish, it would be to give them the ability to put themselves in the place of every person in the world. This would make for education and culture." There is some natural tendency to condemn another's acts or character. The result is so often hasty judgment because we see so little of what really is. And we may unjustly judge another's feelings by our own. The great preventive is to sit awhile in the other fellow's place.

To sit with others or in their place is to look at the other side. To those who have jaundice everything is yellow. Harsh, unsympathetic censure from partial knowledge destroys the zeal to help remove obstacles. The Christ way to open the springs of moral and spiritual life is through knowledge, sympathy and love.

Anyway, righteousness is rather a personal affair. That is not to deny its co-operative relationships. But we are to correct our own glaring or minor faults ere we condemn others. We must stand aside and see ourselves go by. "Think of yourself as 'he' instead of 'I'."

But the other fellow's plight is understood by us only when there is no escape from it. A child may play funeral but what idea of death has he? The plight of poverty-stricken

(Continued on Page Six)

JUST WHAT I HAVE BELIEVED FOR TWENTY YEARS

By Luther K. Long

Years ago—in the church of which I was then pastor—there was included in the membership a mature and thoughtful man. He was the best educated man in the community—a banker and connected with large business interests. And he was recognized as a progressive thinker.

He was an interesting person to have in the congregation. His seat was always occupied at morning and evening service, and he evidently "took in" whatever the speaker had to say. After the service he was likely to say something concerning the sermon—commending it, or making a discriminating remark, or asking a discerning question.

This was interesting and stimulating to the pastor, stirring him up to better study and service. But there was something else even more significant. Occasionally this brother would, during the week, say something like this: "I was greatly interested in what you were saying last Sunday. I agree with you thoroughly. That is just what I have believed for the past twenty years."

I wasn't then quite sure how I should take those remarks. Was he appreciating and complimenting his minister, or was he boasting concerning himself and his own advanced thinking? I thought that my thinking and sermon had gone a little further than people generally—or even this man—had gone. Was I to think of myself as simply following along the way over which he had passed some time previously?

The whole matter is clearer to me now. I understand it better. He was, in reality, complimenting both of us—an entirely proper thing to do.

As I have said, this man, his name was Edsell, was a thinker. But he did much of his thinking alone, having but little intellectual companionship. At times the minister dealt with ideas, interpretations of scripture, and principles of religion and life that Mr. Edsell had struggled with alone.

"There!" Mr. Edsell would exclaim to himself, as the sermon progressed. "That is exactly what I believe! That is what I have thought for a long time—though I have never expressed it in just that way."

So it is perfectly correct to say that this man was really complimenting both himself and his minister. It is only as the preacher understands and sympathizes with the minds and hearts, the lives and problems of his people that he can truly speak to them. It is only as he holds them in thought and prayer that he can help them toward God. And it is only as the hearer does some thinking himself, and yearns in his heart and mind for the truth, that he can share with the preacher the truth that is meant for both of them.

Now this particular minister, in those early days, would have been more gratified had Mr. Edsell spoken more after this fashion: "That was a fine sermon you gave us Sunday. I have never heard one just like it. There were some unfamiliar ideas well-worth thinking over. I am glad you so clearly set them forth. The sermon will help me in working out some problems that have been in my mind for some time."

The preacher's greatest service is not in announcing something new and startling—some previously unheard-of truth. Rather, he does the best by being so close to the lives and thoughts of his people that when he speaks on Sunday they feel that he is giving expression to their deepest thoughts and emotions, that he is describing better than they could describe the things over which they have been struggling, and the things they have been coming to believe concerning God and man, and life and eternity. The preacher and the congregation are one—and the Spirit helps them in understanding and appreciating and expressing in words and in life the deep things of God.

AN OPEN LETTER

October 7, 1932.

Honorable Herbert C. Hoover,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:

In order that millions of people who desire definite, accurate information may know your position on matters which they consider to be of vital importance, the undersigned members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Temporance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, acting not in their official capacity in this matter but as individual citizens and voters, respectfully request you to give such information.

In your speech of acceptance on August 11, you stated: "It is my conviction that each state shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine, but subject to absolute guarantees in the constitution of the United States, to protect each state from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United State sshall there be a return of the saloon system with its inevitable political and social corruption and its organized interference with other states.

"American Statesmanship is capable of working out such a solution and making it effective."

We inquire: First; When the Federal brand of the criminal is removed from the beverage liquor traffic and that traffic is again legalized what definite specific plan do you intend to propose to prevent the return of the infamous intolerable saloon system, which admittedly was smashed by the adoption of the 18th Amendment?

Second; What definite specific method do you intend to propose to "protect the dry states?"

We naturally assume that when you made this statement on August 11 that you had in mind some definite thoroughly considered plan and were not simply making a general statement, which it might be found impossible to embody in any workable effective laws.

The supporters of the 18th Amendment sincerely believe that it will be impossible to prevent the return of the intolerable saloon or its equivalent, if the Federal brand of the criminal is removed from the liquor traffic. Furthermore, experience fully demonstrated before the adoption of the 18th Amendment, the impossibility of protecting the dry states, by Federal or State laws, from the legalized liquor traffic of neighboring states; and that intolerable condition hastened the ratification of the 18th Amendment. Frankly stated, they do not believe, in the light of experience with the liquor traffic, both before and since the adoption of Federal Prohibition, that American Statesmanship is capable of working out any effective method "to prevent the return of the saloon system," in fact, if not in name, or "to protect the dry states" when the liquor traffic is again legalized. Therefore, before voting to return to each state the right to deal with the liquor traffic as it may determine, they desire to know the plans of the candidates of both parties for the solution of these important matters, that such plans may be considered and carefully compared side by side, and also compared with the present law, so that they may vote intelligently.

Third; If after very careful consideration, you find yourself unable to propose any definite plan which will effectively prevent the return of the saloon or its equavalent and will effectively protect the dry states, will you then stand for the retention of the 18th Amendment, which has admittedly smashed the intolerable saloon system, eliminated the problem of the protection of dry states, removed the slimy hand of the liquor traffic—the brewers, distillers, saloon keepers—from the political life of the nation, and which official government reports show has reduced the production of intoxicating liquors and the arrests for intoxication in many leading cities over 60 per cent?

Fourth; If you should be elected President, pending the settlement by the representatives of the people of the question of the retention, modification or repeal of the 18th Amendment, will you call upon Congress to supply adequate funds for as effective enforcement of the 18th Amendment as of other Federal laws, and will you appoint officers who will conscientiously administer those funds in vigorous enforcement of the existing laws until and unless repealed?

Fifth; Neither in the Republican Platform nor in your speech of acceptance August 11, is any reference made to the modification of the Volstead Act as proposed in the Democratic Platform. If you should be elected President, pending the settlement by the representatives of the people of the question of the retention, modification or the repeal of the 18th Amendment, will you recommend to Congress any such modification of the Volstead Act as is proposed in the Democratic Platform? Or if Congress should, upon its own initiative, adopt any such modification of the Volstead Act, will you sign or will you veto such legislation, which legislation would inevitably greatly increase the difficulties of effective prohibition enforcement, which the President of the United States must swear to uphold, and also magnify again the former admitted corrupting political activity of the brewing interest, and moreover utterly fail to satisfy those clamoring for the modification of the law, unless, indeed, beverages of intoxicating content are actually made available by evasion, subterfuge or by sellers willing to run the risk of possible conviction of law violations difficult to be proven?

You may or may not give the requested information but there are millions who desire it and who should have it, and in order that ample time may be given to consider carefully any information given and to take such action as may be called for, a prompt reply would be appreciated. This letter and whatever reply may be made will be given promptly to the press.

Respectfully,
Signed: James Cannon, Jr., Virginia,
Mrs. T. J. Copeland, Maryland,
Eugene L. Crawford, Alabama,
S. C. Hatcher, Virginia,
A. C. Miller, Arkansas.

◆

AN OPEN LETTER

October 7, 1932.

Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt,
Executive Mansion,
Albany, New York.

Dear Sir:

In order that millions of people who desire definite, accurate information may know your position on matters which they consider to be of vital importance, the undersigned members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, acting not in their official capacity in this matter but as individual citizens and voters, respectfully request you to give such information.

You stated at Sea Girt, New Jersey, on August 27: "Thus the Democratic Platform expressly and unequivocally opposes the return of the saloon, and with equal emphasis, it demands that there be Federal Control of the Liquor Traffic to protect dry states."

We inquire: First; When the Federal brand of the criminal is removed from the beverage liquor traffic, and that traffic is again legalized, what definite, specific plan do you intend to propose to prevent the return of the infamous, intolerable saloon system, which admittedly was smashed by the adoption of the 18th Amendment?

Second; What definite specific method do you intend to propose to "protect the dry states?"

We naturally assume that when you made this statement at Sea Girt, that you had in mind some definite, thoroughly considered plan and were not simply making a general statement, which it might be found impossible to embody in any workable effective laws.

The supporters of the 18th Amendment sincerely believe that it will be impossible to prevent the return of the intolerable saloon or its equivalent, if the Federal brand of the criminal is removed from the liquor traffic. Furthermore, experience fully demonstrated before the adoption of the 18th Amendment, the impossibility of protecting the dry states, by Federal or State laws, from the legalized liquor traffic of neighboring states; and that intolerable condition hastened the ratification of the 18th Amendment. Frankly stated, they do not believe, in the light of experience with the liquor traffic, both before and since the adoption of Federal Prohibition, that American statesmanship is capable of working out any effective method to prevent the return of the saloon system, in fact if not in name, or to protect the dry states, when the liquor traffic is again legalized. Therefore, before voting to return to each state the right to deal with the liquor as it may determine, they desire to know the plans of the candidates of both parties for the solution of these important matters, that such plans may be considered and carefully compared side by side, and also compared with the present law, so that they may vote intelligently.

Third; If, after very careful consideration, you find yourself unable to propose any definite plan which will effectively prevent the return of the saloon or its equivalent, and will protect the dry states, will you then stand for the retention of the 18th Amendment, which has admittedly smashed the intolerable saloon system, eliminated the problem of the protection of dry states, removed the slimy hand of the liquor traffic —the brewers, distillers, saloon keepers—from the political life of the nation, and which official government reports show has reduced the production of intoxicating liquors, and the arrests for intoxication in many leading cities over 60 per cent?

Fourth; If you should be elected President, pending the settlement by the representatives of the people, of the question of the retention, modification or repeal of the 18th Amendment, will you call upon Congress to supply adequate funds for as effective enforcement of the 18th Amendment as of our Federal laws, and will you appoint officers who will conscientiously administer those funds in vigorous enforcement of the existing laws until and unless repealed?

The Democratic Platform declares: "Pending repeal, we favor immediate modification of the Volstead Act to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the Constitution and provide therefrom a proper and needed revenue." You were reported by the press as stating that if elected President, and the present Congress had not modified the Volstead Act as demanded by the Democratic Platform, that you would call an extra session of Congress and ask for such action. Will not such modification inevitably greatly increase the difficulties of effective prohibition enforcement, which the President of the United States must swear to uphold, and also magnify again the former admitted corrupting political activity of the brewing interest, and moreover utterly fail to satisfy those clamoring for modification of the law, unless, indeed, beverages of intoxicating content are actually made available by evasion, subterfuge, or by sellers willing to run the risk of possible conviction of law violations, difficult to be proven?

You may or may not give the requested information but there are millions who desire it and who should have it, and in order that ample time may be given to consider carefully any information given and to take such action as may be called for, a prompt reply would be appreciated. This letter and whatever reply may be made will be given promptly to the press.

Respectfully,
Signed: James Cannon, Jr., Virginia,
Mrs. T. J. Copeland, Maryland,
Eugene L. Cdawford, Alabama,
S. C. Hatcher, Virginia,
A. C. Millar, Arkansas.

DID THE BOARD OF MISSIONS DO IT?

I hope that every reader of the M. P. HERALD took notice of Brother Minnis' article in regard to the financial condition of our mission work in India. And it don't stop in India.

If it does read that way, I don't think Brother Minnis holds the Board responsible for the condition. Of course he looks to the Board for his pay, but we are responsible for what the Board has to pay with.

He should have said that he never dreamed the Methodist Protestant church in general would permit the Board to get to the point where it could not pay its missionaries.

We, and that means every member of the Methodist Protestant church are the ones who are holding back those salaries.

The Board can only pay as we give. And we give—what? The majority give nothing, and the depression is not the cause of it either. That thing they call "Depression" is having to carry the blame for a lot it does not do. Of course we do not have as much money as formerly, but we are cutting too much on the church and not enough on our luxuries—or rather ourselves. Most of our people are able to get what they really want or need.

There are several reasons why our church work is suffering. A very few have nothing to give. A goodly number are indifferent and don't care, but I suspect the mass of our people are ignorant of the real conditions. They don't read the church paper, they don't get it from the pulpit, and even our missionary auxilaries are prone to lose sight of the real meaning of their existence. So, how are they to know?

The money question is stressed too little (but how we hate to do it) when we consider our whole church work depends on it. Everybody don't realize that when they don't pay the General Conference Budget that they are withholding our missionaries' salaries, which is their meat and bread.

If the Lord had not intended for His people to finance His work He would not have stressed giving.

But, somehow lots of people get it into their heads that the Boards can do it regardless.

And we might say the same thing in regard to one phase of our home work—the Children's Home. Too many are saying by their actions, "Let A. G. Dixon do it." And that is just what the Dixons are doing. They are caring for those children, giving their time and strength, besides worrying their brain sore over finances. And not a dollar on salaries in months. Is it right? And who is responsible—not the Board surely. There is not a church in the conference but what can set apart one Sunday each month for a Children's Home offering. And not a single member but what can give from a penny up. And not a pastor in the conference, but who is partly responsible for this being done—of course some forget it.

Brother Minnis asked our prayers, but I think what we need to do right now is to pay as well as pray—but I guess he knows they go together; and he might have said he never dreamed his own conference would forsake him like we have. Not every conference is blessed with a Jesse Minnis, and we can and should pay every dollar of his salary.

MRS. J. J. CRANFORD.

OPTIMISM EVANGELISM

The President's Letter

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Charlotte

On Monday night, October 3, we were with this church. We found a revival meeting in progress, with Rev. J. R. Anderson doing the preaching. The attendance was good the night we were present, and we learned that this had been the case throughout the meeting. The meeting was also characterized by a pronounced spiritual awakening. It was thought by some that this was the best meeting the church had ever held. Up to the time we were present there had been a number of professions and reclamations, and some substantial additions had been made to the church roll. We rejoice with our Charlotte church in this good meeting. After the service Monday night a brief business meeting was held with the congregation. We found that the church was refinancing the parsonage indebtedness, and that plans for this were about completed. This will reduce monthly payments, and make it easier for the church to meet necessary financial obligations, both on indebtedness and the current operating expenses. However, for the next few years the church will have to keep within a very conservative budget, which may necessitate supplying the church with a single man and renting the parsonage. The brethren are working very thoughtfully and earnestly with this problem, and we trust that a happy and timely solution may be found. Dr. Andrews has given a good account of himself for the two years that he has been pastor, and the people speak in high terms of his services. We shall look with confidence to continued growth for our Charlotte church. It was a pleasure to us to be with them, and we wish to acknowledge indebtedness to Dr. Andrews and his family and to Brother Clement Millaway and his family for kind entertainment in their homes.

Kannapolis

On our way home Tuesday night we stopped with our people at Kannapolis and participated with them in a business meeting. Our church here has made progress, and there are hopeful indications that in due time we may develop a good organization. The building indebtedness is practically paid, and only $1,000 remains to be paid on the parsonage. This is being carried through Building and Loan, and will be liquidated in due time. Brother Smith announced a revival to begin on the following Sunday. We trust that the meeting resulted in much good. We are indebted to Brother and Sister Cartner for entertainment while in Kannapolis. We were also entertained at dinner in the home of Brother and Sister E. A. Bingham, while enroute to High Point, and for this hospitality we are much indebted.

Community Church

On Friday night, October 7, we were with Brother Maier and his people and preached in their series of evangelistic services. A goodly number were present and the spirit of the service was edifying. Pastor Maier was pleased with the results of these meetings. Mrs. Taylor attended us on this visit, and it was a great pleasure to each of us to be guests at supper of our friends and former parishioners, Brother and Sister W. N. Thompson and their excellent family.

Graham

The morning service, October 9, was given to this charge. The occasion was the observance of Annual Conference Day. Upon our arrival we found the Sunday School in session with 155 present. The preaching service that followed was well attended, also, and a helpful response was given to our message. Pastor Auman stated that the morning offering was for the A. C. B., and special Annual Conference Day envelopes had been distributed for that purpose. The Annual Conference Day idea was to be further emphasized in the night service, at which time a session of the Annual Conference was to be held. A number of our denominational leaders and workers were to be present (by impersonation) including Dr. Broomfield and Miss Hodges. And of course our own local leaders and institutions were to be represented. Reports by different committees were to be made, and the other things that go into the making of an annual conference session were to be a part of this program. This impresses us with being one splendid way of emphasizing Annual Conference Day. We trust that Brother Auman and his people found it very successful and that they will give us a write-up of it through the HERALD. This church is well organized, and is in excellent working condition. Its field for service and expansion, Brother Auman thinks, is large and full of promise. We were much pleased with the well-kept and attractive auditorium. The floors have recently been stained and waxed, and also shrubbery planted in the attractive grounds upon which the church is located. Brother Auman is doing good work as the leader of this promising church and he will no doubt have a gratifying report for the coming conference. We were pleased with our visit here, and enjoyed a brief dinner visit with Brother and Sister Auman. We also had an enjoyable few minutes in the home of Dr. and Sister Goley.

Julian

After a short visit and supper with Brother Isley and his family, we motored over to Julian for our night appointment with that church. The attendance was very gratifying, and we noted in the congregation some persons from the other church on the charge,—Tabernacle, and some also from the Randolph charge. Our membership at this place is not large, though it is influential in the community, and provides for us some of our conference workers and leaders. Pastor Isley is closing his fifth year here as pastor. He is encouraged with what he regards as a hopeful outlook for this church. His good work during these five years is bearing fruit. His long pastorate attests the esteem in which he is held by his people. The pastor announced that the evening offering would apply on the A. C. B. This church has a good honor roll record, and we are confident that its former good standard will be maintained this year. We enjoyed our visit here, and also a few minutes (regretted that it was not longer) with our long-time friend, Brother W. T. Hanner and his family.

Put It To the Test

We have been saying in our weekly HERALD letter that "STEWARDS have much, VERY MUCH, to do in determining whether the financial obligations of the church are paid or unpaid." Stewards can confirm our judgment in this, we believe. WE APPEAL TO THEM TO PUT IT TO THE TEST. If what we say is true, there is a very important responsibility resting upon these officers of the church; but at the same time, there is given to them a very great privilege of rendering to God a MUCH needed service. Let us appeal again to our stewards that they put this matter to the test. If they will get together and plan for these closing weeks, and press their work right up to the last day and the last dollar, in the spirit of Christian service, God will honor their labors, and glorify himself in results that we have thought, perhaps, were not possible.

District Chairmen

The last annual conference made district chairmen "promoters, in their respective districts, of all conference and denominational programs." We urge these chairmen to use their own initiative in rendering such help for these closing weeks as they find possible. If they can make contacts with pastors, churches, and church officials, they would no doubt inspire faith and stimulate zeal for these closing efforts. Any good word that they can pass on, as to what churches are doing in their final efforts, will be inspiring to other churches. We must avail ourselves of all possible help in the work of these last days.

Don't Do It

For the past two years there has been a marked decrease in pastor's salaries, and there is some tendency to make further cuts this year. We trust, however, that the tendency in that direction is not general. Salaries are down now to a low mark, and we hope that churches will be slow in making further reductions. There seems to be a decided upward trend in business, and if this continues money will be easier next year than it is now. Let us suggest that we go upon that faith, and not make further reductions in salaries at this time.

This Is Good to Pass On

Graham is nearly out on World Service budget; salary will most likely be paid in full, and a good showing is expected on the A. C. B.

Haw River Church will pay everything in full. May their tribe increase! (We were glad to note some of the members of this church in the service at Graham Sunday).

Note this from Mt. Hermon charge: Cedar Cliff will pay everything in full. Friendship will pay A. C. B. in full. All churches will pay allotment for C. C. R. E. All churches have paid "Special" for superannuates and allotment for Expense of Representatives. The church rolls of the charge have been increased by 86. Hurrah for Mt. Hermon!

Prospects seem good for full payments of all claims at the Julian church, Tabernacle charge.

All budget apportionments at Calvary are provided for, and salary expected in full. Great for Calvary!

We are moved by these reports to "Thank God, and take courage."

This is "CHEER-UP". Station COBO, High Point, N. C. Watch for us again at the usual time next week.

More Help for South Winston Church

And again it comes from one of our most loyal women, and still from the east, though not so far east this time. The amount of this offering is $1, and is to help pay for one of those needed windows. The sister who sends it says, "Perhaps it will let a little bit of light into my Mansion." And it will, too. The total received to date is $7, and all of it has come from women, and two of them widows. Well, men, we'll have to admit it: these women are just living up to their practice of beating us men when it comes to good work. But in this particular instance there is still time to redeem ourselves. Three women have given $7; what three men will duplicate that, and let us have it by next week? Come on men! And don't you women stop, just because we men are not up with you. Keep up the good work that you have begun so well and let your contributions come right along. Three more dollars would put in one window, and we think we can locate one of those three. And that would leave two. NEXT?

Appointments

October 16.—Weaverville charge.
October 17-18.—Democrat charge.
October 19.—Asheville.
October 22.—Cleveland charge.
October 23.—Connelly Springs.
October 29.—Davidson charge in quarterly conference.
October 30.—Yadkin College.
November 9.—Annual Conference.

"And they stood every man in his place—and all the host ran, and cried, and fled."

Fraternally yours,

S. W. TAYLOR.

October 11, 1932.

In the Other Fellow's Place

(Continued from Page One)

slum dwellers cannot fully be understood by the investigator who is able to return to hotel or home at will. The absence of escape makes an infinite difference.

Christian living requires sympathy—that is, my pain in your heart or your sorrow felt by me in experience. Christ is the world's supreme example of 'suffering with.' That is to view the accidents and incidents of life from our neighbor's viewpoint. It made the saintly Richard Baxter say, upon beholding a revolting criminal, "There, but for the grace of God, goes Richard Baxter." Real glory springs from the silent, personal conquest of self. The only justification for unlimited judgment is the possession of all facts.

R. I. FARMER.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEES

Obituary

In honor of Mrs. J. N. Garrett: Rev. N. G. Bethea, Mrs. T. S. Dale, Rev. G. W. Holmes, Rev. W. T. Totten, Rev. T. M. Johnson.

In honor of Rev. R. E. Andrews: Rev. George R. Brown, Rev. C. W. Bates, Rev. C. H. Hill.

Regular Committees

CREDENTIALS: Rev. C. W. Bates, Oscar Ingold.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE: Rev. J. D. Williams, Rev. J. L. Trollinger, Rev. G. L. Curry, T. T. Stafford, L. R. Gooch, Dr. W. R. Goley.

LITERATURE AND MORALS: Rev. J. Elwood Carroll, Rev. M. P. Chambliss, Rev. G. L. Reynolds, J. Webb Lindley, George M. Foster, M. P. Efland.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION: Rev. N. M. Harrison, Rev. L. W. Gerringer, Rev. P. S. Kennett, Rev. W. M. Loy, D. M. Davidson, C. M. Yokley, delegate from Grace church.

SOCIAL REFORM: Rev. H. F. Surratt, Rev. R. A. Hunter, Rev. C. L. Spencer, Rev. W. D. Reed, J. J. Lamb, Ross Little, B. E. Fox, E. L. Davis.

PARSONAGES: D. E. Curtis, Miss Lola McCollum, Mrs. C. M. Davenport, Rev. C. E. Ridge, Rev. E. A. Bingham, Rev. J. B. Trogdon.

METHODIST PROTESTANT HERALD: W. T. Hanner, J. M. Cutchin, R. M. Cox, Rev. C. W. Bates, Rev. J. E. Pritchard, Rev. A. G. Dixon.

SUPERANNUATES: The Board of Managers of the Superannuate Fund Society. (This is in accordance with the order of the 1930 Annual Conference).

PASTORAL WORK: Rev. R. M. Andrews, Rev. G. B. Ferree, Rev. D. R. Williams, Rev. J. M. Morgan, D. D. Glenn, H. V. Swicegood, L. T. King, G. W. Stegall.

RURAL CHURCHES: Rev. J. W. Braxton, Rev. Edw. Suits, Rev. H. L. Powell, J. J. Massey, Holly Johnson, Lee Chambliss, C. L. Surratt.

OFFICIAL CHARACTER: Rev. B. M. Williams, Rev. J. D. Norris, Rev. J. R. Anderson, Rev. G. H. Hendry, Noah Williams, O. F. Hauser, F. G. Grigg, W. H. Paschall.

CHURCH MUSIC: Rev. E. Lester Ballard, Rev. A. L. Hunter, Rev. P. E. Lindley, W. M. Byerly, Miss Jennie Gordon, Mrs. J. C. Lloyd.

FRATERNAL RELATIONS: Rev. R. C. Stubbins, Rev. H. F. Fogleman, Rev. C. G. Isley, L. W. Routh, D. E. Curtis, S. R. Green.

PULPIT SUPPLY: Rev. F. W. Paschall, Rev. J. P. Pegg, Rev. J. C. Auman, C. F. Jobe, G. A. Nicholson.

ORDINANCES: Rev. J. A. Burgess, Rev. J. R. Hutton, Rev. A. D. Shelton, Rev. R. S. Troxler, E. F. Seagrove, B. E. Payne, J. L. Cashatt, J. D. Hampton.

MISSIONS: Rev. H. W. Maier, Rev. H. L. Isley, Rev. R. I. Farmer, Rev. O. C. Loy, A. A. Doub, L. E. Parr, C. A. Wright, R. L. Davis.

FINANCING THE CHURCH: W. L. Ward, J. A. Walser, T. S. Coble, J. D. Hardee, E. P. Sharpe, S. E. Hauser.

CONFERENCE CHORISTER: Rev. E. Lester Ballard.

TO CONDUCT CUMMUNION SERVICE: Rev. R .M. Andrews.

TELLERS: Rev. E. G. Cowan, Rev. E. O. Peeler, Rev. O. B. Williams, E. L. Hayworth, A. L. McBride, I. A. Teague.

We are publishing the conference committees this week so Chairmen may have time to block out their reports prior to the meeting of conference. The standing committees, as elected by the last annual conference, will be found on page 22 of the Journal. The Chairmen of those committees will, of course, take note of this.

The conference program will be ready for publication by next week.

S. W. TAYLOR.

October 10, 1932.

THE LOQUACIOUS LADY

By GRENVILLE KLEISER

Act I

Lady Gabble and Lady Gossip Are Seated

Lady Gabble: Really, my dear Lady Gossip, talkativeness is an awful bore. So fatiguing! Lord Twaddle gets on my nerves, and Lady Gushington overwhelms me with her effusiveness. She dwells on the six deadly "Do's"—domestics, diet, disease, doctors, drugs and death. You would think she has a monopoly of all the ill luck in the world. Do you know that her old cook suddenly left her last week? I've always said that when you bring up a cook in the way she should go, then she goes. If homekeepers would form a protective society instead of merely talking, we—

Lady Gossip: Don't you think—?

Lady Gabble: Think? Nobody thinks nowadays. It's a talking age. Everyone talks. No one listens. How I loathe these tiresome talkers! There's Polly Peacock, she's an awful talker. She talks all the time. Tells all the family secrets. You can't get a word in edgewise. Only yesterday she drenched me with a shower of words and left me utterly prostrated. She pours out ten thousand words an hour. Think of it, my dear! Fifty thousand words a day, or a million and a half words a month! It's appalling!

(Curtain)

Act II

Same scene, one hour later. Lady Gabble is still talking, when Lady Gloom is announced

Lady Gabble: Oh, my dear Lady Gloom, so glad you came. Lady Gossip has just been discoursing on these tyrant talkers, and I, of course, thoroughly agree with every word she has spoken. Could anything be more selfish and ill-bred than to hold forth all the time, not allowing your friends to express their views? If one of these persons ever arose to speak in Parliament, there would be no stopping them. And the worst is, they never really have anything worthwhile to say. You listen to them for an hour and all you have heard is the merest trivialities.

Lady Gloom: Yes, but have you heard the latest? Why, it seems that something terrible—

Lady Gabble: My dear, it may seem so old-fashioned of me, but I always make it a point never to listen to any idle chatter about people. So much of what is said is quite, quite untrue, you know, and really we ought to be charitable to neighbors less fortunate than ourselves. Only yesterday I was speaking to the dear rector about the sad case of poor Lady Penniless. Would you actually believe she now has only two servants? One would think she would have the decency to stay away from the church meetings but, oh dear, no! She simply monopolized the conversation last Tuesday and it was all I could do to interject a word.

Lady Gloom: Yet I hear she is so quiet—

Lady Gabble: Ah, Lady Gloom, we hear so much that isn't true. I find it wise to turn a deaf ear to a great deal of gossip coming my way. In these days, I have discovered that keeping a quiet tongue in one's head is really the only way to get along in the world. Speaking of getting along, by the way, have you noticed how free with his money Mr. Nouveauriche suddenly seems to have become? They say he made a lucky investment in the market which netted him a small fortune recently. Well, I don't like to say much about these things, but, as our clever Americans say, take it from me—

And we leave Lady Gossip and Lady Gloom taking it from her

Epilogue

Still later. Lady Gabble, alone, sinks into a chair

Lady Gabble: Thank heaven, they've gone at last! How I detest talking tyrants! They take the bit in their teeth and run away with the English dictionary. I'm on the verge of nervous prostration. I'll end up in a Rest Home soon if something isn't done. The strange thing is that the greatest offenders don't realize they are talking bores. There should be an Anti-Talk Crusade to protect us silent people. Really, something must be done. I'm going to talk to the rector about it!

(Curtain)

THINKING OR SWALLOWING!

When I read from figures carefully compiled by an insurance company, that Great Britain, with only one-seventh as many automobiles in proportion to population as we have in the United States, has four times as many deaths from automobile accidents as the United States, and then read or hear somebody say "It couldn't be any worse than it is here!" I wonder if the people who make such statements, have either, read, thought or digested, or merely swallowed whole, the wet propaganda.

Let us grant that there is a funeral procession for each death by automobile, allow one minute for every funeral procession to pass, and suppose they all had to pass a given point where all who read this would have to see. It would require 23 days and 21 hours, and I mean 24 hour days, not eight hour, for the killed-by-automobile in the United States to be carried past the given point. What a procession to have to look at! And this makes no account of the crippled, nerve-shattered bodies of those who were injured in automobile accidents in 1931—there were six times as many of these as were killed.

There are only 216 cities in the United States with population sufficient to furnish the victims for such a procession as I have pictured. Can anyone think on these things and vote for a return of alcoholic drink, which would give us the necessity of multiplying the number of victims by 28.

Psychologists say it is not the really drunken man who is the menace as an automobile driver, for he will not attempt to drive, but it is the one who has had but a bottle or two of beer or a glass of wine, and is reckless enough to take a chance. He it is who when danger is ahead, lacks the instantaneous response which enables him to avert danger. I wonder if all who wish for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, have thought of the disaster that may be in store for them or through them should they get their wish!

In order that the repeal of prohibition and tax on liquor should raise the amount of revenue the wets are claiming, it would be necessary for every family in the United States to spend $500,00 a year for drink, or for every family that failed to spend its share, some other must spend twice as much. The average American family has little more than one-fourth of this amount for purchasing other than the necessities of life.

I frequently hear "I hope you are listening?" but my hope is that people will somehow begin to think.

MRS. R. M. ANDREWS.

WANTED—A WORKER

God never goes to the lazy or the idle when He needs men for His service. When God wants a worker, He calls for a worker. When He has work to be done, He goes to those who are already at work. When God wants a great servant, He calls a busy man. Scripture and history attest this truth.

Moses was busy with his flocks at Horeb.
Gideon was busy threshing wheat by the press.
Saul was busy searching for his father's sheep.
David was busy caring for his father's sheep.
Elisha was busy ploughing with twelve yoke of oxen.
Amos was busy following the flock.
Nehemiah was busy bearing the king's wine cup.
Peter and Andrew were busy casting a net in the sea.
James and John were busy mending their nets.
Matthew was busy collecting customs.
Saul was busy persecuting the friends of Jesus.
William Carey was busy mending and making shoes.—Hints and Helps.

UNLOAD YOUR CARES

A very beautiful thought is brought out by the French translation of I Peter 5:7, where our version reads: "Casting all of your care upon him; for he careth for you." The word "casting" is translated "unload." Have you not found, many times, the cares of life too heavy to lift? Have you not felt that they were crushing you with their weight? Have you ever seen a coal cart unload? The man took out of the front of the heavy cart a little iron pin and the cart was so balanced on the axles that then, with a slight pressure on the back of the cart, it would tip up and the whole load slide on to the ground, and the horse would trot away with a light step. You do not have to take him up; just take out the little pin of your endeavors to help matters, and then, with your hands of faith and committal, tip up the big load, and then run on, for "he takes care of you."—Selected.

OUR STORY PAGE

THE DINING-ROOM MIRROR

Mrs. Butler had been ill a long time, and Ruth and Herbert and John had been left to the care of a housekeeper, who was a good woman, but rather careless and the three children—well, I don't like to tell it, but it may help some other little children—had dreadful table manners. Mr. Butler was much distressed about it, but he was a busy man who had to leave home before the children were up in the morning and often was kept out until after their bed time, so that Sundays were almost the only days when he had a chance to help them, and then it seemed hopeless.

Finally Aunt Fanny came to stay with them for a while, and Mr. Butler talked very seriously to the children about being nice and showing Aunt Fanny what good children they coul dbe. Of course they all promised, but the very first day they all forgot, and Aunt Fanny was shocked. But being a wise lady she said nothing.

"Why, Aunt Fanny, you've changed the furniture around in the dining-room!" cried Ruth when dinner was served next me, though I'll not promise that you'll have the same place always, for it's nice to shift about."

Right in the midst of her soup Ruth laid down her spoon and started. In the mirror opposite was a little girl cramming crackers in her mouth at a great rate and both her elbows were on the the table. At last the little girl in the mirror took one elbow off and then another and though it was a cloudy day Ruth saw who the girl was. She turned as red as a poppy and kept looking back often to see if the girl was doing anything wrong.

"Well, how nice and clean your place is at the table, dear!" said Aunt Fanny. "I do love to see well-behaved little girls."

Next day John was allowed to sit by Aunt Fanny, and he saw a small boy with a brushy-looking head and a neck-tie all awry before Aunt Fanny came in from the kitchen, where she had been called by the housekeeper. "Will you please excuse me a minute?" asked the little boy slipping down from his place.

When he came back the tie was straight and his hair was brushed. His hands were still wet on the backs and around the wrists but nobody said anything about it. He kept looking at the boy in the mirror and for the whole meal his elbows were where they ought to be and his mouth was not stuffed full of food, though there was a chicken that day.

"It's a pleasure to make good things for nice children," said Aunt Fanny, never looking at Herbert at all. "Now some children get gravy on the cloth and spill things dreadfully, but John's place is tidy."

"So is mine!" said Ruth, who had twisted around for glimpses of the little girl several times. "I think if Herbert could have a mirror opposite him he' dsoon do better too, Auntie."

"Is that why you changed the buffet?" asked Herbert with wide open eyes.

"Yes, one reason for it. I wanted you children to see yourselves as others see you. That is what mirrors are for, you know."

"Yesterday I saw myself in the big mirror in the living-room when I was angry," said Ruth, "and it was dreadful. But Aunt Fanny, we can't have a mirrow before us all the time, can we?"

"Yes, dear, in a way we can," said Aunt Fanny. "The Bible is our mirror, and when we look into it we see the things that are wrong in our lives just as clearly as you see table faults in the dining-room mirror. What was your verse yesterday, dear?"

"'Little children, love one another'," said Ruth, with downcast face. "And I quarreled with Edith," she added in a low tone. "I guess I was looking away from the mirror when I got angry with Edith."

"Even grown folks are careless, dear," said Aunt Fanny. "And now, do you want the mirror moved back where you cannot see yourselves at the table?"

"No! no! no!" cried three small voices. "We want it to help us."

So the mirror is there to this very day, but it never shows any children with shocking table manners any more, only well-behaved, polite boys and a small girl, who are the delight of their father and the comfort of their mother, who is back at her old place at the table well and happy.—Sunday School Times.

◆

HELP ONE ANOTHER

"She said, I will surely go with thee" (Judg. 4:9).

Many a man has been blessed by the God-given association of a woman. General Booth's life was made possible because of the devotion and faithfulness of his wife. Many a missionary has gone back to his sphere of service mightily strengthened because some noble woman has said, "I will go with thee." How sad it is when husband and wife are found facing in opposite directions! Physically they are together, but spiritually they are apart. Let husband and wife remember their early promises. Let them look off from the frivolous and fleeting things of time, and looking unto the eternal Christ follow Him hand in hand, step with step, and heart with heart. Sometimes the woman is a stronger character than the man. It is pathetic to see a strong man lead a weaker woman astray. But how much more pathetic when a strong woman leads a weaker man astray. Let the wife help the husband, the sister help the brother, and the maiden her lover in the battles of the Lord.—The Elim Evangel.

◆

—There is a sense in which the Spirit of God dwells in every believer, but it is not only a believer who is living in fellowship with Christ who realizes what the indwelling of God actually means.—G. H. C. Macgregor.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

October 16, 1932

WHAT DOES ALCOHOL DO TO PEOPLE AND SOCIETY?

Scripture Text—Matthew 18:4-6.

Many pepole have never looked below the surface to find out the basic facts concerning alcohol. We hear it often stated that alcohol has a value to the body that commends its use. For one to make such a statement, is to show himself ignorant of the real facts. Physicians have studied the matter from this angle and have discovered that alcohol has no value as food. Some substances are taken into the body that have no nutritive value and alcohol is one of them. It is, however, a type of poison which has a destructive effect on the physical system. Alcohol breaks down some of the fine membranes of the stomach and lowers the power of resistance. Alcohol is among the most dangerous of habit forming drugs; few people who have been gripped by it ever escape. It was an actual fact, among saloon keepers in past days that free drinks were furnished to beginners for an appetite was soon developed that was unsatiable. It is a serious indictment against an individual that he ever started another to drinking. It is a cause for shame that may stamp its mark on several generations.

Alcohol destroys the efficiency of the nervous system by overstimulating the nerves. It was believed by some speakers of another age that a "drink" was necessary to clear thinking and to loosen the tongue. It frequently loosens the tongue but fails to give it a message. Alcohol is the enemy of good hard thinking and in its place gives nothing of worth.

Linquor changes a man into a beast. It is not the nature of a civilized man to wallow in the dirt and to lose his powers of reason. He is supposed to be a self-respecting individual and to have left the crudities of the animal. Yet that is what alcohol does for a man. There are many people who are likable when they are sober and would do anything that is within their power to befriend a neighbor, but when they are intoxicated they are made intolerable. The man who drinks is the poorest citizen and is generally disregardful of all laws. It is a weakening of respect for authority to take a drink and is the opening of contempt for other laws which interfere with the free expression of every desire for all people. In a society that is as complex as ours there must be restraint placed on some of the natural desires. As society becomes more complex there will be more impulses curbed by laws; prohibition is a law which has proved good for the majority in the greatest number of instances.

Alcohol has made a great number of immature graves and has brought shame and privation into thousands of homes. When the open saloon took the pay check, it was natural that the children of the family went without milk and fruit and many times without bread. Liquor is never obtained free, and consequently the money which should go to supply family needs is spent for it. It seems almost unthinkable that a natural parent could fail to see any better than that.

Alcohol is the greatest breeder of vice in this country. Thousands of crimes have been committed by men in an intoxicated state which would never have happened if the person had been sober. There are myriads of markers to the devastating influence of alcohol. Hospitals are taking care of many who are the victims of its power; homes for the aged and indigent are often peopled with those who are its victims; millions of other charity cases would never have been such had the felon claws of alcohol been kept away. We see then that alcohol is taking a frightful toll in lives and money from the American people which is paying no interest. The "sin-bill" of America runs into the billions of dollars and alcohol is taking a lion's share of this amount.

Business men have felt the loss that alcohol makes in the destruction of genius and efficiency. Workers on many of the railroads were forbidden to use alcohol while employed, even before prohibition came into effect. It is a real danger to risk lives with a man who is under the influence of liquor. A slight mistake on the part of the engineer may endanger the lives of hundreds of people. It is time for the American public to awaken to the fact that alcohol is the most dreaded enemy of good business and the menace to public safety. Can passengers feel safe in entrusting their lives to men who are dulled by the use of alcohol? Men are howling for repeal today who would demand that their chauffeurs remain very sober.

Alcohol cuts down on efficiency in business. It is the enemy of child welfare and of the home. It is the motive power for many crimes and the cause for much of charity. It is the worst enemy that modern civilization has and it is more than an apprehension that any return of the curse may undermine our civilization and make twentieth century advancement little more than a phantom.

◆

PINE GROVE C. E. SOCIETY

The Pine Grove C. E. Society held its last business meeting Wednesday evening, October 5, at the home of Mrs. I. C. Ingram. The meeting was called to order with the president, Mr. Ned Ingram, presiding. The 23rd Fsalm was repeated in unison, followed by the repeating of the Lord's Prayer. The treasurer reported that a number of song books have been bought for the church with the funds that were made at the lawn party the society gave some time ago.

The weekly C. E. meetings are changed from Sunday evening at 6:30 to Friday evening at 7:30.

The society will give a Rally Day program Sunday morning, October 16, at 11 o'clock, followed by a community singing in the afternoon. We extend a cordial invitation to all singers.

Although the weather was very unfavorable, the business meeting was attended by a goodly number. REPORTER.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

NOTICE TO PASTORS

The question has been asked, "What monies raised by the Woman's Auxiliary count on the General Conference Budget?"

The apportionments appeared in the Herald, issue of September 1. You will notice that there are three divisions. The column headed "N. C. Ser." carries the amount that is a credit on the General Conference Budget. The treasurer of your Auxiliary receives a receipt from Mrs. Taylor, the Branch Treasurer, each time a remittance is sent in. That receipt states the amount she has received on New Century Service, (General Conference Budget). Look over the receipts since the date of the last Annual Conference. Add your credits together, and you will have the amount your charge has paid through the Woman's Auxiliary.

C. W. BATES, Secretary.

◆

SPIRITUAL LIFE DEPARTMENT

During this month we are to pray especially for Rev. and Mrs. Soderbom, Kalgan, China, and Rev. and Mrs. Horace Williams, Kalgan, and the native Christians in China also. Will you please add to this list Mr. and Mrs. Minnis in India, our own missionaries from North Carolina. Is it because we have not prayed enough in sincerity, that we have not been true to our trust? Even though the hard times have changed conditions, and none of us are able to do what we wish, can't we do something to help pay Mr. Minnis' salary? It is our responsibility as Christians.

In the study of recent lessons of Sunday school we see that we are to grow in grace through our devotional life. Do we keep too busy with other things to take time to develop a stronger spiritual life? Are first things first things with us? When so crowded with household cares how about our recalling that scene in the home at Bethany—and picture Mary sitting at the Master's feet learning of Him while Martha is bustling around in the kitchen missing that sweet fellowship. Which are WE like Martha, or Mary?

Do we stay away from church service on Sunday morning to prepare the best dinner of the week instead of going along with the family to the spiritual feast?

We each one have difficult tasks to face in these days, which makes the need of prayer greater.

If we keep close to the Master and look to Him for guidance He will lead us through the hard places, and we will be the stronger. When discouraged, pray, pray, as you never did before, in faith believing. If our Lord felt it necessary to spend all night in prayer or to go out to the hill top to pray, how much greater is our need of praying. We can not be strong in faith by our strength, but it must come through prayer and the study of God's Word. You and I must go to the Great Fountain Head in prayer. We must walk with Him and talk with Him. Thees suggestions

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Denton,Ladies' Aid Society.—The ladies of the M. P. church held their regular monthly meeting on Monday night, October 3. We met at the church. There was no special program prepared. Mrs. W. Mitchell read for the Scripture lesson the Twenty-third Psalm. After two songs were sung the business of the society was taken up. The roll was called and many' members responded.

At our last meeting we decided to order a gross of metal sponges. Each member helped sell them and we find that we can make a good profit on them. We would like to pass this idea on to other societies.

We decided to give a supper Friday night, October 14, to the school teachers and preachers of our town.

New officers were elected at this meeting. Mrs. B. L. Morris will take Mrs. W. Mitchell's place as president. Mrs. George Haltom, vice-president. For secretary we keep Mrs. Val Johnson, who has served for several years, and Mrs. Joe Hill, assistant secretary. The reporter was not changed although I feel like it should be, for I have not done my duty the past year. I will, however, put forth an effort to report more during the coming year.

We have also changed our meetting place again. We will meet in the homes during the winter months. We will meet next month with Mrs. A. L. Hill.

Speaking for the society I should like to express by deepest sympathy to Mrs. Joe Hill and family who have lost a very darling little girl, Kay Anderson, who has been staying with them for three years. Her mother died about three years ago and Mrs. Hill has been a mother to Kay and her sister, Afton, ever since their mother's death.

MARJORIE CRANFORD, Reporter.

* * *

First Church, Burlington.—We are having splendid attendance now at our church and Sunday school also. The pastor is putting his whole heart and soul into his preaching; in fact, he always does.

On Rally Day a hundred or more church members rededicated their lives. The Wednesday following that Mr. Herndon from the First Baptist church of this city led the prayer service. He delivered a wonderful message pertaining to the life of Abraham and his sacrifices, etc. Mr. Herndon is a very consecrated man and the thoughts that he left with the people who heard him will long be remembered.

The Central District C. E. convention was held in this church, Sunday, October 2. Approximately 500 people were present for both the afternoon and evening services. Rev. W. R. Shaffer of High Point, N. C., presided over this convention. Three conference sessions were held during the afternoon. In the Senior Conferences, Judge W. M. York led in Social Service; Rev. C. N. Morrison in C. E Methods, and Dr W. F. Paschall in Citizenship These conferences were well-attended and all of them very interesting and helpful After the conferences a business session was held; following that picnic supper was served in the hut. Every one enjoyed good eats and good fellowship. At the evening service Dr. Elbert Russell from Duke university was present and delivered a wonderful address: "The Golden Rule." A ladies' quartet of this church furnished some special music. In the afternoon violin music was furnished by Mr. Joe Allred and Mr. Charles McNeil and a vocal duet by Misses Carlyne Crutchfield and Tula Paul. Several of the State C. E. officers were present at this convention.

The Methodist Protestant Children's Home was represented at our church last night. The church was filled to its capacity. The children gave a splendid program. Dr. and Mrs. Dixon gave some remarks and told several things about the work of the children in the home. We are always glad to have them come and visit us and we extend to them a warm welcome to come back.

REPORTER.

* * *

Orange Charge.—Notice! The fourth quarterly conference will meet with the church at Hebron Saturday before the fourth Sunday in October at 2:00 p. m.

Hope to have a full attendance of the official members.

Sincerely,
B. M. WILLIAMS.

* * *

Elbaville, Mocksville Charge.—Our pastor, Rev. G. B. Ferree, Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock, delivered a wonderful message. The Lord's Supper was observed in the closing of the service, which helps all to live closer to the Lord.

We will meet the fourth Sunday of this month at Bethel to hold our fourth quarterly conference.

Funeral service for Mrs. W. A. Ellis was held here September 13. She was a member of this church several years ago. Mrs. Ellis had been in declining health a long time. For weeks prior to her death she suffered intensely. She was patient under the hand of afliction. She did not complain or grumble, but all the while seemed to be sure of the presence of God. She often said that she could not bear it if He were not with her. It was an inspiration to talk with her because she always manifested a beautiful faith in God.

LIZZIE BAILEY, Reporter.

* * *

West Forsyth — Large congregations attended the services at Union Hill and Tabernacle churches last Sunday. The election of officers and the revision of the church register were attended to at each church. After the service at Union Hill the pastor and one of his daughters who accompanied him, were invited to the home of Brother J. E. Douglass, where a good dinner and short visit were enjoyed. Brother Douglass has been confined to his home for the past summer months with an illness from which he is slowly recovering.

One of the largest congregations of the year attended the service at Tabernacle church Sunday night. This church is nearly paid up on pastor's salary, and has made a record in former years of being the first church to pay the pastor's salary in full before the Annual Conference.

Announcement has been made that the fourth quarterly conference will be held at Union Hill church on Sunday, October 30. We will have preaching at 11 a. m., and the conference in the afternoon at 2 p. m.

The revival meeting will begin at Pleasant Hill church next Sunday. The pastor is expected to preach at the morning service. Rev. R. A. Hunter, pastor of the Forsyth Charge has been engaged to do the preaching during the meeting. We are expecting him for the night service if not for the afternoon service next Sunday. Three services will be conducted on Sunday, at 11 a. m., 2 p. m., and 7:30 p. m Brother Hunter is well and favorably known in this community, having been born and reared in this section of Forsyth county He assisted in a revival meeting at Pleasant Hill church about 12 years ago, and the people are pleased with his coming to preach during the approaching revival meeting.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

* * *

New Hope.—We had with us Rev. S. W. Taylor, D.D. He brought to us real facts; his subject was "Faith in God in a Time Like This"

We need more faith and faith without work is dead. You can ask any sinner you may and he will tell you he is going to do better and he has faith he is going to Heaven at that time. But he will never get there until he goes to work. We may think of our duties and go to work.

I haven't sent a report in a long time. We are still seeing and having results from our meetings. Our young converts are doing good work in the church, prayer meeting and Sunday school.

We had with us last Sunday Rev. Clifford Clagg. We are always glad to have visitors worship with us. Our pastor and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Love were with us also. We think more and more of our pastor as he brings enticing words to us from time to time.

FAY AYCOTH, Reporter.

* * *

Hebron, Orange Charge.—Rev. B. M. Williams delivered a stirring message from Galations 6:10 at the 3:00 o'clock service. At the close of the service a business meeting was held, officers for the coming year were elected, and the church roll revised. A lot of work is necessary from the members of this church in order to make this year successful. The financial situation is serious to be so near the close of the year. May each member feel his responsibility in carrying on the work of this church and help remedy the above situation before the year closes.

REPORTER.

* * *

Shilch C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—The C. E. society met Sunday evening, October 2, at 7:30 o'clock, with Miss Mabel Berrier and Mr. Paul Leonard as leaders. We had two programs, or a combined program discussing two topics. Due to a thank offering program given by the Missionary auxiliary the lesson for Sunday evening, September 25, was postponed until the following Sunday evening this lesson was led by Mr. Paul Leonard on "Getting Off to a Good Start," this lesson was interesting and well discussed.

Immediately following this program was the lesson on "How Does the Teaching of Jesus Change Business," led by Miss Mabel Berrier. Ninety-two young people heard these lessons discussed.

The lesson Sunday evening, October 9, on "How Does the Liquor Problem Affect Young People Today?" was led by Miss Beatrice Sink. This lesson begins a series of lessons on the liquor problem and promises to be interesting and helpful. Following this program Mr. W. J. Berrier made a brief talk on the evils of liquor; picturing to us very plainly the shame and disgrace it brings on the participant, and the heartaches, suffering, hunger and lack of education and culture that it couses his family. We were indeed glad to have Mrs. Berrier meet with us.

The question was further discussed by our President, Mr. Ray Leatherman, and Rev. Troxler. We were glad to have Mr. Troxler meet with us again he always brings sunshine with him because he always has a cheerful smile and a kind word, he has promised to further discuss the evils of strong drink to the society later. Ninety-four young people heard this program.

Young people, you who are in some young people's organization some where, come out next Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock if you are in reasonable reach of Shiloh, and hear the program on "What Does Alcohol Do to People and Society?" If you are too far away to come to Shiloh go to some young people's society near you and hear this series of lessons. I'm sure it will help you.

C. E. REPORTER.

◆

Davidson Charge.—The Chapel Hill camp meeting began the third Sunday in September in with Rev. C. E. Ridge as pulpit help. He certainly preached some fine Gospel sermons. Mr. Ira Ridge led the singing which was a great help to the meeting.

Rev. Robert Short and Rev. A. Ridge preached once each during the revival. We appreciate the services of all who made the meeting a good success. Eighteen joined the church at this place.

Our meetings are all over for this year. We feel that more has been accomplished than last year. We appreciate the fine co-operation that has been given the pastor this year.

E. A. BINGHAM.

◆

Alleghany, Davidson Charge.—The second Sunday Pastor Bingham preached a wonderful sermon afer which he administered the Lord's Supper.

We were so glad to have Brother Bingham and two of the children in our home on Sunday to take dinner with us after which we went to Pine Hill and heard him preach another good sermon and also visit Mrs. Ruby Coggin of Pine Hill who is very sick. We remember her in our prayers.

Quarterly conference Saturday before the fifth Sunday in October at 2 o'clock at Chapel Hill. President Taylor is to be present and to hold the conference and to give a talk.

We will have preaching the fifth Sunday in this month for the last time before conference.

We are expecting Brother Bingham back if it is the Lord's will. We hope that all will put in their mite and pay him up. We have some sick; may the Lord bless them all.

ABIGAIL COGGIN.

◆

Pleasant Union, Mt. Pleasant Charge.—Dr. Johnson brought us a very convincing sermon Sunday morning on the evils of strong drink. He pointed out that a nation is what the people of that nation make it. It is no stronger than its people are. Dr. Johnson gave numerous instances where strong drink had broken up homes, ruined womanhood and cost the lives of human beings. There were thousands of deaths before the passing of the Eighteenth Amendment and an average of one a day in North Carolina for the year. Are there that many deaths as a result of strong drink now? No! Let us all keep awake and keep this great sin legally out of our country.

Our Rally Day service will be held the fourth Sunday morning in October. It will be under the direction of Misses Blanche Staley, Frances Causey and Florence Bowman.

The quarterly conference will meet at Mt. Pleasant Saturday afternoon before the fourth Sunday.

The Woman's auxiliary will meet with Mrs. C. Grady Bowman Tuesday to quilt one of their auxiliary quilts.

The officers of our Sunday school and church will be elected the fourth Sunday in October.

We were very glad to have Miss Rosa Mae Kirkman of Pleasant Garden worship with us Sunday. Miss Kirkman was a week-end guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Causey.

DORTHA CAUSEY HOLT

◆

First Church, High Point.—At the Sunday morning service the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, announced that this month is to be Loyalty Month, and appealed to the congregation to make an effort to be present at all the services of the church, and asked every one to save a penny a meal or a nickel a day in order to bring an extra offering at the close of the month.

Mr. E. L. Douglas, director of the campaign for the Methodist Protestant Herald, announced that he lacks only three subscriptions to reach the quota of 72 for this church. The collection that was taken in the small envelopes for the Herald deficit amounted to $11.50. Rev. Mr. Farmer then delivered a practical and impressive message on "The Art of Living Together" from the text in Matt. 7:12, which is generally known as the Golden Rule. He said that to put it tersely the genius of life is service. Pure selfishness never asks the question "How should I treat others?" If we can imagine ourselves in the other's place, we would avoid many unpleasant situations. An effective sermon was unconsciously preached by the little boy who said, "Daddy, I do love you, and I'm going to do something about it." If we would be unselfish we must be true to ourselves. Shakespeare said:

"To thine own self be true,
And it will follow as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

Helen Keller, the deaf and blind genius, said: "A fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind," and wrote her check for $200.00 for the blind children in India. No professional man can afford to disregard the Golden Rule. Mayo Brothers, of Minneapolis, noted surgeons, gave $2,000 to the University of Minnesota to relieve human suffering. Just as religion and business should go hand in hand, so should the Golden Rule be applied in politics. Secretary of Labor, Mr. Davis, said that the Golden Rule will be the cure of the depression and all business ills. Would you want others to be as indifferent to you as you are to them? Put yourself in his place and do your duty.

Ralph H. Vance was leader of the program for the Senior C. E. Society at the meet Monday evening. This body of young people is making a special effort to interest old members, get new ones, and increase attendance at their meetings.

The prayer and praise service will be held as usual Wednesday evening, and the minister will use "Lights of Book of Leviticus" as the theme for his message.

The Woman's Auxiliary tendered a very delightful party at the church last Tuesday evening in honor of faculty and students of High Point College and the Methodist Protestant teachers in the city schools. Refreshments were served.

The October meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edward Suits, 801 Montlieu Avenue, the following being associate hostesses: Mrs. E. L. Douglas, Mrs. A. A. York, Mrs. G. L. Reynolds, Mrs. W. C. Koontz, Mrs. A. A. Hill, Mrs. R. H. Gunn, and Mrs. J. S. Hilton. The president, Mrs. P. S. Kennett, was in the chair, and the secretary, Mrs. R. W. Riggins, read the minutes. The new treasurer, Mrs. Wade Marlette, elected in place of Mrs. J. S. Pickett, who resigned, reported a balance of $136 in the treasury. An impressive thank-offering service, of which Mrs. P. E. Lindley was director, was observed, and Mrs. S. S. Coe read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. P. S. Kennett led the prayer. Special music in the form of a vocal solo was rendered by Miss Laura Braswell, student of the College, accompanied by Miss Alma Andrews at the piano. The thank-offering creed was read in unison. The offering, which was taken in September through the circles, was collected and amounted to $45.00. Mrs. G. I. Humphreys, secretary of the Penny-a-Day project, reported that approximately $70 has been turned in to date, and the Auxiliary voted to continue the same plan. A bazaar will be held November 3rd, when useful and fancy articles of handiwork will be offered for sale and two meals served. The committee on the Brunswick stew, Mrs. Coe, Mrs. Taylor, and Mrs. Kennett, announced that it will be placed on sale Thursday and Friday, October 20 and 21. Mrs. E. L. Douglas asked if we can use Miss Olive Hodges, missionary to Japan on furlough, and the Auxiliary voted to ask her to come to First church and make an address, as she tours the state from east to west, probably the latter part of October. Mrs. Pickens called special attention to the collection of Octagon Soap coupons, and explained the very liberal offer of the manufacturers of the products to give $2,500 to the Children's Home for 500,000 coupons, and urged the members to be more diligent in saving and turning in these coupon.s After the conclusion of business, the hostesses served tea and small cakes to the 50 members present.

The stewards of the church will have a special meeting Tuesday evening, and supper will be served by Circle No. 7, Mrs. J. H. Allred, chairman. Messrs. Richard H. Shaw and John B. Spencer will be hosts to about 50 stewards and their friends.

Mesdames S. W. Taylor, J. A. Gray, P. S. Kennett, and S. S. Coe compose the committee on Brunswick stew, and they will prepare 50 quarts for sale.

Circle No. 8, Mrs. R. H. Gann, chairman, conducted a food sale last Saturday in High Point Hardware store, and cleared $15. Circle No. 3, Mrs. N. P. Yarborough, chairman, held a rummage sale, the proceeds being $11.00.

Miss Louise York, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. York, was voted one of the five prettiest girls at Brenau College, Gainsville, Ga. She is a freshman.

We are pleased to know that Miss Willie Davis, who has been ill, is much improved.

Mrs. S. S. Coe will entertain the Tea and Topics Club Thursday afternoon at her home on Hillcrest Drive.

Those who heard "Girl No. 23" sings over radio in the Atwater Kent audition at Raleigh last Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, listened to one of First church's young ladies, Miss Margaret Neese, who sang "Ah, Love, But a Day!" She is a pupil of Edward Molitore, Greensboro.

A play, "Once in a Blue Moon," will be presented in the Junior High School under the sponsorship of the Woman's Club on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. A number of prominent business men of the city will have leading roles. The receipts are to be used for the night schools.

Prof. L. R. Johnston, principal of the high school, who has been suffering from an attack of influenza, has recovered.

* * *

Graham.—Last Sunday was a "red letter day" in the Graham church. President Taylor was with us in the morning and preached at 11 o'clock to an appreciative congregation his timely and inspiring message. At night a play was given depicting an Annual Conference in session. Every one seemed to be pleased with this method of making real before our eyes, the character and the machinery of our church in North Carolina. A fuller detail of this service will be given later.

Rally Day was observed with a splendid program on the first Sunday. An offering was taken for the Board of Christian Education.

Our revival services began on Monday night of this week with Dr. T. M. Johnson as the pulpit help. We are delighted to have Dr. Johnson and are expecting a great meeting

J. CLYDE AUMAN.

* * *

Calvary, Greensboro.—I believe I promised an interesting report for this week. Well, here it is! Most of our folks know about it. We had a large crowd at the Hut Friday night to the covered dish supper given Mr. Claude Coe, our Sunday school superintendent. This was a surprise to him. He said he didn't know women could keep secrets. We fooled him that time. The supper was given by the Senior classes and teachers and officers of the Sunday school. The object of this supper was to show our appreciation of the splendid work Mr. Coe has accomplished during the two years he has served us. A gift was presented to him by the teachers and executives of the school. Elizabeth Williams gave a reading in the form of an introduction, after which Arthur Fiddler, of High Point, sang "The Trumpeter." Invocation was by Rev. T. F. McCulloch. Rev. C. W. Bates was toastmaster for the evening. Everyone enjoyed the evening hugely. Some said it was the best supper we have had. We had the best variety we have had and everything was delicious. Our honored guest seemed to enjoy the evening. He said he had not been sure before that he had pleased us, but felt that we have shown him that his efforts were not in vain. We are proud of our superintendent and think that he has done splendid work. Mr Coe has recently opened a grocery store. We wish him success in this.

There will be a supper in the church hut next Thursday evening for all the members of Calvary. Everyone is invited and the eats are free.

At the meeting of our quarterly conference Tuesday night our delegate to the Annual Conference was unanimously instructed to ask for Mr. Bates' return for the sixth consecutive year. We had a full attendance at the meeting and a very harmonious session.

Next Tuesday night the Business Girls' Circle will give a musicale at the home of the Misses McCulloch on Martin street. They are hoping for a large attendance. Tickets can be gotten from any of the circle members or at the door Tuesday night.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

* * *

Shiloh.—It is very earnestly hoped that all of us observe October as Tithing month. "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof," yet the Lord's work is supported entirely by His friends. Shall we fail Him? Or shall we give back to him a portion of what he has given to us? "Bring ye all the tithes into my storehouse and I will pour you out a blessing, such that ye will not have room to receive it."

Shiloh has only two more preaching services before conference. There is much to be done before the year's work will be complete. Have I been faithful to my Christ this year? Do I deserve to hear "Well done, faithful servant?"

The fourth and last quarterly conference will meet at Shiloh on Saturday, October 15, at 2 p. m. Please remember the time, and, if possible, be present.

MRS. W. L. SHOAF, Reporter.

* * *

State Street, Lexington.—The Rally Day and promotion program were postponed from Sunday, October 2, to last Sunday. The young people who took part in the program did well and the audience was a large and appreciative one. Miss Pauline Forcum did the principal part of the training of the children and it was done in a very efficient way, as all Miss Forcum's work is done.

At the evening hour Dr. Abernethy, of the M. E. Church, preached for us, while Mr. Hendry preached for the M. E. congregation. The arrangement was highly pleasing to both congregations. Dr. Abernethy brought us a profoundly interesting and vital message on man's relation to God and the great theme of eternal life. Our people were helped in a wonderful way by this splendid address. The M. E. folks were as greatly helped by Mr. Hendry's address to them.

Supper was served in the church dining room last Saturday night, sponsored by the Ladies' Bible Class There was some help from some who are not members of the class that the ladies of the Bible class especially appreciate. The Men's Bible Class helped a great deal in donations and also in the sale of tickets. The supper netted a profit of between $40 and $45.

Nearly all of our number who have been sick recently are able to be with us again in the services. We are grateful indeed for this.

Miss Mildred Leonard, who is a student at High Point College, and Miss Lila Aron, who is a member of the school faculty at Reids, spent the past week-end with their respective parents and were with us in the morning services Sunday.

Mrs. Harold Helms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walser, has been visiting her parents for the past several days. Mr. and Mrs. Helms have been living in Charlotte, but will reside in Greensboro in the future.

REPORTER.

* * *

Lebanon, High Point.—Since our pastor, Rev. J. C. Madison, left for school, we have had four substitutes. They were unusually good. Three Sundays ago Dr. P. S. Kennett, head of the history department of High Point College, spoke to us about "Friendship." His friendly disposition made this especially enjoyable. Rev. Lester Furr, student at the college, preached the second sermon for us. Since hearing this we are expecting a successful future for him. Dr. George Crowell conducted an evening worship for us that was liked very much. Last Sunday Dr. P. E Lindley, dean of High Point College, was with us for both services. Both of his sermons were very impressive.

Next Sunday Rev. William Howard, of High Point College, will preach to us.

On one Sunday evening our Senior Christian Endeavor presented an interesting program. The subject was: "Men and Women We Most Admire."

At the Central District Christian Endeavor convention our Intermediate and Junior Societies won the award which were presented on the basis of the number present and mileage traveled. The president of the Intermediate society is J. S. Hedgecock and that of the Juniors, Ruth King. At the convention Miss Ida Guyer, from our church, was re-elected district secretary.

Last Sunday evening the Senior and Intermediate societies held a joint meeting. The leaders were Misses Jewell Welch and Erma Cockman. Rev. Wilbur Hutchins, from Wake Forest, made an impressive talk at this time. He will be back to preach for us the fifth Sunday.

We have been glad to have several students from High Point College worship with us recently. Some of them will conduct our prayer meetings during the coming weeks.

REPORTER.

* * *

Randolph Charge.—Since our last report we have held our revival service at Bethany and Gray's Chapel. The service at Bethany embraced the first Sunday in September. We were hindered here on account of sickness among the members but the services were well attended by those who were able to attend. The interest was good. The meeting resulted in 12 conversions and reclamations and a good revival in the church. Three were received into the church. During the meeting we received many tokens of kindness from the good people of this church. We greatly appreciate these gifts.

The fourth Sunday in September we were at Gray's Chapel. The congregation was large and those who were fortunate to get a seat under the arbor gave the best attention. Rev. R. I. Farmer came and preached in the afternoon on Sunday. His sermon was greatly enjoyed by all who heard him. With the exception of this sermon the pastor did the preaching through the meeting The congre-

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

PASTOR'S REPORT TO THE FOURTH QUARTERLY CONFERENCE CALVARY CHURCH

October 4, 1932

Dear Brethren:

Within a month I shall have completed five years as your pastor. Five-year periods make good divisions for comparisons; so I am taking a part of this report to present some figures, taken from the Conference Minutes, which may be interesting, and that are, to me at least, inspiring. They evidence steady and continuous growth in a period which has been characterized by almost constant depression spiritually as well as financially. I shall start with some financial figures. There are many items that might be mentioned; but that this report may not be wearisome, I am confining myself to two: the total amount raised during each of the five years, the amount raised on church debt; and the total amount raised for the five-year period. It is understood that the figures for 1932 are incomplete and must be until nearer the close of the conference year. Here are the figures:

Year	Raised for Church Debt	Total Amount Raised
1928	$ 1,531	$ 5,294
1929	1,500	6,040
1930	1,917	7,004
1931	2,123	7,424
1932	1,567	5,315

You will see that $602.00 more was raised for church debt in 1931 than was raised in 1927; and that the total raised in 1931 was $2,130.00 more than in 1927. Now, if these were normal years financially this would not be anything remarkable. As it is, it is little short of marvelous. As I have already indicated, I do not know how the figures for this year compare with others, but I think they will compare favorably.

The grand total of all monies raised during the five years is $31,077.00 which considering the membership, in numbers and in financial ability, is no small amount.

I wish now to turn to the membership statistics: I shall give the number on roll, the number of accessions, the number discontinued, the number on roll at the close of each conference year:

Year	On Roll	Acc.	Discon.	On Roll
1927-28	175	30	6	198
1928-29	199	31	8	222
1929-30	222	27	15	235
1930-31	235	34	15	254
1931-32	254	24	2	276

Analyzed these figures tell us: 1. That 146 members have been received during the past five years. 2. That 46 have been discontinued, either by death or withdrawal by letter or otherwise. 3. That there has been a net increase of exactly 100 during this five-year period. The smallness of the additions this year may be accounted for in part at least by the lack of results from our special meeting. That smallness is offset however by the small number who have withdrawn, only two to this date. There is a prospect of some more coming into the membership fold before the close of the conference year.

Now an increase of 100 members in five years is not so great, viewed from one angle. But if you will remember that only one church in ten reported any increase last year, it is a good deal to say that we have averaged a net increase of 20 each year for five years. Or, if you want to put it another way, we have had a net increase of 37% in five years.

So I think we can say that both from the standpoint of additions to the membership and that of money raised, we have done well, exceptionally well. And yet I wonder if we have done our best? I very much doubt it. And that leads me to make a couple of observations:

1. With regard to the church debt. Brother Gerringer reported in the 1927 Conference Journal an indebtedness of $10,100. I reported in the 1931 Journal an indebtedness of $6,200, or a reduction in indebtedness of $3,900. In between those two dates an additional indebtedness for the purchase of a parsonage had been incurred to the amount of approximately $3,500. So that the actual indebtedness of all church property at the close of last conference was approximately $9,700. That part of the debt represented by what is still due on the parsonage really takes the place of the rent formerly paid for a place for the pastor to live in. In that sense, if the church expected to continue to pay the pastor's rent, the amount due on the parsonage can hardly be called a debt, although it must be paid off.

Now the actual amount due the Pilot Life Insurance company which lumps the amount still due on the church property as well as that now due on the parsonage property is $6,800.00. That decreases as to principal and interest each year as the semi-annual payments are made. The balance is for sums borrowed from time to time, mostly when the church was being built, to take care of financial obligations not otherwise provided for.

I have said all this to say something else: Here is a church debt. In size it ought not to be burdensome; and, so far it has not been unduly so. We have done what very few churches have been able to do in these distressing times; we have been able to keep both principal and interest paid to date on all our church debt obligations. But the point I wish to make is that we are making the taking care of these obligations much harder than we ought to.

Three years ago we presented two plans both of which were adopted for the raising of the money necessary to take care of these obligations: the certificate plan for the insurance debt; the calendar plan for the floating debt. Neither of these plans has been discarded in whole; but they are only being worked in part. I mean to say we are only half working them. The consequence is instead of spreading this debt over the largest possible number of members, we are gradually bringing it down where it must become again the burden of the few.

Now I do not know why that should be the case. Perhaps we want to blame it on the depression, and say that the people do not have the money. I wonder if that is really true? Or I wonder if those who are charged with the raising of this money have not slackened their zeal a bit? Examine your own selves and see. Perhaps there are better ways of raising this money, perhaps we need to adopt some other method. But I believe we need to get under the plans we already have and push them. And if every one who has been asked to have a part in the working out of either plan will do his part it can be done. This thing is true—these debt payments must be met. And we ought to try to meet them in the easiest possible way.

Perhaps I have spent too much time on that item. I want to say a word about membership. How fast ought this church to grow? Is it growing fast enough? Are you satisfied with its growth? If it is not at this date as large as it ought to be, what or who is responsible?

The growth of any church depends upon certain elements: 1. The number of people who are available for membership, either because they have never been members of any church, or because they hold their membership elsewhere. They constitute the field that the church has to work for an increase in its membership. Considered from that standpoint, no church in the conferrence has a finer opportunity. But are additions of 30, 31, 27, 34, and 24 members a year an adequate response to that opportunity? I do not think so. A net increase of 100 members in five years, fine as it is, does not represent an adequate response to that opportunity. Now whose fault is it that we haven't grown faster? Well, perhaps it is mine. Are you sure it isn't yours? How many people have you invited to unite with this church during the year? 2. But the growth of any church is determined not only by the number of prospective members available. It is determined somewhat by the drawing power of the church. If we make the church attractive we will win many who otherwise might go somewhere else or nowhere. That is to say, the spirit of friendliness has a geat deal to do with the winning of folks to a favorable attitude toward the church. Have we been as friendly as we might have been? What is our attitude as members toward the strangers, the potential members, who attend our services? Show thyself friendly and those who come once will come again and yet again. And presently they will unite themselves with us. And so the church will grow.

You will notice that I have not, so far, said anything that really makes this a pastor's report. I have not figured up how many sermons I have preached. It is enough to say that I have occupied my pulpit at every service except when away from the work on vacation, when attending the General Conference, or on the occasion of my father's death. I mean to say that I have not been absent helping in revivals, nor have other brethren preached for me when I was in town. I have been as faithful to that phase of my ministry as the opportunity allowed. Not so much is to be said of my attendance at the prayer services. Many things have come in to interrupt that. But in 'most every case, I have been able to secure others to take my place, and there have been few interruptions.

Perhaps I ought here to make some observations on church attendance. Why do not more of our people attend the services on the Lord's Day? We have increased the membership by 37 per cent. There should have been a corresponding increase in church attendance. It is better, I think, than any time in my pastorate. But it is far from satisfactory. What is the reason? Is it some fault in the kind of preaching? Is it some failure in the preacher himself. "A housegoing pastor makes a churchgoing people," so they say. More than 1,000 visits a year ought to produce more results in that respect. Is it because we do not make our services attractive enough, leaving out the consideration of the merits, or demerits of the sermon? Is the failure in the music, the kind of it or the lack of it? Or is it in the forms of worship? These are questions to think about, and perhaps, to answer.

This is not a problem peculiar to us. We can get a bit of comfort from that. But that doesn't solve the problem. The problem really has three phases: 1. The number of members, or folks who ought to attend at least one service a day, who content themselves with attending the Sunday school session. Why can't we get more of these folks to stay for the morning service? "Small children" are more of an excuse than a reason. 2. Then there is the problem of the "stay-at-home." They do not go even to Sunday school. Perhaps the radio has something to do with that. But, whatever the reason, "they forsake the assembling of themselves together," and they lose the joy of being a blessing and being blessed. That is, they do if there is anything vital in the service. Do they stay away because "there's nothing to it?" Or is there some other reason? 3. Then there is the problem of the evening service. A good many churches are abandoning the evening service. Grace church has not had one for a number of months. The Asheboro Street Friends church has not had an evening service, so the pastor tells me, since last January. Is it worthwhile to have a service which is attended by from 40 to 60 people, most of whom are not members of the church in which the service is held? If the service is worthwhile, what can we do to increase the attendance, and to make the members of the church see their responsibility to it? Shall we employ a jazz band as a certain church in Denver is doing? Or shall we find some other form of service that will appeal and attract? I am not a sensationalist. God forbid that I should be.

I say these problems are not peculiar to us. Nor, perhaps, are they as acute with us as they are with some other churches. But I am not satisfied, are you?

You may be interested to know that to the end of September this year I had made 1,063 visits as compared with 1,043 for the same period last year. And I have been away from the charge more days this year than I was last. So I have tried to be faithful to my pastoral duties also.

I would not close this report without paying my acknowledgments to all those who have been my fellow-laborers in the Gospel. The success that has been ours has been ours and not mine. Is has been ours because we have worked together. Not all have worked, not all who have worked have worked as hard as they might; but those who have worked have worked together. There has been a fine spirit of harmony in the group that has made it a pleasure and a joy to be permitted to share in the tasks that have been ours.

I want also before I close, to express my gratitude to the Chief Shepherd for preserving me from sickness and accident. Not one in the five years that I have been your pastor have I been absent from the pulpit because of illness. Nor have many hours been lost from visitation even because of slight indispositions. I have had an abundant measure of health that I might give my best to you. to the charge, and to the work to which I have been called.

C. W. BATES, Pastor.

(This report is published at the request of the Quarterly Conference.—C. W. B.)

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

(Continued from Page Ten)

were given in Sunday School Times, and are so good I wish to pass them on to you:

"Fix the habit early to pray. Begin now. Set a definite time—let it be the first part of the day while the mind is clear and before the tempter has a chance to fill your time with his own engagements. Have daily secret prayer. Pray to be of service to others. Pray for bigness of spirit and wideness of vision."

All the secretaries of this department throughout the Branch—how I would like to see you face to face and talk over our work; I know you would be of great encouragement to me. Say, if you would like to make me bubble over with joy, take time to write me a friendly little letter that we may know each other—and suggest plans that have helped the spiritual growth in your own Auxiliary.

If you do not have in use the books, "God's Mintue," and "God's Message," which cost 60c each, write to Rev. N. G. Bethea for them.

MRS. J. M STONE,
Sec. of Spiritual Life, N. C. Branch.

◆

BRO. PRITCHARD HAS NOVEL EXPERIENCE

All of last week I broadcasted a 15-minute devotional service over the radio station here from 8:00 to 8:15 each day. It was a most delightful experience, though it was about equal to preparing two new sermons a day. The service consisted of one hymn, a prayer, and the rest of the time was taken up with the morning meditation. It took about four pages of typewritten material to keep the service going 15 minutes. I wrote it out and revised it like writing a college theme. The telephone calls and the letters and cards from various places seem to indicate that I had a large audience.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas	$12.00
Rev. H. L. Isley	6.00
Rev. E. Suits	5.00
Rev. J. L. Trollinger	4.00
Mrs. C. B. Welch	3.00
Miss Nannie McAdams	2.50
Rev. J. R. Hutton	1.00
Mrs. T. R. Cranford	1.00
Rev. H. F. Fogleman	1.00
Rev. J. E. Pritchard	1.00
Mrs. E. S. Taylor	1.00
Rev. M. C. Henderson	1.00

Offering on Printing Deficit

First Church, High Point	$11.50

Thanks to good friends in High Point.

◆

—The prize of $100, offered by Grenville Kleiser for the best essay on "Why President Hoover Should Be Re-elected," has been won by Mr. A. C. Scott, 310 N. W., 16th street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

—Dr. W. W. Staley died last Sunday at the age of 84. He was one of the leading ministers of the Christian church and served a long term as pastor in Suffolk, Va., and was also for a time president of Elon College.

◆

He: Darling, in the moonlight your teeth look like pearls.

She: Oh, indeed! When were you in the moonlight with Pearl?

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Asheboro S. S.	$35.00
Mr. Frank Jenkins, Salisbury, Md, per.	4.00
Mt. Pleasant S. S., N. Davidson	1.20
Kannapolis S. S.	2.60
Orange Chapel, Saxapahaw	.25
Concord, Saxapahaw	2.85
Yarborough's Chapel S. S.	3.28
Union Chapel, Granville	8.00
Friendship Station	3.55
Rockingham S. S.	3.00
Bethel S. S., Randolph	2.05
St. Paul S. S.	5.50
Whitaker's Chapel S. S., Enfield	3.20
Friendship, Fallston	4.35
Fairfield S. S., Guilford	2.00
Elbaville S. S., Mocksville	2.00
Efland S.S., Orange	3.50
State Street S. S.	4.00
Mt. Hermon S. S., Mt. Hermon	3.94
Level Cross S. S., Randleman	1.00
Gillburg, Vance	1.00
Charlotte S. S.	10.84
Canaan S. S., North Davidson	10.00
Mt. Lebanon S. S., Randleman	3.30
Stallings, Mecklenburg	1.50
Grace Church S. S.	4.95
Mt. Pleasant S. S., Mt. Pleasant	6.00
Mizpah S. S., Haw River	1.25
Bethel S. S., Flat Rock	2.28
Pleasant Grove S. S.	10.00
Hebron S. S., Orange	3.90
Mrs. C. L. Gray, High Point, personal.	3.00
First Church S. S., High Point	29.89
Maple Springs, Forsyth	5.00
Burlington, First Church S. S.	37.17
Burlington, First Church, Baraca class, Caring for child	20.00
Burlington, First Church, program by The Children	22.25
N. C. Branch Woman's Auxiliary, by Mrs. S. W. Taylor	48.65

We certainly appreciate the response, on the part of our friends, which has made possible the good report this week.

All the items are worthy of special note, but we especially call attention to the three items from First Church, Burlington. We were in Burlington last Sunday evening with a group of our children and gave one program to a full house. The pastor and his people were very kind and responsive.

We have no further engagement to give the program between now and conference. If any pastor can use us we shall be glad to go.

Clothing and Other Gifts

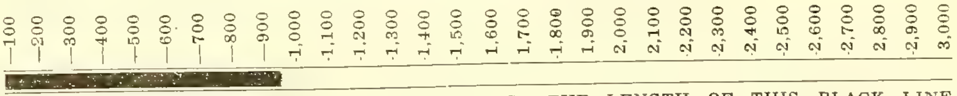
Intermediate and Junior C. E. societies, Comanche, Okla., one quilt. A box of clothing left here, sent by Mrs. Coe, we understand, one apron, two pieces of underwear, one sweater, nine dresses and two coats. Mrs. J. W. Boyles, Thomasville, four dresses, three skirts, three sweaters, one scarf, one hat, one suit of underwear and a bundle of magazines. We are thankful for these gifts.

Just to Remind You

Fall of the year is upon us and you will soon be planning your harvest-home offerings. Please give proper publicity to it so all will have a chance to contribute clothing, shoes, wheat or other grain, potatoes, chickens and

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	15¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	5¼
Asheboro	36	17
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	14
Charlotte	19	13½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	2
Forsyth	50	10
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	15¾
Glen Raven	38	8½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	17
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1½
Guilford	43	15½
Halifax	52	15
Haw River	49	14½
Henderson	38	13¾
High Point, First	72	70
High Point, Lebanon	31	26
High Point, Welch	28	2¾
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	7½
Liberty-Moriah	31	19¼
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	10
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	9¾
Mount Hermon	92	16½
Mount Pleasant	62	25¼
North Davidson	53	13½
Orange	70	25⅝
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	15¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	12
Reidsville	14	11½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	18
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23
Siler City	10	8½
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	10½
Tabernacle	41	33½
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	11¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	13½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	29⅜

◆

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Thirteen)

gations were large but the interest on the part of the unsaved was not what we had hoped for. The meeting continued through the first Sunday in October and up to Tuesday. We closed Tuesday night. As a result of this meeting we had the privilege to take in four members last Sunday. During this meeting the pastor and family were treated to an old-fashioned pounding. Our car was loaded with good things to eat. We greatly appreciate these tokens of kindness and pray God's blessings on all who helped in any way in these services.

EDW. SUITS.

◆

Pleasant Grove.—Silence on the part of the reporter is no indication that the work is not going forward. The attendance at Sunday school and preaching has been very good. Sunday was observed as Rally Day. A very helpful and interesting program was given which seemed to be enjoyed by all.

After the program the pastor, Rev. D. R. Williams, gave a talk on Rally Day. We were very much pleased with the Rally Day collection, which amounted to $13.00.

Realizing that our year's work is almost ready to close we feel there is much to be done yet in order that we may send our good pastor to Conference with everything paid in full. We realize in these hard times that money is not as plentiful as it has been; but we must not drop the Lord's work. It will do us all good to make some sacrifice to carry on the work of the kingdom.

On Sunday evening the pastor used as his subject "Ignorance of God."

The Ladies' Aid met last Wednesday evening with Mrs. J. E. Veach. Mrs. D. R. Williams had charge of the program. After the regular business the hostess served hot coffee, sandwiches, cake and ice cream.

REPORTER.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

On Sunday, October 30, St. Luke's Lutheran church located in Tyro, Davidson county, will hold an anniversary celebration of the one hundred and forty-fourth (144) year of its history with appropriate exercises to commemorate this interesting event. Eleven o'clock is the hour for these services. St. Luke's church is one of the older and larger Lutheran churches of the state, and much interesting history clusters around it.

At 3 p. m. of this same day, October 30, the Lutherans of Davidson county will sponsor a joint celebration to be held in the Carolina theatre of Lexington when the one hundred and fiftieth (150) anniversary of the Reformation of the sixteenth century will be celebrated.

The speaker for both the above occasions will be Dr. W. T. Whitsett of Whitsett, N. C., who has for many years been active in collecting early church history throughout the state.

◆

CONFERENCE FACULTY MEETING

The Conference Faculty will meet in First Methodist Protesttant church, Burlington, N. C., Tuesday, November 8, 1932, 2:00 p. m. There will be an executive session for about one hour, after which all who have business with the Faculty, or with the Examiners, will please be present at that time. This includes all who are in the Course and wish to be examined, or, those who wish to come before the Committee on Entrance.

It is the wish of the chairman that all members be present so what business we have may be transacted before Conference begins, as far as possible.

J. E. PRITCHARD, Chairman.
N. G. BETHEA, Secretary.

◆

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued from Page Fifteen)

canned goods, or other useful household articles will be welcomed and appreciated.

Conference is almost here, so be sure to get into our hands all offerings for the Home which you wish to go into this year's report by November 8. That is just the day before conference but we will put into our annual report any amount which reaches us that day. We thank you and may God bless each of you.

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

—Mrs. Nettie Burroughs, who lives in Canada, writes that she has taken the M. P. Herald for two years and never failed to receive a copy. A good word for postal clerks en route.

Methodist Protest [illegible] Herald.
ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.
VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., OCTOBER 20, 1932 NUMBER 45

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Whither Will Life Lead?

The question is for you and me
And all who on a journey be;
For travels surely lead away,
As sure as morrow's not today.

It's much a thing of time and rate
And what may be your regular gait;
But when you go you go somewhere
And often find a place that's queer.

Some travelers tell of region dread
Where raging heat assails your head,
And others tell of freezing cold
Where none will go but very bold.

For life has many devious ways
Which lead into a tangled maze
And leave one in a dreadful plight,
Immersed in gloom of endless night.

"Seek safety first" is traveler's warning,
To be rehearsed both night and morning:
If slow you walk or swift you ride,
You need a guide close by your side.

In choice of guide you choose the end
To which the whole of life will tend.
The way you go from day to day
Determines how and where you'll stay.

Graveyard Members

One of the many problems confronting a pastor, is dealing with "graveyard members." I never have been pastor of a church where I did not have to deal with this problem. There are always people in the community who attend the local church and at the same time hold their membership in some other community, very often many miles away. I am always glad to have these people attend the services of the church of which I am pastor, but feel that it would be much better for them and for us if they would transfer their membership to the church where they can and do attend. And I have not failed to let such people know how I feel about this matter. The answer we usually get is, "Well, we enjoy attending the church here, but we hate to leave the old church; our grandparents are buried there, our parents are buried there and some day we hope to be buried there."

I feel that I speak the sentiment of every pastor in the North Carolina Conference when I say that we have no objection to carrying such people back to the old church for burial, but we would like to have them unite with us while they are alive and active.

I would like to appeal to every "graveyard member" who may read these lines to move your church membership to the church of your denomination nearest to your present home. I am sure that it would be better for you, better for us and better for the church and the kingdom.

It would be a fine thing if at the coming session of our Annual Conference a united appeal could be made by our ministers to all "graveyard members" throughout the conference to forget for the time being what may happen to their dead bodies and unite with us in our efforts to enlist the activities of all the people in the greatest work in the world.—the establishment of the Kingdom of Christ here on earth.

R. A. Hunter.

Is Our Need Prosperity or Something Else?

Millions are longing for the return of prosperity, meaning, of course, the return of conditions as they were prior to 1929. But is our need material prosperity or something else?

We recall that back in 1929, when we were reveling in the greatest prosperity any people ever knew, and when we were wasting our substance in riotous expenditures, a great bit was being said about even GREATER prosperity. Up almost to the day when the bottom fell out and we were plunged unto one of the most distressing economic depressions the world has perhaps ever known, newspaper men and business men were urging us on to wilder extravagances, assuring us that greater prosperity was yet to be ours.

But in the midst of our prosperity-revel some of us were warning against the inherent dangers of material wealth. We sounded the warning, not because we claimed to be shrewder or more far-sighted than those "greater-prosperity prophets," but because we believe that for prosperity, or even civilizations itself, to be enduring, they must be built upon something more substantial than mere material values. We need to give attention to the laws of righteousness and to spiritual values. The writer of Proverbs had doubtless learned something from experience as well as from observation that led him to say: "Righteousness exalteth a nation," and "Riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven." Jesus also knew what he was saying when he advised: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness." The eternal principles stated here are still operative, and both business men and government officials will do well to heed them. No people can steal, and

(Continued on Page Six)

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Wednesday, November 9

MORNING SESSION

10:00—Conference called to order.
Roll call.
Worship, conducted by the President of the Conference, Rev. S. W. Taylor, D.D.
10:30—Conference Sermon, preached by Rev. C. W. Bates, D.D., Pastor of Calvary Church, Greensboro.
11:30—Roll call of our honored dead. (Conference standing).
Observance of the Lord's Supper, Rev. R. M. Andrews, D.D., in charge.
12:30—Adjournment.

AFTERNOON SESSION

1:30—Hymn.
Conference called to order.
Roll call.
Worship (10 minutes) in charge of Rev. G. W. Holmes.
2:00—Annual Message of the President.
Passing of the President's character.
3:00—Election: President, Secretary, Treasurer, Statistical Secretary, Reporter, Lay Member of the Stationing Committee, Committee on Appeals.
3:30—Address by Rev. W. A .Melvin, Secretary of Evangelism of the General Church.
Adjourn at Pleasure.

EVENING SESSION

7:30—Program of music by the High Point College Choir. Professor E. B. Stimson, head of the music department of the College, will be in charge.
8:00—Official address of Rev. J. C. Broomfield, D.D., President of the General Conference.

Thursday, November 10

MORNING SESSION

9:00—Hymn.
Conference called to order.
Roll call.
Minutes of Wednesday's Session.
10:00—Submitting of pastors' reports.
10:00—Business session.
11:00—High Point College, the President, Gideon I. Humphreys, D.D., presiding.
Official address by Rev. F. W. Stephenson, D.D., Executive Secretary of the Board of Christian Education.
12:00—Adjournment.

AFTERNOON SESSION

1:30—In view of the fact that it is the custom of the Conference to have no afternoon session on Thursday, in order that the committees may have time for their work, the Program Committee has made no provision for this period.

BUT NOTE THIS: Thursday is Women's Day.

At 9:30 the lady visitors for High Point College will meet.

At 10:00 a. m. the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Branch will be in session, and will adjourn at 11 a. m. to meet again at 1 p. m.

At 2:30 p. m. the women will meet in the auditorium of the conference church for a great inspirational meeting. Dr. G. W. Haddaway, Executive Secretary of the Board of Missions, and Dr. F. W. Stephenson, Executive Secretary of the Board of Christian Education, will address this meeting, and answer questions about the work of these two boards.

All men who are not doing committee work are urged to attend this meeting.

EVENING SESSION—A MISSIONARY PROGRAM

This program is given under the auspices of the North Carolina Branch of Women's Work. The President, Mrs. W. C. Hammer, will preside.

7:30—Program of songs and recitations by children from the Children's Home.
8:00—Pageant, "The Challenge," given by the Young People of Mt. Pleasant Church, Mt. Pleasant Charge.

Friday, November 11

MORNING SESSION

9:00—Hymn and prayer.
Conference called to order. Roll call.
Minutes of Thursday's session.
9:30—Worship. Speaker, Rev. B. J. Peeler, Pastor of the First Reformed Church, Burlington.
10:00—Business session.
10:30—Report of special committees: To Adult Treasurer's Books; Directing Committee of HERALD 3,000 Subtion Campaign.
Report of regular committees: METHODIST PROTESTANT HERALD; Ordinances; Official Character.
Report of standing committees: Church Music; Church Extension and Survey; Stewardship; Evangelism; Consolidation of Rural Churches; Standing District Committee; Boundary Committee; Conference Council of Religious Education.
12:00—Adjournment.

AFTERNOON

1:30—Hymn and prayer.
Conference called to order.
1:40—Business session.
Report of Committee on Methodist Co-operation.
2:00—Address of Fraternal Messengers.
3:00—Address by Dr. R. L. Shipley, Editor of the Methodist Protestant-Recorder.
3:30—Address by Rev. G. W. Haddaway, Executive Secretary of the Board of Missions.
4:00—Business session.
Adjourn at pleasure.

EVENING SESSION

Rev. T. J. Whitehead, President of the Conference Council of Religious Education, presiding.
7:30—Music.
7:45—Pageant, given by the C. E. Society of High Point College.
8:30—Address by Rev. F. L. Gibbs, Executive Secretary of the Department of Religious Education of the Board of Christian Education.

Saturday, November 12

MORNING SESSION

9:00—Hymn and prayer.
Conference called to order. Roll call.
Minutes of Friday's session.
9:30—Worship. Speaker, Rev. E. Fulenwider, Pastor of First Luteran Church, Burlington.
10:00—Business Session. Report of the following committees: President's Message; Pastoral Work; Parsonages; Social Reform; Rural Church.
10:30—Children's Home, Mr. J. M. Millikan, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, presiding.

11:00—Meeting of the Conference Brotherhood.
12:00—Adjournment.

Afternoon Session

1:30—Hymn and prayer.
Conference called to order.
1:40—Reports of standing boards: Conference Council of Religious Education; Conference Trustees; Trustees District Parsonages; Board of Church Extension; Superannuate Fund Society; Trustees of Roberts Bequest Fund; Board of Education; Conference Faculty.
2:30—Address by Dr. Fred Garrigus Holloway, President of Westminster Theological Seminary.
3:00—Business Session.
Report of committees: Missions, Literature and Christian Character; Christian Education; Financing the Church; Pulpit Supply.
Adjourn at pleasure.

Evening

The Program Committee suggests that we have no session tonight.

Sunday, November 13

Morning

9:30—Sunday School in Conference church.
11:00—Ordination service. The ordination sermon will be preached by Rev. T. M. Johnson, D.D., pastor of Mt. Pleasant charge.
The music for this service will be in charge of the conference church choir.

Afternoon

2:30—Memorial service in honor of the following who have have passed into the great beyond during the year: Sister Garrett, widow of Rev. J. N. Garrett; and Rev. R. E. Andrews.
3:00—Laymen's Meeting. Mr. J. B. Hicks of Henderson, Chairman of the Laymen's Organization in the conference, will preside.
4:00—Adjournment.

Evening

7:30—Worship in the conference church. Music in charge of church choir.
Sermon.

Monday, November 14

Morning Session

9:00—Hymn and prayer.
Conference called to order. Roll call.
Minutes of Saturday and Sunday.
9:30—Worship. Speaker, Rev. W. A. Cade, Pastor of Front Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South.
10:00—Business session.
Report of the following conference officers: Treasurer, Secretary, Statistical Secretary, Reporter.
Report of Committee on Fraternal Relations.
Report of Nominating Committee.
Reading of today's minutes.
Report of Stationing Committee.
12:00—Final Adjournment.

S. W. Taylor,
C. W. Bates,
F. W. Paschall,
Program Committee.

—Can a man do better with his life than Jesus did with his? Can he do better than give his life for others in service, in helpfulness, and in prayer?—Vernon Bullock.

THE FULFILLMENT OF THE INDIVIDUAL

What is the purpose of life? What is the chief end of man? What is the desire of Jesus for men?

"The chief end of man is to glorify God, and to enjoy Him forever." I well remember the first time I ever heard that answer quoted from the Catechism. At the time I was nineteen years old—my religious education, many would say, having been seriously neglected, though I have never thought so.

The catechism answer impressed me as dignified, and I was interested. But I was not then, nor have I at any time since been entirely satisfied with it.

I can't conceive of a worth-while God being greatly concerned with being glorified. I have seen fathers, ministers, officials, and other self-important people, interested interested in being glorified—but they and their ambition never make a favorable impression on my mind.

Some of the other answers to the questions proposed have been: To be good; to do good in the world; to do God's will; to advance the kingdom of God; to build a Christian society; to find salvation; to rescue a lost world; to save people from their sins.

All these answers are important, and should be emphasized in varying degrees at various times and under varying conditions. They, however, call attention to minor matters rather than emphasizing the central idea.

Better than any one of them, I like the statement of Jesus: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Or, in the words that the title of this article specially uses: The primary purpose of Jesus concerning us—and the purpose of each person concerning himself should be—the fulfillment of the individual. As a matter of course the accomplishing of this purpose will result in what the other answers have in mind, and in many other things as well.

What is an individual? He includes mind and body. He is a personal being. He is also social—connected with a family, a community, and with various social, intellectual, religious, and political organizations. He is concerned with industry and business and may be tied up with financial institutions.

I know many people—babies, boys and girls, young men and women, older men and women. Association with them in various ways affords great satisfaction. I like a baby as a baby, filled out, healthy, clean, and wholesome—a real baby. In the same way I like a boy, a girl—genuinely boyish or girlish. I enjoy young men and women who have made a worthy start in life and are full of hope and promise. Men and women in the maturity of their powers, meeting life's responsibilities, doing life's tasks, and enjoying the rational use of their faculties and powers are good to know and are full of splendid interest. I don't like to see a ten-year-old boy acting like a fifty-year-old man. I don't want to see a fifty-year-old woman frisking about like her fourteen-year-old daughter, and I don't want young people to be living like babies.

What we all want to see is: Each person at his own age, in his own sphere, fulfilling his mission, acting out his own developing personality, doing the things that are fitting for such a person to do—enjoying himself and his life, enjoying others, and helping to keep in circulation the good gifts of God.

As soon as there came to be a considerable number of individuals in the world, the problem of their relations at once came to the front. And the closer these individuals were thrown together the more insistent became the necessity for mutual understanding and the adjustment of rights and duties. Two things, to be specific, had to be considered and adjusted—freedom, and restraint. These together have been, and are, the great problems of human relationships.

Without freedom, no man can be what his faculties and powers prophesy he can, and should, be. Without restraint of the individual no other human being can enjoy the freedom that is absolutely essential for the fulfillment of his possibilities. It is the old case of the railroad corporation and the steamboat company.

A railroad corporation wanted to cross the Mississippi river by building a bridge. The steamboat company objected on the ground that the bridge would interfere with navigation, and they sought by a court order to prevent its being built. Abraham Lincoln, as attorney for the railroad, contended that one person had as much right to cross the river as another had to go up or down the river. When there was a conflict of interests, so he maintained, the two rights or freedoms had to be adjusted by two restraints. Mr. Lincoln, very justly, won the suit for his clients on that commonsense contention.

Just what freedoms are to be allowed, and just what restrictions are to be imposed, become everyday practical problems all through life. How much restraint and how much freedom are to be imposed on or granted to children by their parents? How liberal or how strict are school teachers and church officers to be? How much prohibition and how much license are to enter into the customs and policies of social and sexual life?

These are spheres for intelligent and conscientious thinking and living. I wish to make suggestions along three lines:

1. What may be profitable for mature folks may not always be permitted to young people and children. The kinds of food and drink to be served vary with the age and condition of the hungry. The hours for retiring at night and rising in the morning are not the same for all members of the family. Permission to attend parties of various sorts should depend on several things. Whatever may be said concerning the tobacco habit as it applies to grown men and women, it would seem to be entirely unwise and harmful in the case of boys and girls. Freedom in sexual relations is restrained by the age of the parties and by marriage conventions and customs that have been developing through many centuries. This does not, of course, preclude changes of conventions and customs in the future, even as there have come about changes in the past.

2. It is fine when, by means of conference together, parents and children consider and settle among themselves the problems of freedom and restraint, to the satisfaction of both parties. It is exceedingly gratifying to boys and girls to be consulted, and to feel that they have a real and substantial part in determining policies. This does not, of course, do away with the right, and the duty, of wise parents to act in the capacity of a court of last resort and to make decisions which are to be accepted without possibility of reversal—an exercise of authority which, however, parents will use as sparingly as possible. The Bible and the teachings of the world's wise men of all times will be used, and children will be accustomed to take these into account in forming their judgments.

3. Churches and ministers have been known to be rather slow in making adjustments in the conflicts between freedom and restraint. The policy frequently used seems to be: Allow freedom only when you can no longer prevent it. The result is that an uncomfortable ragged edge is developed. Church rules are broken, unnecessary strains on conscience are felt, and many young persons relinquish—and, too often, never regain—interest in the church. A smaller number of rules and regulations would be better. A more friendly and vital relation between the church and minister and young folks—after the style of parents and children in the best type of homes—would help a lot.

Freedom and restraint are matters in which young people are vitally interested. As a rule, they are just as honest and just as desirous of doing right as are their elders. Moreover, it is their lives and destinies that are at stake and—if they have been at all well brought up—they may be depended upon to use their heads on these problems at least as effectively as former generations have used theirs.

Luther K. Long.

The Herald Campaign

Whatever is done for the Herald this Conference year must be done in the next two weeks. Have you realized how short the time is? The paid in subscriptions this year are still less than 1,000, and far below even last year. Brethren, are we going to let this remain so? A great many of our Pastors have reported poundings, but there is no one to pound our Editor. We hear in politics a lot said about the "Forgotten Man," and here in our own denomination we have one that could almost qualify for that title. Weekly we accept the Herald from the Editor at a cost to him that is greater than the income.

The Editor is dependent on paid subscriptions to pay the running expenses and so far they lack many, many dollars of being sufficient. Again I ask the question, what are we going to do about it? I have appealed to the subscription chairman at each church. I have appealed to the Pastors. Who will now respond and raise their quota? A great amount can be done in these two weeks if you have the Herald's interest at heart. Yes, it takes hard work, but won't you put out whatever is necessary in just the next two weeks and raise your quota? Renewals count the same as new subscriptions. Again I appeal to every one who loves the Herald to come to its aid. And when the results are in and counted, may you not be in among the missing.

Yours for the Herald,
E. L. Douglas, Chairman
Directing Committee.

October 17, 1932.

OPTIMISM EVANGELISM

The President's Letter

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

This Is Cheer-Up Station COBO, High Point, N. C.

Here we are with more Cheer-ups: The Mocksville charge has just underpinned the parsonage and built cement front steps. The underpinning is rock and cement. This has greatly improved the appearance of the parsonage and added much to the comfort of the occupants. Pastor Ferree and his family are greatly pleased with this improvement. We congratulate the charge.

Several men were working on the South Winston church as we passed by last Saturday morning. Windows are being put in and the basement is being prepared for a heating plant. Temporary pews have also been secured and are already in the church. The building will be ready for use this winter. Since our last report one more dollar has been received—this time from a man. All other contributions have been from women. Let's help this church! Next?

The Sunday School of Weaverville has paid allotment for C. C. R. E. (Young People's Work). The A. C. B. has been paid in full by this church, also.

Zion church, Weaverville charge, will pay A. C. B. in full, and we are hopeful for the allotment to Sunday School and C. E. society at this church for C. C. R. E.

The parsonage on Democrat charge is being rebuilt, and the pastor expects to occupy it soon. The charge is showing pleasing interest in this project.

The Weaverville charge has added a bathroom to the parsonage during the year and also underpinned the house. We heartily commend these charges for these improvements.

Pleasant Grove will pay salary in full, also A. C. B. and special for Superannuates.

This completes our CHEER-UP program today. Watch for us again at the usual time next week.

Weaverville Charge

According to appointment we were with this charge in the fourth quarterly conference Saturday night, October 15, and preached in the three churches of the charge on the following Sunday. The quarterly conference was well-attended, with all churches represented. The pastor's report indicated progress during the year. Each church has a Sunday School, and Weaverville church and Mt. Zion have live C. E. societies. Weaverville has an active Auxiliary and the pastor is hopeful of an Auxiliary at Mt. Zion. Revivals were held at all churches of the charge, and with good results. Seventeen new members have been received into the church during the year. The pastor's report showed that he had made 515 visits. We noted that no special days were observed on the charge and that neither church makes regular offerings to the Children's Home. We trust that improvements may be made in the matters next year. The financial condition of the work is not so good, as is true of many charges now. Salary is much in arrears, and but little has been paid on budgets. However, the people will bestir themselves, and we trust that much more may be done by the time the year closes. Pastor Cowan announced that officers would be elected at each church and duly installed before the close of the year, and class books revised. He will give himself earnestly to the work of these closing weeks, and we trust that the results may be gratifying to him and to the charge. It was a pleasure to us to be on this work and to share with the people their problems, as well as their hopes and aims for the future. We wish, also, to express our grateful appreciation to Brother and Sister Cowan and to Brother Ester Roberts and his family for the kind hospitality of their homes.

Faithful

We do not know of any thing that will contribute more to the successful closing of this conference year than for pastors and people just to be faithful. Unless we guard ourselves against it, we are liable to be unduly deterred by the depression, and thereby fail to do what we would otherwise do, and what we can do, if we keep the virtue of faithfulness strong and active. Just as a ''faithful man shall abound with blessings,'' so shall a faithful charge. We beseech you, therefore, brethren, ministers and laiety, that for the special tasks of these closing days there may be faithfulness in abounding measure.

Pastors' Report Blanks

These have been mailed out early in order to give pastors time to obtain accurate information for the final reports of the year. Facts for our report to the Annual Conference will be gathered from these reports. We shall appreciate it, therefore, if pastors will make their reports as full and as accurate as possible. And please be sure, pastors, to have reports back to us by Monday, November 7th.

These Things Do

1. Take free-will offering for HERALD printing deficit.
2. Solicit HERALD subscriptions. Many subscriptions expire about this time.
3. Attend the fourth quarterly conference and make it a high mark in the year's work.
4. Be very reluctant to reduce salaries. The probability is that money will be easier next year.
5. Elect and install church officers.
6. Revise church register.
7. Pay salary in full, and every dollar possible on budgets.
8. Raise allotment for Young People's Work.
9. Pray for the Annual Conference.

Appointments

October 22.—Cleveland Charge.

October 23.—Connelly Springs.

October 26.—Pleasant Grove Charge in Quarterly Conference.

October 29.—Davidson charge in Quarterly Conference.

October 30.—Yadkin College, 11 A. M.
November 9.—Annual Conference.
"For we are labourers together with God."
"A faithful man shall abound with blessings."

Fraternally yours,
S. W. Taylor.

October 18, 1932.

S. O. S.! S. O. S.! S. O. S.!

This is a definite call to you, Brother Pastor, Brother Steward, Brother Church Member. It is a call for money. There, the cat is out of the bag; but it is to be hoped that you will not yell "scat"! and throw the paper into the waste basket, for if you do your treasurer will be left with nothing in his hands but an empty bag. Of course this would be no new experience for him, as he has done nothing all the year but hold on to an empty money bag. Now and then he would give the bag a squeeze in the hope that a dollar or two might fall out and gladden his heart and the heart of some hungry, emaciated beneficiary of the conference. Your treasurer has suffered anguish of soul akin to that experienced by the mother whose only child in the time of famine was dying by inches as it continually begged in plantive tones, "Give me another grain of corn, mother!" Have pity, brethren, and help in this time of dire distress. Now is the time for all good church members to come to the help of the conference treasury. Urge your people to share what they have with the church. This is no time to withhold from the Lord.

Geo. R. Brown, Treasurer.

PALESTINE BOOK BY BISHOP LEETE

Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston, permit me to release information to any Methodist papers which may care to use it that a new book from my pen will appear at some time during the month of November, it is hoped early in the month. The title is "Palestine, the Land of the Light." Rome has been considered the source of law and Greece of wisdom. Palestine is the home of religion, Christianity and Judaism having been born there and Mohammedanism being a derivative from the other two faiths.

The book contains twenty-three chapters. There are two maps, one of the physical contour of the land and the other of the important travel routes and towns. There are a few select illustrations. Much of the material is unusual. Palestine is pictured, with illustrative proof, as the world's living Bible. Great spectacles are described, among them the Latin, Greek, and Protestant Easter celebrations, the Jewish Passover, the foot-washing service, the miracle of the Holy Fire, and baptisms at the Jordan. Visits to notable personages include the High Priest of the Samaritans, the Mohammedan Grand Mufti, Emir Abdallah of Transjordania, one of Colonel Lawrence's heroes of "The Revolt in the Desert," together with leaders of the Zionist movement, and the American Colony.

A chapter is devoted to the flowers of the Holy Land; another to the homes of the Giants and Wee Men of ancient Palestine. Sacred places of Jerusalem, Bethlehem and Nazareth, visions from Olivet, Carmel, and Gilead, quaint old Jerusalem streets, and walks about the walls of the Capital, treasures of paleontology, stories of Philistia, Sharon, and Esdraelon, facts about the Zionist Crusade, and scenes about Blue Galilee are among the features of this volume.

Those who have traveled in Palestine will be able to renew old memories. Those who intend going there will find exact directions as to the most important objects to be seen. The book also furnishes illustrations for Bible students, teachers, and ministers of the Gospel.

F. D. Leete.

Is Our Need Prosperity or Something Else?

(Continued from Page One)

cheat, and lie, or even drink their way to a permanent prosperity.

Much is now being said about the return of better times. There is danger of us thinking and saying too much about the return of material prosperity, and overlooking more weighty matters. To regain prosperity in mere material things without having learned dependence upon God would be to make a colossal blunder; and to build another great monument to the god of prosperity without putting the proper emphasis upon spiritual and moral values would be a tragic mistake. Sir Alfred Ewing, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, referring to the results of what he calls the "sweeping pageant of discovery and invention," says, "Man was ethically unprepared for so great a bounty. In the slow evolution of morals he is still unfit for the tremendous responsibility it entails." Let us beware then, lest we make material gains at the risk of our immortal souls. To be enduring prosperity and civilization must have in them the spiritual element like the great steel frame that gives strength and stability to great concrete buildings.

Let us pray, not for the return of prosperity, but for the reign of righteousness, and all the prosperity that is good for our souls will be ours, for "all these things shall be added unto you." L. W. G.

WHOLLY DEDICATED

Two men were walking by the banks of a river at the twilight hour. One of them, quoting the words of a famous Christian worker, said, "The world has yet to see what God can do with one man wholly dedicated to Him." His companion stopped and said: "Say that again." Again his friend repeated with renewed emphasis: "The world has yet to see what God can do with one man wholly dedicated to Him." Lifting his hand in the twilight Dwight L. Moody, for it was he, said: "By the grace of God, I will be that man." And he went forth to do a work for God and His Kingdom such as has been given to but few of His servants. Here was the hiding of the great evangelist's power. Wholly dedicated to the will of God, he was transformed and filled by the Spirit of God, and went forth to do the work of God, "God's man, in God's place, doing God's work, in God's way," are the significant words of Hudson Taylor as to the place for the life of every true servant of God.—Jas. H. McConkey, in "The Surrendered Life."

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Jesus exhorted the multitudes not to trouble themselves about their eating, drinking, nor their clothing: assuring them that their heavenly Father, who feeds the birds and clothes the grass, will feed and clothe them. Jesus tells them that the Gentiles (pagans) make all these things their aim in life. Here Jesus appears to lay down a definition of a pagan life. Since we all know so many, doing the very things Jesus said pagans did, we shudder as we face the stern reality. But he who goes through life seeking material things; and ignores, neglects, refuses the things of God, is as much pagan living on an American boulevard as in an African jungle.

A natural question would be, What punishment will be meted out to these modern pagans? Scriptural precedents are not very comforting. The man, who buried his talent; and the man who went to the wedding feast without the wedding-garment, were both cast out into outer darkness, where there was weeping and gnashing of teeth. All those invited to the great supper, and formed their own excuses for not attending, were just preoccupied with legitimate worldly affairs. In the eyes of Jesus business, labor and social engagements were not legitimate grounds for excusing them. Since none of these were guilty of any flagrant sin the punishments may appear rather severe. But can one reared in Christian America, and ignoring and throwing away all his God given opportunities, expect to be beaten with fewer stripes!

Jesus made the way so plain that both wayfaring men and fools should not err therein. "But seek ye first the kingdom of heaven and his righteousness." The expressions, "My kingdom," "The kingdom of God," and "The kingdom of heaven," all symbolize the same thing, namely, religion. The greatest depression the churches have to fight today is not material, but a spiritual one. The supreme need is for more, who will put the kingdom of God first, in standpoint of time and in importance. God wants the whole life and not the fag-end of it. That number should be vastly increased, who will pray for more religion to help them unto God, before praying for daily bread. It is far better to have what Peter and John had, than to have silver and gold. The greatest gifts to the world's progress have come from the poor, in the things of this world; but rich in faith and devotion to ideals. "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head." The Apostles left their all and followed Him.

"Righteousness" symbolizes the trait of character that should dominate Christians. It will manifest itself in the enrichment of the inner man. Jesus had that in mind when He said, "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled." It will also manifest itself in deeds of love and mercy, through which the heavenly kingdom comes. The religion of the sermon on the Mount and that defined by James agree. The Christian religion results in making one want to both be something, and do something. "Faith without works is dead."

Professor James Moffatt translates the later clause of this well-known passage of Scripture, as follows, "that will be yours over and above." Christians will receive the kingdom and his righteousness, and have all these material things added unto them also. Surely, the reward for putting first things first should be compelling. Has not Christ pointed out the way to material prosperity? After we have tried man's way and failed, is it not about time that we should seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and look for the fulfillment of this gracious promise! Amen!

W. A. LEDFORD.

TAKE THE DIMNESS OF MY SOUL AWAY

At church Sunday morning a young man sang a beautiful tenor solo. His voice was clear and good, his manner quiet and modest, and the large congregation was interested and evidently uplifted.

I ask no dream, no prophet ecstacies,
No sudden rending of the veil of clay,
No angel visitant, no op'ning skies;
But take the dimness of my soul away.

That he might have clearness of thought, openness of vision, readiness of insight, the removal of dimness and dullness from the powers of spiritual perception—this was the prayer so beautifully expressed by the poet, the composer, and the singer.

Dimness of soul may be self-caused, or a result of bad surroundings, or it may be a consequence of failure to open the heart to the light and beauty of God. The soul that is worldly, or that gives itself to positive sin, thereby dims itself and makes impossible clear and definite vision. The person who purposely pitches his tent toward the Sodom of mere material good is surrounding himself with a dimness that is bound to affect his soul. The individual who habitually, and to any degree, closes his spiritual eyes to the pure light of God's truth and love, is seriously dimming his soul.

The best remedies for dimness of soul are prayer, fellowship with God's people in worship and service, and the habit of yielding to the leadership of God's good Spirit. May the thoughts of the following hymn aid in taking away the dimness of our souls:

He leads us on by paths we did not know;
Upward he leads us, though our steps be slow;
Though oft we faint and falter on the way,
Though storms and darkness oft obscure the day,
Yet when the clouds are gone,
We know he leads us on.

He leads us on through all the unquiet years;
Past all our dream-land hopes, and doubts, and fears
He guides our steps; through all the tangled maze
Of losses, sorrows, and o'er-clouded-days
We know his wlil is done,
And still he leads us on.

And he, at last—after the weary strife,
After the restless fever we call life,
After the dreariness, the aching pain,
The wayward struggles which have proved in vain,
After our toils are past—
Will give us rest at last.

LUTHER K. LONG.

OUR STORY PAGE

EDUCATION AND EDNA

"I'm tired of all this talk about being patient," said Edna vehemently. "How can I be patient when I'm getting older every minute and with never a chance to do the things I wish! You needn't say one is never too old for education, Aunt Jane Whalen. And you needn't tell me any nonsense about a twenty-year-old man who began in a primary class, or any white-haired old lady who went to college! I want to get my education when other girls of my age get theirs."

"I should say you have a very good foundation," remarked Aunt Jane mildly.

"Foundation!—oh, Aunt Jane! None of you seem to understand how I feel beside the other girls. Grace with all her domestic science training—you ought to hear her. Some one spilled coffee on her beautiful lunchcloth yesterday, but she was as cool and self-contained. 'It is really nothing to remove,' she said in that assured way knowledge brings.

"And there is Janet with her college training. You just cannot 'stump' Janet on any subject, she is so broad-minded. She and Professor Hathkin discussed the Income Tax at tea today and I had to sit by as dumb as an oyster. Then everyone thinks Betty's colonial hobby so charming. After you have heard her talk you feel as if it were your duty to know all the old bedquilt patterns by name and all about braided mats and Hepplewhite designs. You may say what you like, Aunt Jane, those things make people interesting, and it is because of education—the thing I've had to miss!"

"Yes, it is education—knowing things," Aunt Jane admitted again. "If you will spend next Monday in the laundry while Mary Maloney is here I'll venture she can teach you as much about removing stains as Grace can possibly know."

"Mary Maloney!" Edna's tone breathed scorn.

"Mary Maloney is the best laundress in this town and that is saying a great deal. I imagine it would be highly instructive to hear a discussion between Mary and Grace's Domestic Science instructor!

"And there was no excuse for you to sit dumb while Janet and the professor discussed politics. This house is overrun with papers and magazines, and your father explained this very Income Tax question very clearly and ably at dinner less than a week ago.

"As for Betty's very charming hobby—did you know she has begged an invitation to visit your Grandmother Brooks just for the privilege of seeing all the treasures stored away in the old house and of listening to the dear old lady's reminiscences? Yet you find it unbearably stupid at Grandmother Brooks!"

"You mean—what do you mean?" demanded Edna suspiciously.

"I mean that the one way and the only way of obtaining an education is by paying attention. College is a fine thing, schools of any sort are fine, but you will learn little at any of them unless you understand the art of paying attention. But if you do pay attention you will acquire knowledge. It matters not greatly whether you get it at college or in your own library, at Grandmother Brooks' beautiful old colonial farmhouse or down in the laundry with Mary Maloney. If you are 'paying attention' you will be ready for your opportunity when it comes. But if you are not paying attention, you'll very likely not see the opportunity at all."—Publisher Unknown.

JUDGE NOT

"Alice is just the meanest, stingiest old thing," exclaimed Constance when she came in from school one night.

"Why, Constance! That isn't a very nice thing to say about one of your little friends," said her mother.

"Well, she is. If it isn't nice to say, it isn't nice to be it, either. She had some candy today. I know, because I saw her come out of the candy store with it. She pushed it down into her school-bag where she thought we wouldn't see it, and she never once offered to divide. Before I'd be so stingy! The rest of us always pass it around, when we have a treat."

"Better wait awhile before judging Alice," advised her mother.

The next day Alice's mother came to see Constance's mother, to borrow a pattern and to visit a little.

That night when Constance came home from school her mother said to her, "I know why Alice did not pass it around at school! I'll tell you, and then you may tell me if you did not judge too quickly, without giving her a chance to explain. It was a package of little red spice candies for little lame Peter's birthday cake. Somewhere he had seen one with the name written in red candies on the white frosting, and a red border. His mother said he had been talking about it for weeks. They like to do what they can to please him, because he has so few of the pleasures other boys of his age have."

Constance looked sober. She had called Alice mean and stingy, when she was saving a treat for her little lame brother! She remembered how she and the other girls who had seen Alice coming from the candy store had whispered about it, until almost all the children in the room thought she was selfish and just wanted to keep her goodies for herself.

"Mamma," she said, "may I go over there now and take Peter one of my baby rabbits? I'll tell the girls about it tomorrow, so we can make it up to Alice. They'll be nice to her when I tell them, I know. I'm sorry I didn't know what it was for."

"Remember, dear," said mother, "that there are always things we do not know, and many times what looks wrong can be explained. Unless we are very certain we know all sides of a matter we should not judge. The Bible tells us, 'Judge not, that ye be not judged'. For others will be just as likely to judge you harshly when they do not understand."

"When I think any one else is mean or horrid, I'll just remember about Alice and crippled Peter," said Constance. "Then I guess I'll wait until I find out the truth about it."—Dew Drops.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for October 23, 1932:

WHAT ATTEMPTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO SOLVE THE LIQUOR PROBLEMS AND WITH WHAT RESULTS?

Scripture Text—Matthew 7:16 20

The history of prohibition is almost a romance. It is a powerful appeal to imaginative people and a challenger of the heroic in any individual. It has not been a quasi and half-hearted conviction, it has been the result of forethought and earnest desire on the part of those who have effected it. The fight for prohibition was won by real ardor and courage for the resistance offered by the opposition was as strenuous then as it is now. For one to stand out for the reform places him in the forefront of the battle. Those things which have become grounded in people from long use are not given up without resistance. The brewers were the friends of the liquor traffic and the arch-enemies of those who favored prohibition; the situation has not changed, the brewery interests are still opposed to prohibition.

We, who favor the observance of law, should look with respect on those whose prophetic insight and courage led them forward in the fight for a dry nation. It has come to us as a legacy but they fought ardently for their convictions. The pioneers of prohibition were valiant souls who had a conviction and were willing to be martyrs to the cause that they knew was right. If we consider that it is hard to report a person for violating the Eighteenth Amendment, we would recall what it was like to face thousands before there was a law to back us up. We have lost the soul of the pioneer if we are too weak to fight for what has been proved to be good for the group and for individual advancement. There is a fight for us as well as they, but thanks be unto God for such consecrated men and women as those who fought for prohibition and faced persecution and ridicule for the cause of righteousness.

The process of prohibition has been a gradual one. First there came the attempt to regulate the liquor traffic. This was a good attempt in its day but it is antiquated. Regulation was rather unsuccessful for those who favor free liquor are not disposed or of the caliber to be honest. Local and county option followed. This was a forward step but it is evident to thinking people that it is impracticable today to have this as a regulation. The world has become a community and local districts are still closer. State prohibition was the next step with Maine and Kansas leading in the enterprise. This was an accomplishment but it met the needs of the hour and is not the standard for our age. National prohibition was the consummation of the great event and the friends of progress and civic advancement rejoiced at the triumph. We have come into possession of the great heritage and as loyal friends of right and of the laws of our nation we are ready to fight that it may be conserved. It is reasonable that no change can be effected except state rights. The states are separate and distinct units and the national government cannot legislate the free sale and use of alcohol on the individual states. We need not be alarmed that North Carolina can ever be cursed with the evil but if some states legalize the sale of liquor the chances for enforcement are weakened.

The example set by America was noteworthy. This nation is the hero of most of the smaller nations and the work that has been done in prohibition may have rich effect in later years. While the United States was making itself felt in world affairs by aiding the smaller nations just after the World War, it also set a precedent by enacting national prohibition. The bettered position of the citizens of this country has recommended prohibition to other nations. What would be the reaction of other people if the leader reverts to the curse of the open saloon? There is a moral obligation that America hold fast to the things that have been won for the cause of righteousness.

A whole generation was educated to the values of prohibition before it became a national opinion. After it was won the friends and supporters sat down and let the wets take their course. The thinkers of our age must awake and let the rising generation know the true value of prohibition and the curse of the open saloon.

There is no proposition advanced by the wets that has not been tried and failed. Total national prohibition is the only safe and sane remedy and the forces of right must unite to see that the ground won by Carrie Nation, Frances E. Willard and other men and women, is retained. Is there as much valor today for the cause of prohibition as in former days? Shall the noble work so admirably begun be forgotten in this day of disregard of aesthetic values? They fought the good fight of faith for God and righteousness.

◆

WHEN YOU COME HOME

When you come home tonight,
I know what you will say:
"I made a lot of money,
It's been my busy day!"

Business is your hobby,
Your one and only aim;
For us no variation,
The days are all the same.

Many men are like you,
Slaves to money greed;
Everything for business,
Naught the soul to feed.

But I wait on in patience,
Sometime, I know, you'll say:
"My dear, I'm done with business,
We start to live today!"

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

—The way to preserve the peace of the church is to preserve the purity of it.—Matthew Henry.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Welch Memorial Sunday school	$ 5.00
Siler City Sunday school	3.15
First Church S. S., S. Lexington	3.50
Midway S. S., Midway-Shady Grove	1.00
First church S. S., Winston-Salem	15.17
Hickory Ridge, Forsyth	4.76
Friendship S. S., Shiloh	2.25
Stony Knoll S. S., W. Forsyth	2.08
Pleasant Hill S. S., Spring Church	1.00
Creswell S. S.	5.00
Bethany S. S., Randolph	1.70
Shoals S. S., Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	2.00
Gibsonville S. S.	9.94
Philathea Class, Gibsonville, feeding child	5.00
Harmony Grove S. S., W. Forsyth	2.50
Mrs. Susan Gray, Harmony Grove	1.00
Pleasant Union S. S., Mt. Pleasant	1.80
West End, Greensboro	6.00
New Hope, Vance	2.00
Asheville S. S.	5.00
Shiloh S. S., Randolph	2.30
Fountain Place S. S.	5.08
Bethany S. S., Flat Rock	3.00
Moriah S. S., Liberty-Moriah	10.50
Worthville S. S., Randleman	2.10
Flat Rock, Vance	2.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

Harvest-Home donation from Orange Circuit: 154 quarts of canned fruits and vegetables, preserves and pickles, 9 chickens, 5 dresses, 1 sweater, 1 boy's suit, 1 overcoat, 1 gallon molasses, 3 cakes soap, 1 bundle onion sets and 1 bottle vanilla extract..

Mrs. C. E. Julian, Randolph Circuit, 5 pair shoes.

Mr. C. T. Surratt, Denton, N. C., 220 pencils, 1 pair shoes and a box of toys.

We greatly appreciate these gifts in money and in substance. What Orange Circuit has done so splendidly all our charges can do, and it will help wonderfully through the winter months.

A number of charges are already working up their Harvest-Home offerings.

Twenty Days Till Conference

When the Herald reaches you this week there will be just 20 days left before Conference. That means just one more offering for the Home before Conference. Please make it a good one, and just as soon as it is taken please forward to us immediately so it may get into our report to Conference.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is almost here. So far as our giving is concerned, that day is set apart as a time to give for the support of orphan homes. We hope all our people will plan to make a sacrificial offering to your Home on or near Thanksgiving Day.

We thank you and may God bless you every one.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

RADIO FROM WINSTON

The pastor and the choir of the First Methodist Protestant church will broadcast the regular Sunday afternoon devotional service under the auspices of the Winston-Salem Ministers' Association next Sunday afternoon, October 23, from 5 to 5:30 o'clock over station WSJS, Winston-Salem.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

WOMAN'S DAY AT CONFERENCE THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10

Children from the Home on the Evening Program. Pageant by Mt. Pleasant Auxiliary.

Thursday, November 10, is Woman's Day at Conference. Mrs. S. S. Coe, chariman of the visiting committee for High Point college, has called a meeting of the College Visiting Committee for 9:30 a. m. The Executive Committee will meet at 10:30 and adjourn at 11:00 o'clock for the High Point college hours, and will re convene at 1:30 p. m. Dr. George K. Haddaway, secretary of the Board of Missions, and Dr. F. W. Stephenson, secretary of the Board of Christian Education, will speak from 2:00 to 3:00 p. m. of the work of their boards, and opportunity will be given for questions concerning changes made at the recent General Conference, work in the home lands and on the foreign fields. The evening session will consist of a program by the children from the Children's Home and a pageant, "The Challenge," by the Mt. Pleasant auxiliary, after which an offering will be taken for Rev. and Mrs. Minnis, our missionaries in India. The North Carolina branch obligated to assume their support and have not been able to do so. The Mission Board has sent Mr. Minnis from May 1, 1931, to October 12, 1932, $1,950. The North Carolina branch has sent only $1,555.19 of this amount, consequently the board has advanced $394.81 and it is hoped that each auxiliary will send an offering to conference to cover this deficit at least.

Miss Hodges will be unable to get to North Carolina by Conference but will arrive soon afterwards and will visit various churches in the interest of the work. Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, chairman of Districts, will have charge of her itinerary. All those wanting Miss Hodges will please notify Mrs. Nicholson, Mebane, N. C., at once.

Let us have a real Rally Day of women at Burlington November 10th.

MRS. Wm. C. HAMMER,
Pres. N. C. Branch, Women's Work.
Asheboro, N. C., Oct. 17, 1932.

EXECUTIVE OFFICERS MEETING

The executive officers of the North Carolina Branch of Women's Work met on Monday, October 11, with Mrs. C. L. Whitaker for the purpose of planning a program for women's day at Conference Dr. C. W. Bates and Dr. S. W. Taylor, members of the program committee, were invited to be present.

The devotional service was conducted by Dr. Taylor. Since Miss Hodges could not come to our Branch until after Conference, other speakers were suggested to present the plans adopted by the General Conference for the work of Missions and Education. The following program for the day was adopted:

Thursday, November 10

9:30 a. m. Meeting of the Board of Lady Visitors for the College.

10:00 a. m.—Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Branch. Devotional study of one of the "Studies in the Portrait of Jesus," the devotional book recommended by the educational committee of Women's Work, followed by a business session of one hour. Adjourn to attend Conference session.

1:00 p. m.—Meeting of the Executive Committee. Devotional, study of "The Portrait of Jesus."

2:30 p. m.—Inspirational and informative addresses by Dr. G. W. Haddaway, on Missions; Dr. F. W. Stephenson, on Education. Discussion. Adjournment.

7:30 p. m.—Program preesnted by the Children's Home.

8:00 p. m.—Pageant, "The Challenge," presented by the Auxiliary of Mount Pleasant church. Special offering for Mr. Minnis. Adjournment.

The following resolutions were adopted:

1. That Dr. Taylor be asked to incorporate in his report to the Annual Conference a recommendation that the money raised by the Auxiliaries for the College be credted on the Annual Conference Budget in their respective churches.
2. That Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, chairman of Districts, be given entire charge of the itinerary of Miss Hodges in our Branch with the privilege of calling on anyone she wishes to assist her.

Miss Hodges will arrive in North Carolina November 16, ready to begin work immediately, and all the District Chairmen are urged to co-operate with Mrs. Nicholson in planning her visits so as to cover the most ground at the least expense. It is believed that a silver offering taken at each appointment, and a liberal use of cars will be sufficient for her expenses. Of course her entertainment will be taken care of through the hospitality of our women.

We are looking forward to Women's Day at Conference to give a new vision, new consecration and new enthusiasm to the women of our churches, and to our preachers and delegates. We are expecting a large attendance. Begin now to make your plans to attend this meeting. Please do not forget to plan for the offering for Mr. Minnis. We must take care of our own workers.

Through the courtesy of Mrs Whitaker and the College the members of the committee were entertained at luncheon in the College dining room.

MRS. GEO. R. BROWN, Cor. Sec.

SPIRITUAL LIFE DEPARTMENT

We are glad to give to you this article by our beloved Dr. S. K. Spahr, of Grace Church. The women of the N. C. Branch will deeply appreciate this message from Dr. Spahr, whose life is an inspiration to young and old.

MRS. STONE, Secretary.

A CASTAWAY

Some things of real value and at one time very useful are cast aside. Who has not thrown into the wastebasket or placed high upon a shelf, out of the way, an article once much used and highly prized? Several fountain pens of early make cumber my desk drawer. I do not blame them, nor do I use them, but reach for one more perfect and up to date. The discarding of some instrument which once was useful stirs no great regret if in its place is found a better article. However, if the castaway be not a contrivance of man but a one-time servant of the Lord Jesus, then may angels weep as God's service suffers loss and one a little lower than the angels is cast away. That such a possibility and danger threatens every servant of our Lord is beyond contradiction. To whom does the great Apostle refer when in his message to the Corinthians he uses this term but himself, "Lest I be a castaway."

When we read this startling confession from such a mighty servant of God it should awaken within us ALL concern and self-examination. "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall!" We may be surprised to find where the danger was found lurking according to Paul. Not in his intellectual or spiritual being, his inner man, but in his body. Harken to his words: "I keep under my body and bring it into subjection; lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be cast-away." The body is a fine servant but a miserable and dangerous master. This truth is clearly evident found in the mournful record of fallen heroes, both in the world and, alas, also, in the church. Since the possibility of being castaway is ever with us all the more praise to ministers and leaders in the church, both men and women, who with the Apostle having finished their course are assured of the crown of righteousness that fadeth not away.

S. K. S.

ATTENTION, DISTRICT CHAIRMEN

First, Miss Olive I. Hodges will come to North Carolina just after Conference. We want her to visit each district and as nearly all of the churches as possible. The district chairman will please arrange for the appointments in her district. Miss Hodges is anxious to be kept busy trying to help us in any and every way to enlist our people in the great missionary program of our church. She will begin her work in District No. 1 and work up state. She will be there November 16th through 20th. Mrs. J. H. Cutchin, District Chairman, is arranging for appointments. I have written chairman of District No. 2 to take her next, and so on. Hope each chairman will bear this in mind and be ready to answer me immediately when I write you. Then I can keep the Branch informed through the Herald.

Second, Dr. J. E. Pritchard prepared the mission study book, "Facing a Future in Indian Missions" for District No. 14. He gave it in an interesting and helpful way. He volunteered to give it to others if you would like to have him. Any chairman or missionary education secretary will do her local Auxiliary or entire District a real service to have him review this book for you. Since it is not easy to do, and is required of us, if we are a standard Auxiliary I suggest you avail yourselves of this opportunity to have the review of this study book.

MRS. H. C. NICHOLSON,
Chairman of Districts.

◆

—Brother J. G. Rogers has moved his hosiery mill from Burlington to Denton.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Pleasant Grove Charge.—The fourth quarterly conference wil meet on Wednesday night the 26th of October, at 7 o'clock.

D. R. WILLIAMS.

Midland.—Our fourth quarterly conference will be held at Loves Grove on Tuesday after the fourth Sunday at 2 o'clock. Brother John L. Little is delegate-elect to Annual Conference.

This has been a good year for us in the mean. We have had more than 100 professions with 55 additions to the church.

Finances are behind, money is desperately scarce, but most of our stewards are putting forth a desperate effort to make good showing at conference.

We have some of the best here that you can find anywhere. We have received many expressions of kindness for which we are duly grateful.

W. D. REED.

First Church, Lexington.—As I have been elected reporter for our C. E. society, I am making my first report.

Our Christian Endeavor society is growing in interest under our president, Miss Maggie Lee Swink. We are having some very interesting programs on prohibition and we are glad to see our youpng people taking great interest in the programs. Our total enrollment is now 75, making an average of 50.

We are expecting to pay our allotment for the young people's work. Our newly elected officers are as follows: Miss Maggie Lee Swink, president; Mis Ruth McCulloch, vice-president; Mr. Vestal Shuler, secretary and treasurer; Miss Lucille Mallard, reporter; Miss Lola Mae McCulloch, pianist.

We ask the prayers of the Christian Endeavorers that we may go forward in the Lord's work.

MISS LUCILLE MALLARD, Reporter.

South Winston.—I want to give in a report of our work here in South Winston.

We had a good revival that closed September 22nd with 15 professions, eight new members added to our church. Mr. Pritchard preached at two services and Mr. O. B. Williams from Albemarle, gave us two services and we enjoyed their interest in our meeting.

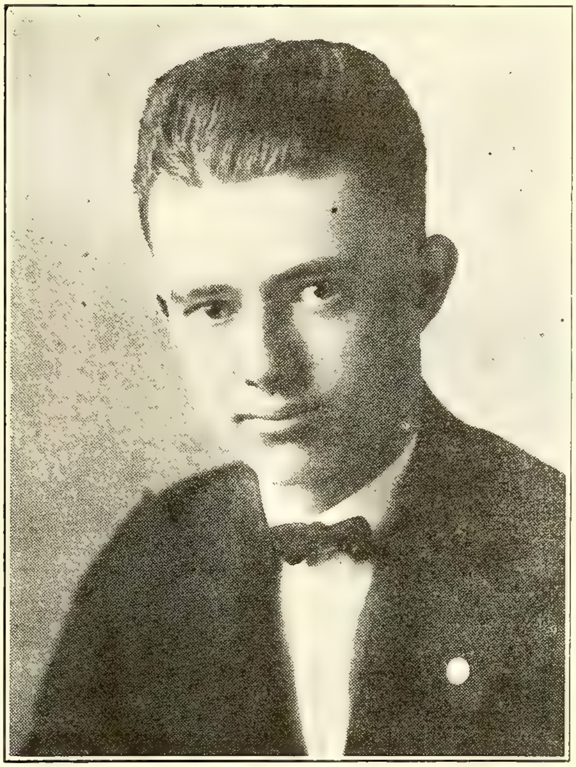
Mr. S. W. Taylor stopped to give us a short visit today and brought good news to our people here by leaving the amount of $8.00. I think Mr. Taylor slipped in a dollar himself for the last report I have been able to get the amount was only $7.00.

A friend has donated a furnace and it will cost $32.00 to get it installed; we hope that some one else will help get this furnace in our church before it is too late, for the weather is too cool for 125 Sunday school children to stay in a cold building an hour and forty-five minutes every Sunday in our church.

We have bought the windows for our church with 90 days to pay for them; we have only 18.00 of this on hand. The windows are being installed now and that is going to help a bit for the present, what we need now is the furnace installed and everything will be fixed through the winter. We hope Mr. Taylor will get his request from 150 people the amount of $1.00; that would take care of our windows and we will take care of the furnace if we can get the windows paid for in a few days.

We thank you so much for the $8.00 that will give us faith to try to do more for Christ our Savior. May the good Lord bless you for your goodness to our church.

H. M. CRISLER.



H M. CRISLER
Lay Evangelist of South Winston Charge

Grace Church.—Grace church folks were delightfully entertained by Rev. and Mrs. E. Lester Ballard on Thursday evening, October 13. The previous Sunday Mr. Ballard had given the invitation to the congregation to an "Open House" at the parsonage for the following Thursday night. They had only been in their new home a few days, yet there a royal welcome awaited all. It was indeed an "Open House," from the time the front door opened and one was greeted by Mrs. W. C. Ogburn, the president of the Woman's auxiliary. Throughout the house there was felt that warm hospitality and good fellowship making a happy evening. With beautiful fall flowers in profusion and the cheery warmth from thel large open fire made completed the setting to enhance the beauty of the entire lower floor where gathered the large number of members to exchange greetings and enjoy a splendid program of music and readings. Mr. Ballard sang two selections accompanied by Mr. Steadman Clifton, violinist, and Mrs. J. R. Holder at the piano.

M H. Waynick, Jr, gave several numbers on the piano. Miss Dorothy Livengood with the violin was accompanied by Mrs. J. Norman Wills, pianist. Little three year old Betty Winecoff was delightful in recitation and song. Mr. Clifton rendered several violin solos. Mrs. J. B Winecoff gave two readings which were full of humor

All the program was delightfully given, and had an appreciative audience. During the evening the following young ladies of Mr. Ballard's class served punch, cak e and mints: Misses Ruth Forest Jones, Josephine Lucas, Kathleen McIver, Martha Ogburn, Evelyn Sharpe, Caroline Starr, Margaret White.

The evening passed quickly and all said good night with a feeling of gratitude to the Ballards for Grace church's "Open House."

MRS. STONE.

Bethesda, N. Davidson.—We are getting along right well. We have one of the best preachers we think in the person of Rev. O, C. Loy. He filled his pulpit at his regular appointment the second Sunday and preached a wonderful sermon from a life without God. His text was found in the 16 Chapter of Judges, the latter part of the 20th verse, "And he wist not that the Lord had departed from him."

Our Sunday school is doing fine under the leadership of our good superintendent, Mr. C. L. Wagner. He lives at Winston-Salem a distance of about 15 miles, but he is never absent or late. He brings his good wife and three children with him every Sunday.

We have ten classes with ten good teachers that hardly ever miss being there; and had an average attendance of 152 for September.

Our Ladies' auxiliary meets once a month. We do not have so many members but feel sure that we are doig lots of good work through our society. We have worked several plans with which to raise money this year and will report later how they worked.

The death angel visited our community on October 11 and claimed the soul of Mrs. Francis Freedle. She was 81 year and six months of age and was the mother of ten children: five boys and five girls; all living except one boy who died at nine year of age. Her husband preceded her about 31 years. The funeral was held at Beulah Reformed church October 13 by Rev. Jacob Leonard after which she was laid to rest beside her husband to await the Resurrection Morn.

Mrs. G. E. Wagner has been kept away from church on account of bad health all the summer and does not seem to improve much. Mrs John Brinkley has been sick for a good while and does not seem to improve.

Mrs. Sallie Whitlow has not been able to attend church much this summer. We miss them all and hope they can soon be back with us.

Next Sunday we will have Sunday school at 1:30 o'clock, preaching at 3 o'clock. This will be our last sermon before conference. May we all ask ourselves the question "Have I done this year what my Lord would have me do, can I hear 'Well done, thou faithful servant,' enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." Let us all be up and doing for our Master who has done so much for us.

MRS. DAVID D., BRINKLEY, Reporter.

Marmony Grove, West Forsyth Charge— Rev. C. B. Way, pastor of this church, has given a report of the revival of which I should say it was my pleasure to be with pastor and people in this meeting. Brother Way may or may not move or be moved at the coming Annual Conference; but if there is a change on West Forsyth charge, some good station or charge will do well to have Rev. C. B. Way become its pastor. Mr. Way is a man of faith, a preacher of the Gospel, and an agreeable and considerate person

I feel that I should say that both Mr. and Mrs. Way have endeared themselves to the people of West Forsyth charge. The people speak words of praise and appreciation of their work and pastor and wife on this field of service.

May this year's work be one in which God can place His servants where He wants them.

WAYNE CURTIS.

Tabernacle, Tabernacle Charge.—The Woman's Auxiliary held its fall thank-offering service on Sunday, September 25, with Mrs. E. T. Coble in charge. The main feature of the program was the presentation of a pageant and an address on "Christian Education" by Rev. H. L. Isley.

The first Sunday afternoon in October the members of the Christian Endeavor Society were delighted to have as a visiting speaker Rev. K. G. Holt. Everyone present enjoyed the address and we invite him to come again. We endeavor to have a visiting speaker each first Sunday.

The people of the community and many visitors enjoyed the Brunswick stew which the Woman's Auxiliary recently sponsored at the parsonage.

Circle No. 1 will meet with Mrs. J. F. Fields Wednesday afternoon, October 19. Mrs. C. R. Fields will have charge of the program.

Circle No. 2 met with Mrs. C. F. Sizemore Wednesday afternoon, October 12. Mrs. Sizemore was the program leader and Mrs. Albert Hicks the devotional leader. The November meeting will be with Mrs. J. E. Hanner.

Circle No. 4 will meet Saturday afternoon, October 22, with Mrs. Dave Layton. Mrs. E. Z. Coble will be the leader.

Recently J. C. Stubblefield, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stubblefield, united with our church.

At the church service last Sunday afternoon we were favored with a solo, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," by Mrs. Robah Fields, of Greensboro.

Misses Ethel Fields and Nell Sheffield, of Wallburg, spent the week-end with Miss Fields' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fields.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Coble went to Raleigh last week to attend the State Fair.

REPORTER.

Spring Church Charge.—Three Thank Offerings services have been held recently on this charge with good results.

Everything excepting finances is fairly encouraging. The financial situation in this section is rather depressing.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held at Spring church Friday, October 28 at 3:30 p. m.

Mrs. Neese underwent a serious operation at Roanoke Rapids hospital last Thursday. She seems to be resting normally, and so we are anticipating a normal recovery. In the event you desire to send her a line address her in care of Hospital, Roanoke Rapids, N.C. Miss Sallie Amick, a sister of Mrs. Neese, is with her all the time.

Wm. H. NEESE.

Pinnacle and Mt Zion.—Our special meeting began at Pinnacle church the fourth Sunday in September. Rev. T. G. Madison came for the evening service and did all the preaching until Friday night when the meeting closed. His preaching was greatly enjoyed by all who attended the meeting both pastor and people. We also enjoyed having his wife and little daughte, Ruth, in our home. Their stay was pleasant. We had seven additions to the church as a result of the meeting.

There wil be a memorial service held at Shoals church the fifth Sunday in this month at 2:30 p.m. in honor of Bro. I. O. Hauser. All friends and acquaintances are cordially invited to attend.

A. L. HUNTER.

Mebane—Our revival services are in progress with Dr. F. W. Paschall of Burlington doing the preaching. He is bringing us some very splendid messages. Dr Paschall is one of our promising young ministers and is a good preacher. Mr. Loy preached a good sermon Sunday morning on "Back Sliding." Miss Edna Nicholson sang, "Somehow His Love Will Not Let Me Go." The rain caused the Sunday school crowd to be small, but the faithful few were present and enjoyed another good sermon.

Our church and community was saddened by the tragic death of one of our memebrs: Cleophas Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Williams. Our hearts go out to them in their sorrow. Funeral service were held from our church Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock by the pastor assisted by Rev. B. M. Williams, and Rev. D. R. Williams.

Friends of Mrs. George Bradley will be sorry to learn of her serious illness. She is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Claude Sykes.

Our pastor is planning a Rally Day and Home Coming in connection with next Sunday's services. We extend to all a welcome.

Haw River.—The fourth quarterly conference of this charge was held last night, October 15, at Fairview church. All the churches were represented, and the business of the conference w as transacted in a harmonious way. The work, as a whole, has had a very satisfactory year, under the leadership of our pastor, Rev. J. P. Pegg. The financial condition of the charge looks very encouraging. Reports from each church show that the pastor's salary will be paid in full and a part of the budget will at least be paid by two, and one of the churches will be paid in full. It was a unanmous vote of the conference that Rev. Pegg come back next year. Salary for pastors next year was fixed at $1200.00.

T. S. COBLE.

First Church, Concord.—It has been a long time since we have sent in a report, but we still exist and are trying to serve God and do His will as best we can.

Our Sunday school attendance has been very good. We have had an average of 300 each Sunday until yesterday. We had only about 100 present yesterday, due to rainy weather. We are hoping for a good attendance next Sunday.

I wish it were possible for me to tell the Herald readers about the wonderful sermons our pastor has brought to us this past year: they are real food to our souls and make us more determined to live for God.

Our prayer meetings have also been a great blessing. We have had better crowds at prayer meeting during Bro. Morgan's ministry here than we can remember having had before.

We hope God will continue to bless the work here and make it a blesing.

We request the prayers of the Herald readers.

REPORTER.

Shiloh.—Today being a rainy Sunday, only 151 were at Sunday school. A mist of gloom hung over the entire membership, for Bro. J. L. Evans the teacher of the Young Men's Wide-Awake Class, and beloved of every man and boy in it lay seriously sick in the Davidson Hospital He was taken almost suddenly Saturday morning and was found to have an ulcer of the stomach,. the pain of which could be relieved only by an operation, which was performed Saturday evening. Many earnest prayers were offered to our Father to spare him to us yet a while longer if it be His will, and we anxiously await the outcome which is entirely in the hands of the Lord.

At the beginning of the church service, Bro. Jeff Berrier made some remarks on "Sacrifice." He said that the church is suffering for lack of sacrifice and the people are suffering because of sacrifice. If all the sacrifice were given to the church of God that is given to the world, she would be the strongest thing in the world. We failed to make the sacrifice to God, so we are having to sacrifice our possessions to the world today. We've failed to bring the tithes into the storehouse; we still owe God; we've robbed God and the church of God is suffering and many pastors will have to go to Conference with bowed heads. Yes, the nations of the world are making sacrifice, but to the wrong one and in the wrong way.

Matt. 22:37-39 was the Scripture used by Rev. R. S. Troxler in his message on "What Is Religion?" In part, his message was: These were the words of Jesus, who always speaks with absolute authority; man must obey words of Jesus or take the consequences. This first and second commandment, namely, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, mind, soul, and strength, and thy neighbor as thyself," was given first to Moses. God meant what he said. Years and years later the same commandment was given by Jesus, though not in the same words. Jesus knew if man loved God he would worship God alone; and if he loved God and man, he would keep the whole low, "for love is the fulfilling of the law."

What is religion? Religion is "looking Godward." Keep your eyes on Jesus Christ; with his eyes off Jesus, Peter couldn't walk on water, but began to sink and Jesus had to reach out his hand and rescue him. The keynote of religion is love, first to God, then to neighbor. It is impossible to love God and not love brother. Without love one may have some kind of religion, but not the pure and undefiled religion of Christ. Love shows itself is service, for "If ye love me ye will keep my commandments." Thousands of people say, "I love God" and support the devil. If man says he loves his wife and yet supports another man's wife, we say he is a liar; if man says he loves God and supports the devil, we know he's a liar and the love of God is not in him. We are supposed to love ourselves, but to not stop there and decay in selfishness; we are to love our fellowman also.

Pure religion of Jesus Christ does not fail us when testing time comes. A slip-shod life will not stand when testing days pass over to us, but thousands of souls have tetified to the keeping power of "the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ."

State Street, Lexington.—At the morning worship hour the thank-offering program was given. Mrs. Annie Harkey has been thank-offering secretary for a number of years and is a very efficient one. We are indebted to her for a good program and for procuring for us a very interesting speaker for the occasion, Mr. Arthur Gallimore, a returned missionary from China. Mr. Gallimore has spent several years in missionary work in China on the Baptist missionary field there, having been a member of the First Baptist church here for the greater part of his life. His address was one of deep interest and most timely and enlightening.

The Men's Brotherhood had charge of the evening service and had expected Mr. William Widenhouse and a chorus of singers from the Men's Bible Class of Concord, but because of the very unfavorable weather and other obstacles they did not come. A song service by our own people and an address by the pastor filled the period very profitably however.

We are sorry to note the serious illness of Mr. J. L. Evans, who is a patient at the Davidson Hospital. Mr. Evans is one of the leading and most faithful members of Shiloh church. He and his family have our sympathy and prayers.

We were glad to have Mrs. C. L. Koonce back with us Sunday after spending last week in Winston-Salem, where she taught in the Leadership Training School in First M. P. church. REPORTER.

Wide-Awake Class, Shiloh Church.—Our class was shocked and grieved to learn Sunday morning of the serious illness of our teacher, Mr. Jesse Evans, who was taken to the hospital Saturday morning for an operation. His operation was serious, but his condition is considered favorable.

Sunday being a bad day the attendance of our class was off a little. The Brotherhood class same into our room and we were taught by Mrs. Wiley Shoaf.

Mr. Floyd L. Berrier, of Jacksonville, Fla., arrived Sunday to spend a few days with home folks, Mr. W. J. Berrier, and family.

Will you join your prayers with ours that our teacher may soon be restored to us?

W. FRANK SHOAF, Class Reporter.

St. Paul, Greensboro.—Our revival meeting closed last Friday night. Rev. Mr. Hill from English Street church, High Point, did all the preaching for nearly two weeks except that on Sunday he went back to High Point to fill his appointment, and Rev. Mr. Millaway preached at the 11 o'clock service. Our pastor made a house to house canvass and invited people to come out to the meeting, and our congregation was good all through the series of services. The singing was good and Bro. Hill did his best to save souls. There were three conversions and seven joined the church, four coming by letter and the three new converts also joined. All who joined the church were heads of families, except one, he being a young man.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held October 27. We are planning to raise our claims, or most of them; also we are planning on Bro. Garner coming back for another year. He is doing a good work here. Mr. L. A. Parr is our delegate to Annual Conference.

The Ladies' Aid met Saturday night with Mrs. R. C. Lineberry, this being the last meeting of this conference year. The reports showed a good year's work had been done. The society voted to pay the superannuate claim this year again.

MRS. J. S. WADE, Reporter.

Stallings, Mecklenburg Charge.—Our pastor, Rev. J. L. Love, has delivered a number of interesting and uplifting sermons since there has been a report from this church. We pray that it has been seed sown in good ground and will in God's own good time bring forth a bountiful harvest.

The interest in Sunday school seems to be increasing. We have organized a Bible reading circle and we trust that the interest and enthusiasm already shown may continue to grow.

On the second Sunday in this month we were pleased to have with us the C. E. Society from Beulah. They rendered a splendid program, and we hope they will come again soon. Also we are planning to organize a Society in our own church.

The Ladies' Aid met this month with our pastor's wife. After a short program had been rendered and the business of the meeting disposed of we adjourned to the dining room where we enjoyed a delightful repast. We meet next month with Mrs. P. D. Drye.

The Society has worked hard to raise funds to reduce our church debt. Pray for our success. We are to serve a variety supper Saturday, October 22nd, to begin at 6 o'clock and continue till the opening of the fourth quarterly conference, which is to meet at this church that night. The supper, (which will include oysters) will be in the Knowles store across the road from the church.

MRS. P. L. GARMON, Reporter.

Spring Church Circuit Auxiliary. — Spring Church Circuit Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. Demick on October 5th at 2:30 o'clock. There were nine members and two visitors present, with the following ladies to join for the first time: Mrs. Leroy Kee, Mrs. Will Harris, Mrs. G. W. Massey and Mrs. M. L. Crew. We were so glad to have these ladies join us.

Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. W. Grant. At this time we will elect new officers.

On the fourth Sunday in September we had an all-day service at Spring Church. At 11 o'clock Mr. Neese preached us a fine sermon, and at 2 o'clock our Auxiliary put on a thank-offering program. The thought of Christian Education was emphasized. We also used the candle-light service, and realized an offering of $8.00.

On the night of the same day, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, we put on a little different program at Lebanon. Mrs. Neese read a very interesting paper on Mr. Minnis and his work, and Mrs. Vassar discussed the study-book, "Christ Comes to the Village." The Question Box was also discussed and explained. We had some poems on missions and closed with the candle-light service, realizing an offering of $3.55.

On the second Sunday night in October we gave a thank-offering program at Pleasant Hill, emphasizing Christian Education. Our offering at this place was $3.61. This program was a little bit difficult to put across as right many of our ladies were sick. We felt as sheep without a shepherd without Mrs. Neese. We feel very much encouraged, as these thank-offering services were the first we have ever given, and hope our next attempt will be much improved.

Mrs. Neese was operated on in Roanoke Rapids Hospital on October 13. She is still very weak, but we feel the worst is over and hope she will soon be with us again in our work. MRS. RUPERT M. ROBINSON.

Midway, Midway-Shady Grove.—We are planning a community singing at our church the fourth Sunday. It is the first one ever to be held here and everyone is invited, especially musicians.

The fourth quarterly conference was postponed the third Sunday owing to a death in the community.

The Ladies' Aid Society met Saturday night with Mrs. C. B. Wyrick. New officers were elected for the coming year. We gave Mrs. Herbert Fruitt, a recent bride, a green glass shower at this time. Mrs. Fruitt was formerly Miss Beulah Suits. The next meeting will be Friday night, October 20, with Misses Louise and Christine Suits. The Ladies' Aid for the past year has been very active and we hope to continue with as much enthusiasm.

The C. E. has had a good regular attendance all summer and the members have benefited greatly from the meetings.

The election of officers in our Sunday school is to take place next Sunday. The church and C. E. will also elect officers before Conference.

Our church mourns with the family in the loss of one of our most faithful members, Mr. Charles Monroe Bowman.

MARY PINNIX, Reporter.

* * *

Charlotte.—The Auxiliary met with Mrs. Fesperman on Tuesday, October 11th. Devotional was conducted by Mrs. R. M. Andrews; she also had charge of the program, which was a thank-offering service. Those who were not there missed a most inspiring and refreshing treat. Mrs. Andrews always brings us a wonderful message in her charming and direct manner. The thank-offering has not been announced as several of the members were not present with their offerings, but we are sure it will be a goodly amount.

There was announced for Tuesday evening, October 18, an apron party at the home of Mrs. G. W. Stegall, sponsored by the ladies of the Auxiliary.

The Ever Ready Philathea class met for their monthly business meeting with Miss Rachel Tadlock on Monday evening. A good time was enjoyed. For amusement the girls are planning to organize a basketball team. They are also planning a Hallowe'en party.

The C. E. elected new officers Wednesday evening: President, Mary Shaw; secretary, Rachel Tadlock; vice-president, Grady Tadlock; treasurer, Helen McCall.

The weekly prayer meetings were resumed last week and Mr. E. W. Cole was leader. He gave us a splendid message. A large crowd was present. Mr. Stegall will be leader this week.

The following officers of the church were elected Sunday:

Trustees, G. W. Stegall, R. C. Millaway, J. J. Atkins, E. W. Cole, J. C. Penny; stewards, W. H. Scarboro, H. G. Garrison, R. S. Garmon, C. H. Daughtry, Mrs. B. W. Little, Mrs. J. J. Atkins, Mrs. J. H. McCall, L. M. Harward, Roy Garmon; treasurer, A. A. Ledbetter; ushers, J. A. Pressley, W. H. Scarboro, C. H. Daughtry, Lewis Garmon, Fred McCall; class leaders, Mrs. G. W. Stegall, Mrs. J. C. Penny, Mrs. R. S. Garmon; music committee, Mrs. A. A. Ledbetter, Mrs. Leon Blake, E. W. Coe, R. S. Garmon; pianist, Miss Gray Stiles.

I want to thank all those who have in any way assisted me in reporting the church news this past yeaer, especially Mrs. B. W. Little, who acted in my absence from the city. Your new reporter will, I af sure, receive the same hearty co-operation I have enjoyed. Thanks.

MRS. G. P. YOUNGINER, Reporter.

Liberty Hill, Anderson Charge. — Sunday afternoon, October 2, with the former superintendent appointed chairman, the Sunday school elected their officers for the incoming year. Those named were as follows: Superintendent, N. G. McClimon; assistant superintendent, T. F. Gaston; secretary-treasurer, Miss Lottie Harrison; assistant secretary-Theron Davis; choir director, N. N. Smith; pianist, Mrs. A. A. Foster; assistant pianist, Miss Lucile Davis. The teachers of the different classes were elected and officers and teachers installed the following Sunday.

Sunday forning, October 9, the election of the church officers was held and those elected were: Trustees, Walker Smith, N. G. McClimon, B. P. Smith, and J. K. Poole; stewards, Joe Leonard, E. L. Davis, T. F. Gaston, W. R. Harrison, H. R. Smith, and H. R. McClimon; reporter, Miss Lottie Harrison; class leaders, Mrs. B. A. McClimon and Mrs. J. K. Poole; clerk, Mrs. N. G. McClimon. The treasurer will be elected by the stewards.

Our C. E. Society is still climbing. The Junior C. E. renders splendid programs each third Sunday night. The society will elect officers on the coming fourth Sunday night.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held at Fairview church on Saturday afternoon, October 29, at 3 o'clock.

With best wishes to the Herald and its readers.

LOTTIE HARRISON, Reporter.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—The usual schedule of Sunday services was observed last Sabbath, beginning with the church school at 9:45 o'clock under the leadership of Supt. J. H. Jennings and his corps of able assistants in the different departments. The school maintains an average of 300 in attendance, and the contribution on one Sabbath of each month is sent to the Children's Home.

Simultaneously with the morning worship period, the Juniors church assembled in the assembly room downstairs with Misses Naomi Dawson and Frances Taylor, leaders. This group is composed of children under 12 years of age. Older children worship with the adult congregation in the main auditorium.

At the 11 o'clock service the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, occupied the pulpit and after a beautiful anthem rendered by the choir, "A Voice of One Crying in the Wilderness," with Prof. Ernest B. Stimson at the organ, delivered a very helpful message on "Faith of Our Friends," based on Mark 2, when the paralytic was brought to Jesus by four of his friends, and on account of the press of the crowd, was taken to the roof, and let down through an opening to the presence of Jesus, who first forgave his sins, and then healed his body. There are people in the shackles of sin in High Point, who will never be brought to Jesus but by their friends, and it may take four of them to talk and pray them into making the decisive step. We need not despair about the worst sinner in our midst. If only one sinner were saved each year, it would be worth the cost of this building.

At the evening service the minister spoke on "Becoming Better Acquainted With God."

The Young People's C. E. Society, Miss Frances Taylor, president, met as usual at 6:45 o'clock Sunday in the church.

The circles of the Woman's Auxiliary held meetings Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the following homes: No. 4, Mrs. James Ryan, chairman, with Mrs. George L. Reynolds, 809 Fourth street, Mrs. Edward Suits, associate hostess; No. 5, Mrs. C. L. Whitaker, chairman, with Mrs. L. H. Zimmerman, 227 Montlieu avenue, Mrs. Fred Younts, of Trinity, associate hostess; No. 6, Mrs. S. D. Shelton, chairman, with Mrs. Ben T. Moore, 505 North Main street; No. 7, Mrs. J. H. Allred, chairman, with Mrs. L. J. Diffee, 1103 Johnson street, and No. 8, Mrs. R. H. Gunn, chairman, with Mrs. D. E. White, 804 Lindsay street. Circle No. 2, Mrs. Lucy Oakes Harper, chairman, will meet Thursday evening with Mrs. Theodore Ballard, 316 Howell street, and No. 3, Mrs. N. P. Yarborough, chairman, Tuesday evening at the church. The committee on Brunswick stew, Mesdames Coe, Taylor, and Kennett, announces that they will sell the stew on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock to be delivered at the homes for 50 cents per quart. Plans for the bazaar on November 3 are being made.

Messrs. R. H. Shaw and J. B. Spencer were hosts at a delightful supper complimentary to the stewards and other friends last Tuesday evening at the church. Members of Circle No. 7, Mrs. J. H. Allred, chairman, served a delicious meal to 41 guests. A campaign of loyalty was launched at this time, and efforts will be made to pay all obigations in full by Conference. It is necessary to raise $4,000 in order to clear all obligations. Messrs. Geo. T. Penny and Chas. C. Robbins, Sr., are captains of the two teams.

Owing to the faithful and capable work of the chairman, Mr. E. L. Douglas, we are much pleased to announce that First church is over the top with 73 subscriptions, new and renewals, to the Methodist Protestant Herald. This church has a quota of 72, but there are more than 100 subscribers, which shows that our membership is made up of reading people. Mr. Douglas has been persistently on the job, and many thanks are due him for his loyal work for the Herald.

The Wednesday evening service of prayer and praise will be held as usual, and the minister will deliver the fourth in the series of talks on the Books of the Bible, which will be "Numbers." Miss Annabel Thompson, superintendent of the Intermediate Department, of the Sunday school, and Mrs. T. R. Ballard, of the Junior Department, are sponsors for the attendance.

Mrs. Ross H. Davis was leader for the Young People's C. E. Society meeting on Monday evening.

At the meeting of the High Point Alumni of the University of North Carolina last Wednesday evening the president, Prof. L. R. Johnston, was ill, and the secretary-treasurer, Rupert T. Pickens, presided and introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Collier Cobb, of the University faculty, who made a delightful address, giving many interesting and charming reminiscences of University life in olden days and modern as well. Professor Cobb has been on the faculty for 40 years.

Mrs. W. C. Hammond, secretary of the Board of Public Welfare, is ill at her home, and her work has been taken over temporarily by Mrs. W. K. Nance.

Dean P. E. Lindley, of High Point College, will address the Parent-Teacher Association of Union Hill school, east of the city, on October 21st.

Among the out-of-town friends and relatives who attended the funeral services for Mr. William C. Lyndon last Friday, October 14, were Dr. and Mrs. George R. Brown, of Reidsville; Mr. and Mrs. Patton, of Marion, and Mrs. John Hiatt and Mrs. Ninevah Rush, of Charlotte.

Rev. Roy I. Farmer assisted in funeral services for Mr. Chas. M. Bowman on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Midway church, near Greensboro. A quartet from High Point College furnished music.

Mount Pleasant, Mount Pleasant. — The Woman's Auxiliary held a thank-offering service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. A playlet, "The Three Boxes," was given by the girls' Circle. Dr. Johnson preached a splendid missionary sermon, taking as his scripture a part of Matt. 25. In his talk Dr. Johnson emphasized the fact that we should want our lives to count for someone else. Instead of being self-centered we should center our attention in God and in humanity.

On the second Sunday in October Rally Day service was held at our church. The program consisted of songs, drills, and recitations given by the children. At the beginning of the service a Bible was presented to each of the 35 persons who had recently joined the church.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held at Mount Pleasant on Saturday before the fourth Sunday at 2 o'clock.

Dr. Johnson will hold preaching service at Mount Pleasant on the fifth Sunday.

The girls' missionary circle has been asked to give "The Challenge" at the Annual Conference in Burlington. This pageant was presented three times in nearby churches.

The Young People's Christian Endeavor is holding meetings each second and fourth Sunday evening at 7:15. A debate on the prohibition question has been arranged for the next program. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stafford have invited the Endeavorers to meet with them for a social hour on Saturday night before the fifth Sunday.

MARGARET CAUSEY, Reporter.

Liberty.—At the Sunday morning service the minister, Rev. M. P. Chambliss, preached to an appreciative congregation, using as his text, Matt. 22:42, "What Think Ye of Christ?" Some of the gleanings from the sermon were: Jesus must reign supreme. The Father said: "This is my beloved son, hear ye Him." John said: "Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sins of the world." Jesus was full of compassion. Behold Him standing at the grave of Lazarus, full of compassion, sympathy and understanding. On Calvary He was very courageous and forgiving.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held the fourth Sunday evening at 7:30.

Miss Nettie Stuart was the leader of the Christian Endeavor program Sunday evening. Talks were given by Mr. W. M. Smith, superintendent; Miss Marie Ward, and Miss Bertine Shepard. Prayer by Rev. M. P. Chambliss. It is gratifying to see so many young people attend Christian Endeavor, eager to do their part, consecrating their lives in His service.

We were very much pleased to have Mrs. W. H. Clapp, of High Point, worship with us Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Chambliss was the dinner guest of Mrs. J. B. York Sunday.

The Woman's Auxiliary has done splendid work this year under the supervision of Mrs. F. A. Shepard, president. All of the requirements of the Auxiliary have been met in full. BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

Lexington, Mount Carmel.—Rev. Mr. Isley filled his regular appointment Sunday afternoon, choosing his text from Matt. 6:24, and used as his subject "Casting the Final Bolt." The congregation was very small, owing to the bad weather.

Mount Carmel has only one more preaching service before Conference. There is much to be done before the year's work will be complete.

The fourth and last quarterly conference will meet at Mount Carmel Tuesday night, October 18.

Harper Franklin, three-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Swicegood, died at the home October 3 and was buried at Mount Carmel the following day. His brief stay here on earth was sufficient to endear him to the hearts of his parents. Many friends sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Swicegood in the loss of their first-born child. The funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. C. G. Isley.

A wedding of much interest is that of Miss Irene Swicegood to Mr. Paul Tysinger Sunday morning, October 16, at the home of the bride's pastor, C. G. Isley. Their many friends wish for them a long and happy life.

We were pleased to have Rev. J. Adrian Thompson, of High Point College, preach for us the first Sunday at 11 o'clock in the absence of our pastor.

ZULA FRITTS, Reporter.

Charlotte, Richland Charge.—We realize that this year's work will soon be over, yet there is much to be done.

Our revival meeting began the second Sunday in September with Brother Short, from Denton, as pulpit help. Brother Short's messages were both inspiring and uplifting and were much enjoyed by those who heard them. Three children professed faith in Christ and were received into the church.

Our Sunday school is getting on nicely.

A Woman's Auxiliary was organized in May and we have been having our regular monthly meetings since that time. On last Saturday evening nine of the members met with Mrs. Henry Bulla, and completed two quilts, which will be donated to the High Point Children's Home.

Best wishes to the Herald.

MRS. S. E. HENLEY.

Union, Halifax.—Our special meeting at Union church was held the first week in September. Rev. W. H. Neese, of Spring Church Charge, was the help. The people enjoyed his sermons.

At our last regular service our pastor, Rev. H. F. Fogleman, preached from the text, "It doth not yet appear what we shall be." He said that nature revolves but man advances. This advance is due to the fact that man is following an ever-increasing ideal. When the ideal is finished it brings man to God and God to man.

Last November we discontinued our Ladies' Aid and organized a Missionary Auxiliary instead. On Sunday night the Auxiliary gave its first service at the church. Mrs. Paul Boseman, thank-offering secretary, planned the service and had charge of the program. Mrs. B. F. Lewis read a paper on "Our Auxiliary." Mr. Fogleman spoke on "Christian Education." Special readings were given by Miss Mattie Anderson, Miss Mary Thomas and Miss Ruth Lewis. A male quartet from Aurealian Springs assisted in the music. An offering was taken for Christian Education.

The last regular meeting of the Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. B. F. Lewis, Mrs. N. W. Cousin, presiding. Our next meeting will be with Miss Mary Thomas.

RUTH LEWIS, Reporter.

Palestine, Flat Rock Circuit.—Our pastor has filled all his appointments for this quarter. The attendance has not been as large as it should have been, yet those who have attended regularly have enjoyed each and every sermon Brother Hutton has preached, and the last one always seems best. Brother Hutton has been preaching for 40 years this year. He has spent 11 years on Flat Rock Circuit altogether, and I do not believe there is a pastor anywhere loved by his people any better than Brother Hutton is, and we are hoping for him to spend several more years preaching to us.

The Sunday school continues to run; the attendance is not large, yet the interest is fine and all officials and pupils are enjoying the Sunday school.

Our last quarterly conference met at Bethany last Saturday. The reporter was absent. We are sorry our church was behind on our pastor's salary, and other finances for this year, yet we hope that before the close of the year 'most everything will be paid up. We would like to have our whole circuit on the Conference honor roll, having all claims paid in full. The quarterly conference instructed the delegate for the return of our pastor. We are expecting him back.

Mrs. Aaron Sharon, one of our faithful members, has a bone felon and is suffering very much.

Uncle Calvin Tucker was too feeble to be out today.

Best wishes.

GRACE R. TUCKER, Reporter.

FORGIVE AND FORGET

Have nothing to do
With fear or vain fret,
If some one offends,
Forgive and forget.

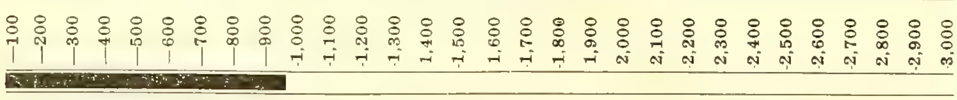
Say something pleasant
When tempted to grieve,
Ignore petty pin-pricks,
Live the truth you believe.

Don't frown or complain
If life seems awry,
It is better to smile
Than to sit down and cry.

Do nothing today
To make you regret;
If you are maligned
Forgive and forget.

—Grenville Kleiser.

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	16¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	5¾
Asheboro	36	17
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	15
Charlotte	19	13½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	2
Forsyth	50	12
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	16¾
Glen Raven	38	8½
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	17
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1½
Guilford	43	15½
Halifax	52	15
Haw River	49	15
Henderson	38	13¾
HIGH POINT, FIRST	72	73½
High Point, Lebanon	31	26
High Point, Welch	28	2¾
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	8½
Liberty-Moriah	31	19¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	10
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	11
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	9¾
Mount Hermon	92	17½
Mount Pleasant	62	25¼
North Davidson	53	14½
Orange	70	26⅛
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	16¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	12
Reidsville	14	11½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	18
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23½
Siler City	10	8½
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	10½
Tabernacle	41	33½
Thomasville, Community	15	2½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	11¾
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	13½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	29⅜

◆

FACTS ABOUT HIGH POINT COLLEGE

I am giving below some interesting facts about the enrollment at High Point College for the school year 1932-33.

The enrollment by classes is as follows:

Freshmen: boys, 48; girls, 43; total	82
Sophomores: boys, 29; girls, 24; total	53
Juniors: boys, 19; girls, 17; total	36
Seniors: boys, 25; girls, 16; total	41
College specials: boys, 6; girls, 4; total	10
Commercial students: boys, 10; girls, 25; Total	35
Music students: boys, 6; girls, 18; total	24
Art students: girls, 19; total	19
Total	300
Less those regularly classified and taking workin special Depts	28
Actual College Enrollment	272

These students hail from the following states: North Carolina, 255; Pennsylvania, 8; Maryland, 2; Delaware, 2; Kentucky, Georgia, New York, Texas, and South Carolina, one each.

Their religious affiliations are as follows: Methodist Protestant, 96; Methodist Episcopal, 90; Baptist, 39; Presbyterian, 16; Friends, 6; Reform, 4; Episcopal, 3; Lutheran, 3; Catholic, 3; Holiness, 2; Congregational, 2; Moravian, 1; Russion Orthodox, 1; not stated, 6.

The enrollment for this fall semester is only three less than the total enrollment for last year. Always several come in at the second semester. We already have applications from a few for entrance the second semester. Our annual total will exceed by several that of last year.

Numbers do not count all; the quality of the new students, possibly, excels that of previous year.

N. M. HARRISON,
Promotional Sec'y.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.
PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Verble

Odess Presly Verble departed this life Sept. 21, 1932, age 24 years, 7 months and 25 days. In August, 1925, she was married to Charlie Verble. To this union were born two children, Pauline and Oren. She leaves to mourn her going, husband, two children, five brothers, two sisters and a host of friends. She professed faith in Jesus Christ in early life and joined the Methodist Protestant church at Fairview. She was a teacher in the Sunday school until her health gave way under the dreaded disease T. B. She fought against it heroically and patiently but it overcame and she went home to her reward. Her funeral service was conducted in First Church Concord, by the writer assisted by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. M. Morgan. She was then laid in the city cemetery beneath a beautiful mound of flowers.

May the Dear Lord extend mercy to those left behind and may each one find in him the needed comfort, the needed grace to supply all their needs for both soul and body until they meet again where parting will be no more.

JOEL B. TROGDON.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas	$7.00
Mrs. Lucile H. Baity	4.00
Rev. L. E. Mabry	2.00
Rev. N. G. Bethea	2.00
Rev. O. C. Loy	2.00
Rev. D. R. Williams	2.00
Mrs. Ida Mallard	2.00
Rev. M. P. Chambliss	1.00
Rev. J. L. Trollinger	1.00
Miss Adele Phillips	1.00

Voluntary Offering on Printing Deficit

Shiloh, Shiloh Charge	$8.10
Sapling Ridge	2.20

We thank these good friends.

High Point First comes out in capitals this week with a little more than the quota. We thank every subscriber and give a treble portion to the very earnest solicitor, Bro. E. L. Douglas.

◆

—Brother H. A. Garrett is a candidate for the legislature.

Methodist Protest[illegible]erald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., OCTOBER 27, 1932 NUMBER 46

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Need of Christ

The world needs Christ!
Needs His faith and needs His hope,
Needs His truth for men who grope,
Needs His thought of man and God,
Needs to feel His chastening rod.

The church needs Christ!
Needs to know His purpose high,
Sense His presence ever nigh,
Move in Christ's whole enterprise,
Getting ready for the skies.

The soul needs Christ!
Needs His pardon, peace, and joy,
Needs His weapons to employ,
Needs His power and purity,
Needs His fine maturity.

◆

Keeping Young While Growing Aged

"So you think it's because he's old makes him like that?" a mechanic asked of me concerning a manufacturer, who was reckoned to be fifteen years out of time. Perhaps so, probably so, most likely so, I muse. Evidently that manufacturer stopped growing fifteen years ago, stopped going. But the world of mechanics and of business went on leaving him there.

I meditated: "We all would live long, but no one would be old." Then I asked: Is it possible to live long and not be old?

There is a difference between being aged and being old. The passing of the years, the living long, makes one aged and we cannot prevent it. But to be old is quite a different thing. Some people are older at twenty than others at eighty. Hence being old seems not to be a matter of years. "You are no older than you think you are," some one has said. This seems to suggest that it is a matter of mental or spiritual attitude.

Just when does one begin to be old? The wag might answer: "Just the moment he ceases to be young." While true, such an answer has no meaning. To cease to be interested in people and their welfare. To be indifferent as to whether righteousness or wickedness triumphs. To hark (or bark) back to the good old days by comparing the best in those days with the worst of now-a-days. To wail a lamentation because folks do not do as they did "when I was a boy or girl." To believe the young people are rushing headlong to perdition and taking the balance of the world with them. To do nothing to help young people to find themselves and to learn the proper relationships in life. These are some of the symptoms of being old.

The remedy to be applied daily preferably as a preventive rather than a cure: close, sympathetic touch with God and nature, contact with people, especially young life. Read "The Song of Hiawatha," by Longfellow, placing emphasis on the "Introduction." Ponder Whittier's poem, "The Barefoot Boy." Observe Mother Nature in springtime rejuvenate the earth, which had seemed so hoary, so bald, so decrepid. Go out where the butterfly flits and the humming bird hums. Note the honey bee and the bumble bee suck sweetness out of beauty. Listen to the rippling of the brook and the cheerful notes of the mocking bird. Look up into the heavens which "declare the glory of God."

Walk with the boy of twelve, of Nazareth, to the place of worship and to the fountain of knowledge. Lend a hand as the Man of Galilee distributes the gift of a lad to feed the multitudes. Join Him in bringing the blessing of heaven upon childhood. Receive a transfusion by touching and tapping young life. Bathe freely in the fountain of youth, that is, the young life that surges and swirls about you. He that doeth these things and others like them can never grow old.

T. M. Johnson.

◆

A Traveling or Non-Traveling President?

The question is before us, not for the first time. The decision may not have been correct in former cases, or it may have been correct, but conditions may have so changed as to make proper a different decision now.

Some conditions have changed. The advent of automobiles has made traveling much easier and quicker than formerly. Does this change argue for or against the retention of a traveling president?

Another changed condition results temporarily from the present economic depression. This condition suggests that the president's work be trimmed down to suit the size of the conference pocketbook.

It seems to be a wrestling match between efficiency and economy. It is unquestionable we believe that the president's work as such would be reduced in efficiency by his removal from the field. This is excused on the ground of economy. But the question is, Is the excuse valid? Are we justified when we save money that ought to be spent in religious work? We believe so thoroughly in the president's field work that we have kept it up for about a hundred years. Most pastors appreciate the help the president brings when he comes. And

(Continued on Page Three)

ARE WE JUSTIFIED IN CONTINUING THE OFFICE OF TRAVELING PRESIDENT?

Before our conference met last year I wrote to a few of our ministers asking their opinion on the matter of stationing our conference president until economic conditions are better. Some were in favor, others were not. It was suggested by some one that since this was to be the last year of the present incumbent we do not agitate the matter. So nothing more was done about it.

During this year I have given some thought to the matter, and had thought I would say something about it through the HERALD. However, while I hesitated, Brother Fogleman beat me to it. I am glad he wrote. Now I will have my say.

Whatever I say, however, will be solely in the interest of economy. And the church must learn economy as well as individuals.

Suppose we allow figures to talk a little. And they won't lie unless we make them to it. Get your conference Journals for the past four years and figure with me: In 1928 our conference treasurer reported $9,529 raised on annual budget, $3,250 or approximately one-third of which was used in maintaining the office of traveling president. In 1929 budget receipts amounted to $8,739, $3,250 or approximately two-fifths of which was necessary to maintain the office of president. In 1930 receipts dropped to $6,595, and $2,950 or approximately one-half of that was required for the office of traveling president. In other words, in 1928 it took approximately one-third of our budget receipts to maintain a traveling president, in 1929, approximately two-fifths, in 1930, one-half, and in 1931, approximately one-half.

Now the question arises, if we continue at that pace, how long will it be before the cost of maintaining a traveling president will equal our budget receipts? How far will it miss this year?

In the face of the foregoing facts are we justified in continuing the office of a traveling president? I do not believe the efficiency of our conference would be greatly crippled by stationing our president until economic conditions are better. The fifteen conference district chairmen could take over some of the less important functions of the president, such as visiting quarterly conferences and encouraging the work in other ways.

As to the amount saved, it might not be as much as Brother Fogleman has estimated, that is, $5,000 in two years, but certainly it would not be far from that, and it might be more. The president, of course, would find it necessary to make some trips, and his expenses would be taken care of by the conference, as would his postage and possibly some stenographic service. But all of that would certainly not amount to more than his traveling expenses now are.

The money saved could well be used. Not only to reduce the indebtedness of our Board of Church Extension and extend our church extension efforts, but to show a larger appreciation of our superannuated ministers. If we are to retain our self respect as a conference, we must do more for them. Then, too, by some means or other a more adequate support must be given to our Children's Home. We can not go on indefinitely as we are. There are plenty of places where the money could be wisely, and for the kingdom, profitably used.

Brethren, think on these things and be ready to act when we convene in annual session November 9th.

L. W. GERRINGER.

SPEECH AND SILENCE

Good conversation is neither a verbal nor a vocal contest. It is a mutual meeting of minds. It is not a monologue, but a reciprocal exchange of ideas. Right talking is a stimulant to right thinking. It serves among other things the great purpose of bringing into view valuable thoughts which otherwise would remain dormant.

It is significant that most of the world's great thinkers met in groups, to exchange ideas and opinions. There is no better way to supplement the results from reading a book than to talk the subject over with a congenial and well-informed friend. Thoughts grow and multiply in the process of expression. Uncertain and indefinite thoughts often become clarified when they have been put into actual words.

Conversation is a form of self-revelation. There you unconsciously disclose your merits and defects, your virtues and idiosyncracies. The very freedom of conversation takes you off your gaurd, and exposes you to the keen scrutiny of others. Hence the importance of speech culture. Study your manner and method of speaking. Train your voice in the qualities of purity, resonance, and power. Enunciate distinctly, and pronounce accurately. Choose your words with fastidious care. Endeavor constantly to improve your style of speaking, and make each occasion an opportunity for self-discipline. Give preference to pleasant, helpful, interesting subjects. Use your daily conversation as a means to self-culture and personal progress.

Talkativeness on the other hand, is a pernicious habit. The talkative person falls into many mistakes and misunderstandings, which a little judicious silence would obviate. Talkativeness exposes a speaker to the danger of blundering, exaggeration, and offensiveness. It is a form of selfishness, tending to monopolize other people's time, and to tax their patience. The remedy for talkativeness is to put a strict seal seal upon one's lips, coupled with a firm resolution to cultivate a listening and receptive attitude of mind. Eagerness expressing itself in talkativeness is a lack of self-control. The habit of talking too much is a common failing, and a prolific cause of error and disagreement.

Beware the squandering of words. Have times of silence and times of speech. Avoid extremes. It is better to be silent much than to talk much. Talkativeness is depleting to both talker and listener. The words you use proclaim you to the world. They disclose unmistakably your taste, temperament, education, ideals, and degree of culture.

Choose your words with the same discrimination that you choose friends. Realize the significance and power of words as living things. Study words daily and always use them worthily. Correct a fault in your speech the instant you detect it. Eternal vigilance is the price of great accomplishment.

Word-study is thought-study in symbol. As you ponder a series of well-chosen words, there will follow in your mind a train of beautiful and inspiring ideas. Words and thoughts are reciprocal. As you dwell upon great and lofty words, corresponding thoughts will arise in your mind. Observe the effect of expressing aloud a list of such words as honor, faith, rectitude, constancy, purity, integrity, conscientiousness, chivalry, liberality, loftiness, heroism, magnanimity, sublimity, altruism, and nobility. Helpful ideas will at once spring to your mind, and you will have an increased desire to do something fine and enduring.

Cultivate beliefs. Through earnest study and investigation translate your opinions into convictions. Look deeply into important subjects. Be thorough in your mental habits. Accustom yourself to trace out successive steps from cause to conclusion. Have adequate reasons for your beliefs. See all sides of a subject. Search out truth for its own value, not for display. Realize the importance of having settled convictions about the great subjects of life. Reason out things for yourself, and secure clear, definite, well-supported ideas. Make a written list of your leading opinions, beliefs, and convictions. Study them closely, and correct everything doubtful or erroneous.

Listen and learn. Your mind must be quiet and receptive if you are to appropriate the best thoughts of other people. It is impossible for you to generate and develop great ideas within your own mind while you are in a state of constant activity and expression. When you listen attentively and meditate much, you will learn most from others and give your own thoughts opportunity to mature. There are many persons anxious to speak, but only an occasional one willing to listen. To be a good listener does not mean over-reticence, but simply the ability to be silently interested when occasion makes it desirable. There are many blunders due to talkativeness, but few to tacturnity. Listen and learn.

Great is the power of silence. There is nothing more eloquent than the still, small voice of conscience. Think of the silent growth of the giant forest. The world upon which you now stand is whirling silently through space. The greatest forces of nature are silent. How wonderful is the silent power of truth, constantly at work, without effort, sound, or confusion. Only man is wasteful, prodigally squandering words, speech, and effort. Silence will help you to solve the most difficult personal problems. Silence is golden. Silence will give you rest from inordinate ambition and desire. Silence promotes quietness of spirit. The more you cultivate a spirit of inward silence, the better you will have intercourse with God.

GRENVILLE KLEISER.

A Traveling or Non-Traveling President?

(Continued from Page One)

the people are inspired and instructed by the messages he delivers. He is a connecting link for all the charges and all the churches. By his visits he helps to maintain denominational morale and discipline. The need of it should be very apparent before the president's work is interferred with by any arrangement that would deprive him so largely of the power of personal touch.

HIM THAT COMETH

A farmer's daughter was walking along a country road when she noticed in a pasture a herd of cattle grazing several rods from the road. She knew that in that herd was a calf that a few weeks before had been hers. Had the little animal forgotten its former mistress? It was nowhere in sight, but the girl stopped and called the name to which her pet had responded so many times. Instantly there was a stir in the herd and the calf made her way out of the bunch and bounded to the fence where her friend was waiting. The girl would gladly have opened the fence and let the little animal follow her home, but she could not do that, for it was no longer hers. So after a few pats and a few kind words she went on her way and the calf went back to the herd.

The homely incident suggested a train of thought concerning One who is calling mankind to Himself. When man had sold himself for nought and was bound and hedged in by Satan, the Lord Jesus Christ bought him back with His own life Blood. He not only wants to break Satan's fetters and lead His own back home, but He has the power and the right to do it, and He has never turned one away who has responded to His call. He is still saying, "Him that cometh to Me I will in no wise cast out."—Good Tidings.

QUICKER THAN TELEGRAPHY

When the wires in Shetland were being erected a Christian boy stood looking at the wires on the poles, and a shrewd man of business said to the boy, "What a wonderful thing! When the wires are finished you will be able to send a message two hundred miles or more, and get an answer within an hour."

"Nothing very wonderful about that."

"Why," said the keen man of the world, "do you know anything more wonderful?"

"I should think I did."

"What is it?"

"Did you ever hear people getting an answer before they send?"

"What do you mean?" asked the man.

"I only mean the sixty-fifth of Isaiah: 'And it shall come to pass, before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear'."—Publisher Unknown.

HENRY FORD ON REPEAL

"Our present industrial system simply cannot work with liquor.

"We must choose between drink and poverty on the one hand and Prohibition and prosperity on the other. There is no middle ground.

"The brain of a man who drinks alcohol cannot be wholly quick and alert.

"My experience has been that there can be no temporizing whatsoever with liquor. Therefore, since the very beginning we have in our industries enforced the rule of absolute, total abstinence, both in and out of the shops and offices.

"Brains and booze will not mix."—Ladies' Home Journal.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Mrs. W. H. Neese in Hospital

It is a matter of much regret to the many friends of Brother and Sister W. H. Neese that she is suffering the ordeals of a hospital experience. We trust that her recovery from the operation may be rapid and certain; in the meantime she will have our sympathy and prayers.

Democrat Charge

Two days, October 17-18, were given to this charge. On Monday afternoon the fourth quarterly conference was held at Democrat, with twelve officials present, representing all the churches. The reports of Pastor Cook and the Sunday School superintendents indicated a year of progress. Three of the churches have Sunday Schools, all organized this year, and one—Paint Fork—unites with the Baptist people in running a union school. The Democrat church has no school. At Pensacola, Rally Day was observed. No other church of the charge observed any of the special days. The pastor reported that good results had attended the revivals held on the charge. During the year 26 persons have been added to the church rolls. The pastor reported, also, that he had made 500 visits among his people. The officials indicated their purpose to push collections. This is very much needed, as finances are greatly in arrears. The large two-story parsonage at Democrat has been converted into a bungalow, and the pastor expects to occupy it soon. This is Brother Cook's first charge. He has given faithful service to the work, and has won the confidence and esteem of his people. The quarterly conference asked unanimously for his return. The churches are having revived interest under his leadership. One difficulty, however, is inadequate financial support. We trust that the people may find a way of making this more generous and that the revived interest on this charge may result in growing strength and usefulness for these churches. While on the charge we were entertained by Sister Williams (sorry not to be able to give initials), Brother Dolph Wilson and family and Brother and Sister Cook. We acknowledge our indebtedness for these kindnesses. We were glad to have this contact with this charge, and to see the matchless colorations of foliage which the mountains display at this season. Only God can paint scenes so beautiful.

Asheville

On Wednesday night, October 19, we were with this church in the fourth quarterly conference. The attendance was large and the interest greatly pleasing. Rev. J. Elwood Carroll has been with the church, as pastor, since June 15, and during this time he has proved himself an energetic, thoughtful, and efficient leader. The church is well organized, with a growing Sunday School, a Senior and an Intermediate Christian Endeavor Society, and an active Auxiliary. Along with the regular activities the church held during the summer a Vacation Bible School, with an enrollment of 93 children, and a Standard Leadership Training School. The pastor's report was comprehensive and complete. He has visited in every Methodist Protestant home in the city, and made a total of 200 pastoral calls. During his pastorate 16 persons have been received into the church, and 21 for the year. The Woman's Auxiliary has 19 active members, and has raised $112 during the year. The Senior Society has increased its membership during the year by 21 members, and has fostered a Junior Society, which is also very active. The Junior Society has paid $7.29 to the Treasurer of the church during the year, and ten of its members have united with the church. The Senior Society has paid $5 per week to the church since June. The Sunday School is well organized and in good working condition. The Superintendent stated that in 1930 the average attendance was 61; in 1931 it was 49; in 1932, 68. He pointed out that the low average was during the year when the church had no pastor. The school has raised during the year, $238. An interesting, and quite encouraging feature of the conference, was the report on pledges for next year. The report showed pledges to the amount of $1,167, with $200 from other sources to be added, making a total of $1,367. One or two other stewards were yet to be heard from. The salary was fixed at $1,200 for next year, and the pastor unanimously asked to return. His salary for this year is paid to date. The church roof has been painted during the year, also the parsonage roof repaired, and the interior of the parsonage calcimined. Everything points to a good year with the Asheville church. We have never found more promising conditions there.

Brother J. S. Williams, the Good Samaritan of Asheville, gave a brief report of his work. This is 21 years that he has been serving in this capacity. During this time he has had service contacts with many thousands of people, representing 46 states and 29 foreign countries. In this service he has expended $144,000 from sources outside of Asheville. His service contacts for this period have been 900 per month, or a total for the 21 years of 226,800. Brother Williams is doing a great work, and it is to our credit and inspiration as a conference that we can furnish a man so eminently fitted for this position.

It was a great pleasure to us to be in this conference, and to find the unity and hopefulness that prevailed. Brother Carroll has won his way to the esteem and confidence of the church, and we hope that a new day has dawned for our Asheville work.

We are greatly indebted to Brother and Sister Williams for the hospitality of their home.

Bethel Home

Our visits to the charges beyond the Blue Ridge have always included a visit to the Bethel Home. They would be incomplete without this. We found Brother Casto, "The Boss," in his normal good attitude toward life, and in his usual good health, with perhaps the exception of a slight cold, which we are sure is better by this time, if his grape fruit juice holds out. Mrs. Sharpe, from the Orange charge, is there.

She and the other patients seemed to be in good spirits. We enjoyed our visit with old friends in the Home, and also meeting new ones. Bethel Home is a rich benediction to all who come within its sheltering care. We thank Brother Casto and his interesting household for kindnesses to us.

Broadcasts from "Cheer-up" Station COBO, High Point, N. C.

"All financial obligations in full" is the goal of First church, High Point. "Loyalty" program now on is increasing church attendance.

Lebanon expects to pay salary in full, and has paid allotment to Sunday School and C. E. for C. C. R. E. (Young People's Work).

Bethel Church, Randolph Charge, will pay all financial obligations in full.

Why Not Charge: Seagrove has paid all claims in full; Love Joy and New Zion have paid salary in full; salary will be paid in full at New Hope.

A new church is to be organized at Ulah on the fifth Sunday, with 15 or 20 charter members.

Pastor Reynolds says that the general condition of this charge is good.

West Rorsyth Charge: Pleasant Hill and Baltimore churches will pay salary in full.

Brother Surratt writes: "Whitakers and Enfield churches are out on World Service claims. We are pushing all other interests. Will make creditable showing, I think."

Shiloh church, Shiloh charge, will pay allotment for C. C. R. E.

Salary on Cleveland charge remains the same for next year, $1,400.

The Time Is Short

Two weeks from tomorrow we will be meeting at Burlington to hold our annual session. Between now and that time much work is to be done. The fourth quarterly conference is to be held; church officers are to be elected and installed; church registers are to be revised; pastors are to be paid; and budget allotments collected. This is certainly enough work for two weeks, and if we do not push, it will be a great deal more than we will get done. But by diligence and co-operation a GREAT DEAL can be accomplished. Please, brethren, pastors and church officials, push these final matters, and let us leave no stone unturned in the efforts of these closing weeks. Salaries are not large, and pastors will certainly need all that is due them. Their obligations, made during the year, can not be met unless their salaries are paid. We urge that earnset effort be made to do this. And the Budgets must not be overlooked. We can not maintain the conference nor the Denomination unless we can collect the budgets. Our Superannuates, our Board of Church Extension, our educational institutions, our mission work, our young people's work, and much else that goes into the program of a great church, must suffer if our budgets are not paid. We URGE again, therefore, that every church and every charge pay the last possible dollar on these budget obligations. And let me suggest that we make these financial obligations in these closing days a matter of prayer. We wll give more if we make our giving a matter of prayer.

Appointments

October 26.—Pleasant Grove charge, in quarterly conference.

October 29.—Davidson charge, in quarterly conference.

October 30.—Yadkin College, 11 A. M.

November 2.—Wednesday night, Spencer.

November 9.—ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

"Be not weary in well doing."

Fraternally yours,
S .W. Taylor.

MOSES TALKING AND LISTENING

Prayer is conversation with God. And conversation consists of talking and listening. Some people think they are conversing when, in reality, they are only talking. Our prayers fail because we have not learned to converse with God. We do all the talking and expect God to do all the listening. The result is, we do not learn the mind of God.

At the mouth of the Mersey—a little way from Liverpool—there is a bell deep down in the water and forever ringing. I passed over it a few days ago but heard none of its music. I was on deck amid the hum of men's voices. But I might have heard it had I withdrawn from my fellows to a little cabin and put my ear to a delicate little instrument and listened. I did not hear because I did not retire to the place of silence and listen. It is not in the roar of the earthquake or the crackling of the fire that we find God. It is when we listen for the "still small voice."—Doran's Minister's Manual.

THE HERALD CAMPAIGN

It will soon be over for this year. Let us make this last effort to get every subscriber paid up to date. Now you no doubt wonder who I mean by "us". Well, it means a number of different folks, first the subscriber, be he layman or preacher, ought to feel the personal responsibility of paying his subscription. Then there is a responsibility on the part of the subscription chairman, who should solicit new subscriptions and renewals. Then again there is the responsibility on the part of the Pastor by virtue of his office to see that the Herald is properly represented and presented.

All together let us do our duty by the Herald.

Yours for the Herald,
E. L. Douglas, Chairman,
Directing Committee.

SHALL OUR PRESIDENT TRAVEL?

In a recent issue of The Herald Brother Fogleman suggested that the next Annual Conference station the president. Believing that this is a wise step to take, in the interest of economy, and that it will not retard the work of the Conference, we hope that a resolution to this effect will be presented to the next session of the Annual Conference.

A. D. Shelton,
C. E. Ridge,
J. D. Morris.

OUR STORY PAGE

COALS OF FIRE

All the way home from Sunday School Helen was trying to think of some one upon whose head she could "heap the coals of fire" her teacher had spoken of. But she had no enemies that she could call to mind. She resolved to ask Roy what he thought about it. Roy was Helen's brother, and, being a couple of years older than herself, she always went to him when she wanted advice.

Roy, however, could not help her at all on the enemy question; but he sensibly observed, after thinking a while, that he didn't see why you couldn't help people who weren't enemies just as well.

"But the coals of fire, Roy?" Helen reminded him, with a doubtful look.

"Oh, that's only a figure of speech," said Roy, with the grownup air that Helen always admired. "It's the principle of the thing you've got to look at, you know, and that's doing good wherever you can."

Helen supposed Roy must be right, but somehow it didn't seem to be quite the meaning the Sunday School teacher had wished to convey. She was still puzzling over it the next afternoon, when her mother sent her, after school, to the dressmaker's, to have her new frock fitted. Miss Simmons was a pleasant little body, and had a way with her that seemed to invite the confidence of perplexed people; and almost before Helen realized it she was telling the busy little dressmaker all about her difficulty.

"Well," said Miss Simmons, with her mouth full of pins, "I guess Master Roy was about right. Helpfulness is what the Lord wants of us, I expect, and as to enemies, why, if you haven't got any of your own—and I don't really see how you could have, Miss Helen—there's always plenty of other people you can show kindness to."

Helen didn't quite understand.

"Well, it's this way," Miss Simmons went on. "There's a heap of people in this world that have done harm to somebody and are pretty miserable because of it; I expect if you should show them a kindness they didn't look for or deserve, that would be heaping coals of fire. Now there's an old lady upstairs, in my second floor front—Mrs. Clarkson, her name is—and I guess she's in need of coals of fire, if anybody is. She's all alone in the world, and nearly blind, and as cranky and disagreeable as they make 'em. She must have made things pretty uncomfortable for a good many folks in her time, I'm thinking. S'pose you try your hand on her?"

"But I'd be afraid," protested Helen.

"Oh, she'll be nice enough to you," Miss Simmons said, encouragingly. "She couldn't well be anything else."

So Helen went upstairs with Miss Simmons, and found in Mrs. Clarkson a very lonely and unhappy old woman. She was all alone in the world, she told Helen, except for her tortoise-shell cat, Dick Whitington, and now she had come back to die in the town where she had spent her happy girlhood.

"But you're not going to die," Helen said, cheerily, though she felt very sad and sorry. "Miss Simmons will take good care of you, and I'll come and see you, if you'll let me, and before you know it you'll feel like a different person. It's being lonely that makes you so unhappy."

At the supper table that evening Helen told of her visit to Miss Simmons' boarder.

"And, mother," she said when she had finished, "Mrs. Clarkson says she hasn't been able to read her Bible for nearly a year; her eyes are so weak and the print seems to strain them so."

"Why doesn't she get a Bible like the big one in our bookcase," said Roy. "I warrant she could read that all right."

"Perhaps she hasn't the money to spare for one," observed Mrs. Weston. "Those large, clear print Bibles are quite expensive, you know. But perhaps we might lend her that one for awhile, if you would care to carry it to her."

"Why, mother!" exclaimed both the children at once, and Helen added, in a choked voice, "That was grandma's Bible."

"I know, dear," Mrs. Weston said softly, "but what do you think grandma would wish us to do? leave the Bible in the book-case, when it might give peace and comfort to a poor, lonely old woman?"

Helen's eyes grew moist. She knew well enough what grandma would have wished—dead, kind grandma, who no longer had any need of Bibles.

So the next afternoon Roy and Helen went together to carry the treasure to Mrs. Clarkson. Dick Whittington ran under the sofa as the two entered the room, perhaps fearing that Roy might be like some other boys he had known in his short cat-life; but Dick Whittington's mistress looked up with a smile of welcome.

"This is my brother Roy, Mrs. Clarkson," Helen said, glancing proudly at Roy as she took the Book from him, "and we've brought you grandma's Bible, 'cause mother thinks it will make you feel better. The old lady took the Book in her trembling hands and opened it reverently, and the first thing that greeted her dim eyes was a quaint little bookmark of perforated cardboard that had been one of grandma's dearest treasures. It bore the familiar verse: "Love one another," worked in faded blue silk, with a tiny bunch of forget-me-nots in one corner.

"Where did you get this?" the old lady asked, looking up at the children with startled eyes. "Why, I made that bookmark myself when I was a little girl! I remember it as well as if I did it only yesterday—and I gave it to Elmira Whitney for her birthday. Do you mean to say that Elmira was your grandmother?" she asked Helen excitedly. "Why, child, she was the dearest friend I ever had when we were girls together!"

By this time the children were as excited as Mrs. Clarkson herself. It seemed strange and wonderful to them that this old lady and their grandma should have been children together in this very town, in those far-away years of which even mother knew no more than they knew themselves. And then, laying the precious Bible carefully aside, Mrs. Clarkson showed them some of the hoarded treasures of her youth, and among them, in a little velvet case, was a quaint, wonderful picture of grandma herself, taken on glass and colored. The children gazed at it in awed astonishment. Was it possible that grandma, whom they remembered as a stately old lady with snow-white hair, could ever have looked like this brown-haired, rosy-cheeked girl, with the prim silk dress?

To their delight, Mrs. Clarkson said they might carry the picture home to show to mother; and away they went, with flying feet, while the old lady watched them from the window, with a softened look upon her face.

''Well, your experiment worked out finely, Miss Helen,'' said Miss Simmons, smiling, a day or two later. ''Those coals of fire seem to have warmed Mrs. Clarkson up considerably. Hasn't felt so light-hearted in years, she told me this morning, and she certainly seems a lot happier. She isn't anything like as cranky, either.''

Helen smiled happily.

''I guess grandma's Bible was all she needed, Miss Simmons,'' she said.—Young Soldier.

◆

THE GLORY OF HARD TIMES

Hard times have a glory all their own. There ought to be glory enough to go around, then, in these days. If there are any individuals anywhere who are not feeling the pressure of hard times, ''The Globe'' does not know of them. From kings and presidents to the humblest and lowliest, unusual hardship is the common experience of all. There is always a challenge in hard times. Any one can go down hill; the man who can push on up hill while the tug is all the other way is a man to tie to. And it is a matter for congratulation that in every land today there are countless numbers of people, men and women and children, who have said to themselves and to one another that they are not going to give in or give up because of the unprecedented difficulties that face us all. They are doggedly holding their ground or courageously pushing ahead. This attitude, not unusual but far more prevalent than we may imagine, is in itself one of the glories of hard times. Such times bring out the best in human nature—even if, in other cases, they may bring out the worst.

Another glory of hard times is the spirit of mutual helpfulness that shows itself. People are more patient with one another; they know, from their own experience, something of what others must be enduring, and harsh or critical judgments are not so likely to be heard. The old proverb that ''misery loves company'' may have a touch of cynicism in it; but it expresses the fellow-feeling that comes out in times of peculiar stress and uncertainty.

Human resources are likely to be discovered, in days like these, to a degree never before experienced. Men find in a new way what they can do for themselves and what they can do for their fellows. We are all too prone to live on the surface of things; hard times force us to go deeper and tap riches that we may not have realized were there. So tribulation and affliction often mark times of rich discovery.

They strip away, also, many ideas we once held as to supposed necessities of life—we find now that many of these are not necessities at all, but luxuries that can quite well be spared. The important difference between what we want and what we need comes out in a new and shining way.

But, far beyond and above all these human glories of hard times, there is a blessing that is not human but Divine, not temporal but eternal, which may be had by all who seek it with their whole heart in days of darkness and difficulty. It has been demonstrated over and over again through the centuries that men often come to know God in adversity as they never could in prosperity. Hard times often drive us in conscious weakness and helplessness to God—and that is glory indeed.—Toronto Globe.

◆

DOVES ON THE WIRE

Just out of reach from my window stretches a wire, which carries a heavy current of electricity for light and power. It is carefully insulated at every pole that supports it, and is carried well out of common reach. If I could lean far enough out to touch it, death would be swifter than the tiger's leap or the serpent's sting, as swift as the lightning stroke.

Yet the doves light on it and take no harm. They fly from my window-sill, where I sometimes feed them, to perch and rest upon it in safe content, and then fly off again to their search for food or nesting. The secret is that, when they touch the full-powered wire, they touch nothing else. They give themselves wholly to it. My danger would be that, while I touched the wire, I should also be touching the earth through the walls of my house; and the current would turn my body into a channel for escape. But they rest wholly on the wire, and experience neither dread nor danger. They are one with it, and they are safe.

So would God have us seek our safety in complete self-surrender to His power and love. It is when we reach one hand to Him, while yet we keep fast hold of some forbidden thing with the other, that we are in danger. It is the heart's clasp of earth that ruins prayer. ''If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me.''—The Elim Evangel.

◆

IN HARNESS

Today we use automobiles and trucks instead of carriages and wagons, but the older people at least know all about harness. Do you remember the conversation which took place between two men who had long been members of the same church? One of them said: ''I've been in harness in this church twenty-two years.''

''Yes,'' replied the other, ''and in that time you have worn out fifteen hold-back straps and only one collar.''

That might have been a remark more witty than true but it was very suggestive. Which part of your church harness is most badly worn—the hold-back straps or the collar? Have you helped or have you hindered? Have you pulled or have you held back? The honest answer to these questions might be embarrassing to some of us.—The Watchman-Examiner.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for October 30, 1932

WHAT SHALL OUR GROUP DO ABOUT PROHIBITION

Scripture Text—I Cor. 10:31-33; Luke 12:6,7.

The object of the three past meetings has been to get before young people some of the facts of prohibition. No movement is satisfying or complete if it does not give a chance for expression. We are faced tonight with the matter of action. All of the theory in the world is worthless unless it is given the opportunity for action. This then is the important meeting of the month and in fact the one for which the others have paved the way. There is something that enthusiastic Christian Endeavor members can do and we seek to find it.

Every loyal supporter of law and prohibition can inform himself so that he has a ready volley for any wet talk. We are constantly placed in the company of those who are for repeal. There is nothing quite so pricking as to have one's argument answered by facts and figures. The people who cry for liquor are not very much given to the use of the whole truth and here is a glorious opportunity for the champions of right to deal a deadly blow to the forces of evil. If the truth were wholly known about prohibition, every thinking man would be a champion of its cause. We need enlightenment and correction and there is a chance for every young person to work. Dry literature should be placed where it would be of most use and value and here again is a chance for service. Give of your time and strength to bear the news of freedom to those who are controlling the destinies of the nation by their votes.

We hear it advocated on every hand that it is the duty of every loyal citizen to vote. I may be in the dark, but I feel like asking, "Vote for whom?" As I see it there is little choice in presdential candidates from the stand on prohibition. As we stated some time ago, the president has little direct influence but the final tribunal on prohibition will be Congress. If the proper men and women are put into our legislative bodies, we are assured of a dry nation. The political parties have catered to the opinion that is apt to give the greater number of votes and they will continue this policy. When an awakened citizenship calls for the enforcement of law and absolute prohibition, then we will have prefect assurance that the Eighteenth Amendment will be as matter-of-fact as the remainder of the Constitution. Parties are made by their constituentcy and adopt their policies on that basis. The final enforcement of law and the security of prohibition rest with the people who make up our nation.

A cause is never so badly crippled as when the morale of its members breaks down. "There is no defeat but within." As long as the advocates of prohibition have faith in their cause, there is no defeat. Many people are quasi supporters of right and are ardent in the presence of those who are aflame with zeal, but return to their doubts when they are faced with the fight to maintain ground. A man ceases to be a supporter when he doubts the virtue of his cause. Those who stand for prohibition are on the right and need only to pray for the faith to stand solidly for their convictions.

We are in need of a great deal of common sense, The newspapers are being filled with wet propaganda that becomes very evident to the discerning man. Savor all you read with a grain of wit and sense, forall that is appearing in print today is not truth. There may be people near you whom you can aid in separating the truth from falsehood concerning prohibition. We need more people who are willing to preach the good news and stand solidly behind what they advocate. If we had a few martyrs for the cause, we would see an awakened sentiment in its favor.

Prohibition is a blessing, not in disguise, but evidenced in happier homes, economic advancement, sounder bodies, better social conditions and blessings in thousands of ways. It is the law of the United States and should be respected and observed as such. From a sentimental standpoint we are pledged to it, as Christians we are bound to it, and as citizens we must fight for it and do our part in holding it sacred. As Endeavorers we should be challenged by the message of prohibition and consecrate our lives to the whole-hearted support of it. Our group can stand undivided for this great cause and show to the world that we place civic and personal righteousness above appetites or sellsh motives.

Quotable Poetry

Is true freedom but to break
Fetters for our own dear sage,
And, with leathern hearts, forget
That we owe mankind a debt?
No. True freedom is to share
All the chains our brothers wear;
And with hand and heart to be
Earnest to make others free.
They are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak;
They are slaves who will not choose
Hatred, scoffing, and abuse,
Rather than in silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think;
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.

—James Russell Lowell.

Suitable Songs

"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "As a Volunteer," "Throw Out the Lifeline," "The Handwriting On the Wall," "Rescue the Perishing," "Help Somebody Today," "Am I a Soldier of the Cross?" and "Follow the Gleam."

◆

SPECIAL APPOINTMENT AT TABERNACLE

Thinking that it might help to get a few more dollars for the budget, Tabernacle church voted for the pastor to preach next Sunday, October 30, which is the fifth Sunday, at 11 a. m.

H. L. ISLEY.

◆

—Rev. J. H. Abernethy since he turned farmer is gaining distinction among Guilford county farmers by his successful crop productions. His fields are attractive.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Brown Summit S. S., Haw River	$ 2.00
Shiloh S. S., Shiloh	2.79
Henderson S. S.	8.37
Harris Chapel S. S., Vance	1.53
The Friendly Class, Calvary, clothing child	3.50
Union Ridge S. S., Forsyth	2.16
Mt. Carmel, Forsyth	2.30
Salem S. S., Saxapahaw	3.37
Midway S. S., Haw River	3.00
Mebane S. S.	15.80
Liberty S. S., Liberty-Moriah	2.60
Baraca class, Bethel, Alamance	1.60
Bethel, Alamance	2.10
The Onward class, Connellsville, Pa., clothing child	5.00
Young Men's Bible Class, Thomasville, clothing child	5.00
Calvary S. S.	15.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, Mebane, two dresses.

Mrs. C. W. Bates, Calvary, five dresses, one coat, three suits of pajamas and a bundle of coat hangers.

We thank you one and all for these gifts in money and in substance. A number of Octagon coupons have also been received.

For the next few days please send in all money collected for the Home just as soon as you get it, so we may include all of it in our report to conference.

Harvest Home Offering

The offerings in produce were such a wonderful help to us last fall that we feel to keep reminding you to plan for one on your charge this year. Send it to us if you can, if not call us and we will come for it.

Thanksgiving

Let every charge and every friend of the Home on every charge in the conference get ready for the BEST YET Thanksgiving offering for the Children's Home.

A most earnest appeal is going out from every orphanage in the state for a liberal offering for the Home in which your interests center. Your Children's Home is in dire need of your very best help.

God bless you in your planning to help in a needy and a worthy cause.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

—Henry Coble is dead of heart-failure and will be buried at Pleasant Garden today. His father was Dr. Wesley Coble, his mother was Sallie Fentriss.

—The North Carolina State Grange will meet in Davidson county next year where there are 16 subordinate granges with a membership of 850 persons.

—Two thousand hungry people of England are moving toward London, seeking means of relief.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

SUGGESTED MONEY RAISING PLASS FOR EACH MONTH

APRIL—Birthday party—Penny for each year of age. Ask each member to plant at least one potato to be harvested for July income.

MAY—Flower plant sale.

JUNE—Sale of fryers, eggs, produce or equivalent or cash contribution.

JULY—Harvest potatoes from April planting.

AUGUST—Ice cream supper, watermelon feast or outdoor festival.

SEPTEMBER—Thank Offering.

OCTOBER—Old-Fashinoed spelling bee—Blue-backed speller—small admission charged.

NOVEMBER—Turkey or chicken dinner or food sale.

DECEMBER—Sale of Christmas seals and cards or sale of Christmas greens, trees or wreaths.

JANUARY—Brunswick stew—either serve or take orders and deliver.

FEBRUARY—Thank-offering.

MARCH—Travelling basket or patch apron.

A copy of these plans was mailed to each Auxiliary immediately after Branch meeting (except to those who got copies at Branch meeting). Have you tried them? If you have, please tell the treasurer about it the next time you send in money, or if you have other plans that have worked well, tell us about them. Let us help each other by exchanging plans and suggestions.

MRS. S. W. TAYLOR, Treasurer.

MISSION STUDY CLASS, FOURTEENTH DISTRICT

The annual mission study class of the fourteenth district was held at Pleasant Hill church, on West Forsyth charge, Thursday, September 29, beginning at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. T. L. Speas, of Winston-Salem, chairman of the district, presided over the meeting. Mrs. J. F. Hunter, of Pleasant Hill church, gave a cordial welcome to those present and Mrs. R. A. Hunter, of Maple Springs church, responded to the welcome address. Miss Anna Cox, of Hickory Ridge church, conducted a very fine and helpful devotional service, which was concluded with prayer by Rev. R. A. Hunter.

The first lecture of the day was given by Mrs. W. B. Speas, president of the Pleasant Hill Auxiliary. She reviewed in a very interesting manner the foreign study book, "Heroes of the Chinese Revolution." Following the lecture, a beautiful duet was rendered by Mrs. B. A. Sprinkle and Mrs. J. F. Hunter. During the noon recess a bounteous dinner was served on the lawn of the church.

In the afternoon Dr. J. E. Pritchard, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, Winston-Salem, reviewed the Home Mission study book, "Facing the Future in Indian Missions." This book deals with the life, problems and opportunities of the American Indian. Dr. Pritchard was followed by Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, of Mebane, chairman of districts, who was the guest speaker of the day, and brought greetings from all the other districts in the state. In her address she paid a fine compliment to the women of this district because of the splendid work they are doing.

A vote of appreciation was given to Mrs. T. L. Speas, the chairman of the district, for her splendid leadership in the work of the district. Five churches and three charges were represented at the meeting, the Auxiliary of First Church, Winston-Salem, having the largest number present. The next meeting will be held at Hickory Ridge church, the time of the meeting to be decided later.

MRS. J. F. HUNTER, Secretary.

NOTICE TO AUXILIARIES

Thursday at Conference is "Woman's Day" and we hope very much that each Auxiliary may be well represented.

As you know, the N. C. Branch is supporting Mr. Minnis in India, at least we promised to, and we are distressingly behind with his pay, so we plan to take an offering for him on that day. Please see that your auxiliary brings or sends a liberal offering at that time and you will get credit on yous budget for the amount.

Come on, everybody, and let's make Mr. Minnis feel good by paying his salary up to date.

MRS. S. W. TAYLOR, Treasurer.

MISS HODGES' WORK

Miss Hodges will begin work November 16-20 in District number 1, with Mrs. J. H. Cutchins. Then November 21-24, we hope for her to be in District number 2, with Mrs. R. W. Harris. November 25 27, in District number 3, with Mrs. H. A. Garrett. November 28 29 in District number 4, with Mrs. W. J. Jennings.

We hope to give further dates next week. Thanks to those chairmen who have expressed their willingness to co-operate in this itinerary.

MRS. H. C. NICHOLSON,
Chairman of Districts.

THE MOSTEST FUN AT WEST END

The West End pastor has just lots of fun with his little girl and with other little girls too. On the particular night in question the pastor was very, very tired. At an early hour the daddy challenged the little girl on a race on who would get ready for bed first. We just had the mostest fun and it's now it is not difficuult to know that both were difficult to know who got in bed first but well in the land of sleep when some one came to daddy's room door much excited and exclaimed "Daddy get up quick, the house is full of folks." It did not take "Daddy" long to get out of the land of slumbers but to get dressed it seemed that he could not. The excitement was too great and the fingers were all thumbs. But when finally he found himself in the front room of the house—sure enough there they all were. Yes the house was full. When people come to see us we always like to be polite and give them all seats. But it could not be done. There were not enough chairs. Embarrassed and excited some more. But my, my the folks, they just had the mostest fun. They just laughed and laughed at the preacher. But when the preacher and the wife (she was excited too) got around in the dining room we found the most good things. And then we just laughed and lauged and WE then had the most fun. Well it was all so funny how it all came about. The people all made it up and we did not have the least thought of such a thing and they had lots of fun. And we have been having lots of fun ever since. Well indeed it was a fine donation brought to the parsonage by our good people. It would be fine to make mention of all the people and of all the articles donated but too many folks and too many good things for all to be mentioned. The Good Lord knows how much and how many. And we are asking the Good Lord to bless each one richly out of his bounties. And surely we are thankful to each one.

After we had enjoyed a time together the pastor attempted to express the appreciations of the family, which he could not do for the lack of words. Then a prayer was offered as we worshiped the Good Lord all together as pastor and people.

This is twice during the year the good people of West End have pounded the preacher. Hard times or no hard times these good people do not fail to remember their pastor. God bless them every one. Many thanks.

GEO. L. CURRY, Pastor.

C. H. HARDIN PASSES 90TH BIRTHDAY

C. H. Hardin, prominent and retired merchant of Julian, yesterday observed his 90th birthday anniversary at his home, all of his children and some close friends being present to help him enjoy the occasion. Dinner was spread at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Hardin, who was born October 21, 1842, the son of John and Elizabeth Ross Hardin, is remarkably active for a man of his years, a friend of the family told the Daily News yesterday. He attends Sunday school at Julian Methodist Protestant church every Sunday and does not use glasses. He is the last surviving member of a family of seven.

Mr. Hardin has been a member of the Methodist Protestant denomination for 75 years, having first joined Tabernacle church. He was a mmber of the building committee that had charge of erecting the present church edifice. Twenty-six years ago he became a charter member of Julian Methodist Protestant church. He tis a Confederate veteran, having served throughout the civil war as a member of Company I, fifth North Carolina cavalry.

Present for his birthday celebration were the following children: Mrs. W. T. Hanner, Julian; J. E. Hardin, Greensboro; W. H. Hardin, Liberty; Misses Lizzie and Anna Hardin, who live with their father. Also present were six grandchildren. Others invited included Rev. H. L. Isley, pastor of Julian and Tabernacle churches, and Mrs. Isley, and Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Gregg, of Liberty.—Daily Uews.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Pleasant Hill Church, West Forsyth.—The services last Sunday were attended well. There were two preaching services during the day. Rev. C. B. Way had charge of the morning service, and Rev. R. A. Hunter, pastor of Forsyth charge, preached at the afternoon service. Both services were interesting and helpful to all present. The members brought dinner to the church and this was enjoyed by all.

The revival meeting lasted through last week, with Rev. R. A. Hunter helping in the meeting. Although there were no open conversions we feel that every one was helped to the fullest extent by attending these services.

The Young People's Missionary society of this church presented two collection plates to the church on last Sunday morning.

The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary is giving a dinner in Belk's Tea Room, at Winston-Salem on November 3.

REPORTER.

◆

Antioch, Mecklenburg Charge.—I feel like this has been a good year for our church. Our Sunday school was organized in the spring with 23 members and we have an enrollment of around 75 with an average attendance of 55. I feel sure that we have equaled, if not exceeded the other churches of our charge. (Saying this in gratitude from the heart and not boastingly.) We have also organized a Ladies' Aid, which has done splendid work for its short existence.

Our pastor has filled all appointments with splendid sermons and he and his family have endeared themselves so much with our people. We all especially like him and it is the desire of our church to have him with us another year if the Lord is willing the Conference sees fit. He has worked so faithfully during the entire year. And it would break our hearts to have him and his dear family removed from us. We are some in arrears with his salary but we hope to meet that before conference.

MRS. MAE MATTHEWS, Reporter.

◆

St. Paul Charge.—The pastor and family were taken by surprise on last Tuesday evening when members of the church began to invade the parsonage with the largest pounding we have received since we have been on this work. They brought flour, lard, sugar, meat, breakfast bacon, coffee, soda crackers, soup beans, salmon, fish, peaches canned, tomatoes canned, preserves, pickles, canned milk, cocoa, Jello, flavoring extract, potatoes, salad, soap, and washing powder. The dining room table looked like a grocery store when these good people had finished laying their articles upon it.

The work of this conference year has not been what we had hoped for; however it has been more successful than the previous year. We have some of as good and loyal workers here at St. Paul as there are to be found anywhere.

The Sunbeam Junior Missionary band under the leadership of Miss Flossie Jones, is doing splendid work. They are an earnest and hard working little band of missionaries.

The Sunday school and church work in all its departments is in the best shape for progress it has been under the present pastor. We received two new members Sunday on profession of faith; this making a total of 19 new memebrs for this conference year.

Rev. G. F. Millaway preached for us Sunday night; he brought a mesage that was helpful to all preesnt.

The Ladies' Aid society will have a chicken stew at the hut Saturday evening of this week. The pubilc is invited to come and get supper at twenty-five cents a plate.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held Thursday night, October 27.

D. I. GARNER, Pastor.

◆

Hebron, Orange Charge.—The fourth quarterly meeting was held at this church Saturday afternoon. Each church was well represented. The reports from each church were enouraging. We trust that every one will do his part in closing the year with a good report. The conference voted for the return of the present pastor.

The last appointment was filled in an excellent manner by the pastor. After the service the officers for the coming year were installed. G. L. Steele was appointed to succeed his brother, W. G. Steele, a trustee of the church, who was taken away from us by death. May each officer for the coming year do all in his power to make that year more successful in every way than ever before.

NANNIE McADAMS.

◆

Shiloh C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—Due to the weather conditions a very small number of young people heard the program on "What Does Alcohol Do to People and Society?" led by Mrs. Kyle Sink. This program was very interesting and I wish that more than 27 young people could have heard the splendid program.

Sunday night, October 23, 81 young people heard the lesson on "What Attempts Have Been Made to Solve the Liquor Problem, and With What Results?" led by Mrs. R. L. Troxler. This lesson was interesting and well discussed.

Come out next Sunday evening and hear another lesson on Prohibition discussed.

C. E. REPORTER.

◆

Mt. Pleasant, North Davidson.—Our fourth quarterly conference will convene at Canaan church Saturday before the fifth Sunday, with preaching at 11 o'clock, dinner on the ground, and business in the afternoon. Please all official members try to be present.

Rev. O. C. Loy was with us the fourth Sunday at the regular morning service, but as the church officers were to be elected he did not preach; but we are planning for preaching the fifth Sunday night at 7 o'clock. Come and bring your friends.

The church officers are: Stewards—J. R. Stone, W. D. Payne, L. H. Hilton, H. M. Perryman, Mrs. P. C. Reid, Mrs. Ray Ball; Junior Stewards— Tieva Reid, Ruth Green, Harrell Payue, Paul Green, Thomas Hilton; Trustees—E. S. Welborn, G. W. Hayworth, Roy Hilton, Ray Ball, Ruffin Stone, P. C. Reid; Ushers—Thomas Hilton, Ernest Ball; Church Treasurer — C. F. Green; Organist — Joseph Payne; Assistant—Treva Reid.

We have had much sickness in our community this year. Mrs. L. H. Hilton, who has been very sick, has improved and is able to be with us again. Mrs. G. W. Hayworth is in the High Point Hospital and underwent a serious operation, but seems to be improving Her son, Cletus Hayworth, is seriously ill at his home at this time. Mrs. C. F. Green, who is in Lawless' Cancer Sanitarium, Danville, Va., is getting along nicely. Little Aidis Payne has had tonsilitis but has improved.

This brings us to the close of our conference year. Let us ask ourselves the question, "Have we done all we could for the upbuilding of God's Kingdom?"

MILDRED GREEN, Reporter.

◆

Hope, Chatham.—On account of the extremely rainy weather last Sunday we had no evening service, which was to have been our last service before Conference. We regret very much that we were not permitted to meet in this service, but these are conditions over which we have no control.

Our Sunday school is coming along very nicely now, and our women are still working.

New church and Sunday school officers have been elected and duly installed, and we are hoping that all are going to put a "shoulder to the wheel" and move right along. Miss Blanche Routh is our newly elected reporter, and I am sure we are going to enjoy her reports.

The fourth quarterly conference meets with our church Saturday, October 29. We are hoping for a good attendance as there is always important business to attend to at this meeting.

May I close by wishing success to the Herald and all its readers.

KARA ANDREW.

◆

First Church, High Point.—It is not every church that can boast of an author of a worth-while book, but that proud distinction has come to First church upon the recent appearance from the press of MacMillan Co., New York, of "Human Nature and the Church," by Dr. Percy E. Lindley, dean of High Point College. While we have not yet had the pleasure and opportunity of examining and reading the book, we feel sure that, judging from the sermons and addresses of Dr. Lindley, this creation of his bright mind and masterful brain must be highly entertaining and worth while. There are 12 chapters, the subjects of which are appealing to thoughtful people: Primacy of Human Nature, Naturalness of Religion, The New Approach, Appeal Through Beauty, Physical Comfort in the Church, Individual Differences and the Church, Social Hunger, Self-Expression in Religion, Hero Worship and the Church, The Lure of Success, The Role of Sentiment, and Search for Certainty. Dean Lindley is the able professor of Religious Education and Psychology in High Point College, and is a popular speaker, being in great demand throughout the state. This newest venture in the literary field will be a worthy acquisition to the literature of the South, and especially to the too meagre collection by our native sons of the Old North State. Mr. Ralph H. Vance will handle this book, which will sell for $2.00 per copy, and it is well worth the price. We must sincerely congratulate Dr. Lindley upon this notable attainment of success.

The regular schedule of services was observed last Sunday. First, the Sabbath school assembled in the various classrooms at 9:45 o'clock under the leadership of Mr. J. Henry Jennings. The Junior church services at 11 o'clock were conducted by Misses Naomi Dawson and Mary Read Idol in the assembly room. In the main auditorium services for the adult congregation were led by the minister, Rev. Roy I. Farmer, who spoke impressively on the theme, "Discerning the Gift of God," from the conversation of Jesus with the Samaritan woman at the well. He always uses the simplest things to point a moral. In this instance He used water to typify the spiritual life. All through the Word of God He makes references to water. The sinful woman had in Him the source of living water. Water is a purifier; in it there is music, laughter, purity. The Samaritan woman did not want to talk about her sins, but Jesus would not let her turn away from them. She became ready to accept the help of Christ, to which He so tactfully brought her to repentance. He tasted death once for every man, and His grace is enough for the vilest sinner. After she accepted the living water of salvation, she ran and told her friends, "Come, see a man who told me all that I ever did!" Thus when we receive blessings from Christ, we should hasten to tell the glad news to others. Unless we adjust ourselves to the standards of Jesus there can be no permanent peace and happiness for us. O, sinful one, burden bearer, Christ never hesitates to trust people with His best. "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest; for my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

Rev. Mr. Farmer's subject for the evening message was "A Crown of Thorns." The attendance at these services is increasing in a gratifying manner.

Misses Mary Wall and Ruth Welch are appointed by the pastor to solicit subscriptions for the Methodist Protestant-Recorder, Baltimore.

On Tuesday evening there will be an important meeting of the Board of Stewards, who are working faithfully to close up the year's work satisfactorily.

Next Sunday morning election of officers for next year will be held, and on the Sunday following, November 6, they will be formally installed. On Monday evening, November 7th, the fourth quarterly conference will be held. Mr. F. A. Auman will represent this church at the Annual Conference at Burlington, which convenes November 9th, the day following the national election.

At the Wednesday evening prayer and praise service, Rev. Mr. Farmer will use "The Book of Numbers" for his discussion.

Impressive and appropriate ceremonies were held at the handsome new Junior High School building Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when a flag and a Bible were presented to the school by the four local councils of the Junior Order of U. A. M., and the Patriotic Order Sons of America. Mr. J. W. Sechrest, a veteran Junior, was in charge of the exercises. The Bible was presented by Rev. Charles Smith, and accepted by Superintendent T. Wingate Andrews. Hugh Mitchell, of Statesville, a representative of P. S. O. A., presented the flag, which was accepted by O. Arthur Kirkman, member of the school board. Mrs. R. E. Ranson, principal of the school, accepted both the flag and Bible on behalf of the school in a neat speech. Music was furnished by a quartet from Wesley Memorial Church. As the stars and stripes of Old Glory were flung to the air, the audience joined in "The Star-Spangled Banner."

In spite of the depressing hard times, fun and merriment reigned in the assembly room Monday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock, when the Senior C. E. Society entertained with a Halloween Depression Social. Members of the Young People's C. E. Society, as well as other friends, were special guests, and a majority of those present appeared in appropriate "tacky" costume. After a devotional rogram led by Mrs. Ralph H. Vance, games under the direction of Miss Myrtle Davis and Mrs. Vance were enjoyed. Miss Margaret Neese sang some popular numbers. Prizes for the "tackiest" costumes were awarded to Mrs. R. I. Farmer and "Buster" Moffitt. "Depression" refreshments consisting of sweet potato pie with whipped cream and peanuts were served. Newly-elected officers of this wide-awake group of young people are the following: President, Ralph H. Vance; first vice-president, Miss Myrtle Davis; second vice-president, Tyson T. Ferree; secretary, Miss Esther Pritchard; treasurer, Miss Ema Suits; reporter, Miss Gladys Snipes, and pianist, Miss Elizabeth Welch.

Rupert T. Pickens, finance director of the Democratic campaign for High Point township, and Dr. J. T. Burrus, ex-senator from Guilford, went to Friendship Airport Sunday to greet Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, wife of the Democratic nominee for President, who stopped there 30 minutes in an airplane flight from Atlanta to New York. Mrs. Roosevelt is described as tall, unassuming and gracious in manner. She is a niece of the famous "Teddy" Roosevelt, President and statesman, but differs from her distinguished uncle in politics.

Mrs. R. T. Pickens went to Winston-Salem last Friday to attend the Fifth District meeting of Daughters of the American Revolution. Fourteen other members made up the delegation from Alexander Martin chapter, High Point.

Many friends extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. R. Mayne Bundy upon the arrival of a young son in High Point Hospital on Tuesday, October 18. The little boy will bear the name, Robert Mayne Bundy, Jr. Mrs. Bundy before her marriage was Miss Blanche York, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. York.

We are sorry to note that Mrs. W. C. Hammond, secretary of the Board of Public Welfare, who has been ill several days, is not recovering as rapidly as was hoped, and is confined to her home on North Hamilton street. Mrs. W. K. Nance is substituting in her work at the city hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt McPherson have removed to Burlington, where he will have charge of the "Burlington Daily Times." Holt has been city editor of High Point Enterprise since his graduation at the State University, and has made good in the newspaper field. These popular young people are missed by a large number of friends in High Point, who hope that the transfer will be only a temporary one.

Tyson T. Ferree, young architect, has drawn plans for a large new apartment house for Mr. R. B. Gant, to be erected on North Main street. It will contain room for nine families, and will be thoroughly modern and up-to-date in every particular.

Mrs. O. D. McPherson went over to Lexington Sunday to visit her brother, Mr. John D. Holt, who has been ill for a long period.

Mrs. L. F. Honeycutt is again teaching at Hasty school on the Thomasville road.

Miss Mary Young, dean of women at the college, Misses Alma Andrews and Jacqueline Guinn, students, spent a recent week-end in Asheboro with Miss Elizabeth Ross.

◆

Rehoboth, Creswell Circuit.—There has been no report from this work in some time. We are still alive and doing well, under the circumstances. We are thankful our pastor, Rev. J. C. Russell, has been restored to health again. He was a great sufferer at times until he went to the hospital and had the cause removed. We enjoy so much the weekly Bible class he holds every Wednesday night. I know he has done a great deal of good in teaching the Bible as he does. He does a great deal of visiting among the sick, or wherever duty calls, in other denominations as well as his own. We hope to have him return for another year.

REPORTER.

◆

Mebane.—Our revival meeting closed Sunday night. Nine members were added to the church and a number of members reconsecrated themselves. The young people's service Friday night was perhaps the largest attended service and was very inspirational. We were glad to have Rev. and Mrs. N. G. Bethea visit with us one night; also glad to have Rev. and Mrs. B. M. Williams one afternoon.

The Woman's Auxiliary met Monday evening; a large crowd was present. The program was put on by the Willing Workers Circle and was indeed good. We are very much pleased to see our younger children developing so raipdly into real church workers. Mrs. H. C. Nicholson attended a meeting of a special committee Monday afternoon at the Children's Home at High Point.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Sides, of Pine Hall, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nicholson.

Rev. W. M. Loy has the sympathy of all friends in the serious illness of his mother. Mrs. Loy is in Duke Hospital. Her condition seems unchanged.

Mrs. George Bradley is recovering from a severe illness.

Mebane people are looking forward to the Conference and hope to avail themselves of its business sessions as well as special programs.

◆

Chestnut Ridge, Orange Charge.—I have been re-elected reporter again, so I guess I had better try and fill my place.

Our pastor, Rev. B. M. Williams, filled his last appointment here for this Conference year October 23. He delivered a wonderful message.

The fourth quarterly conference voted for the return of our pastor. We sure want him to come back to us, for he has served us so faithfully for eight years, and we do not feel like we can part with Mr. Williams and his family. Some change was made in electing church officers, as follows: Class leaders, J. B.

Faucette, S. E. Holmes, W. A. Pender, Mrs. C. A. Sykes, W. S. Sykes, G. W. Sykes, Jos. B. Sykes, L. B. Dodson, Lonnie Hastings; trustees, W. S. Dodson, S. N. Hayes, C. A. Sykes, D. M. Sykes, E. C. Sykes, P. F. Tapp, E. J. Thompson; stewards, J. C. Dodson, Jos. F. Holmes, C. H. Jones, E. E. Brown, J. M. Minnis, W. A. Moore, Sam Pender, Mrs. L. E. Sykes, C. H. Sykes; Sunday school superintendent, D. A. Pender; assistant Sunday school superintendent, J. T. Hobles; church secretary and treasurer, C. H. Jones; assistant secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Fannie Sykes; reporter, Annie Squires; pianist, Mrs. Maggie Sykes.

This church is behind with its work, but not like it was last year. We trust that it will pay up in full before Conference.

Best wishes to the Herald and its many readers.

ANNIE SQUIRES, Reporter.

◆

New Hope, Why Not Charge.—We are still trying to fight onward and upward. We are nearing the close of another Conference year and we feel that Bro. Reynolds has been a great inspiration to the church as a whole to try to do better.

Our Sunday school is still in full blast, having good attendance every Sunday.

We had planned to have a "Home Coming Service" on the third Sunday in October, but due to rainy weather did not get to have this service. We have planned to have this service on the first Sunday in November. All the members of this church are urged to be present on that day, as we are behind on some of the church claims. Also, we cordially invite everyone who has at one time lived in the community and moved away. Everybody bring a basket for the picnic dinner to be served at the noon hour. Part of the day will be spent in having a general class meeting. Please remember the date.

REPORTER.

◆

Bellmont, Mount Hermon Charge.—Our Sunday school attendance has been very good during the summer months. Now that vacation time is over we are trusting that it is going to be still better. Mr. Royzell Coble, the superintendent, and his splendid corps of teachers and officers are doing their best to make the school a success.

Sunday morning at the regular preaching hour the following church officers were elected: Trustees, G. A. Nicholson, V. B. Webster, W. A. J. Sharpe, and Dr. J. A. Pickett; stewards, Mr. Paul Lowder, Mrs. Marie Hargis Holt, and Miss Nannie Coble; treasurer, Miss Carrie Nicholson; class leaders, Mrs. Carrie Sharpe and Mrs. Mary Shoffner; ushers, Joe Lee Sharpe and Homer Hargis; Sunday school superintendent, Royzell Coble; assistant superintendent, Reed Brown; pianist, Mrs. Marie Hargis Holt; assistant pianist, Miss Nannie Coble; reporter, Miss Myrtle Holt.

Immediately following this election a very impressive installation service was held by our pastor. As far as I know, this was the first service of this nature to be held in our church. I believe these officers and the members as a whole, feel a deeper obligation to the church than ever before.

Next Sunday morning there will be preaching at 11 o'clock. This will be Bro. Mabry's last sermon before conference. The church register will be revised at this service.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held at Cedar Cliff church on Saturday afternoon, November 5th, at 2 o'clock.

Sorry to hear of Mrs. Mable Linens, one of our members, being critically ill. We hope she will soon be well. REPORTER.

◆

South Lexington Charge.—Although I have not reported for some time I am certain that Herald readers have been seeing the reports of our efficient reporters. Each church has one and our activities have been ably written up by them.

Interest in the services, manifested in part by good attendance, is evidently on the increase. We have built four new Sunday school rooms (for the First church), painted the church inside, two coats, beautified the yard, placed a nice marker on the highway, and built a cement walk to the road.

Last Tuesday night, October 18, our quarterly conference was held at Mount Carmel. Reports were good. Mr. J. J. Mallard, treasurer of First church, reported that pastor's salary for that chuch had been paid for the year with the exception of $20.00. In the four years of the present pastor's service an average yearly membership gain of 72 has been made. The quarterly conference voted unanimously for the return of the pastor for another year. We are hoping to pay a goodly portion of our Annual Conference claims. The people of this charge can be depended upon to furnish loyal support to the work of the church.

At present Brother Lee Williams, one of our faithful members, is ill. We hope that he will soon recover.

Hoping that the work of every pastor will be crowned with success.

C. G. ISLEY, Pastor.

◆

Union Grove.—Our Sunday school is progressing rapidly. We have reorganized. The officers are: Mr. B. M. Madison, superintendent; Mr. O. G. Templeton, assistant superintendent; Flora Mae Wooten, secretary and treasurer; Mozelle Templeton, assistant secretary, and Mr. Raymon Weisner, choir leader. Our teachers are as follows: Mrs. Huie Templeton, adult teacher, Mrs. Redwood, assistant; Miss Allison, teacher of Senior class, and Mr. B. M. Madison, assistant; Mrs. O. G. Templeton, teacher of Intermediate class, and Mrs. R. F. Rash, assistant; Mrs. Eno Templeton, teacher of Juniors; Mrs. Frank White, teacher of Beginners.

Our Sunday school has a very good record. On October 23 we had 81 present and $1.16 collection.

Christian Endeavor: Our special service is coming on just fine. We have reorganized; Etheridge Templeton is president; Lois White, vice-president; Mildred Hendrix, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Huie Templeton, our supervisor. We are hoping that our Christian Endeavor will be a success in the coming year, for we've had regular attendance in the past year. The Junior C. E. elected Mozelle Templeton as their teacher again for the future year.

Mr. Ferree delivered two inspiring sermons Sunday, one in the afternoon and the other at 7:30 in the evening. His evening subject was, "Good Master, what must I do to inherit eternal life?" We are hoping that he will be with us in the coming year and give us some more of his good sermons.

We were glad to have Rev. R. C. Stubbins to aid us in our meeting. I think everybody enjoyed his sermons and we are hoping he come back again soon. Although our confessions were few we feel the meeting was a success. Mr. Stubbins received a few cents over $22.00 for his work during the revival.

Eight of our members were present at the fourth quarterly conference. All churches on this circuit gave fairly good reports. All the churches were represented except one. Our alternate was instructed that we wanted Mr. Ferree back, the delegate not being present.

Our prayer meeting is still alive and I hope it won't die soon. In behalf of our church I want to give a special invitation to everybody to come and visit or join our church. We want you to feel perfectly at home with us. We also want to ask all the Christian people to pray for our church and its organizations that they may be successful in the future. A MEMBER.

◆

Union Grove, Mocksville Charge.—A number of our members attended the fourth quarterly conference at Bethel Saturday, October 22. It was a great pleasure to mingle with our fellow workers from the other churches, and the spirit of the meeting was an inspiration to us.

Other than the usual transaction of business was the instructing of our delegate to Annual Conference. The vote was unanimous for our pastor, Rev. G. B. Ferree, to be returned to us.

Bro. Ferree preached to us Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and again at night. Both sermons were soul-stirring and heart-searching and it seems we are having a real spiritual revival in our community as a result of them. Bro. Ferree has served us faithfully; he has shared with us in our joys and sorrows, and adverse circumstances without a murmur. His good wife and children are also a blessing to any people. May God's richest rest upon them and if it is His will we will be glad to have them with us again.

This is the close of our third year together in the work, and the better we know our pastor the more we appreciate him.

Pray for us.

MRS. HUIE TEMPLETON, Class Leader.

◆

Charlotte.—At our Sunday morning service our pastor, Dr. Andrews, preached a most earnest and inspiring sermon, entreating his hearers to live more consecrated lives. The attendance was very good.

Sunday evening the C. E. had a large attendance. The leader, Miss Gray Sykes, handled her subject in a very pleasing manner. The officers were installed for the ensuing year.

Song, "Jesus Saves," No. 94.

Scripture reading: Superintendent A. A. Ledbetter.

Prayer, Rev. R. M. Andrews.

Welcome: Lomar Stegal.

Exercise by Beginners: "Little Things," five Beginners—Willa Younginer, Dolly, Blake, Billy Harwood.

"Traffic Signals," James Fowler.

Caravans of Egpt: Macie Garmon and nine Primary children.

Offering. Joseph Little delighted the audience with a flute solo, "Andantino," Miss Mildred Younginer accompanying him on the piano.

"If They Were All Like You," Worth Cranford.

Song, "Bringing in the Sheaves,"

Brief story of the Ministerial Education Fund, Miss Mary Shaw.

Story of a minister who was helped by this fund, related by Mr. Herbert Garrison.

Some interesting facts about the Student Loan Fund, Miss Helen McCall.

Where our offering goes, Mrs. Candor.

Goodbye, Neville Katharine Younginer.

Song, "In My Heart There Rings a Melody."

Closing prayer and benediction by the pastor.

Mesdames Andrews, Stegall, Daughtry, Ledbetter and Miss Mildred Younginer were responsible for the success of the program.

The measuring party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stegall was a delightful affair. Those of you who did not come certainly missed an evening of fun. Much merriment was given by the "Bridal Journeys"—Mr. and Mrs. Fesperman, Dr. and Mrs. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Stegall, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Garmon. The costumes were gorgeous. Mr. and Mrs. Garmon won the prize, making their honeymoon trip from start to finish in the shortest time. The various prizes were: Money in the pocket of paper aprons. Delicious refreshments were served.

You are to have the Reporter of last year. I trust you will be patient with my mistakes. I thank you one and all. REPORTER.

◆

Graham.—Our revival services came to a close on Wednesday night of last week. Dr. Johnson was with us from the beginning, with the exception of Sunday morning. Dr. Johnson in his usual manner brought to us each heart-searching messages. He not only made us feel the weight of our sin, but he constantly fed us with the Bread of Life. It was not one of those meetings which visible results as sometimes sought for were in evidence. Those who like the spectacular did not come to hear Dr. Johnson, but only those who were anxious and willing to following him in his meditations.

Last Sunday morning the Junior choir and choir had charge of the music. We are proud of our young people. We have some promising young people here.

Next Sunday morning has been set aside as Membership Day. A special effort will be made to get a large attendance of our people at that time.

The fourth quarterly conference is being held on Tuesday night, November 1st.

J. CLYDE AUMAN.

◆

Friendship Station.—Our church work is progressing, under the efficient leadership of our pastor, Rev. O. B. Williams. We had a good service last Sunday morning; it was the fourth quarterly communion service. The pastor preached a short but helpful sermon. After the service the report of the nominating committee was read and our church officers for the ensuing year were duly elected. The church desired to express itself on the subject of pastoral supply for next year; so the vote was taken, and the action of the quarterly conference was confirmed in that the church at large voted for the return of Bro. Williams for another year. We regret that Bro. Williams would not positively agree to return, however, we are hoping for another good year under his leadership. We believe that he is one of the best in the North Carolina Conference; we feel that the successful year is largely due to the fact that we have a progressive pastor. Our finances are greatly behind. but this is not due to any failure of our pastor. As to good sermons and much visiting, he has made a good record.

The Christian Endeavor Society is making great progress and we are receiving new members at almost every meeting, and most of the members are regular in attendance. Our pastor and wife are regular in attendance at our C. E. meetings and at our socials; we find them to be great friends of all our young people.

Our Ladies' Aid Society has had the best year in its history, having made some fine improvements on the church and parsonage property; they will have a play at the Millingport School on Saturday night, November 5. There will be no admission charges.

We have just two more Sundays before Conference, and we are hoping for and expecting a good attendance at these services.

Our pastor has our heart-felt sympathy in the lass of his father, Mr. Alex G. Williams, who died in Durham on Tuesday, the 18th, and the burial was at Union Grove Methodist Protestant church in Orange County. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harkey accompanied our pastor and his wife, and attended the funeral.

◆

Orange Charge.—The fourth quarterly conference met at Hebron church Saturday, Octobe 22. This confeence was well attended. Some of the reports were extra good. Hebron reported a C. E. Society which has recently been organized and is doing good work. The financial condition has improved wonderfully during the last month. The spiritual condition was reported better than for the past two years.

Bro. B. F. Wilson, of Hebron church, was elected alternate delegate. The pastor's salary was fixed at $1,650.00 for next year. The conference voted to ask for the return of the present pastor. We appreciate this vote of confidence.

May God's blessings be upon our approaching Annual Conference.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

◆

Friendship Station.—We are now in the final days of another year at Friendship church; and as we look back over the year's work we are not satisfied, although there are marks of progress all along the way, we see so many things that we had hoped for, as yet unaccomplished. We have found out by our experience that the rural church, or country church, as we call them, are in comparison to the town or city church non-progressive; after an experience of about 15 years of town and city experience this is our conclusion. Of course this is not true in every case, because we have observed dead churches in the city as well as in the country.

The first week in August we held our annual revival meeting, with Bro. H. W. Bell, of Thomasville, as pastor's help. We had a good meeting, the church was greatly revived. We feel that the meeting was a great blessing to us all. We have added five new members to our church.

We have found many friends here. Some, we believe, are a bit more loyal than we have ever found elsewhere. You know that "a friend in need is a friend indeed."

We have held our fourth quarterly conference, and reports show that we are greatly behind with our finances; the stewards' report was to the effect that they had failed to make the collections mostly because of neglect. So the quarterly conference employed Bro. Charlie Hatley, our church treasurer, and agreed to pay him his wages for ten days, and instructed him to canvass every member of the church and collect the assessments or report the reason for non-payment to the church. The fourth quarterly conference passed a resolution last year that: "All members of Friendship church who fail to pay their assessment or pledge this year, or give a satisfactory reason for their failure, would be dropped from the membership of the church." We believe this is as it should be. We are to revise our church register before Conference according to this resolution. We believe that if every member does his or her duty, and according to their church vow "to support the gospel ministry and the benevolent enterprises of the church as the Lord does prosper them." We believe that if this is done at Friendship church that pastor's salary will be paid in full, and a great deal will be paid on all budgets. Generally speaking, the membership of Friendship church is composed of a prosperous people, who are well able to take good care of the financial needs of their church. We appreciate the fact that the delegate to the Annual Conference has been duly instructed to ask the Conference to return us to this church for another year. We are trusting in the Lord and in the Annual Conference for our place to serve nert year.

Our women have shown their loyalty this year; especially the Ladies' Aid Society. They have raised a great deal of money for local expenses, having underpinned the church and built new brick steps, seeded the church lawn, re-screened the parsonage, and bought 100 pieces of shrubbery for the grounds around the church and parsonage. God bless our women!

Our Christian Endeavor Society under the leadership of our new president, Miss Mary Harward is doing a real good work in the development of our young people in Christian experience and religious activity. Their social activities are interesting and clean. We appreciate their confidence in us and for their votes for our return.

Hoping and praying that the Annual Conference session soon to be held may prove to be the best yet.

O. B. WILLIAMS, Pastor.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

E. L. Douglas	$8.50
Mrs. D. M. Pender	5.00
Miss Nannie McAdams	5.00
Miss Janie Blackwood	4.00
Mrs. T. R. Cranford	2.00
Mrs. J. M. Boyles	2.00
Rev. N. G. Bethea	1.00
Rev. C. B. Way	1.00
Mrs. E. S. Taylor	1.00
Rev. J. P. Pegg	1.00
Rev. G. B. Ferree	1.00
Rev. J. L. Trollinger	1.00

On Printing Deficit

Liberty, by Rev. M. P. Chambliss	$1.50
Rev. J. M. Morgan, Concord	3.50

Thanks for these kindnesses.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Cole

Angus W. Cole was born in Moore county on January 25, 1882. He passed away at his home in Burlington on September 15, 1932. He was critically ill for several days before his passing.

Mr. Cole deeply appreciated the opportunities of life. He used them wisely and to great advantage. Using his opportunities thus he became really successful. He enjoyed a success which is not measured merely by the size of one's bank account, nor by the real estate, stocks and bonds which one may own. He enjoyed that success which is based upon things of deeper and greater value for he realized that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

He was a man of resolute will and grim determination. He would never say die, nor did he quit until the Lord of life said, "It is enough, come up higher." He served as a city mail carrier and he held on tenaciously to that job until it was absolutely impossible to go on. It was a source of inspiration to behold his resolute will and grim determination.

Mr. Cole loved his church. He believed in her program. He attended her services. Regardless of financial conditions he always made a pledge for her support and this year paid that pledge in advance. Because he loved his church there were many things that were true of his life, one of the most beautiful was his devotion to his family. He lived and labored for them. He had a high appreciation of the sacredness of family ties and the marriage vows. He will be missed in other places, but most of all in his home.

May the bereaved be comforted in their loss. May the eternal God be their refuge and strength.

FRED W. PASCHALL.

◆

Horney

Death at all times and seasons is sad, but particularly so when a young woman in the full flush of youth, hope and life as a wife and mother of young dependent children is taken. Mrs. William M. Horney, of 1207 Ragan St., High Point, died at a local hospital early Saturday morning, October 1, where she had been a patient for five weeks. Born Miss Annie McLeod on April 23, 1900, she was the daughter of Mr. Eli E. McLeod and his first wife, Mrs. Martha Teague McLeod and spent her entire life in this community. She was a member of the First Methodist Protestant church and was loved and highly esteemed by a large circle of friends.

Funeral services were conducted at Sechrest Funeral Home chapel, by Rev. R. I. Farmer, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. During the services a mixed quartette, Mrs. J. H. Allred and Mrs. J. C. Whitsell, Messrs. C. L. Gray, Jr. and John Taylor, sang "Asleep in Jesus" with beautiful effect Pall-bearers were Messrs. Clyde Jones, N. C. Lewis, J. A. Alexander, Charlie Hodgin, Richard S. Holton and J. A. Perry. The numerous and lovely designs of flowers were borne by, Mrs. Jerome Alexander, Misses Carleen Pope, Nell Ingram, Charlotte Tomlinson, Laurette Cecil and Louise Shuler. Burial was made in the family plot in Oakwood cemetery. She is survived by her husband, William M. Horney, three sons, Vernon, Thomas and Wilbur and a daughter, Miss Virginia Horney; her father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McLeod, by two half-brothers and three half-sisters. To these sorrowing, bereaved relatives and especially the young husband and motherless children we extend our cordial sympathy and love and commend them to the compassionate Saviour, who has promised, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee".

B. A. P.

◆

Bateman

At the age of 57, after a lingering illness of four years following a stroke of paralysis, Brother Herbert H. Bateman, life-long resident of the Creswell community, put off the frail, afflicted tabernacle of clay to be clothed upon with that heavenly house which is the heritage of those who die in the Lord.

Brother Bateman leaves as a far more enduring memorial than one carved out of the finest marble by the most skilful human hands, the reputation of inflexible business integrity over a long period of mercantile activity in Creswell.

Prior to his affliction he was active in the work of the Master and was a loyal friend and supporter of his church until the end. Creswell church has lost a faithful member in his transfer to the heavenly assembly of the saints.

At the time of his death Bro. Bateman was a member of the county board of education and had always taken an active part in civic affairs. The community has lost a good citizen in his removal to that "city which hath foundations whose builder and maker is God."

Those of Bro. Bateman's friends who knew him only after affliction had lessened some of his bodily powers look forward with eager anticipation to the prospect of meeting him in that better land, freed from all physical infirmities and ills in that body "fashioned like unto His glorious body," which is the promised inheritance of those whose citizenship is in heaven above.

"Sweet will it be in that beautiful land
  So free from all sorrow and pain,
With songs on our lips and joy in our hearts,
  To meet each other again."

◆

Steele

Hebron community and church were shocked to such an extent, when the report came that W. G. Steele had been killed instantly when his automobile rolled down a bank at Haw River Saturday, October 15, that it was hard to believe that the report was true.

In the death of Mr. Steele the church and community have lost a good friend whose advice was sound and whose friendship was rich. He was a man of excellent judgment and possessed of the spirit of progress. He was considered as the leader of the community, interested in every activity for the improvement of the church, school and community.

For many years he has been a member of the trustees of his church, and he had been elected for another year. He has filled this office with his whole soul in it. When in his presence he was always talking and planning of some improvement he was going to make in connection with the church building, cemetery and yard.

We, the members of Hebron church, very keenly feel our loss and we would do well to emulate his example of kindness, leadership, and unselfishness. The church has lost one of its beloved members and workers. We trust that God will send us another leader as Mr. Steele was, and that they will have the fine character, and that they will render service in all activities as he did.

Surviving is his wife, Lula Thompson Steele, and a host of relatives and friends.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. B. M. Williams, assisted by Rev. S. N. Flemings, pastor of Hawfields Presbyterian church, and the body of whom we loved so much was left to rest beneath the shadows of the grove, where he had gathered so often to do work for improvement of the cemetery.

May the bereaved companion be comforted and have grace to say, "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

NANNIE McADAMS, Reporter.

◆

Bowman

Charles Monroe Bowman died Friday. October 14, 1932 at Glenwood Sanatorium, Greensboro, of pneumonia. He was born March 22, 1902 of W. P. Bowman and the late Mrs. Emma Suits Bowman.

Funeral service were held at Midway M. P. church Sunday at 3 o'clock with Rev. W. F. Ashburn in charge. He was assisted by Rev. Roy I. Farmer, First M. P. Church, High Point and Rev. Charles L. Grant, Midway M. P. church. Music was furnished by a mixed quartet and pianist from High Point college.

Surviving in addition to his father, W. P. Bowman, are two brothers, and four sisters, Sam Bowman, High Point road; John Bowman, High Point road; Mrs. W. A. Reaves, Greensboro; Mrs. P. H. Qualey, High Point; Mrs. Hubert Hines, Winston-Salem, and Mrs. C. L. Auman, High Point road, also a number of aunts and uncles survive.

Pallbearers were: C. F. Pinnix, Fred Highfill, L. F. Cable, P. L. Smith, L. V. Pembroke, and Charlie Carrol. Flowers bearers were: Mrs.H. A. Suits, Ezora Suits, Erma Suits, Luoise Suits, Christine Suits, Mrs. Kirby Lamb, Hazel Langley, Mrs. Fletcher Langley, Mrs. Herbert Fruitt, Mrs. A. H. Eller, Mrs. E. C. Walters, Mary Pinnix, Mrs. J. C. Morgan, Christine Bridges, Virginia Councilman, Hazel Boling, Mrs. Harry McLean, Evelyn Smith, Ollie Fay Watkins, Rachel Wyrick, Katherine Cable, Isablle Davis, Edith Freeman, Mrs. D. L. Smith, Mrs. P. C. Futrelle, and Mrs. Newton Grant.

Mr. Bowman joined Midway M. P. church when a very small boy and remained a faithful member until death. Although it is the church and community's loss it is his eternal gain. He was an ardent supporter of all charitable organizations. Never was a man turned away from his place of business hungry or in want regardless of race. The remembrance of his generosity and loving kindness will remain in the minds of all those who knew him.

He was operator of the Texaco service station on Spring Garden street at Fairground avenue at the time of his death, and until a few moths ago was connected with Pembroke service station. He had a large number of friends. The floral offering was unusually large and the number of people attending the service, despite weather conditions, proved his high esteem.

Mr. Bowman was never married. He made his home with a sisiter, Mrs. C. L. Auman, on the High Point road.

To the bereaved family we offer our deepest sympathy. Yet the consolation of knowing that the parting is not permanent. For a person that lived so clean a Christian life and was so closely connected with his Savior is certainly at rest.

MRS. E. C. WALTERS.

Sykes

Sallie J. Jones was born December 12, 1862; married John M. Sykes November 15, 1881; died October 23, 1932. Funeral services were conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. S. F. Nick, October 24th, at Chestnut Ridge church, after which the remains were placed in the church cemetery.

Sister Sykes joined Chestnut Ridge church more than 50 years ago and remained a faithful member until death. The following of her near relatives remain: Three sons, Marshall, Claude, and Julius; three daughters, Anna, Alice and Mrs. W. T. Daniel.

A large congregation of relatives and friends attended the funeral services.

May God comfort all the bereaved ones.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

Glenn

James Otho Glenn was born in Chatham county, April 2, 1880; departed this life October 13, 1932.

He married Miss Rosa Moore when but a young man and to this happy union were born three children: Mrs. Frank Walton, Mrs. J. M. Coble, Jr., and Howard Glenn, all of Burlington.

Brother Gleen professed faith in Christ about the age of 21 years, under the preaching of Rev. J. H. Moton, Center church, Alamance charge, and joined the church there. Afterwards moved his membership to the Glen Raven church, and six years ago transferred to Fountain Place, where he remained a faithful member until death removed him from us.

In the funeral service, in which two of his former pastors took part, by request of the family, Brothers Auman and W. M. Loy expressed their faith in his sincerity as they served him as pastor in the years gone by. They spoke of his faithfulness as a husband, father, citizen, and Christian.

Brother Glenn was a man clean in life from every standpoint, not even addicted to the use of tobacco. Quiet, unassuming, earnest, and he always impressed one as being sincere.

He will be missed in the home, for he was faithful to it; he will be missed by his wife, for he was a true husband; his children will miss him because he was a good father; his church will miss him because of his loyal support; his pastor will miss him because he always mentioned him in public prayer and showed his interest by word and deed; to be sure his five brother will miss him as brother misses brother, when one is called away.

The funeral services were attended by such a large number of people that the large oak, under which he often said he wanted his funeral conducted, failed to cover them, and the great number of flowers which covered his grave and were placed around it, showed something of the high esteem in which he was held.

Assisting the writer in this service which was conducted at the home, were Revs. Auman, W. M. Yoy and A. O. Lindley.

To the sorrowing wife, children, kinsmen, neighbors, and friends we extend our sympathy and prayers, for we know our Heavenly Father cares and will comfort in this time of great need. N. G. BETHEA.

Cagle

Martin Alvis Cagle was born September 20. 1864, and died suddenly at his home near Seagrove October 3, 1932.

On March 9, 1892, he was married to Susannah Auman Trogdon, to which union three children were born: Josie, Lloyd, and Hobart. Josie died about 19 years ago.

In early life he made a profession of religion and joined "Old Christian Union" church. Of this church he remained a faithful and consistent member to the day of his death. All former pastors well remember the kind hospitality of his home. He loved his church, his home, and his community. Fairgrove community has lost a good citizen and the church a loyal member. This stroke falls heavily upon his aged wife, and we extend to her and the two sons our most tender sympathy.

His pastor, assisted by a former pastor, Rev J. W. Hulin, conducted the funeral in the presence of a large congregation, and his body was placed in the family burying plot in Fairgrove cemetery.

May all friends and relatives be comforted in the thought that their loved one is now occupying the mansion prepared for him by Jesus. GEO. L. REYNOLDS.

Hauser

Ira Otis Hauser was born August 16, 1889 and died September 14, 1932. He professed faith in Christ in early life and joined Shoals M. P. church where he lived a consistent and very useful life, until called to the Church Triumphant.

He was married to Miss Virginia Mae Saunders, September 7, 1932 who survives him. Others who survive are his mother, Mrs. Charlotte Hauser, of Shoals, N. C., seven brothers, O. F., and H. C. Hauser of Shoals, R. N., T. C., S. E., and Roy M. Hauser all of Winston-Salem and one sister, Mrs. A. A. Moser of Winston-Salem One brother G. C. Hauser of Mt. Airy, besides a host of other relatives and friends who are left to mourn his departure.

The deceased was a graduate of Elon College, and of the University of North Carolina, in post-graduate work, and has been the principal of White Plains school since 1924.

Brother Hauser was a man of excellent character, and will be greatly missed in his home, his church and the community where he lived.

He always seemed to have his church at heart, and was ever ready and wililng to go to the limit of his ability, both physically and financially for its success. At the time of his death he was serving his church, as chairman of the Board of Stewards, also Circuit Steward, and in all these lines of work, was far above the average, rarely ever being surpassed by any.

Funeral services held in the Friends church of Mt. Airy conducted by the writer, assisted by Dr. J. E. Pritchard of First Church, Winston-Salem, and pastor of the Friends church, Mt. Airy, N. C.

The fraternal order of the Masons had charge at the grave.

The profuse display of flowers also gave evidence of the high esteem in which he was held. The remains were placed in the City cemetery of Mt. Airy, N. C. The bereaved have our sympathy. A. L. HUNTER.

Steele

W. G. Steele was born September 7, 1878, and died October 15, 1932.

Funeral services were conducted by the writer assisted by Rev. N. N. Fleming, pastor of Hawfields Presbyterian church, at Hebron church, Sunday afternoon, October 16. The remains were then placed in Hebron cemetery.

Brother Steel's life was suddenly taken in an automobile accident at Haw River Saturday evening, October 15. This was a great shock to his friends and relatives.

Brother Steele was a good citizen interested in all phases of community betterment. He was one of the most substantial and faithful members of Hebron church. He will be missed in his community, his church, but most of all in his home.

May God especially comfort his companion and his brother, Geo. Lawrence Steele, the two remaining near relatives.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

BENEFICIARIES FROM THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE AREA

Ministerial Education Fund

Name	Amount Promised	School Attending
D. T. Huss	$150.00	West. Theo. Sem.
E. A. Lamb	100.00	West. Theo. Sem.
C. P. Morris	100.00	High Point College
F. S. Wagoner	100.00	High Point College
Leo Pittard	100.00	High Point College

Student Loan Fund

Vernon Cannoy	100.00	High Point College
T. S. Lindley	100.00	High Point College
Irma Paschall	125.00	High Point College

STUDENTS WHOSE CONFERENCE CAN GIVE NO HELP

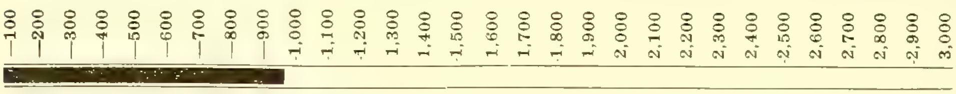
Ministerial Education Fund

Chas. E. Brantly	150.00	West. Theo. Sem.
J. R. Helms	150.00	West. Theo. Sem.
C. W. Saye	125.00	West. Theo. Sem.
C. A. Sutton	150.00	West. Theo. Sem.
W. A. Wilson	100.00	West. Theo. Sem.
Thos. R. Whiddon	150.00	Adrian College
T. L. Crenshaw	150.00	Western Md. Col.
H. H. Harrison	100.00	Westminster Col.
Lee Hearne	100.00	Westminster Col.
F. M. Johnson	100.00	Westminster Col.
Ross Newsom	100.00	Westminster Col.
D. O. White	100.00	Westminster Col.
L O White	100.00	Wesminster Col.

Student Loan Fund

Lucile Parish	125.00	Adrian College

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	16¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	5¾
Asheboro	36	17
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	15
Charlotte	19	13½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	12½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	4¾
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	2
Forsyth	50	12
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	17¼
Glen Raven	38	9
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	9½
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	18
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1½
Guilford	43	15½
Halifax	52	15
Haw River	49	15½
Henderson	38	13¾
HIGH POINT, FIRST	72	77¾
High Point, Lebanon	31	26
High Point, Welch	28	2¾
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	8½
Liberty-Moriah	31	19¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	10
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	12
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	10¼
Mount Hermon	92	17½
Mount Pleasant	62	25¼
North Davidson	53	14½
Orange	70	34⅝
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	12½
Pleasant Grove	19	16¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	12
Reidsville	14	11½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	19
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	23½
Siler City	10	8½
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	10½
Tabernacle	41	33½
Thomasville, Community	15	3½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	12¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	13½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	31½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	29⅜

◆

PASTORS

Not Interested—Or What?

I would not be one to accuse the pastors of the N. C. Conference of not being interested in the youth of their respective churches. However, it would seem that if you were interested to a very great degree that you would have complied with a very small request made in one of the July issues of the Herald. All that was asked was that you report the number and kinds of CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR societies in your churches and give the name and address of the Corresponding Secretary or Superintendent. From this request I have not received as many as four replies. This, needless to say, is very discouraging. Is this request a hard one? Have you just overlooked the matter? Could it be possible that you are not in sympathy with the great work of Christian Endeavor?

As reported by you in the 1931 Conference Journal there are in all 119 Christian Endeavor societies in the N. C. Conference. Out of this 119 societies reported by the various pastors not so many as ONE-HALF are on the records on the N. C. Christian Endeavor Union and naturally not affiliated with the general organization. We cannot help these societies, your church and finally you unless we know to whom to write. I fully believe that you do not realize the importance of this matter or you would be eager to make your report to the Conference tally with our record of societies. YOU HAVE THIS INFORMATION! WE DO NOT! WON'T YOU PLEASE HELP. Send this information to EIZABETH HANNER, Denton, N. C., Recording Sec. of the N.C.C.E. Union.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.
PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro. N. C.

IMPORTANT

Dear Brother Pastor:

As you doubtless understand, the General Conference designated November Thank-offering as one of the Special Days alloted to the Board of Christian Education. The purpose of this arrangement is to make our giving more definite.

To make this plan still more effective the offering will go to the college of your area, after the deduction of the small necessary expenses and the apportionment due the Department of Religious Education.

We are sending this joint appeal to urge you to give to the Thank-offering observance your cordial support.

The pageant prepared by Mrs. H. W. Maier expressly for this service may be secured gratis from the Board of Christian Education, 613 W. Diamond street, Pittburgh, Pennsylvania; the Board of Christian Education, Seminary Building, Westminster, Maryland, or from the Board of Missions, 516 North Charles street, Baltimore, Maryland.

Sincerely yours,
G. W. HADDAWAY,
MARIE V. THOMPSON,
F. L. GIBBS,
F. W. STEPHENSON.

◆

FOURTH QUARTERLY CONFERENCE WEST FORSYTH CHARGE

The fourth quarterly conference will convene at Union Hill church next Sunday, October 30. The morning session will begin at 11 o'clock and will consist of a preaching service. The pastor will preside and Rev. W. L. Harkey, pastor of the Yadkin charge of the Methodist Episcopal church (Northern Branch), will preach the sermon. Dinner will be served on the grounds during the noon hour. At two o'clock in the afternoon the business session will begin.

The official members of the six churches on the charge are urged to attend the conference, and all members are invited to be present. The last quarterly conference is always an important conference and we trust there will be as many of the official members present as can possibly attend. We are anxious that the year's work be closed in a satisfactory manner, and plans are made for the work of the coming year.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

◆

Mrs. Blabber: Marriage is a business.

Mr. Blabber: Yeah, and the husband is the silent partner.—Pathfinder.

Methodist Protestant Herald.
ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.
VOLUME XXXVIII GREENSBORO, N. C., NOVEMBER 3, 1932 NUMBER 47

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Whisper Thou, Dear Lord, To Me!

Escape Thine eye I cannot hope.
Thou dost see all in one vast scope;
To all that can a message take
Thou wilt some day the silence break.

As Thou didst speak to Samuel
When he did serve the high priest well
So wilt Thou speak some day to me
And call me out to serving Thee.

I find myself now dreading hour
When I must face Thy awesome power:
I pray Thee, Lord, to speak to me
In way that will most gentle be.

Not thunder tone or noise of gale
Or earthquake shock that makes one quail;
Not rush and roar of ocean waves
Nor awful shrieks from earth's deep caves.

Wilt Thou not speak in still small voice
And make my fearful heart rejoice?
Wilt Thou not speak a whispered word,
Instilling joy as soon as heard?

◆

THE LAST CALL

The writer will be at Conference Wednesday afternoon and will receive subscriptions for the HERALD that one afternoon only. All subscriptions so received will be turned in to Brother McCulloch that evening and credited on this year's campaign. Wednesday afternoon will be the latest you can get subscriptions credited on this year's campaign. The final standing of your charge will be given in the HERALD printed the next day.

Pastors, I am asking each of you to bring in at least one subscription to me Wednesday afternoon, and as many more as you possibly can. By all means raise your quota. IF YOU HAVE NOT RAISED YOUR QUOTA, DO THIS. Appoint from three to five at each church, more if you have a large membership. Appoint these from the "workingest" folks you have, to make a whirlwind campaign to raise your quota of subscribers or to increase the number you have, before you leave for Conference, and bring these subscriptions with you, turn them over to me Wednesday afternoon and your church will be credited in the HERALD in the next day's issue. With enough help appointed and each one appointed designated to see certain ones, this last-minute whirlwind campaign will bring real results.

The HERALD has ever been a constant support of the Pastors, now the HERALD needs the Pastors' utmost support. Will you give it? Renew your own subscription, Brother Pastor, and bring in other subscriptions also. As this is written there are 230 subscribers whose subscriptions are due for renewal by Conference time. Of this number 42 are Pastors. Please be sure to see me Wednesday afternoon.

E. L. DOUGLAS, Chairman
Directing Committee.

◆

The Anointing at Bethany, John 12:7

We are not to infer from this incident that Jesus was extravagant in allowing Mary to break the Alabaster box of ointment and to anoint him. On other occasions he taught people to be economical, as at the feeding of the five thousand when he said, "Gather up the fragments that nothing be lost." But in this one case he wanted love to have a chance. There had been so little love in the world. Love had not had a chance to express itself. The world had been full of hate, evil had predominated and love and sympathy and mercy had had a poor show. The nations believed that it was proper to go out and conquer by the sword and rule a conquered people with an iron hand. The world was cruel and cold and heartless. Our Lord came to give love a chance. And in this home at Bethany when Mary wanted to express to Jesus the deep feelings of her heart in a rich and costly gift Jesus did not deny her that privilege. Love is always willing to do its part. The mother who loves her babe as she loves her own life does not stop to calculate the cost of going to the rescue of the little one when she hears its distressing cry. When she arises during the night to tuck the covers a little more closely around the little one, she is only giving love a chance to express itself. True love does not ask the price. And so it was with Mary. There was within her heart a deep and abiding love for her Lord and she was willing to give the best she had.

Now, there were some good reasons why Mary loved her Lord. First, there was a deep feeling of gratitude for what she had received. Do you ask what she had received? A brother restored to life again. When the members of a family are in great distress over the serious illness of some members of the household, and the physician comes and ministers to that one and by his skill and the services of the nurse, the patient is made well again, there is always a warm place in the heart of that family for the physician. Our Lord did not reach Lazarus before he died, but he did come later and called him back to life again and presented him to his sisters in a normal state of mind and body. And on that night when Mary broke the box of ointment and anointed Jesus, Lazarus was at the table as a living witness to the power of Jesus. So here, gratitude, which Cicero says is the greatest virtue of all and the parent of all other virtues, was the prime motive in the anointing of Jesus. Furthermore, there was a deep seated belief in the soul of Mary in the greatness and the goodness of Jesus. People do not give their time and their money to any thing until they are convinced that the thing is worthwhile. The man who endows a hospital must be made to see that it is a good thing and that it is needed in the community. In his visions he must be made to see the throngs of people who need help but who cannot get it without his aid. Not only does he see these needy people but he sees them again restored to health and able to make a living for themselves and others. The same is true with the man who gives to an educational institution. He must be made to see the pupils before and after they have received instruction and training. If he can do this no sacrifice will be too great. The first thing then is to get men to see something and to believe something and they will go the limit in sacrifice.

And finally, Mary realized that Jesus had the thing that the world needed. In this she paid a great compliment to the power of a real religion, one that can transform humanity. We do not know how many sermons she had heard nor how many miracles she had seen performed, but she had seen and heard Jesus. And she recognized him as the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecies and she accepted him as the one of all authority, the one who was to come with healing in his wings, to heal the broken hearted, to purify mankind and to give peace to the troubled soul. She had found this rich treasure and was passing it on to others. We need to make anew this discovery. We need to believe anew in the teachings of Christ as the panacea for the ills of life. When we see him in all his beauty and in all his saving power, we too, like Mary will bring our rich gift to him.

J. E. Pritchard.

When Dreams Come True

As I slept I dreamed a dream. And found myself on the yard of an old hill-country farm. As I was being shown about the place by the owner, my eyes fell upon a very old farm mule—fat, sleek and well-kept. We watched him as he stumbled across the lot and down the lane. "That," said the owner is "old Jack, a pet of our family." "That mule," he went on to say, "was born and raised and has spent the thirty-two of his life on this farm." "Is he of any service now?" I asked. "Well, no," he said, with a tenderness in his voice, "but we—just—just want to be human, to say the least, and makes things comfortable for the old fellow in his last days, for he has given us the best he had."

Just then, "Old Jack" stopped, lifted his old grey head, and gazed dreamily toward the hills and fields over which he had labored for many years, and then, flopping his big long ears, he went to nibbling the soft, green clover at his feet. The owner smiled kindly as he said, "he's worth a thousand dollars any day."

Immediately I was transferred in my dream to the sitting of an annual conference of the Methodist Protestant church in North Carolina. The work of the conference was about over, and the last reports were being read. As in my dream I looked around the conference floor, I saw young men happily receiving their first appointments; and older men obediently going back to their former charges—happy in the thought of serving another year. Just then my heart was stirred, for the multitude of voices were singing, "Bless Be the Tie That Binds." This hymn was followed by words of benediction.

The body of the conference was broken and the people began to move away, when my eyes fell upon an old man of kindly face and gentle manner as he staggered along through the crowd as if in a daze. There was an air of loneliness about him, so much so, that I made quick to ask of a young by-stander: "Who is this man and why is he here?" "He," said the by-stander, "is called a superannuate—he loves to attend these meetings, but he is no longer able to work." "How then," I asked, "is he provided for, and how?"—but as I looked up my by-stander friend was gone.

The man they called the "superannuate" stopped, lifted his eyes toward the plains of the earth and to the hills of the west over which he had labored, then slowly bowed his head—but there was no "soft green clover at his feet." Then I saw above the horizon in large letters written across cloud and sky, some words from a very old book—which said, "But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those"—but then I awoke out of my dream to find it was all a REALITY.

R. C. Stubbins.

DANGERS OF PRECONCEPTION

It is natural for us to have preconceptions. We picture in advance the looks of one whom we have never seen, but whom we expect to meet soon, or of some strange place we are about to visit. So Naaman, whose leprosy is typical of sin, and whose cure is typical of the sinner's salvation through faith and obedience, had conceived a definite method of procedure by Elijah in effecting his healing. How impressive and dramatic it was to be. "Behold, I thought, He will surely come out to me, and stand, and call on the name of the Lord, his God, and strike his hand over the place, and recover the leper." (II Kings 5:11.)

It is no uncommon thing to find those who have fixed ideas concerning God's manner of dealing with them in their conversion and after experiences of religious life, forgetting that God has said, "My thoughts are not your thoughts." One of these preconceptions is that regarding the strength of conviction for sin. They think they are to wait for a certain kind and degree, and until that comes they are not required to obey God's command to "repent and be converted."

Conviction is regarded as a vague, indefinable something, taking away sleep and appetite, and haunting them day and night. Perhaps they have read or heard of Jonathan Edwards, "wallowing in conviction," and so they lay it all out, so much darkness, despair, and horror, driving them at last, against all their powers of resistance to the foot of the cross.

As to the matter of conversion, they expect the opening heavens to shine around them, to be overwhelmed by a sudden tumult of ecstatic joy which is to find vent in loud shouting and hand-clapping. Perhaps they have seen such remarkable manifestations attending the conversion of another, and are unwilling to believe that they are saved unless it is in the same manner.

When it comes to religious experience, here, too, they set up the character of another's as the standard for their own. There is to be clear and constant joy and faith, a certain intensity and level of undisturbed repose. They assume that whatever benefits and delights another will also benefit and delight them, not realizing that tastes, feeling, and temptations differ with different personalities, that what troubles one affects not another, and the service one enjoys helps not another.

And then dying experience they forecast in imagination as being that of passing away with a clear mind, the vision of angels come to convey them to heaven. They are to leave behind to weeping friends the assuring testimony that "all is well," and the memory of their triumphant shout, "O Grave, where is thy victory?" Probably their conviction, conversion, Christian life and death-bed experiences will turn out to be altogether different from what they were expected to be.

Consider some reasons why we should not permit ourselves to be influenced by our preconceptions.

We may perish while waiting for that which will never come. Until Naaman renounced his preconceptions it was impossible that he should be healed. The unsaved man probably has had the only kind, and as deep a conviction of sin as he ever will have. The peculiar kind of conviction he is looking for—if he is looking for it all—may never be his.

To stubbornly retain our preconceptions, is to render ourselves unhappy if we fall short of them. We may come to the conclusion that there must be something radically wrong with us because our religious experiences do not tally with those of some one else. Perhaps we are not able to give the exact moment when, or spot where, we were converted, or describe the memorable thrill, the flood of glory, or the uplifting ecstacy that transformed us into "a new creature." Some may come to doubt if they were ever saved at all, because not saved in the same manner as some one else. Others are lead to imitate, and thereby destroy what peace of mind they had. A friend of mine, an eminently Godly man, was disturbed because he never got shouting happy. One night, in a lively revival meeting, surrounded by some good old shouting Methodists, he joined in with them, a manufactured shout of course, but afterward felt so condemned that he promised the Lord if He would forgive him, he would never shout again. But why should one be unhappy because he does not feel or act like another under similar circumstances? He will not, if he understands that God works along the line of individuality and temperament. "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." Every man must recognize the "me," the "I" that constitutes his own individuality. No two leaves in the forest are exactly alike, no two grains of sand on the beach, and in the heavens "one star differeth from another star in glory." No two persons look or live or are impressed alike. Three artists painting the same landscape will produce three different pictures. We are not cast in iron moulds, but each one is a law unto himself.

In a factory the various machines on the different floors are doing a variety of work, but all derive their motion from one mighty engine whose throbbing pulsations are seen and felt in the basement below. Every man has his own distinctive powers and faculties, but the same Holy Ghost works through all in harmony with the laws of each individual soul. "There are diversities of gifts but the same Spirit." Becoming a "new creature" in Christ Jesus is not destruction of individuality. The features are the same, though smoothed and sweetened by the peace of God; the intellect is the same, though quickened by the new life of faith and hope.

The appeal of the gospel reaches one through his reason, another through an aroused conscience; one is alarmed by the thunders of Sinai, another whose hardened heart is unmoved by the terrors of the law, is melted into tenderness by Calvary's tragedy. As he "beholds One hanging on the tree in agonies and blood," he falls at the feet of the cross and cries, "I yield, I yield, I can hold out no more!" The Christian life has different starting points—a little instruction in the inquiry room, the opening of the unread Bible, the invitation of a Christian friend, a dream, a sickness, a death bed scene, a remembered promise. The religious experience will accord with the natural tempermaent. He who was excitable and impulsive as a sinner will be no less so as a Christian: he who was calm and unemotional before conversion will still be so afterward.

There are different ways by which God's forgiving love is manifested. Suddenly and consciously the soul is flooded ith the glory of this presence. There are those who can name the hour, the place, and all attendant circumstance of their conversion, who can truthfully sing:

"O sacred hour! O hallowed spot!
  Where love divine first found me;
Wherever falls my distant lot,
  My heart shall linger round thee;
And when from earth I rise to soar
  Up to my home in heaven,
Down will I cast mine eyes once more,
  Where I was first forgiven."

The experience of others is like the gradual dawn of daybreak. "A faint gleam of thoughtfulness grew into earnestness; earnestness into penitence, and enlarged into a fuller, deeper sense of the soul's need of Christ; then, as the soul came on toward Jesus the ruddier hues of hope appeared, and some flashes of joy kindled up, and the soul discovered that the night of unbelief had ended, and the day dawn of a better life had come,"—the realization that the soul was "walking in the light."

What sinner and saint need is to understand that our preconceptions have nothing whatever to do with our conversion or salvation. God has His own method of dealing with us as individuals, and it is not for us or others to indicate to Him what that method shall be. The Bible is silent about any kind of feeling or manner of conversion. His requirements come to us in the form of commands, warnings and promises. "God commandeth all men to repent." He does not quality that command by saying, "Repent—if you feel like it." He warns of the consequence of refusal to obey the command—"Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish."

The promise, oft repeated is "He that believeth shall be saved," not that you are saved if you feel that you are.

D. L. Moody tells the story of a conversation he had with a man in Manchester. "Are you a Christian?" the evangelist had asked. "No, but I wish I were." Then Moody proceeded to quote passages from the Bible, but the man said they did not meet his case. "The fact is that I cannot feel that I am saved." Then Moody clinched matters by asking, "Was it Noah's feelings that saved him, or was it the ark?" The man thought awhile and then said, "Good night, Mr. Moody; it is all settled." Sometimes afterwards this convert came up to the evangelist and said, "Do you remember the man and the ark? I had been trying to save myself by my feelings. The moment you spoke of the ark, that settled it."

We are all, in our natural condition, spiritual lepers. Christ is the only Physician who can heal us, and faith in the atoning merits of His sacrificial death, the only means of cure. Obedience to God's command, and faith in Christ, will bring to us the assurance of our salvation. "If any man will do the will he shall know of the doctrine." Let us not be deceived by false conceptions, or preconceptions. It is repent, believe, obey and lay hold of eternal life, or remain outside of Christ, and perish in our sins.

JAMES L. ELDERDICE.

Oxford, Md.

◆

REPORT OF CONFERENCE TREASURER

Charge	A.C.B.	G.C.B.	College	Supt.	Rep. Ex.
Alamance	$ 41.38	$ 36.42	$	$	$ 15.00
Anderson		4.00
Albemarle
Asheboro	14.00			25.00	25.00
Asheville	10.00
Bess Chapel	2.00
Bethesda
Burlington, First	34.00	114.00		30.00	45.00
Burlington, Fountain Pl.	3.00	23.61
Charlotte	16.41	1.11	19.89		15.00
Chase City
Chatham	3.46	3.00			4.00
Cleveland	74.90	5.98		3.00	15.00
Concord	65.00	10.00
Connelly Springs
Creswell	4.00
Davidson	45.68	25.53			5.00
Democrat	4.00	2.00
Denton	14.50	12.50
Draper	1.55	5.55
Enfield	25.00	29.14		5.00	13.00
Fallston	4.25
Flat Rock	21.50	8.50			4.00
Friendship	14.50	7.50
Forsyth	31.05	34.27
Gibsonville	5.00	32.00			10.00
Glen Raven	17.50	16.50
Graham	23.75	37.16		10.00
Granville	19.60	18.00			10.00
Greensboro, Calvary	63.00	77.00	100.00		15.00
Greensboro, Grace		12.86
Greensboro, St. Paul	11.25	12.75
Greensboro, West End	32.55	38.00	7.00		13.00
Greensville	4.30	2.08
Guilford	25.38	32.25			9.09
Halifax	15.00	25.00	152.00
Haw River	29.00	14.85		7.31	13.00
Henderson	25.65	28.75	70.00	25.00
High Point, First	77.00	92.50	375.00		60.00
High Point, English St.	5.00	4.00
High Point Lebanon	66.00	16.00	18.00		15.00
High Point, Welch	8.00	1.80
Kannapolis
Kernersville	8.85	3.55
Lexington, First	15.00	9.50
Lexington, State St.	6.00	1.00
Liberty-Moriah	18.45	24.63			1.25
Lincolnton		6.00
Littleton		6.35			1.25
Mebane	55.00	13.00			15.00
Mecklenburg		4.81
Melton's Grove	.89	.89
Midland	2.00
Midway-Shady Grove	6.69	7.93
Mocksville	27.00	4.00			3.00
Mt. Hermon	67.80	78.34		20.00	20.00
Mt. Pleasant	12.00	104.76	67.00		15.00
North Davidson	29.34	7.75
Orange	43.00	58.00	28.00		25.00
Pinnacle Mt. Zion	4.50	9.50			6.00
Pleasant Grove	118.00	27.00		20.00
Randleman	28.00	22.00		15.00
Randolph	62.00	59.00			15.00
Reidsville	15.25	21.11		4.00
Richland	20.35	9.50			5.00
Roberta	10.00	11.00
Rockingham	2.80	2.80
Roseneath		.80
Saxapahaw	42.00	46.95	7.00		3.75
Shiloh	2.00	4.00
Siler City	50.00	5.22			5.00
Spencer	2.25
Spring Church	89.39	52.90		4.00	4.47
Tabernacle	52.62	91.37	18.00	7.60	8.70
Thomasville, Community	55.00	10.00
Thomasville, First	20.00	23.00	68.00		15.00
Thomasville, West End	6.50	1.00
Vance	23.53	28.89			6.75
Weaverville	6.00	7.50		5.00
West Forsyth	6.25	9.25			3.40
Whitaker	10.00	19.00	5.00	3.05	5.00
Why Not	63.04	24.19	8.00		9.00
Winston, First	12.39	54.71	87.00	15.00	15.00
Yarborough	9.00	27.75

This report includes all receipts for this conference year up to and including October 20. If you find any errors in this report point them out to me, and I shall be grateful.

GEO. R. BROWN, Treasurer.

◆

CHURCH MEMBERS AT $3.50 EACH

A dairyman offered to give $18.00 each for a limited number of good quart-a-day customers provided these customers would give him a year's business.

This writer has gone down the last eight years of his diary to find that the churches he has served as pastor have been paying at the rate of $23.50 each for the members they have received under his ministry. This per member cost being based on the salary he has received for his services. If all local and general benevolences together with the cost of building and improvements were added to the above that would mean that the cost would be about $100.00 per member.

Let me explain. During the period mentioned above it was found that 346 members had been received by the pastor into the churches he has served, and 178 have united with the churches in which he has assisted in revival meetings. The total received is 524; an average of 65 per year, or one and a quarter members per Sunday.

Ths may be a strange way to appraise the reception of members and it may appear to some that membership gains come high, but what pastor would take that much per member for them?

G. H. HENDRY.

◆

—$2.00 will buy enough gas to run an auto but a few hours. The same money will pay for the HERALD an entire year. If you can't have both, walk and read the HERALD.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Sister Neese

Brother Neese writes that Sister Neese seems to be making a satisfactory recovery from a major operation, and that her health is expected to be much improved by the operation. The sympathy and considerateness of his people is sustaining to the family in this time of their affliction. They will still have the prayers of their many friends for Sister Neese's timely and complete recovery.

Sympathy Extended

We are informed that Mr. Alex G. Williams, father of Rev. O. B. Williams and brother of Rev. J. D. Williams, died on October 16, in Durham, after a lingering and painful illness. The funeral service was held on Tuesday in Hillsboro, at the home of his son, Atlas Williams, and interment followed in the Union Grove burrying ground. We are told that the deceased was a Godly man, and expressed himself as having no fears of death. This is greatly comforting to those who will feel most keenly his going. We extend tender sympathy to his loved ones.

Cleveland Charge

On Saturday, October 22, we were with this charge in the Fourth Quarterly conference. The usual custom was followed of preaching in the morning, and dinner on grounds, then the conference in the afternoo. At the 11 o'clock hour we were heard by an unusually large week-day congregation; for many churches it would have been a most gratifying Sunday congregation. And most of these people stayed for the quarterly conference, which convened at 2 o'clock. Twenty-nine officials were present, representing all of the five churches. Pastor Ridge reported 200 visits during the year, 150 sermons preached, ten weeks spent in revival meetings, 35 professions on his charge, and 23 accessions to the churches. He also reported that members of his charge invested $1,200 in High Point College bonds. A total of $74.90 has been paid on A. C. B. The salary and budgets are much in arrears, though the stewards will bestir themselves, and we hope for much better results in the end. All churches on the charge have Sunday Schools, and each school is in normal condition. We note, however, that no "Special" days were observed. Three churches contribute with more or less regularity to the Children's Home. Oak Grove and Pleasant Hill each have a C. E. Society. One need of the charge is an Auxiliary. We trust that the women may become interested, and effect this organization in the near future. The charge has a splendid parsonage, and unincumbered by debt, the last balance having been paid this year. However, the building has not been painted. We dare say that the brethren will attend to this at no distant date. A new roof has been put on the Kestler church during the year at a cost of $130. At the request of the Lawndale church the conference voted unanimously to ask the Annual Conference to attach that church to the Cleveland charge. The salary for next year was left at $1,400, and the return of Brother Ridge for the fifth year unanimously requested. Brother Ridge has done good work on this charge and has endeared himself to his people. We enjoyed our visit to this field, also a brief contact with Brother Morris and Brother Shelton. Brother Ridge and his family have our thanks for the generous hospitality of their home, which included two nights spent in the "President's Room."

Connelly Springs Charge

Sunday, October 23, was given to this work in a morning appointment at Shiloh, and a night appointment at Shady Grove. Because of a special day at a nearby church the attendance at Shiloh was not so large. It was much better at Shady Grove. These churches are doing well under the pastorate of Brother Helms, but he is greatly handicapped in his work because of inadequate salary. If he is to continue there some provision will have to be made by which he can secure a living. These churches can render a needed and growing service if they can have sufficient help. We were not able to visit Burk's Chapel, the other church on the charge. When Brother Helms was assigned to this work in 1928, he found Shiloh church with 25 members, and 15 in Sunday School. The church now has 45 members and 115 enrolled in Sunday School, with an average attendance of 75. At Shady Grove he found 40 members, with 30 in Sunday School. Now this church has 72 members and a Sunday School enrollment of 115, with an average attendance of 85. This shows progress during these three years, and indicates something of the fields that these churches have in which to grow. Brother Helms has the confidence of his people; the only lack, we think, is material support. We trust that some way may be found by which this may be provided. We were glad to spend this day with this charge, and we wish to express appreciation to Brother C. M. Parsons and family and Brother Helms and family for entertainment while on this field.

Pleasant Grove

On the night of October 26 we were with this charge in the Fourth Quarterly conference. Thirteen officials were present, and a goodly number of the church membership. A good spirit of hope and harmony was in evidence, and likewise a spirit of gladness on the part of pastor and people for the success of the year's work. The pastor gave a brief report of his four years with the church, and pointed out that during this time $500 had been spent on Sunday School rooms, $300 on light equipment, and $500 on parsonage furniture. During the four years 37 members have been added to the church roll. He also urged upon the conference the strategic location of the church, and the possibilities for them that lie in the years ahead. The church has an Aid Society that is very active and efficient. The Society has raised this year $300, and reported $121 in the treasury at this time. The Sunday School has an average attendance of 130. Of this number 50 are in the Primary Department. The school has observed all special days, and has paid to C. C. R. E. It also contributes regularly to the Children's Home. The Primary Department has paid $11.56 for this purpose, and raised a total during the year of $35. An active C. E. and a Brotherhood are to be numbered with the effective organizations of the church. The C. E. has paid to the C. C. R. E. The Brotherhood meets monthly, and is a social factor in the life of the men as well as a promoter of the general good of the church. By unanimous vote of the conference, the salary was left at $1,400 for next year, and an enthusiastic vote given for the return of the present pastor for his fifth year. This is a pleasing testimony to the good work that Brother Williams is doing as the spiritual leader of this flock.

"Bear Ye One Another's Burdens"

There are two important occasions with us just now for the practice of this scripture. First, in the meeting of the financial obligations of the church. Many can not pay because of depleted resources; they would if they could, and do it cheerfully. Others can pay; their incomes have not been reduced, and living expenses have been lowered. They should pay generously to make up for those who would pay but can not. If that is done, the results will be very noticeable in our financial reports.

The other occasion is that of weak charges that need help, and are forced to ask for it through boundary changes. If they get it in this way, some charge will have to make concessions of a church or churches, and some church or churches will have to be willing to be conceded. Now what spirit should control in this matter? Surely it must be the spirit suggested by our scripture caption—the spirit of helpfulness. The welfare of all charges must be the concern of each charge. If that spirit can prevail the conference will have but little difficulty in working out a solution of this problem.

Have You Done These Things

Revised church register, according to the Discipline of the Church?

Elected and installed church officers (See Installation service, Journal of 1928, page 83).

Raised allotment to S. S. and C. E. for C. C. R. E.?

Secured your Herald subscription allotment, and taken an offering at each church for Herald deficit?

AND THIS DO: Pray very much for our coming Annual Conference. "We trust that pastors will call upon their people to do this. Prayer changes things."

Broadcasting From "Cheer-Up" Station COBO, High Point, N. C.

Brother H. L. Isley writes: "Julian will pay all claims in full. Tabernacle will not fall below the record of last year, I think. It now seems certain that we will reach our goal for the Herald this year."

Today's mail brings this word from Brother J. B. Trogdon: "The Ladies' Aid has underpinned the parsonage, added a new porch, 7x60 feet, and dressed the house up in a new coat of paint. You would hardly know the place now. Cost $140."

There will be no salary reductions on Welch, Pleasant Grove, Davidson, and South Lexington charges. Pleasant Grove S. S. and C. E. have paid allotment to C. C. R. E., and salary will be paid in full. The prospect at Welch for full salary is hopeful. Chapel Hill, and Liberty, on Davidson charge, will pay salary in full, and most likely Lineberry church. We expect the C. E. Society of Lineberry to pay in full to C. C. R. E.

North Davidson: Bethesda has paid G. C. B. in full. I am informed, also, that some of the Sunday Schools and C. E. Societies have paid to C. C. R. E., though I do not have information as to which ones.

Cleveland charge: Get this: Through Sunday eggs, given by the women of the church for a period of about three months, the allotment of $15 for Representative Expenses has been paid in full, and $74.90 on A. C. B. Pleasant Hill, Kestlers, and Moriah Sunday Schools have paid to C. C. R. E., also Pleasant Hill C. E.

South Lexington charge: First church will pay salary in full, also allotment to S. S. and C. E. for C. C. R. E. The congregation at this place has painted the church building this year, added four S. S. rooms, and improved the grounds, at a cost of $800, all of which is paid.

Mid-Shady Grove: Midway S. S. and C. E. have paid C. C. R. E. Shady Grove has paid salary in full.

This is a good broadcast. It indicates courage and perseverance, and these are winning qualities, depression or no depression. Come on, brethren, with a lot of "Cheer-ups" for our broadcast next week—the final one.

A Final Appeal to Stewards

These last days—eight of them now—are exceedingly important days, as they relate to the financial reports that are to be made to our coming conference. And what these reports tell will be determined very largely by our stewards. Pastors must depend upon them, and the membership depends largely upon them. We earnestly appeal, therefore, to our stewards to press the financial obligations of the church, and bend every effort to raise salaries in full, and every dollar possible on budgets. By an earnest and persistent effort, during these remaining eight days, stewards can make a marked change in our present financial showing. "To your tents, O stewards."

Appointments

November 2.—Spencer, 7:30 P. M.

November 3.—Lebanon, in quarterly conference.

November 7.—Meeting with Budget Council.

November 9.—ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

"Wherefore brethren—be diligent, that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless."

Fraternally yours,

S. W. Taylor.

November 1, 1932.

—Read and heed "The Last Call."

—Renew your subscription to the Herald.

—Stay in the Herald family—Renew now.

DON'T DO IT

I am interested in what some of the brethren are saying about stationing the president of the conference. I am wondering if it could be the part of wisdom to do such a thing in our conference.

The only reason, so far advanced, for the measure, is that it is cheaper. But in reality is it cheaper? I have known the supposedly cheap to turn out to be very expensive. There are two ways to deal with our economic problems as we face the hill difficulty, as there are two ways to deal with our motor car when it face the hill. You can help the car by either throwing off part of the load or increasing the engine power. Just so in our economics. We can slice down, throw off until we can get rid of as near all our load as we want, or down to what we think we can carry, or we can go after this whole conference program with a man-sized will and thus materially increase our assets with which to carry on.

For one, I don't believe it a time for the church to undertake to do less, but more. We have let down entirely too much along financial lines already. The conference dollar has outshrunken the world dollar. True, our conference boards are too nearly without money and there are incessant demands for all we can command, but is it not true that it is the business of the church to find resources with which to meet kingdom needs. Who is there among Methodist Protestants that has as large a field for usefulness in this regard as a conference president?

I think our people are able to support this office and when given to see it with a true perspective will do so. Doctor McCulloch put it right when he said that "It seems to be a wrestling match between efficiency and economy." Unquestionably this is true and I hope that we are not going to allow efficiency to be tripped up and flung by the way by the now overworked "economy."

Judging by that which more often than not results when such measures have been put over in other fields, it is only conjecture to say that we can even do as well for church extension or any other interest, much less improve it under such proceedure. I would like to see more money coming in for church extension, ministerial relief, etc. In fact we must find more money for these causes. But will this produce it? Do men ever do more by resolving to do less? Can a cause win because of the lowering of standards?

Again, the itinerant system which we use will be greatly crippled when there is no man among us that knows the ministers and the field as a whole. THE SERVICE IN THIS PARTICULAR ALONE FAR OUTWEIGHS THE COST OF THE OFFICE.

The Pittsburgh and Eastern Annual Conferences have not always had a full-time president. There may be other reasons why they do not have at this time but neither of these conferences is more than half the size of ours and neither of them has as many institutions. There is no conference in our connection the size of our own that does not have a president in the field for full-time service.

Let the conference on the 9th of November select the best executive within its bounds as president and send him out with its prayers and benedictions to give the fullest measure of devotion to the interests for which this conference stands. Anchor him? Never. "Loose him and let him GO."

G. H. Hendry.

THAT PRESIDENT OF OURS

Much is in the air about that president to be. I do not mean the president of the United States but the president of the North Carolina conference. We are wondering who he will be anyhow. Then we wonder what we are going to let him do and we are wondering what his pay is to be. Well, it seems that no one knows who he will be and it seems that the indications are that no one seems to much care. That seems rather strange, judging from other exciting years when we knew a man was to be elected. The most that is being said is about whether we will give this new president a real job or shall we elect one of our pastors to the office, in name, and let him be president on the side. I have heard of the "Big Head" but to me this will be the "Little Head." I feel that the head is of the most importance. We cannot live without a head and we want the best head we can get. Indeed the heart is not much if there is no head. I have always been strong for a head power. I was strongly in favor of an all-time president of the General Conference. Since we have tried it I have seen no reason to change my mind. Then, too, I look at our various conferences and our strongest have always had a full time president and the strongest have always given the most power and authority. Then look at our sister Methodist churches. They have spent much in men and money in the overhead. This is the big difference between them and us except in size and influence. Give us a president, the best we can get, "Loose him and let him go."

Then to dispense with the regular all-time president it would mean cutting out a man which would mean that some preacher would not be given work,—a preacher dead. Our preachers must be cared for as well as some other things. I dislike to say anything about any man receiving less than he is now receiving but we are dealing with conditions that are the most unusual. I say it with hesitancy to the last degree but I wonder since all the rest of us have had to take our part of cuts (Some of them big slices) if our president could not share a little more cut. Back in 1914 the salary was $1,200 and I think there was nothing allowed for expenses. I wonder if we could not find the man who might get by for the time on $2,000 and expenses. That would help out some. Then we are paying something for other officers in the conference. I wish these salaries could be more. But there was a time when all this work was done without one cent of salary. I wonder if we could save anything there. Then our Journal. I am wondering if we had not better do without it for one year rather than draw so heavily on our funds. I do not want to do without the Journal but we should cut somewhere and I just wonder.

What I have written may not be worth much. Indeed I suppose many will not agree to what I have said, but I have thought over these things and I am still wondering.

Geo. L. Curry.

OUR STORY PAGE

THE BOY WHO OPENED HIS EYES

I want to tell you about a boy who opened his eyes.

You are smiling, just as he did. His father was putting him to bed, and he said, "Now, John, I want you to open your eyes tomorrow."

The boy chuckled and said, "Why, I always open my eyes in the morning, when I wake up."

The father answered, "Yes, you do open your eyes after a fashion. But tomorrow I want you to open your eyes and see how helpful you can be to mother. You see she is very tired now, and these holidays mean a lot of extra work. If you open your eyes to see how helpful you can be, it will be a big lift for her."

And so the boy kept his eyes open after his father went out, and stared around the room, thinking about what his father had said. . . . The first thing he knew he was opening his eyes the next morning, while his mother knocked at the door and said, "It is time to get up."

Almost the first thing that John noticed as he started to get dressed was a book on the bureau, open to a story which he had not finished the night before. He thought, "Well, I'll finish that story while I put on my clothes." And then he opened his eyes when he remembered his mother had often told him nothing would help her more than for him to get dressed promptly.

John was tying his shoe lace when he heard his mother call his father to breakfast. He smiled as he thought how surprised she would be to have him eat breakfast with his father. As he started to the door he almost stumbled on his pajamas and slippers. And then he opened his eyes and stopped long enough to hang up the pajamas and put his slippers away in the closet.

His mother was surprised to have him eat breakfast with his father. But before long John opened his eyes and saw a little frown flit across his mother's face and heard a sigh as she looked at his cereal dish. He realized he had been dawdling. And so he turned to and ate the rest of his breakfast with gusto.

When John and his mother called goodby to his father they came back into the living room. John started to read the paper. Then he opened his eyes and saw his mother clearing the breakfast dishes from the table. He put his paper down to help mother finish the job.

John had finished breakfast so much earlier than usual that even after helpng his mother with the dishes he had time to read before starting to school. In the middle of an exciting chapter he opened his eyes and saw that in five minutes he ought to leave. He grinned to think how surprised his mother would be to find him all ready for school when she called. Two or three minutes later he almost snickered as he answered hs mother's call about school time by saying casually, "Why, mother, I'm ready now."

His mother sounded suspicious as she came into the room to ask, "Why, John, have you washed your face and hands?"

"Sure," answered John, and kissed her goodby.

I have not time to tell of the other things that happened that day when John opened his eyes. When bedtime came, and his mother tucked him in for the night, she said, "John, you made me open my eyes today. I did not realize I had such a helpful boy!"—Congregationalist Magazine.

JUDGE NOT

In speaking of a person's faults,
  Pray, don't forget your own;
Remember, those with homes of glass,
  Should never throw a stone.
If we have nothing else to do
  But talk of them who sin,
'Tis better we commence at home,
  And from that point begin.

We have no right others to judge,
  Until they're fairly tried;
Should we not like their company,
  We know the world is wide.
Some may have faults and who have not,
  The old as well as young;
Perhaps we may for aught we know,
  Have fifty to their one.

I tell you of a better plan,
  And find it works full well;
To try my own defects to cure,
  Before of others' tell;
And though I sometimes hope to be,
  No worse than some I know,
My own shortcomings bid me let
  The faults of others go.

Then let us, when we do commence
  To slander friends or foe,
Think of the harm our words may do,
  To those we little know.
Remember, curses sometimes like
  Our chickens, roost at home;
Don't speak of others' faults until
  We first have known our own.

—Publisher Unknown.

DO IT NOW

If you have a task to do,
  Do it now.
Give the very best in you,
  Do it now.
Do not stop to theorize,
Nor to weakly temporize,
Time like opportunity flies,
  Do it now.

—Grenville Kleiser in Grit Story Section.

—Try the whirlwind plan—read "The Last Call."

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic For November 6, 1932

WHAT ARE THE EFFECTS OF MILITARY TRAINING IN SCHOOLS?

Scripture Text: James 4:1-10

(CONSECRATION MEETING)

There will be few of you as Christian Endeavorers directly concerned with military training in schools. A small part of our boys go to school where military training is compulsory and only a small percentage of our boys go to college at all. The wider implication in the topic tonight is the denunciation of war in all of its grim aspects. The stand was formerly taken by people that war was an act of righteousness and the accepted way of settling religious disputes. It seems very strange to most people to think that a war could bring a peaceable settlement. That is the trouble: enmities are stirred in conflicts that grow out slowly and whose stains are never washed out entirely.

Nearly every nation has denounced war as a practice and is attempting to destroy the seeds of future struggles. On this basis military training is denounced. It is foolish to suppose that the tactics of war can be bred into a boy wothout having an ill effect. If the nations of the world can rear a generation that has had the horrors of war fully instilled into them, the chances of future strifes is lessened. Numbers of petitions going into the schools which have R. O. T. C. work attest that many of our citizens are awakening and showing their disapproval of this as a required course. We want the things that will teach world peace to all of the rising citizens.

War is clearly the worst enemy of civilization. It is not a natural growth, but is the result of greed and selfish desires. The ones who advocate and incite wars are not the ones who later engage in the actual fighting. Someone said that it is the rich man's war and the poor man's fight. The war lords never fight the wars, but innocent people who do not desire a struggle. There is a spirit worked up that will make people feel that it is the cause of righteousness and will make them feel that the nation is being willfully wronged and should go to war. Most of the wars of history would never have been fought if some impassioned spirits had not magnified the wrongs and the ends to be gained. It is said that two weeks around the conference table would have prevented the World War. It seems that experience would teach men that it is cheaper to reason matters than to attempt to settle differences by conflict. At the end of the conbict of 1914 we asked what were the gains that either side had made. The debit side was so great that we at once condemn war as an economic venture.

War stands condemned in the eyes of man and God as useless and destructive of harmony and good will. Anything that helps develop a psychology in its favor, as military training does, we count sinful. Instead of glorifying war and its heroes we need to educate people to its horrors. We want to set the standard on peace and its great values.

We have been experiencing a depression which many people think is an aftermath of the World War. Whether it is or not, we cannot expect to engage in four years of conflict without seriously impairing our economic structure. We are reaping the crop from seeds that were sown in former years. The flower of our manhood was used as "cannon fodder" or as targets that were badly battered. Men were taken from useful occupations and constructive enterprises to be killed or exposed to conditions which left many physically and mentally unfit. War is the enemy of progress and culture and an agency for the destruction of moral and social standards.

It is a sad commentary on the Christian nations of the world that disputes cannot be settled without conflict. We have learned that men cannot permanently or successfully settle their troubles through fighting and we need to be as sensible is seeing that nations do not settle difficultites but they merely weaken themselves by conflict so that a momentary peace is effected. As young people we need to openly oppose anything that points toward war and pledge ourselves to the cause of peace and national good will. The spirit of God in the human heart is the only thing that will insure permanent peace and a spirit of concord in the relations of the nations of the world.

Quotable Poetry

In Christ there is no East or West,
In Him no South or North;
But one great fellowship of love
Throughout the whole wide earth.

In Him shall true hearts everywhere
Theier high communion find;
His service is the golden cord
Close binding all mankind.

Join hands, then brothers of the faith,
Whate'er your race may be.
Who serves my Father as a son
Is surely kin to me.

In Christ now meet both East and West,
In Him meet South and North;
All Christly souls are one in Him
Throughout the whole wide earth.

Suitable Songs

"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "Sweet Peace the Gift of God's Love," "Wonderful Peace," "Have Thine Own May, Lord," "The Son of God Goes Forth for Peace," "Love Divine."

◆

—Miss Mary Margaret, older daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Bates, has received a pleasing honor in Greensboro High School: she has been chosen to membership in the Torchlight Society, this in recognition of her thorough scholarship, her excellent character, her ability to lead and her disposition to serve. This election is the result of the concurrent judgment of three groups—the high school faculty, the Senior class, and the Torchlight Society. Congratulations!

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Friendship, Fallston	$ 5.70
Ladies' Bible Class, R. I. Ave., Washington, D. C., clothing child	5.00
Flat Rock S. S., Flat Rock	2.00
Mount Pleasant S. S., N. Davidson	1.30
Lebanon S. S., High Point	6.30
Hebron S. S., Orange	5.55
Gillburg, Vance	1.00
Mt. Pleasant, Guilford	.75
Caroleen S. S.	4.11
Rockingham S. S.	5.50
Chestnut Ridge S. S., Orange	3.50
The W. S. Cecil Class, Pleasant Grove, clothing child	5.00
Spring Church, Spring Church	2.00
New Hope, Why Not	4.05
Bellmont S. S., Mt. Hermon	3.32
Matthews Chapel, Greensville	1.50
Bess Chapel S. S.	1.82
Maple Springs, Forsyth	5.00
Union Chapel, Granville	8.70
Eden Auxiliary, Halifax, clothing child	25.00
Bethesda S. S., Halifax	4.50

Clothing and Other Gifts

Mrs. Emma P. Shephard, Tehucana, Texas, 1 quilt.

Dr. J. E. Pritchard, Winston-Salem, 40 pounds vetch seed for the farm.

Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Gibbs, The Times Printing Company and Miss Sallie Bet Barnhill, Westminster, Md., 3,000 envelopes, return address printed and all ready addressed.

Mrs. Virginia Magee, Pleasant Hill, N. C., a box of clothing for Louise and Nancy Wright.

The Print Shop, High Point, N. C., 4,000 sheets of paper.

Mr. J. M. Millikan, Greensboro, N. C., multigraphing 3,000 letters.

We are profoundly grateful for these helpful contributions.

Last Report Before Conference

This is our last report before Conference. However, all the money you send to us by and including November 8th will be counted in this Conference year. So please hasten your last minute collections to us.

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving will soon be here, and we are asking that Sunday, November 20, to Sunday, November 27, including Thanksgiving, be given to the Home.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

TO THOSE IN CONFERENCE COURSE

We are trying to make Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 8, very helpful to you all. As has been announced, the examinations will be conducted in the afternoon. At the evening hour, beginning at 7:30, we are to have some short addresses on various phases of sermon making and the work of the minister. Please plan to be present in the afternoon and remain for the evening addresses.

J. E. PRITCHARD, Chairman Faculty.

◆

—Mrs. Vista Sykes Garrett Mansfield is the proud mother of a daughter recently born.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

STEWARDSHIP AND BENEVOLENCES

By reference to the year-book the secretaries of stewardship and benevolences are expected to have an important place in the December Auxiliary meeting. As this is perhaps the most important division of our work, let's all have a full round program on stewardship and benevolences. Perhaps a playlet or a dramatization along this line could be given; or just plain facts. Anyway, get this important phase of the work in the December Auxiliary meetings throughout the entire branch. Plan now for December meetings.

DR. JOY HARRIS GLASCOCK,
Secretary of Benevolences and Stewardship.

TO LADY VISITORS OF HIGH POINT COLLEGE

The lady visitors of High Point College are called to meet at 9:30 on Thursday morning, November 10, in the Burlington church. It is hoped that every auxiliary will send a representative to meet with Dr. Humphreys.

MRS. S. S. COE.

JULIAN AUXILIARY

Saturday afternoon, October 15, the Woman's Auxiliary of Julian gathered at the home of its president, Mrs. W. T. Hanner, and gave a reception in honor of Mrs. H. L. Isley, wife of the pastor of their church.

The parlor and reception hall were beautifully decorated with fall flowers. Amusing games were enjoyed, then Mrs Hanner, assisted by her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hanner, served a delicious buffet luncheon.

The most interesting feature of the occasion was the shower given Mrs. Isley, that consisted of a beautiful 30-piece dinner set, nine large towels, hand-made apron, linen buffet set, hosiery, lingerie, flower vase, wall picture, and stationery. Each package was unwrapped and all shared pleasure with the honoree. The Auxiliary was glad to have some ladies from the Tabernacle and Shiloh churches present and take part.

ONE PRESENT.

FURTHER NOTICE TO AUXILIARIES

The offering you are asked to make for Mr. Minnis on "Woman's Day" at Conference will be credited on the N. C. S. Budget of your Auxiliary. My notice in last week's Herald did not seem to be clear; hence this further notice.

MRS. S. W. TAYLOR, Treas.

COMMITTEE OF DRY FORCES REPORTS ON CANDIDATES

After a most careful canvass, we are able to present a list of candidates for United States Senator, Governor, Congressmen by Districts, and others concerned in prohibition legislation. Where a candidate is not opposed, it is so stated; where one is satisfactory or unsatisfactory, that fact is set down; where no definite informatiton has been secured, that is noted.

Read the list; inform your neighbors; vote yourself and get others to vote. This election is IMPORTANT, Election Tuesday, November 8th.

This information is given regardless of party affiliations of the candidates. Its findings are on the Wet and Dry issue alone, without regard to any other issues.

Where the word "preferred" is used, we mean that the candidate is preferable to his opponent in respect to the dry issue.

For Governor: Clifford Frazier, Republican, satisfactory; J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Democrat, "personally and politically dry;" "standing upon the platform of my party."

Lieutenant-Governor: Boone T. Tillett, Republican, no answer; A. H. Graham, Democrat, no answer.

Secretary of State: C. R. Brady, Republican, satisfactory; Stacey W. Wade, "personally and politically dry;" "standing on the platform of my party."

Attorney-General: H. S. Williams, Republican, satisfactory; Dennis G. Brummitt, Democrat, no answer.

United States Senator: Jake F. Newell, Republican, satisfactory; Robert R. Reynolds, Democrat, recognized leader of the wet forces of the state.

United States Congress: First District, John B. Respass, Republican, satisfactory; Lindsay C. Warren, Democrat, no answer; Second District, B. B. Howell, Republican, satitsfactory; John H. Kerr, Democrat, no answer; Third District, H. B. Ivey, Republican, reported to be dry; Charles L. Abernathey, Democrat, no answer; reported to stand on the platform adopted at Chicago. Fourth District; L. P. Dixon, Republican, satisfactory; Edward W. Pou, Democrat, strong dry record, but stands squarely on the Democratic national platform; Fifth district, L. L. Wall, Republican, satisfactory; Frank W. Hancock, Jr., Democrat, no answer; in the last Congress voted "wet"; Sixth District, William I. Ward, Republican, satisfactory; William B. Umstead, Democrat, unsatisfactory; Seventh District, J. M. Byrd, Republican, satisfactory; J. Bayard Clark, Democrat, "personally dry; prohibition laws a failure; favors re-submission"; Eighth District, A. H. Ragan, Republican, satisfactory; J. Walter Lambeth, Democrat, no answer, but has a dry record; Ninth District, P. P. Dulin, Republican, satisfactory; Robert L. Doughton, Democrat, no answer; reported to be strong dry; Tenth District, Charles A. Jonas, Republican, satisfactory; A. L. Bulwinkle, Democrat, "favors repeal under certain conditions"; Eleventh District, Crawford F. James, Republican, "stands on the Republican National Platform, but is a strong dry; Zebulon Weaver, Democrat, strong dry record; will probably support a re-submission amendment along the line of Senator Glass of Virginia.

National Candidates for President and Vice-President: The Republican candidate for President, Herbert Hoover, is for modification of the Eighteenth Amendment and for its enforcement by both Federal and state governments; the Republican candidate for Vice-President, Charles Curtis, is against repeal; the Democratic candidate for President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, is for the repeal and doom of the Eighteenth Amendment and for immediate beer; the Democratic candidate for Vice-President, John H. Garner, is for repeal.

AN ACTIVE CHURCH

Dear Editor:

I notice so many churches are on the red side of the ledger.

I think the fault is in the preachers. If they preach sound doctrine, "Jesus Christ the Plan of Salvation," The churches will not hold the crowds and they will open their pocketbooks.

I don't blame people for not going to hear some kinds of sermons. Just look at the churches where sound doctrine is preached; they are full at each service.

People want to know how to be saved, not to sit and listen to some woman sing a solo. I think that will kill a church quick.

If this is too strong, God has put this into my heart to write. When you think this over, pray over it; then try it and see the difference.

I am a member of a small church. All are working people that belong to this church and our pastor has not waited one minute for his pay and at times we pay him in advance. At the morning service there is a goodly number present. At the evening service the church is full.

This pastor preaches "Jesus Christ, the Plan of Salvation." He puts his whole soul and body in each service. He visits the members. They all know him; that is the whole thing.

We had to build larger Sunday school rooms, improved the grounds, paint the church, build 50 square yards of sidewalk and put up a church marker. We have done lots of other things and thank God they are all paid for.

Yours truly,

J. J. M.

ANOTHER OCTAGON PRIZE CONTEST

After considerable search, I have found some one to volunteer to offer a prize of five dollars to the Auxiliary sending in the most coupons during the next three months —November, December and January. The donor does not wish to be known, but I'll guarantee that the money will be forthcoming when the returns are all in.

Now, Auxiliaries, get busy. Send in all the coupons you can get hold of. You probably have friends who are not saving them, who would be glad of an opportunity to help you and the Home. Appoint a Coupon Secretary in your Auxiliary to head up the collecting and sending in of the coupons. Let's double the number that were sent in during the last contest. Be sure to put the name of the Auxiliary on the package, and send it to Mrs. A. G. Dixon, Children's Home, High Point, N. C.

C. W. BATES.

You Can't Blame Her

A "cullud" lady appeared for registration. After giving her name, age, and address, the clerk asked her: "What party are you affiliated with?"

"Does I have to answer that?"

"That is the law.'

"Den you can just scratch my name offen de books. If I got to tell de party's name ah don't vote, das all. Why, he ain't got his divorce yit." Exchange.

Doctor: "Do you have any temperature?"
Patient: "No, the nurse took it."

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

English Street, High Point.—English Street is still living. The people have been kind to us and stood by us with their means as far as they were able.

We had 12 conversions up to the second Sunday in April; on that date we began our spring revival. We closed on the fourth Sunday night with 40 conversions, and 22 accessions to the church. We held our fall meeting, beginnng with the fourth Sunday in September, with 12 conversions and three accessions. Rev. J. D. Cranford came to us on Monday night and stayed until Friday night. His sermons were founded upon Christ, and will stand the test at the last day. The people enjoyed his messages. Many were heard to say that the kind of preaching he did, if heeded, would save the world. Our congregations have been fine; several times this year the church would not hold the people. The finance is badly behind, but the people are making an effort to raise every dollar they can. We held the fourth quarterly meeting October 2 , with most of the official members present. Several visitors from other church were present, among them Mr. and Mrs. Holten from the First Presbyterian church, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown from the First Baptist, Mrs. Setliff, from the First M. P., and others that showed they were interested in our church by being in the number that they obligated to pay 10 cents apiece a week to the pastor the coming year. We greatly appreciate what all did. The business of the quarterly conference was transacted in a spirit of love, and they voted 100 per cent for the pastor's return.

Owing to the hard times we have been financially embarrassed, but in spite of it all we have had one of the best years in our ministry. Brethren, I hope to see you all at Conference. C. H. HILL, Pastor.

* * *

Whitakers.—At a meeting of the members of the local Methodist Protestant church here October 19th, officers for the coming year were elected. A program of special music and recitations followed the election of officers, and the meeting was concluded with refreshments served by ladies of the church.

The special program included a piano solo by Miss Margie Pittman, recitations by Miss Frances Cooke and Mrs. Gaston Moore, a solo by Mrs. J. M. Cutchin, III, and instrumental music by James Cutchin, cornetist, and Miss Mary Page Franklin, violinist, assisted at the piano by Mr. J. H. Cutchin.

The following officers, reported by the nominating committee composed of Mrs. Mamie Braswell, Miss Ellen Etheridge, and J. M. Cutchin, were elected:

Class Leaders: Mrs. Mamie Braswell, Miss Mollie Wheeless, and Mrs. Almond Pittman.

Trustees: J. M. Cutchin, Henry A. Braswell, J. W. Etheridge, Dr. J. H. Cutchin, and C. L. Johnston, Jr.

Stewards: Mrs. R. A. Bradley, C. L. Johnston, Mrs. J. H. Cutchin, Miss Ellen Etheridge, Jessie Johnston, and Miss Carmen Cutchin.

Board of Christian Education: Pastor, Sunday School, Superintendent, Mrs. Harold A. Braswell, Mrs. J. M. Cutchin, Jr., and Mrs. M. B. Smith.

Ushers: J. M. Cutchin, III, Herbert Etheridge, W. T. Braswell, Jr., and C. L. Johnston, Jr.

Treasurer: Mrs. R. A. Bradley.

Church Reporters: Miss Mollie Wheeless and Miss Sarah Johnston.

Organist: Mrs. J. H. Cutchin.

Assistant Organist: Mrs. Warren Woodard.

Sunday School Superintendent: Ben Neville.

Assistant S. S. Supt.: J. M. Cutchin, Jr.

* * *

Piney Grove.—The newly organized C. E. Society is progressing nicely. Last Sunday Miss Elizabeth Hanner and Rev. Short went to Canaan to organize a C. E. Society. They report a splendid group of young people who elected Wesley Sexton as their president and Miss Mada Ward as corresponding secretary. Best wishes to the two organizations.

* * *

Siler City C. E. Society.—Misses Verda Shaw Fox and Minnie Cooper were joint hostesses to the C. E. Society Friday night, October 28. The purpose of this meeting was to elect new officers for the new year, which are as follows:

President, D. G. Fox; vice-president, Lucille Poole; secretary and treasurer, John R. Forrester; recording secretary, Miss Cleta Andrew; pianist, Verda Shaw Fox; assistant pianist, Clarice Fox; press reporter, Minnie Cooper.

The reports for the year were then made which were very good. A social hour followed which was enjoyed by all after which refreshments were served.

Miss Sallie Smith had charge of the program the Fifth Sunday night. At that time the Endeavorers went to Zion M. P. church and gave the program. It was the purpose of that meeting to boost the interest of the young people of that church in their C. E. Society, and I am sure it was a help to us also. The liquor problem was discussed and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Also there was special music by our society. We have a real wide-awake society and are trying to do our part in the uplifting of God's kingdom here on earth.

MINNIE COOPER, Reporter.

* * *

Siler City.—We regret very much that Bro. Pike could not fill his appointment on the third Sunday morning, owing to the inclemency of the weather. Bro. Love filled his appointment on the first Sunday night with another of his uplifting messages. We are always glad to have Bro. and Mrs. Love with us.

The fifth Sunday morning was another glad hour for us when Mr. Howard, one of our own High Point students, came and delivered a very interesting message to an attentive congregation, using as the theme of his sermon "The Significance of the Cross," taken from part of the 19th chapter of John. Everyone was thrilled with his talk and expressed to Mr. Howard their appreciation of his coming to us in this hour of need. We are hoping he may come and be with us for a year or someone else equally as good. Mr. Evans Stone rendered "Under His Wings" as a lovely solo at this service.

Rally Day was observed with a splendid program on the second Sunday night. The children showed they had been well trained, especially Mrs. T. L. Smith's class. The singing was good. It is a treat to anyone to listen to our young people sing. The offering amounted to $8.85.

Our Woman's Auxiliary met at the church on Wednesday afternoon after the third Sunday. The treasurer's report showed we had paid all obligations to date and still have a neat sum in the treasury. After a short business meeting the program committee took charge. "China" was our study. Mrs. J. A. Cooper read an interesting paper on "China's Evangelistic Department," and Miss Minnie Cooper told the story of Mrs. Soderbom's trip to the country as told by Mrs. Soderbom.

New Sunday school officers were elected the fifth Sunday as follows: Pianist, Miss Minnie Cooper; choir leader, Mr. Evans Stone; secretary and treasurer, Mr. B. E. Fox. Teachers are as follows: Mr. L. L. Wrenn, Mrs. E. D. Woody, Mrs. T. L. Smith, Mrs. L. L. Woody, Mrs. C. E. Brady, Mrs. Duncan Welch, and Mr. T. L. Smith. One more teacher and the superintendent are to be elected later.

We are glad to report that Mr. J. E. Fox, who has been quite ill and had to be taken to the hospital, is back at home and on the road to recovery. But we are sorry to learn that his wife has been very sick for the past week. We trust that she may soon be well and in her accustomed place in all church activities.

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Colie Fox is very sick with pneumonia. We hope he may be speedily restored to health.

The Annual Conference is drawing near and we are looking forward to having a pastor for the next year, so we won't be like sheep without a shepherd.

MRS. J. A. COOPER. Reporter.

* * *

State Street, Lexington.—The first Fourth Quarterly conference, Wednesday night, and the Sunday services the 6th will bring us to a close of another year.

On Thursday night of last week the inmates of the parsonage were pleasantly surprised when in connection with the ladies' class meeting which was held at the parsonage the members brought along a fine supply of good things to eat and left them for our consumption. We appreciate them the more for it is more often that poundings come the first of the year rather than at the close. Without listing either the item or naming the individual donors we say, thank you.

G. H. HENDRY.

* * *

West Forsyth.—The quarterly conference for West Forsyth charge was held at Union Hill church last Sunday. The morning session was devoted to worship and a sermon. Rev. W. L. Harkey, pastor of the Yadkin charge of the Methodist Episcopal church (Northern branch), delivered the sermon, discussing the subject of following Christ afar off. It was a very helpful sermon, and those who heard it spoke favorably of the discourse.

Dinner was served by the Union Hill people during the noon hour. The conference assembled for the afternoon session at 2 o'clock. All the churches except one, Harmony Grove, were represented. Fairly good reports were made by Sunday School superintendents and others. The pastor's report showed that he had made a total of 501 visits during the year, and $722.59 received on salary. It is expected that the balance due on the salary, $277.41, will be raised before the pastor leaves for the Annual conference. The conference fixed the pastor's salary for the coming year, and voted unanimously to instruct the delegate to ask for the return of the pastor for the fifth year.

We will complete the work of this conference year with the services at Baltimore and Stony Knoll churches next Sunday. The pastor has had four years of pleasant association with the people of West Forsyth charge. While there have been discouraging features of the work we have enjoyed working for and with the people and the pastor and family desire to express their appreciation to the people for all of the kindness shown and the many tokens of love and esteem received from the people during four years on the charge. Whether we serve this charge another year or not, we wish for every church on the charge a most successful year during 1933.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

* * *

Union Ridge.—The church is working very hard now. This being the end of another conference year, we trust that all our responsibilities will be met, and we are hoping that our pastor, Mr. R. A. Hunter, will be with us during the coming year.

We enjoyed a good revival this summer. The pastor was assisted by Brother Ed Brewer who brought us many inspiring messages. To him we owe many thanks, and trust that ha may continue in the good work.

On the first Sunday we observed the annual reunion of the Sunday School and had a wonderful day.

Last Sunday was the last service before quarterly conference. Officers were elected for the incoming year, three new members taken in the church and general business was transacted. The members met Tuesday night and revised the church roll. We intend to make a good start on the next year's work and hope we will succeed and accomplish more for the Lord during the next year. Let's strive to succeed for ourselves and the Lord. May God bless you is our prayer.

MRS. ADDIE POPE, Reporter.

* * *

Richland Charge.—Richland charge is still on the map, however we have been silent as far as reports are concerned this year. Conditions as far as can be seen are normal. The spiritual atmosphere as a whole might be better. Special days at most churches were observed. General increase of attendance has been noticeable at all Sunday schools during the year. Charlotte has made gains perhaps 40 per cent. Giles Chapel has made 35 or 40 per cent. New Union has doubled attendance this season, this is our smallest membership. Sunday school enrollment was 28 when I came on this charge. Now the enrollment is 62. Browers church has made no signal progress although she has held her own.. Cedar Falls school is not large, but I understand holds the record in Randolph county on average attendance.

There have been 33 conversions and reclamations this year at the several churches. Eighteen additions to the church. Two Ladies' Auxiliaries organized, and one Ladies' Aid.

The Fourth Quarterly conference was held at parsonage. All churches will perhaps pay out on salary with the exception on one. However this church has paid $86 to the Children's Home during the year. A country church.

Brother Danny Trodgen was elected delegate to Annual conference.

Much kindness has been shown the parsonage family during the year in many gifts and necessities, such as are enjoyed, and coming only from grateful hearts.

PASTOR.

* * *

Granville Charge.—The Fourth Quarterly conference met with Union Chapel church, on October 29, 1932. All of the churches were well represented, and the business was transacted in a spirit of love, and harmony. Some of the reports were extra good. Our Sunday schools are making good progress, and our Missionary Auxiliaries all had good repots. Our church attendance has been better this year. We have had splendid revivals on the work, with 33 accessions to the church.

The financial report was not as good as it was at the last Fourth Quarterly conference, but the Stewards are hopeful of bringing it up with last year by the time our Annual conference meets.

Mrs. E. F. Smith was elected alternate delegate to the conference, R. L. Davis is the delegate. The pastor's salary was fixed for the same for another year. The conference voted unanimously for the return of the present pastor. We appreciate this expression of confidence.

C. L. SPENCER.

* * *

Calvary, Greensboro.—Mr. Bates usually tells me to "omit the flowers" in writing of him. I hope he will forgive me for this. I did not attend church Sunday morning, but I heard several who did attend say that he "outdid" himself. They pronounced it the best sermon he has preached. His subject was, "Consider the Lilies, How They Grow," taken from Luke 12:27. Mrs. Fields sang an offertory solo.

Sunday night's service was given over to the Thank-Offering service. The offering went through the Board of Christian Education to High Point College. Three students from the college gave interesting talks. Miss Edith Guthrie spoke on "What Can Be Done Through Leadership Training Schools." Miss Pattie Bartee's subject was, "Our Denominational Institutions and Why We Support Them." William Snotherly told us why every Methodist Protestant boy and girl in North Carolina should go to High Point College.

A group of children from the primary department formed a "Ring of Friendship" around Miss Velma Beam, who as a storyteller told them a very beautiful story of Christ's love for the children of all races. Several children were dressed to represent the different races. The soloists were Mrs. Robah Fields and Mrs. Bissett. Arthur Fiddler of High Point rendered two violin solos.

Circles Nos. 1 and 2 met Tuesday afternoon to plan the meals to be served at the precincts next Tuesday. They served at the primary elections also.

Circle No. 1 planned a birthday party to be held at the home of Mrs. Howard Neece Friday night. Six members who had birthdays in October are hostesses. After the musical entertainment at Mrs. Neece's home the party will progress to Mrs. Bates' home for refreshments and entertainment. This being a "depression party," old clothes will be worn. Each guest will bring a penny for each year of age.

On Thursday night, October 20, a denominational supper was given in the church hut. This was a "friendship supper" and its object was to enable the members to become better acquainted.

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

* * *

First Church, Lexington.—Our work is moving along nicely. Our Sunday school and preaching services are being well attended; there were 260 present in Sunday school today.

Our prayer services are also being well attended and much interest is being shown in these services. On last Wednesday a week ago, Dr. A. E. Brannock led our service and there were about 126 present to hear Brother Brannock and he brought a very helpful message. We are glad to see our prayer services going along so well for as long as we can keep a good, live prayer service going we are sure that the other services will move on.

Our preaching services are always attended by large crowds. In our morning service today the church was almost filled and the service was taken up for the installation of the church officers for the next conference year and for the communion service. At the close of the service the doors of the church were opened and one new member was received into the church.

It may seem a bit late to report on our Fourth Quarterly conference but as we have not sent in a report since we want to mention it at this time. The conference was held at Mt. Carmel church on Tuesday evening, October 18, both churches had a good report and this church had the best report it has ever had. The church treasurer, Brother Mallard, reported that this church was up to date with its claims and that just a few more dollars would put us out for the year. We were all glad that Brother Mallard could make such a good report. The pastor had a good report for the year. The conference voted unanimously for the return of Brother Isley for another year and instructed the delegate to bring Brother Isley back to this work for his fifth year.

We are hoping that all pastors may go to conference with the best reports they have ever had and that God may direct the work of the conference.

REPORTER.

* * *

Tabernacle Charge.—Dr. Taylor, president of our conference, delivered a very helpful and inspiring message at Julian church on the evening of October 9. It was a pleasure to have him in our home as a guest for the evening meal. For a number of years Julian church has paid all claims in full. This good record will not be broken this year. At Tabernacle church we are doing our best to close the year successfully. The membership of this church is large and somewhat scattered, some living in towns and communities some distance away, yet it appears that the church will not fall below the record made last year. Some of the best folks in the work are found at both churches on this charge.

We are almost in sight of our goal for the Herald and we hope to reach it before conference convenes. Miss Ola Whitley and Miss Anna Hardin have rendered splendid service soliciting subscriptions.

Our C. E. Society at Tabernacle sowed one acre in beans for the church. The hay has just been sold for $10.00.

The Woman's Auxiliary at both churches is very active. A few weeks ago the Auxiliary of Tabernacle church placed beautiful pews in the assembly room of the Sunday school building.

Just recently the pastor learned that the Herald has been going into the homes of Brothers Samuel Deviney and C. H. Hardin ever since it began publication.

Mrs. Hazel Howerton recently joined Julian church by letter.

The following have our thanks for donations: Mrs. J. E. Hanner, Mrs. W. T. Hanner, Mrs. John Greeson, Mrs. R. L. Jones, Mrs. J. L. Coble, Miss Emma Kennett, Mrs. Tom Garrett, Mrs. W. A. Cosby, Mrs. Georgia McClintock, and "Pete" Neese, little son of Mr. Purvis Neese.

H. L. ISLEY.

Alleghany, Davidson Charge.—Pastor Bingham preached a good sermon the fifth Sunday on the duty of the church officers. New officers were elected. Sunday school superintendent, Samuel Fine; assistant, G. T. Loflin; secretary, Miss Leola Cook; organist, Miss Irene Loflin; Mr. Paul Fine, choir leader; Abigail Coggins, reporter; stewards, V. L. Fine, J. B. Cook, Pearley Doley; trustees, G. T. Loflin, N. L. Fine, N. E. Loflin; class leaders, Ross Cook, Paul Fine. The officers were installed. I hope that we all will remember the vow that we took and do our best.

We are expecting Brother Bingham back. I think that all of the quarterly conference voted to bring him back, and he seemed willing to come back, so we look for him. Mr. Paul Fine is to preach the second Sunday in next month, as the preachers will be at conference.

Let us start right for the new year, and keep right all of the year, and do all for the church that we can. Let us begin to pay the first of the year and it won't be so hard. We are a little behind on the salary but we hope to pay out. Let all do their part.

ABIGAIL COGGINS.

Creswell Charge.—A review of the year's work on Creswell Charge reveals nothing of a sensational nature, but that there has been progress is as certain as the promise of God that His Word will not return unto Him void, as the pastor has endeavored to preach the Word, in accordance with the apostolic commission, and nothing but the Word, in keeping with the apostolic example, as indicated in his words, "I determined to know nothing among you save Jesus Christ and Him crucified." The sowing of the "incorruptible seed" has produced some spiritual life; the Lord has added unto the churches such as should be saved. Next to the salvation of these precious souls the thing that has gladdened our hearts is the increased knowledge of God's Word resulting from the mid-week Bible classes which the pastor has conducted these two years. Interest in these Bible classes is increasing. The pastor has just recently been asked to organize another one in a community not served by any church. A union Sunday school utilizing an abandoned school building in good condition was recently organized with a good sized membership, and the pastor of this charge has been requested to hold a week night Bible class similar to his others.

The good work of the Creswell Woman's Auxiliary is improving the exterior of Creswell church and the parsonage deserves mention. An attractive metal roof has replaced the old shingle one, which has needed replacement for many years, and has added considerably to the appearance of the church. Shrubbery has been purchased from the nursery, which should beautify the church lawn.

As is true everywhere, money is scarce here and consequently the pastor's salary and conference claims are in arrears. We are making every effort to raise all we can for all causes and feel certain that when we come to the end it can be said of our people as a whole as our Lord said of Mary, "they have done what they could."

The pastor and his family have enjoyed the two years here. The people have been kind and co-operated in every way. While they have given him less than $600 in cash this year, he has lived within his income and not had to run a single store account. The good folks in the country made this possible by generously sharing many of the things they raised. The Lord has blessed us in the matter of health. Although this is malarial country, the pastor and his family haven't had a touch of malaria and they haven't had to dose with quinine either. For all of these things we are profoundly grateful to the giver of every good and perfect gift. We are looking forward to another pleasant year in the service of the King down here in this "goodly land of fountains and brooks of water," as the fourth quarterly conference instructed the delegate for the pastor's return.

J. C. RUSSELL, Pastor.

Draper.—The last quarterly conference was held October 26. All officers were present except one. The reports were all good. Our finances are somewhat behind, but the spiritual condition is good.

There have been 14 conversions and nine united with the church. We have lost two members this year by death.

The attendance is still on the increase. Both Sunday school and C. E. society are doing fine work.

The vote was unanimous for Rev. R. L. Vickery to come to us again another year. We sincerely hope conference will send him back. He has done a good work, and we feel that he can still do a greater work another year. Our church has built up in every way since he has been here. Pray for us that we may ever be on the upward go for God.

A MEMBER.

Denton Charge.—Our fourth quarterly conference meets with Denton church, next Saturday, October 4, at 2 o'clock. Hope all officials will be there with reports. Our people are making a heroic effort to close the year with gratifying results.

Mrs. Joe Delk is still confined to her bed, but she seems to be on the way to recovery, which we hope will be speedy, for we do not remember holding a quarterly conference on this charge when she was not present. She is a mainstay in her church, and her presence is greatly missed.

After a good service at Piney Grove and a turnout that was rather unusual, we walked out to our car and found what had brought the crowd—there in the car was a sumptuous pounding, one to make the preacher and his family really smile, not grin. It seems they are determined if they send the pastor away, he must not go empty-handed and with a lank stomach. Had not we had one just a few days ago from the Denton church, we would not have had so many misgivings, and we would not have taken it as an omen of perhaps some calamity. Well, perhaps it is because they are so good it's just got to come out. God knows the ones who took part, and the gifts they made, with the good they have done to us. We are sure He will remember them in mercy, and not forget their labors of love.

ROBERT SHORT.

Denton, Davidson Charge.—We are nearing the close of another conference year. The great task has by no means been accomplished, as we are somewhat behind in finances.

Our pastor has been with us two years. We have grown to love him and his family. We greatly appreciate all of his efforts to make our church one of the best. He has been very loyal, bringing us, from time to time, very inspiring and uplifting messages. What is more, he uses that little motto, "Practice what you preach." We hope to be able to keep Rev. Short with us longer.

Our church work is progressing nicely. There seems to be an increase in the congregations at the preaching services.

The Lades' Aid, with Mrs. Mitchell as the president, continues to go forward, holding monthly meetings at the homes of various members.

Weekly prayer services have been very interesting, sponsored by Mrs. A. L. Hill, who has been our class leader for the past year. We feel that no one could have done better work than Mrs. Hill.

Our C. E. has increased in membership and is doing fine work. The contest that was on won many members who have helped to lift the society. Attendance is not yet what it should be; nevertheless, it shows a great increase since one year ago.

Quarterly conference will be held at the church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

H. CRANFORD, Reporter.

Winston, First.—Dr. Pritchard has won much favor by his good work as broadcasted over the radio. Recently he conducted the morning worship over the radio at 8 in the morning for a week. A recent evening worship on Sunday afternoon was conducted by Dr. Pritchard and the choir helping. Winston-Salemites enjoyed these very worshipful and splendid services, as well as many others all over the state.

The training school in our church was a success, we feel, the faculty did a splendid and constructive piece of work and the students learned quite a lot. Mr. Harrison was very faithful as well as the others who made this school possible. May we say "thank you" to everyone of them.

A splendid quarterly conference was held on Tuesday evening of last week. Mr. S. E. Hauser, delegate to the annual conference, was instructed to bring back to us Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Pritchard.

At a meeting of the workers' council on Wednesday evening many things were discussed to better the Sunday school. Mr. B. K. Millaway, our very efficient and splendid superintendent, is getting co-operation from everyone, it seems, when it comes to putting things over in a big way. Dr. Edmund Schwarze gave a lecture and showed, on the screen, scenes that he took himself of the Holy Land. This was most interesting and educational.

For some time each Sunday morning the close of Sunday school has been dedicated to a person of our school. Last Sunday morning this service was extremely inspirational, it being dedicated to Mr. J. R. Cummings, father of Mrs. H. G. Paschal. Mr. Cummings' life has been a help and an inspiration to many in our midst.

Sunday night we heard Rev. R. A. Hunter. Mr. Hunter is always welcome in our midst, and his sermons are always helpful and bring home many truths to our hearts and lives.

Mrs. J. E. Pritchard, who has been ill, is out again, we are glad to say, and her condition is still improving.

PAULINE BRONSON, Reporter.

◆

Pleasant Grove.—Our work is moving along freely. Fourth quarterly conference was held last Wednesday night. We were very grateful indeed to have with us our President, Dr. S. W. Taylor, who presided over the conference. The conference voted almost unanimously for the return of the pastor. We hope he may be sent back to us for another year.

We want to thank our pastor and his good wife for the wonderful work they have done the four years they have been with us. Their lives have been a shining light in which to follow, and if this church is not fortunate enough to get them back the church will feel a heavy loss.

The Serve Others class elected officers for the ensuing year on October 23. Mrs. J. R. Meredith was elected as teacher. Mrs. Meredith has been teacher of this class for five years, and we hope that we may have her five more, for she is one among the best teachers this church can afford. We feel it is a great blessing to have such a leader as Mrs. Meredith. She was also elected back as church treasurer where she has served so faithfully for several years.

Our pastor, Rev. D. R. Williams, brought us two wonderful and inspiring messages Sunday. Wish all the members of the church had been present.

We are very sorry to note that Mr. J. R. Meredith has been on the sick list, and also Mrs. Shelby Murphy. We hope for them a speedy recovery.

The Ladies' Aid meets with Mrs. Homer Veah on Thursday night.

REPORTER.

◆

Lexington, State Street.—At the 11 o'clock hour last Sabbath morning a congregational meeting was held and some important and vital matters concerning the church and its interests were discussed. At the evening hour Mr. William Widenhouse came over from Concord, bringing with him the Baraca Band and quite a number of others from Concord M. P. church. We all enjoyed the fine music furnished by the band and especially enjoyed an address by Mr. Widenhouse, the subject of which was the beauty and importance of sacrificial service. We extend to all these friends thanks and an urgent invitation to visit us again.

The fourth quarterly conference will be held Wednesday night of this week. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed next Sunday morning.

All circles of the Woman's Auxiliary met jointly at the church last Wednesday night. A devotional period and a lesson from the study book, Lady Fourth Daughter of China, was given, followed by the business pertaining to the respective circles. After this a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. Mrs. C. L. Koonts is teacher of the study book and does it in a delightful way that is so helpful to all who hear her.

On last Wednesday night the Ladies' Bible class held their regular monthly class meeting with Mrs. Hendry. Mrs. J. Baxter Leonard, president of the class, had charge of the devotional part of the meeting. After the devotionals came a period of real fun and recreation. Mrs. Hendry is a most gracious host and it is always a treat to meet in her home. Joint hostesses with Mrs. Hendry were Mrs. Forcum and Mrs. Tussey. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses and a few volunteer helpers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bethea were in town a short while last Thursday. Rev. Mr. Bethea was called here to conduct the major part of a funeral service of Mr. Edward Workman, who died last Wednesday morning. Mr. Workman was a Baptist and his funeral was held in the First Baptist church here. Rev. J. M. Hays, pastor of the church, assisted Mr. Bethea in the funeral rites. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bethea were delighted to see them again, even though they were called on a sad occasion. We were so pleased to have Mrs. Bethea with us in the Sunday morning service. She was in Lexington on a brief visit Sunday.

REPORTER.

◆

Mitchell's Grove, Guilford Charge.—The fourth quarterly conference met at Zion church Saturday, October 22. After the usual business was transacted our delegate to Conference was instructed. The vote was unanimous for our pastor, Rev. E. A. Peeler, to be returned.

Brother Peeler preached Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. We enjoyed his sermon. He has served us faithfully, has shared with us in sorrow and joy without a word of complaint. This is his second year with us and we pray God's blessings upon him and Mrs. Peeler wherever they are.

The Missionary Society met in October at the home of Mrs. Lewis Cashatt. The devotionals were conducted by the president. Also a very interesting letter from Mr. and Mrs. Soderbom from Kalgan, China, was read by the president. Mrs. Ruth Beck and Miss Rasa Cashatt both had readings. During the social hour refreshments were served.

Mrs. Henry Billings, who has been sick for some time, is improving. We hope she may soon be back in her place at church.

MARTHA PARSONS.

◆

Midway, Haw River Circuit.—We feel that this has been a good year for our church. Brother Trollinger has been faithful in his work with us for four years, and at the close of this year we know better how to appreciate him than ever before. We are hoping on being the Lord's will that conference will see fit to return him, and we will have another good year under his leadership.

The fourth Sunday was the last appointment for this church, and was filled in an excellent manner by the pastor. After the service the officers for the coming year were installed. Sunday school will be reorganized in the near future. Last Sunday our Sunday school visited the Sunday school at Fairview Missionary Baptist church; this visit seemed to be enjoyed by both Sunday schools. The Christion Endeavorers continue to have their meetings each Sunday night, the last meeting being conducted by Miss Edna Butler.

We are glad to report that Miss Marguerite Bartee, who has been in Long's Hospital for an operation, is improving nicely. Mrs. Tom Butler is entering the same hospital today for an operation. We ask the prayers of all who read this for her speedy recovery. She is one of our faithful members.

Hoping success to the Annual Conference, and may each pastor be placed where the Lord wants him to be.

MRS. G. W. APPLE, Reporter.

◆

Forsyth Charge.—We are closing up our first year's work on this charge. It has been a pleasant year in many respects, and we hope a profitable one. We came here new to this kind of work, but have found that the problems and duties are very similar to those found on any other charge. The people have been very appreciative of our efforts and have not failed to co-operate with us in every good work.

We have had a net gain in membership of 17. We have received 22 members, three have died, and two have transferred their membership to other charges.

Our people have been "hit by the depression," as all the other charges have been, but they have not despaired and have gone right on with the work. Although money has not come in as regularly and in as large sums as in other days, the people have given liberally according to their ability and we hope to make a creditable showing in our reports to the Annual Conference.

We will hold our fourth quarterly conference tonight (Monday) at Mt. Carmel church. A good attendance is expected.

Brother R. M. Cox is delegate to the Annual Conference. Quite a number of our people are planning to attend some of the sessions.

R. A. HUNTER.

◆

Hawkins Chapel, Littleton Charge.—Sunday morning Rev. P. E. Bingham brought us a fine sermon, reading part of the 19th chapter of St. Luke, using for his text "Looking for Jesus." Friend, are we looking for Jesus? Behold, Jesus is at the door; He gently knocks, has knocked before, has waited long, is waiting still. We treat no other friend os ill.

Brother Bingham will preach Sunday night and this will be his last appointment before conference. I think it would be hard to find a better man than Brother Bingham.

Last Sunday new officers were elected. Mr. Edward Hawkins is superintendent of the Sunday school, and Mrs. Baldy Green pianist. Most all of the others hold their same places. Next Sunday new Sunday school teachers will be elected.

We may never on earth meet face to face, but I wish to express my appreciation to a Henderson lady who I heard spoke so well of my reports. I thought about Jonah. I asked to resign Sunday, but the people seem to like me and didn't throw me out, so I'm still on board. This coming year will be four years.

Mrs. Bingham and little son are spending some time with her mother. Mrs. R. E. Green has been spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Harris, who has been ill. Sorry also to note that Mrs. G. S. Cullom is very ill.

Miss Clyde Hawkins was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Berta Hawkins, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Carpenter and two children, of Durham, N. C., were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pittard. Mrs. E. B. Pair was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mollie Hawkins, and sister, Mrs J. E. Hawkins, last Sunday.

MRS. CLAUDE HAWKINS, Reporter.

First Church, High Point.—It is a source of general regret that Mr. J. H. Jennings has resigned the superintendency of the Sunday school on account of his health, but we are pleased to note that he will have a worthy successor in Mr. John C. Whitesell, who was elected last Sunday morning. With this exception practically all of the old officers of the church were re-elected, with some new additions to stewards and ushers.

A pleasing feature of the 11 o'clock service was the christening of the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Leonard. This little lady, aged two years, bears the name of Anne Lindsay Leonard.

After a well-rendered flute solo by Miss Susan Sharpe, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Sharpe, and a beautiful anthem sung by the choir, the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, delivered a timely and scathing denunciation of "The Great White Peril," or the liquor traffic, from the text in Joel 3:3, "They have cast lots for my people; have sold a boy for a harlot and given a girl for wine, that they may have drink." He said in part:

"I speak to some who do not agree with me, but I want it understood that this pastor believes in the principles of sobriety. Drunkenness is a sin against God, and manufacturers and distributors of liquor are the great thieves and robbers, for they steal the character of our young people, debauch young manhood and despoil young womanhood.

"Chales W. Eliot, of Harvard University, said that this great white peril is the greatest menace to civilization, worse than the yellow peril of which we hear so much. The deepest sorrow comes when there are wounds made that money cannot heal. There are many young people in my audience who know nothing of the old days of the licensed saloon. I lived in Ohio when we young ministers were required to stump the state for local option. O young people, for it is to you that I speak, beware of this fallacy that liquor is a food, but it is a poison, and the universal law of biology is that a poison is detrimental to the whole human body, and injures the race. Instead of the toast, 'Here's to your health,' it should be, 'Here's to your destruction, softening of the brain, hardening of the liver, blasting of character, and damning of your soul!' The magazine called Time says there are millions who do not know the good taste of beer. No home in High Point will be free from this dreadful menace if everyone is not on the 'qui vive' at next Tuesday's election.

"Young people should read Christian Herald, C. E. World, Christian Science Monitor, Youth's Companion, clean newspapers and magazines that will not even carry ads for the vile drink. Quotations from Dr. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., and numerous athletic coaches prove that our young people of today are not drinking as much as those of past years, but I say it with grief that drinking is on the increase among women. It is to their shame that they have used the 18th Amendment, which gave them suffrage, to flaunt and tear down the 19th Amendment, which was enacted for their protection and that of their children more than any other group. A challenge comes from the children today, 'Tremble, parents, we are growing up.' Prohibition was brought about because 200,000 saloons were licensed in the land, and the long-suffering people rose up in wrath against the curse. I cannot believe that America is going to let Old Glory be trailed in the mud and mire of Prohibition repeal."

The C. E. societies met as follows: Young People's, Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock, and the Senior on Monday evening at 7:30. These societies need a larger and more active membership.

Tuesday evening a meeting of the board of stewards will be held in the church at 7:30. Two teams, led by Messrs. C. C. Robbins and Geo. T. Penny, are contesting in raising the last $2,500 in order to meet all obligations in full before Conference, November 9.

The Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be held as usual, and the topic discussed by the minister will be fifth of the series, "Devotion of Love in Deuteronomy." The A. M. Idol Philathea and Aunt Lizzie Welch classes will sponsor this service.

Thursday afternoon and evening, November 3, the Woman's Auxiliary will hold its annual bazaar and chicken supper in the assembly room of the church. An attractive menu of turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, giblet gravy, candied yams, cole slaw, peas and carrots, and pie, will be offered at 50 cents per plate. Various articles of useful and ornamental handwork will be on sale. It will prove a pleasant occasion.

The A. M. Idol Philathea class will hold a business meeting this (Tuesday) evening at the home of Mrs. Ross H. Davis.

Next Sunday morning, November 6, the newly elected officers of the church and Sunday school will be formally installed. The Lord's Supper will be observed, and opportunity for baptism, infant and adult, will be given, as well as uniting with the church on confession of faith or transfer. Sunday evening all patriotic organizations of the city are invited to worship with First church congregation in memory of Armistice Day.

Monday evening, November 7, the fourth quarterly conference will be held. Mr. Furman R. Auman will represent this church at Annual Conference at Burlington.

We congratulate the following girls and boys of our Sunday school upon attaining the Honor Roll in senior high and junior high schools of the city system: Seniors, Helen Davis and "Buster" Moffitt; Juniors, Alson Gray, Vera York, Robert Rankin, John W. Thacker; Sophomores, Dorothy Davis, Virginia Dixon, Ruth Lee; Freshmen, Reginald Hinshaw, Raymond Cork, Edith Vance, Joe Gray, Madge Robbins, Martha Idol, Preston Sechrest, Mary Elizabeth Farmer, Betty Idol, Mildred Free; Junior High, Mary Louise Boyd, Martha Moffitt, Jack Lee, and Burke Koontz—13 girls and 10 boys.

Miss Blanche Burgess has been elected as chairman art department of the Woman's club to succeed Dr. Lucy Eshelman, who resigned.

Mrs. G. B. Redmond and small son, Glenn B., Jr., of Richmond, Va., spent a few days last week as the guest of Miss Ruth Welch on North Main street. They plan to make a trip to California to visit relatives next week.

Asheboro. — The third Suday of October was observed as Rally Day in our church. The pastor brought a very helpful message to those present. On account of the rainy day the reception of members was postponed to the next Sunday. At this service Van Elmer Rich, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Rich, was baptized.

The evening service was in charge of the young people. Mr. Hart Campbell, a recent graduate of High Point College, and a member of our school faculty, spoke on "Christian Education." The junior choir led in the singing of the hymns and gave a special musical number. Miss Jacqueline Guinn, of Winston-Salem, sang a lovely solo. She was accompanied by Miss Alma Andrews, of Charlotte. Both are students of High Point College.

We were glad to receive into membership October 22nd, Mr. Aiken, three daughters and son, who were former residents of Raeford. Last Sunday Jesse Thomas Pugh and Edward Clinton Phillips united with the church. A special number, "Just as I Am," was sung by Mrs. Garland Pritchard and Mrs. Harriette Hammer Walker. Communion was observed, with a large number partaking. The pastor was assisted by Rev. N. M. Harrison.

Miss Florence Whitcomb, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at Randolph Hospital, is recuperating at the home of Mrs. U. C. Richardson.

The Philathea class held an interesting meeting on Thursday evening, October 20, with Mrs. W. F. Redding, Jr., in her new home on Hill street. "Home" was the devotional subject for the evening. Mrs. L. F. Ross, president, presided over the business session. As a means of securing money the members are to practice self-denial this month. Mrs. Redding was greatly surprised with a bath room shower from the class, which she accepted in a very gracious manner. She was assisted in serving by Miss Bera Scarboro and Mrs. W. F. Redding, Sr.

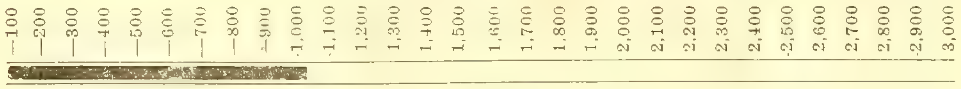
On Wednesday evening of last week the Young People's C. E. Society, under the leadership of Miss Leona Wood, enjoyed a Hallowe'en party in the social room of the church. On Thursday evening Circle No. 4 of the Auxiliary gave a party in the same room to which all were invited, a small admittance fee being charged. Light refreshments were served.

On last Friday evening the fourth quarterly conference was held with a good attendance. The pastor gave an excellent report of the year's work. Leaders of the various organizations of the church gave splendid reports.

The treasurer's report was not completed for the year, but the chairman and stewards

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	16¾
Albemarle	18	8
Anderson	28	5¾
Asheboro	36	17
Asheville	10	5½
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	15
Charlotte	19	13½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	15½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	5¼
Davidson	55	5½
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	2
Forsyth	50	12
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	18¼
Glen Raven	38	9
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	11
Greensboro, Grace	42	28
Greensboro, Calvary	25	18
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	9½
Greensville	59	1½
Guilford	43	15½
Halifax	52	15½
Haw River	49	16
Henderson	38	18¾
HIGH POINT, FIRST	72	81½
High Point, Lebanon	31	26
High Point, Welch	28	2¾
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	8½
Liberty-Moriah	31	19¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	10
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	12
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	10¼
Mount Hermon	92	18
Mount Pleasant	62	26
North Davidson	53	15
Orange	70	36½
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	13½
Pleasant Grove	19	16¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	12
Reidsville	14	11½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	19
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	24½
Siler City	10	8½
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	10½
TABERNACLE	41	42
Thomasville, Community	15	3½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	14
Weaverville	20	3
West Forsyth	62	12¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	13½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	33½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5½
Miscellaneous	50	29⅜

◆

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fifteen)

are working faithfully to close up the year's work in a satisfactory way. Mr. O. E. Rich was elected alternate delegate to Annual Conference. The conference voted unanimously for the return of our pastor, Rev. R. C. Stubbins, for next year, and we are looking forward to his return.

Asheboro and Randolph county are very much interested in the election of President for the Annual Conference. We would be proud to have a former pastor, Dr. J. E. Pritchard, and a son of Randolph, elected to this office. We know he is as capable and efficient as any one in the Conference and will fill it well.

LOLLIE JONES, Reporter.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. H. L. Isley	$15.00
Miss Trogdon, Henderson	10.00
E. L. Douglas	7.50
Rev. C. E. Ridge	7.00
Rev. J. E. Pritchard	4.00
Rev. C. L. Spencer	3.00
Rev. N. G. Bethea	2.00
Miss Janie Blackwood	2.00
Rev. T. A. Williams	2.00
Rev. J. M. Trollinger	1.00
Rev. O. C. Loy	1.00
Rev. T. M. Johnson	1.00
Rev. L. E. Mabry	1.00
Miss Nannie McAdams	1.00
Miss Blanche Hardee	1.00
Rev. J. C. Russell	1.00

Offerings on Printing Deficit

J. L. Cashatt, Mitchell's Grove	$2.00
State Street, Lexington	3.10
Seymour Stafford, Mt. Pleasant	1.00

Our thanks to each of these.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.
PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Newton

Isaac Newton was born in Cleveland County December 13, 1851, and passed away at his home, 82 Carolina Avenue, in Concord, on October 27, 1932.

Mr. Newton leaves a wife and 12 children: Clarence, Julius, I. F., W. B., J. B., J. E., Mrs. J. W. Kirby and Mrs. Mollie Armstrong, of Concord, N. C., I. B. Newton, of Gastonia, N. C., Mrs. O. W. Mayfield, of Columbia, S. C., and 63 grand-childreen and 27 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Newton was faithful to the church while he could attend, but for the past two years he was an invalid and his death was not unexpected. But it was sad to see his wife, who has been an invalid for about four years, carried to the casket to look at her husband for the last time in this world.

The funeral was conducted by the pastor in the home and the body was placed in Concord cemetery.

To the sorrowing wife and children and kinsmen we extend our sumpathy and pray God's blessing upon them.

J. M. MORGAN.

◆

PASTOR RECEIVES SURPRISE POUNDING

The writer and family did not have exactly the same experience as did Rev. G. L. Curry, of West End, Greensboro, but the people of West Forsyth charge took him and his family by suprise last Saturday and rushed into the parsonage, bringing a variety of groceries and other useful articles. They brought with them various articles of food, a dress for the parsonage. The latter gift was made by the Woman's Auxiliary of Pleasant Hill church, and the women representing this organization engaged during the afternoon in making the curtains.

Soon after the arrival of the "pounders" dinner was placed on the dining table and enjoyed by those who arrived in time for this feature. Those sharing in the delightful affair were members from Baltimore, Tabernacle, and Pleasant Hill. The pastor and family appreciate the gifts and the visit of these people to the parsonage. We have received a number of gifts from the people of other churches not participating in the above mentioned occasion, and thank each for their gifts.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXIX GREENSBORO, N. C., NOVEMBER 10, 1932 NUMBER 1

Important Statement Regarding the M. P. Herald

Last week the HERALD completed its 38th year of continuous service, never missing an issue. Many as have been the shortcomings of the paper, it does not require any false pride to enable the publisher to feel that the paper has been worth while. This has been the period of greatest growth and progress in the North Carolina Conference. When I recall what our Conference was 38 years ago, I shudder to think what it would have been now without the help of a conference organ. Forward-looking men of forty years ago are to be thanked for the paper and other agencies we have to promote progress. Men and women of a later day are also to be thanked for generous use of their means to keep these agencies in operation; for church institutions are rarely self-sustaining. Churches themselves could not run long on their gate receipts. Religious journals almost without exception find subscription receipts falling short of paying expenses. With small denominations deficits are more sure to occur. The HERALD has had its shortage every one of its 38 years. To the time the Publishing House was sold these deficits were promptly paid at the end of the year. One man paid about $500 a year for 32 years to remove deficits. He is old and poor now and cannot do this any more. McCulloch & Swain, the printers of the HERALD, paid the deficits for three years, 1927, 1928 and 1929, without complaint. They then appealed for assistance and two voluntary church offerings have to some extent reduced the aggregate for the past three years. This assistance, however, has been inadequate to furnish the relief essential if this work is continued. Our printers are very accommodating to us, but their credit is at stake with those they buy of, and we cannot honorably ask them to indulge us further without adequate provision for paying our debt. This situation makes it imperative that we do something different.

To suggest something different is the main purpose of this article. Our good women of the Missionary Society have made the suggestion to us in a very agreeable and impressive way. For three years now they have been paying one hundred dollars a year for the use of space to promote their work. Inasmuch as the space they use costs us twice as much (two hundred dollars a page per year) we have no hesitancy in receiving it. And why should we have any scruples in receiving half cost from any church or church society or church organization for space actually used in forwarding their work?

If all our church organizations would follow the example of the Woman's Missionary Society in paying for the publicity the HERALD gives to their work there would be no troublesome printing deficits to provide for. We are not censuring anybody because this has not been done. It has not been suggested before. Nor are we censuring anybody for selling the Publishing House and applying the proceeds to the debts of the college at High Point. Our church in North Carolina needs both a college and a paper. Our church in North Carolina will, we believe, find itself both able and willing to support both a paper and a college.

But we are trying to impress the fact that provision must now be made to pay printing deficits to keep the HERALD going. I have suggested one way in which the necessary subsidy may be raised. The Annual Conference may be able to find and adopt a better way. We feel that it would be an egregious blunder to stop the HERALD, even for one year. It is much easier to stop a paper than to start it again. May I appeal to the Annual Conference and to all our churches and people to covenant together to keep the HERALD going? It would be a shame to back down before such a small deficit. An average of three cents each per year would pay it off. In the plan I have suggested the amount to be raised would be allotted to groups in proportion to the amount of publicity space used. We have four general bodies that might each use a page in the HERALD each week and each pay one hundred dollars a year. We have 230 groups (local churches) using altogether about five pages every week for their publicity for which they might reasonably pay $460 a year. We have 200 Sunday Schools, all profitable users of publicity space, that might each pay one dollar a year.

Where there is a will there is a way, is true in this case.

The HERALD was never more highly esteemed than now. The subscription receipts have fallen off but little if any in this year of depression. The printers believe that they can safely undertake the publication for the coming year if a fund of not less than $1,000 can be assured to provide for the probable deficit the coming year, and from some source, a substantial reduction be immediately made in the past deficit as it now exists.

We all recognize the obligation to do our best to make our church a potent factor in establishing the Kingdom of Christ on the earth. We cannot do our best without providing convenient agencies of information. My action will necessarily be determined by yours. May we all place our hands in the guiding hand of our Father and realize that we are led by Him in this important matter as well as every other.

J. F. MCCULLOCH, Publisher.

A Pounding—Was It Providential?

The editor had a delightful pounding last Saturday which he does not know how to report. It came from lifelong friends of Tabernacle and Julian churches—friends so long and friends so strong that it never occurs to doubt their friendship. The mystery is how they knew my need of the things they sent. The HERALD had taken all my money and the wintry winds called for some new defenses. How were they to be obtained? I thought of the merchants I knew, but I had never tested my credit with them, and did not know what attitude they would take. I made my son, also a victim of the HERALD, my messenger to the dry-goods men. I do not know what eloquence he employed, but he came back with the goods. But just before he came another messenger came and left more than money enough to pay for all. This other messenger was Brother Cyrus Field of Tabernacle. Not the man that laid the first Atlantic cable. He brought also an abundant food supply, all excellent in quality. All this was sent to us by these kind friends as a pounding. Brother Field gave Brother Will Hanner credit for taking the initiative. These friends have supplied real needs and added materially to the sum of our happiness. We thank every one of them.

THE CHURCH'S COMMISSION

The Ten Commandments were given on a mountain: the Sermon on the Mount suggests its own topography; the Transfiguration took place on a mountain, as did the giving of the Great Commission. Most scholars think this mountain was that of the Beatitudes, where Jesus after His Resurrection met with above 500 people, as He had appointed. Among the many wonderful and thrilling mountain scenes in the Bible, none surpasses this one.

Jesus said, "Go into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation." This command came first in the final charge to the Disciples. History reveals that all important moral and spiritual movements have had their inception in the proclamation of a heart-warming, and soul-moving message. John the Baptist and Jesus began their marvellous ministry; not by the offering of sacrifices, nor the observance of some ceremonial rite; but by the proclamation of a great fact. The Apostles and all the lesser lights since have succeeded through the preaching or the gospel, the Lord working with them and confirming the word.

The command is so plain and strong that one might infer that further discussion would be superfluous. But there is a tendency to minimize and supplant the preaching of the gospel nowadays. This tendency is seen in the architecture of modern churches. The once outstanding pulpit and the large Bible in most cases are put far to one side, and putting something else where they use to be. The general feeling is that a thing is pushed aside as it loses its power and usefulness. Another sign tending to prove the decline in the appreciation of the preached word is the large numbers, who leave after the Church School, as if nothing of any importance was to follow. Some ministers endeavor to build up and hold their congregations through popular programs. Without discounting other features in the least; this fact must not be lost sight of; namely, "It was God's good pleasure through the foolishness of the preaching to save them that believe."

Preaching the gospel is not an end in itself, but the means through which disciples are made. There are two Scriptural statements that cause the thoughtful, serious-minded, faithful minister to often fall to his knees before the Great Head of the Church. Jesus said, "Come ye after me, and I will make you fishers of men." That those Apostles became what Jesus said they would, is seen in the fact that after Pentecost the Lord added unto the Church daily such as were being saved. What concerns us is the poor showing many of their successors make in soul winning. Conference Minutes, the personal observations frequently indict us of failure.

Among the pastoral duties is the baptising of the new disciples. Dr. Peter Ainslie has written a book entitled, "The Scandal of Christianity," which he finds in the multitude of sects and denominations, when Jesus prayed that they might be one. Another scandal is the water war that has been waged over the mode of baptism. Many have disputed, magnified the mode and apparently lost sight of the fact, that in this final charge Jesus does not mention water, much less the mode of the baptism. The language is clear, "Baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit." The baptized disciple becomes a part of the Divine Life and is consigned to loving, redeeming, sanctifying power of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. The old doctrine of baptismal regeneration has no Scriptural support.

A further step in the Church's Commission, is teaching the new disciples to observe all that Christ had commanded. There is a temptation to observe the things that meet our approval; and to support some favorite doctrine: rather than like Paul, "Declare the whole counsel of God." The commandments stand between us all and eternal life, as they did the rich young man. Too many try to live by and preach an emasculated gospel, rather than living and preaching it in its fulness, and power. The ministers, who have won anything worthy of the name success, have preached a full gospel.

After examining the Church's Commission; department by department, and item by item: the whole program was more of a commencement than an end within itself. It must have been sobering, staggering, startling to that little band of disciples before Pentecost. There were two real encouragements accompanying the commission. It was given by the One, who was too wise to make mistakes, and too good to be unkind. It was given by the Almighty. D. L. Moody observes that Jesus really didn't say, "Go" to the work, but, "Come with me to the work." "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Many have marvelled at the courage, sternness, steadfast purpose of Jesus as the days approached that He should be delivered up, set his face to go to Jerusalem. Personally, that picture of Christ doesn't mean so much to me, till I start over a long, rough road some dark night to preach at some outlying, weak and often unappreciative congregation. When I am tempted to stay at home and listen to the radio; I see again that stern face turned toward that unattractive little church; and hear Him who spake as never man spake, saying, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto that little church." His company makes the trip a joy and His presence makes preaching a luxury. The spokesman for Jesus has an honor, privilege, and opportunity that angels might well covet, much less we poor mortals of the earth.

W. A. Ledford.

PROHIBITION AGENT NO. 1

(Review of "Prohibition Agent No. 1" by Izzy Einstein, Published by Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York, $2.00)

By Ernest H. Cherrington, LL.D., Litt.D.

General Secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism

Prohibition is here to stay; drinking is growing less; prohibition can be enforced: so writes a man who ought to know, one of the men best informed on all phases of the prohibition question, Izzy Einstein, whose book, "Prohibition Agent No. 1" (published by Frederick A. Stokes Company, $2.00), is as humorous as it is informing, as frank as it is sensational. Einstein arrested 4,932 people for violation of the prohibition law. No other enforcement agent ever approached his record. He did this without ever carrying a weapon, without ever intimidating suspects, without indulging in entrapment. His record is the fullest possible answer to those who insist that prohibition cannot be enforced.

Here is Einstein's summary of the situation: "If you like the opinion of a fellow who used to be in the enforcement service and who has kept posted since, I'd say, as I said in my preface: Prohibition is here to stay. The Amendment will not be repealed, in our lifetime at least. And drinking is growing less.

"The proof of it is the cheapness of liquor. During the first couple of years the price was high. People paid 35 cents to a dollar a drink for whiskey, and it was $100 to $125 a case. Today a gallon of alcohol can be had for $2. Whiskey, as low as $30 a case. Gin is plentiful at 75 cents to a dollar a bottle. And whiskey by the glass is from five cents up.

"At such prices the industry isn't making any money to speak of. I know 'millionaire bootleggers' who today are broke. It's a buyers' market, with more stuff offered than there is demand for. And it's better stuff than formerly. In the old days before Prohibition saloon-keepers never thought of having stuff analyzed, and they sold lots of 'rot-gut.' Today they have to analyze everything. And still they can't sell enough to make a living. The great majority are just dragging along. It's an over-expanded industry that is due for a shrinkage, if not a collapse."

Izzy believes that enforcement problems are almost entirely a question of personnel. As an illustration of this, he writes: "I read that Prohibition Director Woodcock has had to fire a lot of agents in New Jersey because they weren't making enough arrests, and that hereafter any man who doesn't score eight a month will be below the quota and will get fired.

"Eight arrests a month! And in Jersey!

"I worked under half a dozen or more Prohibition Directors (they were always changing them), and any month I couldn't have scored eight arrests in my sleep—well, all I say is to remind you I scored as many as 71 in one day. And eight or ten brought in by the time I reported for work at 9 A. M. was nothing unusual."

It was the wet group who stirred Einstein to write this amazing and delightful book, as he says: "What particularly stirred me to write it was all this talk that's going on nowadays about Repeal being just around the corner. In my humble opinion such predicters are guessing wild. The day when Prohibition is repealed will not be in our lifetime. And I'm not looking forward to dying soon."

Stanley Walker of the New York Herald Tribune whose moistness drips from each page of his introduction to the book, makes this comment upon its author whom he lists as a man he loved: "It seems incredible. Here was a dry agent who actually raided! If every agent had been as industrious, as capable and as intelligent as Izzy, this country would be dry today, if the courts could have handled all the cases, God forbid!"

Izzy does not expose those responsible for his resignation. He casually remarks: "The official records showed that during my years as a Federal agent I scored or participated in more than twenty per cent of all arrests made in the Lower New York District. And that doesn't include what I scored on my trips.

"Maybe I exceeded my quota too much. Maybe I trod on toes that were supposed to be protected. I don't know. But I'm frank to admit that my activity and my results didn't make the records of some of the other agents look any too good. Consequently there was hard feeling.

"At any rate I was 'offered' a transfer to Chicago. But as my home was in New York, and as I preferred to spend the rest of my days on Ridge Street until I died there, because I liked the neighborhood—well, I turned down the 'offer.' And thereby fired myself." Behind this there is a story. There may be several stories.

This book is a valuable contribution to the literature on the prohibition question. While its largest appeal necessarily will be made to those who believe in prohibition, the human quality of Einstein's story makes its appeal universal. Future social historians will find it a mine of valuable information on seldom recorded phases of the life in our greater cities. Those who are puzzled by wet propaganda to the effect that prohibition enforcement is difficult, will find on every page a reply to the arguments of the brewer and the distiller.

THE WAY TO PREVENT BOOTLEGGING

By Georgia Robertson

The way to prevent bootlegging is not by repealing the Eighteenth Amendment but by taking all the profits out of bootlegging.

In saloon days neither the rich powerful liquor interests—though they knew the bootleggers were eating into their profits—nor the United States Government—that was losing liquor taxes through them—could prevent bootlegging.

Under prohibition bootlegging offers large profits because the so-called smart set, and those who ape them, patronize bootleggers, though they are loudest in their complaints against bootlegging. Under the legalized sale of liquor with a Government tax, bootlegging also affords large profits. The higher the tax the greater the incentive to bootlegging because the profit is increased, also the incentive for the buyer to get cheaper liquor. The lower the Government tax the cheaper legalized liquor and the greater the amount consumed and the money spent for it that is diverted from business in general and from labor it employs. The working man also through drink becomes less profitable to himself and to his employer.

Let those who are so loud in their protests against bootlegging and so tearful over loss of Government taxes on bootleg liquor demand a law that will confiscate, not only as at present, property used in manufacture, sale, and transportation of illegal liquor, and the liquor itself, but also all profits made from it; not just the regular income tax every one having a certain amount of property pays on it, but every dollar made on illegal liquor under prohibition. Also let a per cent of the property confiscated go to any one reporting the case. Thus giving an incentive to hunt out and report bootlegging. Then it would become so unprofitable it would be stamped out!

Let us not sell the souls and bodies of our people for an illusive Government tax on legalized liquor! It would not rid us of bootlegging, and it would flood the country with both foreign and domestic liquor, and prevent the sale of one or more billion dollars worth of other commodities thus retarding business recovery and increasing unemployment!

THE PREACHER FOR OUR DAY

The preacher for our day should not be so much a revolutionist as a transformer. In a sense, he will be able, by the power of Heaven, to transubstantiate common things so as to invest them with great meanings and solemnities. There are reformers enough. Jesus Christ never tried to reform society. He regarded it as sick unto death. He regarded it as beyond self-help. He came to seek and to save that which was lost. As the Lord Himself transformed the common supper bread and wine into symbols of His own body and blood, so the preacher who would influence his age profoundly and beneficently must show the possible religious uses of common things. He must be a man gifted in propounding vital definitions and luminous expansions of common words.

The age of mean things has gone. The people are now prepared to see the idealism and true poetry of things. The flesh has had but a limited reign; yea, though we have known Christ Himself after the flesh, yet know we Him no more in that limited and local relation. The preacher of the Gospel of Christ is not a member of a committee at work for the reform of society. He has come with a special mission, and nothing must distract his attention. In Christ's Name and Christ's power he comes to save the world, and to do nothing else. Whilst he is in the pulpit he has nothing to do with merely local disputes or angry controversies; he has to lay down great principles, which will put an end to all tumults and to unrighteous and complicated conflicts. The preacher is not to be a clever little sub-committeeman; he has always to stand upon the sublimest and to unveil the purpose and the nearness of the Kingdom of God.—The Watchman-Examiner.

LEARN TO LET GO

If you wish to be healthy morally, mentally and physically, just let go of the little bothers of every day life, the irritations and the petty vexations that cross our path daily. Don't brood over them. They are not worth while. Let them go.

That little hurt you got from a friend, perhaps it wasn't intended, perhaps it was; but never mind, let it go. Refuse to think about it.

Let go of that feeling of hatred you have for another, the jealousy, the envy, the malice; let go of all such thoughts. Sweep them out of your mind, and you will be surprised at what a cleaning up effect it will have upon you, both physically and mentally. Let them all go; you house them at a deadly risk.

But the big troubles, the bitter disappointments, the deep wrongs and heartbreaking sorrows, the tragedies of life; what about them? Why, just let them go, too. Drop them, softly maybe, but surely. Put away all regrets and bitterness and let sorrow be only a softening influence. Yes, let them go, and make the most of the future.—Good Tidings.

ANSWERED PRAYER

A poor woman with an invalid son, could not attend the prayer-meeting for want of shoes.

She asked the Lord for shoes.

That very day the village schoolmaster called to see her son. Meantime he noticed that the boy's mother had very poor shoes. He said nothing but felt impressed and inwardly resolved to purchase the poor woman a pair of shoes forthwith. He accordingly hired a horse, rode two miles on horseback to a shoe store, bought the shoes and requested them to be sent to the widow's cottage without delay. They proved a perfect fit. And that night the overjoyed woman hurried to prayer meeting to announce that in answer to prayer the Lord had sent her shoes.

The young schoolmaster, who I suspect was my informant himself, now a venerable, white-haired old man, heard the poor woman's testimony; and his pillow that night was wet with tears of gratitude and joy, because God had used him to thus bless the poor widow and to answer her prayers.—The Scattered Seed.

THE INSPIRED BOOK

It seems like it is a favorite expression of those who do not believe the Bible to be the inspired Word of God to say "the Bible is man's conception of God." They mean to say that our Bible is no more than what the people in other days thought about God, and God is no more than what people thought He was. They do not want a God who creates man, but a man who creates a god. Thus they argue, when people change in their conceptions of God, God changes. They even dare to say if Jesus were here today He would not teach the same He did 1,900 years ago; that He would be a changed Christ, changed to suit the present-day ideas of the human race. Be careful about following such skeptical "hash" as the Bible is man's conception of God.—The Cumb, Presbyterian.

OPTIMISM | The President's Letter | EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

The Annual Conference

When this reaches our readers the conference will be in session, and many of us will be at Burlington enjoying its sessions. It will be an important conference, as every one is. There will be problems that concern individuals, local churches, the conference as a whole, and likewise the entire denomination. Human wisdom will not be sufficient for these things. But divine wisdom is, and we are told that we may have it if we ask for it. Let us pray, therefore, earnestly and repeatedly, that the great Head of the Church will make wisdom, and peace, and happiness, abound toward us for this conference. We suggest, too, that our people, as many as can, attend the conference. The "fellowship of the saints" will be good, the informations and inspirations of the seasons will be helpful, and all who do not know Burlington will have an opportunity to see a good town.

Davidson Charge

October 29.—We were with this charge on this date in the fourth quarterly conference, which was held at Chapel Hill church. Thirteen officials were present, and all of the six churches represented. The spirit of the conference was good, and all reports indicated a successful year on the charge. The pastor reported that the interest was better than last year. Twenty-seven persons have united with the churches during the year. All six churches have Sunday Schools, and reports indicate that the schools are in good condition. However, they do not contribute with regularity to the Children's Home, and our impression is that they do not observe our "Special" days. We found, too, that they were short on payments to the C. C. R. E. But they will, no doubt, improve in these matters. Lineberry church has a large and active C. E. and Aid Society. We have hopes that the C. E. and Sunday School at this church will pay to C .C. R. E. Finances are somewhat in arrears, particularly on budgets. The A. C. B. has received $73.76; G. C. B., $22.69; Herald Deficit .67; and Rep. Exp. $5. The salary arrears was $266, most of which will be paid. Some contributions have been made during the year to the Chldren's Home. The salary was left for next year at what it now is, $1,000, and Brother E. A. Bingham, the pastor, was asked unanimously to return. It was refreshing to be in this conference. We enjoyed, also, being a dinner guest of Brother and Sister Bingham.

Yadkin College

October 30.—Accompanied by Mrs. S. W. Taylor and S. W., Jr., we went to Yadkin College for the last Sunday appointment of the conference year. The attendance was gratifying, and an attentive interest encouraged us in our effort to preach. We were glad to note in the congregation some friends from Friendship church, also from our Gibsonville. It was a pleasure to us to be back again at this church,—the only one in which we ever had membership—and worship there again with neighbors and friends of life-long standing. Of course the years have made a difference. Some are not there, for God took them. Others have grown old in years, but rich in service. And a new generation has grown up since I was a boy there some thirty,—well, any way, some years ago. And so time passes, and with its rapid flight come changes,—some to make us glad and some to make us sad. The pastor, Rev. G. H. Hendry, could not be present because of his appointment at State Street. Rev. W. T. Totten assisted us in the service by offering the opening prayer. We regret that he is not so well.

This trip gave opportunity for a brief visit with homefolks, and an aged mother. She is 89, and blind, but otherwise well preserved. Her spirit is active, and much younger than her years. Her interest in the church, dating back to my earliest recollection, is unabated.

Lebanon

November 3.—On this date—Thursday night—we were with this church in an adjourned meeting of the fourth quarterly conference. Fifteen officials were present, and a few other members of the church. A spirit of hope, co-operation and purpose prevailed. All reports indicated that the church is closing a year of united and effective service under the leadership of Pastor H. C. Madison. The Sunday School has an enrollment of 398, and an average attendance during the year of 216. The school has paid $62 to A. C. B., $68 to the Children's Home, and also allotment to C. C. R. E. The total amount raised by the school is $284. The three C. E. societies are doing excellent work. The Junior Society was recently awarded the attendance banner at the central district meeting, and the Intermediate Society took the loving cup for being the most efficient Intermediate Society in the City of High Point. Allotment for C. C. R. E. has been paid. The Auxiliary is doing splendid work. An intermediate circle was recently organized. The church now has four circles. The Thank-offering service in the interest of Christian Education was held, and an offering received, which amounted to $20.76. The Auxiliary has paid during the year as follows: N. C. Budget, $60; N. C. S. Budget, $170. The balance of $271 due on salary is expected to be paid. We hope, also, that more can be paid on budgets. Exhortor's license of Brother J. A. Jones was renewed; also license to preach of Brother Hermon Yokley and Brother O. J. Hedgecock. A conditional salary of $1,250 was fixed for next year. One of the needs of this charge is a parsonage. We trust that the church may be sufficiently prospered to provide this at no distant date . Lebanon is a good church and should have continued growth and influence. Brother Madison greatly endeared himself to his people in this, his first charge. Their interest and love will follow him. He left in October for a year in the University of Chicago.

Spencer

November 2—Wednesday night. At this time we were with this church in a worship service and business meeting. A small but interested group was present, and we very much enjoyed our visit with them. Again Pastor Hendry could not be with us because of his work at State Street. He was holding his fourth quarterly conference on this night. Our people at Spencer have a neat but small church building, and it appears to be well located. The present indebtedness is $1,275. Every year the amount is reduced, and would have been much smaller than it is, no doubt, but for the fact that so many people in this railroad town have been out of employment so much of the time during the past three years. If the conference can continue to help by paying interest, our people there will gradually reduce the debt. Our growth in membership will probably be slow, but a slow growth would justify our effort. I commend our people for their courage and loyalty.

Correction

In our report of our visit to the Weaverville charge we inadvertently omitted to say that the following amounts were paid to us: Mt. Zion on A. C. B., $2.00; Weaverville church on A. C. B., $1.33; Weaverville Sunday School on C. C. R. E., $2.00. Total, $5.33.

No Broadcast

There will be no broadcast this week from "CHEER UP" Station COBO, High Point, N. C. We had it prepared, but for lack of space we can't publish it. Sorry.

Valedictory

For five years now the HERALD has carried our weekly letter out to the people. It has been a very faithful servant to us in this matter, and only about two weeks in each year has it failed to carry our message. We are exceedingly grateful to the Editor, Dr. J. F. McCulloch, and to the printers, McCulloch and Swain, for the ready, efficient and accommodating manner in which they have handled our weekly reports. The HERALD is indispensable to us as a means of keeping conference matter before our people. We are also grateful to our readers. In different parts of the conference territory they have told us of their interest in these weekly messages. We regret not to have been able to make them more pointed and pithy, as others could have done. But we have done our best in trying to make these reports helpful to pastors and charges, and to the conference in general. Whether or not we have succeeded in that is a matter for others to judge. At any rate our work is done, and with this message we are writing "finis." These have been five pleasant years, but years of hard and taxing toil. But what of that? Who wants an easy place? I trust that our labors together have resulted in some good, at least, and that the great Head of the Church may look with favor upon us for what we have tried to do in His name. And now, that the "time of my departure is at hand, I am ready to be offered "upon the altar of some church that is willing to accept me as a 'living sacrifice'." I go out of this office with love in my heart toward all, and with a deep and abiding desire for the honor of our beloved Zion, and for her increasing power to "spread scriptural holiness over these lands." I wish in this final word to express profound gratitude to Almighty God for his unfailing mercies these five years, and to the ministry of the conference and laiety alike for patience, sympathy, and co-operation.

"The Lord bless thee, and keep thee:

"The Lord make his face to shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee;

"The Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace."

Fraternally and finally,

S. W. TAYLOR.

TAKE TIME TO BE HOLY

We would not undertake to advise the people of the church or the pastor either, but we would encourage pastors and people to return to the place where we left off and have a more worshipful spirit. We have become so busy we haven't time to do the work of the church as we once did. It seems to me we could and should at the quarterly conference meet and have a sermon at 11 o'clock and spend some time in worship, before we attempt to do the business of the conference. We are in such a hurry. Some one has said, God never hurries but we, it seems, some times try to run ahead of the Lord as if we could tell the Lord how to do. The Word says if we will acknowledge God at all times He will direct our ways. We hope that every church may come back and take time to be holy. We may say we haven't time but some of us, through these days of depression, have more time than anything else; so let's run this race with patience, for in our patience we possess our souls. It takes time and thought to build a Christian character. We just must take time to meditate. "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer." May we get where we can say, Lord, I have loved the habitation of Thy House and the place where Thine honor dwelleth.

MARTHA PARSONS.

KEEP ON SHINING

A judge who had been frequently annoyed by the sneers of a conceited lawyer was asked why he did not sharply rebuke his assailant. He said:

"In our town lives a widow, who has a dog, which whenever the moon shines, goes out upon the steps and barks at it all night." Stopping short he went on with his conversation. Finally one of the company asked:

"But, judge, what about the dog and the moon?"

"Oh," said the judge, "the moon went on shining, that was all."

What would the nightingale care if the mole despised his singing? He would sing on, and leave the mole to burrow in the earth. What cares the bird on the bough if the mole says there is nothing in the world but roots and earthworms? Full well the singing bird sees the light and knows the joy of the upper air.

And what care I for the sneers of earthbound men, who flout the idea of God and laugh at the Christian life? I know full well whom I have believed, and I will sing on into the ear of God. I am one of the children of the light; and though dogs may bay I will shine on. I will let my light so shine, that men seeing my good works, may glorify my Father which is in Heaven.—Publisher Unknown.

OUR STORY PAGE

HER BEST

Anna and Bob walked home from Sunday School with serious faces. A missionary from China had told them how God blesses the pennies, and how useful even Christmas cards are to the missionaries in their work. They talked the matter over earnestly, and, going to their pretty rooms, took out the cards they had been saving.

"I'm going to send the best cards that I have to those poor heathen children," said Anna.

"Oh!" said Bob. "They don't know the difference. I'm not going to send my best ones."

"But I am sorry for them," said Anna. "I feel as if Jesus would be pleased to have me give my best ones. I love these beautiful kitties and cute little dogs best of all, and I am just going to send them."

"Why, Anna Turner; you said that you were going to keep those just as long as you live!"

"I know that I did, but I'm so sorry for the poor heathen children," and here something glistened in Anna's eyes.

"Well, you may be a goose, but I shall not," said Bob.

So they made up their packages and gave them to the missionary.

Five months rolled by. The little girl and boy had almost forgotten their cards when one day a missionary, opening her boxes in Peking, came across them again, and thought, "I must use them."

So she asked her teacher to write some verses in Chinese on the cards. The old Chinaman put on his big goggles, dipped his brush and prepared to write. Anna's pretty kittens attracted his attention, and he wrote on the back: "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

Then, selecting the little dogs, he wrote, "God so loved the world, that He gave His only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

That very day old Mrs. Chang and her grandsons called at the mission.

The missionary served tea and cakes and won the heart of the old lady, and then told her of Jesus and His love for the poor Chinese women. She showed the cards to the little boys, and then she told them to take their choice. Ting Ling quickly chose the kittens and Cheng Fu the dogs. All went away pleased, and out into the heathen home went Anna's cards on their mission.

"See, grandpa! Look, see my kittens!" "And my dogs!" said the boys.

Grandpa was old and feeble, but Chinese are fond of pets, and the old man lay a long time looking at the wonderful cards. The boys, seeing his interest, stole away to eat their rice. After a while grandpa discovered the verses. He read them over and over, and finally laid them down with a sigh.

He was an honest old Chinaman, and had tried to do right; but he had lost faith in his idols, and now, so near death, with no hope, his old heart was very troubled. He had heard of Jesus, but thought that He was the foreigner's God, and did not know that He died for Chinamen and loved them.

Through the long hours of the night, when he coughed so that he could not sleep, the verses kept coming to his heart, especially the words,—"God so loved the world"—the world"—"whosoever."

The next day he was so weak that he could hardly speak. They thought that he said "kitty," and they brought him the old yellow cat; then they thought he said "dog," and they brought him the "Peking Pup," the pet of the household; but the old man shut his eyes and turned his head away.

All at once the boys thought of their pretty cards, and when they were brought the old man smiled and motioned to his son to read.

The son read slowly the precious words: "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"Again," whispered the old man.

Gradually the look of eager interest changed to a peaceful smile. The old Chinaman folded his hands and fell asleep, never to wake in this world.

I think that the old man caught a glimpse of the love of God, and so was not afraid, and I am so glad that Anna gave her best cards.—Publisher Unknown.

A CHILD'S FAITH

Johnny Hall was a poor boy. His mother worked hard for their daily bread. "Please give me something to eat, for I'm very hungry," he said to her one evening.

His mother let the work that she was sewing fall upon her knees, and drew Johnny toward her. As she kissed him the tears fell fast on his face, while she said, "Johnny, my dear, I have not a penny in the world. There is not a morsel of bread in the house, and I cannot give you any supper tonight."

Johnny did not cry when he heard this. He was only a little fellow, but he had learned the lesson of trusting God's promises. He had great faith in the sweet words of Jesus when He said, "Whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in My Name, He may give it you."

"Never mind, mamma; I shall soon be asleep, and then I shall not feel hungry. But you must not sit here and sew, hungry and cold. Poor mamma!" He said, as he threw his arms around her neck and kissed her many times to comfort her.

Then he knelt down at his mother's knee, to say his prayers after her. They said, " 'Our Father'," till they came to the petition,, " 'Give us this day our daily bread'." The way in which his mother said these words made Johnny's heart ache. He stopped and looked at her, and repeated with his eyes full of tears, " 'Give us this day our daily bread'."

When they got through he looked at his mother and said, "Now, mother, do not be afraid. We shall never be hungry any more. God is our Father. He has promised to hear us, and I am sure He will.''

Then he went to bed. Before midnight he woke up, while his mother was still at work, and asked if the bread had come yet. She said, ''No; but I am sure it will come.''

In the morning before Johnny was awake, a gentleman called who wanted his mother to come to his house and take charge of two motherless children. She agreed to go. He left some money with her. She went out at once to buy some things for breakfast; and when Johnny awoke, the bread was there, and all that he needed!

Johnny is now a man, but he has never wanted bread from that day; and whenever he was afraid since then, he has remembered God's promise, and trusted in Him.—Publisher Unknown.

SINGING FOR JESUS

I was riding on a train in the eastern part of North Carolina. The rain was pouring down fast and it was a day that would make some people downcast. Looking out of the window I saw nothing but pine trees, bony mules, men, both white and black, standing at each station watching the train as it came in and went again on its way. Every person who came into the car brought in more dampness and some seemed out of humor.

At last two men came in and took a seat in front of me. Soon one of them took a bottle from his pocket, pulled out the cork and handed the bottle to the other man. He took a drink and in a moment the smell of liquor filled the air. Then the first man also took a drink and in that way they kept on until the bottle was empty. Of course the drink had its effect on the men and they began to use rough language, and to be noisy and troublesome. The women in the train shrank back into their seats, and the men began to look about to see who was causing the disturbance.

This went on for some time until I began to talk to myself. I forgot about the outside, for my mind was full of thoughts of what was near me. This is what I said to myself:

''Henry, that man is serving the devil.''

''There is no doubt about that,'' I replied.

''He is not ashamed of it.''

''Not a bit ashamed.''

''I belong to the Lord Jesus Christ.''

''Are you glad or sorry?''

''I am glad—very glad.''

''Who in the car knows that man is serving the devil?''

''Everybody knows that, for he has not kept it a secret.''

''Who in the car knows that you belong to the Lord Jesus?''

''Why no one knows it, for you see I am a stranger around here?''

''Are you willing that they should know to whom you belong?''

''Yes, I am willing.''

''Very well, will you let them know it?''

I thought a moment, and then said, ''By the help of the Master, I will.''

I straightened up, took a good breath, and began singing so loud that it could be heard by all in the car:

''There is a fountain filled with Blood
Drawn from Immanuel's veins;
And sinners, plunged beneath the flood,
Lose all their guilty stains.''

Before I had finished the first verse and chorus, the passengers had crowded around me and the man in front of me had turned and looked at me crossly. As I finished the chorus he said, ''What are you doing?''

''I am singing,'' I answered.

''Well,'' said he, ''any one can understand that. What are you singing?''

''I was singing the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ.''

''Well, you quit.''

''Quit what?''

''Quit singing your religion on the cars.''

''I guess not,'' I replied, ''I don't belong to the quit family. For the last half hour you have been standing by your master; now for the next half hour I am going to stand up for my Master.

''The devil is your master, while Christ is mine. I am as proud to have my turn, if the passengers do not care.''

A whole chorus of voices answered, ''Sing on, stranger; we like that.''

I sang on and, as the next verse was finished, the man in front turned his face away and I saw nothing but the back of his head after that. He left the train soon after and I have never seen him since. I sang one song after another and before long other voices joined me. When we stopped an old man came to me, put out his hand and said, ''Sir, I owe you thanks and a confession. Thank you for rebuking that drunken man.''

''Don't thank me for that, but give thanks to my Master. I try to stand for Him wherever I am. What about the confession you wish to make?''

''I am eighty-three years old, and have been a preacher of the Gospel for over sixty years. When I heard that man swearing, I wanted to rebuke him. I arose from my seat two or three times to do so, but my courage failed. I have not much longer to live but never again will I fail to speak for my Master anywhere.''

''Yes, God will give the needed courage if we will but make the attempt and let people know whose we are.''—Publisher Unknown.

JOYS OF LIFE

Life is but a long vacation
To the man who loves to work;
Life's an everlasting effort
To the man who likes to shirk.
To the earnest, faithful worker
Life's a story ever new;
Life is what we try to make it—
Reader, what is life to you?

—Industrial Peace.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for November 13

GOOD AND EVIL IN NEWSPAPERS

Scripture Text—Acts 8:30; Phil. 4:8

The question which Philip asked the Ethiopian is very pertinent for us to think about. "Do you understand what you are reading?" could be asked to a great many people without offending them. From the varied interpretations which we hear, we gather that much that the American public is reading is scarcely understood. Much that is appearing in newspapers must be discreetly sifted by the readers and the true and the false separated.

Before we condemn newspapers for some things which appear in them, we must see their position. The editor of a paper must conduct his publication so that it pays. From this standpoint it is necessary for a great many advertisements to appear in the daily papers. The advertisements bear a great part of the expense of a paper and are therefore very necessary. The thing for which we would plead, however, is cleanness and truth in advertising. A great many ads have been in newspapers that were disgraces to the concern and the readers. Would Americans be willing to pay a few cents more for their papers and have cleaner ones?

The editor of a good paper with a fair circulation should be wise to the number of people whom he may persuade. Editors of power are influencing their reader greatly and should be very careful that they are honest and are influncing for good. The editor speaks through his columns as surely as the minister does through his pulpit. The stand taken by leading newspapers often determines the attitude of their readers. Readers of the papers should be discerning enough to pick out the paper which suits them and the editor with whom they can agree and whom they think is reliable and subscribe to that one. The attitude of the reading public can change the nature of printed material.

Whatever is sensational is news. This is a commonly quoted sentence. Readers of papers do not want the things that are happening every day, they want the unusual. We are well satisfied that some things which appear in papers are of that nature for nobody ever saw the like before. Editors should be discerning enough to keep questionable material from their papers. The readers may show disgust for filthy articles by their boycott of the paper. We are prone to think with reporters that the American public will read any kind of story because of the picture shows which they see. If people are demanding the sensational stories of murder and immorality and marriage desertion, then editors will do good business to supply such reading. The best cure for evil in newspapers is a change in the heart of those who do the reading. The types of stories which sell will continue to be printed.

Some people have suggested that the press be restricted and that only censored material be printed. Freedom of the press is a justified right of the people. To allow free expression through the press serves as a safety valve for hostility. Where there is no expression given things are endured as long as possible, then the top is blown off. It is not only a chance to give vent to feeling, it is a chance to know the whole truth frequently. When an answer to questions or a reply to statements is allowed, those of an uncertain nature are discouraged.

The criticism that the papers do not carry much information about worthy undertakings and church affairs is very often the fault of the critic. Most papers will gladly print, without cost, church news or announcements. Try your local editor, he will accommodate much that you would like to say through the press. Editors are generally very good about giving space and thought to worthy civic enterprises. The editors have a wonderful opportunity here which should be sacredly kept.

Though there is much that is condemnable in the newspapers, they contain much that is good and wholesome. It is generally true that news that the public demands is printed. We need a raising of appreciation and demand for better news, and when the reading public asks for it it will be supplied. Newspapers are a great blessing to civilization but they need to be promoted by men who have a conviction of right and an honor which is not for sale.

Quotable Poetry

God give us men is the urgent cry—
Men who are honest, who will not lie;
Men who are noble, brave and true;
Men who have courage to dare and to do.

God give us men who stand for the right;
Men who are ready all evil to fight;
Men who are clean, whose word is their bond;
Men who, when called, are sure to respond.

God give us men that money cannot buy,
Men who have faith and are willing to try;
Men who have honor, virtue and power –
God give us men is the cry of the hour.

Suitable Songs

"The Foundaton of God Standeth Sure," "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "We've a Story to Tell," "Master-the Tempest Is Raging," "There's a Great Day Coming," "Onward Christian Soldiers."

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

TO DISTRICT CHAIRMEN

Miss Hodges will be with you on the following dates:

District I, Nov. 16-20, Mrs. J. H. Cutchin, chairman.

District II, Nov. 21-24, Mrs. R. W. Harris, chairman.

District III, Nov. 25-27, Mrs. H. A. Garrett, chairman.

District IV, Nov. 28-29, Mrs. W. J. Jennings, chairman.

District V, Nov. 30-Dec. 3, Mrs. J. R. Holden, chairman.

District VI, Dec. 4-6, Mrs. J. H. Allen, chairman.

District XIV, Dec. 7-9, Mrs. T. L. Speas, chairman.

District XII, Dec. 10-11, Mrs .C. L. Koontz, chairman.

District X, Dec. 12-13, Mrs. E. L. Douglas, chairman.

District IX, Dec. 14-15, Mrs. W. F. Redding, Jr., chairman.

Each chairman will please see that Miss Hodges gets to the next district. These dates are the best I could suggest to you and I sincerely hope those of you that have not had time to accept will do so. I have tried to avoid extra travel. Please send me a copy of your plan of appointments or just put in Herald and I'll get it from there. Don't forget to write your neighbor chairman when and where Miss Hodges will reach her district. Thanks for your splendid co-operation.

MRS. H. C. NICHOLSON,
Chairman of Districts.

◆

MY PRAYER

From day to day I pray to do
Only the right, the good, the true.
To work for thee, to do thy will
And know that thou dost love me still.

In others, Lord, I pray to see
Only the best that there can be,
To find a way; to lend a hand
To some less fortunate fellow man.

I pray to have a conscience clear,
To know that thou art ever near
Holding me, lest I should fall,
Bidding me with thy soft call.

I pray that I may place my hand
Close in thine own and understand
That ever thou dost hear my prayer,
And answer, thru' thy tender care.

HELENE CRANFORD.

Denton, N. C.

◆

—Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected President of the United States on Tuesday and Dr. R. M. Andrews president of our Annual Conference on Wednesday.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Brower's Chapel, Richland Circuit.—We are having a very successful Sunday school at 10 a. m.; preaching every fourth Sunday at 11 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Joyner gave us a very interesting sermon the past fourth Sunday in October. Rev. Mr. Gurnee Ferree and family from Mocksville were with us the fifth Sunday in October. He preached a wonderful sermon. We all were pleased to have them with us at their old home church.

We regret very much that Miss Lizzie Henley is absent from our Sunday school on account of sickness. She has been a faithful worker in our Sunday school.

Circle No. 1 held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. James Cooper November 3rd, with 12 members present. We had Bible reading, other good reading also. With our new organization we believe there are wonderful opportunities for our church, as every woman of the community as well as of the church can have a share in the work for our Master.

At a call meeting of our circle we will meet with Mrs. Tolmage Bonkemyer on November 17. Our next monthly meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Hugh Brown on December 1.

"We thank thee, Father, let thy grace
Our loving circles still embrace;
Thy mercy and its heavenly store—
Thy peace be with us evermore."

To those who wish to join me in my prayer, as I have some friends who need them, I want their help to pray that my prayer may be answered.

EFFIE BROWER, Reporter.

◆

Denton Charge.—Our prayer service last week was especially interesting. The subject used was "Kindness," and the meeting was sponsored by Miss Inza Hill. Helpful talks were given by Miss E. Hanner, Mr. Rogers, Kathryn Sexton, and Marjorie Cranford. Two little girls, Josephine Hill, and Goldie Morris, sang an appropriate song, "Be Kind to One Another." A large group of people are taking part in our services. We hope this will continue.

The three young people's organizations, the B. Y. P. U., the C. E., and the Epworth League, had a union meeting at the Baptist church last Sunday night, at which time officers were elected for the Union. Following this, members of the B. Y. P. U. gave an interesting program on "Missions." The program was sponsored by A. L. Snider. Ruth Smith and Graham Martin, Jr., gave helpful talks. Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Allan sang a special number. The event was enjoyed by all present. The group decided to meet with the C. E. the last Sunday night in January.

After the regular preaching hour Sunday night, members of the M. P. church elected officers for the ecoming yeaer: They are: Superintendent of Sunday school, W. A. Johnson; assistant superintendet, E. O. Lane; secretary and treasurer, Clinard Sexton; assistant secretary and treasurer, Oda Beck; reporter, H. Cranford; janitor, Oda Beck; ushers, Marjorie Cranford, Ruth Lanier, Arthur Lanier, and Clinard Sexton; stewards, C. H. Surratt, W. E. Hill and C. W. Morris; trustees, W. E. Hill, C. G. Loftin, A. R. Morris, C. Hoover, C. H. Surratt.

These officers will begin work with the new Conference year.

H. CRANFORD, Reporter.

◆

Philathea Class, Siler City.—The Philathea class had its regular business and social meeting Monday night, October 31st. At this time the new officers were elected for the coming year, which are as follows: President, Mrs. D. L. Johnson; vice-president, Miss Sallie Smith; secretary and treasurer, Miss Minnie Cooper; first assistant secretary and treasurer, Miss Flossie Siler; second assitant, Miss Clata F. Andrew; teacher, Mrs. E. D. Woody; first assistant teacher, Mrs. J. N. Johnson; second assistant, Miss Sallie Smith; reporter, Minnie Cooper; chairman of social committe, Mrs. B. E. Fox; chairman of flower committee, Mrs. J. A. Cooper.

After the election of the officers plans were discussed for the year, after which the social committee took charge.

MINNIE COOPER, Reporter.

◆

First Church, High Point.—This reporter dislikes anything savoring of a controversy, especially in a religious paper about matters of small importance, but if "A Methodist Protestant" who wrote her the anayumous letter last week will come out in the open and reveal his or her identity, she will be very glad to give him proof positive that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a niece of Theodore Rooseevlt, President and statesman. The article by Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth in November Ladies' Home Journal was read carefully, but in explaining her kinship to Governor Roosevelt, she ignored the fact that his wife is her first cousin. Mrs. Franklin Rosevelt is a distant cousin of her husband; her father, Elliott Roosevelt, long since dead, was a brother of the famous "Teddy," who was present at the marriage of his "gavorite niece," and gave the bride away.

The usual Sunday services were observed last Sabbath, opening with the church school at 9:45 o'clock. At the 11 o'clock worship hour the Holy Communion was observed, and the new officers of church and Sunday school were formally installed in an impressive service. At the evening service a large audience heard the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer, himself an ex-service man, deliver a special sermon on "The Soldier's Clock," special guests being members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and their auxiliaries. Two buglers, C. A. Peck and Harry Peters, effectively sounded the different calls of a soldier's daily life. Mr. Arthur Fidler sang very beautifully, "The Trumpeter," and Prof. Stimson rendered patriotic selections on the organ. A digest of the sermon follows: The early soldier of the Cross, St. Paul, saw the relationship between soldiery and life. The soldier's daily clock is composed of bugle calls. At sunrise, the first call of the bugle is sounded in camp. Fifteen minutes later comes the reveille, when the men fall in ranks, the roll is called, and the day has begun. These are calls to action, and so does each day call us with a challenge to its tasks and duties. As soon as they awake, soldiers discover that they are hungry, and "mess call" is a welcome sound to their ears. America did not allow her soldiers to go hungry, and the social hunger was ministered to by the Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army, Red Cross, and the Y. M. C. A. huts. After breakfast came the dreaded fatigue call, which represents the unpleasant tasks of life, perhaps the drudgery by which we earn our living. Drill call brings soldiers together, and they march in columns of squads to the field to practice military maneuvers. Christ prepared himself for three years of ministry by 30 of drill. Today, while church call was sounded in a thousand camps and on a thousand ships, Old Glory was hauled down for a moment while above it was attached the church flag, a white cross on a field of blue. The church bells summon us not merely to worship, but to the work of the church of Christ. At the close of the day, buglers sound retreat. It is a call to patriotism, loyalty to God and His house and laws. After the evening recreations come the call to quarters. To the aged, it comes at the close of the long, long day when we wait for "taps." The question is this: "Is your life such today that when in the retreat of quarters you can contemplate it as a pleasant vista, a garden filled with fragrant memories, of unselfish service to others? Taps will be heard one day for you. What shall the melody be? All depends upon the motive and spirit of your life among men."

A delightful turkey supper and bazaar, an annual affair sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary, was given in the Assembly room last Thursday afternoon and evening. It proved to be quite a success; a delicious plate was served to about 275 guests, and a number of fancy and useful articles of embroidery, etc., were sold. The sum of approximately $145 was realized from this project, and the occasion was pleasing and enjoyable from a social standpoint. The women and girls of First church can always be relied on for loyalty, whether it be cooking, waiting on table, or washing dishes. The tables were quite pretty, each one centered with a vase of marigolds.

The fourth quarterly conference was held Monday evening. Mr. C. L. Gray, Sr., was elected alternate delegate to Conference at Burlington. The delegate, Mr. F. R. Auman, was instructed to ask for the return of Rev. R. I. Farmer as pastor for another year. All Conference claims have been paid in full.

Mrs. S. A. Holleman, who was taken seriously ill while on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Franklin, of Richmond, Va., has been brought to the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Robbins, on Asheboro road, and is improving, which will be good news to her numerous friends.

Mrs. Maggie Holton, who is ill at the home of Misses Horney at Jamestown, is somewhat better.

The High Point College football team is rejoicing over theier Saturday's victory over Elon, 6 to 0.

High Point will be well represented at Annual Conference at Burlington, which convenes tomorrow. Dr. S. W. Taylor, the president, will preside over the sessions; the A Capella Choir of the college, under direction of Prof. E. B. Stimson, will render a concert one evening, which promises to be an outstandig feature; Woman's Day will be observed Thursday, and a number of our women, including Mrs. S. S. Coe, Mrs. C. L. Whitaker, Miss Mary Young, and others, will attend the meeting of the Board of Lady Visitors. President G. I. Humphreys will present the claim of the college, while Dr. A. G. Dixon will speak and report for the Children's Home. A group of children from the Home will present a program, which is always a popular and pleasing feature.

Our neighbors, the First Baptist church, are celebrating their 100th anniversary with a series of revival meetings, led by Dr. O. L. Powers, of Wichita Falls, Texas, who was pastor here from 1906-1911. C. L. Gray, Jr., First church's favorite, sang a beautiful solo, "Lead Thou Me On," last Sunday morning by special invitation, and did himself proud.

On Tuesday evening, November 1st, the A. M. Idol Philathea Class held its monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. Ross H. Davis, Denny street. The following new officers were chosen: President, Mrs. Wade Marlette; first vice-president, Mrs. Lester Peacock; second vice-president, Mrs. S. B. Witmer; secretary-treasurer, Miss Bertha Ferree; assistant secretary-treasuer, Mrs. R. C. Boyd; pianist, Miss Elizabeth Welch; teacher, Judge Lewis E. Teague, and assistant, Miss Xannie Stowe. After the business sessions, anagrams were enjoyed, and later in the evening the hostess served delicious refreshments.

* * *

Brower's Chapel Sunday School.—We reorganized October 30, 1932, with the following officers: Mr. C. R. Winningham, superintendent; Mr. A. M. Ragsdale, assistant superintendent; Miss Irene Brown, secretary; organist, not appointed; teacher, Mr Glenn Winningham, Young Men's Class; Mrs. Charlie Burrough, asistant; Mr. A. M. Ragsdale, Bible Class; Miss Effie Brown, Young Ladies' Class; Miss Hessie Stith, second class; Mrs. Arlie Pugh, Primary Class; Miss Effice Brown, church reporter.

EFFIE BROWN.

* * *

First Church, Winston-Salem.—We are now finishing up the second year of the present pastorate. While the depression hit us a hard blow, yet the year has been a pleasant one. The people have worked together in complete harmony and there has been a splendid spirit of co-operation. Sunday school attendance has been normal, the morning congregation averaged eight more than for a corresponding period of the previous year, while the evening congregation was one less than the previous average. While the church is not out on all financial matters, it has at least made a good showing when business conditions are taken into consideration.

The quarterly conference, by a unanimous rising vote, taken before the pastor could retire from the room, instructed the delegate to ask for the return of the present pastor for another year.

Our new Sunday school superintendent, Brother B. K. Millaway, is taking hold of the work splendidly and is making things hum. For the past four Sundays he has had a special program just before the close of our school in honor of the following: Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Pegram, the oldest members of our school; Mrs. H. O. Sapp, one of our faithful ones who has been shut in for some time; Brother J. R. Cummings, who has been shut in for the past nine years, and to the Children's Home. Splendid short programs have been put on in each case.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

* * *

West Forsyth.—We intended that our report in the Herald last week to be the final one for this Conference year, but things will happen to cause a pastor to write for the church paper. The cause for this brief report is another pounding receieved at Baltimore and Stony Knoll churches last Sunday. Our car was almost filled with gifts from the people at each church. Among the gifts was a 50-pound sack of flour, donated by Bro. A. A. Doub, of Baltimore church. Prior to the recent poundings the pastor and family were given a nice cake by Mrs. C. G. Hunter. We wish we could give names of all the givers, but can not. We thank each one for the gifts and appreciate, not only the gifts, but the spirit in which they were given.

In the report last week the omission of about half a dozen words from one sentence made the reading ridiculous. It said: "They brought with them various articles of food, a dress for the parsonage." The sentence should have read: "They brough with them various articles of food, a dress for the pastor's wife and material for curtains for the parsonage."

By the time this report is read many things will have happened at the Annual Conference in Burlington. A new president will be presiding. We trust the entire sessions of the Conference will be harmonious and successful.

C. B. WAY.

* * *

Welch Memorial.—The past two weeks have been very full ones for Welch Memorial church. On the last Sunday of last month new officers were elected for both Sunday school and church. The Sunday school officers are as follows: Superintendent, W. W. Frye; assistant superintendent and superintendent of Elemetary Division, O. W. Brown; secretary and treasurer, Floyd Vuncannon; assistant secretary and treasurer, L. F. Cassell; elementary secretary, Emma McLean; choir leader, W. B. Delk; assistant choir leader, I. B. Ridge; pianist, Mrs. B. R. Harrison; assistant, Mrs. J. T. Morgan.

The church officials elected are: Church trustees, L. F. Cassell, Banner Leach, J. R. Cox, J. W. Mitchell and J. W. Greenway; parsonage trustees, W. B. Delk, R. L. George, J. W. Brower; D. G. Hiatt; J. M. McDowell; stewards, H. H. Kivett, M. L. Vuncannon, Mrs. W. R. Bracket, Mrs. D. G. Hiatt, Mrs. G. E. McDowell, W. W. Frye, Mrs. T. L. Jackson, O. W. Brown, W. B. Delk, Mrs. J. W. Mitchell and Mrs. I. B. Ridge. These were elected and it was left for them to select their own chairman. O. W. Brown was elected. Class leaders, E. F. Segraves, to select his co-workers; church treasurer, J. T. Morgan; church secretary, L. F. Cassell; choir leader, I. B. Ridge; assistant choir leader, W. B. Delk; ushers, C. W. Hoover, H. H. Kivett, C. R. Mickey, T. L. Jackson, J. R. Cox; pianist, Mrs. W. L. Edwards, assistant pianist, Mrs. B. R. Harrison; reporter, Mrs. J. T. Morgan. These officers were installed this Sunday and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed.

This has been an unusual year for our church owing to the financial depression, and we are much behind with our claims. A good part of the time not over ten men in the church were working and they were not on full time; but the spiritual status has been good. With such sermons as Dr. Williams has been bringing us the church must be uplifted. It was voted unanimously for his return and we hope to better care for him another year, and are making plans to that effect. The new stewards have adopted the duplex envelope system, and are asking for a definite pledge from the membership. We had this at one time and the people are fully awake to the fact that it's the only way to meet all obligations.

If we can just get our pastor back (for he understands and sympathizes with us) we believe that old Welch will move forward this year as never before.

* * *

First Church, Burlington.—Our Sunday school and preaching services are being well attended. At our Sunday morning service our pastor, Dr. F. W. Paschall, delivered a most helpful message. His hearers were greatly inspired by the plans which he stressed for carrying on the work of the church for the new Conference year.

The fourth quarterly conference met on Wednesday, November 2, with 23 members answering to the roll call. Much business was transacted. Reports were very good. We are hoping to come out on top in our financial matters. The members present voted unanimously to instruct our delegate to get our present pastor back. He has done splendid work and he and his wife are loved by everyone. We are looking forward to having him back with us.

We are very much honored and delighted to have the Annual Conference meet with us this year. With Mrs. M. A. Coble, chairman of the committee, the ladies are making thorough plans for entertaining on this occasion.

The C. E. Society is doing splendid work. Visits are being made to the county home and jails. The society met at the Reformed church last Sunday evening and rendered a program. The purpose of this meeting was to help re-organize their society.

Dr. and Mrs. Paschall are regular in attendance at our C. E. meetings and we find them to be great help as well as friends to all our young people.

NETTIE MAE SMITH, Reporter.

* * *

Mount Pleasant, Mount Pleasant Charge.—Dr. Johnson preached to us the fifth Sunday morning, using as his subject "The Church." The Scripture lesson was taken from Acts 7:37-40. On the first Sunday Dr. Johnson used the same subject and scripture lesson and continued to point out the work of the church and its influence in the community. Our pastor reminds us of the responsibility that rests upon our church in the training of the 36 new members which were received this year.

Both the church and Sunday school officers have been elected for the coming year. Dr. Johnson conducted an impressive installation service in which each officer pledged to carry out his or her duty.

Dr. Johnson announced that the stewards would make an every-member canvass and give each one an opportunity to pledge the amount he wishes to give each preaching Sunday for the coming year. It was pointed out that this method will have many advantages over the old assessment plan.

The young people hold Christian Endeavor meetings every first and third Sunday evenings at 7:15. The programs have been interesting and the attendance good.

Sunday brought to a close another Conference year. As we look back over the year's work, we see that much has been accomplished in the various fields of work, in the church, the Sunday school, the Woman's Auxiliary, and in the Christian Endeavor Societies. Although we had a busy year, we find that we failed to reach some of the goals toward which we were working. Let us not be discouraged, but may me, like Paul, "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

MARGARET CAUSEY, Reporter.

◆

Macedonia, Fallston Charge.—Our Sunday school is improving under the leadership of our good superintendent, W. L. Huss. Rev. A. D. Shelton preached his last sermon before Conference. We all are hoping and praying that he will come back to us for another year. We are sorry to note that Mrs. Emma Cline is sick at this writing. We hope that she may soon be better and be back with us at church. Our Christian Endeavor Society is getting along nicely. Our young people seem greatly interested in it. The Christian Endeavor members enjoyed a nice Halloween party at Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis' home Saturday night, October 29.

Our Sunday school is planning to have a Christmas program and tree at Christmas.

Best wishes to the Herald and its readers.

REPORTER.

◆

Guilford Circuit.—A considerable time has expired since a regular report has been sent in from this church, so much might be reported.

The church is at a loss as a result of the death of two of its regular attendants, Mr. Emory Modlin and Mrs. M. J. Hoover. Mr. Modlin died October 24, while Mrs. Hoover died a short time prior to Mr. Modlin's death.

At the fourth quarterly conference, J. L. Cashatt, the delegate to the Annual Conference, was instructed to present the name of Rev. E. O. Peeler before the stationing committee for a re-appointment to this charge. The circuit was unanimous in favor of Mr. Peeler's return.

Mr. Peeler filled his last appointment at this church for this Conference year last Sunday, at which time new officials were elected for the ensuing year as follows: class leader, Mrs. G. H. Weant; trustees, T. R. Osborne, J. M. Davis, M. C. Gilbreath, D. C. Marsh, W. M. Lewallen; stewards, Mrs. J. T. Suits, T. R. Osborne, D. C. Marsh, W. M. Lewallen; superintendent of Sunday school, G. H. Weant; ushers, Glen Ward, Marvin Cashatt, Garfield Robbins, Homer Weant; church treasurer, Miss Rosa Mae Ingram; church reporter, J. Van Cashatt.

After the election of officers a short installation service was held. Communion service was also held at the close of the meeting.

A wedding which was of much interest to the people of this community took place last Saturday, November 5. Mr. Fred Robbins was united by the holy bonds of wedlock to Miss Iola Kinley. Mr. Robbins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Robbins, and is well known in this community. Mrs. Robbins has been an employee of the Robbins Hosiery Mill at High Point.

J. VAN CASHATT, Reporter.

◆

Mt. Zion-Pinnacle Charge.—Sunday, October 23, quarterly conference was held and all the churches were represented except Pilot. During this meeting Brother Hunter made us feel good. Someone asked him if he wanted to serve us longer in this depression and he said this: "I might as well finish here." We hope Brother Hunter has many, many years to be with us yet, because we feel that what he has done for us—well, it would be hard to find words to express ourselves in that regard.

Our regular church meeting was held at night, and the officers elected were as follows: Superintendent, W. E. Jones; secretary and treasurer, Lola Barber; pianist, Mrs. Ed Jones; reporter, C. R. Mickels; class leader, E. S. Stone. There were also at that time 14 stewards and five trustees officially elected.

We have been abundantly blessed the past month. There has been plenty of rain to bring wells that were failing up to normal; also, farmers have not had much trouble with hard soil due to drouth. We have much to be thankful for.

During the past week old Dan Cupid paid a visit to the homes of Messrs. O. W. Barber and H. L. Allen. When he departed Mr. Herman Barber and Miss Anna Mae Allen departed with him to Hillsville, Va., and were united in marriage at that place. They will make their home with the groom's father during the fall and early winter. We hope for them much peace, happiness and success.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stone are happy to announce the birth of a daughter.

We feel that we need the prayers of other churches, and we will remember you all in our prayers.

CHAS. L. MICKELS, Reporter.

◆

Enfield.—Rally Day was observed in our church the second Sunday; a very interesting and helpful program was rendered. Inspirational talks were made by Mrs. Egbert Barnhill and Mrs. P. S. Belamy.

Annual church meeting was held Wednesday night, October 26, in the Hut, which was artistically decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. The committee was Mesdames Alex Hunt, Ernest Bellamy, Louis Myer and Misses Myrtice Johnson and Annie L. Bellamy. Notices were sent to all members by Mrs. Myra Mann and Mrs. Egbert Barnhill, a good representation was present. Rev. Surratt presided over the business session, also he conducted the devotionals. The following officers were duly elected and installed the next Sunday: class leaders, Mesdames J. M. Person, W. G. Holliday and Mr. Geo. Parker; trustees, P. S. Bellamy, H. M. Whitaker, C. H. Matthews, R. C. Rives and J. B. Davis; stewards, E. I. Bellamy, Exum Bellamy, E. C. McCutchin, J. R. Powers, Miss Lossie Wallace; church treasurer, R. C. Rives, assistant, J. R. Powers; church organist, Mrs. H. M. Whitaker; church reporter, Mrs. Exum Bellamy; ushers, W. R. Davis, Willie Herbert, E. C. McCutchin, Alex Hunt, J. R. Powers, R. C. Rives; Sunday school superintendent, J. R. Rives; assistant, J. R. Powers; board of education, pastor, superintendent of Sunday school, Mesdames E. I. Bellamy, P. S. Bellamy and C. H. Matthews.

A very interesting program was given, after which refreshments were served.

The fourth quarterly confeence was held jointly at Whitakers Chapel, November 2, at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Stanley Whitaker was elected alternate to Annual Conference. The vote was unanimous for the return of our pastor; we sincerely trust that he shall see fit to stay with us, as he and his wife have been faithful and helpful to all.

Recently a new roof has been put on the main part of the parsonage; this was made possible by the Woman's Auxiliary; however, the men helped much. Mr. E. I. Bellamy is due thanks for buying the roof, getting lumber on the yard, carpenters, etc. We appreciate the time he took from his own business to see after this work.

Best wishes to all readers, those who attend Conference, and may everything pertaining to the year's work end up fine.

REPORTER.

◆

Fountain Place-Gibsonville.—The reporters for these two churches have been so efficient in their work it has caused me to keep quiet. These people have supported us in all our undertakings in a way that has been encouraging. They, like all others, have had their financial difficulties and we are still in arrears, but are hoping to get out in such a way as to make a creditable showing.

Our attendance at each place has been good for the entire year, and in some instances better than for the three years. Sunday school work has been good under the efficient leadership of our superintendents. We have a good people to serve. Some, of course, are hard to please, as it seems that there are always some who know better how a preacher ought to preach than the One who called them, but guess that is a common fault to be found everywhere. Suffice it to say that whoever serves these folks in the coming years will find some of the best to be found anywhere, and some who will stand by their pastor in all that is for the advancement of the Kingdom.

The different organizations are functioning well. The two auxiliaries are regular standbys. So are also the young people's organizations. Notwithstanding the stringency of money, Fountain Place has paid over $1,000 on their church debt this year. This, I think, should be mentioned, for this has been done under trying circumstances. If it were possible for the Board of Church Extension to come to their rescue, and help with the debt, they could support an all-time pastor if the same liberality would be kept up. I do not know of any greater loyalty and sacrifice in any church. "Theirs is not to stop and grumble, but to go forward!" May their tribe increase.

The following have remembered us in a substantial way since our last report: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wright, Mrs. T. A. Amick, Miss Ruth Burke, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McCollum, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Round-tree, Mr. and Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Walter Petty, Miss Ruth Nelson, Miss Marie Summers, Miss Gladys May, Miss Ruth Jones, Mr. asd Mrs. F. G. Hammer, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Huffman, Mrs. Linley Gibbs, Mrs. Whitesell, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. H. P. Lucas, Mrs. F. R. Owen, Mrs. C. B. Amick, Miss Orpha Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Amick, Mrs. C. L. Jones, P. P. Troxler, Mrs. Kenneth Williams, Mrs. W. A. Shoffner, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, and there may be others that were not noted at the time, but if there is an oversight it was not intentional. Many of these folks have remembered us more than once, and have kept continually giving. In fact, there have been more donations coming to the parsonage than at any time during the three years we have been here. We thank every one for their generosity, and assure you that every gift is highly appreciated and will not be forgotten.

As this report may not reach the paper before Conference, perhaps it would be best to close. But should we be permitted to work together another year, I shall expect the same loyal support you have given in the past, and I promise you as pastor to be at your service in any way that I may be helpful.

Praying the blessing of a kind Father upon each one and that this approaching Conference may be one of great harmony and wise planning for the future.

N. G. BETHEA.

◆

West Forsyth.—Our Annual Conference is nearing. We are hoping it will be harmonious. We are also hoping and praying that our beloved pastor and family, Rev. C. B. Way, and Mrs. Way and children remain with us another year.

They have endeared themselves into the hearts of the people on this charge; and not only us, but to many people of other denominations as well. To visit the parsonage is to receive inspiration and a new determination to do more for them, and for the cause of Christ and His Kingdom. To receive a visit from them is always a pleasure and, like the sunshine after rain, is refreshing and uplifting, always leaving the better things in life for us to think about and profit by.

Trusting we may not be disappointed, I feel safe in signing myself—

A VOICE FROM WEST FORSYTH CHARGE

◆

Henderson.—With the close of the Conference year here we pause and look back over the progress we have made. We have had with us Dr. L. W. Gerringer and family for only one year and in that time we have learned to love and esteem them in their faithful work with us. Much has been accomplished and for this we are truly grateful; however we must not be satified, but continue to press onward and forward to greater things. This we hope to do with the coming year and our same efficient pastor and family. Our finances are not up to expectations, but we are hoping they will be before Conference convenes.

The fourth quarterly conference was held at the church last Monday night, October 30. Mr. L. R. Gooch was elected delegate to the Annual Conference at Burlington.

The election of all the new officials for both the Sunday school and church was held after the committee which presented them reported. Not many changes were made, and the installation service was very impressive when conducted by the pastor on Sunday morning, October 23. Under the leadership of our Sunday school superintendent, Mr. C. F. Tankersley, Jr., our school has made much progress and we are glad to have him reelected for another year.

The Baraca class held a barbecue on last Tuesday night in the basement of the church and new officers for the year were elected at this time. President for the new year is Mr. Julian Hart; vice-president, Mr. J. B. Fox, Jr.

The Philathea class was delightfully entertained on Thursday night, October 28, at the home of Misses Elsie and Ethel Mustain. The president, Mrs. Silas Powell, called the meeting to order. Devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Clyde L. Finch. During the business period reports from all standing and special committees were given. The relief committee asked that ten dollars be sent to the Children's Home for support of one child there. The ways and means chairman asked that the members of the class each take 25 cents during the month and by some talent of theirs use it in some way that it will increase before the next meeting. The captains on the two sides of the contest are working most faithfully and keeping a close margin with each other. The attendance for the class has been increased and much interest shown. The meeting closed with prayer. During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess, Misses Elsie and Ethel Mustain and Mesdames T. T. Powell and W. B. Hight.

Rally Day was observed at our Sunday school on Sunday morning, October 23.

With best success to the Annual Conference and God's blessing upon all.

MRS. CLYDE L. FINCH, Reporter.

◆

Dulin's, Mocksville Charge.—Yesterday was the last preaching day for us this Conference year. Owing to the inclement weather only a few attended. The officers were elected for the new year and other business transacted.

Rev. G. B. Ferree has served us faithfully and has done a splendid work. We have enjoyed having him and his family with us for the past three years and if Conference sees fit to send him back we will be glad to have him.

Since our last report the death angel has been in our midst and removed one of our dear Sunday school members, Mrs. W. A. Ellis; a good woman gone to her reward. She came to Sunday school as long as she was able. LEONA HENDRIX, Reporter.

◆

Clark's Chapel, Weaverville.—We are now nearing the close of another Conference year. Looking back, we can see so many things that the church as a whole should have done, and might have done. But under the faithful leadership of our pastor, Bro. Cowan, and also the Sunday school officers, we feel sure God has used his people in such a way that the year's work is far from failure. We need more devotion and better co-operation. God loveth a cheerful giver, and if we are faithful unto death we are promised a crown of life.

Bro. Cowan was not physically able to fill his appointment yesterday, but he came and revised the class book and held the election of officers for the coming year. These officers are: Superintendent, Mr. A. F. Roberts; assistant, Mr. C. B. Grider; organist, Mrs. C. B. Grider; secretary, M. James Cheek; class leader, Mrs. Clyde Blankenship; stewards, Mrs. Robert Cole, Mrs. Verona Brittain, Mrs. Itaska Kirk, Mrs. Austin Mackey, Mr. Joe Roberts, Mr. Walter Cheek, Mr. W. D. Stroup; trustees, Mr. A. Fulton Roberts, Mr. Zeb Roberts, Mr. L. F. Eller, Mr. Robert Cole, Mrs. Jamie Roberts.

We highly appreciate having Bro. Cowan and wife with us the past two years, and if it is God's will we hope they will return to the work. LOUISE CHEEK, Reporter.

◆

Stallings Church, Mecklenburg Charge.—The Ladies' Aid met the first Thursday in October with Mrs. J. L. Love. The program opened with singing two songs, "In the Garden' 'and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder." Mrs. M. L. Stallings had charge of the Scripture reading and Mrs. P. L. Garmon led in prayer. Seveal pieces were read and were very interesting. We had the roll call and our collection amounted to $10.15 for the month of October, and the number of members present was encouraging.

Mrs. Love served delicious refreshments.

Our next meeting will be the first Tuesday in November.

MRS. PAUL STALLINGS, Reporter.

◆

Shiloh Y. M. W. A. Class—This class was off a little in attendance Sunday on account of the bad weather. Mr. Willie Swicegood taught the lesson. In his splendid talk he told us to be careful what we do and say because someone is watching us all the time. He also told us to remember the leaders of the country in our prayers and pray that the Lord's will may be done in the election of officers for the country.

The Young Mothers' Class visited our class Sunday. When Mr. Swicegood finished, their teacher, Mrs. Ray Leatherman, was called on to make a few remarks on the lesson. In her talk she said that when a person is in Christ he does not wish to fight and cause disturbances but tries to bring about peace instead. If we kick and knock our fellowmen we are not true Christians. The only way to have peace all over the world is to Christianize the world and we will not have it until we do.

Mr. Evans returned home from the hospital Sunday evening in spite of the bad weather. He is doing just fine and says that he will be back to church just as soon as he is able.

W. FRANK SHOAF, Reporter.

◆

Calvary, Greensboro.—We are sorry to announce that our organist, Vivian Sullivan, has resigned. She has served us faithfully for several years. In appreciation of her splendid service she was presented with a wristwatch Sunday morning. This was a gift from the members of the church and Sunday school. Vivian has accepted the place of assistant organist. Hulda Booth is our new organist.

Six members of Circle No. 1 were hostesses at a "depression party" Friday sight, these members being Mrs. Howard Neece, Mrs. C. W. Bates, Mrs. E. D. Overcash, Mrs. C. F. Garrett, Mrs. Britton and Mrs. Laughlin. Everybody dressed in old clothes. The party assembled at the home of Mrs. Neese for the musical part of the program. The soloists were Mrs. L. W. Bissett, Mrs. J. D. Heritage, Mrs. J. F. Williams and Mrs. E. D.

◆

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Williams

A. G. Williams was born April 11, 1856; died Oct. 16, 1932, aged, 76 years, 6 months and 5 days.

Funeral services were conducted at the home of his son, A. G. Williams, Jr., in Hillsboro, N. C., October 18th. The writer was assisted in these services by Dr. W. A. Stanbury and Rev. A. J. Parker of the M. E. Church, South. After the services at the home the remains were taken to Union Grove church cemetery.

Bro. Williams was converted and joined Union Grove church 42 years ago. He remained a faithful member until death.

The following members of the N. C. Annual Conference are near relatives of the deceased: His son, Rev. O. B. Williams, his brother, Dr. J. D. Williams, nephews, Revs. D. R. and T. A. Williams, and Rev. R. C. Stubbins.

May God comfort these and all other relatives and friends.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

◆

Lyndon

The Grim Reaper has again invaded the ranks of the membership of the First Methodist Protestant church, and we mourn the loss of a well-known citizen and faithful friend, who passed away at his home, 425 Willowbrooks street, at 7 o'clock in the morning of Wednesday, October 12, after an illness of six months. A son of Thomas E., and Elizabeth Hoover Lyndon, he was born in Randolph county not far from Fairfield church November 27, 1867.

On March 15, 1893 he was united in marriage to Miss Laura Belle Hiatt of Guilford county, who has been a devoted and faithful companion, sharing his joys and sorrows, working by his side in sickness and in health for nearly 40 years. About three years after their marriage they removed to High Point, where they have made their home for 35 years. One daughter, Mrs. Jones Burns, of this city, who has been their joy and comfort, survives.

Mr. Lyndon was modest and unassuming in character, of quiet and dignified bearing, faithful and devoted as a husband and father, firm in his convictions, loyal and dependable to his friends. Always energetic and industrious, he was a diligent and highly valued employee of Tomlinson Chair company for many years. He was a faithful and highly esteemed member of First Methodist Protestant church for a long period of years, and also a member of Guilford Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

Two brothers, Thomas R., and J. Walter Lyndon, one sister, Miss Mary Lyndon, all of this city and another sister, Mrs. P. H. Snyder of Randolph county, are left to mourn the loss of their well-loved brother.

Funeral services were conducted at the home, 425 Willowbrook street, by his present pastor, Rev. R. I. Farmer, assisted by two former pastors, Dr. A. G. Dixon of the Children's Home, and Dr. Geo. R. Brown of Reidsville, were attended by a large group of relatives and friends. Tributes of warm praise and high esteem were paid to the life of this splendid citizen and faithful follower of the Lord Jesus, in whom "the elements were so mixed, that all nature might stand up and say, 'This was a man'."

Interment followed in Oakwood cemetery, this city, and services at the graveside were conducted by members of the Junior Order. Active pallbearers were Messrs. John Plummer, A. C. Clinard, W. I. Estes, C. A. Cecil, R. W. Seward, Edward Franklin, Carl Floyd, and J. E. Wise. Honorary pallbearers were the stewards of First church. Our cordial sympathy is extended to his sorrowing wife, daughter, small granddaughter and all the other bereaved relatives.

"We die not at all, for our deeds remain to crown with honor, or mar with stain; through endless years to come our lives shall speak, when our lips are dumb." B.A.P.

◆

Jenkins

Ethel King Jenkins was born August 29, 1906, and departed this life November 1, 1932. Mrs. Jenkins was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. King, of Littleton, N. C. She was united in holy matrimony to Mr. Numer Lyn Jenkins April 30, 1927. This union proved to be a happy and successful one.

Mrs. Jenkins is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. King; three sisters, Mrs. M. W. Myrick, Anna Laura, and Bettie Mae; and three brothers, Willis, Harvey Lee and Calvin.

The funeral was conducted by her pastor, in the home of her parents. A great host of friends were assembled to pay their last tribute of respect to the loved one whom they had learned to admire, and to show their sympathy to the bereaved ones. The remains were placed in Sun Set Hill, the Littleton cemetery, beneath a beautiful mound of flowers.

Ethel joined Weaver's Chapel Methodist Protestant church when a young girl, and remained a faithful member until the end.

May God comfort the bereaved ones.

P. E. BINGHAM, Pastor.

◆

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas, our Heavenly Father in His all wise providence has seen fit to call from labor to reward our brother and fellow-member of the Hebron Methodist Protestant Church, Mebane, N. C., R. F. D. No. 4, William Gerome Steele, and, whereas, we know that He is too wise to err and too good to be unkind, we bow in humble submission to His will.

Because of our great love and esteem for this our departed brother, we, the members of the Hebron Methodist Protestant church, do hereby resolve:

First, because of Brother Steele's clean, Christian life, his great strength of character, his faithfulness to all noble causes, and his loyalty to his church, we will continue to remember his activities among us, and his keen interest in the general church work. While it is human to err, we believe he had as few faults as any man. So we will write them on the shifting sands of time; his many virtues upon the tablets of loving memory, and will strive to so live that we may meet him in that upper and perfect church; that house not made with hands; eternal in the Heavens.

Second, we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his loyal wife and to his bereaved brother, commending them to Christ Jesus, our Lord, who is ever ready to sustain the sorrowing in such trying hours.

Third, a copy of these resolutions be sent to the wife, and brother, a copy be spread upon the church records, quarterly conference records; a copy be sent to the Methodist Protestant Herald, and the Mebane Enterprise for publication.

BEN F. WILSON,
A. K., McADAMS,
C. P. JONES,
Committee.

MARRIED

Tysinger-Swicegood

A wedding of simplicity and beauty was solemnized at Lexington at 9:30 Sunday morning when Miss Mildred Irene Swicegood became the bride of Mr. Paul Matthew Tysinger. Both bride and bridegroom are natives of Davidson county. Rev. C. G. Isley, pastor of the bride, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Tysinger was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Vada Swicegood, of Welcome, while Mr. Tysinger was accompanied by his brother, Dale Tysinger.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Swicegood, of Lexington, and is the organist at Mount Carmel church. Mr. Tysinger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Tysinger, leading citizens of the Silver Hill section.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Tysinger left for an extended tour to Asheville and other points west.

Our best wishes go with this young couple.

C. G. ISLEY.

◆

"A LOST SOUL"

(Inspired by Rev. J. R. Anderson during the revival at Calvary church Sept. 1, 1932.)

The soul of a man who spurns God's grace,
And disregards his holy law,
Will never enter the Pearly Gates
To meet his Savior face to face.
But enter where Satan and his Angels hie
And weep and wail, yet never die.

He'll never cross that vast chasm
That yawns between him and love,
That keeps his tortured soul in Hell
Away from that Heavenly home above.
He'll never reach that glorious Light
But in eternal darkness dwell.

His cries of mercy will echo and die
His soul will wreath in pain
He'll never meet in that "Sweet Bye and Bye"
The loved ones he would see again:
Oh, the anguish that sin has cast;
The soul of a man forever lost.

Come, Lost Soul, do not delay,
The day may never dawn.
Cast the cloak of sin away
And stand before the Lord, reborn.
On Jesus turn a pleading eye
And seek forgiveness e're you die.

—Margaret A. Overcash.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Baraca class, Gibsonville, clothing child	$ 5.00
Asheboro S. S.	35.00
Hickory Ridge, Forsyth	2.50
Gideon's Grove S. S., Flat Rock	1.78
A Friend	6.00
C. E. Society, Glen Raven, clothing child	5.00
N. C. Branch, Woman's Auxiliary, by Mrs. S. W. Taylor	55.85
New Salem S. S., Randolph	1.50
Union Hill S. S., West Forsyth	1.25
Center S. S., Alamance	6.00
Junior Philatheas and Baracas, Liberty	1.00
Union Chapel S. S., Mocksville	1.00
Liberty Hill S. S., Anderson	2.60
Mr. C. E. McCulloch, Wilmington, personal	10.00
Graham S. S., caring for child	10.00
Philathea class, Gibsonville for October and November, clothing child	10.00
State Street S. S.	4.00
Philathea class, Lebanon, High Point, clothing child	5.00

Clothing and Other Gifts

The F. W. Allen company, Salisbury, Md., 2,000 strawberry plants.

Hickory Ridge, Forsyth, 85 quarts of canned fruits and vegetables, three pumpkins, one box of walnuts, two boxes of macaroni, one peck of corn meal, four boxes rolled oats, two boxes hominy, two sacks of apples and a package of hose, two pounds sugar, one box cocoa, four pillow cases, one gallon molasses, six bushels sweet potatoes and $2.50 cash, reported above.

The Woman's Auxiliary, Charlotte church, Richland, two quilts, seven dresses, six towels, one skirt, two pieces of underwear, seven quarts of canned fruits and vegetables, six glasses jelly and one bushel sweet potatoes.

Missionary Society, Lebanon, High Point, 73 dish towels, four hand towels, 67 magazines, 58 cans fruit and vegetables, two pints of jelly and 75 coupons.

Guilford Circuit, one bushel sweet potatoes, three packages of popcorn, 15 quarts fruit and vegetables and five pumpkins, with more to follow.

Junior Philathea and Junior Baraca classes, Liberty, six quarts fruits and vegetables, nine dresses, two coats, one pair shoes, three sweaters, one shirt, one pair pants, two hats and one tam.

We are profoundly grateful for all these offerings, and also to every one who has in any way contributed to the work here during the conference year.

Looking to Thanksgiving and Christmas

We are looking forward to Thanksgiving and Christmas with faith believing that our people will pay us up to date with current expenses.

We have struggled under this handicap for four years, and have not even asked the conference to put on a campaign to clear it up. Other things have pressed, and we have tried to carry on wtihout calling upon our people for anything except the regular offerings, with a bit extra at Thanksgiving. But the pressure now is such that we cannot carry the load, so we are asking conference to do something about it. The Mills Home is asking the Baptists "To raise a great fund at Thanksgiving to clear up all indebtedness as a memorial to Dr. M. L. Kesler." Barium Springs is asking the Presbyterians "To raise $50 000.00 at Thanksgiving to help pay off indebtedness on current bills."

We are asking Methodist Protestants to put on an intensive campaign November 20 to 27 inclusive with a view to raising $10,000. to clear up all current bills and to make repairs on buildings. This campaign should be so thoroughly worked that it will reach the last member on every charge.

Our Letter

The following letter went out last week to all pastors and S. S. superintendents. It went out before conference this year because there is such a short time between conference and Thanksgiving:

"Our Dear Friends:

"We come with our annual appeal for the Children's Home. Methodist Protestants of this conference, with their friends, always respond heartily to our needs, and your help is greatly appreciated.

"Present conditions have made the burden heavy, and we believe that the many friends of this work will respond with the Best Possible Offering this year. Please make your plans so that every interested one in your community, or communities, will have a chance to make a Thanksgiving offering to the Home.

"The current indebtedness which has hung over us so long, has become a burden beyond our ability to bear. We are being pressed upon to pay, and we must pay or cease to get supplies. A properly constituted committee will present recommendations to the approaching Annual Conference, asking the members of the Conference to get behind the Thanksgiving offering this year in a way to clear up all indebtedness.

"Every church in the conference will be asked to set apart November 20 to 27 inclusive, as a period in which to talk about, pray for and give to the Children's Home. We are asking you to do four things during that period. 1. Ask your people to contribute as much as a "Day's Income" to the Home. 2. Ask those who cannot do that much, to contribute at least $1.00. 3. Ask those who cannot give a dollar, to make a silver offering. 4. Present the facts embraced in this letter and the enclosed leaflet.

"Crop conditions this year have made the question of food a real problem with us for this winter. We need your financial help that we may buy the needed food, and other necessities for this large family of children. We will appreciate any and all other gifts; but because of the serious financial condition here we beg of you to get your people to make as large a money offering as possible at Thanksgiving. We know you will and we thank you.

"IF YOU CARE, SHARE.

"We borrow the above expression and say, If you care share with these children. At Thanksgiving and Christmas, people in happy homes, with father and mother still living to care for their children, are going to make gifts to others less fortunate. This is a beautiful and permanent custom with high-souled Americans. It is an expression of gratitude to God for His manifold blessings, and does not take away from other causes. It is also a beautiful and worthy custom for Methodist Protestants to share this Humanitarian Gift annually with orphan children.

"Yours in the Master's service,
J. M. MILLIKAN, Chairman,
A. M. RANKIN, Treasurer,
A. G. DIXON, Superintendent."

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Thirteen)

Overcash. Misses Elizabeth Williams and Ione Friddle gave piano recitals. Mrs. Overcash gave a reading. After the musical hour the party progressed to the home of Mrs. Bates for games and refreshments. The refreshments consisted of ginger cake and punch, served in depression china, such as tin pans, frying pans, meat platters, tin cups, jelly glasses of all sizes, and napkins were made from old cloths. The birthday cake (ginger bread cake un-iced) was surrounded by six large candles in old candle-holders. The guests, 20 is number, were served cafeteria style. Each guest brought a penny for each year of his or her age.

Our ladies have gone political. They are serving the poll-holders today (Tuesday). This is an auxiliary project and we hope to clear approximately $25.00.

I am going to be in Richmond, Va., for a few weeks and Vivian Sullivan was kind enough to report for me in my absence.

Calvary has a request to make of Conference: Please let our preacher be!

MRS. E. D. OVERCASH, Reporter.

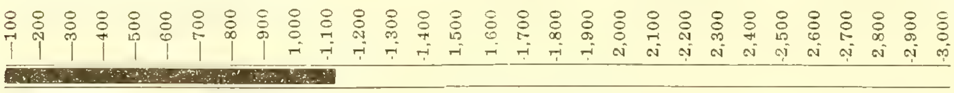
Shiloh.—Sunday marked the close of this year's work. Rev. R. S. Troxler delivered a message at 11 a. m. He told us that a Christian stands not only for Christ, but against the devil—not only stands for righteousness, but stands against unrighteousness.

At 7 p. m. Rev. Mr. Troxler preached at the Reeds school auditorium on "Playing Square With Tomorrow," a message that dealt primarily with the liquor question now facing this nation.

On the fifth Sunday night at Shiloh, Dr. A. W. Plyler, of Greensboro, was heard by a large congregation in a message regarding the wet and dry issue. Bro. E. C. Roach, pastor of Reeds Baptist church, also made a short, but stirring talk concerning the same topic. The M. E.'s, the M. P.'s and the Baptists were united in the fight against the com-

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

HERALD CAMPAIGN FOR 3,000 SUBSCRIBERS



YOUR CO-OPERATION IS NEEDED TO INCREASE THE LENGTH OF THIS BLACK LINE

"The Methodist Protestant Herald in Every Methodist Protestant Home."

Directing Committee: E. L. Douglas, C. W. Bates, J. E. Pritchard.

	Quota	Received
Alamance	46	16¾
Albemarle	18	10
Anderson	28	5¾
Asheboro	36	18
ASHEVILLE	10	13¾
Bethesda	6	..
Bess Chapel-Caroleen	40	1
Burlington	73	18
Charlotte	19	13½
Chase City	10	½
Chatham	25	7½
Cleveland	57	15½
Concord	33	20
Connelly Springs	15	..
Creswell	35	5¼
Davidson	55	7
Denton	47	11½
Democrat	15	2¾
Draper	7	2
ENFIELD	16	17¼
Fairview	10	..
Fallston	104	8
Flat Rock	62	7
Friendship	17	2
Forsyth	50	12
Gibsonville-Ft. Place	30	23¾
Glen Raven	38	9
Graham	27	5
Granville	56	14
Greensboro, Grace	42	30
Greensboro, Calvary	25	19½
Greensboro, St. Paul	14	3
Greensboro, West End	26	10½
Greensville	59	1½
Guilford	43	16½
Halifax	52	15½
Haw River	49	16
Henderson	38	22¾
HIGH POINT, FIRST	72	88
HIGH POINT, LEBANON	31	31
High Point, Welch	28	4½
High Point, English St.	11	1½
Kannapolis	9	4
Kernersville	35	3½
Lexington, State Street	21	9
Lexington, First	42	8½
Liberty-Moriah	31	21¾
Lincolnton	20	1
Littleton	55	13
Mebane	28	8
Mecklenburg	38	3¾
Melton's Grove	4	..
Midland	61	13½
MIDWAY-SHADY GROVE	10	12
Mocksville	50	10¼
Mount Hermon	92	19
Mount Pleasant	62	24¼
North Davidson	53	16
Orange	70	38⅝
Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	51	20½
Pleasant Grove	19	16¾
Porter	5	½
Randleman	45	10⅞
Richland	42	1½
Randolph	81	12
Reidsville	14	12½
Roberta	29	3
Rockingham	11	..
Roseneath	2	..
Saxapahaw	56	19
Shelby-Bessemer City	10	..
Shiloh	60	24½
Siler City	10	8½
SPENCER	3	3½
Spring Church	30	11
TABERNACLE	41	42
Thomasville, Community	15	4½
THOMASVILLE, FIRST	21	22
Thomasville, West End	10	1
Vance	52	15
Weaverville	20	8
West Forsyth	62	12¼
WHITAKERS	8	11¾
Why Not	46	14½
WINSTON, FIRST	27	33½
Winston, South	5	..
Yarborough	11	5¾
Miscellaneous	50	32⅜

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Miss Louise Hanner	$16.50
Rev. A. L. Hunter	14.00
E. L. Douglas	13.00
Rev. E. G. Cowan	10.00
Mrs. C. B. Welch	10.00
Mrs. W. J. Jennings	6.00
Rev. T. M. Johnson	6.00
Rev. L. W. Gerringer	6.00
Rev. C. L. Spencer	6.00
Rev. W. T. Totten	6.00
Rev. N. G. Bethea	5.00
Mrs. E. S. Taylor	5.00
Mis. W. G. Starr	4.00
Rev. M. P. Chambliss	4.00
Rev. J. R. Anderson	4.00
Rev. P. E. Bingham	4.00
Rev. J. D. Williams	3.50
Rev. E. A. Bingham	3.00
Rev. W. D. Reed	3.00
Rev. N. M. Harrison	2.00
Rev. E. O. Peeler	2.00
Rev. H. W. Maier	2.00
Rev. G. L. Curry	2.00
Rev. G. L. Reynolds	2.00
Rev. O. C. Loy	2.00
Miss Lola McCollum	2.00
Rev. P. E. Bingham	1.00
Rev. W. H. Neese	1.00

Offerings for Printing Deficit

Davidson, by Rev. E. A. Bingham	$ 4.67
Bethel, Alamance, by W. H. Foust	3.35
Asheville	3.50
Saxapahaw Church	3.70
Concord, Saxapahaw	.80
Guilford Charge	3.00
Mt. Pleasant, Do. charge	16.00
(Mrs. J. E. Stafford, $10.00; J. E. Stafford, $5.00; S. A. Alexander, $1.00).
West End Church	5.00
Why Not Charge	.75

To all these friends we return hearty thanks.

Methodist Protestant Herald

J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro. N. C.

FROM PASTORS AND PEOPLE

(Continued from Page Fifteen)

mon enemy, and the best of fellowship was felt by all throughout the entire service. Shiloh was indeed glad to have both visiting ministers.

Mr. Jesse L. Evans returned home today from the Davidson Hospital where he underwent a major operation three weeks ago. He is improving and his many friends are expecting to see him back at church before so many more Sundays.

Rev. R. S. Troxler, who has been our pastor for eight yeacers, will leave for Conference at Burlington Wednesday morning. Shiloh would be glad for him to return yet again. REPORTER.

◆

Charlotte.—Our pastor, Dr. Andrews, will leave Tuesday morning for Burlington to meet with several committees of importance, of which he is a member.

The Christian Endeavor Society is planning a very interesting busy year. The members are very active and respond cheerfully to any task given them. It is gratifying to observe that a larger number are staying for the evening service than formerly.

The Baraca Class will have charge of the prayer and praise service Wednesday evening in the absence of a pastor. The Ever Ready Philathea class will conduct the service next week.

The Auxiliary is planning a fish fry and oyster supper to be given in the near future. Mrs. Stegall, chairman of the ways and means committee, is gifted in the art of keeping the members busy. This month she has us working on "a yard of pennies.

Mr. G. W. Stegall, our delegate to Conference, is to leave Thursday morning. Mrs. Stegall will accompany him. We hope to have several of our members there for Woman's Day." REPORTER.

◆

Spring Church Charge.—At the end of the 34th day Mrs. Neese was able to return home from the hospital last Saturday. She seems to be on the road to recovery.

The circuit auxiliary did a fine thing in paying one week's bill to the hospital. Other interested members and friends have manifested their friendship in substantial gifts. We appreciate these tokens of real helpfulness.

Aside from the enforced crampings of the financial stringency, this is a splendid field. We are hoping, however, for better days to come. Wm. H. NEESE.

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CHRIST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXIX GREENSBORO, N. C., NOVEMBER 17, 1932 NUMBER 2

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

Notes of Annual Conference

Burlington has entertained our Conference four or five times and always done it handsomely. Another important thing: it has supplied large audiences for our public addresses. The meeting is not simply for church business, but to do business for the King.

The first day, Wednesday, was a very busy one. The devotional opening with Conference sermon by Dr. C. W. Bates and Communion Service led by President Taylor, made the impressive beginning. The President's annual report was heard with extraordinary interest; it was Dr. Taylor's last of a series of five, all of them replete with interest. President Taylor's term of five years' service, all our law allows, has been of much service to the church in North Carolina. It was proposed at this time that the Annual Conference president be stationed instead of traveling the district. The motion provoked a long discussion which waxed warmer and warmer until the motion was withdrawn. It seemed that sentiment was strong against the change. Election of officers came on, always a matter of interest. The only minister that could not be voted for was the retiring president. It took several ballots to decide, but I will not keep you in suspense: Dr. R. M. Andrews was elected president. He is not new to the office, having served five years some time ago. Dr. C. W. Bates was chosen as secretary, prolongng an already long term.

On Thursday committees got down to work. But the conference floor was occupied in the interest of education and missionary work. President Broomfield also delivered his address. He found the chief deficiency in the church of today in all branches to be in the realm of vital conviction. Men need to revive their faith in Christ and His purpose and power to save the world. Dr. Haddaway and Dr. Stephenson spoke in the interest of missionary and education work. President Humphreys reported for High Point College. He included in his report information regarding some valuable scholarships to be given to students of special distinction in worth and attainment. Music students from High Point College demonstrated the worth of instruction in their department of the work.

Thursday afternoon the floor was held by the Woman's Auxiliary Branch, Mrs. W. C. Hammer in the chair. The time was used to good advantage. What women are doing for the churches should shame many men.

The General Conference was fully represented this year, including Dr. Shipley, Editor of the Protestant-Recorder, Dr. Johnson of the Sunday School literature, Dr. Holloway, president of the Seminary, Rev. F. L. Gibbs, Secretary of Christian Education, and Publisher Reiner as well as the brethren already named. This added great interest to the session.

Especially interesting to the editor of the HERALD was the speech of the editor of the Recorder. He is perfectly orthodox in his views of the rights and duties of annual conference periodicals. He is widely ready, scholarly, of poetic temperament and also with analytic trend of mind. He is still comparatively young and may be expected to render to the general church years of splendid service.

From Rev. J. L. Trollinger's full reports to the daily papers we make the following quotations:

FACE GREATER TEMPTATIONS

"Young people today are facing far greater temptations than their parents ever dreamed of in their youth. Many modern magazines appeal to basest impulses. Too many movies in mediocre, insipid or degrading attacks upon the church; Christian ideals and principles remind us of the days of the French revolution. Certain social practices formerly frowned upon now frequently receive public sanction. This and other forces make it most difficult for the young people.

"The church appreciates this situation, and is endeavoring to provide for their needs in a larger way."

A solemn moment came in the conference today. When the factory whistles were blowing for the Armistice, the conference stood silent for a moment after which Dr. G. I. Humphreys led the conference in prayer for the early coming of a world peace.

In reference to ministers coming from other churches and conferences a resolution was adopted, and thereby becomes law, in which the conference says, "no minister shall be received into membership in this conference either by transfer or letter of standing until he shall have served one year under the authority of the stationing committee."

SCOUT WORK INDORSED

Dr. G. R. Brown, of Reidsville, and Dr. F. W. Paschal, of Burlington, presented a resolution relative to the Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations, the text of which is, "Whereas conservative and reliable authorities estimate that between 200,000 and 300,000 boys between the ages of 12 and 20 are vagrants in America, out loose from home and all other character-building institutions, and whereas according to the records of various commissions investigating crime and criminals, we are told that in past years the criminal was middle aged, intemperate, experienced in crime and limited in his activities to a special type of offence, today the line-up presents a parade of youth ranging from 17 to 21, versatile in crime, who cold-bloodedly and calmly recite voluntarily the most intimate details of planning and execution of ruthless crimes, and whereas in order to change this alarming condition of so many of the youth of the land, G. W. Wickersham, chairman of the national commission of law observance and enforcement, says in his report to President Hoover, 'Every boy and girl should be encouraged to join the Boy Scouts', an organization that has for its object the making of good loyal citizens out of boys and girls, therefore be it resolved that we heartily indorse the Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations, and urge our pastors and laymen to encourage the organization of troops in all of their churches where it is at all practicable.''

Brother W. T. Hanner of Julian was chosen as lay member of the Stationing Committee to serve in association with President R. M. Andrews. See another column for report of this committee, including list of pastors and charges. This conference was notable for the very small number of changes in pastoral relations. Let us look for a good year of good work everywhere.

THANKSGIVING MOVEMENT FOR ORPHANS

The Homeless Child

At Thanksgiving time, when we are so fortunate as to have the comforts and protection of a home, let us not forget that around us—often at our very doors—may be found little boys and girls who do not know the meaning of ''Home,'' father or mother. It is this class that should receive our sympathy and protection and the income of a day citizens of the State are requested to contribute, during the Thanksgiving period, to the orphanage of their choice seems quite reasonable.

Join in the Spirit

Thanksgiving Season should be a time of rejoicing and thanks: a time when all should join in this spirit. This should not be a mere emotion with no form of outward expression, but should cause those who are fortunate and able, to think of those who are less fortunate and less able. This year, the relief of distress is the big outstanding objective of unselfish motives. Among the large group needing aid in our State are the dependent children—especially those bereft of home and parents. The Orphanages of the State have brought large numbers of these under their care, and Church and Fraternal Society have assumed a large responsibility.

The Orphanages are experiencing a hard time this year. The capacity of people to give has been considerably lessened —hence the income of all Orphanages is considerably less.

It is characteristic of great hearted people to rush to the breach in the ranks at any time of peril. The need for such action in the interest of the various orphan homes of the State is here. These institutions find themselves unable to meet urgent demands thrust upon them in the effort to provide means of sustenance for hundreds of children entrusted to their care. Surely offerings forwarded to these homes at Thanksgiving this year will be more generous than usual.

The North Carolina Orphan Association requests the citizens of the State to forward the income of a day to the orphanage of their choice on, or near Thanksgiving Day; more if they can, less if they can do no better. Those who respond will be helping children who, through no fault of their own, hold out pleading hands for a chance to develop into useful men and women. The call is to every up-standing man and woman in the Old North State. Contribute through church, Sunday School, lodge, club, or mail direct to the orphan home preferred.

Citizens of the State are asked to rise to the dignity and demand of the hour by each doing his level best to swell the orphanage treasuries at Thanksgiving. Pastors of churches, Sunday School superintendents, city, county and State officials, lawyers, doctors, business men, lodge officials, community clubs, farmers and housewives, wage-earners and all other classes of our citizenship are requested in the effort to bring comfort and confidence to those into whose care the lives and destinies of thousands of North Carolina children have been placed.

> ''He who gives a child a treat,
> Makes joy-bells ring in Heaven's Street.
> And he who gives a child a home—
> Builds palaces in Kingdom Come.'' > —Masefield.

Thanksgiving

This is one of the ''special days'' which, during recent years, come to North Carolinians freighted with the spirit of good-will, of cheerfulness, of happy greetings fragrant with friendship that means service where service may be needed. A generous spirit has been manifested toward the various orphan homes of the State and the North Carolina Orphan Association once again renews its appeal for liberal offerings for these beneficent institutions during the approaching period.

On or before Thursday, November 24, the day set apart by the President of the United States and the Governor of North Carolina for prayer and thanksgiving, every high-hearted citizen of the State is requested to contribute the income of a DAY to the orphanage of his or her choice.

TYPES OF TALKERS

By Grenville Kleiser

There is no greater affliction in modern life than the tiresome talker. He talks incessantly. Presumably he talks in his sleep. Talking in his constant exercise and recreation. He thrives on it. He lives for talking's sake. He would much, but says little. He skims over the surface of things, languish if he were deprived of it for a single day. His continuous practice in talking enables him easily to outdistance all ordinary competitors. There is nothing which so completely unnerves him as long periods of silence. He has the talking habit in its most virulent form.

The trifling talker is equally objectionable. He talks much, but says little. Se skims over the surface of things, and is timid of anything deep or philosophical. He does not tarry at one subject. He talks of the weather, clothes, plays, and sports. He puts little meaning into what he says, because there is little meaning in what he thinks. He cannot look at anything seriously. Nothing is of great signicance to him. He is in the class of featherweights.

The tedious talker is one without terminal facilities. He talks right on with no idea of objective or destination. He rises to go, but he does not go. He knows he ought to go, but he simply cannot. He has something more to say. He keeps you standing half an hour. He talks a while longer. He assures you he really must go. You tell him not to hurry. He takes you at your word and sits down again. He talks some more. He rises again. He does not know even how to conclude. He has no mental compass. He is a rudderless talker.

Probably the most obnoxious type is the tattling talker. He always has something startlingly personal to impart. It is a sacred secret for your ear. He is a wholesale dealer in gossip. He fairly smacks his lips as he relates the latest scandal. He is an expert embellisher. He adroitly supplies missing details. He has nothing of interest in his own life, since he lives wholly in the lives of others. He is a frightful bore, but you cannot offend him. He is adamant.

There is the tautological talker, or the human self-repeater. He goes over the ground again and again lest you have missed something. He is very fond of himself. He tells the same story not twice, but a dozen times. "You may have heard this before," says he, "but it is so good that it will bear repetition." He tries to disguise his poverty of thought in a masquerade of ornate language. If he must repeat his words, he adds a little emphasis, a flourishing gesture, or an air of nonchalance.

Again, there is the tenacious talker, who refuses to release you though you concede his arguments. When all others tactily drop a subject, he eagerly picks it up. He is reluctant to leave it. He would put you in possession of his special knowledge. You may successfully refute him, but he holds firmly to his own ideas. He is positive he is right. He will prove it, too, if you will only listen. He knows that he knows. You cannot convince him to the contrary, no indeed. He will talk you so blind that at last you are unable to see any viewpoint clearly.

A recognized type is the tactless talker. He says the wrong thing in the right way, and the right thing in the wrong way. He is impulsive and unguarded. He reaches hasty conclusions. He confuses his tactlessness with cleverness. He is awkward and blundering. His indifference to the rights and feelings of others is his greatest enemy. He is a stranger to discretion. He speaks first, and thinks afterwards. He may have regrets, but not resolutions. He is often tolerated, but seldom esteemed.

The temperamental talker is one of the greatest of nerve-destroyers. He deals in superlatives. He talks feelingly of trifles, and ecstatically of friends. He gushes. He flatters. To him everything is "marvelous," "wonderful," "prodigious," "superb,' "gorgeous," "heavenly," "amazing," "indescribable," "overwhelming." Extravagance and exaggeration permeate his most commonplace observations. He is an incurable enthusiast.

The tantalizing talker is one who likes to contradict you. He divides his attention between what you are saying and what he can summon to oppose you. He dissents from your most ordinary observations. His favorite phrases are "I don't think so," "There is where you are wrong," "I beg to differ," and "Not only that." Tell him it will be a fine day, and he will declare that the signs indicate foul weather. Say that the day is unpromising, and he will assure you it does not look that way to him. He cavils at trifles. He disputes even when there is no antagonist.

To listen to the tortuous talker is a supreme test of patience. He slowly winds his way in and out of a subject. He traverses by-paths, allowing nothing to escape his unwearied eye. He goes a long way about, but never tires of his circuitous journey. Ploddingly and perseveringly he zigzags from one point to another. He alters his course as often as the crooked way of his subject changes. He twists, turns, shifts, veers, and diverges without the slightest inconvenience to himself. He likes nothing better than to trace out details. His talking disease is discursiveness.

The tranquil talker never hurries. He has all the time there is. If you are very busy he will wait. He is uniformly moderate and polite. He is a rare combination of oil, milk, and rose-water. He would not harm a syllable of the English language. His talking has a soporific effect. It acts as a lullaby. His speech is low and gentle. He never speaks an ill-considered word. He chooses his words with measured caution. He is what is known as a smooth talker.

The torpedo talker is of the rapid fire explosive variety. He bursts into a conversation. He scatters labials, dentals, and gutterals in all directions. He is a war-time talker,—boom, burst, bang, roar, crash, thud! He fills the air with vocal bullets and syllabic shrapnel. He is trumpet-tongued, ear-splitting, deafening. He fires promiscuously at all his hearers. He rends the skies asunder. He is nothing if not vociferous, stentorian, lusty. He demolishes every idea in his way. He is a Napoleon of words!

The tangled talker never gets anything quite straight. He inevitably spoils the best story. He always begins at the wrong end. Despite your protests of face and manner he talks on. He talks inopportunely. He becomes inextricably confused. He is weak in statistics. He has no memory for names or places. He lacks not fluency but accuracy. He is a badly twisted talker.

The triumphant talker lays claim to the star part in any conversation. He likes nothing better than to drive home his point and then look about exultantly. He says gleefully, "I told you so!" That he can ever be wrong is inconceivable to him. He knows the facts since he can readily manufacture them himself. He is self-satisfied, for in his own opinion he has never lost an argument. He is a brave and bold talker.

These, then, are some types of talking which we should not emulate. Study the list carefully—the tiresome talker, the trifling talker, the tedious talker, the tattling talker, the tautological talker, the tenacious talker, the tactless talker, the temperamental talker, the tantalizing talker, the tangled talker, the triumphant talker—guard yourself diligently against the faults which they represent. Talking should always be a pleasure to the speaker and listener, never a bore. (From Talks on Talking, by Grenville Kleiser, Funk & Wagnalls Co., New York, publishers.)

◆

—It is no longer news that on November 8 the Democrats swept the country, putting Roosevelt into the White House and a majority of members into the Senate Chamber.

A SCENE FROM LIFE

A young man entered the bar-room of a village tavern and called for a drink.

"No," said the landlord. "You have had delirium tremens once, and I cannot sell you any more.

He stepped aside to make room for a couple of young men who had just entered, and the landlord waited on them very politely. The other had stood by, silent and sullen, and when they had finished he walked up to the landlord and addressed him:

"Six years ago, at their age, I stood where those young men are now. I was a man with fair prospects. Now at the age of twenty-eight I am a wreck, body and mind. You led me to drink. In this room I formed the habit that has been my ruin. Now, sell me a few glasses more and your work will be done. I shall soon be out of the way; there is no hope for me. But they can be saved. Do not sell it to them. Sell it to me and let me die, and let the world be rid of me; but for Heaven's sake sell no more to them!"

The landlord listened, pale and trembling. Setting down his decanter, he exclaimed:

"God help me! this is the last drop I will ever sell any one!"

And he kept his word.—The Primitive Christian.

BROKEN AND BRUISED

They tell me I must bruise
The rose's leaf,
Ere I can keep and use
Its fragrance brief.

They tell me I must break
The skylark's heart,
Ere her cage song will make
The silence start.

They tell me love must bleed,
And friendship weep,
Ere in my deepest need
I touch that deep.

Must it be always so
With precious things?
Must they be bruised and go
With beaten wings?

Ah, yeh! By crushing days,
By caging nights, by scar
Of thorn and stony ways,
These blessings are!

—Elim Evangel.

—We thank the Annual Conference for its hearty response to our appeal last week for subsidy for the HERALD. May we hope that the bodies named in the Annual Conference resolution will respond in like spirit. It is not a case of "a painted ship on a painted sea," but a real ship in a real storm on a real ocean.

THE ROAD TO REVIVAL

A friend of mine in New York, who is pastor of a large Presbyterian church, told me this experience. He said he had become very much exercised on the subject of the salvation of his people. He had gone on for a year and more, and had seen practically nobody saved. One night he called his elders to meet him in the church, and they prayed together. Finally, he said: "Brethren, I have a proposition to make to you. I wish to resign the pastorship of this church, because I do not believe God wants me to stay here. I am not having any souls saved."

"Oh," said one of the deacons, "we are greatly edified."

"Edified for what?" he asked. "You have been coming to me with such soothing compliments as that, and yet I don't see for what you have been edified. Now, brethren, unless God gives us some souls here very soon, I am going to resign the pastorate of this church. And I want to say something to you also. You are the elders of this church, and I am going to start with you. Brother," turning to one, "do you believe that through you a soul was ever saved?"

And the elder replied, "No, pastor."

"Do you?" to another.

"No, pastor."

"Do you?"

"No, pastor;" and so all along the line.

"Now, brethren," he said, "I want to make this proposition to you: that unless God gives this church souls in the near future, you will resign also as the elders of it."

"We are getting along very well," they said.

"No, we are not getting along at all!"

Finally they all knelt down and prayed together, and in that prayer, a covenant was made that they would resign if the Lord did not give souls in the near future. They went to their homes; it was Saturday night.

Monday morning, the elder first questioned by the pastor as to being instrumental in soul-saving, went into his store. The first man he met was his confidential clerk. He took him into his office, shut the door behind him, and said: "Bob, I have been a good master to you, haven't I?"

"Well, Bob, you have been with me for fifteen years. I am an elder in the church that you attend when you go anywhere. But you are not a Christian, and I know it, and have known it all the while, and yet I have never spoken a word to you about salvation personally. But, Bob, my soul is on fire now, and I want us to get down here in this room and give ourselves, both of us, to Christ. I will give myself to Him for greater consecration."

"Yes, sir; I will be only too glad to do it," and down they knelt. That man was saved. The elder called in another, and another, and another, and that one day he led eleven men to Christ. The next Sunday over thirty men were received into that church upon profession of faith, every one of them led to Jesus Christ by an official in the church who had up to that time never saved a soul.

We must realize the importance of the individual in this matter of soul-winning.—Elim Evangel.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Salutatory

Having been elected President of the conference for the ensuing year, we take this opportunity of bringing to you greetings and our request for prayer, co-operation and your sympathy.

The task before the church is not my task, nor their task, nor your task, but our task. It can never be solved by one or two or any less number of the group than all we have named. Let us visualize it for the year—it is a program that the Annual Conference shall give us; and it must be accepted in its entirety if we shall make a decent score in our efforts at the task.

All are called to a definite service. All must serve through the church. Let us recognize the call of our Lord and the need of our Church, and then every man serve according to his several ability.

We are submitting below schedule for First Quarterly Conferences, the place and the time are indicated; will all those who read this schedule, and who are effected by it please keep it for future reference.

President's Visitation to Quarterly Conferences
First Round

Nov. 28—10:30 A. M., Guilford; 2:30 P. M., Midway-Shady Grove.

Nov. 29—10:30, Kernersville; 2:30, Flat Rock.

Nov. 30—10:30, Gibsonville; 2:30, Haw River; night, Draper.

Dec. 1—10:30, Mt. Hermon; 2:30, Glen Raven.

Dec. 2—10:30, Saxapahaw; 2:30, Alamance.

Dec. 5—10:30, Mt. Pleasant; 2:30, Liberty; night, Siler City.

Dec. 6—10:30, Why Not; 2:30, Richland.

Dec. 7—10:30, Randolph; 2:30, Randleman.

Dec. 8—10:30, Tabernacle; 2:30, Moriah.

Dec. 9—10:30, Granville; 2:30, Vance.

Dec. 12—10:30, Chase City; 2:30, Greensville.

Dec. 13—10:30, Spring Church; 2:30, Littleton.

Dec. 14—10:30, Halifax; 2:30, Enfield.

Dec. 15—10:30, Creswell.

Nov. 28—10:30, Asheville; 2:30, Weaverville.

Nov. 29—10:30, Democrat (President's Representative).

Nov. 29—10:30, Anderson; 2:30, Yarborough.

Nov. 30—10:30, Midland; 2:30, Mecklenburg.

Dec. 1—10:30, Friendship; night, Roberta.

Dec. 2—night, Rockingham.

Dec. 5—night, Kannapolis.

Dec. 6—10:30, Pleasant Grove; 2:30, Shiloh; night, West Thomasville.

Dec. 7—10:30, North Davidson; 2:30, Davidson; night, Denton.

Dec. 8—night, Spencer.

Dec. 9—South Lexington.

(President's Representative)

Nov. 28—10:30, W. Forsyth; 2:30, Forsyth; night, South Winston.

Nov. 29—10:30, Mocksville.

Nov. 30—10:30, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion.

(President's Representative)

Nov. 28—10:30, Cleveland; 2:30, Fallston; night, Lincolnton.

Nov. 29—10:30, Bess Chapel; night, Shelby-Caroleen.

Nov. 30—10:30, Connelly Springs.

(President's Representative)

Fraternally,

R. M. Andrews, President.

CONFERENCE CALENDAR

November

Thanksgiving Offering for the Children's Home. (One day's wages from every wage earner. With millions of men and women out of work, we who have jobs ought to be thankful enough to share with the fatherless. All others to give at least a dollar to the Children's Home as a Thanksgiving gift.)

November 30 to January 11

"Seven Weeks for High Point College." Authorized by Conference in the hope that the College Maintenance Fund can be underwritten at this time. At least a dollar per member to help take care of the deficit in running expenses. High Point College is doing a wonderful work under great handicaps. Will you help make the burden easier?

(Note: The Conference Calendar Committee was elected at Conference to keep the churches informed as to the program, financial and otherwise, of conference activities throughout the year. This is the first installment. The Committee is composed of the President and the Secretary. C. W. B.)

—The Herald's very kind friend, Mr. Grenville Kleiser, literary man, responded to the appeal in last week's Herald with a check for fifty dollars for subscribers whose names he will send. We have never had the pleasure of seeing this kind friend, but we have again and again been made to feel the goodness of his heart. God bless him!

—The Herald would acknowledge its obligation to Brother E. L. Douglas for his splendid year's work as campaign manager for the Herald. Thouh he had against him constantly the low tide of economic depression he pushed through to relative success and kept alive good hope.

—The printers of the Herald plan to observe Thanksgiving holiday. In order to do this it is necessary that the Herald be mailed Wednesday instead of Thursday. Please mail copy for publication in next week's paper one day earlier than usual.

—Judge Teague of High Point made a very earnest address to the Burlington Annual Conference in the interest of High Point College. He has faith in both the college and the church and has reason for the faith that is in him.

KICKED FOR CHRIST'S SAKE

An evangelist said: A little girl of eight years was sent on an errand by her parents. While on her way, she was attracted by the singing of a Gospel meeting in the open air, and drew near. The conductor of the meeting was so struck with the child's earnestness that he spoke to her, and told her about Jesus. She did not know much about Him, but the gentleman told her of His love to her. On returning home her father asked her what had detained her. She told him, and he cruelly beat her, forbidding her to go to any such meeting again.

About a fortnight afterwards, she was so taken up with what she had previously heard of Jesus, that she forgot all about her message. She saw the same gentleman, who again told her about the Saviour. On her return home, she again told her father, as before, where she had been, and that she had not brought what she had been sent for, but she had brought Jesus. Her father was enraged, and kicked the poor little creature until the blood came. She never recovered from this brutal treatment.

Just before she breathed her last, she called her mother and said: "Mother, I have been praying to Jesus to save you and father." Then pointing to her little dress she said: "Mother, cut me a bit out of the blood-stained piece of my dress." The mother, wondering, did so. "Now," said the dying child, "Christ shed His blood for my sake, and I am going to take this to Jesus to show Him that I shed my blood for His sake." Thus she died, holding firmly the piece of her dress, stained with her own blood. The testimony of that dear child was the means of leading both father and mother to Christ.—Publisher Unknown.

A SERMON TO ONE MAN

The smallest congregation that ever listened to a sermon is one among the many interesting reminiscences now published in the career of Dr. Lyman Beecher.

The results of Dr. Beecher's sermon to a single listener deserve publication, if only as an encouragement to preachers who are depressed by the paucity of their hearers.

In the early part of his career he once engaged to preach in a remote district, peopled by a sparse and scattered population.

It was in midwinter; the day was unusually stormy and cold, and the snow lay so deep in some places that he could scarcely proceed. On his arrival, although the place was empty, he took his seat in the pulpit. Presently one man came in and sat down, and at the appointed hour the preacher began.

The service was closed, when the solitary hearer departed and left the preacher alone.

Twenty years ago, Dr. Beecher was traveling in Ohio when a stranger accosted him by name. "Do you remember preaching," said he, "twenty years ago to one man?" "Yes, yes," said the doctor, grasping his hand, "that I do; and if you are the man I have been wishing to see you ever since." "I am the man," was the reply, "and that sermon saved my soul and made a minister of me. The converts of that sermon, sir, are all over Ohio!"—Scattered Seed.

YOU CAN IF YOU WILL

A young man of high position in London, after his conversion realized that he ought to do some Christian work. He truly wished to help his fellow-men to Christ; but the difficulty was to think of something he could do, for his training had not included experience in or even knowledge of religious enterprises. He had no gift for personal appeal, and felt himself too young a learner in Christ's school to attempt to teach others.

But the eyes which are eagerly searching for chances to save souls God soon guides to success. You could never guess what he undertook. He took the place of a cab-driver, night after night on his round, so that the man might go to Moody's meetings. A young English gentleman could drive. That was a talent; and thus he put it out at usury.

You will not altogether wonder—though it was a vast result and not to have been expected, great as is the usual result from our poor efforts—that the cabman sought the Saviour and felt that he found Him during those meetings.—Publisher Unknown.

THE SUN AND THE LANTERN

I was walking full of gladness
'Neath the azure dome,
In the splendor of the noontide,
Heading straight for home.

In the sun which since creation
Through unnumbered years,
In its undiminished brightness
Still our planet cheers.

When a courteous stranger offered
To enhance my view,
From the candlelight which flickered,
In hs candle new,

"May I know thy name, kind stranger?"
"Modern thought," said he.
Said I, "When yon sun is finished,
I will send for thee!"

—Home Evangel.

CHRIST THE DOOR

For a good many years we have wondered why Christ mixed His figures in His parable of the Good Shepherd. At one place He calls Himself the Shepherd and at another the Door. A recent book explains it beautifully. It says: "A traveler in Palestine once had a conversation with a shepherd at work near a sheepfold, who showed him the various features of the fold. Thereupon the traveler remarked: 'You say, here is the sheepfold, there are the sheep, and this is the doorway; but where is the door?' 'The door?' asked the shepherd. 'I am the door. I lie across the entrance at night. No sheep can pass out, no wolf can come in, except over my body'." Beautiful, is it not? Christ did not mix His figures, after all. He is both the Shepherd and the Door.—Publisher Unknown.

AN EVENING MEDITATION

Jesus so loved me that He gave Himself to poverty, to suffering, to tears, and to death for me. Though He was rich for my sake He become poor, that through His poverty I might be rich. He left His Home in Glory, where God and angels dwell, and came down to earth to live a life of sorrows and tears and sufferings that I might have a Home in Heaven.

"Glory be to the Father,
And to the Son,
And to the Holy Spirit:
As it was in the beginning,
Is now and ever shall be,
World without end."

He left off the robe of His brightness, the robe of His glory with the Father, that I might have a garment of salvation, a robe of white, a crown of gold.

Jesus became poor for my sake. He had no place, no quiet chamber in which to sleep. Foxes had holes; birds of the air had nests, but Jesus had nowhere to lay His head —John G. Vance.

DON'T WORRY

There'll be others to fill your place,
  When your work on earth is completed:
There'll be others with equal grace;
  Your stock may be slightly depleted.
There'll be others with kings and queens to sup,
For the Lord will most surely raise them up;
          Don't worry!

There'll be some one with voice as strong,
  To lift in sincere testimony:
There'll be others to reap the grain,
  And to plow the land that is stony.
There'll be those perhaps, that your life inspired,
To take up the work when you are too tired;
          Don't worry!

There'll be others to stem the tide,
  You thought you were meeting lone-handed:
There'll be some to take the right side,
  Where'er true help is demanded.
There'll be some to care for the ones you love,
If you should precede them to realms above;
          Don't worry!

—John L. Perham.

DOING HIS BIT

A protracted meeting was being held in a school-house, and a great deal of interest was awakened, and the people came many miles by team. One man became greatly interested in the meetings. He was a good Christian man, but he had no gift for public speech. He could pray in private, but he made a stumbling time of it when he tried to pray in public. But he was wonderfully anxious to help on the meetings.

Finally he found a plan. He had a good team and a good sleigh, and he scoured the country for people who otherwise would not get to the meetings, and brought them to and fro behind his splendid trotters. He would invite people who were not Christians to come with him to the meetings, and then he would pray for them in his quiet but devoted way, and as they were converted, one after another, his face beamed with happiness. I never saw a man grow in spiritual joy more rapidly in my life than did that man; and well might he grow, for it was reckoned up at the close of the meeting, that that man—the quiet, silent man, as he was known, had, by the aid of his team, brought more than twenty people to Christ.—Full Gospel and Rescue Journal.

HE NEVER SAYS, "GOOD-BY"

He never leaves His people
  He ne'er forsakes His own;
He marks their path so lonely,
  Their wants to Him are known.
In sickness and in sorrow,
  He listens to their cry;
His arm is ever round them,
  He never says, "Good-by."

Earth's joys may all, all vanish,
  Earth's music cease to cheer;
Earth's brightness all be clouded,
  Earth's glory disappear.
Earth's friends may all forsake us,
E'en a mother comes not nigh;
But Jesus' presence fails not,
  He never says, "Good-by."

Our pathway may be rugged,
  And strewed with many a thorn;
But yet He spares its roughness,
  When we are faint and worn.
And then He takes His tired ones,
  His arm doth strength supply;
He will not leave them helpless,
  He never says, "Good-by."

—Author Unknown.

ONLY PARTIALLY CHRISTIAN

I came across a quotation recently, in one of the American magazines, to this effect:—"The charge that is brought against the Christian Church is not that it does not take itself seriously, nor that it does not sufficiently concern itself in social and public matters, but that it is so evidently content, both in its individual membership and in its corporate activities, to be only partially Christian."

These words form a striking indictment indeed of the Christian Church of which you and I are members. For when we speak about the Church let us remember that the Christian Church is just as really Christian as we are really Christian, neither more nor less.—Dr. Stuart Holden.

◆

—Park Place church, M. E., South, this city, has been merged with West Market Street church.

OUR STORY PAGE

BUTTERNUTS AND A BOY

"Dick, do you want a ride?" Molly called to her brother, hurrying along the street, as she slid in behind the wheel of the large car.

"Sure thing," Dick answered. "Just wait until I get my overcoat."

"Now aren't you glad this is Saturday afternoon?" Molly asked when at last Dick sprang into the car, sitting down comfortably beside her. "And," Molly went on, "that Aunt Ann is going out to the country hunting for butternuts."

"Where do you expect to find butternuts now?" Dick called back to Aunt Ann, who, wrapped in her warm coat and wearing a small hat pulled down close, looked ready for a long ride.

"I haven't the faintest idea," was the reply. "I am sure we shall find some place where we can buy them, but now we are just going."

Snow had been late in coming this year and the ride along the country roads was delightful, the clear air bringing roses into their cheeks.

"Look at that child," Aunt Ann called suddenly, "and the load he is carrying! Drive slowly, Molly, please."

Ahead of them trudged a little fellow who could not be more than eight years old. Over his shoulder was swung a bag filled to the top. As they came near, Molly brought the car to a stop and looking into dark-brown eyes lifted to hers, said, "If you are going far, wouldn't you like to ride?"

Hesitating, for the bag was heavy, the child looked at them gravely.

"My mother tells us we must never ride with strangers, but I don't think she would mind you, and anyway a girl is driving."

"Thanks for the compliment," Molly said, laughing, while Dick helped both boy and bag into the car, where he sank down on the seat by Aunt Ann.

"Are you going very far?" she asked gently.

"I never was in a car like this one," the child said irrelevantly. "I have only been in Dan's Lizzie."

Aunt Ann's lips twitched as she watched the eager face. "Have you much farther to go?" she asked again.

"I live a mile from that stone," the child replied, pointing to a large stone by the roadside. "You see," he ran on, "it is almost Thanksgiving Day, and my daddy will be home. He wasn't a year ago," and the sunny face clouded. "He was up in the mountains getting well."

"I have been down to Readon for some apples, so mother can make the pies daddy loves. Mr. Baine said if we could come for them we might have them."

"Two miles away," Aunt Ann thought, "and such a little boy."

"Then you will be all ready for Thanksgiving," she said. "I know daddy will enjoy the pies much more when he knows his little son went for the apples."

"We are not all ready," the child replied quickly. "Mother won't have Snoopy for our dinner if she can help it. You see," he went on, "Snoopy is a hen my little sister had given her a year ago. We built a little coop in the back yard and have fed her food we had left. You know, we cannot have a real turkey like the people who live in the big house just across the street, and Bethie said she would give Snoopy so daddy could have a real Thanksgiving," the little voice said soberly.

"Don't you think you could find a turkey somewhere?" Aunt Ann asked in a rather shaky voice.

"Oh, no!" came the quick reply. "Mother says we must not expect other people to help, and they don't know that daddy needed all the money to get well. Mother has been teaching some children music."

"What a mother!" Aunt Ann thought as she looked at the proudly lifted head beside her. "I wonder if you can tell us where we can find some butternuts," she whispered.

"I know just the place. I just know mother will let me go with you," the child said eagerly, "and there is my house," he called to Molly.

As Molly guided the car in front of a small but attractive-looking house a dainty, sweet-faced woman followed by a child with golden curls came quickly to the steps. wondering in her eyes as she looked at the strangers.

Springing from the car, Dick lifted his hat courteously and said, "We invited your son to ride, as we were coming his way."

"I remembered what you told me, mother," the child interrupted as he almost tumbled up the steps, "but they all looked so nice and then a girl was driving."

A shout of laughter, in which "mother" joined, relieved the situation.

"May we borrow him a little longer?" Aunt Ann asked as she introduced her party. "He tells me he knows where we can buy some butternuts. I am anxious to have some for Thanksgiving."

The delight of the child knew no bounds as he sprang into the seat beside Molly—"For you can tell us better where to go from there," Dick had said as he stepped back to sit with Aunt Ann.

After the search for butternuts had been rewarded and Aunt Ann had whispered something that had sent the child racing happily up the steps of his home again, Dick said as they passed the big house across the way, "Wouldn't you think there was plenty in that home so some of it might run across the street to that brave little woman?"

"Don't you know, Dick, that it is just her type of people that need and yet keep still?" Aunt Ann asked.

"Well," declared Molly, "you don't seem to have trouble in discovering some one besides yourself. I see where Snoopy will not be the sacrifice."

That evening while Dick was cracking butternuts "enough for an army," he looked at Aunt Ann smilingly. "How large will the turkey be, Aunt Ann? You will surely need my help in transportation," he said, chuckling. "Then with all the fixings for 'daddy' and all the rest, not forgetting Snoopy, you will fill the big car, I know."

With twinkling eyes Aunt Ann shook her head at the laughing Dick, while she repeated softly:

"It's the songs ye sing and the smiles ye wear That's makin' the sunshine everywhere."

"Then may I humbly prophesy that this will be a sunshiny Thanksgiving," Dick said as the last butternut fell to the already overfilled dish.—Zion's Herald.

GRANDPA'S BIBLE

Little Mary wanted to learn her Sunday School lesson. It was Saturday afternoon, and the time was passing; but she had been busy with her doll's dress, and the lesson was yet unlearned. At length her older sister took a Bible from the bureau, and said:

"Come, Mary, I will help you learn your lesson, and you can go back to your play." Mary came to her sister's side ready to begin her lesson, when she suddenly began:

"Sister, let us study out of grandpa's Bible."

"But what difference can it make?"

"Why, grandpa's Bible is so much more interesting than yours."

"Oh, no, Mary; they are just the same, exactly."

"Well," replied the observing child, "I really think grandpa's must be more interesting than yours; he reads it so much more."

There are a good many young persons who would do well to get a look at grandpa's Bible. Possibly if they would scrutinize it carefully they would find something in it that they have never found in their own; and if they would pray as the Psalmist, "Open Thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy Law," they would find readings never discovered.—Publisher Unknown.

THE DELAYED THANKSGIVING DINNER

"Come, Miles! Come, Miranda! Come, Ellen!" called Father Bradstreet one morning many years ago. "Wake up, this is Thanksgiving!"

The little Bradstreet children opened their eyes and sprang out of bed quickly, for Thanksgiving morning meant driving over to Grandfather Bradstreet's and eating Thanksgiving dinner with all the cousins and the aunts and uncles. They started at 7 o'clock, and a two-hours' drive brought them to grandfather's in time to go to church, then home to grandfather's for the family dinner, and games in the afternoon. After a bountiful supper they started for home, arriving there late at night tired, but happy, with one more pleasant memory to last them all their lives.

But when little Miranda and Ellen jumped out of bed this morning, they looked sadly out of the window.

"Oh, dear!" cried Miranda. "It is snowing!"

"Oh!" wailed little Ellen, "perhaps we cannot go to grandmother's!"

Miles had already run downstairs to find father. Mother was in the kitchen getting breakfast by lamplight, for this was before the days of gas and electric lights.

"Father has gone to the barn," said she, "to harness the sleigh. It has been snowing all night, but we think we can get to grandfather's in time for dinner and we shall plan to stay all night."

Just then father came into the kitchen. "I think the storm is growing worse," he said. "Perhaps we ought not to go, but we have never missed Thanksgiving at father's yet. Hurry through breakfast as fast as you can, and we will try, anyway. Dolly is all harnessed and everything is ready to start."

Mother and the two little girls flew around clearing away the breakfast, while father and Miles brought the sleigh around to the front door.

"In with you!" said father. "Mother beside me, and you children can sit in the hay at the bottom of the sleigh. I have filled it so it will be soft, and I have put horse blankets over it."

In a few minutes they were all settled, ready for the long ride. Father Bradstreet picked up the reins and away they went.

The snow was deep and old Dolly had to go very slowly. Not a person did they meet as they went through the village.

Mother looked anxious. "Perhaps we should not have gone," she said as they left the village and turned into the wood road.

"We will be all right," said father. "I feel as if we must go. Grandfather and grandmother would worry if we did not come."

The three children in the bottom of the sleigh were having a fine time. The straw kept them warm and they pulled the blankets over them like a tent to keep out the snow. Little Ellen cuddled between Miles and Miranda and fell asleep, but the other children listened to the storm.

A bad storm it was. Old Dolly struggled bravely through the drifts, but she went very slowly, and soon the two children began to worry. "Suppose we should not get to grandfather's in time for dinner," said Miles. "They won't expect us in such a storm."

"Perhaps they will wait for us," said Miranda hopefully. "It isn't so very far, and father would not have started if he did not think old Dolly could make it all right." Then they sat silent under the blankets and listened to the wind roaring and howling over their heads.

They had gone a little over four miles when Dolly, struggling along through the drifts, gave a sudden plunge into a drift, and snap! went the harness.

Father Bradstreet jumped out and tried to mend it, but he had nothing to work with. After a little while he said to mother: "I shall have to leave you here while I ride old Dolly to grandfather's and get help. Cuddle under the blankets with the children, and you will be all right until I come back. That old pine by the road keeps off some of the wind. This couldn't have happened in a better place."

So saying, he climbed on old Dolly's back and rode away, while mother and the three children cuddled down in the hay and blankets and listened to the wind blowing through the pines.

Soon Ellen and Miranda began to cry; but mother, in spite of their strange surroundings, managed to tell them stories. After a long time they heard somebody coming, and, peeping from under the blankets, they saw father and Uncle Elmer and three other men driving a yoke of oxen hitched to a big sled. Father put mother and the children on it, still wrapped in blankets, and left the sleigh in the road.

"We will mend the harness and come back for the sleigh when the storm is over," said Uncle Elmer. "I think it will be the first of the week before you can get home again." Then he handed mother a basket.

"We were just sitting down to dinner," he said, "when old Dolly came into the yard. Grandmother packed a few things quickly to keep you from being too hungry, and told me to tell you that we would have our Thanksgiving dinner at 3 o'clock instead of at one, as she had planned."

How good the sandwiches and cakes grandmother had sent did taste! And although the oxen were slow, they went along steadily, and long before it was 3 o'clock the little Bradstreet children and their parents were safe at grandfather's.

Then, with all the aunts and the cousins, they sat down to dinner; and all agreed it was worth while waiting to hear of the adventure which had delayed their Thanksgiving dinner.—Emma Florence Bush, in The Christian Register.

HUMILITY

A Persian Shepherd, Ayaz, was very devoted and faithful to King Mahmoad. He was at last honored by the King, who raised him to the exalted position of Prime Minister. This did not, as is often the case with men, make him proud and oppressive, but he felt greatly the King's goodness.

All the other officers of state greatly resented the act of the King and were very angry that a shepherd should have this high honor. They protested to His Majesty, "He is not of noble birth and he is now above us." But the King gave the reply, "He is my most faithful and trustworthy servant and that is why I honor him."

Their jealousy—cruel as the grave—sought every occasion against Ayaz, but, as in the case of Joseph and Daniel, they found none. At last, they noticed that he went once a week to a little room which he kept locked, and shut himself in for an hour. At once their envious hearts surmised evil! How easy it is to allow our hearts to carry us away and suppose evil in another, instead of (as the Scripture enjoins) "thinking no evil" and "hoping all things." These Persian nobles at once repaired to the King and told him they were certain he was making a hoard of the King's jewels and precious things. The monarch did not believe it, but at last yielded to their request, and authorized them to break into the room and search.

Filled with animosity and expectation they at once carried out the King's command, but upon search all that they found was an old pair of shoes and a Shepherd's garb. These they brought to the king, chagrined and puzzled at their discovery. The king called Ayaz and asked him to explain why he visited the room once a week. He replied, "These are the shoes and dress I wore as a shepherd, and I open the bundle and look once a week, lest I forget what I once was, and how unworthy I am of all the honor and kindness the king has shown me."

"Before honour is humility," say the Scriptures, and the Word of the Lord to Israel through Moses was, "Thou shalt remember." What have any of us that we have not received? No one can take credit for anything possessed; all comes from the hand of a beneficent Giver, to whom be all the praise! And it was not for anything we were, or possessed, or had done, that the blessed God, lavished His kindness upon us. We read, "God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Rom. 5:8). Salvation, we are told, is "not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph. 2:9). And when saved, how unbecoming to exalt self. The One who by His own right could claim the highest place, took the lowest, and "being found in fashion as a man, He humbled Himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the Cross" (Phil. 2:8).

And shall we, for whom He died, vaunt ourselves, unmindful of the depths of degradation from which grace raised us? Nay, rather let us ever, like the Persian Prime Minister Ayaz, continually remind ourselves that whatever we have or are, we owe to grace—the free grace of God!

"Forbid it, Lord, that we should boast
  Save in the Cross of Christ, our Lord,
All the vain things that charm us most,
  We'd sacrifice them to His Blood."

—Milk of the Word.

DO IT NOW

If you have a task to do,
  Do it now,
Give the very best in you,
  Do it now.
Do not stop to theorize,
Nor to weakly temporize,
Time like opportunity flies,
  Do it now.

If you have a bill to pay,
  Pay it now.
Don't postpone another day,
  Pay it now.
Debt allowed to drag along,
Tends to make your life all wrong,
Keep your credit good and strong,
  Pay it now.

If you have something to give,
  Give it now.
Cash to help a fellow live,
  Give it now.
Hoarding is a miser's way,
Dividends it can not pay,
Make today a giving day,
  Give it now.

—Grenville Kleiser in Grit Story Section.

—Mrs. J. S. Williams of Asheville was a visitor at the Annual Conference.

—A field for Methodist co-operation in our state has been found in training schools for young people's work.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for November 20, 1932

OUR BLESSINGS—THANKSGIVING

Scripture Text: Psalm 145

Leader's Talk

All of us at times feel our inability to express our gratitude as we would like to. Our heart would express more than our tongue and lips can utter. Let us use the words of Peter: "If any man suffer as a Christian let him rejoice and be exceeding glad." Even sorrow and sickness are not empty of blessings. They often give opportunity for quiet reflection and meditation. It, too, often draws us into a sweeter and closer relation to God. The true basis of a thankful heart does not consist in the abundance of things which a man possesses. The basis of true thoughtfulness rest upon our recognition of God as the Great Giver. Open the door of your hearts and let the sunlight of God's love purify your heart and the songs of thanksgiving will burst forth.

How much we have for which to be thankful! Let us think more concerning these things. And it follows "as does the day the night" that we shall be more thankful.

Quotable Poetry

THANKSGIVING

For the day when nothing happens;
  For the cares that leave no trace;
For the love of little children;
  For each sunny dwelling place;
For the altars of our fathers,
  And the closets where we pray—
Take, O gracious God and Father,
  Praises this Thanksgiving Day.

For our harvests safe ingathered;
  For our goldern store of wheat;
For the bowers and the vinelands;
  For the flowers upspringing sweet;
For our coasts from want protected;
  For each inlet, river, bay—
By the bounty full and flowing,
  Take our praise this joyful day.

For the hours when heaven is nearest
  And the earth-mood does not cling;
For the very gloom oft broken
  By our looking for the King;
By our thought that He is coming,
  For our courage on the way—
Take, O Friend, unseen, eternal,
  Praises this Thanksgiving Day.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

Suitable Songs

"Bringing in the Sheaves," "Praise Him, Praise Him," "There Shall Be Showers of Blessing," "God Will Take Care of You," "Count Your Blessings," "America the Beautiful."

OLA STAFFORD, Vice-Pres.

◆

METAL WALLPAPER

A metal wallpaper has appeared on the market recently. It is not merely metal-coated, but actually made of a thin sheet of aluminum supported by paper. The advantage of such paper is that when it becomes soiled it can be restored to its original luster merely by rubbing it with a dampened cloth. —Exchange.

THE ELECTION AND THE CHURCH

By William T. Ellis

Staggering significance must be attached to the recent American Presidential election. All sorts of grave meanings are being seen in it by the secular press. But for the Christian Church there is one outstanding import of it all: an overwhelming majority of the people are seeking a better way of life. Their number is far greater than Governor Roosevelt's impressive majority. Even the least thoughtful person cannot escape the truth that the American mood is one of desire for change. The nation is profoundly dissatisfied with things as they are—and that discontent embraces the whole post-war scheme of life.

Such open-mindedness and unrest as the election revealed are a clear call to the Church. The people have said, in effect, "We are not satisfied. We want a better way of life. Perhaps a change of administrations will help. Anyway, we'll try it; for we are ready to follow any path that seems to be a way out."

At the best, as Governor Roosevelt would be the first to declare, political remedies can go only part of the way in effecting a new national order. The deeper remedies lie within the minds and hearts of the people. Here the Church and the School must take up the task.

Not since the war has the Church been given such an opportunity. Open-minded, unsatisfied, questing, the people are plainly ready to take any steps that will lead them toward the New Day.

If the Church is wise and courageous AND PROMPT, those steps will be toward the houses of worship, where the essential Way of Life is set forth, Sunday after Sunday.

I am not here proposing any new "movement" or organization: we are too heavily encumbered with such already. True, there should be swift action in the emergency by official religious leadership; but more important, and more effective, will be the measures taken by individual pastors and local church boards. These last should sit immediately in special deliberation upon measures to be taken in their own parishes to meet this magnificent opportunity.

What are some of these measures?, Well, doubtless a few of the more alert and outspoken bodies will take time to rebuke the religious "leaders" who acted as political campaigners, and diverted many channels of religious expression, and some national Christian organizations, to partisan purposes. Their impotency, as shown by the vote, should be a chastening experience. David should have had more sense than to try to wear the armor of Saul. The Church's weapons must ever be spiritual, and not carnal.

That for an important aside. Most urgently, the local church officials should give themselves to a consideration of measures for getting the people to attend church services. That is the first step; for only so can the old Message that is the sure word for the new times ever reach the ears of the people. A concerted activity to promote church-going should sweep the land. All emphasis upon other more general interests, such as have too greatly engrossed the ministry of late, should be sidetracked to make way for the special express train called "Go to Church."

Methods are many, and may be left to local devising and to the interchange of experience. Probably no method will ever be an improvement upon the old one of personal invitation by church members themselves. Is it too optimistic to envisage a nation-wide "Go to Church" canvass, locally inspired and directed?

But what will the people find if they do go to church? Will they be welcomed to warm Christian hospitality and fellowship? Will there be reality and vitality in the worship? May they be sure of hearing words of life from the pulpit—a clear presentation of the Gospel of comfort and counsel and joy, and of God's great love? Discourses about books and about politics and about international affairs and about the Mooney case, and such like, make poor pabulum for hungry and weary spirits. What men and women eagerly desire today is inspiring truth about God, and what He may mean to theier lives. The Good News which transformed the early Christians is what this present seeking world most desires.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

CHANGE IN MISS HODGES' APPOINTMENTS

Miss Hadges' appointments are as you saw in Herald of last week except for District IX. The two days given to them have been added to District X, making it December 12-15 with Mrs. E. L. Douglas. District XV, Mrs. B. L. Heavener, Cherryville, R. F. D. No. 3, would like to have Miss Hodges. I hope this can be arranged.

Miss Hodges will be in the state at work when you read this, but let's all pray for her that she may bring to us the things most needful. Chairmen, don't forget to help your pastor and Sunday school to put over the thank-offering for our Children's Home next week.

MRS. H. C. NICHOLSON,
Chairman of Districts.

◆

MISS HODGES COMING

Hear Miss Hodges at the following churches in District No. 3:

Efland M. P. church, Friday, November 25, 4 p. m.

Mebane, Friday, November 25, at night.

Saxapahaw, Saturday, November 26, at night.

Rock Creek, Sunday, November 27, 11 a. m.

Mount Hermon, Sunday, November 27, 2:30 p. m.

Graham M. P. church, Sunday, November 27, at night.

This is a rare opportunity we have of hearing a woman who has been so successful in the mission field. Be sure to hear her.

MRS. H. A. GARRETT,
District Chairman.

Poems for Today

By GRENVILLE KLEISER

LINES TO A YOUTH

You'll go to school and college,
Spend years with book and pen,
To acquire an education—
Yes, I know, but what then?

You'll enter into business,
Do things within your ken,
Become, perchance, employer—
Yes, I know, but what then?

You'll pile up ready money,
In millions, say plus ten,
Call it quite successful—
Yes, I know, but what then?

You'll travel the world over,
Around and back again,
Your ambition fully gratified—
Yes, I know, but what then?

You'll amass a varied lot of things,
Win encomiums from men,
But some day you may ask yourself—
Yes, I know, but what then?

THE ROAD

The long road, the short road,
The road we all must wend;
The road that leads to somewhere,
Leads to the journey's end.

The plain road, the vague road,
Where men and women go
With eager, hopeful, rapid pace,
Or leaden steps and slow.

The high road, the low road,
The path of joy or pain;
The pilgrimage to somewhere,
That never turns again.

The path of bowers and sunshine,
But few will tread that way;
For most the path is stony,
The sky o'ercast and grey.

By long road or short road,
A road that all must wend,
We'll surely meet at somewhere
That marks our journey's end.

HAVE FAITH!

Be wise!
Use well the present day.
Clear purpose and resolve
Will always find a way.

Be brave!
High courage knows no fear.
The good you do right now
Brings conquest ever near.

Be true!
Don't swerve or idly shirk.
Life's prizes are conferred
On men who nobly work.

Be strong!
There's something great to do.
Have faith and really know
That God will see you through.

TO STUFF OR NOT TO STUFF!

To stuff, or not to stuff:
That is the question
Whether 'tis nobler
To gormandize
And suffer indigestion,
Or take the biologic way
And end the aches
And the thousand tragic shocks
That flesh is heir to—
'Tis an amelioration
Devoutly to be wished.

Who would grunt and sweat,
Under a weary life,
Consuming ham and sausage,
Bacon and trichina worms,
Liver, lobster, livestock,
And ten million other germs,
When all around
Are luscious fruits, legumes, dates,
Honey, figs and wholesome things,
To fill your life with joy
As when the robin sings?
Alas! false appetite makes cowards
Of us all
As for forbidden foods
We daily sigh,
And thus our best intentions
Are oft turned all awry.

To eat aright, digest, enjoy,
And sleep like new-born babe,
This surely is worth-while,
When by simple, biologic means
We learn to live fourscore and smile.

WORDS

Trade words, made words, fit for money mart,
Rude words, feud words, rending men apart,
Bright words, right words, gracing printer's art.
Words of every shade and meaning.

True words, new words, radiating light,
Calm words, psalm words, putting grief to flight,
Wise words, prize words, pleading for the right,
Words of every shade and meaning.

Queer words, mere words, wasting precious life,
Mean words, keen words, sharp as whetted knife,
Barbed words, garbed words, urging men to strife,
Words of every shade and meaning.

Pale words, frail words, slender as a vine,
Long words, strong words, made to glow and shine,
Just words, trust words, breathing love divine,
Words of every shade and meaning.

Play words, gay words, used by passing throng,
Best words, jest words, found in speech and song,
Straight words, great words, overwhelming wrong;
Words of every shade and meaning.

MENTAL POISE

When you feel like saying something
That you know you will regret,
Or keenly feel an insult
Not quite easy to forget,
That's the time to curb resentment
And maintain a mental peace,
For when your mind is tranquil
All your ill-thoughts simply cease.

It is easy to get angry
When derided or defied,
To be peeved and disappointed
If your wishes are denied;
But to win a worth-while battle
Over selfishness and spite,
You must learn to keep strict silence
Tho you know you're in the right.

So keep your mental balance
When confronted by a foe,
Be it enemy in ambush
Or some danger that you know.
If you are poised and tranquil
When all around is strife,
Then you have truly mastered
The most vital thing in life.

OLD SONGS BEST

I like the old songs best,
They mean so much to me,
Their sympathetic sentiment
And tuneful melody.
Songs of home and childhood,
Songs of sweethearts true,
Songs of joy and sadness,
Songs forever new.

"When You and I Were Young, Maggie,"
"Silver Threads Among the Gold,"
"Then You'll Remember Me,"
"Sweetest Story Ever Told,"
And then "Come Back to Erin,"
"The Little Gray Home in the West,"
And many other tender themes—
I like the old songs best.

So many of the old songs
Bring scenes of bygone years.
Some, of happy memories;
Others, sighs and tears.
Songs of life and lovers,
Songs that make you blue,
Songs of light and shadow,
Songs forever new.

GOD STILL SUPREME

Bleak though the night,
Soon dawns the day;
Banish base fear,
Love lights the way.

Be not dismayed,
Though tempest-tossed;
Right will prevail,
All is not lost.

Be strong of heart,
Joyously sing;
God is not bankrupt,
Christ is still King.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Orange Charge.—Announcements: Thanksgiving offerings will be received for our Children's Home at the following times and places: Efland, Sunday, November 20th, 11 a. m.; Union Grove, same day, 3 p. m.; Hebron, Sunday, November 27th, 11 a. m.; Chestnut Ridge, same day, 3 p. m.

These will be the first regular appointments at these churches for the new Conference year. Please prepare to make these offerings as large as possible.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

* * *

West Forsyth.—The 105th session of the Annual Conference is now history. It was one of the most harmonious and enjoyable the writer has ever attended. According to its action we are assigned to West Forsyth charge for the fifth consecutive year, and we are glad to labor for and with the people of the charge for another year. The insistent demand for our return on the part of the people and the delegate is very greatly appreciated.

According to and in compliance with the Annual Conference program outlined by the newly-elected president, Dr. R. M. Andrews, and adopted by the Conference for early quarterly conferences, the West Forsyth charge will meet in the first quarterly conference at Baltimore church on Monday, November 28, at 10:30 a. m. The date for this conference was fixed by the president of the Annual Conference in order to enable him to meet with the rural charges in this section of the state in a series of quarterly conferences. We trust that the people will respond to this call and be present.

The first appointment for the new Conference year will be at Pleasant Hill church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

* * *

First Church, Burlington.—The North Carolina Conference was held in this church November 9-14. The one hundred and fifth session of the conference was opened Wednesday morning. From the opening of the conference through the closing sessions the attendance was exceedingly large, especially at the evening sessions.

Monday evening a program of music rendered by the High Point College choir, with Professor E. B. Stimson in charge, was enjoyed by a well-filled house. The three regular sesions were held Thursday. With Mrs. W. C. Hammer, president of the N. C. Branch of Women's Work, in charge; a very interesting program was given. The children from the Children's Home gave a program of songs and recitations. A pageant, "The Challenge," was given by the young people of Mount Pleasant church. The church was filled to its capacity for this occasion.

Rev. J. T. Whitehead, president of the Conference Council of Religious Education, presided over the evening session Friday. At this session a very realistic pageant, "Jehovah-Jireh," was given by the C. E. Society of High Point College. One of our own boys, Rev. F. L. Gibbs, executive secretary of the Department of Religious Education of the Board of Education, delivered a most helpful as well as interesting address. Just two sessions were held Saturday. The evening session was omitted.

The Sunday school was well attended Sunday morning, having 427 present. The church was again filled to its capacity for the preaching service Sunday morning; Dr. F. W. Paschall, pastor. The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. T. M. Johnson, D. D., pastor of Mount Pleasant charge. Those ordained were: R. L. Vickery, J. L. Love, H. M. Bell, Charles Grant, and E. O. Peeler. A memorial service in honor of the following who have passed into the great beyond during the year: Sister Garrett, widow of Rev. J. N. Garrett; and Rev. R. E. Andrews was held Sunday afternoon.

The C. E. Society was well attended, having as guests several of the Conference delegates. Under the leadership of Miss Peggy Hinshaw a very interesting program was enjoyed.

A very intimate friend of Dr. Paschall's delivered the evening sermon, Rev. C. W. Bates. The many hearers of Mr. Bates were greatly inspired by the message he brought in this session.

Monday's sessions brought the Conference to a close.

REPORTER.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—Owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. R. I. Farmer, at Conference there were no worsrip services in First church last Sunday, but the Sabbath school met at 9:45 under the leadership of the new superintendent, Mr. John C. Whitesell. There have been some changes in the personnel of teachers, Judge Lewis E. Teague having assumed duty with A. M. Idol Philathea Class, and owing to the resignation of Prof. W. F. McCanless as teacher of the Aunt Lizzie Welch class, Mrs. C. L. Whitaker has taken charge in his stead.

The Young People's C. E. Society held their weekly meeting as usual on Sunday at 6:30 p. m.

The Woman's Auxiliary met in monthly business session Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Alex M. Rankin, Church street, with associate hostesses as follows: Mesdames Lewis Teague, E. L. Auman, and Miss Mary Lyndon. Mrs. June Gray was in charge of the program, and for opening devotional service Mrs. J. H. Allred sang very sweetly, "Oh for the touch of His Hand on Mine," followed by prayer led by Miss Young of the College. The theme of the program being "Hands of Jesus," Mrs. L. R. Peacock read very effectively "When I read that sweet story of old," and Miss Young read a plea for our colleges by Rev. F. L. Gibbs, associate secretary of Christian Education, entitled "They Also Serve." Minutes of last meeting and those of the Executive Board on Monday, November 7th at the home of Mrs. E. L. Douglas, were read by the secretary, Mrs. R. W. Riggins. The treasurer, Mrs. Wade Marlette, reported a balance of $207.00. The Auxiliary has sent $10.00 for Mr. Minnis' salary. It was announced that Miss Olive Hodges will be in High Point December 12-13, and plans to be present at the next Auxiliary meet with Mrs. Geo. T. Penny on Greensboro Road. The Auxiliary voted to give a barbecue supper about the first of January. At the close of the session, the hostesses served tea and cakes to the 45 members present.

The executive committee of the City C. E. Union will meet at First church Tuesday evening at 7:30, according to announcement by Miss Ida Guyer, president.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pickett are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter on Sunday, November 6, at High Point Hospital. This little lady will bear the appropriate name of Frances for her grandmother, Mrs. W. P. Pickett. Congratulations are extended by a host of friends to the Councilman and his popular wife.

We are much gratified to note that Mrs. W. C. Hammond has recovered from her recent illness, and on Monday assumed her work again as secretary of the Board of Public Welfare of the city. During her absence from her office in Municipal Hall Mrs. Kent Nance has had charge of her work.

The congregation is delighted to welcome Rev. R. I. Farmer upon his return by Conference as pastor here for the fourth year. The appointment of Dr. S. W. Taylor, late president of the Annual Conference, to Lebanon church gives much pleasure to a large number of friends of this estimable and charming family, for they will remain in our community. Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Andrews and family will be heartily welcomed anew as they return here after an absence of two years. Dr. J. D. Williams was returned to Welch Memorial, and Rev. C. B. Hill to English Street church.

The annual budget campaign for Y. M. C. A. will be launched tomorrow (Tuesday) at a breakfast at 7:30 a. m. at the annex of the Friends church. Mr. Charles L. Amos is the general in charge, and the following will represent First church in this campaign: Rev. R. I. Farmer is a captain with aides as follows: Messrs. R. H. Shaw, John C. Whitesell, Arnold J. Koonce, R. W. Riggins, Ed Koonce, F. R. Auman, J. H. Jennings, E. L. Auman, D. A. Dowdy, Coke Cecil, Clyde Pugh, and James Moffitt.

The American Business Club, composed of young business men of the city, is sponsoring a play, "Dover Road," by local talent and directed by Miss Adele Hicks, which will be presented on Thursday and Friday evenings, November 17 and 18, in Junior High School auditorium. Special scenery is being designed by a member of the faculty of high school, Mr. John Parker, who has studied and worked with the Carolina Playmakers under Dr. Frederick H. Koch, of State University. The play promises to be a great success, and the proceeds will be given toward the completion of the gymnasium at High Point College.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Mebane, of Rome, Ga., and their daughter, Rena, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Vuncannon at 810 Broad street, Mr. Mebane beieng a brother of Mrs. Vuncannon. Their father, Johh A. Mebane, of Elon College, is spending the winter with his daughter, Mrs. Vuncannon.

Rev. R. I. Farmer was entertained during Conference in the hospitable home of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Goley at Graham, who are pleasantly remembered here, having been residents of this city at one time, and Mrs. Farmer and the children, Mary Elizabeth and Joseph, spent Sunday with him in their home and that of their son, Dr. Willard C. Goley.

Judge Lewis E. Teague went to Burlington Thursday morning, and addressed the Annual Conference in behalf of High Point

College. A number of our people also attended the sessions of Conference at different times. Miss Mary Young coached the young people for the pageant, "Jehovah Jireh," which received many compliments. The Children's Home group rendered a splendid program, and their presentations are always proficient and entertaining. Dr. Dixon urged everybody to remember Thanksgiving Day as the day when a day's wages or income is due the family there. Dr. Humphreys made a strong and eloquent plea for the college.

Upon the retirement of Dr. Samuel W. Taylar from the presidency of the North Carolina Conference, we wish to speak a word of praise and commendation for his successful and happy administration, especially during a time of stress and confusion. He has proven an admirable and faithful executive, and his loyal and efficient work will be long remembered by the denomination throughout North Carolina. In all of it he has enjoyed the faithful co-operation of his congenial wife, who has been truly a helpmeet indeed.

Mrs. S. S. Coe will make an address before the Ray Street Parent-Teacher Association at the school Wednesday afternoon. She is a member of the Parent-Teacher Council, and her subject on this occasion will be "The Child's Appetite."

To the gratification of many friends, Mr. and Mrs. Holt McPherson, who have been in Burlingtotn a few weeks, have moved back to High Point.

Mrs. Clyde Cox and Clyde, Jr., have returned home from a visit to Mrs. O. R. Cox in Asheboro.

Dean P. E. Lindley went to Lexington Tuesday evening to deliver an address in the Baptist church.

Mrs. R. T. Pickens, Sr., and daughter, Lucille, drove to Asheboro Sunday to visit the family of William J. Armfield.

◆

Calvary Church.—Although we deeply regret that the honor of presidency could not be conferred upon our pastor, Dr. C. W. Bates, we are both happy and proud to have him with us again. Many of us think that his extreme modesty concerning this exalted position has kept him from taking that place. A number of our people attended Conference regularly, while quite a delegation of ladies were present on Thursday for the reports and programs on missions.

Rev. John Cowell, of Fayetteville, delivered a wonderful message this past Sunday morning in the absence of our pastor, who was attending Conference.

Tuesday night of this week the young ladies class, of which Mrs. Bates is teacher, had its monthly meeting at the Booth home, with Misses Huldah Booth and Sallie Lou Minor as hostesses. Aside from the regular business sesion a lingerie and linen shower was given for Miss Crickmore, of the Children's Home, who is to be married Friday. Several plans were made for coming events to take place between this and the Christmas meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Bates.

We are glad to report that Miss Ila Burrow is recuperatitng nicely from a tonsilar operation of last Saturday; however, she will be at the Rankin home on Caldwell street for the remainder of the week.

Several of our members have been sick with colds during the past week and we are hoping to see them all out again soon.

We are indeed sorry to hear that our friend and neighbor, Mr. Roddy Woodburn, is quite ill at his home on Asheboro street.

Circle No. 2 of the church Auxiliary will have a cake and candy window in the Watson building, opposite O. Henry Drug Store No. 1, on Saturday, November 19th.

Mrs. Roddy Swaim, of Liberty, is spending this week with her daughters, Mesdames Otis Campbell and M. H. Greer.

V. SULLIVAN, Assistant Reporter.

◆

Winston, First.—At the request of Dr. A. G. Dixon I am giving the program as rendered in the closing 15 minutes of the Sunday school of the First M. P. Church in Winston-Salem on Sunday, November 6.

Song.

A poem.

Duet.

Brief history of the Children's Home and what it is today.

What the Octagon Coupons will buy.

Collection of Octagon Coupons which had been brought in response to a various request.

Prayer.

This program was worked out and put on by our new superintendent, Mr. B. K. Millaway.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON CHILDREN'S HOME

Just to remind our pastors and delegates, and to call attention to all the readers of the Herald to Conference action, we are asking the editor to publish the recommendations adopted by the Annual Conference relative to the campaign for the Children's Home. Just eight days were set apart for this campaign, which means that the Conference wished its people to put on a snappy, quick and earnest appeal for the Home for those days and get it out of the way so other work would not be delayed.

Committee Report

The trustees of the Home appointed a special committee, consisting of Dr. R. M. Andrews, Rev. N. G. Bethea, Mr. J. D. Ross, and Mesdames W. C. Hammer, H. C. Nicholson, T. L. Speas, and C. W. Bates. This committee held a meeting with all members present and submitted the following to the Annual Conference, and it was unanimously adopted:

"We are moved by a sense of profound gratitude to Almighty God for the success which has attended the labors of our workers in the Home this year. The health of all has been good; the deportment of the children acceptable; the crops from our farm have made a very good yield, and there has been made a satisfactory showing in the finances of the Home, considering the depression. Dr. Dixon and his helpers have shown great economy in keeping the deficit so small during these years when the income has declined so much. And but for the debt in operating expenses which was inherited by Superintendent Dixon when he went there, there would be no need for this special appeal for aid. But this debt has become a source of considerable annoyance. The creditors of the Home want their money, they need it in their business, and while kind in their attitude, they have let Dr. Dixon know that they are looking to him for payment.

"Therefore your committee feels that for the best interest of the Church as well as of the Home, these obligations should be paid at the earliest possible date. We therefore recommend:

"1. That an appeal be made to all who have been contributing an amount equal to a day's wage to continue it, and that all others who possibly can do so join them this year. This custom was established many years ago, and we heartily recommend its continuance.

"2. That those who for any reason cannot, or will not, contribute a day's income be urged to give at least one dollar, and that the goal for every church in the North Carolina Conference be set for one dollar per member for our gifts to the Home this Thanksgiving; and that any and all who cannot give as much as one dollar be asked to make a silver offering, which is to apply on the goal of one dollar per church member, in order that all our people may share in raising the indebtedness against the Home for operating expenses.

"3. That the president of the Annual Conference, all pastors and Sunday school superintendents and other leaders in our churches be urged to lay the needs of the Home upon the hearts of our people throughout the Conference; that a faithful effort shall be made by all our people in this campaign.

"4. We recommend that the period for this campaign be set for November 20 to 27 inclusive, and that this be a week of prayer for the Home while the offerings are being received.

"5. Further, that every church in our Conference be requested to hold a "Get-Together Meeting' in the interest of th Home during the Conference year at which time the interests and claims of the Home shall be presented to the membership, said meetings to be under the direction of the pastors who shall prepare programs and set dates for the meetings; that Dr. Dixon shall furnish to our pastors such data as shall be necessary for the information of our people as to the real condition of the Home.

"6. That the Chairmen of the Districts of the Women's Work together with the Chairmen of the Annual Conference Districts shall see that the plans and purposes of this campaign shall be presented in every church, as nearly as possible at the time set forth.

"Respectfully submitted,
"R. M. ANDREWS, Chairman,
"MRS. H. C. NICHOLSON, Sec'y."

In the above the Annual Conference asked all its members to join heartily in a campaign to raise sufficient funds at Thanksgiving to clear up current indebtedness—that definite amounts be asked of our people, the day's income, one dollar, a silver offering;

That a definite time be given to this campaign, November 20 to 27, inclusive, and that an effort be made to get ALL our people to contribute;

That all pastors, Sunday school superintendents, and other church leaders, help to direct the campaign;

That during this period, or at some other time, get-together meetings be held in the interest of the Home. This means that at some appropriate time each church is asked to hold one meeting in which the interests of the Home may be put before the people;

That all of you pray for the Home.

We know that we have the interest of all our people, and we are looking forward to the offerings of this Thanksgiving with confidence that our people are going to do their very best to help the Home out of its present difficult situation.

God bless every one of you. All of us, children and all, are praying for the blessings of God upon you.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

NOTE: The data referred to in the above report may be summed up about like this: There are 107 children in the Home to be fed and clothed and sent to school. There are seven workers, making a family of 114 to care for daily.

One year ago we reported to Conference a deficit in running expenses of about $7,000.00. Last week we reported to Conference a deficit of only about $6,500.00. We received for the Conference year $3,585.92 less than the year before, and yet we held down the current expenses until we reduced the deficit by $500.00 for the year.

Right now we have outstanding obligations of $6,500.00 which we must meet at the earliest possible date. And, too, the winter months are head, and we must provide for the above family and try to care for them properly for the winter. A. G. D.

◆

REPORT OF STATIONING COMMITTEE

Alamance, J. A. Burgess. Anderson, J. L. Love. Albemarle, J. R. Anderson. Asheboro, R. C. Stubbins. Asheville, J. Elwood Carroll.

Bess Chapel, J. D. Morris. Bethesda, C. W. Saunders. Burlington, F. W. Paschal.

Charlotte, G. H. Hendry. Chase City, C. L. Spencer. Cleveland, C. E. Ridge. Concord, J. M. Morgan. Connelly Springs, L. S. Helms. Creswell, J. C. Russell.

Davidson, E. A. Bingham. Democrat, Earle Cook. Denton, Robert Short. Draper, R. L. Vickery. Enfield, E. O. Peeler.

Fallston, A. D. Shelton. Flat Rock, J. R. Hutton. Friendship, O. B. Williams. Forsyth, R. A. Hunter. Fountain Place, N. G. Bethea.

Gibsonville, N. G. Bethea. Glen Raven, J. P. Pegg. Graham, J. C. Auman. Granville, C. L. Spencer. Greenville, R. L. Hethcox. Greensboro, Calvary, C. W. Bates. Grace, G. I. Humphreys, supply; E. Lester Ballard, director of religious education; Dr. S. K. Spahr, pastor emeritus.

St. Pauls, D. I. Garner. West End, T. J. Whitehead. Guilford, D. D. Broome.

Halifax, H. F. Fogleman. Haw River, J. L. Trollinger. Henderson, L. W. Gerringer. High Point: First, R. I. Farmer; English Street, C. H. Hill; Lebanon, S. W. Taylor; Welch, J. D. Williams.

Kannapolis, Clarence Morris, supply.

Kernersville, Charles Grant. Lexington, State Street, Henry W. Maier; Lexington, South, C. S. Isley.

Moriah, M. P. Chamblis. Liberty, F. R. Love; Lincolnton, J. D. Cranford. Littleton, P. F. Bingham.

Mebane, to be supplied. Mecklenburg, M. C. Henderson. Melton's Grove to be supplied. Midland, W. D. Reed. Midway, Shady Grove, to be supplied. Mocksville, G. W. Ferree; Mount Herman, L. E. Mabry. Mount Pleasant, T. M. Johnson.

North Davidson, O. C. Loy.

Orange, B. M. Williams.

Pinnacle-Mt. zion, A. L. Hunter. Pleasant Grove, D. R. Williams. Porter, J. R. Anderson.

Randleman, Joel Trogdon. Randolph, Ed. Suits. Reidsville, George R. Brown. Richland, Q. L. Joyner. Roberta, T. A. Williams. Rockingham, to be supplied. Roseneath, E. O. Peeler.

Saxapahaw, W. M. Loy. Shiloh, R. S. Troxler. Siler City, H. L. Isley; Spencer, William Howard, supply. Spring church, W. H. Neese.

Tabernacle, G. L. Curry. Thomasville Community, Fred Surratt. Thomasville, First, T. G. Madison. Thomasville, West End, H. W. Bell.

Vance, J. W. Braxton.

Weaverville, E. G. Cowan.

West Forsyth, C. B. Way. Whitakers, E. O. Peeler. Why Not, G. L. Reynolds. Winston-Salem, Southside, H. M. Crysler, supply.

Yarborough, J. L. Love.

Left without work at his own request, M. I. Crutchfield.

Left in the hands of the president, A. O. Lindley, C. J. Edwards, J. D. Hardy, Atlas Ridge, H. L. Powell, C. I. Smith, J. H. Trollinger.

Professor, Western Maryland College, L. C. Little.

Associate secretary department Board Christian Education, F. L. Gibbs.

Professor Westminster Theological Seminary, C. E. Forlines.

Professors High Point College, P. E. Lindley, P. S. Kennett.

Editor Methodist Protestant Herald, J. F. McCulloch.

Loaned to Good Samaritan Mission, J. S. Williams.

Superintendent Bethel Home, Homer Casto.

Loaned Board of Missions, J. F. Minnis.

Superintendent Children's Home, A. G. Dixon.

Promotional Secretary High Point College, N. M. Harrison.

President North Carolina Conference, R. M. Andrews.

Superannuates: J. F. McCulloch, W. T. Totten, J. W. Hulin, W. F. Kennett, T. F. McCulloch, W. M. Pike, G. W. Holmes, C. H. Whitaker, W. F. Asheburn, H. S. B. Thompson, G. F. Millaway, E. G. Lowdermilk. Supernumerary, Littleton, D. A. Fishel; Richland, W. F. McDowell.

District chairmen: 1. W. H. Neese; 2. L. W. Gerringer; 3. W. M. Loy; 4. F. W. Paschal; 5. O. F. Stafford; 6. J. L. Trollinger; 7. R. C. Stubbins; 8. Fred Surratt; 9. J. M. Morgan; 10. E. A. Bingham; 11. J. E. Pritchard; 12. C. E. Ridge; 13. J. M. Morgan; 14. G. H. Hendry; 15. E. G. Cowan.

◆

ARCTIC NEVER TROPICAL

The common notion held by geologists that the artic region once supported a tropical vegetation is not confirmed by evidence, according to Prof. Edward W. Berry, of John Hopkins university. Fossils and beds of coal above the artic circle were formed not by plants such as grow in the tropics, but by plants such as grow in the temperate zones. Millions of years ago the forests of Spitzbergen and Greenland resembled the forests of New England and Michigan rather than those of Cuba and Panama, says Professor Berry.—Pathfinder.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

English Street S. S.	$ 9.72
First Church S. S., Winston-Salem	11.86
Whitaker's Chapel S. S., Enfield	2.54
St. Paul S. S.	9.57
Friendship Station	1.75
Mt. Pleasant S. S., Mt. Pleasant	5.00
Union Grove, Orange	1.65
Eden S. S., Halifax	1.00
Charlotte S. S.	4.32
Mt. Lebanon S. S., Randolph	3.00
Siler City S. S.	2.80
Sapling Ridge, Alamance	1.40
Community Church, Thomasville	10.00
Woman's Auxiliary, Community Church	25.00
Baltimore, West Forsyth	2.48
Mt. Zion, Weaverville	1.50
Woman's Auxiliary, Eden, Halifax	10.00
Mt. Zion, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion	3.41
Friendship S. S., Mt. Hermon	15.00
Enfield S. S.	3.36
Mt. Hermon S. S., Mt. Hermon	3.15
Pleasant Hill S. S., Spring Church	1.00
Beginners' Class, Harmany S. S., Yarboroughs	2.00
Stallings, Mecklenburg	1.00
Fairfield S. S., Guilford	2.00
Reidsville S. S.	14.50
Grace Church S. S.	8.25
Welch Memorial S. S.	3.50
Whitakers S. S.	28.67
First Church S. S., South Lexington	3.38
Woung Men's Bible Class, First Church, Thomasville, clothing child	15.00
Midway S. S., Haw River	1.50
Rehoboth, Granville	7.00
Mizpah S. S., Haw River	.90
Efland S. S., Orange	1.80
Miss Sue Jarrell, Elbaville, Tenn., personal T. O.	5.00
Arlington S. S., Arlington, Ohio, T. O.	10.00
West Fork S. S., Tanners Creek Circuit, Indiana, T. O.	5.00

We are thankful for these gifts in money as shown in above report. We are just home from conference and have a bit of produce to report, but for lack of time we will defer that until next week.

For the next few weeks "T. O." in our report will stand for Thanksgiving Offering. And we hope to report many of them. We are asked every year how much the Thanksgiving Offering brought in. So please be careful to designate all such offerings, so we may be able to tell. You will rejoice with us in the early arrival of the four T. O. contributions from out the conference.

May God bless every one of His workers and give ALL OF US the best year yet in service for Him.

Yours in His blessed service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Mr. Grenville Kleiser	$50.00
Rev. L. E. Mabry	5.00
Rev. J. C. Auman	4.00
Miss Romaine Poole	4.00
Miss Tula Paul	4.00
Rev. N. G. Bethea	2.00
Rev. C. E. Ridge	2.00

◆

—It takes courage to refuse to make a living in a questionable vocation.—Exchange.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Culler

Kenneth Ahmed Culler, son of Silas and Fanny Culler, was born March 1, 1922, died September 26, 1932. He leaves father, mother, one brother, Arlis; one sister, Dohnese, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Culler of Pinnacle, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey of Shoals, N. C., besides a host of other relatives and friends to mourn their loss, but we do not mourn as those who have no hope, as our Heavenly Father has said: "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Ahmed was rather an unusual child for his quiet, gentle and obedient disposition, always taking pride in doing what his parents and grandparents wished him to.

He often spoke of Heaven and expressed a desire to go there some day and talked about his Heavenly Father.

He was a member of the intermediate department of the S. S. at Pinnacle M. P. church.

Funeral services were conducted by the writer, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Pinnacle M. P. cemetery beneath a mound of beautiful flowers.

Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved.

A. L. HUNTER.

◆

Pepper

On August 3, 1932, God sent and called Mr. Wm. Pepper, aged 69 years, four months and 25 days.

He was a member of Hawkins' Chapel church and was faithful. The last few years his health seemed to be failing him, I have heard some of his friends say. He never would talk about hard times. He seemed to always be jolly and gay.

In his young days he was married to Miss Lara Pair; to this union were born six children. One, Mr. David Pepper, preceded him in death some year ago.

The funeral was held at his home, conducted by his pastor, Rev. P. E. Bingham. He was laid to rest not far from the house with his son to wait the resurrection morn.

We extend our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved family.

One precious to their heart has gone,
The voice they loved is stilled,
The place made vacant in their home,
Can never more be filled.

MRS. CLAUDE HAWKINS.

◆

Stack

Melissa Jane Lloyd-Stack, the daughter of the late Mr and Mrs. W. H. Lloyd and the wife of Ameleus R. Stack, was born in Guilford county, March 13, 1873, and died in the city of Greensboro, N. C., October 15, 1932. At her death she was 59 years, 7 months and 2 days old.

On June 20, 1889, Mr. and Mrs. Stack were married and they became the parents of eight children. Two of these, a son and a daughter, died in infancy. One son, Leroy, died in 1919. The father with five sons survives. The sons are C. U., of Julian, N. C., and W. R., C. V., W. A. and J. W. live in Greensboro, N. C.

As a young woman Mrs. Stack became a Christian and joined Hickory Grove Methodist Protestant church. On March 9, 1924, she became a member of West End Methodist Protestant church, where she remained a consistent church member and Christian until her death. When health conditions were favorable she was found at her place at the church services. Her place is now vacant and we miss her.

She was a good woman. Her friends and neighbors had only the best to speak of her. She was a loving wife and mother and a loyal Christian. She loved her home, she loved her fellow man, she lover her church and her God. She will be missed in her home, in her community and in her church. But while she will be missed here, she has found her place in the home prepared for her beyond the river. God has given and God has taken, "Blessed be the name of the Lord."

"Servant of God, well done!
  Rest from thy loved employ:
The battle fought, the victory won,
  Enter thy Master's joy.

"The pains of death are past,
  Labor and sorrow cease,
And life's long warfare closed at last,
  Thy soul is found in peace."

Mrs. Stack was not in the best of health and death was not unexpected, yet it came with such a shock. During the early part of the night of her death she was on the streets of Greensboro and in the best of spirits. She suffered an attack for the worse and in 20 minutes she was in eternity. It only tells us how quickly we may go.

On October 17 the funeral was conducted in West End church in the presence of a large congregation of those who were sad and mourning. The pastor was assisted in conducting the funeral by Rev. R. H. Melvin of the Friends church. Rev. Mr. Melvin had known Mrs. Stack as a friend and neighbor for many years. He was able to speak many good things of her life. The body was laid to rest in the city cemetery. The many beautiful floral contributions attest the love and appreciation of the many friends.

GEO. L. CURRY, Pastor.

◆

DEFOREST ON TELEVISION

Lee DeForest, inventor of the vacuum tube, says that television today is about where radio was in 1922. In a recent radio speech from a Minneapolis station the noted inventor said: "In the future we will receive television pictures over the electric light or telephone wires, though for the next few years television will be by radio. This marvelous new development, which has at last been realized, is made possible by means of the vacuum tube. Even now, if one resides within 50 miles of a good television station, like the Jenkins transmitter in Jersey City, or those in Pittsburgh or Chicago, he can receive nightly very good pictures by radio. The Jenkins station actually transmits both picture and voice of the speaker. Usually these are transmitted from talking picture films which are reeled off at the transmitter and received by radio in a small shadow-box. Rapid pogress is being made by countless radio engineers at work on television problems."—Pathfinder.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C

LONG DISTANCE PHOTOGRAPHY

The photographic expert of the Army Air Corps, Capt. A. W. Stevens, has set a new record for long-distance photography. He made a photograph while flying 20,000 feet over Crater Lake, Oregon. The picture showed a remarkably clear view of the various mountain ranges stretching northward to Mt. Rainier, which was 270 miles from the camera, at least 50 miles in excess of the previous long-distance camera record. The photograph was taken in one single exposure. Captain Stevens believes that cameras which will record greater distances will soon be developed.—Exchange.

◆

THE MAN WHO SAID "NO!"

They offered him fame
For the use of his name
  To make a big worldly show;
He knew what they meant,
But refused to consent;
  He gave them a positive "No!"

A millionaire he
Could easily be
  And let his high principles go;
But he would give way
To schemes of the day;
  He answered a definite "No!"

This man who said "No!"
Suffered hardship and woe,
  As he faithfully toiled in his place;
But when he laid down
His cross for a crown,
  Men called him a prince of his race.

—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

IDEALS

To be strong and true; to be generous in praise and appreciation of others; to impute worthy motives even to enemies; to give without expectation of return; to practise humility, tolerance, and self-restraint; to make the best use of time and opportunity; to keep the mind pure and the judgment charitable; to extend intelligent sympathy to those in distress; to seek truth and righteousness; to work, love, pray, and serve daily; to aspire greatly, labor cheerfully, and take God at His word—this is to travel heavenward, and will bring to you "GOOD LUCK."—Grenville Kleiser.

◆

—It takes courage to do your duty in silence, obscurity and poverty, while others about you prosper through neglect or violating sacred obligations.—Exchange.

Methodist Protestant Herald.
ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CH AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.
VOLUME XXXIX GREENSBORO, N. C., NOVEMBER 24, 1932 NUMBER 3

Seminary Library 5dec2
Westminster MD

A Psalm of Thanksgiving

To thee, O God, we render thanks
For all thy mercies sure;
Thy tender love environs us
And will through life endure.

Teach us to know thy perfect will
And truly humble be;
May we in gladness praise thy name
Throughout eternity.

Thou art our refuge and our strength,
There is no other power;
When sudden danger threatens us,
We find in thee a tower.

To Thee, O God, we render thanks
And call upon Thy name;
A psalm of praise to thee we sing,
Thy wondrous love proclaim.

—Grenville Kleiser

◆

A Suggestion for Raising the Annual Conference Budget

Let the pastor or some layman recommend to the first quarterly conference that an offering be taken at each regular service, and that all loose change or money not in envelopes in this offering shall be used for no other purpose than to pay the apportionment on annual conference budget. With this arrangement the pastor can feel free to make appeals for the budget without some one thinking that he is talking about his salary. Let the stewards be responsible for the salary whether it is collected by an envelope system or by personal solicitation.

On a country charge with five appointments I recommended this plan with the exception that both General and Annual Conference budgets were included. At the end of three years we found that payments on budgets had increased from 32 per cent to 87 per cent of the assessments. The reason I am not suggesting that both budgets be included in this plan now is the fact that the Woman's Auxiliary and the special day offerings provide for the General Conference budget.

I had already decided before conference met that I was going to recommend this plan to my church for this conference year. I believe this plan will work equally well for stations or rural charges. Be sure to send to our conference treasurer whatever amount is realized from this plan. Stations should remit each month and circuits not less often than each quarter. Remittances should be made whether the amount are large or small. I should like to see this plan given a fair trial in a large number of our churches both town and city and in rural districts.

L. W. Gerringer.

Henderson, N. C.

◆

Dean Lindley's Book

It seems superfluous for me to attempt to write an article in commendation of "Human Nature and the Church," by Dean P. E. Lindley, of High Point College, after Dr. R. L. Shipley, editor of The Methodist Protestant-Recorder, gave it such a fine send-off during his message to the North Carolina Conference, just closed. But I shall be doing myself an injustice (and perhaps you likewise) if I do not express my opinion also.

It is unnecessary for me to commend the author to you. Some know him much better than I know him. But I, with you, am acquainted with the splendid influence he exerts over the youth of our state and church, both within and without the class room. Not only does he know young people, but he knows human nature as well.

He has a sensitive soul—sensitive to the needs of his fellow being; sensitive to the high calling of the Church of Christ on earth; sensitive to the communicable relationship between man and God. For these reasons, he was well-fitted to undertake the writing of such a dissertation as is contained between the covers of the book that bears his name.

He has rendered the work in a scholarly and masterful fashion, yet in language intelligible and interesting to the average reader. The terse, epigrammatical sentences add spice and force to the arguments. Few, if any, words are lost; all are significant. Aside from the fact that this is one of the few pieces of literature that bears the mark of Methodist Protestants, it should be added to the library of each family of our communion, be that library large or small, because of its intrinsic worth. I recommend it to minister and layman, professional and business men, youth and age.

E. Lester Ballard.

◆

—Thanksgiving, observed in appropriate spirit, is a beautiful day. Its beauty appears in its moral splendor. It is seen in the homes whose inmates gather to express their gratitude to God for His goodness to them. It is seen in the churches filled with devout worshipers of God. It is seen in our whole nation turning aside in special recognition of the favor of God to us as a people. How good indeed has God been to us! We can best show our appreciation of His goodness to us by showing our goodness to those who need our help.

AS WE GIVE THANKS

Let Us Not Forget the Unfortunate Little Ones Under Our Care

JUSTIFIABLE THANKFULNESS

Thanksgiving brings to the world today a mixed feeling of joy and sadness. A warless world, surplus supplies, modern conveniences, and other innumerable blessings stir us with joy and gratitude both to our fellow men and to Almighty God. This joy almost immediately, however, comes to weeping when we think of thousands in poverty, millions unemployed, and children crying for bread. Such sadness further reduces us to shame when we as Methodist Protestants turn our faces toward our own orphan children and see them in destitude conditions.

Human needs, especially those of our children, must come before everything else at this season of the year. Jesus put a child in the midst of his disciples and requested them to look upon him. Imagine, please, a group of one hundred children living yonder at High Point with their little hands extended to us for food, their minds calling for teachers, their bodies for shelter, and their hearts for companionship—things which they have been deprived of because of no fault of their own! Things which we are privileged to supply. They are in our midst and the voice of the Christ yet calls us to look upon them and supply these needs. The appeal comes to us for there is none other to whom it could come.

Fellow ministers, ye servants of Christ, rise up and present these needs to your people and the love of the living God will impell them to alleviate such suffering as has been undergone during the last year. We have no right as people to permit Dr. Dixon, his wife, his brother, and his brother's wife to work twelve months for only one month's salary. With shame we must acknowledge that that is just what we have done during the last year.

Our Annual Conference made plans whereby unnecessary sacrifice would be prevented. The order of our Conference was that the weak of November 20-27 be set aside as a time in which we would raise a Thanksgiving contribution for the Children's Home. The request was to ask our people who are working for a day's wage, and those not working for a dollar per person. As ministers, unless we get this matter on our hearts certainly our people will not take the dire needs very seriously. It is the humanitarian thing now to put needs above budgets, and burdens of our fellow workers above our selfish gratifications. If we as ministers fail in this effort in behalf of the Home, then increased burdens are thrown upon the already overwhelming load of the Superintendent and his family, and those one hundred children will suffer for lack of some of the bare necessities of life.

There can be no real happiness either for ministers or for laymen until we have made a creditable contribution to the Home during this Thanksgiving season. The only solution for our unpleasant feeling of joy and sadness is to make some sacrifice for a noble cause such as the Children's Home. Your offering may not "count on the budget," but God knows and you know, that it will count in your own life, count in helping those folks at the Home, and count in heaven. Even the Christ went so far as to say, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

J. Elwood Carroll.

THANKSGIVING

Fortunate that we have much for which to be thankful. Happy we should be that so good a way to express our thanks is open to us as making a donation to our Children's Home.

With many of us this offering should be in proportion, not to the amount of money we have at a time like this, but in proportion to all the blessings we enjoy under the goodness of God—including the happy fact that we and our children, in most instances, have a home of our own, in which we can live together.

While money is greatly needed by the Home to meet pressing obligations, no doubt many rural church people can contribute more liberally of food and feed stuff than of money. If so or if not so, let us all make them the most happy possible by making the largest possible contribution.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these."

T. M. Johnson.

HOW THANKFUL?

Perhaps there is no more effective way, if we are desirous to make our gifts that way, than at this time of the year we show our gratitude by helping those less fortunate than ourselves.

Our Children's Home at High Point is one of the most worthy causes, and may I say at this particular time, one of our most needy. I believe that this is a time when everything else should stand at attention till we pay off all outstanding accounts for the Home.

We have used the Home to save the College, now why not take care of the very thing that enabled us to make our collateral good? Then we will be taking care of our honest obligations to those who are giving their lives for this most worthy cause there. Where else have men and women stood back and worked a year without salary to keep things going?

Come on, folks, you who have work and are making a living, spare one day's wages for our Home and its workers,—thus honoring Him who said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, ye have done it unto me." Then we know that He will take care that we are not loosing when we work for Him and keep watch with our means over that for which He gave himself.

Knowing something of the workings of this our own institution, I am making this appeal to our people throughout the Conference, for the need is urgent, and there is no cause that I know where a day's earnings will go so far and bring richer returns.

N. G. Bethea.

OUR CHILDREN

Have you thought about the orphan children ?Have you thought of their needs? Have you thought of our many blessings we enjoy? We will enjoy many greater blessings if we will just do our duty toward the orphan child, and now we have an opportunity. Let us respond to Dr. Dixon's appeal for a liberal Thanksgiving offering. We are blessed in our giving and the children's needs are met, and the Home needs our support.

If you can't get your offering in as suggested in Dr. Dixon's appeal, by all means get it to him in this month.

We want this to be the greatest Thanksgiving the Home has ever had, and it will be if we do our duty.

H. A. Garrett.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

This is to remind the brethren, ministerial and lay, of their power to help their treasurer meet some pressing obligations within the next ninety days. He is depending on you to enable him to make his promises good. Please do not disappoint and embarrass him.

If each member of each of our churches would contribute twenty-five cents at once, your treasurer would have enough money to pay all outstanding obligations, including the Gratitude Gift notes which have been running for several years, and have enough left to enable the Board of Church Extension to cancel two-thirds of their obligations. This could be done and no one would suffer. Wouldn't it be a magnificent thing if we should do this? If you think so, say so in dollars immediately.

Geo. R. Brown.

REPORT ON METHODIST PROTESTANT HERALD

There is no way to estimate the value of the Methodist Protestant Herald, which has been circulated among us for 38 years. It has has acted as a weekly love letter among our constituency, and it has helped to establish and strengthen our institutions, Therefore we recommend,

(1) That this Annual Conference express to Dr. J. F. McCulloch, our very great appreciation for the faithful and sacrificial services rendered in keeping the Herald going. We fully realize our debt to him, and do not wish him to continue at a financial loss. We recommend that the same machinery be set up as of last year to secure subscriptions for the Herald, and that Mr. E. L. Douglas be asked to continue to serve as the Conference Herald Agent, and urge that all pastors and charges co-operate with him. Mr. Douglas and his solicitors to be asked to see that each church raise its allotment.

(2) We recommend that the N. C. Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary be asked to continue its annual contribution of $100.00; that High Point College be asked to contribute per year, $200.00; the Children's Home per year, $100.00; that the Annual Conference contribute per year, $200.00; that the Conference Council of Religious Education contribute $100.00; that all local churches in the Conference with a membrship of from 200 to 300 members contribute per year, $100.00; membership of from 300 to 500 contribute per year, $15.00; memberships of more than 500 contribute per year, $20.00; churches whose membership is from 100 to 200, contribute $5.00; churches with less than 100 members contribute $2.50.

This plan we believe will at least take care of the $1000.00 suggested in Dr. McCulloch's open letter to the Conference members.

We recommend that this committee on Methodist Protestant Herald be held intact during this fiscal year with a view to helping to work out the above plans, and that it be clothed with power to act in cases of emergency.

A. G. Dixon,
C. W. Bates.

FATHER AND SON WEEK—NOVEMBER 6-13, 1932

Father and Son Week comes each year during the week that includes Armistice Day. It is frequently linked up with the observance of that especial day. The dates for this year are November 6-13, 1932.

Father and Son events are of several kinds. The most popular event is the Father and Son banquet, which is joyous and character-building. Frequently a worship service for the church or the church school is held. A father and son class or club party or social is frequently held. Churches, church schools, boys' and men's clubs, Y. M. C. A.'s and other groups use this observance with good results. Sometimes it is a part of the regular program of the church at some other time than the above dates.

A new booklet on the Father and Son observance by H. W. Gibson has been prepared and will be off the press in time for use this year. Mr. Gibson was present at the first Father and Son Banquet in 1909 and has been closely connected with the movement since. It will be one of the Christian Quest pamphlets. Materials can be secured from the International Council of Religious Education, 203 N. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois. These materials are:

The Father and Son Observance, by H. W. Gibson, 28 pages. Carefully developed suggestions for banquets, worship services, follow-up events, etc., 15c.

Father and Son Worship Program	Each	Per 100
"Comrades in an Unfinished Task"	1c	.75
"Modern Torch Bearers"	1c	.75
"Partnership"	1c	.75
Father and Son Song Sheet for banquets, etc.	1c	.75

The materials are all priced very reasonably and leaders of these events in local churches and communities should make plans for securing them.

F. L. Gibbs, Associate-Executive Sec'y
Board of Christian Education

REPORT OF MEETING OF NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE ALLIED FORCES WITH A STATEMENT BY CHAIRMAN DANIEL A. POLING

At the meeting of the National Executive Committee of the Allied Forces held in New York City Monday, November 14, the chairman, Dr. Poling, reported an enrollment of more than a million and a half members, the organization of 1,600 local units of Allied Citizens or Youth Councils, and the establishment of the young people's department of Allied Forces as a citizenship movement for young people and led by young people.

The financial report showed a total of $356,899.23 raised in cash and pledges. On November 14, with all bills paid, the cash balance was $6,757.52, with $43,794.59 in unpaid pledges.

The report dealt with the disappearance of Colonel Raymond Robins and revealed that mystery as unsolved.

The Executive Committee took action as follows:

"The Committee recommends unanimously that this movement be continued and that the details of program be referred to a later meeting. It resolves that activities of the Allied Forces go forward under the Administrative Committee.

"The Committee stands ready to enter into consultation with all agencies and individuals in an effort to deal most constructively and effectively with all aspects of the program involved in reach the ultimate goal.

"The Executive Committee approves and confirms official actions of Chairman Daniel A. Poling and his associates throughout the entire campaign. It has surveyed carefully financial reports as submitted by certified accountants and by unanimous action adopts these reports with a vote of confidence and appreciation.

Dr. Poling's Resignation Refused

"The Committee, understanding that the resignation of Dr. Poling was presented and accepted in good faith in June to take effect December 1, 1932, and further understanding that he has confirmed this resignation today, appreciating fully the considerations which determine his decision, nevertheless, in view of his experience and marked gifts of leadership, finds itself unable to consent. The Committee resolves not to recognize a vacancy and defers until the next regular meeting its final action."

Chairman's Personal Statement

In his formal report Dr. Poling said that at a later time he would release a statement expressing his personal convictions regarding national Prohibition and associated issues; that as Chairman of Allied Forces he had sought always to avoid speaking in any other than his representative capacity. He then concluded:

"I anticipate that personal statement in part. I am against repeal and shall always fight accordingly. I am against any action by this Congress, or the next, that shall circumvent the Constitution. In this and in associated matters I believe that the Temperance forces will do well to consult such national leaders as Senator William E. Borah of Idaho. I believe that our strategy for the present crisis has been suggested by Colonel Raymond Robins, Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, and others who challenged the opposition to name its substitute for the Eighteenth Amendment. Negation is not enough and our friends on the other side have now reached the difficult and embarrassing moment when they must keep their pledges, when they must present a constructive plan to the country. Thus far no such plan has been proposed by any group or individual that receives the majority support of those opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment. Those who believe that they have won a great victory in the recent elections are surprisingly quiet as they turn now to administer their real or fancied triumph.

"My resignation accepted finally last June, indicated then, and indicates now, no withdrawal of interest. I remain as a member of this Executive Committee. I continue to serve with the nearly two million men and women this movement has enrolled in support of the cause of national Prohibition. While I must turn now to my own primary tasks, tasks to which this Committee knew from the beginning I would return, I shall exert such influence as I have through agencies at my disposal for the advancement of this cause.

Against Mere Obstruction

"But certainly 'new occasions teach new duties.' Certainly too it would be inexcusable blindness not to see that with the recent elections new occasions have come to the Prohibition moment. I refuse to have any part in any program of mere obstruction in the next Congress and the idea of holding any law by thirteen states against thirty-five, if it could be done, would be repugnant to the spirit of American democracy.

"Certainly the first requirement for the next step is statesmanship preeminent above any partisanship. President Hoover went to the heart of the whole matter when he said, 'We are on common ground in our desire to rid this civilization of the evils of the liquor traffic.' Our goal is the solution of the liquor problem. I desire to serve with all citizens of patriotism and good will who strive toward that goal."

WHY PRESIDENT HOOVER WAS DEFEATED

First, because of the great financial depression. Never since the founding of the Nation have we had such a widespread, deep-seated financial depression as this one.

Millions of persons gambled on Wall Street in 1929, losing the savings of a life time when the crash came. Thus the buying power of the Nation was tremendously reduced, which seriously affected all classes of business men.

Hence great numbers of business men have been financially ruined, or almost ruined, for the lack of the buying power of those who lost their fortunes or their positions. This has caused universal hard times among us, as it affected directly and indirectly so many millions of people in our Country.

Unthinking people blamed the President and the Party in power for the hard times. All the disgruntled elements of the Country, including the eleven millions out of employment, had their knives out for President Hoover, and they "got him" on election day. Men who have empty stomachs and hungry children cannot reason.

It hurt President Hoover also that he and President Coolidge frequently were quoted as having said not long before the 1929 crash came that the financial condition of the Country was sound; that it was safe to buy stocks, bonds, etc. Hence when millions of people wildly bought all kinds of stock at high prices, and lost billions of dollars in the crash of 1929, naturally they were angry and vindictive toward the present Administration, and took it out on President Hoover on election day.

Second, because of Hoover's opposition to the soldiers' bonus. That was to his great credit, though it cost him hundreds of thousands of American Legion votes. The utter selfishness of many ex-soldiers who apparently would wreck the credit of the Government, if not the Government itself, in order to get a few dollars bonus ten years before it was due, is a sad, pathetic commentary on the present mental attitude of many men who fought their Country's battles in the great World War.

The Bulletin editor and his wife sent two sons into the World War. When their boys came back they did not whine and pine for doles and Government subsidies, but they went to work like honorable men and are making good in the battle of life. They have refused to join the American Legion, because that organization is ruled too largely by a class of wet foreigners, naturalized or unnaturalized, especially in our large States, some of whom show little love for this Country by their present day actions. That is probably one of the reasons why hundreds of thousands of persons in this State recently voted for a cool, level headed business man for Governor, rather than for the popular idol of the American Legion of this State.

The selfish, unpatriotic actions of the American Legion of this Country are not helping their members when candidates for election to public office in this Country because, when an American Legion man is nominated for some office, many voters of his own party will quietly say, "Swat him; vote for the other fellow." The American Legion can blame nobody but themselves for the growing feeling against them. Hence, we say Hoover's opposition to the soldiers' bonus was to his great credit, but also to his injury with hundreds of thousands of selfish American Legion fellows who want the bonus, right or wrong, Country's good or Country's harm, and who voted against President Hoover because of his opposition to the bonus.

Third, because of his appointing the Wickersham Commission. This was undoubtedly, from a Prohibition and a political standpoint, the first great blunder of President Hoover. When he was Secretary of the Department of Commerce and any important question arose it was natural for him to appoint a committee or a commission to investigate the question and make recommendations as to what the department should do.

When he became President it was natural that he should follow the same method as President that he followed as Secretary of the Department of Commerce. Therefore, when an unpleasant and distasteful question like Prohibition was brought up with which he had to deal he decided to appoint a commission to investigate and report to him recommendations as to what he should do, and soon after he was inaugurated he appointed a commission of eleven persons to make a thorough study of the Prohibition question and make recommendations to him and the Country concerning the same.

It was assumed that he would appoint experts on the Prohibition question, not amateurs who had never given the subject any special study in the past, and that he would appoint at least half of them drys, but instead he appointed a commission of nine wets and two drys! They took many long weary months, in fact nearly two years, to make their report, which satisfied nobody, neither wets nor drys, but it slowed down Prohibition enforcement by the Federal authorities and by State authorities, and it delayed or prevented the passage of State Prohibition enforcement bills in some cases, as the legislators said: "Let's wait until we get the report from the Wickersham Commission and see what we ought to do."

In the meantime, the wets were rapidly organizing and putting millions of dollars into the work of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which was taking advantage of this lull in the Prohibition battle to flood the Nation with false and misleading statements against Prohibition, sending it to the leaders of thought and moulders of public opinion in every city, town and village of this Country, until by the time the Wickersham Commission was ready to report the sentiment of the Nation had been seriously corrupted and deceived, and greatly weakened on the Prohibition question.

The campaign and election of Herbert Hoover for President in 1928 was recognized as a clean-cut wet and dry fight, and that the drys knocked out the wets. Al Smith had bolted his own dry Party platform and declared in favor of repeal of the 18th Amendment and the referring of the whole liquor question back to the States, and Hoover in that campaign openly and emphatically said, "I am opposed to the repeal of the 18th Amendment," and by many other such statements in the campaign lined himself up squarely with the drys, while Smith lined himself up squarely with the wets, and Al Smith was overwhelmingly defeated and Hoover elected on that issue.

Hoover Had a Mandate to Enforce Prohibition

The people felt that President Hoover had received a mandate to enforce, not to investigate Prohibition; but he hedged and hesitated, and delayed Prohibition enforcement by appointing a Commission to "investigate and report."

We believe President Hoover was absolutely sincere in appointing the Wickersham Commission, but it was a terrible blunder for his future and for the future of Prohibition. While the report of the Commission seemed as a whole to favor Prohibition, for it declared that it was not in favor of the repeal of the 18th Amendment or the modification of the Volstead Law to allow the sale of beer and wine, yet the whole work of the Commission has been a source oftrouble, irritation and aggravation, from the beginning.

President Hoover has made other serious mistakes of judgment in things that he did, but probably no one thing in his whole Administration has resulted directly and indirectly in injuring him as much as his attempt to investigate Prohibition, instead of his enforcing Prohibition. Had he come out in his inaugural address and among other things said that he considered that under all the circumstances and all the facts that entered into the 1928 campaign, that he had received a mandate from the people to enforce the 18th Amendment, not to investigate, amend or repeal it, and therefore he would call upon Congress to double the amount of money hitherto granted for Prohibition enforcement, and that certain serious weaknesses in the Volstead Law must be amended, which measures he would call upon Congress to pass—and Congress then would have voted anything that he asked—the whole story of Prohibition in this Country would have been very different from what it now is, and it would have reflected lasting glory upon the name of Herbert Hoover, and the Prohibition question would now have been far along toward final solution and proper enforcement—and President Hoover would easily have been re-elected this year.

President Hoover could have said that the Country had ordered it by their votes, as he interpreted the election, and that if the people did not like Prohibition after it was enforced, then they could repeal the 18th Amendment or elect another President at the next election; but he did not have the courage to take such a splendid stand. President Hoover has not proven himself to be an Abraham Lincoln, a courageous defender of the right, but a Henry Clay, a pitiable compromiser with the wrong in this Prohibition fight.

FOURTH, because of his weakening on the Prohibition question. About two years and a half ago the Civic Bulletin editor was discussing politics at the White House office with one of the President's closest personal secretaries, and we said to him: "If President Hoover weakens on the Prohibition question, he is lost; the dry leaders cannot save him if they try," to which he replied emphatically, pounding on his desk: "President Hoover is NOT going to weaken on the Prohibition question"; but he did weaken, and he lost!

In his speech of acceptance August 11, 1928, President Hoover said: "I do not favor the repeal of the 18th Amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder." He reiterated this in other similar statements in various speeches made during the 1928 campaign. In his speech of acceptance August 11, 1932, when referring to the 18th Amendment, President Hoover said:

"My Countrymen have a right to know my conclusions upon the matter. They are clear and not to be misunderstood. It is my belief . . . that a change is necessary. It is my conviction that the nature of this change . . . is that each State shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine."

That statement was nothing less than a plain demand for repeal of the 18th Amendment and the substitution of a new Amedment referring the whole liquor question back to the States from which it came. He said the new Amendment should provide that the saloon must not come back, but Senator Borah, the greatest lawyer in the United States Congress, said on the floor of the U. S. Senate, July 16, 1932:

"After nearly two years of rather earnest effort to work out a scheme by which we can control the place of drinking the beverage after we have made it legal to sell it, I do not believe it can be done. If we legalize the sale of liquor, the saloon will come back."

The above statement of President Hoover in his speech of acceptance this year, and other similar defeatist statement made concerning Prohibition and the 18th Amendment, alienated millions of dry voters from him. In our opinion, his retreating from his high splendid stand on Prohibition in 1928 cost him five million dry votes on election day! Millions of dry Republicans simply would not go to the polls, and many others who did, voted for local candidates but voted for no Presidential candidate, and this helped largely to defeat President Hoover for re-election. —Rev. O. R. Miller in the Civic Bulletin.

THE TONGUE

It is the tongue by which we express ourselves. "Out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh,"—and our Lord said this in His terrible condemnation of certain Pharisees: "O generation of vipers, how can ye, being evil, speak good things?" (Matt. 12:34). But we can indeed "speak good things" when we have let God replace our evil by the righteousness of Christ in the wonderful exchange offered by the Gospel. The tongue, in other words, is sooner or later an infallible index and expression of self. The Keswick Calendar recently contained a brief quotation to the effect that "the condition of the tongue was an index of both the physical state and the spiritual state." Doubtless physicians have known from time immemorial that the tongue shows that certain conditions of the body are either normal or abnormal, good or bad.

An unhealthy tongue is a sign that the body is sick; and the words spoken by the tongue may be an equally sure sign of a sick spirit. James said some severe things with inspired truthfulness when he declared that "the tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things. Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth! And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell" (James 3:5, 6). But James says also, "If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body." God offers us this perfect self-control in Christ as Saviour and Lord—not the control of self by self, but the control of self by Christ. He can make even our tongues to praise Him continually in holiness. And holiness is health.—The S. S. Times.

A LOYAL WIFE

A fine preacher had been speaking of the joy of full surrender and the possibilities of the holy life, drawing a beautiful picture of what home life would be if everybody acted according to the Bible teaching. He closed his address by making an appeal for men and women to give themselves wholly to Christ. A woman in his audience turned to the woman by her side.

"That is excellent preaching," she said, smiling, "but I wonder if such a life is possible?" The other woman smiled back at her.

"Well, I know the preacher lives such a life," she said, "I happen to be his wife."—Christian Herald.

OPTIMISM

The President's Letter

EVANGELISM

"Speak Unto the Children of Israel, That They Go Forward."

Our Task

I am yet too new in the office to give a full appraisal of our task as a conference; I shall write of it from time to time. But part of it was the payment of indebtedness on the Children's Home due through failure of the Home to receive sufficient funds for operating expenses. Superintendent Dixon found much of it there when he went there and it has gotten to be a handicap to him; we want to raise it at once. Conference set apart November 20-27 as the week of prayer for the Home and for raising this indebtedness. Please to cooperate in every possible way. If you cannot give a day's wage, then give a dollar, and if a dollar is too much for you, be sure to give something. Let every loyal friend of the church and of the Home have a share in raising this debt.

It Is Time to Build

Have we not spent time enough in deploring our hard times, in tracing the extent of the financial depression? Let us therefore forget it. We could spend the whole year in recounting past failures—in discussing those radiant dreams which never came, and in telling of the big opportunities which knocked at our door while we were absent.

But first let us adjust ourselves to the present economic shrinkage of values and begin to rebuild what was destroyed by the last panic. And to do this all separative, divissive facts and forces out of our minds. If some pastor failed to go where he wanted to go most and if some delegate failed to get the pastor he most wanted to get, forget it; work harder, pray more, and give more to the church and you will be happier than ever before. Certainly no good can come of nursing bitter regrets and in keeping alive strife and contention.

Let Us Keep

It is a tragedy for a church to split up, for its members to quarrel. It is the devil's dynamite by which he blows them into smitherreens. He must be content whenever he gets church folks fussing with each other—he can rest then because they are doing his job. If you want to work for the prince of the power of darkness, for the most consummate liar, for one who has scored highest on degeneracy, then join some church faction and stir up the folk into a real fight.

Let Us Work Harder

Last year the life insurance companies sold more insurance than ever—they worked harder than ever to make the sales, but they delivered the policies. What is true of insurance is of the gospel. If we work harder than ever before, shall we not also find we have won more souls, raised more money and got more joy out of the task than ever before? It is worth trying.

We are challenged by the present situation. The need for funds, the inability of our people to pay as much as formerly, the lack of morale in the membership and the feeling among many that the church is no longer needed should challenge us to our very best endeavor as we face the future.

Chairmen to Head Up Laymen's Fellowship

These chairmen were appointed by Dr. S. W. Taylor by order of conference and are as follows for respective districts;

District No. 1, J. M. Cutchin, Whitakers; No. 2, C. W. Basket, Henderson; No. 3, M. P. Efland, Efland; No. 4, G. L. Amick, Burlington; No. 5, D. S. Coltrane, Greensboro; No. 6, Dr. W. A. Johnson, Reidsville; No. 7, R. C. Causey, Liberty; No. 8, L. L. Wrenn, Siler City; No. 9, W. L. Ward, Asheboro; No. 10, E. L. Douglas, High Point; No. 11, D. R. Connell, Thomasville; No. 12, J. B. Leonard, Lexington; No. 13, N. V. Johnson, Denton; No. 14, B. K. Millaway, Winston-Salem; No. 15, P. P. Richards, Lawndale; No. 16, L. H. Sides, Concord; No. 17, E. W. Cole, Charlotte; No. 18, Fred Edwards, Weaverville.

Fraternally yours,

R. M. Andrews.

◆

IF CHRIST SHOULD COME TONIGHT

Is my house set in order
  If Christ should come today?
What tasks would be unfinished
  If I were called away?

Suppose an angel told me
  At early morning light,
"Your Lord will come this evening,
  You shall go Home tonight!"

Would ecstasy be clouded
  By thought of work undone,
The seed I might have scattered,
  The crowns I might have won?

The soul I meant to speak to,
  The purse I meant to share,
And O the wasted moments
  I meant to spend in prayer!

The weight of unsaved millions
  Would press upon my heart.
In their death am I certain
  That I had not a part?

And such a few short moments
  In which to set things right!
How feverishly I'd labor
  Until the waning light!

O slothful soul and careless heart,
  O eyes which have no sight,—
Work, lest you reap but vain regrets!
  Your Lord may come tonight!

—Martha Snell Nicholson.

◆

Leaders of youth and young people themselves will make this emphasis a vital part of their program this coming fall and winter. Now is the time to make plans.

OUR STORY PAGE

THE PRESIDENT'S TURKEY

Senator was the biggest turkey in the barnyard. Harry was raising him for the President.

Father had read one day (when Senator was not much bigger than a spring chicken) a long piece in the paper about the big Thanksgiving turkey that always went to the President for a present. He made father read it all over, with the number of pounds the turkey weighed, the name of the man who sent it, the way it was packed, and all about it.

"I guess my turkey will weigh as much as that, don't you, when he's grown up?" asked Harry hopefuly. "You see, he has such a long while to grow in. It's most a year to Thanksgiving."

As it came near the middle of November, Harry began to worry for fear Senator would grow too big. "Turkey's aren't so tender too big," mother said. "You want to keep just a good President size. What do you do to keep growing so?"

"Gobble, gobble, gobble!" said Senator.

"I believe you," laughed Harry.

"Well, I can't let you starve, so here's your breakfast. But I believe you're getting just about big enough, Senator!" Thanksgiving week father thinned out the flock of turkeys, to be ready to carry to the city, and he had Harry's packed in a box by itself. Dressed and weighed, it tipped the beam at twenty-eight pounds. The hired man said it "was a dandy."

"You can write a letter to the President, if you want to," said his father. "He likes little boys, and whether he eats the turkey or not, he is likely to see the letter."

So Harry sat up long after bedtime that night writing to "Dear Mr. President." That was how he happened to be awake when the big fire engines dashed down the road, and the loud clanging bells began their uproar, and people ran to windows and balconies to see the red sky painted with the terrible hues of a city's burning. Only a few miles away whole streets were being made into hot piles of ashes; and all along the roads that led out to the country men and women and little children were fleeing for their lives. Just their lives—few dared to stop to try to save anything else.

Then morning came. The sky was black and smoky now, with red streaks now and then when some explosion of flame lighted it up for a moment. Harry waked from a troubled sleep on the sofa where mother had let him lie down to be near her while she watched the fire. Father had gone long ago over the bridge to the burning city, and so had Ralph and the hired man and most of the neighbors. She was pale and anxious, and started at every cry in the street or knock at the door. Suddenly there came such a loud knock that she went down to see. A woman was there, bareheaded, and she had two little children by the hand.

"We have walked all night!" she said. "Our house is gone. Everything is gone."

"And we're so hungry!" sobbed the oldest little boy, seeing Harry, who had followed his mother down the stairs.

All day they fed the hungry. Sometimes it was women and children, sometimes it was half-famished men. Always the smell of smoke clung about them. They looked scared and "queer," Harry whispered to his mother, hanging to her skirts while she cut bread and meat in the pantry, or made steaming pails of coffee.

By noon father came home, and then the others came straggling in, faint and hungry with working all night, and sick with the sights they had seen. The house now looked like a hospital. It was on the main road, and beds and sofas were all full, and some were made up on the floor with rugs and shawls for the chldren.

"Father!" said mother. "They have eaten all I have in the house. I shall have to cook some beans for them."

"Beans and potatoes and all there is in the cellar," said father promptly. "When God sends guests we musn't grudge giving all we've got to give."

"Father!" cried Harry, suddenly, as his eyes fell on the unfinished letter to the President. "Do you believe the President would care?"

Father stared a moment, then understood the thought in Harry's mind.

"Care? No, my boy!" he shouted. "He would be glad, and you shall give these poor things the best Thanksgiving dinner they ever had in their lives, and your mother will cook it! Trust her!"

So all those hungry people ate up the President's turkey.—The Child's Hour.

THE BIBLE

The Bible is inspired. It is a unit. It was written by men speaking God's Word through the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. The Old and New Testament are inseparable. In their entirety the Scriptures unfold Christ, reveal the Saviour, and should be studied as a single revelation. God has given two wonderful volumes in which He reveals Himself. He shows Himself in nature, which we are apt to neglect. He is revealed in His Law which is perfect, converting the soul.

There were two dispensations, two arrangements. We have the Old Testament and the New. The day of the Saviour's death divides one from the other and still binds them together. Both Testaments claim inspiration for all. The Pentateuch throws light on the Epistle to the Hebrews. The Law and the Prophets and Psalms are duplicated in the New. Much has been written on the miracles of the New Testament. It is too bad there has not been more written concerning the miracles of the Old Testament.

The Old Testament provided for a permanent ministry. There are instructions in the New Testament for the same thing. As we study the Pentateuch the forms of Christianity are upheld. The typical rites of circumcision and the passover symbolize great truths. Similar truths are revealed in baptism and the Lord's Supper in the New Testament. Both Old and New Testaments warn against formalism.

There is no warrant for criticism of the Bible. The four Gospels were written by different men. Each of them was anxious to reach classes of people with the story of Christ. The Acts describe the work of the risen Saviour. The Bible is our only guide. Following it we will not go astray. In Genesis Satan was master, but Revelation closes the Book showing paradise, where there is no reptile, no sin, no wickedness. The conquest of Christ over sin is complete. Salvation has come to the world.—The C. U. Herald.

WHAT IS SIN?

Sin is the great block and bar to our happiness, the procurer of all man's miseries, both here and hereafter: take away sin and nothing can hurt us: for death, temporal, spiritual, and eternal is the wages of it.

Sin, and man for sin, is the object of the wrath of God. How dreadful therefore to commit sin. More dreadful still who continues in sin. For who can grapple with the wrath of God?

No sin against God can be little, because it is against the great God of Heaven and earth; but if the sinner can find out a little God, it may be easy to find out little sins.

Sin turns all God's grace into wantonness; it is the dare of His justice, the rape of His mercy, the jeer of His patience, the slight of His power, and the contempt of His love.

Take heed of giving thyself liberty of committing one sin, for that will lead to another; till by an ill custom, it becomes natural.

To begin a sin, is to lay a foundation for a continuance; this continuance is the mother of custom; and impudence at last the issue.

The death of Christ giveth us the best discovery of ourselves, in what condition we were, in that nothing could help us but that; and the most clear discovery of the dreadful nature of sins. For if sin be so dreadful a thing as to wring the heart of the Son of God, how shall a poor wretched sinner be able to bear it?—"Grace Abounding."

SOMETHING BETTER

The following is a marked illustration of the fulfilment of those words of George Mueller: "God never withholds anything from His children except to give them something better."

The young couple to whom this occurred were poor and had rented rooms, the owner living in the balance of the house. In the spring each of them had two hives of bees. The landlord's bees swarmed three or four times. The tenant's bees swarmed only once. Then the landlord's bees swarmed again, and while they were being hived, the tenant's young wife, with baby in her arms, was in the shade of the house watching the process. The landlord's old father, near eighty, came there, too. "Too bad," said he, "that your bees don't swarm again."

"Oh, no!" she said brightly. "I've lately read that George Mueller says that God never withholds anything from His children except to give them something better. I expect He has something better for us. I don't know what it is, but He will give us something better."

"Well," the old man sighed, adding rather dubiously, "I hope so."

"I expect Him to," she reaffirmed.

When the honey season was over, moths were found among the landlord's bees; he had no honey and very few bees.

The young tenant went to his bees, around on the other side of the house, and found them heavy with honey. They had honey to sell, and plenty to eat.

So his wife received both a spiritual and temporal answer to her faith in God. She had grace and honey.

"Have faith in God" (Mark 11:22). "The Lord is able to give thee much more than this" (II Chron. 25:9).—The S. S. Banner.

GOD USES THINGS THAT ARE BROKEN

God uses most for His glory those people and things which are most perfectly broken. The sacrifices He accepts are broken and contrite hearts. It was the thorough breaking down of Jacob's natural strength at Peniel that got him where God could clothe him with spiritual power.

It was when the three hundred elect soldiers under Gideon broke their pitchers, a type of breaking themselves, that the hidden lights shone forth to the consternation of their adversaries. It was when the poor widow broke the seal of the little pot of oil, and poured it forth, that God multiplied it to pay her debts and supply means of support.

It was when Esther risked her life and broke through the rigid etiquette of a heathen court that she obtained favor to rescue her people from death. It was when Jesus took the five loaves and broke them, that the bread was multiplied in the very act of breaking, sufficient to feed five thousand. It was when Mary broke her beautiful alabaster box, rendering it henceforth useless, that the pent-up perfume filled the whole house. It was when Jesus allowed His precious body to become broken to pieces by thorns and nails and spear, that His inner life was poured out, like a crystal ocean for thirsty sinners to drink and live.

God must have BROKEN THINGS.—The Regular Baptist Call.

THE BAD BRIDGE

A horseman rode across a dangerous bridge one dark night, and on reviewing the place next day he fell into a swoon when he became sensible of the danger which, by the darkness of the night, was hidden from him. If unsaved people could only see how near they are to a lost eternity, how they would flee for refuge to the Christ of God. But the danger is none the less although they are blind to it. If unsheltered by the Blood of Christ, there is nothing before you but a certain fearful looking for of judgment. We read of those who shall say, "Peace and safety," yet "sudden destruction" shall come upon them, and they shall not escape. If through faith in God's Son you have not "peace with God" (Rom. 5:1) as to your sins, you stand in jeopardy every hour.—W. S., in Glad Tidings.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for November 27, 1932

TO WHAT EXTENT IS OUR CHURCH THE RESULT OF MISSIONARY EFFORTS?

Scripture Text I Cor. 4:6-16.

The church takes its beginning fifty days after the resurrection of Christ and ten days after His ascension. The disappearance of the leader was followed by ten days of prayer which led up to the coming of the Holy Spirit and the organization of the church. Peter, who had felt this marvelous power, preached the sermon of the day of Pentecost. Following the sermon three thousand souls were added to the group of believers. These formed the basis of the church, becoming ning the church of Christ has grown to charter members. From this small begin- include millions of people. The early church was formed of those who had been with Jesus. They had also spent time in prayer that they might be endowed with power from on high. These people were in one mood or spirit; their ideas were directed toward one thing and they received the object of their desire. They went forthwith a message and with power and even the gates of hell were powerless to prevail against them.

The early Christians were not content to know the story of Christ and withold it from the rest of the world but they were interested in preaching the "glad tidings" to every creature of the earth. The story was told in the face of threats from the Jewish church and the Roman government. The first idea was to bind the men who were preaching the gospel, but the gospel was not bound and story was told without ceasing. Many were put to death and to every form of punishment but there was a message that could not be silenced. These men had a message and a conviction and all the power of the Caesars' could not bind the gospel. We wish in vain that some people could get that burning conviction today and would help to liberate those who are in darkness.

The aim of the early church and the later church has been to tell the story of Christ and redeeming love. It was that zeal which caused Paul to carry the good news to Europe. It was the same spirit which made men cross the ocean for the cause which they felt was right and establish on the American shore a land for freedom of religious worship. If the message had been kept in the church at Jerusalem we would be without the church which we have today. When we look at missions in this light, it is difficult for us to imagine Christians who are not aflame to carry the gospel to those who have never heard. We are the products of missionary effort and now we have the opportunity to continue the onward march of the Christ of Calvary and His world redemption.

A few years ago two bodies of one denomination divided. One group was opposed to missionary enterprises but the other realized its debt to the heathen nations of the world. The group which was not missionary in its program has, after more than a half-century, fewer members than it had at the beginning of the period. The other group has increased itself many times and is today among the foremost Protestant denominations. The illustration tells a great deal. There is no choice for the church of today, we must be missionary or we will eventually die. There is more demanded than a small offering on special days, missionary enterprises must come in for a large part in the budget of every church and its value impressed on every mind.

We are often discouraged at the slowness with which the world is being won to Christ. The progress has not been commensurate with that of other endeavors but the advance has been continuous. We need an awakened interest in these who have never heard the story of a Savior. We need a Pentecost that will give the church renewed power and that will bring unity of spirit. The church has been crippled by divisions. More than three hundred separate denominations are struggling to maintain themselves and to project their causes. If there could united effort in missions alone we could pray with more clearness of heart, "Thy will be done." Progress has been made under division but this advancement has been made despite it and not because of it. We are forced to say that only a Divine institution could withstand this curse of division. The church is losing prestige and power but the result may be that some of our lines of separation will be obliterated and the concerted effort of the united church of Christ will soon tell the gospel of salvation.

The virility and power of the early church has been the marvel of the ages, yet we need not wonder when we know that there was one purpose and the power of God behind the effort. We are the recipients of a long heritage of missionary desire and labor and because of this we are obligated to carry the gospel to those who still in ignorance bow down to wood and stone. May God give His church a sense of its responsibility and a more determined effort to bring the world to a saving knowledge of His grace.

Quotable Poetry

In the days of old how mighty was
The gospel from above.
It stirred the hearts and souls of men
To sacrifice and love;
Upon the corner-stone, "God's Son,"
Upon God's holy Word,
They stood and pledged their lives, their all,
Forever to the Lord.

With pow'r divine these holy men
Declared the saving word;
The hosts of sin they bravely met,
Armed with the Spirit's sword.
The sick were healed, the lost were saved,
The souls of men reborn;
To Christ the Lord e'en kings bowed down,
The night was wreathed in morn.

The church today is tried by fire,
By popes and creeds are cursed;
God'e precious truth is turned aside,
His holy will aspersed.
But "gates of hell shall not prevail,"
A mighty host's aroused;
With faith undaunted, courage high,
They have allegiance vowed.

A blessed day dawns on our sight,
Its glories are untold;
The church in all her pristine power
Has triumphed round the world.
Her ordinances, doctrine, life,
Have been at length restored;
She is prepared, the "bride of Christ,"
For evermore adored.

Suitable Songs

"All Hail the Power of Jesus' Nae," "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations," "Faith of Our Fathers," "Am I a Soldier of the Cross," "Onward Christian Soldiers," "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," "If Jesus Goes With Me."

EIGHT YEARS IN GOD'S SERVICE

As conference is over, I guess the people of the different churches knew who their pastor is. I guess some of the churches have their same one back. Mr. Troxler came back to Shiloh charge, and we are more than glad to have him with us for another year. This is his ninth year on this work, but we are not tired of him yet. We always enjoy his wonderful messages, and his sweet gospel songs. May God see fit to send him back to us many years more. May Shiloh have a wonderful year's work this year, I know she will if she will take Mr. Troxler's teachings.

Mr. Troxler has meant much to us young people, and if we will do what he asks us to do I am sure we will be doing the right thing. Young people listen to him and take his teachings. He always carries a ray of light, wherever he goes. He means much to our community. He is ready to help us in any way he can. In sickness and health he is a helper.

May God continue to bless him in his work.

A Member of Shiloh M. P. Church.

◆

—The new address of Dr. S. W. Taylor is 427 West Lexington Ave., High Point, N. C.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

MISS HODGES' APPOINTMENTS

Miss Hodges will come to Reidsville Saturday morning and speak on Sunday at Friendship, Haw River circuit, at 10 a. m.; Mizpah, same circuit, at 11:30 a. m.; Bethel, Flat Rock circuit, 2:20 p. m.; Reidsville, 7:30 p. m.

MRS. J. H. ALLEN, District Chmn.

* * *

Miss Olive Hodges will be at the following churches in District No. 4:

Graham, Sunday evening, Nov. 27, at 7:30.

Gibsonville, Monday afternoon, Nov. 28, at 3:30.

Burlington, First Church, Monday evening, Nov. 28, at 7:30.

Haw River, Tuesday evening, Nov. 29, at 7:30.

Tuesday afternoon a group meeting will be held at Fountain Place, unless otherwise announced. The congregations from Fairview and Glen Raven churchees will hear Miss Hodges at Gibsonville and Burlington.

MRS. W. J. JENNINGS, Dist. Chm.

* * *

We wish to announce that Miss Olive Hodges will speak to the ladies of District No. 5 on Wednesday evening, November 30, at 7:30, at Calvary M. P. church. This district includes the following churches: Shady Grove, Midway, St. Paul, Grace, Calvary and West End. We are very anxious to have a full attendance of all the ladies in this district as we are quite sure Miss Hodges will bring us a wonderful message. Mrs. H. C. Nicholson, of Mebane, chairman of districts, will also be with us.

On Thursday evening, December 1, an informal reception for Miss Hodges will be held in the Grace parsonage, to which all the ladies of the Fifth District are cordially invited.

MRS. J. R. HOLDEN, District Chmn.

* * *

There will be a district meeting of all the auxiliaries in District No. 7, which includes Liberty, Mount Pleasant, Pleasant Union, Julian, Tabernacle and Moriah.

The meeting will be held at Moriah M. P. church Friday, December 2nd, 1932, beginning at 10:30 o'clock, A. M. Dr. T. M. Johnson will conduct the devotional; Dr. J. E. Pritchard, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, Winston-Salem, N. C., will review the Home Mission Study Book, "Facing the Future in Indian Misisons." This book deals with the life, problems and opportunities of the American Indians.

Lunch will be served in picnic style. In the afternoon we will have Miss Olive I. Hodges, who has been doing missionary work in Japan, with us, she being home on a furlough. We consider it a great privilege to have Miss Hodges with us on this occasion.

We hope every member of all the different auxiliaries and as many visitors as possible will be present for both morning and afternoon services.

Everybody, please, bring lunch.

MRS. E. T. COBLE,
Chairman of District No. 7.

WOMAN'S DAY AT THE CONFERENCE

A large and enthusiastic group of women met at Burlington on Thursday, November 10, to discuss various phases of their work in the Conference. The lady viistors to the College and their proxies, under thee direction of Mrs. S. S. Coe, and inspired by a helpful address by Dr. Humphreys, decided to enlarge the scope of their work and use their influence in getting high school graduates to attend the college. It was decided also to request the District Chairmen to see that a representative from the College have a place on the programs of their District meetings.

The meeting of the Executive Committee of the Branch was opened with devotional service led by Miss McAdams, a student from the college. Her subject was taken from the devotional book used by Auxiliaries this year, "Studies in the Portrait of Jesus," and the service was inspiring and helpful. The corresponding secretary reported four new Auxiliaries organized since April, and six or more young people's oganizations. Only half of the 90 report blanks sent out were returned; but of this number 24 had paid their budgets to date; 22 are using the efficienecy chart; 22 have young people's organizations, and 19 have received new members, totaling 91.

Spring Church Circuit Auxiliary is growing in interest and numbers. All Auxiliaries report work fo local chuch and parsonages and social service in addition to contributions for "World Service," ad the N. C. Budget.

A few "best plans" are as follows: Circle prayers, a variety of programs, a definite project each month, sacrificial giving, systematic giving, all working together. Mebane president gave each circle 25 cents from which they gained $50.00. Resolutions were referred to a committee appointed by the president, Mrs. Hammer. She also appointed a nominating committee to bring in names for resigning secretaries of departments. The afternoon session was opened with another fine devotional service, led by Miss Ina Guthrie, a student from the college, on another study in "The Portrait of Jesus."

Reports of departmental secretaries showed activity in most all phases of our work. With regret the resignations of Mrs. F. W. Paschall, secretary of Young People's Work, and Mrs. H. F. Surratt, secretary of Missionary Education, were accepted and the following women, whose names had been presented by the committee on nominations, were elected to serve the remainder of the year: Mrs. J. A. Gray, secretary of the Young People's Work, High Point, N. C., and Mrs. E. Lester Ballard, secretary Missionary Education, Greensboro, N. C.

One important resolution adopted was the one suggested by the Convention regarding the setting up of a committee from the Branch to co-operate with the Leadership Training School in encouraging a mission study class for adult leaders in church work. The chairman of districts reported progress in arranging the itinerary for Miss Hodges, who is now working in our Branch, and on motion was asked to request Miss Hodges to extend the time of her stay in the Branch if necessary.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the introduction of Dr. J. C. Broomfield, president of our General Conference. He made a very earnest and encouraging talk to the

* * *

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Philathea Class, Henderson	$ 10.00
Denton S. S.	15.00
Friendship S. S., Shiloh	2.50
C. E. Society, Mt. Pleasant, clothing child	2.50
Bethany S. S., Randolph	1.00
Pleasant Union S. S., Mt. Pleasant	1.30
Cedar Cliff S. S., Mt. Hermon	3.42
Brooks Grove, Mt. Morris, N. Y., T.O.	5.00
Haw River S. S., Glen Raven	4.25
Level Cross, Randleman	1.00
A Friend, T. O.	1.00
Fairview S. S., Anderson	1.00
Parkton S. S., Parkton, Md., T. O.	12.00
Mitchel's Grove S. S., Guilford	2.00
Shiloh S. S., Liberty	3.25
A. S. S. Class, Mt. Blanchard, Ohio, T. O.	1.00
Bloomington S. S., Moscow, Pa., T. O.	2.00
Midway S. S., Byesville, Ohio, T. O.	2.00
Midway S. S., Midway-Shady Grove	1.00
Calvary S. S.	15.00
Rock Creek, Va., T. O.	5.00
N. C. C. Stamey, Fallston, T. O.	100.00
Precious Jewels, St. Paul, Inwood, L. I., T. O.	1.00
Ladies Bible Class, R. I. Ave., Washington, D. C., clothing child	5.00

We are thankful for all these gifts, and especially thankful that the Thanksgiving offerings are coming in so early. The friend above is one of our oldest members, a shut-in, and if she is thankful a dollar's worth surely those who are well and going and have happy homes will be thankful more.

We greatly appreciate the gift of Mr. C. C. Stamey. One hundred like him would lift us above financial stress.

Clothing and Other Gifts

Kans., seven dresses, four pieces underwear,

Rose Hill Missionary society, Rose Hill, one suit for little boy.

Mrs. O. R. Brown, Springfield, Md., one dress, one towel, three tea towels, one pair overalls, one pair shoes.

Jimmie Owens, one football, one baseball and one baseball bat.

Mrs. C. W. Bates, one coat and one coat-suit.

Miss Mollie Wheelis, one coat.

Guilford Circuit, second donation with more to follow, four pumpkins, 36 quarts of fruit and vegetables, six heads cabbage, one peck onions, one peck sweet potatoes and one-half bushel Irish potatoes.

Miss Mary A. Daniel, Pleasant Hill, one coat and one coat-suit, wth one pair shoes from Mrs. Dunham.

Mrs. P. W. Miller, Cooper, Texas, one quilt.

Union Grove Auxiliary, Orange Circuit, two quilts.

Union Grove Auxiliary, four dresses and two pieces of underwear.

* * *

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Shoals, Mt. Zion-Pinnacle charge.—Wednesday evening after the first Sunday, Brother A. L. Hunter met the church here and elected R. T. Moser superintendent for another year, Verna Hauser, secretary, J. P. Owen, class leader, and H. Odell Moser, reporter.

There were other officers elected at this time, but I have failed to get all their names.

Brother Gaugh preached for us the second Sunday. We were very glad to have him preach for us; he brought to us a helpful message. Brother Gaugh has lived all his life in this community, and his many friends know him as a splendid Christian and have the utmost confidence in him. We are always glad to have him preach at our church.

Lightning did some damage to the church steeple last summer, it has been repaired, and looks better than it did, as it is not so high now as it was.

We are very glad indeed to have Brother Hunter back with us. We hope to make this the best year yet in the service of our Master. And if we are successful in doing it, we must start doing things right now, and be ready to do all you can in any way you can to help carry on His work. Since Jesus has taken our Brother I. O. Hauser to live with Him, we will have to do many things now that he did. Friends, you know how he loved his church, and how he hated to see it drag, now let's all try to keep the work going as Ira did.

H. ODELL MOSER, Reporter.

* * *

Shiloh.—Rev. R. S. Troxler is entering the ninth year of his pastorate at Shiloh. He preached at the 11 o'clock service from the 12th chapter of Hebrews, verses 1 and 2. Some thoughts from his message follow:

Attainment means struggle. No one can live the Christian life easily; one may be a church member without difficulty. Our greatest enemy is not our fellowman, but against enemies unseen, the powers of dorkness and spiritual wickedness in high places. On the one side stands the Captain of our salvation, ever ready to help us; on the other side stands the Prince of the power of darkness, seeking to destroy us. In the heart of man is waged such a battle as no man can describe. We are told to put on the armor of God and fight. The battle will be ended only when we can lay the armor down and take up the crown when we shall cease to fight and begin to praise.

The most important thing in this life struggle is the ideal or aim toward which we reach, that is to know all the fullness of God. To do that it is necessary to lay aside every weight, those things that may not be so bad, yet they hinder our movements, and also lay aside the sin that doth so easily beset us, then run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith.

We are glad to report that Bro. Jesse L. Evans is rapidly improving and hopes to be able to be back at his beloved church before many weeks. Bro. Evans is the beloved teacher of the Young Men's Wide-Awake class and they are gratefully awaiting his return to them. So seldom was he absent before his illness that it is a new experience for them to be in their class without him.

The first quarterly conference will meet at Shiloh on December 6, Tuesday, at 2:30 p. m. Dr. Andrews or his representative will be present.

Shiloh church will be open all day on Thanksgiving Day to receive any gift that you may bring for the Children's Home. We are asked to bring not just something we can spare, but to SHARE with them of our own living.

"Not what we give, but what we share,
The gift without the giver is bare;
Who gives himself with his alms feeds three,
Himself, his hungering neighbor, and Me."

At 7 o'clock Thursday night will be held a Thanksgiving service at Shiloh. Come.

MRS. WILEY SHOAF, Reporter.

* * *

Charlotte.—Last Wednesday evening the prayer and praise service was conducted by the Ever Ready Philathea Class. Mrs. McCall is the teacher and Miss Kitchen, assistant teacher. The attendance was very good.

Our former pastor, Rev. R. M. Andrews, who was elected president of the Conference, and family are moving to High Point.

We had with us Sunday our new pastor, Rev. G. H. Hendry, and wife and daughter, Louise. They hope to get moved at an early date. Bro. Hendry preached at the 11 o'clock and 7:30 hours. His messages to us were indeed inspirational and were delivered in a most pleasing manner. Those of our membership who did not hear him, should have. Come on, good folk, and let us help make this year the best yet. Let each one of us do our part, be workers, not shirkers, for in unity there is strength.

The mid-week prayer service will be held at the church Wednesday evening at 7:30. Mr. G. W. Stegall will be in charge.

The Auxiliary ladies are planning an oyster and fish supper next week at the church.

We hope to have a newsy letter for next week. REPORTER.

* * *

Friendship Station.—Thanks to Annual Conference for the return of our pastor, Rev. O. B. Williams. He brought us one of the most wonderful messages we have ever heard at the 11 o'clock service. His text was "Love One Another." If you want a good spiritual feed, come to Friendship church.

Pray for us that it may be the best year in the history of our church.

REPORTER.

* * *

Oak Grove, Cleveland Charge.—We are indeed glad that our new president, Dr. R. M. Andrews, saw fit to assign this charge to our good pastor, Rev. C. E. Ridge, again. Bro. Ridge and his family have been with us for the past four years and I am sure I speak the sentiment of the entire charge when I say we were indeed anxious and glad for his return, and wish to extend to them a most hearty welcome.

Bro. Ridge filled his regular appointment Sunday night; a large congregation was present to hear him. He chose for his subject the "Unfinished Work." Several visitors were present Sunday night from our neighboring churches. Our doors are always open to them. Hope they will come again.

Our Sunday school and C. E. are moving along nicely although we haven't had the attendance that we should have. Bro. Sankie Haynes was elected superintendent for the coming year. We are sure he will make a good superintendent. We wish to thank Bro. R. A. White for his faithful service as superintendent for the past year. As next Sunday is set apart for our thank-offering for the Children's Home hope every church will make a hearty response.

MRS. F. H. GRIGG, Reporter.

* * *

Spring Hill, North Davidson Charge.—The Sunday school attendance has been very good; attendance was 129 last Sunday.

The people are very glad to have Rev. O. C. Loy as pastor for the next year, who was the pastor for the past year. He delivered his first sermon for the new year last Sunday at 11 o'clock with a large audience present.

The church officials for the year are as follows: Superintendent, J. L. Craven; assistant superintendent, C. W. Haynes; secretary, Clark Haynes; class leaders, Alice Haynes and Mrs. Hilton; ushers, Clyde Swaim, Alfred Swaim, Daniel Craven and Vestal Griffin; stewards, Mrs. J. L. Craven, Mrs. Richard Byerly, Nellie Wade, Garcia Sink and J. D. Collett; reporter, Bernice Swaim; and the trustees are the same as last year.

A program will be given by the Christian Endeavor Society next Sunday night. After the program the members will elect new officers for the society.

Mrs. Julia York has been absent from church services for the past few Sundays due to illness. BERNICE SWAIM, Reporter.

* * *

Mizpah, Haw River Circuit.—We are so happy to have our beloved pastor, Rev. J. L. Trollinger, serve us another year. He filled his appointment Sunday morning. As usual he preached an inspiring sermon. He challenged us to do our very best for the Master's kingdom this year.

All officers of the church and Sunday school have been elected and installed. Each one plays an important part in the work of the church. Crurch mechanism is similar to human mechanism, all parts functioning co-operatively in order to be a live church.

Our pastor appointed two reporters from Mizpah church, so you may expect to keep in contact with the work during the year.

Our church will send a Thanksgiving offering to the Children's Home Thanksgiving.

MRS. ROY STUART, Reporter.

* * *

Weaverville.—We are happy to be returned to this people again, which will be our third year on this work. The prospects for the future are brighter by far than at ony time during the present pastorate.

We visited two of the churches yesterday, November 20, for the regular appointments, and we were in turn greeted by splendid congregations at each church, which was a very gratifying beginning for the new Conference year.

Our good fried and brother, Rev. J. Elwood Carroll, of the Asheville church, came for the Christian Endeavor at the Weaverville church and delivered a splendid address on "Pioneering," a special musical program was rendered by the C. E. Society, assisted by Miss Caynell Franklin, Miss Whitesides and her brother, Alton Whitesides. Miss Franklin sang, Miss Whitesides at the piano, and Mr. Whitesides with the violin.

Our first quarterly conference of the charge will be held on Thursday evening, December 1, at Clark's Chapel; hour, 7:30 o'clock. All officials are earnestly requested to be present at this time and place.

We trust that the Methodist Protestant Family in North Carolina and throughout he bounds of our beloved church may have a happy Thanksgiving season.

E. G. COWAN, Pasor.

* * *

Winston-Salem, First.—It is easy to use superlatives and make exaggerations, but without resorting to these I will say that the most delightful welcome service we have ever had took place during the last 15 minutes of our Sunday school yesterday. The program was under the direction of our new Sunday school superintendent, Mr. B. K. Millaway, who has already proved himself a master in planning short programs. After some introductory remarks by the superintendent, Miss Margaret Smith arose and in a beautiful short speech welcomed the pastor and his wife back for another year in behalf of the young people of the church. In rapid succession beautiful short speeches were made by Mrs. F. D. Voss, Mr. J. W. Hester, Sr., Mr. R. L. Hopper and Mrs. H. G. Paschall. The pastor and his wife were asked to come to the chancel and face the audience. Almost immediately, without any announcement, Miss Marie Shouse of the Junior Department started a procession which included the entire Sunday school, each member of the school shaking hands with the pastor and his wife and expressing pleasure over their being returned for another year.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

* * *

Tabernacle-Julian.—Before sunset on the day Conference adjourned the new pastor was at the Tabernacle-Julian parsonage with a load of his belongings. It was found that the parsonage was being renovated throughout. The walls were being papered and the inside wood-work was being painted and floors were to be stained. The work of this improvement retarded the moving until Thursday. But on this morning, plenty early, the brethren were on hand with their farm trucks to move us to our new home. When the family arrived a warm reception was awaiting us. A number of the good people were on hand to make us welcome. The good ladies had cleaned the house, washed the winnows and put the house in good order. A Majestic range had been placed in the kitchen. So, good-by, old oil stove, we need you no more. Wood was also found on the yard and another load has come in since.

Since we have arrived much has been done for our comfort. A number have offered helping hands and as the people have found their way to the parsonage they have brought the many good things that have given us to know the good people and the good things about us. Chickens, fresh meat, butter, milk, cakes, canned goods, vegetables and fruits of various kinds are some of the good things received during our short sojourn in our new new "In the house by the side of the road." All this we so greatly appreciate and we feel we are among a good people where we hope and pray that we may do a good work during our pastorate here.

Both churches have been visited and it seems that both are doing good work. On last Sunday morning Julian was visited. There was a good Sunday school and at the 11 o'clock hour there was a good number of attentive worshipers. Because of certain conditions, Julian has never grown to be a large church, but this church is composed of as faithful a band of true workers as is to be found anywhere. It was the pleasure of the pastor and family to share the hospitality of Bro. and Sister Hanner for a good dinner. Thanks to this good family.

In the afternoon it was our pleasure to be at the Tabernacle church. Here a large Sunday school was found that seemed to be doing a good work. A good Sunday school building has recently been completed. This means much to the work. A large congregation nearly filled the spacious auditorium. Tabernacle has a great history. It is more than 100 years old. The North Carolina Conference has met in this church as many as three times. The church seems to be living up to its rich history. We believe there is a great work to do here. We pray for the help of the Heavenly Father that the work may be done well.

GEO. L. CURRY.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—An innovation was introduced in the worship service Sunday morning, the first service of the new Conference year, when four prominent laymen and one good-looking lay-woman filed into the pulpit with the minister, Rev. R. I. Farmer: Mr. John C. Whitesell as the new superintendent of the Sabbath school asked for the cooperation of parents and pupils to make this the best year in the school's history; Mr. J. H. Pritchard, chairman of the board of ushers, begged that the front seats as well as those in the rear be filed every Sabbath morning; Mr. F. R. Auman, representing the stewards, urged co-operation and announced that on next Sunday, November 27, the Every Member Canvass will be conducted, beginning at 2 o'clock, p. m., when all who have not made their pledges beforehand, are requested to remain at home until one of the stewards can visit them; Mrs. Paul S. Kennett, as president of the Woman's Auxiliary, took occasion to thank every member for her beauty and loyal support, and then announced the different Circle meetings for Monday afternoon; and Mr. Ralph H. Vance, as president of the Senior C. E. Society, entreated all youg people and older as well to attend one or both of the Societies' meetings, the date for the Senior having been changed from Monday evening to Sunday evening. After a lovely anthem by the choir, "O, Praise Ye the Lord," the solo part being sung by Mrs. J. Walker, Rev. Mr. Farmer delivered an able sermon on the subject, "What Results Without Us?" from the text in Heb. 11:40, "God having provided some better things for us, that they without us should not be made perfect." In the evening service at 7:30 the minister spoke on "The Vitalized Personality," being a sequel to the recent sermon on "The Personality of Jesus."

As the response after the minister's first prayer, Prof. E. B. Stimson played a lovely composition of his own for choir and organ. He is an accomplished and talented musician of high rank, and has added composer to his already long list of accomplishments, sings well, is a splendid organist and capable instructor of music.

The Circles of the Womans Auxiliary held meetings which were attended in various homes Monday afternoon.

A Thanksgiving service, with the four Methodist Protestant churches of the city uniting, will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock in First church. The minister will deliver a brief message, and an offering of cash and groceries will be taken for the Children's Home. Everybody is earnestly urged to donate the amount of one day's wages or income as a thank-offering for blessings and benefits receievd during the past year.

High Point will halt industry and business ateivities for Thanksgiving next Thursday; post office, banks, mills, factories, shops, will close in order to give their employees one day's holiday; High Point College will give faculty and students that brief rest; the city schools will grant a respite from Wednesday afternoon till Monday morning, and many out-of-town teachers will go home to join their families around the festive board; the public library will be closed for the day. Turkey is cheaper this year than in many past Novembers, and the national bird will grace many a board for this joyous and gala holiday. A number of High Point alumni of State University will journey to Charlottesville, Va., to witness the annual football classic between these rivals of old, Carolina and Virginia.

A pretty and interesting wedding was solemnized at the Children's Home last Friday evening at 5 o'clock when Miss Mary Louise Crickmore, one of the girls of the Home family, became the bride of Mr. Lloyd McClure, of Jamestown. The ceremony was performed by Dr. A. G. Dixon in the chapel, which was profusely decorated with palms, ferns, and chrysanthemums, in the presence of the entire Home family and relatives of the bride and groom. Just prior to the marriage Miss Margaret Opal Neese sang very sweetly "At Dawning" and "To a Wild Rose," and to the strains of the old favorite, Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Laura Braswell, the bridal party entered. Two small children, Miss Margaret Ann Hamlin, flower-bearer, and Master Paul Ray Robbins, carrying the ring, came first, followed by Miss Margaret Crickmore, the bride's sister, who was her only bridesmaid; the groom entered with his best man, Mr. Ernest Spencer, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George Crickmore. She was becomingly dressed in dark blue, and carried white chrysanthemums, while her sister's flowers were yellow chrysanthemums. Immediately after the vows were spoken, the happy young pair left by motor for Asheville, where they will spend a few days, after which they will be at home to their friends in High Point. The bride is a graduate of Jamestown High School, class of 1930, was reared in the Home, and is an attractive and lovable young lady, while Mr. McClure is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. McClure, of Jamestown, and is associated with his father in the milling business. These estimable and worthy young people possess a host of friends, who eytend to them congratulations and best wishes in the new life they are now entering, with the hope that they may enjoy the fullest happiness and success which they richly deserve. On Thursday evening a delicious buffet supper was served at the superintendent's cottage in their honor to the bridal party and relatives of the bride and groom. A delightful shower was given last week in Greensboro at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hornaday on Tabernacle Road by a number of friends, which proved to be a happy social occasion, and the bride received a number of beautiful and useful gifts. Other parties are being planned in her honor.

We regret very much to note the serious illness of both Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Holleman at the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. C. Robbins, on Archdale Road, south of the city. A host of friends join in wishing a speedy recovery for each of them.

Congratulations are extended by many interested friends to Robert D. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Davis, Woodrow Avenue, upon his initiation last week into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. Robert is a member of the Junior class at U. N. C., and First church is proud of his achievement. He was one of a group of 11 young men to receive this well deserved honor.

We are pained to announce that Miss Alma Andrews, student at the College and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Andrews, underwent an operation for appendicitis at High Point Hospital Monday morning. Little Miss Eunice Boyd, 10-year-old daughter of Mrs. R. C. Boyd, of English street, also underwent the same operation on Sunday at Guilfard General Hospital. Their many friends wish sincerely for a successful outcome and rapid recovery.

The congregation is planning to give Rev. and Mrs. R. I. Farmer a "pounding" on Wednesday evening, which is intended to be a surprise. All donations are to be carried or sent to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walker, next door, thence to be conveyed to the pastor and his family.

Dr. and Mrs. S. W. Taylor have moved to an apartment, 427 W. Lexington Ave., in order to be near the Lebanon church people, whose pastor he will be for the coming year. Their daughter, Frances, and son, John, who are students in the College, will board in the dormitories.

Mr. R. I. Farmer went to Durham Monday for treatment for sinus trouble at Duke University Hospital, but returned home that afternoon.

Dr. R. M. Andrews will move his family here from Charlotte Wednesday, and will occupy the Conference parsonage on West College Drive, recently vacated by Dr. Taylor and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Beamer Harrell, of Sumter, S. C., were grests Friday night of Lester and Miss Gertrude Teague en route to Chapel Hill to the Carolina-Duke game Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Rupert T. Pickens and Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Garland also attended this game.

◆

Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Pleasant.—Sunday started off our new Conference year with Dr. Johnson as our pastor again. The large crowd which was present to hear Dr. Johnson preach showed theier appreciation of our pastor's return. The Thanksgiving service Sunday morning consisted of a Thanksgiving song and poem by the children and a Thanksgiving sermon by our pastor. Dr. Johnson read the 24th Psalm, stating that this selection of Scripture always came to his mind at the Thanksgiving season. The origin of Thanksgiving was given and the observance of the day by the Pilgrims. Since the Proclamation issued by President Lincoln, the observance of Thanksgiving has been nation-wide. Dr. Johnson urged that we cultivate the habit of gratitude, thus showig our love for humanity. We have so much for which to be thankful at this time that we should not complain over our difficulties.

The first quarterly conftrence will be held at Mount Pleasant Monday, December 5, at 10:30. Dr. Andrews, the president of the Annual Conference will be present at that time.

It was announced that Miss Hodges, a returned missionary, will speak at Moriah December 2, at 2 o'clock. In the morning of the same day one of the misionary study books will be reviewed. The members of the Auxiliary are especially urged to attend the meeting.

A special Thanksgiving offering will be taken for the Children's Home next Sunday. Plans are being made to give food, farm produce and clothing to the Home. Such donations will be collected at the parsonage. Let us show our thankfulness by sharing what we have with someone who needs help.

MARGARET CAUSEY, Reporter.

◆

Forsyth.—We are glad that the Conference saw fit to return us to the Forsyth charge for another year. Our work here last year was pleasant and, we trust, profitable.

At the last quarterly conference the members voted unanimously for our return and at the last appointment of the year, which was held at Maple Springs church, the congregation gave a standing vote of appreciation for our services during the year and at the same titme expressed the desire that we might be returned for another year. These kind expressions are greatly appreciated and make us feel more determined to give the very best service possible.

This week is being observed throughout the charge as Children's Home Week, and we feel sure that the people will respond generously to this worthy cause. Already two turkeys have been sent to the Home as a contributiton toward the children's Thanksgiving dinner.

The churches are planning to hold Christmas services and at least one of them has already begun work on a pageant to be given on Christmas night.

We will hold our first quarterly conference at Maple Springs church next week, at which time we hope to have with us President Andrews or his representative.

Here is hoping that the Conference year just beginning may be one full of good works for us all and that through the efforts of the Methodist Protestants of North Carolina many souls may be brought into the Kingdom.

R. A. HUNTER, Pastor.

◆

Reidsville.—We are very happy indeed to have Dr. George R. Brown for our new pastor, the one we have learntd to love and work with for the past six years. I am sure we would hardly know what to do without Dr. and Mrs. Brown, for they have proved themselves faithful in all the work of the church and Sunday school. I trust that this may be the best year that we have had together and that they will have the most hearty co-operation of the entire membership throughout the year.

Dr. Brown used as a text, Isaiah 51:1, and as his subject, "The Kind of a Church That This Church Ought to Be" for his first message of the year. He urged us to be a live, warm , hopeful, serving, spiritual church. Leaving with us the thought that spiritual men and women make the most attractive church.

Mrs. L. E. Haynes entertained the Philathea Class at her lovely home on the Richardson road October 18. The officers were elected for the ensuing year and the regular business was transacted, after which a Hallowe'en contest was enjoyed. A tempting salad course was served by the hostess. The class adjourned to meet November 22 at the church with Mrs. J. R. McCollum and Mrs. Helen York as hostesses.

On November 30 a pageant entitled "The Home, Church, and School" will be given by the Woman's Auxiliary for the thank-offering service.

The Baraca class was entertained by Mr. L. E. Haynes at his home on November 11.

The Woman's Auxiliary met with Mrs. C. H. Garrison November 14. A miscellaneous shower was given for Miss Mary Crickmore at this meeting. At the close of the business meeting Circle No. 3 served delicious refreshments.

The officers of the church and Sunday school were elected before Conference with very few changes. Dr. J. S. Moore was elected Sunday school superintendent to succeed Mr. Charles J. Robert, who has served us so faithfully for several years, and Mrs. George Hunt was added to the list of teachers. We are looking forward to a good year in our Sunday school with Dr. Moore as leader.

The Rockinyham County Younf People's Conference meets in the Main Street Methodist Episcopal church December 6. Mr. Harry Allen, of our church, is chairman of the arrangements committee, and Miss Frances Pegram is registrar for our church. A large number of our young people will attend this conference.

LOLA McCOLLUM, Reporter.

◆

Lexington.—Our work for the new Conference year got off to a nice start Sunday. There were 275 at Sunday school.

We were all glad that the Conference saw fit to send Bro. C. G. Isley back for his fifth year with us. In our morning service the church was well filled. The pastor preached on what it takes to make a good church and to have a successful year, and at the close of the service he called on all those who wanted to see the church have a good year and all those who were anxious to see business get better and who believed that through prayer things would get better to come and take his hand and gather around the altar for prayer to God that He would see fit to send better times on the land. All those who were present responded to the call and prayer was offered by several of those gathered there.

We are strong believers in the power of prayer and we feel that if all of the churches would call on their people to pray for better times that God would bring a speedy end to this terrible depression which we have been passing through.

We were glad to note several visitors at the morning service and we noticed also that these same visitors who were with us at the morning service were present at the evening service and that they had brought others with them. We have the old time gospel preached at our church at all times and we always have good crowds present. We feel that the people are hungering for the old time gospel sermons and wanting to hear preachers preach who call sin sin, no matter who commits it, whether he be poor or rich. This is what our pastor has been preaching to us for the past four years and that is why we feel that God has so wonderfully blesesd us.

The board of stewards has the finances in good order to begin the year. The stewards had their envelopes delivered and had the pledges before the Annual Conference was over. We feel that the stewards are to be commended for this good start and we hope they will keep it up.

We are praying to God that He may richly bless all of the churches and their pastors as they begin this new year's work and that His kingdom may be greatly advanced during the coming year.

We extend a cordial welcome for all those who will to worship with us.

REPORTER.

Why Not.—Our first quarterly conference will meet at Love Joy church on Tuesday, December 6th, at 10:30 a. m.

Dr. Andrews, president of our Conference, will be present and preside. At the close of Conference dinner will be served on the grounds.

At this time our program for the year will be discussed and we urge a full attendance. The place is Love Joy church. The time is Tuesday, December 6, at 10:30 a. m. Be on time. G. L. REYNOLDS, Pastor.

Spring Church Charge.—I met two appointments yesterday, and was greeted with fair-sized congregations.

Miss Olive Hodges was with us at Pleasant Hill Saturday night. The attendance was good. Each church was represented. Miss Hodges, in her usual interesting way, captivated the attention of all.

The C. E. Society at Pleasant Hill will hold their regular service Thanksgiving night. At this meeting offerings for the Home will be received.

Mrs. Rupert Robeson pounded us since Conference with a good-sized pork ham. Mrs. J. W. Crew gave us a cured ham just before Conference. Mr. T. B. Vasser, of the M. E. church, sent us two big loads of wood. We appreciate these gifts.

Mrs. Neese is gradually recuperating. She asks me to convey her thanks and appreciation to all who remembered her by card, letter, or personal visit, during her recent illness. Wm. H. NEESE.

Thomasville, First.—We are indeed happy to have Rev. and Mrs. Madison back with us again. And from the large audience which filled the auditorium Sunday, we are sure that they should feel that the church welcomes them back. We are looking forward to a great year in the Lord's work. There is a wonderful atmosphere of good will and hearty co-operation manifest among the church folk.

We were glad to have Dr. R. M. Andrews, our new Conference president, with us for the first service of the Conference year. He brought us a wonderful message on "The Challenge of the Church." His message was inspiring and proved to be a sure-enough challenge to everyone present to enter wholeheartedly into the church activities of the Conference year. We are always glad to have the president visit us and we extend to him a standing invitation to return.

Good reports are coming from all our Sunady school classes. The Men's Bible class, under the leadership of Mr. Walter Martin, president, and Bro. D. R. Connell, teacher, is planning a great work for the year. This group of men is going forward with new zeal and determination to do more for the Master and the church. They have expressed themselves to all stand together for one purpose; that to help their fellowman and to advance the cause of Christ in the world.

The Girls' Friendly Class has reorganized, devising new plans, and expect to have a part in tht program of First Church this year.

The Philathea class has held two meetings this month. They have made a bed-spread, which will be for sale in a few days. The funds from this sale will go into the treasury. In the meantime, other work is going forward in this organization.

The Ladies' Auxiliary met in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Barber on Thursday evening, the 17. There was a good attendance and a very fine meeting. At the close of the business session refreshments were served by Mrs. Barber, assisted by her daughter, Hazel.

Mrs. T. A. Lloyd has recently been elected as president of the Thomasville Christian Endeavor Union. Mrs. Lloyd is a very loyal member of our society, and we wish for her much success in this new work.

Our C. E. Society had the pleasure of having Miss Caudell, who has spent many years as a missionary in India, speak to us Sunday evening. We appreciate her fine message, and the work she is doing in our town.

MRS. W. G. MYERS, Reporter.

Liberty, Davidson Charge.—Our pastor filled his regular appointment on the third Sunday in this month with very good attendance.

I feel quite sure every one was delighted to have Rev. Mr. Bingham back for the new year's work. He preached a very interesting sermon. His subject was "Giving Thanks." He pointed out to us many things to be thankful for in the day of so-called depression. Somehow I can't help but think that the depression will end someday. We might all think that after the darkest clouds comes the rainbow. No doubt but that sin and disobedience are the causes of our present condition but really I think that repentance and obedience to Christ and the Father would bring us back to a better standard in living. I have tried to train myself not to worry or grumble over present condition.

There have been prayer meetings every Saturday night since the nearby meetings were over. Services are conducted by a large number of members, both old and young, with very good attendance and also good interest.

The collection on last Sunday was give to the Children's Home. They have set Thanksgiving day to collect for Liberty church—grain, food and anything the people wish to give for the Home.

On the fourth Sunday in October they elected the board of officers for the new year's work. Some few changes were made. Mr P. L. Walker was elected superintendent of the Sunday school, Mr. John Cagle being assistant.

The fourth Sunday in this month at 1 p. m. Sunday school institute will be at this church. We have very good attendance at Sunday school; would be glad if the attendance were better.

Preaching every third Sunday at 2:30; Sunday school at 1:45. Everyone is invited to attend. ANNIE HILL, Reporter.

Lexington, State Street—Our new pastor and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Maier, were greeted by a large audience Sunday morning.

Dr. Maier's message at the 11 o'clock hour was inspiring and soul-stirring. His subject was the ever-powerful and amazing one of the great love of God for man. There were many expressions of appreciation for the comfort and challenge of the mesasge.

The evening address was on the need for Christian service and was most timely and helpful.

Next Sabbath morning Dr. Maier will fill his first appointment at Bethesda, and will be with us at State Street to conduct the evening worship service.

The young people's societies will meet just before the evening preaching service, as has been the custom for the past year.

There is a feeling of satisfaction and gratitude that is unanimous among the membership. We feel that the Conference indeed did their very best for us when they gave us Dr. and Mrs. Maier, and I hereby pledge to them the earnest prayers, co-operation and loyalty of the entire church membership and a welcome by Lexington people in general.

The mid-week prayer meeting will be held on Wednesday night.

The Auxiliary met Monday night with Mrs. J. B. Leonard. There was a fine attendance and a good program.

Mrs. C. L. Koonts suggested that we give Saturday, December 10, to Miss Hodges and leave her free to go to the rural churches of the denomination on Sunday, December 11. The plan suggested by Mrs. Koonts was accepted in detail and we are looking forward with pleasure to the coming of Miss Hodges.

The Ladies' Bible Class will hold their monthly meeting with Mrs. J. A. Walser Thursday night. REPORTER.

Liberty Hill, Anderson Charge.—We are not dead yet, although it may seem like it. Since our last report the fourth quarterly conference was held at Fairview church. At the close the ladies of Fairview invited us to a tempting supper, and it is with greatest pleasure I can say in behalf of the large number present that eevryone reported a grand time.

Another year has ended, Conference is over, and the new year has begun. We were very sorry to give up our good pastor, Brother Hendeson, for in the two years he and his family have been among us we have learned to love them very much. They have our best wishes for a great success in their new field of work.

We greeatly welcome into our midst our new pastor, Brother Lloyd Love, and are looking forward to a very successful year in service for the Master. We were indeed glad to have our pastor present Sunday night for the Junior Christian Endeavor program. The Juniors rendered a splendid Thanksgiving program. Each Junior brought a thank-offering, also the Seniors and Sunday school joined in, and the numerous gifts were presented to the pastor. Afterwards, Brother Love gave us an interesting talk on "Where Do You Live" based on St. John 1:38.

We were glad indeed to learn some of the former pastors remembered us with their regards. And we return to them our love and best wishes.

The Ladies' Aid Society held their regular meeting yesterday. Last week they had the church piano tuned.

An outstanding social event of the past week was the marriage of Mr. Cecil McClimon and Miss Janie Lynn. They will make their home at Greer.

With love and best wishes to the Herald and its many readers. REPORTER.

* * *

Philadelphia, Greensville Circuit—We are glad, indeed, to welcome back our former pastor, Rev. R. L. Hethcox, for the succeeding year. As usual he rendered an inspiring sermon Sunday night, the subject being 'Elijah What Doest Thou Here?" After hearing such a message, I'm sure we all feel that the coming year will be a great succees.

We're glad to report that our Sunday school has been re-organized again. Although, most of our enrollment and officials are just young people we feel that we can be successful if we co-operate and trust in God. The school also agreed to give every third Sunday's collection to the Orphan Home. We extend our very best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Dixon and the children of the Home. I trust, also, that this may be a successful year for them.

Our first quarterly conference will convene at Philadelphia church on Monday afternoon, December 12th, at 2:30 o'clock. We are looking forward to the time since we are expecting our president, R. M. Andrews, to be with us.

With best wishes to the Herald.

REPORTER.

* * *

Lebanon Church, High Peint.—Our new pastor, Dr. Samuel W. Taylor, conducted both morning and eveign nSHRDLUshrdluSHRDe morning and evenig worship services last Sunday, having large and appreeitive audiences. At the 11 o'clock service his subject was, "The Virtue of Gratitude." (Text: St. Luke 17:17 to 19.) In his usual pleasing manner, he presented this message, pointing out ways in which the Christian can develop gratitude. First, by cotrast; that is, keeping in mind the happier possibilities of the Christ-like life in contrast to the unhappy state of the non-Christian; second, by remembering the goodness of Almighty God; third, by practicing gratitude in our lives. This Christian grace, "gratitude," adds so much of beauty and strength to Christian character.

Our congregation feels highly honored in having secured the services of Dr. Taylor and his admirable family for the promotion of the Master's work in our community. He expressed himself as being happy to be with us. Now, with both pastor and people pleased, it is encouraging. Let us co-operate in every branch of church work, revive every energy in us, and press forward to thet mark of our high calling in Jesus Christ.

The C. E. Society presented an interesting Thanksgiving program last evening with Miss Lake Montgomery, leader. About 50 were present. Each member brought fruit, which is to be distributed today (Monday) among the sick.

Brother Alfred Pearce, who has been sick for several months, is somewhat improved at this time. He is able to sit up a little while each day.

LENA H. THACKER, Reporter.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

(Continued from Page Eleven)

women. The new president of the Convention of Women's Work of the denomination, Mrs. William C. Hammer, was then presented, and was cordially greeted by all present. Greetings from Mrs. Marie Thompson were received with much appreciation. The addresses by Drs. Haddaway and Stephenson rounded out a day full of interest to the women of our Branch who are so faithfully and loyally working for the extension of Christ's kingdom. At the evening service the results of home mission work were evident in the entertaining program rendered by the children from our Children's Home. The appeal for missions in foreign lands was made through the pageant that was given in an impressive manner by the women of Mount Pleasant church. A large, appreciative audience responded to the appeal for an offering to be applier on the salary of Mr. Minnis our North Carolina missionary, in the amount of $275.00.

READ IT AGAIN

We mean the report of the Special Committee on the Children's Home—you will find it on page 14 in last week's Herald. Let's put everything else aside for this one week and use all our forces to put this one thing across.

The 57,000 Presbyterians in North Carolina are beieng asked to give $50,000 to the Barium Springs Orphanage. It is not too much to expect that 30,000 Methodist Protestants will give $5,000 to our Children's Home at High Point.

In addition to this offering of money, let's remember the Harvest Home and the Octagon coupons.

MRS. C. W. BATES,
Secretary for Children's Home, North Carolina Branch.

NOTICE

According to the schedule of quarterly Conference as outlined in the Herald last week by our President, Dr. R. M. Andrews, the first quarterly conference for Cleveland charge will be held at Pleasant Hill church on Monday, November 28, at 10:30. Let all official members on the charge take notice and be present for this very important conference. C. E. RIDGE, Pastor.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued from Page Eleven)

A Friend, by Mrs. J. E. Stafford, Mt. Pleasant, eleven dresses.

Intermediate class of girls, Bellmont S. S., Mt. Hermon, fourteen pencils, eight tablets and a bunch of coupons.

First Church, Burlington, one bag of dried fruit, two pair overalls, three shirts, eleven dresses, 31 quarts canned fruit and vegetables, one piece dress goods, one hat and two pair shoes.

We are thankful for these gfts, all of which will be helpful. Other donations in produce are on the way.

Before we write again Thanksgiving Day,

Thanksgiving

North Carolina will be past. Our appeal is the day dedicated to the cause of orphans in most urgent this time. We hope every Methodst Protestant in the conference will be given the opportunity to contribute to your Children's Home.

A day's income, one dollar, or at least a silver offering.

When this reaches you there will still remain Sunday, November 27th to round up offerings for the Home.

May yours be a very happy Thanksgiving Day.

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

Herald Christmas Subscription Blank

Attached find $2.00 / $1.00 for 1 year / 6 months subscription for the Methodist Protestant Herald to be sent as a Christmas Gift to Name ....

Address ....

Subscription given by ....

To be credited to ....Church

You Can Help THE HERALD and Delight a Friend by Making This a HERALD CHRISTMAS. Fill out this blank and give it to your Pastor or HERALD Agent

Methodist Protestant Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN C AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXIX GREENSBORO, N. C., DECEMBER 1, 1932 NUMBER 4

Seminary Library
Westminster MD

The Strange God of Far Away

There is a God so far away
He's never seen by night or day;
He lives and moves in world so grand
He never sights our little tand.

We dream of him in idle hours
And make for him great wreaths of flowers:
But only symbols come to view—
With God himself we've nought to do.

We need a God both here and now,
A God to whom we humbly bow.
Who knows our needs and rules our lives,
Who gently leads and never drives.

Classes of Unemployed

There are several of them, just as many as there are fields of profitable employment. Any class of laborers may cease to labor: then there is unemployment. Jesus was specially impressed with the unemployment of men in their spiritual vocation. At the same time he saw the misemployment or over-employment of great classes of men in other fields. He saw things in true perspective and was grieved to see men neglecting the important and bestowing great labor on the unimportant. He exhorted men to seek with great diligence the better things, the things that enrich the soul, and warned against being absorbed in the pursuit of that which cannot enrich, no matter how much of it may be accumulated. There are also men who neglect not only the field of greatest importance, but also the field of second importance: vagrants, who refuse all employment that involves effort, continuous toil. They are mere tramps on the face of the earth.

During the ages in which Jesus has watched the progress of God's Kingdom on the earth He has had to look upon the painful spectacle of millions of men idle and indifferent to the promotion of life's chief concerns. Many of them are very industrious, some of them extremely so, in matters pertaining to this brief life. Jesus tried to impress the fact that men cannot live by material good alone, no matter how great the supply. But many still pursue earthly good exclusively, closing their eyes to the nobler employments of the soul. It is the part of those who are awake to these things to seek to arouse those who are asleep in trespasses and sins. This condition brings to Christian men a great part of their employment. And what a noble employment it is! To Christian people everywhere we may say, You are doing a great work: you are helping to save a world of immortal creatures now unconscious of their peril.

Let Christians glory in their Christ-given employment and magnify their office. They that win souls shall shine as the stars of the firmament.

Moral Amnesia

Raymond Robbins had physical amnesia. And that was bad enough. The fine mechanism of memory was so affected that it failed to function. He forgot his own name. He did not recognize his wife when he saw her after an absence of a few weeks. His friends became strangers to him. His world had shrunk. His continents had become islands. Much of the best parts of his life had been flooded with oblivion. His condition distressed others more than it troubled him. He was not conscious of his great losses.

The same thing is true of the victims of moral amnesia. Their losses distress their friends but trouble them not. They once dwelt among celestial things. Now they live in the low grounds. They have lost feeling of the presence of God. They have forgotten what they learned of Christ. They are unmoved by the Holy Spirit. They are not drawn to the people of God. The place of divine worship has no attraction for them. And they are not aware of their great losses. Their friends see and know and are troubled. Is there anything that can be done for them? Their malady is too great for human skill. Only God can cure this dreadful moral amnesia. But it still remains for us to pray for these afflicted ones and to try to bring them to a sense of their need of God's help.

CORRECTION IN REPORT OF THE HERALD COMMITTEE

The scale of contributions from churches for the Herald Deficit got mixed in last week's Herald. I am giving the corrected list:

Churches with less than 100 members contribute. . .	$ 2.50
Churches whose membership is from 101 to 200. . . .	5.00
Churches whose membership is from 201 to 300. . . .	7.50
Churches whose membership is from 301 to 400. . . .	10.00
Churches whose membership is from 401 to 500. . . .	15.00
Churches whose membership is more than 500.	20.00

We are asking you to take this offering just as soon as possible and send it to the Editor of the Herald. The money is badly needed to take care of pressing obligations and to relieve the printers, McCulloch and Swain of the pressure of debt brought about largely by the accumulated deficit—the difference between what is received on Herald subscriptions and the actual cost of printing the Herald. If every church will do what we are asking, it will be no great burden upon the membership, and it will greatly relieve the situation.

C. W. Bates, for the Herald Committee.

A BETTER PASTORAL SUPPORT IN OUR CONFERENCE

The writer was interested in the report of the special committee of the recent Annual Conference, headed by Rev. H. F. Fogleman, and the discussion which followed the presentation of the committee's report, proposing a better pastoral support, or more particularly the proposal to set a minimum salary of our pastors.

For the past two or three years salaries of all classes have been greatly reduced. The reason for such drastic reductions in salaries is that producers, especially the farming class, have been receiving lower prices for their products. Not only have all classes of salaries been cut, but pastoral support, the salaries of already poorly paid pastors, have been cut to an unreasonably low figure, and many pastors are grievously near the suffering point as a consequence.

The people pay their physician, the lawyer must receive his fees, and even the merchant usually receivs one hundred cents on the dollar, but the preacher—oh, well, the Lord will take care of him. People forget that the Lord must use their money to help care for the preacher. The pastor must have some money in order to serve his people. How is he to pay for clothes he so much needs to appear as the people expect him to appear in the pulpit and before the public at various other places unless he is paid some money? Or how is he to pay for his gasoline or buy that new tire he must have or that little repair to his car before he canvisit his members unless he is paid some money?

It is very often happens that after the pastor has paid his bills on Monday with the money received on the previous day does not have enough money left to buy gasoline or purchase a needed new tire for his car. After the churches have paid their pastors all the cash they can, or have promised, it is usually pitifully small and insufficient.

In addition to gasoline, clothes and food there is the need for schooling of the pastor's children. School books must be bought, clothes for the family, and in some cases, tuition. So let's pay all the cash we can to our pastors. The people can help in other ways. When the farmer harvests his potatoes, he could carry hs pastor a peck, half bushel or a bushel. If all would do this the pastor would be amply provided with this particular necessity. The people could also do the same with other kinds of products. When the farmer goes to mill, he could put in an extra bushel and carry the flour or meal to the parsonage. That would help the bread situation very materially. And another thing: when the farmer kills hogs, he could remember the preacher. He likes meat and sausage. Each thing that the farmer and member of the church uses, remember the pastor and family has use for the same things.

Then there is the matter of fuel for the parsonage. Many of our parsonages are not as comfortable and warm as they should be, or as good as some of the homes of the members. A good supply of ready-to-use fuel would help greatly. It would release so much more time the pastor could use profitably in visitation and study. It would also release more money for gasoline, clothes and for many other items for which cash is needed.

The writer feels sure the above suggestions, if followed, would mean much to the pastors and help cheer them and provide more happiness for them in these times of depression. Methodist Protestant people are good people and love their pastors. In many places a piece of ground is set aside and planted for these purposes. The "Lord's Acre" plan is also used in a number of places, providing a means of relief for the low pastoral cash support. Think it over, but don't be forever thinking; act. Now is a good time to begin.

A North Carolina Methodist Protestant.

DRY FIGURES

"We do not like statistics,
They are so dry," we cry;
But facts like these will surely please,
Because they are so dry.

Before prohibition there were 176,000 open saloons in the United States; now there are 350,000 gasoline stations.

The open saloon paid an annual revenue to the government of 363 million dollars; the annual tax of automobiles and gasoline is 779 million dollars.

Since prohibition the drinking of liquor has decreased 64 per cent, and the drinking of milk has increased 28 per cent, while infant mortality has decreased 30 per cent.

Since prohibition 30 million new savings accounts have been opened up.

Since prohibition 400,000 new homes have been built annually.

Since prohibition there has been an increase of 68 billion dollars in life insurance.

Since prohibition there has been 150 per cent increase in high school attendance, and 300 per cent increase in college attendance.

Since prohibition all but ten of the 250 institutions for the treatment of inebriates have been closed, and eight of these have no patients.

Since prohibition there has actually accrued to the U. S. in fines and confiscated property of liquor captives a profit of about 25 million dollars a year over the cost of enforcement.

Automobile fatalities in England, a wide open beer country, are almost three times more frequent per thousand car registrations than in the United States.

Sixty per cent of our newspapers are wet. Beware of their propaganda. IF NOT PROHIBITION—WHAT?

—Selected.

THE WORK OF CALVARY

There are quite a number of Christians who believe that the purpose of the work on Calvary was to provide a way whereby sinners, through faith in this work, might enter Heaven. That is only the ultimate goal. The chief reason for Christ's dying on Calvary was to destroy the power of sin, and to enable all who come to Him to be freed from the penalty and the doom of sin, thus making it possible for them to live holy lives and to have communion with Him even while here on earth.

Have you entered into this life of victory and of freedom from the power of sin?—G. H. S., in The Alliance Weekly.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Consecration :: Co-operation :: Consolidation

CONSECRATION—let us devote our energies and talents to the work to which we are called.

CO-OPERATION—let us willingly, gladly, work with others who are likewise called to do the work of the Lord.

CONSOLIDATION—while our individual tasks may be small and insignificant, yet when joined with others they are of greater value.

On Wheels

Friday, November 18th, met with the Budget Council at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Bates, results of the meeting will be reported by Dr. G. R. Brown.

Friday night I met with a group of membersof the Mebane Church in an effort to agree upon a pastor for this year.

Saturday afternoon, I met with a group of members from North Davidson charge at Spring Hill Church; it was a fine meeting, good spirit manifested and we believe these people are going to do fine work this year.

Sunday morning, I preached at First Church, Thomasville. There was a good congregation present, the people were attentive and appreciative. I saw many evidences of improvement since I visited this church last. There were signs of organization and co-operation with the church program which convinced me that there was a happy relation between pastor and people.

For more than a year the congregation has tried out the plan of having the sermon before the study of the lesson in the Sunday School. They like it and so did I. I have seen it tried before but not with the apparent success as here. I would recommend it to any church which has trouble in holding the members of the Sunday School for church service. Thanks to the Madisons for the privilege of spending a pleasant rest period and partaking of well served meal in their home.

Sunday evening was spent with Dr. J. D. Williams at Welch Memorial Church, High Point. The congregation was not large, hardly the usual number present, I understand. Those present gave good attention to the message and we hope that some future date may afford us a batter opportunity to speak to the membership. Welch, seems not yet to have sensed its opportunity or been able to enter into it. Situated in a densely settled community and not over-crowded by other churches, it would appear to have an opportunity for expansion far beyond its growth. We hope to see these people girding themselves for larger things in kingdom service.

We had the joy of spending the night with the Williams. Added to J. D., Sr., and wife, we were pleased to see again J. D., Jr., and wife. It is refreshing to see the affection between father and son as is in evidence here. This visit bound the years which are passed with the present with bonds more lasting. It is always a pleasure to partake of the hospitality of this home.

Get An Early Start

A good start in a race means much towards winning the goal. It is even more true with pastors and churches in getting started after conference adjourns. Our people should know and plan to do the work mapped out by the action of conference. It may be summed up in a few words. Raise the indebtedness on the Home, launch the seven weeks' campaign to secure a dollar per member for High Point College, and while this is being done secure renewals and new subscriptions to the HERALD and the Recorder. Frankly, begin at once on the two budgets. No time should be lost. Dr. Gerringer's plan suggested in HERALD of last week is fine. In fact any plan that the people will work is better than a greater plan not worked. If a church just cannot raise the total amount of either of budgets, then after prayerful consideration, fix an amount large enough to challenge the entire membership to raise it and rally them to the job. Let us try to enlist more of our people in the work than to have more work done by the few who have willingly labored. Fifteen thousand of our people can do easily all that is expected of the members of our churches in this conference—we are almost ready to say that ten thousand can do it. I mean, pay all that is asked and put new life into the church services, win more souls to our Lord and build a morale to win. It is not that we are too few or too poor; we have too few who feel the urge to labor and to pray, and to give. Like Gideon's ranks, too many are fearful and afraid and are hankering for home instead of for the affray. They saw the giants once and ever since have lived like grasshoppers. There are denominations smaller than ours who have kindled sacrificial fires in faraway countries which have challenged the world. The peaks of world achievement were made by the heroic efforts of a MAN and a WOMAN here and there while the millions of the human race moved out into obscurity. Let us have the mind to work and forget the short change and the few willing to help us—they may see the light if we will push the clouds away.

R. M. ANDREWS.

◆

SPARE THE WILD ANIMALS

The Pittsburgh Automobilist, published monthly by the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh, at the request of the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society, has urged upon those of its members who drive at night, particularly through woods and the highways traversing the less settled sections of the state, to use every precaution against running down those unfortunate wild creatures who are liable to be crossing the road. The article in The Automobilist says:

"Animals are attracted by the glare of the headlights and frequently permit themselves to be run down wthout making any effort to escape. In such cases, slow down,, shut off your headlights for a moment and permit the animals to escape uninjured, for they usually disappear as soon as the light is turned off. If railroad engineers can adopt the practice of shutting off the headlight to avoid the ruthless destruction of game, surely motorists can follow their example." It further says: "A little closer watch on dogs running at large and a reduction of speed will save the life of many a valuable animal or domestic pet."

Here is something that we believe will interest all our readers, and especially all of them who are drivers of motor car.s—Our Dumb Animals.

NOT I; BUT THE CHRIST

A brilliant young physician went out from Edinboro as a medical missionary to India. A clergyman passing through the country where his station was located asked him if he had occasion to regret having come to dwell among a people so ignorant and degraded. He exclaimed, "No, the Lord paid me the other morning for all I have ever suffered for Him here. I had gone my last round through the hospital. It was late at night, but as I returned to my room I suddenly thought of a poor boy who was dying and it occurred to me that possibly he might throw the cover off through the night and get cold. I went back and quietly tucked the blanket about him, thinking that he was sleeping, but when I returned the next morning he looked at me with a puzzled expression and said, 'Doctor, what was it that caused you to come back last night and wrap me up so carefully? Me a stranger for whom nobody cares.' I replied that I did not come. 'Yes but you did, Doctor; you can't fool me. I know your step.' No, my young friend, it was not I, but the Christ whom I preach that caused me to do what I did." That compassionate Saviour who moved the heart of this young Scotchman until the pagan heart melted under the touch is waiting to quicken us all.—Publisher Unknown.

PLANT THEIR FEET ON A ROCK

The people of Russia are certainly sowing the wind; and where are they sowing it? In the tender, easily influenced hearts of the boys and girls of the country. Some day there will be an awful harvest for Russia to reap; and it will not be the wind but the whirlwind which will fill millions of hearts with tears and trouble!

No God! That is what Russia is telling its young people. No God? Who would dare to teach a thing like that? Holy Scripture gives us the answer. "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God." Of all the foolish, dangerous things this is one of the most so. Who cannot foresee the destiny of the nation which brings its youth up on such a poor, weak, shifty foundation as that? Russia will go down and be forgotten. It may not be in your time; it may not be in my time, but in God's time the whirlwind harvest will come and it will sweep Russia off the face of the earth.

The saddest part of it is that we do not have to go to Russia to find boys and girls who are growing up with quite as little knowledge of the True God as have the young people of Russia. In our own America thousands of the choicest youth of the land are growing up with the idea that God is only a fancy handed down from the long ago. In far too many pulpits of the land the utterances of the preacher are weak on this point. There is no clear, positive ring in the voices of those who are leading the religious thought of our people. Fathers and mothers seem to think it is not a matter to which they should give any attention. The young people, so they say, will have to decide these matters for themselves. We need not be troubled about their home life today.

What a mistake! No, it is not a mistake. It is a crime against the young who will be the men of tomorrow, and it is a sin against God. A nation of atheists and freethinkers cannot long endure. "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." Surely we may add that "Cursed is the nation that knows no God."

Father, mother, what are you doing with the boys and girls God has given you? Do you think it all chance that these clear-eyed, thoughtful young people have come to you? No! They are in part of God's plan. He sent them to you. He is testing you through them. If you tell them that God is and that He is a Rewarder of them that diligently seek Him, both you and they will be blessed. More than that. The world will be blessed in them and in you. God's Word is true and it cannot be set aside or abrogated lightly.

Turn back in the Book and see what came to those who took upon themselves lightly the responsibility of parenthood. More than once we are shown what God thinks of those who leave their young people to come up as they will. It is an awful thing to neglect the heart life of the young. Are you doing it?—E. L. Vincent.

MONKEYS AS BANK CASHIERS' ASSISTANTS

This remarkable story is from The Daily Express, London:

Most of the larger banks in Siam employ one or two monkeys to help the cashier behind the counter. Their work is to detect base coins, and although thousands of pounds' worth of coins of all sorts are handled by them every month, they are never known to make a mistake.

As the coins come in, they go first to the cashier, and then to the monkey, which tests them by biting them. As there are plenty of bad coins in circulation in Siam, they are kept very busy during the whole of the working day.

The monkeys are on the pay-roll of the bank, the cost of their keep being deducted. They have quarters on the bank premises, and every effort to allow them liberty at the end of the day's work is made.

They are trained for this work when young, and are ready for work at three to four years old, when the strength of their jaws is at its maximum. They are, of course, very valuable, and command heavy prices. For a really proficient monkey £500 has been paid.—Our Dumb Animals.

FAITH

When faith begins, anxiety ends; where anxiety begins faith ends. Ponder these words of the Lord Jesus, "Only believe." As long as we are able to trust God, holding fast in heart, that He is able and willing to help those who rest on the Lord Jesus for salvation, in all matters which are for His glory and their good, the heart remains calm and peaceful. It is only when we practically let go faith in His power or His love, that we lose our peace and become troubled. This very day I am in great trial in connection with the work in which I am engaged; yet my soul was calmed and quieted by the remembrance of God's power and love; and I said to myself this morning: "As David encouraged himself in Jehovah his God, when he returned to Ziklag, so will I encourage myself in God;" and the result was peace of soul. It is the very time for faith to work when sight ceases; the greater the difficulties, the easier for faith. As long as there remain certain natural prospects, faith does not get on as easily as when all natural prospects fail.—George Muller.

OUR STORY PAGE

HIS MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY

"Happy birthday, mother, dear!" came the tones of a boyish voice from his bedroom, as Mrs. Whitcomb arose on the morning of her birthday.

"Thank you, my boy," she called back. "You had better get up right away."

"Yes, I am coming," the boy cheerfully replied.

Harold was in the kitchen before his mother had the fire lighted. "Oh, look at the snow!" he exclaimed, as he glanced out of the window. "It must be a mile deep."

"Not quite so deep as that," his mother laughingly replied, "but it must be all of a foot. I am glad we have enough coal for the day, for I do not see how you could wade through the snow for any. You have no rubbers, and your shoes are nearly worn out."

"Yes, I am glad we have the coal, but I could manage somehow if I had to go for it."

They had managed somehow for the past four years. To have a hod of coal on hand was a luxury, and that happened because the boy had bought it the night before with money he had earned doing an errand.

Their breakfast of coffee and rolls was soon finished, and then Harold said he was going out to look for something to do. "Maybe I will bring home a turkey for your birthday dinner," he said, as he looked for his cap and mittens. "Wish I had an overcoat, but I will walk as fast as I can and then I won't get cold."

"I wish you did have a warm coat," his mother replied with a sigh, "but it was different when your father was alive."

"Now, don't begin to worry, mother, dear," the boy cheerfully said. "This is your birthday, and you will take all the joy out of it if you worry. Who knows but what I might be fortunate enough to find a coat somewhere."

"You would not have to find one, dear, if I was stronger. This sewing does not bring in much, but it is all I can do. It is a shame you have to work, but I do not know how I could get along without your help."

"Oh, it does not hurt me any. The other fellows work hard in their gymnasium and do not get anything for it. I work and get money to help you. Isn't that much better?" and his face beamed, for he was beginning to think he was almost a man.

A twelve-year-old boy cannot earn very much, especially when he is somewhat under size, but Harold was plucky, and helped his mother all he could.

"Guess I won't get much to do today," he said, as he was ready to go out, "but maybe I can shovel some snow."

"I wish you would not do that," his mother protested, but the boy insisted, and gave her a hearty kiss as he left the house.

He waded through the snow carrying a shovel larger than himself. There was no chance for work of that kind in his neighborhood, so he turned his steps towards the section of the city where the wealthier people lived. He came to an imposing looking house with broad steps leading to the sidewalk. These, as well as the sidewalk, were covered with snow. Harold waded through it and rang the bell.

A kindly-looking gentleman came to the door.

"Good-morning," Harold cheerfully greeted him. "Would you like for me to shovel the snow from your steps and sidewalk?"

The man carefully looked him over, and then said, "I would like the snow cleared off, all right, but I am afraid you cannot do it."

"Sure I can," the boy confidently replied.

"You don't look strong enough for such a job. It is pretty hard work."

"Yes, I know it is, but I can do it."

"Well, come inside and get warmed up. Then we will see about it."

The boy was shivering; not because it was so cold, but because his clothing was so thin.

Mrs. Judson was reading in the sitting room when her husband and the boy came in. Her kindly heart went out to the little fellow, so she bustled to the kitchen and soon returned with hot cocoa and sandwiches.

"This will warm you up some," she kindly said. "You must have had a long walk."

"Yes, ma'am, it was pretty far," he replied.

"Where do you live?"

"On Wilcox Street."

"I see," Mrs. Judson said, for she well knew that only the poorest of the poor lived down there.

"Have you lived there very long?" she then asked.

"Yes, ma'am, since Daddy died four years ago."

While they were talking the boy was rapidly devouring his luncheon.

"I wish I had something better to give you," Mrs. Judson remarked, "but our cook left us yesterday, and I cannot do very much in that line. I guess our meals will be pretty slim until we find another cook."

Her husband grinned, but said nothing.

Harold stopped eating long enough to remark, "My ma is a good cook."

"Is she?" Mrs. Judson replied. "That is nice. I suppose you have lots of good things to eat at your house."

"Sometimes," the boy replied briefly.

"Sometimes!" she echoed. "What do you mean? Don't you always have plenty to eat?"

"No, ma'am."

"How is that?" Mr. Judson inquired.

"Because I cannot always get work."

"You don't mean to say you must work for a living?"

"Sure I must. Ma cannot always get sewing to do, so I help all I can."

"That is too bad," his host replied. "Now, let us see what you can do with the snow."

Harold worked with a will, but he did not know that two kindly-faced people were watching him from behind the parlor curtains. He was too much interested in his work to look around to see if any one was watching him. While he was workng, his newly-found friends were quietly talking about him and planning for his future.

Just as he finished the steps, and was ready to begin on the sidewalk, an old man came along. He had several parcels in his arms. Several boys were following him and pelting him with snowballs. When he got in front of the house, he fell, and his parcels flew in every direction. The boys ran up laughing and shouting, and one of them picked up a parcel and ran away with it. Harold threw down his shovel and was after him in a minute.

'Hey, you, drop that parcel!'' he shouted.

He caught up with the boy and started to pound him. Just then the other fellows came to the help of their companion, and Harold would have had a hard time of it, had not Mr. Judson came to the rescue.

''That was good work, my boy,'' he said, as he patted Harold on the head. ''That fellow would have stolen that parcel if you had not pitched in.''

''And they would have licked me, all right, if you had not helped,'' the boy replied.

When they came back, the old man kindly said: ''It was good of you to help me. Take this,'' and he held out a half dollar.

''No, thank you. I don't want it, but I am glad I got your parcel back for you. Are you hurt?''

''Not much. It shook me up a little, but that is nothing. Now, I want you to take this,'' still holding out the money. ''It is just a little token of your kindness to a lonely old man.''

Mr. Judson smiled at his wife as they saw the incident through the window.

Harold soon finished his job and again rang the bell. Mr. Judson invited him in, and then said, ''You did a good job on that snow pile. Here is a dollar for you.''

''That's too much,'' he replied. ''It isn't worth it.''

''That's all right. I want you to take it. You deserve it for what you did to that boy.'

''Oh, thank you! Won't ma be glad? And this is her birthday.''

When Harold was ready to leave for home, Mr. Judson put on his street clothes, and said, ''I am going along home with you if you have no objections. You see, we have been talking things over while you were working. We like the way you treated that old man.''

When they reached Harold's humble home his mother was preparing a scanty dinner.

His guest introduced himself and told of the incidents of the morning. ''You see,'' he said, ''Mrs. Judson is not very much on the cooking line, so we have no way to prepare our dinner, which we like served at 7 o'clock. Harold says you are a good cook, so we would like for you to come up and prepare dinner for us. Will you do it?''

She blushed at the compliment her boy had paid her, but hesitated about doing it, but was finally persuaded.

''I am most grateful to you,'' Mr. Judson replied. ''I will send a taxi for you at 2 o'clock, for it is not fitting for you to walk so far. Be sure to bring Harold along and arrange to stay all night.''

When the gentleman had taken his leave, Harold cried, ''Won't that be fine? Now you will have a real birthday dnner.''

''Yes, it will be nice,'' his mother replied out of a thankful heart.

''I told you this morning we would have good success today!'' and his eyes danced with joy.

Mrs. Whitcomb did her work well, and the Judsons were more than pleased. They spent a pleasant evening together, and before they retired Mrs. Judson engaged her as their cook.

''Our house is large and lonely since the children went away,'' she said, ''and you and Harold can move in here. Then he can go to school. It is a pity he must work so hard and miss his education, which will be so necessary later on.''

When his mother kissed him ''good-night,'' he looked up at her and said, ''Ma, aren't you glad I went out to shovel snow this morning?''—The Watchword.

THE POWER OF THE BOOK

Shag growled and leaped from his place by the fire where he had been quietly dozing, nose between his paws. The crunch of feet on the snow outside the little cabin which reached the ears of Dan Malone a moment later was proof of the vigilance of the big collie dog.

''Down, Shag,'' cried the boy, and the rumble in the dog's throat died, but his bright, keen eyes were fixed on the door.

''May be Old Piere and his partner from Five Mile,'' remarked Dan, going to the door.

The two men who entered were strangers. They were great hulking figures. Their faces were reddened by the frost and encircled by fringes of bushy hair. They looked as if they had traveled a long distance.

''Strangers, sit down and rest,'' said Dan, in his slow, easy voice. Dan's way of speaking was like a smile in itself. ''You look tired and hungry.'' His mild gaze roved their unkempt, bearded faces. ''I guess a good feed wouldn't be out of order,'' and he chuckled.

''Partner,'' said the biggest man, whose eyes were hard and cold. ''You said it—we're about starved. Lost our dogs up in the big timber district—wolves.''

They ate voraciously and gulped down cupfuls of boiling hot tea. After they had eaten they stretched themselves luxuriously.

''Not many visitors, I suppose,'' queried he of the hard blue eyes.

''Well, yes and no,'' answered the lad. Depends on the time of year.'' Then suddenly he leaned forward and his quiet gaze rested on the smaller of the two men. Without his outer clothing the man was seen to be fatter than his companion, and his brown eyes did not have that peculiar, cold light in them.

''What's the matter with your arm?'' Dan asked suddenly. ''Accident?''

Although Dan Malone had a mild way of looking at persons and things, still his experience in woodcraft had given him an unconscious sharpness of vision.

The man's arm had been rudely bandaged, and just the lower end of this makeshift dressing peeped out from the sleeve of his hunting jacket. He was startled at the boy's discovery.

"Yeh," he stammered; "I"—and his voice hesitated as though he were thinking what to say before he spoke.

"Jim got shot by a crazy Indian about the time we lost our dogs," said the other man in his harsh, grating voice.

"Yeh, that's how it was," answered the wounded man. "A crazy Indian."

"Pull off that shirt,' commanded Dan, rising. "I'll take a look at that arm."

Jim glanced at his partner as if seeking permission, and the big man nodded.

"That wound's not bad," said the lad, but it needs attention."

He washed the wound carefully. Then, going to a shelf in the rear of the cabin, he ran his eye over a collection of bottles.

"Iodine," he said to Jim. "It will sting, but it prevents infection."

Deftly he wound an immaculately clean bandage about the arm and tied it neatly. Jim had relapsed into silence, but his gaze followed the boy's every movement.

"Regular doctor," observed the big man. There was a hint of a sneer in his voice.

"Better let me guide you over to Five Mile in the morning," said the boy; "you can dogteam down the river to Wainright. There's a doctor there."

"We're going the other way," said Jim. "Thanks," he smiled faintly. And then, suddenly changing the subject, "That's a nice dog you have."

"You folks camp down here. I'm going to bed," said the boy, after they had talked awhile. "By the way," he added, "I always read a chapter of the Bible every night."

"Bible," the big man sneered, and then he laughed harshly. "That's pretty good. A big husky like you reading the Bible." He slapped his ham-like fists on his knees. "Can you beat that, Jim? That's great. We ran into a Bible class. Go ahead, sonny."

"I promised my mother before she died to read a chapter every day," answered the boy with a quiet dignity.

In a gentle tone he read the chapter, which happened to be Matthew twenty-five.

"For I was an hungred, and ye gave Me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave Me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took Me in." As the boy's clear tones continued with the beautiful and inspiring message the two men exchanged uneasy glances.

The fire crackled and the men listened in silence to the sacred words. Shag raised his head from his paws. He had grown accustomed to hear his master's voice reading every night from the Bible on the table.

Jim looked down at his bandaged arm and then up at the eager face of the boy.

"Thanks, my boy," he drawled, "that reading makes me feel quiet-like."

"Kind of a preacher," said the big man, but his voice was not unkindly, and there was a trace of awe in it.

The men left at dawn. Dan filled their packs with food, and bade them farewell.

"I won't forget your kindness, my boy," said Jim, and his companion added, "Keep up the Bible reading." For the first time Dan noticed a genuine, wholesome smile spread over his hard features. The man's face seemed suddenly lighted up.

Several hours later, while Dan was chopping wood with sturdy, powerful strokes, Shag barked loudly.

Dan laid aside his axe and followed the dog around to the front of the house. Far off in the distance the dazzling sunlight revealed a gleam of scarlet on the clear, white expanse of snow.

"Northwest Mounted Police," ejaculated the boy. "Now I wonder if that isn't my friend, Sergeant Hourican."

Hourican had been his father's friend, and after his death had taken an almost paternal interest in the lonely boy. He was the man who had given Shag to the boy.

Sergeant Hourican slipped from the saddle. He ran forward and clasped the boy's hand. "Thank God, my boy, you are safe."

"What's the matter, Sergeant?" questioned Dan in mystification at the policeman's strange behavior.

"Matter!" he glanced at his comrade.

"Didn't two men stop here last night?" he asked sharply.

"Surely," said the boy. "But don't stand out in the cold. Let me put up your horses, and we can all have a bite together."

"Extraordinary, I say," said the other policeman. He came up and shook hands with the boy. "Matthews from the Long Circle."

"Say, Sergeant, were those fellows who stayed here last night crooks?"

"Crooks?" Matthews laughed.

"The big fellow is wanted for murder and robbery, and Jim—they call him Sleepy Jim—is a notorious gunman. It's a wonder that you're alive this morning."

"Well, Dan, tell us about your visit," said Sergeant Hourican, when they had entered the house.

The boy related the story, not forgetting to tell of the wounded arm.

"They didn't seem bad fellows—the big one even told me to keep up my Bible reading. You know I promised mother to read a chapter of the Bible every day."

"And you read a chapter to those men?" asked Hourican.

"Yes; they seemed to like it."

"Most extraordinary think I ever heard," murmured Matthews.

"My boy, the Book saved your life," said Hourican, placing his hand reverently on the Bible.—Kind Words.

—A gift is all the dearer because it has belonged to our dearest friend and is linked with him or her in our memory forever. Our Lord's gift is of his own peace which had dwelt in his own divine breast and is poured out into the hearts which open to him.—Selected.

—"And this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith."—I John 5:4.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for December 4, 1932

HOW CAN WE WORK FOR CHRISTIAN UNITY?

Scripture Text -John: 18 23; I Cor. 3:6-8

For one to understand thoroughly how to work for Christian unity, he must know the steps which have characterized the separation. The twelve apostles whom Jesus had chosen and on whom He had spent so much time preparing them for the work that was to be theirs, were unable to agree perfectly. On the last night of Jesus' earthly life they were arguing over which should be greatest in the kingdom of God and had to be given the lesson of humility. It has been hard for the followers of Jesus to agree. People of the early church soon divided over names and dogmas and creeds. These were rather superficial reasons for any divisions and St. Paul asked the Corinthian church if Christ was divided that they were able to separate themselves.

In 325 A. D. the church and state were united under Constantine, emperor of Rome. By this thousands were swept into the church who were worldly and who had no regeneration of heart. This was followed by the period known as the Dark Ages. Every form of corruption was practiced and the church was saved only by the Reformation. Although the Reformation was the savior of the church, it was also the beginning of the great number of denominations.

The followers of Luther were unable to get the changes which they desired within the Catholic church, so they were forced to withdraw. From this beginning there have grown a multiplicity of denominations until there are more than 200 denominations in the United States alone. The result of this division is visible to everyone. There are localities where one can hear the bells of six or seven separate churches. There are communities which should support one efficient church that has three half supported and equipped church. We have been maintaining our denominational pride at the price of the gospel of Christ and the material advancement of His Kingdom. We are paying a price that is entirely too high and it is time that we awaken and stop some of the foolishness that has been gong on in the name of religion. In communities which are able to support one church, we need one church and not three. The cost to the communities has been weak memberships and the difficulty of maintaining a pastor. The work of the local church has been greatly handicapped and poorer pastors have been furnished when union of efforts would have given the church a much stronger minister who was better qualified and educated for the task. We have tolerated conditions in the church which no business man could justify. What we need is some common sense in religion as well as in business.

It is hard for the average layman to understand why there is so much division in the Church of Christ. The question of Paul could appropriately be asked to the modern church. Is Christ divided? A look at our protestant denominations would indicate that there are several divisions of Christ. Denominationalism has played too big a part in this division. There is little basic difference in the denominations and people need to be taught that there are Christians in all of the denominations and because one is a Methodist he need not regard all Baptists as heathen. If some of us are zealous in advancing the cause of Christ as we are of our particular denomination, we would see the church take its rightful place in the world. If the name of Christ were substituted in our doctrines and thoughts for the name of our denomination we would be entertaining a more Christian attitude. There can be no Christian justification made for some of the things which have been said in the name and interest of denominationalism.

The Christian Endeavor is one of the agencies which are making for Christian unity. Denominational lines are forgotten in a greater nterest when a group of endeavorers meet. If some of our sectarian-minded and denominational dyed leaders could have met with representatives of other creeds in Christian Endeavor conventions, there would be less opposition to church unity. If the young people of our churches grow up in fellowship with representatives of other beliefs, there is an important step taken towards unity in the church of Christ. If all of our young people were united in their organizations, the next generation would not quarrel over the government of the united church.

The great factor which unites the church is love. I would not say that all who have opposed church union have lacked love in their hearts, but it is a poor example of love when preachers are ready to tear each other in a meeting on church union. The church of the past has hardly had religion and love enough to bring church unity to a close. When the members of the church are convicted by the message of Christ and fully consecrated to His will, we will hear less about denominations and church unity can become a reality.

We need a new baptism of the Holy Spirit that will inflame men and women with the message of Christ and that will so fill the church that the prayer of Christ may be answered and the world be made one in Him.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

APPOINTMENTS FOR MISS HODGES

District 14, Dec. 7-9

It will be impossible for Miss Hodges to visit all the churches in this district in three days. We are asking all the churches to co-operate and visit the nearest church where she speaks. Men, women, young people and children are invited to hear her at the following churches:

Winston, First church, Dec. 7, 7:30 p. m.
Maple Springs, Dec. 8, 2:30 p. m.
Union Ridge, Deec. 8, 7:30 p. m.
Baltimore, Dec. 9, 2:30 p. m.
Pleasant Hill, Dec. 9, 7:30 p. m.

MRS. T. L. SPEAS,
District Chairman.

* * *

District No. 12, Dec. 10-11

Miss Hodges will be at the following churches in District No. 12:

State Street, Lexington, Saturday, Dec. 10, at 3:30 p. m.
Greer's Chapel, Shiloh Charge, Saturday, Dec. 10, at 7 p. m.
Mount Carmel, South Lexington, Sunday, Dec. 11, at 10 a. m.
First Church, Lexington, Sunday, Dec. 11, at 11:30 a. m.
Friendship, Shiloh Charge, Sunday, Dec. 11, at 2:30 p. m.
Shiloh, Shiloh Charge, Sunday, Dec. 11, at 7:30 p. m.

MRS. CURTIS L. KOONTZ,
District Chairman.

* * *

District No. 15, Dec. 17-18

We are very fortunate in having Miss Olive Hodges, returned missionary from Japan, to speak to us at different churches.

She will be at Beses Chapel December 17 at 7:30 p. m.; Fallston Charge, the morning of the 18th (place to be named later); Cleveland Charge, afternoon or evening of the 18th (place to be named later).

MRS. B. L. HEAVNER,
District Chairman.

* * *

THE NEW BOOK

Dean Lindley's new book, "Human Nature and the Church," which was so favorably introduced both at the last Conference and in the last issue of the Herald is published by the Macmillan Company and sells for $2.00. The price is fixed by the publishers. Copies may be secured by ordering directly from the author or from the High Point College book store. The new volume is receiving attention from readers in various parts of the country and should make a special appeal to Methodist Protestants.

* * *

—Evangelist Ham is conducting tabernacle meetings in this city with good success.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

Whitakers Church.—On November 2 we held our fourth quarterly conference with the Whitaker's Chapel people. The delegates were instructed to bring our same pastor back; for some reason he was not returned. We are sorry to lose him and his wife, but hope they will do well where they go, and that her health may improve. We are called upon now to break in an entirely new man and I hope each one will feel very keenly his or her duty to co-operate in any way in the work of the Kingdom and hold up the pastor's hands.

Our Sunday school has picked up some recently. We have a new superintendent, one of our young men; we feel very proud of him and want to encourage him in every way we can.

One of our faithful workers, Mrs. J. M. Cutchin, Jr., who has not been able to be with us in our work, is improving, but not allowed by her physician to be out with us yet. We hope she can soon do so. Some of the others are doing better.

May God's blessings rest on the proceedings of Conference and every loyal Christian strive harder to make this a good year in the Master's Kingdom.

REPORTER.

◆

Orange Charge.—The first quartely conference is called to meet, at the Efland church Saturday, December 3, at 2:00 p. m.

We expect President Andrews to be with us. We hope for a full attendance of the officials.

Sincerely,
B. M. WILLIAMS.

◆

West Forsyth, Harmony Grove.—November 27, was the first service of the year. We were indeed glad to have back with us our pastor and family. They have been faithful the past four years.

The lesson this morning was taken from the third chapter of Malachi, the subject was, "Will Man Rob God," which everyone enjoyed.

Our Sunday school has been very good for the past year. The Christian Endeavor society is doing very well; we have a very good attendance.

A special offering was taken this morning for the Children's Home. We hope our Sunday school and church will prosper more in the future than it has in the past.

LESSIE TODD.

◆

Rehoboth, Granville Circuit.—We are so glad to have our beloved pastor, Rev. C. L. Spencer, with us for another yeaer. He and his wife are very dear, not only to his members, but others as well.

Miss Olive Hodges a returned missionary from Japan made a talk on mission work in Japan at Rehoboth, November 21. A large crowd was there to hear her. May God bless Miss Hodges and her noble work and may she do much toward the advancement of God's kingdom.

It was my pleasure on Friday, November 18, to visit High Point college for the first time, my stay was short, but I was very much impressed by the fine looking boys and girls as they came from chapel services. We ought to be proud of our college.

Our Sunday school attendance is not so good as it was in the summer, but we must not become discouraged, but must try harder to encourage people to come out and try to get a new member each and every Sunday.

We have a very active Missionary Auxiliary. Our last meeting was held with Mrs. W. O. Cheatham, on November 23, with a large attendance.

MRS. H. L. WRIGHT, Reporter.

◆

First Church, Burlington.—We are indeed fortunate to get Dr. Paschall back. Since he and his wife came into our church family two years ago, they have done beautiful work with their winning personalities have won the love and admiration of everyone. We pray that God will continue to bless their work here and make it a blessing.

The Sunday school is rapidly growing.

Dr. Paschall delivered two most helpful and interesting sermons Sunday, both of which were well attended. At the evening service he used as his subject, "The Loneliness of Jesus." This was a very touching mesage. It brought forth a real challenge. Mises Tula Paul and Lula Riddle brought a beautiful mesage in song, "Alone, Alone."

Under the presidency of such a capable person as Mrs. M. A. Coble, the Woman's Auxiliary is progressing rapidly. The ladies are greatly helping in the financial as well as spiritual work of the church.

Our prayer meeting and C. E. meeting are being held each week. Both are striving to get more people to attend these services.

Will you join your prayers with ours that our efforts not be in vain? REPORTER.

◆

Flat Rock, Vance Charge.—We are glad indeed to have back our former pastor, Rev. J. W. Braxton. Mr. Braxton has been with us for three years and I am sure I speak the sentiments of the entire charge when I say we were indeed anxious and glad for his return, and wish to extend to him a most hearty welcome.

Mr. Braxton filled his regular appointment Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. As usual he preached an inspiring sermon. He chose for his subject "Ingratitude." God gives us all the blessings: He gives us health, He takes our sins from our bodies, etc.; yet, nine out of ten do not thank Him for what He has done. He also said that there are three principles of the church of Christ, namely: love, peace, and temperance.

The church officials for the year are as follows:

Stewards: S. W. Reavis, chairman, C. A. Shortham, Harry White, Misses Annie Sattiewhite and Mary V. White. Trustees: Alfred Pleasant, J. H. Satterwhite, J. T. Hester, and W. B. Reavis. Secretary-Treasurer of church, Miss Rosa Sattiewhite; superintendent, U. J. Parrott; assistnat superintendent, H.E. White; secretary-treasurer of Sunday school, T. P. Hester; class leader, Mrs. J. H. Sattiewhite; reporter, Katherine Reavis.

Our Christian Endeavor is doing splendid work. Since the organization of our Christian Endeavor, we have had programs that we would be proud for anyone to hear. Each Sunday night there is a large number of young people out. The society presented an interesting Thanksgiving program last Sunday evening with Miss Ethel Wortham, leader.

What was more impressive than a "Sunrise Service," which was given by the Christian Endeavor societies of Flat Rock and Spring Valley churches last Thursday morning? At 7:30 a host of people from both churches gathered at Flat Rock. Each person brought something to be distributed to some family less fortunate than we. Two large baskets were filled and at the end of the service they were carried to two needy families. An excellent program had been prepared for the occasion. Mr. Braxton opened the service by reading a few lines which were very appropriate. This was followed by the song, "Holy, Holy, Holy." Two poems were then read by Misses Margaret Reavis and Sallie Hunter Satterwhite. Mr. Braxton in his usual manner gave a very interesting talk on Thanksgiving. Miss Gladys Jones read the poem "Every Day Thanksgiving Day." Slips of paper were distributed to each person present. On these slips were written the things that we sometimes forget to be thankful for. They were then taken up and read. After hearing the things that we sometime forget to be thankful for, the congregation stood and sang "Take Time to Be Holy." Miss Mildred Jones and Mr. Braxton read a poem. This was followed by a few minutes of silent prayer. At the conclusion of the program Mr. Braxton served delicious refreshments which consisted of grapes and apples.

Miss Olive Hodges, a returned missionary, spoke at Spring Valley Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Both churces, Flat Rock and Spring Valley, joined together in that service. Both churches were represented. The attendance was good. Miss Hodges, in her charming manner, captivated the attention of all.

The first quartely conference will convene at Flat Rock Friday, December 9, at 2:30. Dr. Andrews, the president of the Annual Conference, will be present at that time.

KATHERINE REAVIS, Reporter.

◆

Asheville.—The members of the Asheville church welcomed the return of their pastor, the Rev. Mr. Carroll, for the coming year, and everyone feels that the splendid work accomplished during the short period of his pastorate was only the introduction to a year of greater endeavor and accomplishment on the part of both pastor and members. It is indeed gratifying to see the large attendance at all services and to find that many visitors develop into regular attendants, many of whom are becoming identified with the church in different capacities. Twenty-six new members have been received since Mr. Carroll's appointment last June and several are expected to unite with the church soon.

All departments of the church are well organized and are actively functioning.

The Woman's Auxiliary held the November meeting at the home of Mrs. George M. Foster, on Montford Ave. Mrs. Chas. B. Baker, as leader, had prepared an excellent program on the subject, "The Portrait of Jesus." A Thank Offering service will be held at the December meeting and in conjunction with this, a Christmas box will be packed for the Children's Home. This meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Williams. Mrs. J. A. McIntire and Mrs. C. C McNeill, as circle chairman, announced a benefit in the nature of a Depression party to be held Tuesday, December 6.

The senior C. E. society has made a good record under the leadership of Miss Arline Hanner, president. The $150.00 budget was paid before conference and the goal set for $200.00 for next year. The society recently served a church supper from which $21.00 was received. Five delegates were sent to the District C. E. Convention held at Canton two weeks ago. Misses Arline and Louise Hanner and Margaret Fawcett represented the senior group. Misses Eva Moore and Ruth Drake went from the juniors. Reports of the convention were given last Sunday night, Miss Fawcett giving a report of the social features enjoyed; Miss Louise Hanner, the ideas gained which would be practical for adoption, and Miss Arline Hanner reporting the business side. This group proved to be one of the most beneficial delegations ever sent by the society and many of the plans and practices suggested will be adopted.

The junior C. E. rendered a special Thanksgiving program November 20, to which the senior society and parents were invited. A feature of this program was a group of shadow pictures depicting various scenes of Pilgrim life. Those participating in this were: James Clouse, Hildah Brownlon, Billy Bailey and Virginia Taylor. A substantial basket of food was sent to the Salvation Army by the children as a Thanksgiving offering.

The Young Men's Bible class organized by the pastor is increasing in attendance and the men are engaged in remodeling a class room in which to hold their meetings.

The Young Women's Bible class, with Miss Novella McIntire as teacher, has an enrollment of 35 with 29 in attendance last Sunday. Miss Nancy Clouse is president. A regular program of social service work is carried out by a committee with Miss Louise Hanner as chairman. Prisoners in the local jail and camps will be remembered with Christmas presents. The custom has been adopted of giving a subscription each year to the Herald to some worthy member of the church. The class is making plans to assume the support of one child from the Home. A bountiful Thanksgiving basket was given a destitute family and a substantial donation carried to Bethel Home. The Sunshine committee has a list of shut-ins to whom flowers, cards, fruit and magazines are sent each month.

The primary department it meeting at the church again because of the extreme cold weather. Last Sunday was observed as gift Sunday and each class made some contribution toward beautifying the Sunday school room. Mr. E. C. Fawcett and Mrs. J. W. Boling gave their services in calcimining the Sunday school room. Mr. C. B. Baker, the church artist, contributed several Psalms, beautifully printed and framed, in addition to a birthday calendar. The department is fortunate in having a strong corps of experienced teachers who are: Mrs. E. A. Bolick, Miss Estelle Swain, Mrs. J. A. McIntire, Miss Mary Waters, Mrs. C. B. Baker, with Mrs. Eleanor Waddell, as pianist.

Miss Margaret Fawcett has an active group of intermediates. Since there is no intermediate C. E. society, this group takes a leading part in the junior group and renders valuable services. They are planning an original pageant for Christmas under Miss Fawcett's direction.

Worthy of special mention in connection with the Sunday worship services, is the splendid music rendered by some of the leading musicians of Asheville. This voluntary service of the members of other denominations is greatly appreciated and adds incalculably to the worship period.

At a special offering for the Children's Home taken Sunday morning, $23.00 was realized. The needs of the Home are being kept before the church members by the pastor.

Miss Arline Hanner, who has been ill for some time is showing steady improvement. Her resignation as Sunday school treasurer was accepted with regret and Miss Nell Carter was elected to take her place.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pratt were called to Centerville, Md., recently because of the death of Mrs. Pratt's father. Their friends deeply sympathize with them in their loss. Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Pratt, parents of Mr. Pratt, returned with them to spend the winter in Asheville. They are regular attendants at all services and are valuable help in the church.

Mrs. M. F. Taylor is recovering from a broken hip sustained several months ago and is able to be out.

Mrs. Robey Wilson, formerly Miss Flossie Monerth has been in Ashton Park hospital for the past week suffering form an attack of appendicitis.

VERDA McINTIRE, Reporter.

◆

Pleasant Hill, West Forsyth Charge.—Sunday morning, November 20, was the regular preaching service. We were delighted to find Rev. C. B. Way again to be our pastor for the coming year. We have all been benefited by his work and as the entire charge was in favor of his return we feel that this will be a most successful year. The service was based on "Thanksgiving." The text was "O give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth forever." Things to be thankful for were discussed and all entered into the spirit of Thanksgiving.

The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary met with Mrs. J. R. Whitman on Sunday evening. Mrs. Whitman had charge of the program and everyone enjoyed it. An announcement was made that Miss Hodges, a returned missionary, will speak at Pleasant Hill church on December 9, at 7:30 o'clock. REPORTER.

◆

English Street Church.—Since our last report several interesting things have happened. First of all, we will say we are glad to have Rev. C. H. Hill back with us this year as pastor. He and Mrs. Hill expect to move into the parsonage this week. Due to the financial condition of the church last year they lived out in the country about six miles. We are glad, however, to have them move into the parsonage where they can be with us more this year.

The church has designed a budget system for this year; taking care of all church finances including pastor's salary. We must mention too, new officers have been elected in both church and Sunday school. E. J. McAdams is our new Sunday school superintendent. Everything is looking fine and we are looking forward to a successful year.

The C. E. society is still doing "real" work under the efficient leadership of Kathleen Embler. The mid-week prayer services are in charge of the society. They not only furnish a leader for the prayer meetings, but different members take part on the program prepared by the leader. For Thanksgiving the Christian Endeavorers gave six baskets to the needy of the city, one to the Children's Home and a special basket to the pastor. The Sunday school also sent a special offering to the Children's Home. The High Point C. E. union will hold its next mass meeting at our church on Tuesday, December 6. New officers for the ensuing year will be elected at this meeting. REPORTER.

◆

Lineberry, Davidson Charge.—The following officers were elected and installed the first Sunday in November: superintendent of Sunday school, Dolen Hill; assistant superintendent, J. P. Elliott; pianist, Mrs. Garvin Elliott; assistant pianist, Mrs. Claude Elliott; reporter, Mrs. Garvin Elliott. The old Board of Trustees and stewards were re-elected.

We are very glad to have our pastor, Rev. E. A. Bingham, back with us this year. He preached a very interesting sermon Sunday morning on "Christ's Prayer for Unity."

The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Lonnie Morris on the second Saturday afternoon. At this time the following officers were electd: President, Mrs. E. A. Bingham; vice-president, Mrs. Ben Carroll; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Lonnie Morris.

Hoace Skeen, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Skeen, who was seriously hurt when struck by a car several weeks ago, has returned home from High Point hospital and is getting along fine. MRS. GARVIN ELLIOTT,
Reporter.

◆

Pleasant Grove.—We are all filled with joy to have Brother Williams with us for another year. He filled his appointment Sunday. It seems that each sermon gets better, if it were possible.

Sunday being Children's Home and Thank Offering day, our collection was not what we had hoped for. It being about $11.00, which is something like one-half of last year. I am afraid we members are not thankful enough for God's goodness and make "Depression" too much of an alibi. We can realize that we have given only when we sacrifice as the "Widow with her mite." As Bro. Williams said in his sermon Sunday morning, although we appreciate every thing, we are too much to give, only, when there is an overproduction, or else we have old garments with buttons off and shoes with holes and no laces that we cannot use.

Dear members, let's take this to our own homes. Suppose God called us away from our little ones and they were left for some good Christians to care for. Would we not be more willing to sacrifice for our Children's Home? For in that way we are helping those that are without father or mother. And by so doing take the agony of debts from the good men and good women that are rearing these boys and girls for Christ. Also, must provide clothing and something to eat for them. As Brother Macon said in his prayer Sunday, let's make every day Thanksgiving day, and not just once a year. God sends His blessing each day, so we in turn should be thankful each day.

Our mid-week prayer service and Christian Endeavor are very interesting. We are sorry that more of our members and young people do not come out. New Year's is not far away and we all will be making resolutions. Why not include, "Not to miss a single service." You will find them very helpful and inspiring. Let's come and bring a friend. Quoting Bro. Macon again, "Let's be an army of workers to bring other souls to Christ." We are always glad to see new faces and have them join our Sunday school, for we want to see it G—R—O—W.

Friends of Miss Mary Kennedy and Mr. Joe Murphy wil be sorry to know they are ill with typhoid fever, and hope for them a speedy recovery. It being the Lord's will. We mis them very much in our Sunday school.

The Brotherhood and the Ladies' Aid will have a joint meeting at the home of Brother B. L. West, Saturday night, December 3. Every member is urged to be present.

The first quarterly conference will meet Tuesday morning, December 6, at the church. The hour being 10 o'clock. The program will be in charge of Brother Taylor. A full attendance is required.

Due to the extremely cold weather our attendance was about one-half of the regular attendance last Sunday. Let's one and all make a special effort to bring our children and be present next Sunday. We need some of the old-fashioned Quaker's religion, "Have enough of the Grace of God about us to keep warm and then you will not dread the cold."

Let's all pray for each other and by the Grace of God be one happy family, full of that great Christian love.

REPORTER Pro-tem.

◆

Concord, Saxapahaw Charge.—It seemed so sad Sunday when I went to church not to see our former pastor, Rev. T. J. Whitehead, there. It seemed like I could see him coming across the yard with his hand held out to shake hands with everybody. When you keep a good man with you three years and then take him away it's just like losing one of the family.

They say that he has gone to Greensboro to West End church. I just know that they will be delighted with him, for he is so kind you can not help but like him. If anything in the world will make me like a person it is kindness.

With best wishes to Brother Whitehead.

J. L. DAVIS.

◆

Concord, Saxapahaw Charge.—As we are beginning a new conference year we are striving to lay plans for a most prosperous one. It found us with a new pastor. We hated very much to give up our former pastor, Rev. T. J. Whitehead, as he had been with us for only three short years, but during these years he had become as one of us. We shall never forget the inspiring messages he brought to us and the good work he did for us and the splendid fellowship we had with him; for to know him was to love him. Now as he goes to a new field of service our prayers and best wishes shall be with him.

Rev. W. M. Loy, our nenw pastor, filled the regular appointment at this church the third Sunday afternoon. He brought to us a good message for the beginning of the conference If we people will try to practice the lesson that was in his message. We are very glad to welcome Brother Loy and family into our fellowship.

Mrs. T. H. Moore has been on the sick list. Mr. J. C. Guthrie was able to return home from Rainey hospital and stay a few days before going back for an operation. We hope that these people on the sick list will soon be back at church with us.

We are planning on having a Christmas program at this church.

With best wishes to the Herald and its readers. BESSIE COBLE, Reporter.

◆

First Church, High Point.—The four churches of the denomination, First, Lebanon, Welch Memorial, and English Street, united in a Thanksgiving service on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, which was well attended. The four ministers occupied the pulpit, and Dr. S. W. Taylor read the first Thanksgiving Proclamation, made by George Washington in 1789, and Rev. R. I. Farmer made a happy address on "Thanksgiving Day of 1932," which was a gem. He declared that this day is different from any others of recent year because we live in a changing world. The prosperity which we enjoyed following the World War, when money was plentiful and everybody spent it lavishly, went to our heads and we have "high-hatted" the world! Now adversity is trying us, and we must bow in humility before the Father and plead for pardon. Like the Pilgrim fathers who for the sake of principle came to an alien land, faced innumerable trials and hardships in order to be able to worship "under their own vine and fig tree, where none dare to molest or make afraid," sowed their seed in untried soil, not knowing whether there would be a harvest, we give thanks despite the difficulties that beset us, and the want and privation all about us. We give thanks "for His mercy endureth forever," we thank God and take courage because "hope sees a star" in the rift of blue that begins to pierce the blackness of depression. A thank-offering of cash and produce was taken for the Children's Home. Two girls from the Home sang a pretty duet.

Funeral services for Mrs. Maggie A. Holton, who died at the home of Misses Horney at Jamestown Friday afternoon, were conducted in the First church Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by her pastor, Rev. R. I. Farmer, assisted by Rev. G. Ray Jordon, of Wesley Memorial M. E. church. Mrs. Holton suffered a severe attack of pneumonia about a year a go, from which she never fully recovered. Three weeks ago she went to her old home in Jamestown, now occupied by close friends, Misses Horney, in order to recuperate, but grew gradually worse, and passed away at 4 p. m. on Friday. Born in Grey County, Canada, Miss Maggie Tate, daughter of the late Edward and Mary A. Tate, natives of England, she came to this section with her family in 1871, where she has remained. More than 50 years ago she married Albert A. Holton, of Jamestown, and at one time they lived in Greensboro, when he served as clerk of Superior Court and in the Federal revenue service. Later he was appointed postmaster at High Point, and they moved here, making their home at 221 Steele street for the past 25 years. Mr. Holton died about three years ago. Mrs. Holton was a splendid woman, a consistent Christian, and under all circumstances was smiling and cheerful. She tenderly cared for her mother, who was infirm in her later years. Surviving relatives are three brothers, Messrs. Fred N. and Albet E. Tate, High Point, and William Tate, Hamilton, Montana; four sisters, Mrs. J. N. Rumble, High Point, Mrs. A. L. Holton, Roanoke, Va., Mrs. Charles Hawkins, Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. Walter Smith Charlotte, N. C. There are also a large number of nieces and nephews. Active pallbearers were Messrs. Roland T. Holton, Emmett Holton, Rufus Tate, O. E. Kearns, Elwood Holton, R. Tal Holton, Richard Holton, and Virgil Garrett. Honorary pallbearers included stewards of the First church, Dr. C. S. Grayson, and Dr. W. L. Jackson. Interment was made in Oakwood cemetery.

High Point College observed Thanksgiving with one day, Thursday, as holiday. A number of students, who live nearby, went home. Mrs. C. L. Whitaker served a tempting turkey dinner with all the accessories in the college dining hall, at which many members of the faculty and student body were guests. She also had as her special guests Dr. R. M. Andrews and family, her daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis White, Margaret and Billy White, of Greensboro, and her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Whitaker, of Gastonia.

A simple but interesting wedding was solemnized on Thanksgiving Day at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Freddie Clapp, on Meadow street, when Miss Edna May Clapp and Mr. Paul E. Surratt were united in marriage, the pastor of the bride, Rev. R. I. Farmer, using the ring ceremony of the Methodist Protestant church. The living room was prettitly decorated with ferns and chrysanthemums, and the small nephew of the bride, Mas O. R. Culler, Jr., bore the ring in the center of a large chrysanthemum. Only the immediate families and close friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride, a pretty brunette, was lovely in a hyacinth blue crepe with corresponding accessories. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Surratt left for a wedding journey, and upon their return they will make their home at 313 Meadow street, High Point. The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Lawrence Lee Clapp and his wife, Mrs. Freddie Clapp, and is a young woman of attractive personality, is popular among her circle of friends, and is a member of First church. She is a graduate of the local high school. Mr. Surratt is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Surratt and his late wife, Annabelle Scott Surratt, is a graduate of Mount Airy high school, and now holds a good position with the Slane Hosiery Mills of this city. A wide circle of relatives and friends tender their congratulations and best wishes for a long, happy, and useful life to this worthy and estimable young pair as they enter upon life's journey together.

The Senior C. E. Society, which has changed its weekly meetings from Monday to Sunday evenings, held an interesting meeting last Sunday at 6:30 o'clock. An attractive program was presented by Mrs. Ralph Vance, leader, which included a beautiful vocal solo by Prof. E. B. Stimson of the college and short talks by different members on 'Missionaries." The president of the group, Ralph Vance, delivered an inspiring message on the work of the society

We are pleased to note that Miss Alma Andrews is recovering satisfactorily from her recent operation for appendicitis at High Point Hospital.

Master John Lindley celebrated on Monday, November 28, his fourth birthday, and his aunt, Mrs. P. E. Lindley, gave a party in his honor to which some of his small friends and playmates were invited. On Wednesday, November 30, little Miss Hazel Zimmerman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Zimmerman, Montlieu Avenue, will have a birthday and her cake will be adorned with three candles.

The sudden illness of Mr. O. D. McPherson on Monday will be a source of regret to many friends, but we are much pleased to learn that his condition is improved today, and he is able to walk around the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pritchard and small son have recently moved back here from Winston-Salem, where they have lived for three years, and are residing on West Ray street. Their numerous friends are pleased to learn of their return.

Mr. Alvin R. Hammer, Steele street, whose wife and daughter are members of First church, is today (Tuesday) celebrating his 85th birthday. He is the last surviving Confederate veteran in High Point. Mr. Wyatt J. Armfield, who is Mrs. R. T. Pickens' father, on last Friday, November 25th, reached his 89th mile-post.

◆

Mt. Pleasant, North Davidson.—Our pastor for the coming year, Rev. O. C. Loy, deliveerd his first sermon the fourth Sunday, taking for his text I Cor. 13-11. The world today needs more spiritual culture. The people are teaching physical culture but that is not all, we need more spirtiual training; more spiritual culture to resist temptations and guide our minds. Hatred is started from the spirit. Physical culture is needed to carry out the plans of the spirit and we should have enough spiritual culture to not have hatred in our minds. At the time of the World War the people did not have enough spirtual culture. If there was enough spiritual power the war would not have been what it is. This war is the cause of the depression today. The people that crucified Jesus needed more spirtual culture. The best way to get spirtual culture is to (1) read your Bible more, (2) attend the church, and (3) pray more.

The people of Mt. Pleasant tried to express their appreciation of having Rev. O. C. Loy serve this charge another year by giving him a pounding.

The ladies have organized an auxiliary and are planning to held their first meeting Wednesday night, November 30, with Mrs. W. O. Payne.

The young boys and girls are holding an attendance contest. The losing class is to give the winning class a supper.

We are very glad indeed that Mrs. G. W. Hayworth and son are at home improving fast.

MILDRED GREEN, Reporter.

◆

Liberty.—Rev. F. R. Love, our new pastor, brought to us an inspiring gospel message Sunday morning. The scripture lesson was taken from the sixth chapter of Isaiah. May we, as Isaiah, get a right vision of God, and then may we, like Isaiah, say: "Here am I, Lord, send me." May we be more ready to hear the call to do the Lord's work.

We regret to lose Mr. Chambliss. He had endeared himself very much to the Liberty people. May the Lord abundantly bless him as he continues his work at Moriah.

Miss Marie Ward and Miss Helen Long Hanner had charge of the Christian Endeavor Thanksgiving program Sunday evening.

Circle No. 1 of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet Wednesday p. m. with Mrs. John W. Curtis. Circle No. 2, Wednesday p. m. with Mrs. Lawrence Brown.

The Sunday school officers for the coming year are Mr. W. M. Smith, superintendent; Miss Helen Isley, secretary; Miss Bettie Smith, pianist; Mrs. Mamie Smith, Philathea class teacher; Dr. A. D. Gregg, Baraca class teacher; Mrs. W. H. Wylie, Junior Philathea teacher; Mr. R. L. Elkins, Junior Baraca teacher; primary teaechers are Mesdames J. B. York, V. H. Dameron and John W. Curtis; Miss Bertine Shepard, reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Shepard and Miss Bertine Shepard were the guests of Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Pike recently.

Rev. Mr. Love was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Curtis Sunday.

We would like to know the address of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Russell, former pastor and wife. We still remember them very pleasantly.

BERTINE SHEPARD, Reporter.

◆

Shiloh Charge.—We are glad to be back another year with the people of Shiloh charge. We appreciate very much the fact that after having served this people for eight years, they asked for our return, and the quarterly conference voted unanimously for it, so I want to do the best I can for them this year.

I have been to all the churches and met with good congregations at each place. The work is starting off nicely and we hope the good congregations will continue.

On Thanksgiving Day we had Shiloh church door open all day, so that our people could go in and give thanks, and take of their substance and leave there for the Children's Home, and a very nice load was left. That night we had a praise and Thanksgiving service, and took an offering which amounted to $38.00, but on account of some not being able to be there that night, we carried it over until Sunday and the amount was raised to $56.14. On Friday Bro. Ed Waitman took his truck and carried the load of provisions to the Children's Home, accompanied by Bro. Jessie Hill and the writer.

Friendship church is getting up a load for the Children's Home this week.

This is my ninth year with these good people, and they never let me get out of practice of saying "Thank you;" their continued kindnesses have been shown all through the year. I can not take the space to mention the gifts nor the givers, but just want to say again that for every word of cheer, and every deed of kindness you have bestowed upon this preacher and family for the past years, we have been, and are truly thankful, and appreciate more than mere words can express; but I hope to show you in deeds.

I never grow a year older, but somebody knows and remembers it. This time it was Mrs. W. J. Berrier, Emma, Florence, Mabel, Adline, and Mr. Ray Leatherman—all a nice gift each. Since Conference, while it was appropriate to offer our gifts of thankfulness, Bro. Fred Berrier, from Richmond, Va., wrote and told me he was so thankful for my return to this work that he sent a gift of $5.00. Thank you, Fred, and may God bless the gift and the giver. That is not all: While the wind was blowing so cold, Bro. Jeff Berrier found out that our wood was not cut in fire lengths, so he made it his business to have it sawed, and all we were asked to do was to show them where to put it; he also hauled it to the wood yard; and Mrs. R. E. Smith gave me new shoes and rubbers to wear to Conference. Now I can keep warm in and out of doors. Let me mention one other thing: Mrs. Troxler puts out on her bed a beautiful hand-embroidered set just for special occasions, which was made and given by Mrs. Jim Shoaf. We thank you again.

The first quarterly conference will meet at Shiloh church Tuesday, December 6th, at 2:30. It is the duty of every member of the quarterly conference to be there. Come.

R. S. TROXLER, Pastor.

◆

State Street, Lexington.—An unusually interesting program was given Sunday morning as the opening exercise of the Sunday school. There were readings by several members of the school bearing on the subject of gratitude and our responsibility to those less fortunate than ourselves. After the class period our superintendent, Mrs. H. S. Lanier, brought the needs of the Children's Home before the school in a very convincing way and read the appeal that is being made for means to pay off the debt that has handicapped everything at the Home for so long and spoke of the economical and self-sacrificing way in which Dr. and Mrs. Dixon have managed the Home ever since they came there, and urged all to do their best to ease the load.

Mrs. F. J. Cox read a beautiful poem at the close of Mrs. Lanier's talk entitled, "Sharing Your Brother's Load."

Miss Mildred Leonard spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leonard, and was with us in Sunday school. She and her sisters, Mrs. Gray Davis and Miss Margaret Leonard, sang a number for us in their delightful way. These singers are widely known and highly appreciated.

The meeting of the Ladies Bible class with Mrs. J. A. Walser last week was a very helpful and enjoyable one.

Dr. and Mrs. Maier were with us and we all felt that they made the meeting better in a spiritual way and we were glad of the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with them.

There will be a joint meeting of Circles Nos. 1 and 2 of the Woman's Auxiliary at the church next Wednesday night just after the mid-week prayer service.

Mr. Hendry and his family moved to their home in Charlotte last week. We all wish for them great success and happiness in their new field.

Dr. Maier filled his appointment at Bethesda Sunday morning. He was very favorably impressed by the friendly and co-operative spirit of the people there and the prospect for a good year's work.

The message Sunday night by the pastor was one of great interest and aroused in many hearts an introspective view of themselves. The subject was in the form of a character study of the elder brother in the story of the Prodigal Son.

We were pleaseed to have Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Leoenard with us in Sunday school

Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard live in Charlotte, but visited in the home of Mr. Leonard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leonard.

Here's a personal wish and hope and prayer from this writer that the people of the denomination and friends in general will respond to the need of the Children's Home in a way that will lift the load from the faithful workers' shoulders and leave them free of this care. And here's a personal greeting to Dr. and Mrs. Dixon, Miss Vista, and all the workers and all the children. God bless you everyone!

MRS. J. F. BURKHART, Reporter.

Shiloh C. E. Society, Shiloh Charge.—In my last report I stated that the C. E. Society was studying a series of lessons on prohibition. These programs proved to be exceptionally interesting, climaxing on Sunday night, October 23, when Dr. Plyler, editor of the Christian Advocate, addressed the members of the society, their parents and friends. We were especially glad to have Reeds Baptist and M. E. congregations well represented; also Beulah Reform and Friendship M. P. We always welcome these good people in our midst.

For a few minutes before the arrival of the speaker of the evening, Rev. Mr. Roach, pastor of Reeds Baptist church, spoke, using as the basis of his talk, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Through the next few lessons we are studying about the early history and difficulties of the church. These lessons promise to be interesting.

We are sorry to report that the society seems to be declining in average attendance. Probably this is due largely to the weather conditions the past few Sunday evening.

We are glad to have with us for another year Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Troxler and family. They have been with us for the past eight years, during those years we have associated one with the other until it would seem almost impossible to part with them. They always carry a ray of sunshine and happiness wherever they go. Words do not express the joy we feel over their return for another year. If it be God's will we hope not only this year but many more. We are expecting this year to be one of the most successful in the history of Shiloh church; and it truly can be through the co-operation and prayers of its members.

At the close of last Sunday night's lesson Mr. Troxler spoke very briefly in connection with our lesson on the difficulties and hardships that the disciples and early Christians faced that we might have freedom of faith. In his talk he urged that we as young people stand by the church and, if need be, give our lives so that the church may be kept pure for future generations.

C. E. REPORTER.

Asheboro.—A large number of our people attended one or more days of Annual Conference at Burlington. Mr. W. L. Ward was present as delegate from our church. We are very happy to have Rev. R. C. Stubbins for our new pastor, the one we have learned to appreciate and work with for two years previous. The pastor preached a very appropriate sermon on "Builders" the first Sunday of the new yeaer. Following the service the newly-elected church officers were installed. This was a very imressive service. With the hearty co-operation of pastor and people we feel that we can have the best year that we have had together.

The Senior and Junior choirs presented an evening of music last Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, welcoming the return of Mr. and Mrs. Stubbins. Special anthems were given by each choir and famaliar hymns were joined in by the congregation. Of special interest and which was enjoyed by those present was a group of violin numbers played by Mrs. Jess Alderman. On account of the severe weather not a great many were privileged to be present.

The annual Thanksgiving service was held in the M. E. church at 9 o'clock Thanksgiving morning. Dr. Truesdale, pastor of the church, was in charge of the service, with Rev. H. T. Stevens of the Baptist church, delivering the sermon.

Circle No. 1 of the Auxiliary, with Mrs. A. D. Lowdermilk as chairman, served a turkey dinner at the Hayworth Motor Company's showrooms on Tuesday, November 22, from 5 to 8 o'clock p. m., and realized a nice profit.

The workers' council of the Sunday school held their meeting for the month in the church last Monday evening.

The Philathea class held their November meeting in the home of Mrs. Jesse Counciiman Thursday evening, November 17th, with Miss Bertha Presnell as joint hostess. Good reports were given for the month. Self-denial month proved to be very satisfactory. Plans were made for the Christmas meeting. Among other committees a nominating committee was appointed. A salad course was served.

REPORTER.

Beulah, Mecklenburg Circuit.—We were sorry to see Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Love leave us for their new work. We all hope for them a prosperous year. We will be glad to have them come back and visit our homes any time they are in this community. We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Henderson and family. He preached his first sermon Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, which was enjoyed by all present. We hope for a larger crowd on the second Sunday night in this month.

We had prayer service on Thanksgiving night at our church. A nice talk was made by Rev. C. E. Craig.

Our Christian Endeavor Society gave a program Sunday night. The topic was "Returning Thanks. " A right nice crowd was present.

We are still having Sunday school every Sunday morning. We reorganized our Sunday school several Sundays ago. Rev. Mr. Craig was re-elected superintendent. E. A. Lemmond, class leader; E. G. Dees, teacher for Senior class; Rev. Mr. Craig, Young People's class; Miss Martha Schell, Junior class; Miss Lula Deese, Primary class; Mrs. Omie Morris, Cradle Roll. We hope to have a much larger roll this year in Sunday school than we had last year.

Miss Bessie Deese was put in for reporter to the Herald in the place of her sister, Miss Lula Deese, who has served for reporter for the past several years.

We are all proud to see Mrs. C. E. Craig, who has been on the sick list for some time, able to attend church services again. We hope that she will continue to improve in health as much as she has in the past several months.

Best regards to the Herald and its readers.

MISS BESSIE DEESE, Reporter.

Union Grove Church, Mocksville Charge.—Our new pastor has come to our aid. We are certainly glad to have Mr. Ferree come back with us for the fourth year. We greatly enjoyed his sermon last Sunday night; his subject was, "Work Where You Are." It was very inspiring and helpful to each member of the congregation. Although the congregation was small we feel the service was a success. Mr. Ferree's subject for his next appointment is, "The Weeping Christ"—if he doesn't change his mind.

Our Sunday school is keeping its regular attendance. Our average attendance for the past month was 61 and the amount of collection taken in was $4.21.

Our C. E. Society still meets regularly and the attendance is a good average. Our C. E. and Sunday school are starting on our Christmas program. We are hoping it will be a success. The public is invited to attend the program and Christmas tree.

People, pray for our church and each member that success may attend our efforts.

"There is waiting a work where only his hands can avail;
And so, if he falters, a chord in the music will fail.
He may laugh to the sky, he may lie for an hour in the sun;
But he dare not go hence until the labor appointed is done.

"To each man is given a marble to carve for the wall;
A stone that is needed to heighten the beauty of all;
And only his soul has the magic to give it a grace,
And only his hand has the cunning to give it place.

"Yes, the task that is given to each man, no other can do!
So the errand is waiting; it has waited through ages for you.
And now you appear; the hushed ones are turning their gaze
To see what you do with your chance in the chamber of days."

FLORA MAE WOOTEN, Reporter.

Kannapolis.—On November 6 the following officers were duly installed to offices of the church by the former pastor, Rev. C. Ivey Smith: Board of stewards, Mr. J. G. Lisk, chairman, Mr. M. E. Marlow, Mr. G. F. Coble, Mr. D. A. McLaurin, and Mr. C. L. Hampton; trustees, Mr. M. E. Marlow, Mr. M. W. Henderson, and Mr. D. B. Cartner; treasurer, Mr. C. B. Price; superintendent of Sunday school, Mr. M. W. Henderson; assistant superintendent of Sunday school, Mr. J. G. Lisk; secretary and treasurer of Sunday school Mr. Edward Sides; teachers: Beginners, Mrs. C. B. McCommins; Primary, Mrs. H. W. Sides; Juniors, Mrs. C. B. Price; Intermediates, Mr. C. B. McCommins; Seniors, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lisk; Bible class, Mr. R. T. Sides; church reporter, Mrs. X. E. Grayson.

Rev. Clarence Morris, who was appointed pastor of Kannapolis, has taken up his new work. Rev. Mr. Morris succeeds Rev. C. Ivey Smith, who came here a year ago from High Point. Mr. Morris is the youngest pastor the church has ever had, being only 21 years of age. Until he completes the present term at High Point College, where he is a student, he will be in Kannapolis only during the week-ends. Next summer he plans to take full charge. Mr. Morris is a son of a minister and is said to be a leader in young people's work. His home is near High Point. MRS. X. E. GRAYSON, Reporter.

◆

APPORTIONMENT

Charge	W.Ser.	A.C.B.	Sp.Sup.	Col.
Alamance	$ 550	$290	$20	$150
Albemarle	430	70	17	110
Anderson	300	90	18	75
Asheboro	665	225	25	190
Asheville	390	75	17	125
Bess Chapel	500	75	17	150
Bethesda	70	10	5	10
Purlington, First	1,000	400	30	215
Burlington, Ft. Pl.	275	40	5	35
Charlotte	430	100	20	150
Chase City	110	25	5	35
Cleveland	850	200	25	150
Concord	540	300	25	150
Connelly Springs	200	10	5	10
Creswell	545	75	15	110
Davidson	645	150	15	110
Democrat	180	25	5	15
Denton	600	135	15	110
Draper	175	10	10	10
Enfield	345	75	20	110
Fallston	860	175	20	150
Flat Rock	690	180	20	150
Friendship	320	60	12	85
Forsyth	700	250	20	150
Gibsonville	340	45	5	35
Glen Raven	625	75	20	150
Graham	530	100	15	150
Granville	780	290	20	150
Greensboro, Calvary	640	100	15	150
Greensboro, Grace	740	350	40	375
Greensboro, St. Paul	400	75	15	75
Greensboro, W. End	435	100	15	110
Greensville	675	75	15	110
Guilford	500	75	15	110
Halifax	665	175	20	150
Haw River	750	150	20	150
Henderson	715	200	25	225
High Pt., Eng. St.	215	25	10	35
High Pt., First	1120	400	40	375
High Pt., Lebanon	535	135	20	150
High Pt., Welch	520	115	20	150
Kannapolis	225	10	5	10
Kernersville	300	75	10	110
Lexington, St. St.	560	100	10	110
Lexington, South	650	75	15	110
Liberty	530	100	10	125
Lincolnton	575	100	10	160
Littleton	550	125	15	75
Mebane	445	125	20	150
Mecklenburg	480	50	10	75
Melton's Grove	75	10	5	10
Midland	645	90	10	75
Midway-Shady Gr.	150	25	5	10
Moriah	320	100	10	100
Mocksville	700	125	15	110
Mt. Hermon	995	225	20	170
Mt. Pleasant	735	300	20	150
N. Davidson	520	100	10	150
Orange	890	270	25	200
Pinnacle	600	135	15	110
Pleasant Grove	530	135	20	150
Porter	60	25	5	10
Randleman	550	150	15	110
Randolph	800	135	15	110
Reidsville	535	50	20	150
Richland	500	90	10	75
Roberta	320	80	15	110
Rockingham	195	30	5	40
Roseneath	20	2	1	10
Saxapahaw	640	135	15	150
Shiloh	840	135	20	150
Siler City	390	100	15	75
Spencer	45	5	5	10
Speight's Chapel	10	2	1	5
Spring Church	515	150	15	110
Tabernacle	550	155	15	150
Thomasville, Cen.	550	180	40	300
Thomasville, 1st	450	65	15	110
Thomasville, W.	145	15	5	15
Vance	715	135	15	150
Weaverville	390	35	10	110
West Forsyth	680	160	15	110
Whitakers	195	45	10	75
Why Not	650	135	15	110
Winston, First	560	200	25	150
Winston, South	45	15	5	10
Yarborough	160	45	10	75

PLEASE NOTE: The General Conference ("World Service") Budget has been apportioned in accordance with the recommendation of Brother Taylor, the retiring President, which recommendation was approved by the Conference. The recommendation is as follows:

13. "The last General Conference reduced the budget for World Service to $375,000. Our allotment of that amount as apportioned by the Executive Committee is $42,000 . . .

Budget "I recommend that the basis of apportionment be 70 cents per member and 25 per cent of pastor's salary . . .

"I also recommend that charges handle the budget in such a way as to secure the most favorable attitude on the part of our people, and their most generous response in payments . . .

"I further recommend that charges raising 100 per cent of the budget be listed under Honor Roll A; those raising 75 per cent under Honor Roll B; those raising 50 percent, under Honor Roll C; those raising 25 per cent, under Honor Roll D . . . "

THE BUDGET COUNCIL.

◆

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Mrs. L. H. Sides	$14.00
Rev. R. S. Troxler	6.00
Rev. A. D. Shelton	4.00
Miss Janie Blackwood	2.00
Rev. J. E. Pritchard	2.00
Rev. N. G. Bethea	2.00
Rev. C. W. Bates	2.00
Rev. Robert Short	2.00
Fred E. Jones	2.00
Rev. E. G. Cowan	1.00
Rev. S. F. Morris	1.00

Bro. Jones' remittance is for a Christmas gift the first subscription of the kind we have received this year.

Printing Deficit

Rock Creek church, by R. Z. Hornady ..$1.00

Thanks for this contribution.

◆

—Surry County poultrymen report that they produced eggs at a cost of 10 cents a dozen this year and sold them for an average of 27 cents a dozen. These poultrymen are keeping careful records.

BRO. FARMER'S PEOPLE POUND HIM

The reporter for First church, High Point, will no doubt mention a happy occurrence recently at the parsonage. But we Farmers will appreciate space in the Herald by which to say, "Thank you." I have read that it is a species of aggreeable servitude to be under an obligation to those we esteem. The good people of First church have been so kind to us in so many ways that this event prompts me to express our gratitude.

It is not an uncommon thing for farmers in the country to "pound" their ministers. But when a town preacher-Farmer is pounded that is news. And more: Many of our constituency have come from farms—most of them from Randolph County, it seems—and it was perhaps a natural thing for Thanksgiving evening to be the time for this combined reception pounding.

We are beginning our fifth year here and the surprise planned by the Women's Auxiliary circles was a pleasant one. Originally the "pounding" was to have been brought to the Wednesday evening service by the largest yet attendance at prayer meeting. But since, to be sure, I had not been told of the surprise, in the announcing of a Thanksgiving morning service and none on Wednesday evening that plan was spoiled. But not to be outdone the good folks came to the parsonage with their many things for the pantry and curtain material for all windows. If I knew the names of all who participated and what they brought, space would not permit mentioning them. But as heartily as we know how the family and I want to say, "Thank You" and "God bless you," every one. We shall try to prove our gratitude by serving the best we can and remembering, with Dr Thomas Franklin, this truth:

"To the generous mind,
The heaviest debt is that of gratitude,
When 'tis not in our power to repay it."

Very sincerely,

R. I. FARMER.

◆

JOIN IN THE FIGHT AGAINST BEER

The national W. C. T. U. has issued a call for anti-beer rallies in every community in the nation on Sunday, December 4, for personal and community protests against legalizing beer to be sent to Congressmen and Senators.

The Anti-Saloon League of America joins with the W. C. T. U. in this call and urges all state superintendents to co-operate in holding these rallies. These rallies and all church services on Sunday, December 4th, should be made the occasion for announcement of and prayers for the success of the national convention of the Anti-Saloon League in Washington, December 9 to 12.

F. SCOTT McBRIDE,
General Superintendent.

Washington, D. C.

◆

—Henry Ford was recently operated on in his great hospital. His early recovery is expected.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

Sharpsville S. S., Ohio, T. O.	$ 2.00
Maple Springs, Forsyth	4.00
Mr. S. R. Stafford, personal T. O.	5.00
Ladies' Aid Society, Mt. Lebanon, Randleman, T. O.	15.00
Mr. J. W. Magee, personal T. O.	5.00
Mrs. T. O. Pender and Martha Catherine Pender, personal T. O.	2.00
Mrs. Nellie Hawkins, Fairmont, W. Va., personal T. O.	2.00
Mrs. Mary A. Owens and Miss Amy Simpson, personal T. O.	3.00
Mrs. Carrie Braswell, personal T. O.	1.00
The Soderbom Misionary Circle, Newark, N. J., T. O.	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Clark, Delhi, Ont., Canada, personal T. O.	50.00
Orange Chapel, Saxapahaw, T. O.	6.68
Haw River S. S., Glen Raven, T. O.	10.00
Shiloh S. S., Shiloh	4.67
Henderson S. S.	4.89
Friendship S. S., Haw River	5.00
Mrs. M. E. Moore, personal T. O.	5.00
Mr. E. A. Spencer, personal T. O.	10.00
Mizpah S. S., Haw River, T. O.	1.20
Wesley's Chapel, Greensville, T. O.	2.00
Pleasant Hill, Cleveland, T. O.	2.00
Pleasant Hill, Cleveland, C. E. Society, T. O.	1.70
English Street S. S.	2.10
Mr. G. R. Hemphill, Julian, personal T. O.	50.00
North Baltimore Church, Md., T. O.	2g.00
Chapin, Ill., T. O.	4.00
Ladies' Aid Society, Fairview, Glen Raven, T. O.	2.00
Miss Mary Rowe, Elkhart, Ind., T. O.	2.00
Mr. C. L. Webb, Jacksonville, Ill., personal T. O.	2.00
Mr. John Webb, Concord, Ill., personal T. O.	12.50
Baraca Class, Bethel, Alamance, T. O.	1.50
Mr. W. A. Foust, personal T. O.	1.50
Mr. W. H. Foust, personal T. O.	1.00
Surar Grove, Bernice, Ind., T. O.	3.50
Flat Rock, Vance, T. O.	11.00
Salisbury, Md., T. O.	10.00
M. P. S. S. Finksburg, Md., T. O.	5.00
Philadelphia S. S. Greensville	1.20
Pennsville, Ohio, T. O.	6.38
Mt. Union S. S., Auburn, W. Va., T. O.	4.00
Mrs. J. E. Day, Auburn, W. Va, personal T. O.	5.00
Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Flick, Auburn, W. Va., personal T. O.	5.00
Athens S. S., Athens, Ohio, T. O.	1.69
Gibsonville S. S.	5.14
Baltimore S. S., W. Forsyth, T. O.	4.00
Keswick S. S., Iowa, T. O.	4.25
Plains Hollow, Mohawk, N. Y., T. O.	3.26
Mt Pleasant S. S., Carrollton, Ohio, T. O.	4.00
Bethel S. S., Randolph, T. O.	6.00
The Onward Class, Connellsville, Pa., Pa., clothing child	5 00
J. F. Hunter, personal T. O.	1.00
Mt. Zion, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion, T. O.	9.78
Lebanon S. S., High Point	4.71
West End S. S., Thomasville, T. O.	10 26
Bethel S. S., Mocksville, T. O.	10 00
Misses Sue M. and M. A. Whitaker, Raleigh, personal T. O.	2.00
Miss Minnie Paris, Rocky Mount, personal T. O.	20.00
Miss Nannie Stowe, personal T. O.	1.00
Dr. P. E. Lindley, personal T. O.	2.00
Union Ridge, Forsyth, T. O.	10.00
Mt. Carmel, Forsyth, T. O.	14.07
Liberty Chapel, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, T. O.	2.00
Maple Springs, Forsyth, T. O.	13.56
Haddam, Kans., T. O.	5.95
North Walcot S. S., N. Y. T. O.	5.00
Mrs. R. L. Wiland, Indianapolis, Ind., personal T. O.	5.00
Liberty S. S., Liberty	2.00
Harmony S. S., Falling Waters, W. Va., T. O.	6.00
Blanche Chapel S. S., Bluffton, Ind., T. O.	4.06
Graham S. S., supporting child	10.00
Rev. E. A. Bingham, for Davidson Circuit, T. O.	5.65
Kannapolis S. S., T. O.	11.17
First Church, Thomasville, T. O.	13.80
Prof. R. H. Gunn, High Point, T. O.	5.00
Mrs. Nettie Burroughs, Canada, T. O.	1.00

We are so thankful for this amount of money. May the dear Lord bless every one who has contributed. If you will add up last week's report and this you will find it is about $700.00. We are asking our people for $5,000.00 at Thanksgiving to partly pay $6,500.00 of obligations. We now have $700.00 of it.

November 27th was the Sunday set apart by many of our churches and Sunday schools for the Thanksgiving offering for the Home. It was a cold, rough day, so many of our people did not get to church. Please follow up, or the Home will suffer.

Clothing and Other Gifts

Haw River Charge, Brown Summit, 1 bu. turnips, 2 lots canned fruit and vegetables, 12 boxes table salt, 10 pounds sugar and 1 pound coffee; Mizpah, 4 chickens, 1 package of meal, 2 pumpkins, 10 bu. sweet potatoes, 2 bu. Irish potatoes, 4 lots of canned fruit and vegetables, apples, pillow cases and jellies, $1.20 in cash reported above; Fair Grove, 2 chickens and $10.00 in cash reported above. There was also a suit for little boy not listed in slip sent us.

English Street, half bu. sweet potatoes, 6 cans condensed milk, 5 pounds sugar, 2 cans salmon and a package of beans.

Shiloh Church, Liberty, 100 quarts of fruit and vegetables.

Haw River Church, Glen Raven, 7½ dozen pair hose, 6 dresses, 11 towels, 1 box soap powders, 24 cakes soap, 6 wash-cloths, 4 coats, 2 sweaters, 3 blouses, 1 suit for boy, 6 pieces dress goods, 3 hats, 2 quarts fruits, 1 spool thread, 113 yards corduroy cloth, 2 sponges, and some toys.

Pleasant Hill Auxiliary, Billingsley, Ala., 3 towels, 6 handkerchiefs, 3 tea towels, and 1 luncheon set.

The Philathea class, Asheboro, 6 dozen handkerchiefs for boys and 6 dozen for girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett M. Taylor, Lawrence, L. I., 3 shirts, 9 pair horse, and 2 suits of underwear.

First Church, High Point, 2 quarts fruit and vegetables and 12 pounds flour.

Clara, Miss., Missionary Society, 1 quilt, 1 coat, 2 suits for boys and 2 dresses.

Mr. George Coy, Alpha, Ohio, 3 quilts.

Mrs. J. W. Hopkins, Greenboro, 2 dresses.

Bible Class, Saxapahaw Union S. S., by Mrs. E. W. Mann, 1 quilt.

Bethesda Auxiliary, Halifax, 10 quarts fruit and vegetables.

Union Ridge, Forsyth, 2 bu. sweet potatoes, 1 lb. sugar, 10 quarts fruit and vegetables, 2 towels, 2 coats and a suit for little boy; also $10.00 cash reported above.

Alamance, Sapling Ridge, Dr. and Mrs. M H. Woody and son, 20 bu. cotton seed, and 1 turkey; others, 2 bu. wheat, 2 bu. cotton seed, 1 turkey, 1 chicken, 14 bu. sweet potatoes, 4 gal. molasses, 2 pumpkins, 2 gal. beans, 3 quilts, and 14 quarts fruits and vegetables.

Mrs. E. Bott, Cherrydale, Va., two boxes of clothing for boys and girls.

Mrs. Wm. H. Myers, Oxford, Md., 1 pair shoes, 1 coat, 1 dress, 1 skirt, 1 bathrobe, 5 shirts and 3 pieces of underwear.

Davidson Charge, Liberty, 5½ bu. sweet potatoes, 2 bu. Irish potatoes, 4 lbs. lard, 1 quilt, 1 chicken, 2½ bu. seed oats, half gal. molasses, 15 quarts fruit and vegetables and pickles, half bu. wheat, and 50 cents in cash reported above.

Lineberry, 1½ bu. sweet potatoes, half bu. wheat, 7 quarts fruit and vegetables and $3.40 cash, reported above.

Pleasant Grove, cash 55 cents, reported above.

Chapel Hill, 6 bu. sweet potatoes, 1 bu. Irish potatoes, half bu. peanuts, 3 pumpkins, 5 quarts fruits and vegetables, 1 bedspread, 1 towel and $1.25 cash, reported above.

There were two chickens given by one of these churches, but not listed in the list given me.

Shiloh Charge, 2 bu. wheat, 2 sacks flour, package of peas, package of pepper, 12 bu. sweet potatoes, 2½ bu. Irish potatoes, 2 bu. turnips, 23 quarts of fruit and vegetables.

Mrs. Carrie Nicholson, 2 dresses and 3 pair shoes.

First Church, Thomasville, 7 quarts fruit and vegetables, 3 cans salmon, package of meal, 3 pumpkins, 1 bu. sweet potatoes, half bu. beans, package dried fruit, 1 quilt, 1 towel, 1 pair pillow slips, 11 pair hose and 3 chickens.

Friendship Missionary Society, Mt. Hermon, by a mistake in listing Friendship did not get credit last week for a package of dried fruit, 2 pair pants, 3 shirts and 31 quarts of fruit and vegetables. We gladly correct.

This report has been made up hurriedly that we may go for another load of produce. We try to avoid mistakes, but sometimes make them. So we will gladly correct, if our attention is called to it.

We have been compelled to leave off names where possible that space in Herald may be saved. Thank you, one and all, and may God richly bless all of you.

A. G. DIXON, Supt.

NOTE: Donations from Graham, and also from Tabernacle will be reported next week.

◆

NEW ADDRESSES

Rev. S. W. Taylor, High Point, N. C., 427 West Lexington Ave.

Rev. R. M. Andrews, High Point, N. C., 909 W. College Drive.

Rev. J. B. Trogdon, Randleman, N. C.

Rev. O. Peeler, Box 181, Enfield, N. C.

Rev. W. M. Loy, Saxapahaw, N. C.

Rev. T. A. Williams, Route 5, Concord, N. C., Box 232.

Rev. G. H. Hendry, Charlotte, N. C., 1205 Grand Central Ave.

Rev. H. F. Surratt, Thomasville, N. C.

Rev. J. L. Love, Greenville, S. C., 105 Loyd St.

Rev. F. R. Love, Liberty, N. C.

Rev. C. L. Grant, Kernersville, N. C.

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Routh

Eli Malcolm Routh was born in Randolph county, May 8, 1871, and departed this life in Forsyth county, November 2, 1932. About 35 years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Ada Dean of Randleman who preceded him to the spirit world by one year. While in young manhood he professed saving faith in Jesus Christ and united with St. Paul's M. E. church, South, in Randleman. After his marriage he moved his membership to Mt. Lebanon M. P. church in Randleman, later moving it to St. Paul's M. P. church in Greensboro, and still later to the First M. P. church in Winston-Salem, where he was both a class-leader and a steward at the time of his death. While his health would permit he was at his place in the church. Just before his departure he gave assurance that all was well and that he was in the hands of the Lord.

The funeral service was conducted by the writer assisted by Rev. T. A. Wililams at Mt. Lebanon M. P. church in Randleman and interment was in the cemetery there.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. V. Coble of Burlington, and by two grandchildren.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

Durham

Lonnie F. Durham was born in Alamance County on October 3, 1859 and passed away at his home in the Salem community on November 10, 1932. He was aged 73 years and 17 days. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mollie Durham and by one son, Carl L. Durham.

From boyhood Mr. Durham has lived a Christian life. He was a faithful and loyal member of Salem church for more than half a century. For forty years he was a class leader in the church. He taught a Sunday School class for many years. His great desire was to see the world made more Christlike, and he did all within his power to let the world see and know of the way that Christ would have us live. His life has been a blessing to the church and community.

Funeral services were held at Salem on November 11 at 2:30 p. m. The writer had charge of the services, and he was assisted by Rev. G. W. Holmes and Rev. H. L. Isley, former pastors of Brother Durham.

T. J. WHITEHEAD.

◆

NOTICE

The First Quarterly Conference of Randleman Creuit will meet at Mount Lebanon church December 7, at 2:30. Dr. Andrews will be present to hold the meeting. All officials are requested to be present as this is an important meeting.

JOEL B. TROGDON, Pastor.

◆

—Dr. S. W. Taylor addressed a meeting of the Junior Order in High Point last Monday night with good effect.

DISTRICTS FOR RELIGIOUS EDUCATION WORK IN N. C. CONFERENCE

1. Eastern District

Director, Rev. J. W. Braxton; charges included: Creswell, Whitakers, Enfield, Halifax, Littleton, Spring Church, Greenville, Granville, Henderson, Vance, Chase City.

2. Burlington District

Director, Rev. Fred W. Paschall; charges included: Orange, Mebane, Saxapahaw, Mount Hermon, Alamance, Graham, Burlington, First, Gibsonville-Fountain Place, Glen Raven-Haw River, Mount Pleasant.

3. Asheboro District

Director, Rev. N. M. Harrison; charges included: Siler City, Liberty, Richland, Randolph, Randleman, Asheboro, Why Not.

4. Greensboro District

Director, Rev. E. L. Ballard; charges included: Greensboro, Grace; Greensboro, Calvary; Greensboro, St. Paul; Greensboro, West End, Midway-Shady Grove, Moriah, Tabernacle, Haw River, Reidsville, Flat Rock, Draper.

5. High Point District

Director, Mrs. H. W. Maier; charges included: Guilford; High Point, First; High Point, Welch Memorial; High Point, English Street; High Point, Lebanon; Pleasant Grove; Denton; Lexington, State Street; Lexington, South; North Davidson; Thomasville, Community; Thomasville, First; Thomasville, West; Davidson; Shiloh.

6. Concord District

Director, Luther R. Medlin; charges included: Spencer, Kannapolis, Mecklenburg, Albemarle, Friendship, Porter, Concord, Midland, Lincolnton, Charlotte, First, Melton's Grove, Cleveland, Fallston, Rockingham, Bess Chapel, Bethesda.

7. Winston-Salem District

Director, Rev. J. E. Pritchard; charges included: Winston, First; Winston, South; Forsyth; West Forsyth; Kernersville; Shiloh; Pinnacle-Mount Zion; Mocksville.

8. Western District

Director, Rev. J. E. Carroll; charges included: Conelly Springs, Asheville, Weaverville, Democrat, Anderson, Yarborough.

◆

—The Reed's strain of Danish cabbage grown in Alleghany County has produced from one to three tons more an acre than the ordinary varieties returning the growers from $5 to $30 more an acre.

Methodist Protestant Herald

J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher

Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist Protestant Church as an organ of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro. N. C.

WEST END SHOWER

On the evening of November 7 the president of the Woman's Auxiliary called Mrs. Curry, the pastor's wife, and informed her that a specially called meeting had been arranged and that it was very important that the pastor's wife be present. The meeting had been called at the home of Mrs. M. H. Waynick. On arriving it was found that the purpose of the meeting was to give the pastor's wife a shower of nice articles of value in many respects. These articles were of value so far as their intrinsic worth is concerned, and more so, for it was an expression of appreciation of one who had labored with a people for a while. There were 22 ladies present and numerous articles were presented.

Since the night of the shower dishes and kitchen utensils arrived at the parsonage from ladies who did not get to attend the shower. All these gifts were greatly appreciated and to all it is Thank you, and God bless you.

The occasion was near Conference and moving followed and in the midst of it all this word of appreciation was delayed.

The Lord bless the good people of West End and may the work prosper under the leadership of the new pastor, Bro. Whitehead, and his co-laborers.

GEO. L. CURRY.

◆

—The family of our aged brother, C. C. Smith, of Mebane were severely poisoned recently by arsenate of lead mistaken for flour in making bread. Five ate of the bread and all were made sick. There is hope of recovery because the amount taken was so large.

Herald Christmas Subscription Blank

Attached find $2.00 $1.00 for 1 year 6 months subscription for the Methodist Protestant Herald to be sent as a Christmas Gift to Name ....

Address ....

Subscription given by ....

To be credited to ....Church

You Can Help THE HERALD and Delight a Friend by Making This a HERALD CHRISTMAS. Fill out this blank and give it to your Pastor or HERALD Agent

Methodist Prote   Herald.

ONE IS YOUR MASTER EVEN CH IST AND ALL YE ARE BRETHREN.

VOLUME XXXIX GREENSBORO, N. C., DECEMBER 8, 1932 NUMBER 5

Rev F L Gibbs 15dec1
Seminary

Some Men of Bible Days

There was a man in Bible days
Who sang his own most lofty praise:
He stood himself in brightest light
That all might see the splendid sight.

There was a mn in Bible days
Who lived for self in all his ways:
The suffering poor brought no appeal,
His heart was hard and could not feel.

There was a min in Bible days
Who filled his time with long delays:
He gave his soul as gambler's pawn
Till all his chance of life was gone.

There was a man in Bible days
To whom black deed brought scornful gaze:
He sold his Friend to worst of foes,
The cause or reason no one knows.

In Bible days were many folks
Whose lives were worse than cruel jokes;
They showed the world sin's ugly face
But marks of sin could not erase.

But vain and futile Bible days
Which show us only crooked ways!
We thank our Lord who makes it sure
There is for sin a real cure!

◆

Coast Line's Movement for Safety

The Atlantic Coast Line Railway's movement for safety is one to be commended both as a humanitarian measure and as a stroke of economy. We refer to the sending of speakers to school houses to instruct and warn against the danger of losing life at railroad crossings and at other places on railroads. The Atlantic Coast Line has turned numbers of its high officials into campaign orators to plead the cause of the ignorant and the thoughtless. The hope is to make the people danger-conscious so that they will have more care to save their own lives and save the railroads the expense of accidentally taking their lives. Statistics show that road-accidents destroy more lives of Americans each year than were destroyed by our enemies any year in the World War. It is time precautionary measures were being taken by somebody of means and interest. We wish the Coast Line gratifying success.

But their field is but a small part of a very large field. Unknown or unappreciated dangers exist everywhere. There are dangerous vehicles, dangerous speeds, dangerous sports, dangerous drugs, dangerous plants, dangerous animals, dangerous foods, dangerous drinks, dangerous men and women. The "For Safety Movement" may be broadened to give employment to us all.

◆

John's Impressions of Jesus and His Conclusion

The lift of Jesus was not what men would have expected of the Son of God. But man's ways are not God's ways and we need not be suprised at the unexpected in the career of Jesus, if He was not simply a man.

When John the Baptist pointed to Jesus and said, "Behold the Lamb of God!" this was enough to awaken interest and to direct attention to the young man Jesus.

Among those who heard John the Baptist's announcement and began to study Jesus was another John. This John at once followed Jesus and attached himself to him as his disciple, to study not only his teachings, but himself. He remained with Jesus through his public career, carefully noting what he said and what he did.

He went into the High Priest's court with Jesus on the night of his trial. He stood by the cross when Jesus was dying. He was early at the sepulcher on the morning of the resurrection. He was present on the occasion of a number of Jesus' appearances after the resurrection. He lived on in the world for many years after the strange life of Jesus had become only a memory of the past.

The impressions that life had made upon John's mind and heart remained with John as so much material out of which to construct a conception of Jesus.

In the Gospel of John we have reproduced some of John's impressions and the important conclusion to which these impressions had led him. He states his conclusion first and then proceeds to relate some of the events from which his impressions had been derived, although he is careful to state that he is telling of only a very few of the events witnessed, that if all were recorded he supposes the world itself could not contain all the books that should be written.

His conclusion is given first: "In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God. * * * All things were made by him. * * * In him was life and the life was the light of men. * * * And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us."

Here we have the answer of John's mind and heart and soul to the question, "What is Jesus?" Nothing less, nothing lower than what John here describes will satisfy all the conditions. His strange life was drawn from a preeminent, yea,

(Continued on Page Seven)

M. E. PROHIBITION VIEWS

Now that all but one of the Annual Conferences of the M. E. Church, South, have met, all within the last three months, and have declared in positive terms their official position on Prohibition, the following statement is issued by the undersigned officers of the General Board of Temperance and Social Service of that church.

The recent election was a mass movement of unrest, dissatisfaction, and protest against existing unemployment, instability, bankruptcy, distress and suffering, he registered the amazed bitter resentment that those in power did not recognize the danger signals, foresee the possibility of disaster, and adopt prompt drastic measures to avert the threatening crash. The vote was not in any sense an expression of confidence in the Democratic party as a political organization but of this fixed, even if unreasoning determination to sweep out of office those now responsible, and give that responsibility to others.

Both political parties in their National Conventions deliberately put Prohibition in the foreground, but actually in the campaign Prohibition was admittedly submerged by other economic issues. The real issue of the campaign was not ''We want Beer,'' but ''We want work to buy bread.'' Congressmen and Senators were elected or defeated regardless of their Prohibition views. Moreover National Conventions cannot presume to bind Senators and Congressmen, who are necessarily responsible only to their constituents.

Under the conditions which developed it was impossible to deliver the dry vote of the country directly and effectively. Dry voters could not approve platforms or utterances of candidates of either political party on Prohibition, and dry votes for either candidate were cast with a positive protest on that point. Under these circumstances the great Democratic majority is not a sweeping approval by the voters of an unqualified modification and repeal plank, but of a plank, which it must be remembered ''expressly and unequivocally'' (Roosevelt) declared against the return of the saloon and for the protection of dry territory.

The immediate issues pertaining to Prohibition are Beer and Repeal or Modification. The outstanding facts to be considered are: First, lack of efficient enforcement, primarily destructively hamstrunk under the Mellon regime; second, lack of State co-operation, amplified and stimulated by the nullification policy of Smith and Tammany in New York; third, Roman Catholic opposition; fourth, false propaganda; fifth, present duty.

Beer. The clamor for Beer cannot be met satisfactorily while the Eighteenth Amendment remains unchanged. It is generally admitted that if it is not intoxicating to the average person, does not have a ''kick,'' it will not be satisfactory to the drinkingg public. If it is intoxicating to the average person, it will be unconstitutional. In view of this constitutional question, Congress cannot with any propriety attempt to legalize increased alcoholic content, without itself first seeking authoritative expert testimony. Any law attempting to legalize beer, actually intoxicating to the average person, would be promptly carried to the Supreme Court. The sale of such beer whether in bottles or by the glass would legalize the breweries which were always utterly lawless, which would flood the country with high-powered beer and sell directly to bootleggers to escape any Federal or State tax. Beer saloons or their equivalent, drinking parlors, would, as before Prohibition, become centers of debasing influences, including under-cover sale of hard liquors, back parlors and brothels. Whatever revenue the Federal Government might obtain from beer taxes would be largely at the expense of families of laboring men—relieving to that extent income tax payers—and would lessen the receipts of the meat, shoe, hat, clothing, dry goods, dairy, soft drink, and other forms of helpful not hurtful business.

Repeal or Modification. Both National platforms not only favored submission resolutions but both platforms and candidates declared positively against the return of the saloon and the protection of dry territory. It is claimed that the vote was for Beer and Repeal, it was equally against the saloon and for the protection of dry states. These questions were inextricably tied together in platforms and in candidates' speeches. Any congressional action, failing to prevent return of the saloon, or its equivalent, and to protect dry territory can claim no mandate from the people. We believe that the only certain way to prevent the return of the saloon and protect dry territory is to retain the Eighteenth Amendment unchanged, and we believe that Congress is under obligation so to decide unless it can present to the states for action a practical effective substitute amendment. Otherwise we would have not only the bootlegger and speakeasy, which we have always had, but once again the bootlegger, the speakeasy, and also the licensed saloon which the Eighteenth Amendment did destroy. If the brand of the criminal is taken off the distilleries, breweries, and wholesale liquor houses in the ''wet'' states it will be impossible to protect ''dry'' territory. The Webb-Kenyon law, although constitutional, would be unenforceable in this day of automobiles, air and water craft. If as declared, bootleggers and speakeasies are uncontrollable under present Federal Prohibition, it is certain, if Federal Prohibition is repealed, saloons as well as bootlegging and speakeasies cannot be prevented. The Glass resolution now before the Senate, however well intentioned, would be ineffective and far more difficult to enforce than the present law.

For any proper estimate of the present situation, five outstanding facts must be considered:

First. Lack of Efficient Federal Enforcement. For the first eight years Prohibition enforcement was under the Secretary of the Treasurer, who manifested little interest in that department of his official duties, with resultant grave abuses and flagrant unchecked violations. He not only failed to ask for sufficient money and men to enforce the law efficiently but openly opposed the proposed Harris appropriation of $25,000,000 as not needed. The Prohibition law was hamstrung almost beyond recovery by the Mellon regime. There was no fair opportunity to demonstrate its practicability or its value. In 1929, President Hoover did strongly emphasize the duty of enforcement and appointed incorruptible and efficient prohibition officials. Had the present officials been in charge of enforcement from the beginning with an ample supply of money and men there would be an entirely different situation today. But President Hoover also made the grave even fatal mistake, in 1929, of failing to call upon a willing Congress to furnish the money and men necessary to secure proper enforcement; hence the multiplication of bootleggers and speakeasies of which he complained in his August acceptance speech, and which the Prohibition department was unable to check for lack of sufficient force. Not until the Federal Government has been given an ample force to enforce the Prohibition law can any fair judgment be formed as to the real value of that law, nor can any fair-minded person declare that there has been any real test of its enforceability.

Second. Lack of State Co-operation. State co-operation in enforcement is vital, but the advocates of Prohibition in many states have failed to emphasize its importance. On the other hand, under the leadership of Alfred Emanuel Smith and Tammany Hall who led the way in the repeal of the New York State Prohibition law, the enemies of Prohibition carried on a persistent aggressive nullification program of refusal to co-operate with the Federal Government. The failure of local, town, county, city and state officials to give efficient co-operation has been a serious blow to the success of the Prohibition law, and the people themselves are responsible for not requiring efficient enforcement by their local officers.

Third. Roman Catholic Opposition. The steadily increasing open opposition to the Eighteenth Amendment by the Roman Catholic Hierarchy from Pope to Priests must be openly and seriously reckoned with in any appraisal of actual conditions, for the attitude of the hierarchy influences nearly one hundred per cent of the Roman Catholic population with over seven million voters. Romanism has had as its willing obedient spokesmen Smith, Raskob, Farley, Curley, Walsh of Massachusett, and others, culminating in Smith's open attack at Newark upon the Methodist church and other Protestant organizations as an "aggregation of bigots," and then in his absurd declaration at Boston in flat contradiction of recent Papal encyclicals that "there is no bigotry in the Roman Catholic heart." The repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment will undoubtedly be hailed with delight by the Roman Catholic hierarchy and press as a defeat for Protestantism.

This is no attack upon Romanism but it is a clear accurate statement of its attitude in this warfare with the beverage liquor traffic, in which warfare great governing bodies of the leading Protestant denominations are steadfastly opposing any modification of the Prohibition law. It will be interesting to note to what extent Southern politicians will go in co-operation with corrupt grafting Roman controlled Tammany in the modification of the Volstead law and repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment regardless of the official action of great Protestant church bodies in the South.

Fourth. False Propaganda. The nature and the amount of false wet propaganda has been amazing. Prohibition and Prohibition advocates have been so persistently, falsely and viciously attacked as to deceive some of the very elect, to say nothing of the general public. Everything unfavorable to prohibition has been magnified by the press and everything unfavorable has been magnified or ignored. Nevertheless the fact remains and must be proclaimed boldly, constantly. Nevertheless, the fact remains and must be proclaimed boldly, constantly and persistently: Conditions are far better than they ever were in the saloon days. Those who really remember what those conditions were fifteen or twenty years ago agree with Evangeline Booth that "the difference is as between night and day," and with Jane Adams, "it is as if we were living in another world." The DuPonts, Sabins and the entire higher society cocktail crowd are but featherweights in comparison with these great women. With all of the nullification by so-called "best citizens" and violations by the open and lawless elements, the solid substantial benefits of prohibition are so great, that false propaganda must be openly and positively met by flat denials, demands for proof, and by statements of the actual facts.

Fifth. The Present Duty. The unseemly hysterical haste to rush through a Repeal resolution and a Beer bill recalls the stampeding hoodlum galleries of Chicago and the old saying, "Give them enough rope and they will hang themselves." Were it not for damage certain to come to men, women, children, and homes, the temptation would be great to let this hysterical liquor-mad movement have its way, and pass its legislation without opposition, simply waiting for the certain tremendous reaction which will inevitably follow the return of the so-called "good old days."

But there is a great principle at stake, a responsibility to be faced and a duty to be performed, and with a full knowledge of the facts, despite the false propaganda, and slipping, sliding politicians, the Annual Conferences of the M. E. Church, South, have all within the past ninety days faced their responsibility and gone on record officially as standing for the retention of our prohibition laws. It is the duty of our people to send promptly to Senators and Congressmen, Governors, and member sof State Legislatures, resolutions of quarterly, district and annual conferences, of mass meetings held in churches or elsewhere, supplemented by petitions, signed by voteds and by personal letters, telegrams and appeals, thus delivering their sentiments and meeting their responsibility in such fashion that members of Congress will clearly understand that they will be held responsible for their action.

It is our duty to proclaim that in this warfare with the body and soul destroying liquor traffic there will be no Surrender, no Retreat, no Compromise, but that in the pulpit, in the Sunday School, and in the printed page we will continue to teach more effectively than ever the real facts about alcohol, the great enemy of the race.

If the great political parties do actually come under the control of those elements which stand for a general liberalization of the moral legislation of state and nation, then the moral forces of the country, North, South, East, and West must join together to consider seriously the formation of a party which will stand unswervingly for the social and moral uplift and betterment of the American people.

James Cannon, Jr., President.
Eugene L. Crawford, Secretary.

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Consecration :: Co-operation :: Consolidation

CONSECRATION—let us devote our energies and talents to the work to which we are called.

CO-OPERATION let us willingly, gladly, work with others who are likewise called to do the work of the Lord.

CONSOLIDATION—while our individual tasks may be small and insignificant, yet when joined with others they are of greater value.

Your Budgets

In the HERALD of last week the report of the Budget Council made known the amount each charge is asked to raise this conference year. That the amounts are large and appear impossible to raise with some of our pastoral charges is well known. A larger amount is asked for the G. C. B. than last year; all the amount assessed the Conference has been distributed to the charges. It has been proposed that the members of these charges make an honest attempt to raise this budget and the A. C. B. and that this series of goals be proposed—those charges which shall raise the total amount laid upon shall be on honor roll A; those that raise 75 per cent of the budget be on honor roll B; those which shall raise 50 per cent of the assessment shall be on honor roll C; those that raise 25 per cent of their assessment shall be on honor roll D.

All of which means that it is the expectation of the conference that every church shall attempt to raise some of each budget and that they are left to choose how much this amount shall be. I am sure that this approach to this most difficult matter will appeal to more of our people than any method yet offered them. No one can deny that it is fair to them when it leaves them to say just what per cent of the budget they will attempt to raise. And we believe that when they shall decide upon the amount they will try a great deal harder to raise it than if they had no choice in the matter at all.

Now Then

Let every church at the regular meeting decide just how much it will undertake to raise for G. C. B. and A. C. B. this year; and when the amount is chosen begin at once to lay plans for securing the amounts. We should begin at once whatever method chosen. If by special collections, then starting with the specials now; if by assessing the membership, then lay the assessment at once; if by personal solicitation, then begin at once to raise this. It is never wise to postpone what should be done today unto a later day.

Money Needed

Already we have received requests for money. Money was borrowed to carry on the work during the past year which was not repaid at last Conference; too little was received to pay it. Let us try to pay these obligations as rapidly as possible. And if some of our pastoral charges will raise the amounts they expect to pay this year at once, it will relieve the situation very greatly. What Church will be the first to fix the amount it will pay on A. C. B. and send it in to Dr. Brown?

That Dollar for High Point College

These days are dollar days in many of our stores—rare bargains given. It is a great privilege we have to put a dollar into High Point College. Hundreds of our people responded back in the days when we set out to raise three hundred thousand dollars in North Carolina and raised in subscription nearly two hundred and fifty thousand and more than two hundred thousand in cash—not counting what our people in High Point paid. Now let us send our good dollar after those dollars to re-enforce them in these days when the institution is so sorely pressed. A dollar from every loyal member of our church in North Carolina paid during the period of seven weeks set for this purpose would gladden the hearts of more than a score of faithful, loyal members of High Point College faculty and its president. Even in these days of depression we are wasting on such things as soft drinks, tobacco and gum more than the one dollar asked. I mean we will waste during the seven weeks many times this amount asked of it. Let us lay aside an amount equal to the amount spent each week and at the end of the week send it in to Dr. Humphreys as our offering to the college.

The Herald Deficit

Look at the HERALD of last week and see how much your church is expected to raise and raise it. The amounts are not large—are within reach of every church of which they are asked and we believe, somehow, that they will be paid speedily.

Visitations

I began November the 28th on my plan of visits to the charges listed in the HERALD a week before. I shall not be able to mention more than the fact that these charges were visited, the conferences held and to note the attitudes of our people as I saw them.

Monday morning we were on Guilford charge, Fairfield church. The attendance was fair, all churches represented except Vickrey. Salary fixed at $850.00 the people seemed ready to begin the work of the year and we felt that they were willing to co-operate with the program of the conference for the year.

Tuesday I was at Kernersville church, Kernersville charge. Ai church was not represented. The people appeared somewhat discouraged. The debt on the Kernersville church from street assessment was disturbing them. The Oak Ridge church property came up for discussion. A committee has been appointed to handle it in co-operation with the president of the conference.

Tuesday afternoon we were at Palestine church, Flat Rock charge. All churches represented except Bethany. It was a good conference, business transacted with a spirit of interest and loyalty and we somehow felt that here is another charge that will excell this year's labors in the year just before it.

Wednesday afternoon we were at Fair Grove church, Haw River charge. Because of two deaths affecting the official members of the charge the conference was postponed to a later date but we spoke to those assembled about our tasks and feel that the meeting was not altogether in vain.

Wednesday night we were carried to Draper by Brother J. L. Trollinger and found a group of earnest people waiting for us. This little church deserves to succeed and we believe it will. The pastor is serving them at an uncommonly small salary but he is giving them faithful service and the people are endeavoring to co-operate with him in his labors.

Thursday morning I was with the Mt. Hermon people at Mt. Hermon church. Here was also a good conference, though rather small in attendance. We left feeling that these people would attempt to raise the total amount of the budgets for the year together with the pastor's salary.

Thursday night we were at Glen Raven church, Glen Raven charge. We had here a goodly number from Haw River and Glen Raven churches. The business was transacted with the usual thoughtfulness and those present were interested in the work of the church. Haw River church is one of our churches which makes it a rule to pay all assessments in full. They deserve special mention in this matter. The church at Glen Raven appears at this time to offer the best opportunity for growth.

Friday morning I was with the Saxapahaw charge at Saxapahaw church. The attendance of official members was not large here but the interest manifest was good and felt that it was another good conference.

Friday afternoon I was at Center on Alamance charge. All churches represented except Rock Creek. Much interest shown in the work to go forward in the work of building a parsonage after the membership of the various churches shall have indicated their wish as to whether it is to be located in the town or the country.

Saturday afternoon I attended the conference at Efland, Orange charge. This was one of the best conferences of the week. Pastor Williams has served the charge faithfully and for eight years. He has the work so well in hand that I shall be greatly surprised if Orange shall not be among the banner rural charges this year. The amounts asked for the HERALD and Superannuates specials were ordered collected at once and paid. A fine example for others to follow.

Sunday night I visited Midway church. It was the hope that a quarterly conference might be held but owing to the fact that Shady Grove was not represented it was decided to hold a but owing to the fact that Shady Grove was not represented it was decided to hold a business meeting of the Midway congregation. Rev. O. C. Loy was appointed pastor of this group and will enter upon the work at once, preaching at Midway next Sunday at 11 a. m. and making an appointment at Shady Grove later.

In recording this list of visits it is impossible to do more than to mention the place and the hour of meeting. Yet I have obtained information which will help me greatly later in the year's work.

Let us say with Marcus Aurelius "I do my duty; other things vex me not."

Fraternally yours,

R. M. ANDREWS.

Three Kinds of Giving—Thanksgiving (Eph. 5:20). Substance-giving (II Cor. 9:7). Self-giving (II Cor. 8:5).

Three Names for the Bible—The Holy Scriptures (II Tim. 3:15). The Oracles of God (Rom. 3:2). The Word of God (Mark 7:13).

THE BRIGHT SIDE

There is many a rest in the road of life,
If we only would stop and take it,
And many a tone from the better land,
If the querulous heart would wake it!
To the sunny soul that is full of hope,
And whose beautiful trust ne'er faileth,
The grass is green and the flowers are bright,
Though the winter storm prevaileth.

Better to hope, though the clouds hang low,
And to keep the eyes still lifted;
For the sweet blue sky will soon peep through,
When the ominous clouds are rifted!
There was never a night without a day,
Or an evening without a morning,
And the darkest hour, as the proverb goes,
Is the hour before the dawning.

There is many a gem in the path of life
Which we pass in our idle pleasure,
That is richer far than the jeweled crown
Or the miser's hoarded treasure:
It may be the love of a little child,
Or a mother's prayer to Heaven;
Or only a beggar's grateful thanks
For a cup of water given.

Better to weave in the web of life
A bright and golden filling;
And to do God's will with a ready heart
And hands that are swift and willing,
Than to snap the delicate, slender threads
Of our curious lives asunder,
And then blame Heaven for the tangled ends,
And sit and grieve and wonder.

—The S. S. Banner.

WHAT CHRIST WOULD DO TODAY

If Christ were here today His willing feet would go to dark, sad, lost lands. If Christ were here today His hands would be stretched out to the perishing heathen as they were stretched out on earth to the suffering and the lost. If Christ were here today His voice would cry once more in the ears of all the weary and the heavy laden, "Come unto Me, * * * and I will give you rest." But Christ is not here today in literal flesh and blood * * * but He is asking for your feet, for your hands, for your voice. Will you be hands for Him to feed the perishing multitudes for whom His heart is moved with compassion? Will you be a tongue for Him to tell of His love, His mercy and His precious Blood? Will you take the Cross that has redeemed you and pass it on to your perishing brother? Will you take the cup of salvation which has quenched your burning thirst and hand it to the famishing children of the heathen world? "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these My brethren, ye have done it unto me."—Publisher Unknown.

OUR STORY PAGE

A CHRISTMAS IN PRISON

Some years ago, while conducting a series of meetings in Michigan City, I was asked to preach to the convicts in the State prison. I sat on the platform with the Governor and watched the prisoners march in—700 men, young and old. They marched in lock-step, every man's hand on the shoulder of the man before him. At the word of command they sat down. Among that number there were seventy-six ''lifers,'' men who had been committed to prison for life for the crime of murder.

After the singing I arose to preach, but could hardly speak for weeping. Disregarding all the rules of the prison, in my earnestness to help the poor, fallen men, I left the platform and walked down the aisle among them, taking one, and then another by the hand and praying for him. At the end of the row of men who were committed for murder, sat a man who more than his fellows seemed marked by sin's blighting curse. His face was seamed and rigid with scars and marks of vice and sin. He looked as though he might be a demon incarnate if once aroused to anger. I placed my hand upon his shoulder and wept and prayed for and with him.

When the service was over, the Governor said to me, ''Well, Kain, do you know you have broken the rules of the prison by leaving the platform?'' ''Yes, Governor, but I never can keep any rule while preaching. And I did want to get up close to the poor, despairing fellows, and pray for them, and tell them of the love of Jesus the Saviour. 'He came to seek and to save that which was lost.' 'This man (Jesus) receiveth sinners, and eateth with them'.'' (Luke 19:10; 15:2.)

''Do you remember,'' said the Governor, ''the man at the end of the line in the lifer's row, whom you prayed with? Would you like to hear his history?'' ''Yes,'' I answered, gladly. ''Well, here it is in brief: Tom Galson was sent here about eight years ago for the crime of murder. He was, without doubt, one of the most desperate and vicious characters we had ever received, and, as was expected, gave us a great deal of trouble.

''One Christmas eve, about six years ago, duty compelled me to spend the night at the prison, instead of at home, as I had anticipated. Early in the morning, while it was yet dark, I left the prison for my home, my pockets full of presents for my little girl. It was a bitter cold morning, and I buttoned my overcoat up to protect myself from the cutting wind that swept in from the lake. As I hurried along, I thought I saw somebody skulking in the shadow of the prison wall. I stopped and looked a little more closely, and then I saw a little girl, wretchedly clothed in a thin dress; her bare feet thrust into a pair of shoes much the worse for the wear. In her hand she held, tightly clasped, a small paper parcel. Wondering who she was and why she was out so early in the morning, and yet too weary to be interested, I hurried on. But I soon heard that I was being followed. I stopped, and turned around, and there stood before me the same wretched looking child.

'' 'What do you want?' I asked sharply. 'Are you the Governor of the prison, sir?' 'Yes, who are you, and why are you not at home?' 'Please, sir, I have no home; mamma died in the poor house two weeks ago, an' she told me just before she died that papa (that Tom Galson) was in prison; an' she thought maybe he would like to see his little girl, now that mamma is dead. Please, can't you let me see my papa? Today is Christmas, and I want to give him a present.'

'' 'No,' I replied gruffly, 'You will have to wait until visitor's day,' and started on. I had not gone many steps when I felt a pull at my coat, and a pleading voice said, 'Please, don't go.' I stopped once more, and looked into the pinched, beseeching face before me. Great tears were in her eyes, while her little chin quivered with emotion.

''Mr.,' she said, 'if your little girl was me, and your little girl's mamma had died in the poor house, an' her papa was in the prison, an' she had no place to go an' no one to love her, don't you think she would like to see her papa? If it was Christmas, and your little girl came to see me, if I was Governor of the prison, an' asked me to please let her see her papa to give him a Christmas present, don't you—don't you think I would say yes?'

''By this time a great lump was in my throat, and my eyes were swimming in tears. I answered, 'Yes, my little girl, I think you would, and you shall see your papa'; and taking her hand, I hurried back to the prison, thinking of my own fair-haired little girl at home. Arriving in my office, I bade her come near the warm stove, while I sent a guard to bring No. 37 from his cell. As soon as he came into the office and saw the little girl, his face clouded with an angry frown, and in a gruff, savage tone he snapped out:

'' 'Nellie, what are you doing here; what do you want? Go back to your mother.' 'Please, papa,' sobbed the little girl, 'mamma's dead. She died two weeks ago in the poor house, an' before she died she told me to take care of little Jimmie, 'cause you loved him so; an' told me to tell you she loved you, too—but papa,'—and her voice broke in sobs and tears—Jimmie died, too, last week, and now I am alone, papa, an' today's Christmas, papa, an'—an' I thought, maybe as you loved Jimmie, you would like a little Christmas present from him.'

''Here she unrolled the little bundle she held in her hand, until she came to a little package of tissue paper, from which she took out a little fair curl, and put it in her father's hand, saying as she did so: 'I cut it from dear little Jimmie's head, papa, just before they buried him.'

''No. 37 by this time was sobbing like a child, and so was I. Stooping down, 37 picked up the little girl, pressed her convulsively to his breast, while his great frame shook with suppressed emotion.

''The scene was too sacred for me to look upon, so I softly opened the door and left them alone. In about an hour I returned. No. 37 sat near the stove, with his little daughter on his knee. He looked at me sheepishly for a moment, and then said, 'Governor, I haven't the money'; then suddenly stripping off his prison jacket, he said, 'For God's sake don't let my little girl go out this bitter cold day with that thin dress. Let me give her this coat. I'll work early and late; I'll do anything. I'll be a man. Please, Governor, let me cover her with this coat.' Tears were streaming down the face of the hardened man.

"'No, Galson,' I said, 'keep your coat; your little girl shall not suffer. I'll take her to my home and see what my wife can do for her.' 'God bless you,' sobbed Galson. I took the girl to my home. She remained with us for a number of years, and became a true Christian by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. God's Book shows man's need and God's remedy. (Rom. 3:9-24; John 3:1-16.)

"Tom Galson also became a Christian, and then he gave us no more trouble. (Luke 8:35). A year ago," concluded the speaker, "when I visited the prison again, the Governor said to me, 'Kain, would you like to see Tom Galson, whose story I told you a few years ago?' 'Yes, I would,' I answered. The Governor took me down a quiet street, and stopping at a neat home, knocked at the door. The door was opened by a cheerful young woman, who greeted the governor with the utmost cordiality.

"We went in, and then the Governor introduced me to Nellie and her father, who, because of his reformation had received pardon, and was now living an upright Christian life with his daughter, whose little Christmas gift had broken this hard heart." Christ died for the ungodly. (Rom. 4:5; 5:6). "And a little child shall lead them."—Selected.

◆

THREE GREAT STATEMENTS

There are many words in our language. These are combined into many discourses, stories, and books—some wise, many otherwise.

One sometimes comes across a great thought clearly and forcibly expressed in a few words—more clearly expressed and more readily remembered than if an entire volume had been used.

Here are three statements, expressing much the same thought, that may well be carried in the memory of every person:

1. "Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?" This was the appeal of Abraham to Jehovah in view of the threatened destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah—a destruction supposed to include the righteous with the wicked. The sequel shows that Jehovah had regard for, and justified the confidence of Abraham. He did right.

2. "Clouds and darkness are round about Him; righteousness and judgment are the habitation of His throne." The Psalmist thus expresses his confidence in the moral order of the universe. Though we may not understand, or even clearly perceive, the ways of God, we are still warranted in believing that right and justice will in the end prevail.

3. "The great soul of the world is just." This is a saying of that eminent Scotchman, Thomas Carlyle. In it he joins heart and mind with the Psalmist and with Abraham, the father of those who declare their faith. We may not know what is just, under certain particular circumstances, we have much to learn before we are qualified to pass judgment on the plans and methods of God, but we do well torest confidently in the faith that wisdom and goodness and justice are at the center of the administration of the affairs of the universe.

There is another important word that should be in our minds. It is a word of heroic self-abandonment to the conviction that God will deal justly with us. Here it is: "Though He slay me, yet will I trust Him."

Life, then, becomes an effort to find tne will and the ways of God and to co-operate with Him in all things. It is perfectly right and proper to seek, and to enjoy, a reasonable measure of the good and pleasant gifts of God as we go along. But our main concern is to go on in the ways of God, made known or to be made known by whatever means He may choose. This way may lead through hardship, suffering and bloody sweat but, the great soul of the universe being just, all will come out well in the long run.

LUTHER K. LONG.

◆

John's Impressions to Jesus and His Conclusions

(Continued from Page One)

a transcendent source. Nothing short of divinity, nothing inferior to supreme divinity, nothing but identity with Him who made the worlds and whose life scintillates in all the thoughts of men, will account for all that appeared in the memorable life of Jesus.

This is John's conviction after years have passed and he has had time to think over again and again the strange things he saw Jesus do and the wonderful words he heard Jesus say.

And in his gospel John proceeds to unfold some of his impressions to the end that the reader may believe that Jesus was the Son of God and that believing may have life through his name.

A nobler and more interesting book than John has given to the world it is impossible to imagine. It treats of the noblest Being, it shows the relation of that Being to human interests, and has for its lofty purpose the bringing of the reader to eternal life. Truly a more valuable book, if only it be true, no man or angel from Heaven could write.

And is it not true? I challenge any honest man or woman to read the Gospel of John and come to any other conclusion than that reached by John—that Jesus was the Son of God and that he gives to all who receive Him the right to become sons of God.

If John be right, then this Jesus who came and went, or who seemed to come and go, was already here and is still here, the mightiest Force in the world and yet the gentles and most beneficent. He is here unseen but intensely and universally present, ready to extend the uplifting hand to the fallen and the steadying hand to the tempted and the healing hand to them that are sick.

And who of those that believe in Him have not felt His presence and been strengthened by His power! He lives, and because He lives we shall live also!

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HELPS

Topic for December 11, 1932

PRACTICING WORLD BROTHERHOOD IN OUR OWN NEIGHBORHOOD

Scripture Text: Luke 10:25-37

It has been truly stated that it is much easier to be a Christian away from home than at home. We Americans are very boastful in telling of our love for humanity and of the great civic plans which we have. There come to us a great many chances to demonstrate this feeling; we are studying tonight ways of helping people whom we can see and know. Probably the primary reason for humans being treated as they are in certain communities is the lack of understanding. It is said that one-half of the world does not know how the other half gets along. The best preparation which could be made for this meeting is a visit to various districts of your city. In observing conditions do not overlook the most unfortunate ones. When Ezekiel, God's prophet, was going out to help the Israelites, his first commandment was to live with the people whom he would influence. He was to spend seven days, "sitting where they sat" to gain a complete understanding of the life of the Israelites.

We have little understanding of people of other races and, consequently, little sympathy with them. Peter was a strict Jew who required the vision on the housetop in Joppa before was was ready to preach to the Gentiles. Jesus taught that all men were of great value in His sight and that He came to give life to all of them. A true brotherhood of man does not exclude those whom we do not like so well and who are below us in social rating. If we practice brotherhood, we must first recognize that all men are brothers. No person who has a family spirit can mistreat those whom he loves and whom he recognizes as blood kin. When mankind shall look upon each other as creatures of the Divine and each one of inestimable value, we will begin to practice brotherhood.

We owe it to the ones who come to our land to give them the best possible advantages in education. There is no way to make a foreigner a part of our civilization and a real unit in society as long as he holds his native language, customs, and peculiarities. A man will quickly become a part of the community in which he lives if he understands the language and customs of those around him. A stranger in our neighborhood should be welcomed to the church. A foreigner in our midst is rarely asked to the church. A person forgets differences more quickly in the church than anywhere else. When the Jew and Gentile kneel at the same altar, they forget that there are differences in race and beliefs. All are made one in Christ. One is not compelled to associate in everything with foreigners to be neighborly. A kind word or a kind deed may have more effect than a visit and may be longer remembered.

Many of our differences are supposed or superficial ones. In a great number of colleges there are foreign students. The native students have found these to be congenial and many times far superior to native Americans. There is little danger to be felt from foreigners as long as they are assimilated and made a part of our society, but they may become a menace if they retain their language, ideals, and customs. Brotherliness is the only safe way to welcome people of other countries into our own. If the person from Japan is to remain a Japanese, he may never develop a love for our country and appreciation for its standards. We must make of those among us integral parts in our communities and their lives.

Our country is receiving a great number of people with a mistaken and warped view of life who will never become good citizens. These cannot be helped, but there are many who have great potentialities for good in them and are really much better under the surface than we imagined. We should not allow our opportunities for brotherliness to go untaken.

Quotable Poetry

KEEP CHEERING SOMEONE ON

Don't you mind about the triumphs,
  Don't you worry after fame;
Don't you grieve about succeeding,
  Let the future guard your name.

All the best in life's the simplest,
  Love will last when wealth is gone;
Just be glad that you are living,
  And keep cheering someone on.

There's a lot of sorrow 'round you,
  Lots of lonesomeness and tears;
Lots of heartaches and of worry
  Through the shadow of the years.

And the world needs more than triumphs,
  More than all the swords we've drawn;
It is hungering for the fellow
  Who keeps cheering someone on.

—Folger McKinsey.

Suggested Program

Prelude.

Hymn: "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun."

Announcements.

Offering.

Hymn: "Help Somebody Today."

Introduction of topic.

Scripture: Luke 10:25-37.

Prayer.

Special music.

Topic: "What Are Some Opportunities Which We Have of Being Brotherly?"

Topic: "What Are We Doing Toward Brotherhood in Our Neighborhood?"

Sentence prayers.

Poem: "Keep Cheering Someone On."

Hymn: "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart." (Sing the first stanza of this hymn, then stand with bowed heads while another stanza is played softly.)

Mizpah.

◆

THANKS

We thank our friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness shown us during the illness and death of our mother, Mrs. Sallie J. Sykes.

ANNA SYKES AND FAMILY.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY DEPARTMENT

MISS HODGES' APPOINTMENTS

District No. 10, Dec. 12-15

Miss Hodges will be at the following places in this District:

Monday, December 12, 3 p. m., with High Point First Church Auxiliary, at the home of Mrs. George Penny.

Tuesday, December 13, 3:00 and 3:30 p. m., children's meetings at First M. P. Church, High Point, for the children of all the churches in the District; 7:30 p. m., English Street Church, High Point.

Wednesday, December 14, 8:30 a. m., High Point College chapel; afternoon, Children's Home, High Point; 7:30 p. m., Lebanon Church, High Point.

Thursday, December 15, 4:30 p. m., tea at High Point College; 7:30 p. m., at 611 Montlieu Ave., High Point, with mid-week meeting of First M. P. Church, at home of E. L. Douglas.

MRS. E. L. DOUGLAS,
District Chairman.

◆

ATTENTION, WOMEN OF THE CONFERENCE!

Collect and forward to us all the Octagon Coupons possible so we will get them before December 30th. The value of the coupons to the Home is decreased by $1.00 per thousand on and after January 1st, 1933. So please mail every one you can get to us on or before Monday, December 28th.

Do this without fail, because if we can get together 100,000 coupons they would be worth $100.00 more to us now than after January 1.

We thank you for the hustling you are going to do in collectitng these before and during Christmas. Then keep on gathering them, for they will still be valuable to us.

Yours in His name,
MRS. A. G. DIXON.

◆

A PLEA TO GOD

(Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.—Gal. 6:7.)

What is the matter, God?
Why are men blind,
Vainly in quest of gold,
Sorrow to find?

What is the matter, God?
Why will men stray,
Wandering in darkness,
Lost on the way?

What is the matter, God?
Why do men fear,
Making a hell of life,
While heaven's here?

What is the matter, God?
Why will men lose
Thy gift of happiness,
When they may choose?

God of wisdom,
God of might,
Lead Thy children
To the Light.

—Grenville Kleiser.

FROM PASTORS and PEOPLE

First Church, Concord.—We are very glad to have Rev. Mr. Morgan and family back with us for another year. We are hoping and praying for a great year's work. All the church officers were elected and installed two weeks before Conference and if all of the officers will do their best and co-operate as our pastor has asked that we do we will be a happy church family. This year we will have a junior board of stewards, made up of younger men and they have started out fine and seem to be much enthused. Our pastor has organized a junior church and they have their service in the basement of the Sunday school plant on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour. There were about 60 children present in the first service and 62 present last Sunday and their collection was a little more than a dollar. We are proud of our junior church and we feel like it is going to be a great help for the children, as it makes them feel more like they have a part in the church work.

Mrs. Maggie Sides, Miss Eva and Maude Winecoff have charge of the junior church.

We were very happy to have the Intermediate children sing for us Sunday morning and also Sunday night. They are a fine bunch of girls and boys and are real good singers. We are proud to see the children and young folks taking part in the church services and we older folk must encourage them and help them out all we can; they are our future church and we should try to be good patterns for them. We are glad to say that we have our same Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Ralph Waddell, and he sure is a good one; he has his whole mind and heart in the work and our Sunday school is doing fine, but we hope to do much better this year. Everybody apparently felt good Sunday and I think we have started the year with a smile, and if we will only co-operate and pray for each other more we know we will have a great year.

Our pastor has started a prayer league. Each Sunday night he has seven names in an envelope that gives us some special sister or brother to pray for each day of the week, and the next Sunday night he reads the names so we will know whom we have been praying for each day.

Our pastor preached a real good sermon Sunday. We were glad to have lots of visitors with us Sunday from our sister Baptist church. We are also glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Willie Braswell in our midst. We hope they will decide to stay in Concord and continue to worship with us. Our congregation is off some as there is right much sickness in our church. Mrs. Robert Furr is very sick. Mrs. Lillie Beaver is sick and has not been able to attend church for several Sundays. Mrs. C. R. Williams has been sick for a long time and has been in the hospital several times, but she is improving and able to be up some now. Grandma Thomas, Mrs. T. F. Newton's mother, has been real sick, but is some better. Mrs. Thomas has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Newton, for several years, and she worships with us when she is able. She is a dear, good woman, just a sweet grandma to us all. Mr. Carl Lefler is sick with "flu." We were made very sad a short while before Conference when death visited in our church family and took Brother Isaac Newton home to his reward. Mr. Newton had been in bad health for a long time and had not been able to attend church. Mr. Newton lived a beautiful Christian life and surely was a good pattern for the 12 children he left behind. One day he and his companion were talking about going home to Glory and he told her that the little lambs were following along behind him and that when they got in front he was going to follow them. They have four children gone on to the glory world and we feel like they were leading him on. His companion has been sick in bed most of the time for five years, so we know it is very lonely for her since Mr. Newton left. They all have our prayers and sympathy.

Mrs. Coy Smith is seriously ill. We fear she can not get well. Everything that doctors can do has been done for her, but we are so glad we can say that she is ready and waiting to go home; she has told us that all she dreads is the separation from her family. Her family need our prayers and sympathy. Mr. Smith is not very strong, and it is so sad for them all. Her three children are just the ages that it seems they need their mother so much. Her little son fell last week at school and broke his collar-bone. We hope he will be all right in a few weeks.

We have two sisters in our church family that have been shut in for more than five years—Mrs. Alice Williams and Mrs. Vera Bost. Mrs. Williams had a stroke several years ago and has been in bed for more than five years, but she is so cheerful and happy Mrs. Bost has been shut in for more than five years with rheumatism. She is always cheerful and happy, and it makes us feel good to visit in their homes. They love for us to visit them and tell them about the church work. We hope that all of our church folk will visit these sisters more this year; it wall do them good and us too.

BERTHA EARNHARDT, Reporter.

◆

Mocksville Charge.—We are indeed glad to return to this work for the fourth year. The three years that we have labored with these people has been a great pleasure. Although we did not accomplish all that we desired to have accomplished. We have almost completed the second round in the new conference year. And each church seems to be taking on new interest. There will be a Christmas program at all five of the churches, which we are all looking forward to with great anticipated joy.

Our first quarterly meeting convened at Bethel church, November 29, at 10:30. Rev. R. A. Hunter of Winston-Salem was present and presided over the meeting. Many things were discussed and some good resolutions were made. Then why not begin to work now, push the work and not wait until the work pushes us. My prayers are, may the Lord give us that go forward spirit, a mind to work, and may we do something worth-while in His Kingdom service. If we work in a way to accomplish the work would be a pleasure instead of a drudgery.

We filled our appointment at Elbaville Sunday at the usual hour with a good and attentive congregation. After we were dismissed we found our car loaded with good things to eat which we are thankful for. This is the second time it has happened at Elbaville in the last four months. They are not going to let their pastor and family go hungry. May the Lord bless every donor.

Mrs. J. W. Jones of Dulins remembered us with a nice turkey for Thanksgiving which was greatly appreciated.

One of Elbaville's most faithful members, Mrs. T. F. Bailey, has been critically ill with pneumonia. We are glad to learn she is now on the road to recovery and will soon be able to resume her church duties again. Also Mrs. Charles Broadway, who has been in ill health for the past few months, is able to attend church again.

Brother Elisha Jurney, one of Union Grove's oldest members, has been in declining health for the past three years and is unable to attend church. He is only waiting for the summons to go to that eternal home. May the Lord bless every one and give us a prosperous year. G. B. FERREE

◆

Corinth, Littleton Circuit.—We are very glad to have Rev. P. E. Bingham and his family back with us. He has been with us two years and we have all learned to love him and his good companion. He filled his appointment at this place yesterday. He delivered a very helpful sermon.

We are sorry to report that Ms. Bettie Inscoe is ill. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

The first quarterly conference will be held at Littleton Tuesday, December 13th, at 2:30 p. m. President Andrews will be with us. We hope all the official members will be present.

MRS. B. F. MORRIS, Reporter.

◆

First Church, Concord.—Pastor Morgan preached a good sermon this morning, as he always does. We observed the Lord's Supper today and we think that is such a sweet service. We were glad to have Mr. Durant Nash and his daughter worship with us today. He is one of our boys, was reared in Concord and brought up in our church. His work is in Hopewell, Va. The Women's Auxiliary held a Thanksgiving service for the benefit of our Children's Home. The president of our Auxiliary, Mrs. Ernest Litaker, had charge of the service and the program was fine. The Baraca band furnished the music. We are proud of the boys and they can make some fine music. A debate was given by four of the Baraca men—Mr. Ross Little, Mr. Will Widenhouse, Mr. Fred Sides, and Mr. P. H. Scarboro. The question was: "Resolved that the Negroes have been treated more cruelly than the Indians." The whole program was good and we think everybody enjoyed it all. Some of the folks brought packages and some a silver offering for the Children's Home. We are proud of our president, Mrs. Litaker, and we know if we will just co-operate with her this will be a good year for us in our missionary work.

Our pastor preached another good sermon Sunday night. His text was: "Sin no more lest a worse thing come upon thee." Our pastor is suffering with a cold and was very hoarse Sunday, but he has a good, strong voice, and we enjoyed both services.

We are still keeping up our prayer list and we know it helps each one of us. We know if we would all pray more we would get along better and if we pray more for our pastor we will get more out of each sermon. We still have lots of sick folks in our church family. Mrs. Coy Smith is seriously sick. She is so weak now that it is necessary for someone to sit up with her at night. I was with her last night, Saturday night, until 12:30 o'clock, and she told me she hoped they would not have to sit up with her long; she said her desire was to go on home. She is so patient and she talks of going home to Glory and is anxious to go.

Grandma Thomas, Mrs. T. F. Newton's mother, is much better and is able to be up now.

Mrs. Lillie Beaver is able to get out again; she was able to be at church Sunday.

Little Alice Blackwelder, one of the twins of Mr. and Mrs. Tow Blackwelder, has had flu and a light case of pneumonia, but she is some better now.

Mr. Carl Lefler is well again and able to come to church.

Mrs. J. R. Helms had the misfortune to break her ankle, but is getting along nicely now.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Helms have moved to the country and we miss them very much at church.

We think the stowards are about through with the every member canvass and have about all of our budget pledged. We are hoping to pay by the month this year and keep right up with everything, and we know we can if we will all pray and work together.

BERTHA EARNHARDT, Reporter.

First Church, Winston-Salem.—Our faithful reporter, Miss Pauline Branson usually keeps you informed as to our work here, so it has not been necessary for me to wite very often, however, she is now very sick with rheumatism or neuritis, or both, and cannot even so much as turn herself in bed, so it will likely be some time before she is able to write again.

Mrs. H. O. Sapp, who has been shut in since the last of the summer is improving now and we trust she may soon be out again. First quarterly conferences have been umerous in this section recently, the writer substituting for Dr. Andrews on Forsyth, West Forsyth, South Side, and Pinnacle-Mt. Zion last week; and Rev. R. A. Hunter substituting at Mocksville. Ours is on Tuesday night of this week.

Our 5 o'clock vesper services started off splendidly a week ago. The attendance on that cold Sunday afternoon was a third larger than it usually is at night when weather is fine.

J. E. PRITCHARD.

Siler City.—Here we are again, at the beginning of another new year. We are all delighted with our new pastor, Rev. H. L. Isley. He filled the pulpit the third Sunday morning in November and gave us a real Gospel message from the 19th chapter and 19th verse of St. John. His theme was "The Significance of the Cross." Then again on the first Sunday morning in December we listened to another ispiring message taken from the third chapter and ninth verse of First Corinthians: "We are laborers together with God."

M. Isley comes to us as almost a stranger but we have already learned to love him and Mrs. Isley and we feel sure we will all work together this year and do much and lasting good for the upbuilding of God's kingdom here on earth. We are very glad indeed to have Mrs. Isley fill her place in our congregation.

On the fourth Sunday night in November the C. E. Society rendered a very impressive mission program consisting of songs, recitations, and a play, "Hold Me Close to Thy Cross." This program was gotten up by Misses Sallie Smith and Minnie Cooper and was very good. Sorry our pastor and more of our members could not be present. The collection was the C. E. thank offering to our Children's Home.

Our mid-week prayer services are well attended and much interest is being manifested. We were very glad to have Rev. Peele of the first M. E. church here to fill our pastor's place Wednesday night. Also Mr. Junius Wrenn has been with us recently and conducted the meeting for us. We always welcome visitors to our prayer services and church.

The first quarterly conference will convene in our church Monday night, November 5. We are hoping we may have all the official members present and have a good conference.

Our Philathea class is living up to its motto, "We Do Things." Next Sunday's collection will go to the Oteen Hospital to help brighten the lives of the inmates there through the holiday season. We are indeed grateful that we can have a part in sending Christmas cheer to some of our World War heroes. We hope that each one will have a wonderful Christmas.

MRS. J. A. COOPER.

Glen Raven Charge.—The first quarterly conference convened in the Glen Raven church the evening of December 1. Dr. R. M. Andrews, of High Point, was present and presided. A large delegation was present and heard him present the interests of the Annual Conference.

The Junior C. E. has been re-organized under the leadership of Misses Lillian Johnson, Frances Pritchett, Geneva Dixon and Bessie Stillie. This society, with the Senior C. E. and the Senior choir, are preparing a Christmas program.

Thanksgiving night after the prayer service the good people of the Glen Raven church surprised the parsonage family with an old-fashioned pounding. To these kind friends who remembered us in such a delightful manner we say "Thank you."

MRS. J. P. PEGG, Reporter.

Bethel, Mocksville Charge.—We are at the beginning of another new year. We are going to try not to lack anything. Our attendance is good but according to the roll could be much better. At the first quarterly conference for this year Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. Bro. R. A. Hunter presided. We were glad indeed to have Bro. Hunter with us, and to hear him talk and all together discuss means to do better work in the future than in the past.

We were glad indeed to have Bro. Ferree back with us. In his report he expressed appreciation of being with us another year, making four, and that he was always willing and at our service to help. He also named some goals toward which he wanted the churches to work during 1933, and we tried to plan some way by which we might do so.

One was that the secretary write to the chairman of each board of stewards to meet and work out some plan suited to themselves to pay our pastor monthly. Mr. Hunter stressed the idea for working harder than ever, as it is a time for hard work. Our budgets are very important and we are going to try to do a better work in that way.

Most of our officers were elected at our last conference and that saved time in this meeting.

The Sunday school is doing some fine work. We are going to have a Christmas pageant by the young girls and boys with the children taking some part.

The next quarterly conference will be held at Bethel. Hope all officials will be present.

REPORTER.

Midland.—Our first quarterly conference was held at Midland November 30. We were disappointed in not having Dr. Andrews with us, but he sent to us a fine substitute in the person of J. R. Anderson, who proved himself to be equal to the task in every emergency. He hasn't forgotten how since he was president of the Georgia Conference. He's made out of presidential timber. The quarterly conference was a success in every way. The work is the best organized ever; stewards at each church organized with chairman; also, a circuit chairman was elected who will have general supervision of the work. Each church will hold stewards' meeting every month, each steward making report of his activities; the chairman from each church will make full report to circuit chairman. If one goes to sleep on his job he will be relieved of his list and it will be given to another. They are beginning to function enthusiastically, and we predict a good year.

The people have received us with increased appreciation that inspires in us new hope.

W. D. REED.

Shiloh Church.—Shiloh is smiling over the return of our beloved pastor. We are truly glad to have Mr. Troxler back with us. We are thankful for his life and his Godly examples. He will uplift any community or church, and wherever he goes you will find him holding up the banner of Jesus Christ. May each and every one of us try hard this year to follow our shepherd, co-operate with him and do the things he asks us to do. May we pray hard and work hard in our Master's vineyard to make this the best year that Shiloh has ever known.

Mr. Troxler is always thinking and planning something to upbuild God's kingdom. So, whenever he asks us to do a thing, may we always be willing and ready to do it. If it is to give our time, our money, or whatever it may be, may we do it with a willing heart, for "God loveth a cheerful giver," and the more we have.

Have we thought of some of the things Mr. Troxler has done since he came here? We didn't have a Workers' Council as we have now, which is to lay plans to upbuild the church. We didn't have ten nice Sunday school rooms as we have now. We had never had a Home-Coming, but now, each year, the third Sunday in May is Home-Coming at Shiloh. Did we have as large a Missionary Society as we have now? No. We now have our Society divided into three circles and all are doing splendid work. And what about our C. E. Society? It was very small, with the weekly meetings being held at different homes, but now we have passed the 100 mark in membership, holding our weekly meetings at the church every Sunday night.

Mr. Troxler has meant much to us young people. We shall never forget him. We pray God's richest blessings upon him. We enjoy working with a leader like him—one always ready for service. I pray God that we will take his splendid teaching, live above the world and stand firm, if we have to stand alone. If we take Jesus with us we will never be standing alone. Then, may each and every one of us, this year, work together in unity, and may we all have a closer walk with our blessed Master, is my prayer.

A MEMBER OF SHILOH CHURCH.

West Forsyth.—The meeting of the first quarterly conference was held at Baltimore church on Monday, November 28, at 10:30 a. m., according to the schedule fixed by Dr. Andrews. Four of the six churches were represented by official members, Union Hill and Tabernacle churches not being represented. Dr. J. E. Pritchard, pastor of First church, Winston-Salem, was Dr. Andrews' representative, and presided over the conference. Bro. J. H. Speas, who has served as secretary of the conference for the past several years, was re-elected. The committee on examination and the advisory committee were re-elected. After all the business had been transacted, Dr. Pritchard delivered a very appropriate address, stressing the importance of raising the finances for the charge and for the Children's Home and High Point College. The pastor's report contained a number of recommendations, among which was one which provided for the taking of the every-member canvas and the adoption of the monthly payment system.

The women of Baltimore church served a sumptuous dinner at the close of the conference.

C. B. WAY, Pastor.

Greer's Chapel.—We were very fortunate indeed to have our beloved pastor, Rev. R. S. Troxler, back with us again for another year. We are praying for a better year's work

Our Sunday school is moving along splendidly, although the cold weather is proving somewhat a hindrance to the attendance.

The C. E. Society is also doing fine work. Some time ago we had a penny contest which proved to be successful. Miss Ethel Fitzgerald won the C. E. pen by having saved 860 pennies. Mrs. R. P. Fitzgerald came second. But, as ill luck would have it, there was but one prize given.

This Society has given a considerable amount since the last report of this church. The enrollment is between 50 and 65. The writer does not know the exact number. But we are praying and want the prayers of other societies that we may progress more in the year coming than ever before.

Our Sunday school is planning on having a Christmas program this year. There will be presents for the smaller children and treats for all, Sunday school member. A short play will be given by members of the C. E. Society, with special music throughout the entire program.

We hold prayer meeting weekly at homes in our community. Last week we talked on Thanksgiving, which was led by Misses Lottie Fitzgerald and Beulah Bailey. Mrs. Georege Pope, teacher of the Young Leaders Class, made several interesting remarks on Thanksgiving.

Prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crowell Wednesday night and will be led by Mrs. George Pope. The main discussion will be on sin. The attendance of this organization is great, with an average of about 40 present each week.

May God's richest blessings rest on all these churches and their societes.

LOTTIE FITZGERALD, Reporter.

Bethesda.—We had Sunday school at the regular time, 9:30, Sunday morning with 124 present at 11 o'clock. Rev. H. W. Maier was with us and preached a good sermon from St. Mark 14:8: "She hath done what she could."

We are starting a new Conference year and there is much to do. May we all ask our Blessed Master "What wilt Thou have me to do."

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lanier, from State Street, Lexington, worship with us Sunday.

The official members of our church are to meet the official members of State Street church next Tuesday night at State Street, Lexington, to get the appointments fixed in order that we may get the work started for the year.

Our Sunday school is planning to have a Christmas exercise.

Rev. and Mrs. Maier were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Yokley Sunday.

Mrs. Sallie Whitlow has returned from the Baptist Hospital, Winston-Salem, and is improving some.

Mr. O. M. Craver has our deepest sympathy in the loss of his mother, who died last week

We have prayer service twice a month, on the third Sunday night we had a Thanksgiving service. Mr. Fred Essick was leader. Mrs. E. A. Clodfelter is to be leader the first Sunday night.

Pray for us that we may be made stronger in the Master's work.

MRS. DAVID D. BRINKLEY, Reporter.

Calvary Church.—The Calvary Church folk have been very happy to have Miss Olive Hodges, Missioiary from Japan, in their midst for the past week. She and her cousin, Miss Ruth Hodges, have been house guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Bates. On Wednesday night of last week Miss Hodges gave an unusually interesting illustrated lecture in the church auditorium. Many people from the West End, Moriah, Tabernacle, and Grace Church congregations were present. Gillespie Park School very graciously donated its lantern for the slide pictures and we very greatly appreciate this kindness.

Miss Hodges also attended the meetings of the Annie Forrest Circle and Missionary Club. Her interesting talks of life in Japan were greatly enjoyed by the young people.

On Thanksgiving Eve Dr. Bates chauffered his wife to Fountain Place Church, Burlington, where she made a plea for the Thanksgiving offering to the Children's Home. Upon their return that night they found their home well lighted and fully occupied. The house-breakers (church members), it was found, came to "bring" and not to "take." The pastor, wife and daughters pulled strings that carried them from the cellar to the attic until all the tokens of a pounding were found.

The young men's Baraca Class is contemplating building a small hut on the church grounds in the near future, to be used as a class room. This is a very wide-awake class and has outgrown its present quarters until this step seems almost necessary.

On Sunday night, December 18, a program, "Christmas in Song and Story," will be given. This is a very unique service and unlike anything presented in the years past during the festive season.

The Board of Stewards will meet Tuesday night, December 13, at the church hut, and the quarterly conference will convene on the following Friday night at the same place. The hour is 7:30 for both meetings.

Our sympathy is extended to J. G. Sullivan in the loss of his brother, L. M. Sullivan, who passed away Wednesday morning of last week. A heart attack was the cause of his sudden passing.

We are glad to report that Mr. Howard R. Neece is beginning to show signs of improvement from a serious illness resulting from an appendectomy of Saturday, November 26.

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tucker on the birth of a son. We are happy to add this new baby to our Cradle Roll.

Sorry to report that Mrs. L. W. Bissett is confined to her home with an infected foot.

The Business Girls' Circle had its regular meeting and Christmas party on Tuesday night of this week at the church hut. After the devotionals and business session a social hour was enjoyed, at which time inexpensive gifts were exchanged Pollyanna fashion.

We are glad to welcome Mrs. Merritt D. Sullivan to our church congregation and community. She is the former Miss Mary Hinton, of 1910 Spring Garden street, this city, and a member of College Place Church. The young couple was married Saturday, November 26, at the Sledd Memorial Methodist Church, Danville, Va., with the pastor, Rev. Wallace R. Evans, officiating.

V. SULLIVAN,
Assistant Reporter.

Thomasville, First.—Our attendance was greatly increased last Sunday over the previous. Superintendent Connell commented upon the large congregation, and urged that we go forward in number as well as striving at all times to reach higher standards of Christian living. The men's Bible class reported 80 per cent of members present. This class of men seems to be increasing in attendance and in interest.

The first quarterly conference was held on Wednesday evening, the 30th. A good attendance was reported, with plans for the work of the new year progressing nicely.

The Thomasville C. E. Union held a Sunrise Thanksgiving service at the First Reformed Church. A large number was present from the different churches and an appropriate Thanksgiving program rendered. Afte the service many well-filled baskets were distributed to the unfortunate of our town.

The Woman's Auxiliary held the December meeting at the home of Mrs. A. H. Ragan. Mrs. Ray Gordon was devotional leader, and a most interesting program was rendered. Mrs. Ragan, president, presided over the business session and plans were made for a get-together meeting to be held at the church Thursday evening.

The Girls' Friendly Class was happy to have Miss Ruby Pearson, of Roanoke Rapids, visit with them Sunday. Miss Pearson, a former member of the class, is viting her sister, Mrs. T. Glenn Madison.

We are now working on Herald subscriptions for another year, and we hope to go "over the top" in a few weeks.

MRS. W. G. MYERS, Reporter.

* * *

Mount Zion-Pinnacle Charge.—We are glad indeed to begin our new Conference year with our former pastor, Bro. A. L. Hunter, with us again. I am sure that we as members of his churches can show our appreciation of his service much more the ensuing year than in the past. We can, above all, attend every one of the sermons, and we might also bring a friend with us. Let's try it.

Our Sunday school is doing very well, and I think much good is being done. However, our attendance is too small.

Our Christmas literature arrived Sunday, and the superintendent placed it in the hands of the program committee, who delivered it to those taking part in the program. There was also at that time a committee appointed to the honorary position called collectors. To these collectors we wish much success.

Chrismas and Old Santa are just around the corner, therefore we will have to work very hard to get up our program in time. But where there's a will there is usually a way.

As I bring this report to a close I wish for every charge a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I think I can also extend the same message from every member of this charge. O. R. MICKELS, Reporter.

* * *

Lebanon Church, High Point.—"A Mind to Work" was the subject of Dr. S. W. Taylor's powerful sermon last Sunday morning. In this message he stirred his audience with the beauty and strength of his words of truth. He pointed out to us how fortunate we are, facing as we are wonderful opporunities to carry on the work of the church. We may be sure of success if we have a heart to persevere in our undertakings. With faith, plus organized forces, and unity of purpose, even as Nehemiah and his co-laborers had in rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem, so may we accomplish much. He said in part: The church succeeds in proportion as the church has a heart to work. If the church has a heart to grow spiritually it grows spiritually; it a yearning desire for an adequate financing system is present it will have that. God does not lay upon the church an obligation that it is not equal to. It also takes a heart that knows the Lord to carry on efficiently. What we will be is determined by our willingness to do for the Lord.

Dr. Taylor was called to Burlington to conduct the funeral of Mrs. E. J. Garrett on Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

May all the members of our church please keep in mind that Miss Hodges will be here at 7:30 p. m. on December 14th. It is hoped that she will have a large audience at this time.

Circle No. 3 of the Woman's Auxiliary held its regular monthly meeting in the home of Miss Lucille Payne last Friday evening. At this time plans were discussed for increasing the membership and also raising funds. They chose sides, headed by Miss Lucille Payne and Miss Iris Welch. A Christmas party is promised the group that secures the most members. Their report showed 34 visits to sick, two boxes of vegetables, three garments of clothing, four boxes of coal and wood, and six bouquets of flowers. Mr. Lester Furr gave an interesting talk on the "Need of Interest in Missions." Delicious fruits were served by the hostess.

Our first quarterly conference was held last Wednesday night. All business was disposed of in good order, and the work appears to be in very hopeful condition. The Senior C. E. Society made such a fine report at this time they were tendered a vote of appreciation. The conference approved all Annual Conference programs, pledging support to same.

We are highly pleased to note a fine spirit prevailing among our people.

Mr. John H. Hedgcock, Jr., celebrated his 21st birthday last Saturday in a very unique and happy manner. He and Miss Mary Gertrude Howell went to Danville, Va., and were married. Rev. R. J. Barber was the officiating minister. Mrs. Hedgebock is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Howell, of R. F. D. No. 1. Mr. Hedgecock is a member of our church and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hedgecock of R. F. D. No. 2. They will make their home, at present, with the groom's parents. We congratulate them and wish for them many happy anniversaries of this birthday-wedding.

Mrs. J. W. Reavis, who has been quite sick lately, is still unable to be out. We hope she may soon be restored to good health.

REPORTER.

* * *

First Church, High Point.—The usual Sabbath program was observed at First Church, beginning with the church school at 9:45 a. m., which assembled under direction of Superintendent J. C. Whitesell. Children and young people of all ages find instruction in the departments here, and there are adult Bible classes as well.

In observance of Universal Bible Sunday at the 11 o'clock service a folder in the form of a Bible was presented to each worshipper as he entered, this souvenir having been donated by the American Bible Society. The excerpts in this folder were used for a responsive reading, which was led by Dr. R. M. Andrews, president of the North Carolina Conference, who was in the pulpit with the minister, and who made the opening prayer. After a lovely anthem by the choir, "Beloved, If God So Loved Us," the solo parts being well rendered by C. L. Gray, Jr., Rev. R. I. Farmer delivered an eloquent and effective message on the topic, "The Word of God At Work," based on the text from II Timothy 3:16: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." He commenced his sermon by declaring that it is his conviction that we need a new inoculation of the Word of God. When our blood count is low, here we find a great tonic. An eminent professor in a university at his first class lecture said to the members: "Young men, I want you to become acquainted at the outset with the best literature," and read to them Job 28, Psalms 23 and 90, Corinthians 13, and the Beatitudes from Mathew. Repeating, "you have heard the best in literature from the great Book; you are now dismissed," and his students never forgot that hour. Unsearched the pages of the Bible are a mine not worked, an untouched Klondike. The proof of its worthwhileness as the word of God is shown by its fruit. Today the masses of the people are so absorbed in different activities that they are indifferent to tthe claims of the Bible. Dr. Moffatt says in it are found the best and happiest way of living, the noblest way of bearing suffering, and in our dying hour the victorious way of leaving the world. Just as we learn members of our family and friends by association, so we learn the Scriptures by study and examination. It has a right to control the actions of men. D. L. Moody said, "This Book will keep you from sin, or sin will keep you from this Book." It is profitable for reproof and rebukes us for our sinful conduct; hence, we do not like it, do not open and read it enough. It is a disturber of our consciences, and shows us our sins and how to be rid of them. By faith and obedience to the Word of God we become "doers of the Word and not hearers only." Dean Lindley, in his new book, "Human Nature and the Church," in the last chapter, "The Search for Certainty," says: "We now see the Bible more nearly as it was originally intended than ever before. New meaning is coming into numerous passages. But the unfortunate part is that with the advacing appreciation of the Bible as religious literature we are inclined to stop looking at it as a divine message for sinful men."

The two C. E. Societies held meetings at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, with Miss Grace Koontz and "Buster" Moffitt as leaders. They were much pleased to hear an inspiring message from Mrs. C. E. Steidley, who conducted a series of meetings in First Church last spring.

The executive committee of the Woman's Auxiliary held a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. Whitesell on Rotary Drive Monday afternoon.

A change for the Wednesday evening prayer and praise service is planned, and during the winter months this meeting will be held in the homes of the members. Capt. A. M. Rankin has kindly invited the congregatiton to meet in his home on Church street next Wednesday evening at 7:30.

We sympathize deeply with Mrs. R. W. Riggins in the loss of her mother, Mrs. E. J. Garrett, who died eaerly Saturday morning at her home in Burlington following a stroke of paralysis on Tuesday. Mrs. Riggins was at her bedside when the end came. Funeral services were conducted from First Church, Burlington, on Sunday afternoon by Dr. S. W. Taylor, a former pastor, and burial was made at Mount Hermon, eight miles south of Graham. Mrs. Garrett was 70 years of age, having been born August 2, 1862, in Rockingham County. Before her marriage she was Miss Almena Williams, a daughter of Patrick and Cynthia Ogburn Williams. She is survived by three daughters and four sons, one brother, Rev. J. S. Williams, of Asheville, two sisters, Mrs. Geoerge Leonard, New Brunswick, N. J., and Mrs. R. S. Russell, of High Point.

Dr. S. W Taylor addressed four local councils of Junior Order on Monday evening, November 28th, at Lebanon church from the test, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." This address was highly complimented and well received by the hundred members of the order who attended.

An impressive service, the annual Lodge of Sorrow, observed by the Elks, was held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Paramount Theatre in Municipal Hall. This service is observed annually on the first Sunday in December throughout the land. On this occasion three prominent and useful men of High Point, who have passed on during the last year, were eeulogized; H. A. Millis read a beautiful tribute to the memory of his friend, Charles M. Hauser. Dr. J. T. Burrus spoke eloquently and feelingly of the late W. Carey Beavans, and Rev. H. N. Bowne, Episcopal minister, paid high and glowing praise to William A. Ring, prominent druggist of this city for 35 years. Hon. W. B. Umstead, of Durham, Congressman from this District, who was introduced by Thomas J. Gold, Sr., delivered a splendid address on "The Immortality of the Soul." There was special music by local talent, and the roll of departed members was called, of whom there are 63 from High Point Lodge No. 1155 since its organization.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferree have had as their guest on Otteray Drive the niece of the former, Miss Ferree, of Albemarle.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Lawton Hill and baby daughter, Barbara Anne, of Graham, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hill.

Mr. Harrison Nichols, Jr., of Lynchburg, Va., spent the past week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tucker, on Parkway.

We are much gratified to note that Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Holleman, who have been ill at the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. C. Robbins, are improving.

◆

Charlotte.—Since our reporter was absent from the city last week we had no report on our church news. Therefore I am giving you some of the things most enjoyed during the week as given me.

The pastor and his family are very comfortably settled in the parsonage and seemingly quite happy.

One of the most enjoyable affairs ever held at the church was a sandwich supper Wednesday evening, which was really for the pastor and our people a get-together meeting. The Ladies' Auxiliary served coffee, after which the stewards and trustees held a short meeting.

Both services Sunday were well attended with many new faces in the congregation, which is very encouraging.

On Friday evening the Ladies' Auxiliary sponsored a fish supper and netted a nice little sum for their treasury.

The choir has been rehearsing Christmas music and is working very hard on a Christmas cantata. We are very happy to welcome Mrs. Hendry to a chair in our choir.

We have some very promising talent in our Sunday school and have been recently favored with a duet from Mildred and Loma Stegall, also a duet from Neville Katherine and Willa Younginer.

Sunday, Rev. Mr. Hendry gave us two most interesting and inspiring sermons, presenting them in his usual earnest and helpful manner.

The Ever Ready Philathea class will hold a monthly meeting with Mrs. Ruby Horne at her home on Seiegle Avenue Monday evening. The class has recently organized a basketball team. A practice game is scheduled for Tuesday evening. Let us all come out and give them our hearty support.

The Young Men's Baraca class also has a team which is a member of the local League. They played their first game last week, winning with a large score. We hope that is only a beginning of their many successes, and we are mighty proud of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollifield and family, who have been living here for several months, visited with us Sunday. They joined our church in Concord when Rev. Mr. Hendry was pastor there.

◆

Welch Memorial Church.—We are still trying to move on. We are thankful to have Dr. J. D. Williams back again. He has been bringing great messages each Sunday. Last Sunday morning his subject was "Holding Up the Preacher's Hands." He urged the people to hold up his hands, first, by prayer and by attendance. He stressed the importance of attending the Sunday night service and the Wednesday night prayer meeting. At night he spoke on the "Attractiveness of Jesus." This, too, was very helpful. As one of the members said, "We always know we are going to get something worth going for when we hear Dr. Williams preach."

The Sunday school for the past two Sundays has been under the leadership of Mr. O. W. Brown, the assistant superintendent. Mr. Brye, the superintendent, is in the High Point Hospital, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis Sunday, November 27. He is recovering satisfaciorily. Bro. Frye is a good man and a faithful attendant at all church services and we miss him very much in the work. We hope his friends will remember to pray for him and his family

◆

Liberty Church, Liberty Charge.—We have just moved, and so our work here is just beginning. We are glad to say that we have been well received, at least you would have thought so if you had been in our home last Thursday evening. We heard a knock on the door, and in a few minutes the living room was crowded with people, all carrying packages. They found their way to the kitchen, where they left a large supply of of different kinds of foods. We greatly appreciate their thoughtfulness, and we wish to take this privilege of again thanking each one of them for their gifts. May God richly bless and encourage them, and may this be a great year for this church.

The work at this church and on the charge as a whole seems encouraging. However, there is much to be done. Pray for us that we may have a great year on Liberty Charge.

FRED R. LOVE, Pastor.

◆

Lexington, Mount Carmel.—We are indeed fortunate to get Rev. Mr. Isley back. Since he and his mother came into our church family four years ago they have won the love and admiration of everyone by their winning personalities. May God continue to bless them in their field of work.

Rev. Mr. Isley delivered a most helpful and interesting sermon Sunday morning to a large congregation.

The ladies of the church served a plate supper Saturday night in Lexington that proved very successful. The proceeds amounted to $25.82.

It has been announced that Miss Hodges, a returned missionary, will be with us next Sunday morning at 10 a. m.

The congregation was pleased to have one of their oldest members back in church service, Mr. J. G. Trantham, who has been absent since July on account of illness.

We are very sorry indeed to report the serious illness of Mr. M. L. Swicegood who has pneumonia.

ZULA FRITTS, Reporter.

SPECIAL MENTION

We were called to Denton Sunday, December 4th, to see them put over their Thanksgiving offering for the Children's Home. Sunday, November 27th, was cold and rough, and the congregation was small, so they put off taking their Thanksgiving offering until December 4th. Led on by Bro. J. G. Rogers who has recently moved to Denton, they laid their plans to do the thing right.

Bro. Rogers made a short, interesting talk about the Home and its work, and then asked the people for their offerings in cash, pledges for cash, and pledges in produce of various kinds. He set a definite goal of $200.00, and in a few minutes the people had given and pledged money and other gifts to the amount of $200.00. They put into our hands $47.64, plus their regular Sunday school offering of $4.16, which they did not count on the $200.00, and they are collecting the rest and we will get it soon. It has been a long time since we saw a happier congregation than they were after they had done, as the pastor said, the un-do-able. It was a great service, and gives to the Home by far the largest offering we have received this year.

A Card

This morning the mails brought us a note, which was not meant for publication; but we pass it on: "Dear Bro. Dixon: We went over the top at Fountain Place last Sunday and this week. We raised $103.00, or $1.00 per member, in cash and pledges for the Home. It was so cold last Sunday night that we just left it over at Gibsonville, hoping December 4th will be a fine day so all the folks can get out, and that we can go along ways towards the goal. I wish that we might put it over here too. Trust your inetesting family is O. K. Prayers and best wishes. Sincerely, N. G. Bethea."

Denton and Fountain Place took the Conference at its word and tried. And raised $1.00 per member for the Home. They head our honor roll list for the year. Who will be the next? Come on! A. G. DIXON.

HERALD SUBSCRIPTION RECEIPTS

Rev. J. E. Pritchard	$6.00
Mrs. W. G. Myers	6.00
Rev. G. B. Ferre	4.00
Miss Louise Hanner	2.50
E. L. Douglas	2.00
Rev. C. E Ridge	2.00
Rev. C. H. Hill	2.00
Mrs. H. L. Miller	2.00
Rev. C. B. Way	1.00
Miss Romaine Poole	.50

Christmas Gift Subscriptions

Miss Alta Hutson	$2.00
A. A. Self	2.00

Our Children's Home

Mt. Hermon, Mt. Hermon, T. O.	$ 14.57
High Point College C. E. Society, clothing child	5.00
Siler City, T. O.	10.78
Siler City, Hope Church, T. O.	6.66
Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Pleasant, T. O.	8.00
Liberty, Woman's Auxiliary, T. O.	2.00
Concord S. S.	20.00
Caroleen S. S., T. O.	4.02
Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Richardson, T. O.	5.00
Mrs. A. H. Guire, T. O.	1.00
Leipsic, Delaware, T. O.	5.00
Pleasant Hill, Spring Church, T. O. ..	9.00
West End, Greensboro, T. O.	8.00
Dover, Delaware, T. O.	5.00
Friendship, Fallston, T. O.	8.45
Chestnut Ridge, Orange, T. O.	9.75
Mt. Moriah, Cleveland, T. O.	4.70
New Union, Richland, T. O.	2.00
Welch Memorial, T. O.	7.15
Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie McPherson, T. O.	10.00
Liberty, Shiloh, T. O.	4.15
Charlotte, Richland, T. O.	16.31
Hickory Ridge, Forsyth, T. O.	8.60
Maple Springs, Forsyth	5.00
Pleasant Grove S. S.	7.00
Baraca Class, Gibsonville, clothing child	5.00
Ffland S. S., Orange, T. O.	12.11
Mt. Pleasant, N. Davidson, T. O.	13.85
Lebanon, High Point, T. O.	12.00
A Friend, T. O.	5.00
Henderson, T. O.	54.31
Asheville, T. O.	24.74
C. E. Society, Cuba, Ill., T. O.	3.00
Oak Grove, Cleveland, T. O.	11.26
Woman's Auxiliary, Steubenville, Ohio, T. O.	10.00
Graham, T. O.	17.50
Bellemont S. S., Mt. Hermon, regular and T. O.	7.93
Moriah S. S., regular and T. O.	15.04
Spring Church, Spring Church, T. O.	8.60
Shiloh Church, Shiloh	56.14
First Church S. S., High Point	22.12
Albemarle S. S.	7.50
Asheboro, T. O.	12.85
Misisonary Society, Eastport, N. Y., T. O.	10.00
A Friend, N. Y., Christmas offering ..	100.00
(For a few days now "C. O." will mean "Christmas Offering.")
Harmony S. S., Yarboroughs, T. O.	2.50
Giles Chapel S. S., Richland	1.35
Draper S. S.	1.83
State Street S. S., T. O.	13.15
Mrs. J. E. Deviney, T. O.	1.00
Vickery's, Guilford, T. O.	2.05
Mr. Herman Cone, Greensboro, T. O...	10.00
First Church, High Point, T. O.	36.00
Denton, T. O.	47.64
Denton S. S.	4.16
Pinnacle, Pinnacle-Mt. Zion, T. O.	2.73
Mt. Pleasant S. S., Mt. Pleasant	6.00
Siler City, C. E. Society, T. O.	2.63
Asheboro S. S.	35.00
Baraca Class, First Church, Burlington, caring for child	10.00
Kistlers, Cleveland	3.50
Hobbs Chapel, Greensville, T. O.	2.05
Bethesda, State Street, T. O.	11.34
Capoe, Mich., T. O.	5.00
N. C. Branch, Woman's Auxiliary, by Mrs. S. W. Taylor	66.93

Clothing and Other Gifts

For Thanksgiving dinner, besides what was reported last week:

Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Baity, Winston-Salem, 1 turkey; Miss Lura Teague, near Siler City, 1 turkey; other friends, $9.50 for turkeys. The children gave a rousing vote of thanks to all those who helped to furnish so good a dinner; some of them had never tasted turkey before.

Graham, coupons, 1 package thread and bias tape, 1 piece dress goods, 5 coats, 9 pair pants for little boys, 6 towels, 6 wash cloths, 6 yards bleaching, 12 pounds sugar, 1 package cream of wheat, 2 packages oats, 1 glass jelly 5 hats, 3 pair shoes, 15 dresses, 1 sweater, 3 skirts, and 27 pieces of underwear.

Tabernacle, 92 quarts fruit and vegetables and 3½ bushels sweet potatoes.

Alamance: Bethel and Center, 62 quarts fruit and vegetables, 3 gallons molasses, 1 side of bacon, 4 citrons, 6 pumpkins, 4 bushels sweet potatoes, 4 bushels Irish potatoes, 1 can sausage, 4 dresses, 1 quilt, 1 glass jelly, 6 pair pillow cases, 3 pair pants and 2 bushels wheat.

Rock Creek, 4 bushels wheat, 3 bushels sweet potatoes, 1 bucket lard, ½ bushel beans, 10 quarts fruit and vegetables and 2 gallons molasses.

Friendship, Shiloh, 1 can lard, 10 chickens, 8 heads cabbage, 5 pumpkins, 3 bushels sweet potatoes, 1 bushel Irish potatotets, 1 package of peas, 1 package of beans, 2 packages peanuts, 1 package onions, 1 pound coffee, 22 quarts fruit and vegetables, 2 suits and 3 pair pants for little boys, 3 pair shoes and 2 hats.

The E. M. Hall Plaid Mills, Burlington, 160 yards of ginghams.

Mrs. R. T. Tyson, Caseob, Conn., 12 tams, 1 cap, 1 apron, 3 ties, 13 pieces of underwear, 8 dresses, 2 pieces dress goods, 2 suits and 1 sweater for little boys, 1 handkerchief, 5 pair hose, 7 shirts and 4 scarfs.

Mrs. C. F. Oliver, Capoe, Mich., for Missionary Society, 8 pair stockings, 30 hendkerchiefs, and 21 wash cloths.

Henderson, 18 quarts fruit and vegetables, 1 glass jelly, 1 package artichokes, 1 peck sweet potatoes, 1 peck Irish potatoes, 5 dresses, 2 waists and 1 skirt.

Woman's Missionary Society, Randleman, 1 quilt.

Sunshine Mission Band, Weston, W. Va., 8 dresses.

The Woman's Missionary Society, Southfield, Chicago, 6 quilts for little beds.

Mr. R. B. Hunter, Areola, 2 gallons honey.

Mrs. J. R. Holder, Greensboro, 7 dresses, 3 pieces underwear, 1 coat, 1 hat, and 17 pair hose.

Haw River Circuit: Midway, 7 cans fruit, 3 sacks of potatoes, 2 citrons, 2 hens, 1 hat, 3 dresses, 1 pair pants, 1 skirt, and 1 coat; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Elmore, Brown Summit, 7 shirts and 1 coat; Mr. A. W. Troxler, Brown Summit, 7 pair shoes and 1 bolt cloth.

Mount Pleasant Circuit, Mount Pleasant, 3 axe-handles, 5 pick-handles, 3 pumpkins, 3½ gallons fruit, 1 pint fruits, 29 tin cans fruit, 1 bucket of lard, 2 ½-bushel sack of walnuts, 6 sacks sweet potatoes, ½ bushel sack Irish potatoes, 4 pair pants and 2 coats.

Pleasant Union, 4 sacks sweet potatoes, 5½ gallons canned fruit, 1 tin can fruit, 1 bucket

(Continued on Page Sixteen)

IN HONOR OF THE DEAD

Chillcut

William Hugh Patrick Chillcut, son of Dean Chillcut, and the last surviving grandson of the Methodist Protestant Patriarch, Elijah Chillcut, was born September 13, 1868.

In early life he was converted and joined Fair Grove, the paternal church home of the Chillcut clan. Being bred of Methodist Protestant stock, and fired with the zeal of the early pioneer in Democratic Methodism, he remained true to the ideals of his illustrious grandfather, a convert gleaned by that stalwart giant of Methodism, Alson Gray.

Brother Chillcut was married to Miss Nettie Stanfield, December 15, 1892. Although there were no children born to this happy union, their home has always been a rendezvous for young people. Having become father and mother to Mrs. Chillcut's youngest brother, they poured themselves into his life, and did the same for his oldest son. To one he was brother and father; to the other he was uncle and father, and to these two he leaves a legacy that can not be counted by dollar marks, but their worth will be revealed in the days yet unborn.

In spite of the 64 years of living, Brother Chillcut was not old. He was young in spirit, and apprecaited young people. No C. E. society group was complete without his presence. Whether in the prayer meeting, or the fun and frolic of the monthly social meeting, his place was a large one; not demanded, or stolen because of his age, but gladly given and reserved by the young people, as their gift to a man worthy of their love and respect.

Somewhere back in the years he moved his memebrship to Friendship, and later to Brown Summit, where for more than a quarter of a century he was a fixture prominent and useful in the councils of that church. A quarter of a century was spent as superintendent of the Sunday school, with less than five absences from his place. Through heat and cold, fair weather or foul, he spent and was spent for his church. For more than 30 years he was a member of the quarterly conference, and several times a member of the Annual Conference.

Last December the weight of years began to bear heavily on him, and he found health failing, and in order that he might attend church more regularly and without so much exposure and long driving, he moved his membership back to Friendship.

Not long after this transfer, we noticed a change coming over him; it seemed that the end was approaching, that the enemy was slowly, but surely creeping in upon him, then the news came that the attack had been made.

During those days of suffering and waiting, we saw the end coming. It was not a darksome ending; but like unto the sunset glow of a perfect day. As the sun of his life slipped farther and farther down toward the rim of existence, the burnished glow became more beautiful until on the morning of November 17, when the last faint glimmer of life's day died away behind the glowing hilltops of an unclouded west, and a new day of our life dawned in the east, we know that a brighter and happier was dawning for him, and we realized that:

"It is not death to die,—
To leave this weary road,
And 'mid the brotherhood on high,
Be at home with God.

It is not death to close
The eye long dimmed by tears,
And wake, in glorious repose
To spend eternal years.

It is not death to bear
The wrench that sets us free
From dungeon chain, to breathe the air
Of boundless liberty.

It is not death to fling
Aside this sinful dust,
And rise, on strong exulting wing,
To live among the Just."

Will Chilcut is not dead. . . .The house in which he lived has crumbled and fallen, but if the outward life is an index to the inner soul, he lives on, and, on, and on, and one glad day, we, too, shall live anew with him, and the host of redeemed in the city foursquare.

J. L. TROLLINGER.

Modlin

Emery Lee Modlin, son of T. L. and Mattie Coe Modlin, departed this life October 24, 1932. He was married to Lula Shelly on December 23, 1915. To this union were born three children, two daughters and one son, Gertrude, Allie Lee, and Lawrence Modlin; he also leaves his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Modlin, and four sisters, Mrs. John McDowell, Mrs. Raymond Wooten, and Misses Kate and Agnes Modlin.

He was a kind and affectionate husband and father, and was loved by his neighbors. He was a faithful and loyal member of Fairfield M. P. church for 18 years.

Funeral services were conducted from Fairfield M. P. church October 26, 1932, by the writer, assisted by Rev. E. W. Jones, of High Point, and Rev. J. D. Williams, of High Point. His body was placed in the church cemetery beneath a mound of beautiful flowers to await the coming of the Lord.

E. O. PEELER.

Brown

L. Bascom Brown departed this life November 28th, 1932, aged 28 years, 5 months, and 3 days.

He was married to Miss Annie Ward Nelson, February 7, 1931. To this union was born one child, Leonard Nelson, who with his mother survives. He was a member of the M. E. Church since he was 12 years old. He leaves a father, mother, six brothers and two sisters to mourn their loss; yet we feel that their loss is his gain, and we feel confident that he has gone home, from the way he talked and looked on his death bed. His face was radiant with smiles and sunshine of the soul; just one more soul in heaven to make it dearer to us all.

His father, who has been a minister for quite a while, and his good wife failed to get here before he was dead and failed to hear his testimony, but we all know that his life was one of purity and we all have hopes of meeting him in a brighter world.

He suffered two weeks with pleurisy, then developed pneumonia and died almost suddenly. He will be missed lots in his father's home, but will be missed most by wife and babe. All that could be done for him was done, but nothing could stay the hand of death.

Funeral services were conducted in Hebron church by B. M. Williams, assisted by Rev. J. D. Burdy, then laid to rest in Hebron cemetery. May we all meet him in the home not made with hands.

MRS. F. W. NELSON.

In Memory of R. Lee Williams

Once again we are reminded
That each earthly flower must fade;
That our dearest friends and kindred
In the silent grave are laid.

'Tis a dear one that has left us,
One that we all love;
But the Lord, who hath bereft us,
Doeth all his works aright.

For several weeks he lingered
Upon a dying bed;
But, now, his days are numbered
And he is with the dead.

Thy rod, Oh, Lord! we keenly feel,
We deeply mourn our loss,
But help us at Thy feet to kneel,
And cheerfully bear the Cross.

For we have the consolation,
That he dwells among the blest;
Where no sorrow or temptation,
Can distrub his peaceful rest.

In Lexington cemetery his body lies,
Fast mouldering in the clay;
But, Oh! his raptured spirit flies
To realms of perfect day.

Children, mourn for him no longer,
For he's free from sin and guilt;
And he's with that happy number
For whom Chirst's blood was spilt.

Although your home on earth is broken,
Thy father gone above;
But take it as a token,
Of God, the Father's, love.

Children, now your father's left you,
For a brighter home on high;
But if you are only faithful,
You will meet him, by and by.

Wife, cease your weeping,
For the one that's gone above;
For he's now so sweetly sleeping,
In the arms of peace and love.

Farewell, dear friend and comrade,
On earth no more thy face I'll see;
But I hope in that bright climate,
To spend eternity with thee.

C. G. ISLEY.

Durham

On November 10, 1932 death entered the home of Mrs. L. F. Durham and took from her her most loyal and faithful companion, Mr. Lonnie F. Durham, age 73 years and 17 days.

He had been sick for almost nine months. Confined to his bed most of the time, he kept the faith and fought a good fight until the end. As his friends and relatives would visit his bedside he would always tell them of the trust he had in God; and how he was waiting to answer His call. Death did not come unexepected to him for he realized his physical condition.

He was a faithful member of Salem M. P. church, acted as teacher of one of the classes in Sunday school for five years and acted as class leader for 40 years. He was a man who wanted to see God's work going forward, and was ready and willing to do his part. Whenever present for C. E. he would urge the young boys and girls to train themselves for Christian work in the church.

Funeral services were conducted at Salem M. P. church November 11, 1932, at 2:30 p. m., by his pastor, Rev. T. J. Whitehead, assisted by former pastors Rev G. W Holmes and Rev H. L. Isley, after which the body was laid to rest in the church cemetery beneath the many beautiful floral offerings.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. L. F. Durham, one son, Carl Durham, one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carl Durham, and one grandson; all of the home, and a host of relatives and friends.

May God comfort the bereaved and may they be able to say, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

MRS. T. R. CRAWFORD.

Hackney

Settie Gaynell Hackney was born August 14, 1915 and passed from this life September 18, 1932. She was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hackney of Saxapahaw. Her death came as a great shock to the entire community.

Gaynell finished high school at Eli Whitney last spring. There she won many friends. Her work was of the highest type.

She was a member of the Methodist Protestant church at Saxapahaw. Every Sunday morning she would go to Sunday School and worship service. She would put forth every effort possible to help carry on the program of the church. Her life was really lived according to the great Christian ideals and principles. It was a joy to know her and have her as a friend. We miss her but we know that she lives in eternal peace.

T. J. WHITEHEAD.

Whitman

On Saturday afternoon, November 26, 1932, as the close of day was drawing nigh, God thought it best to take the soul of Mrs. Florence Conrad Whitman to live with Him. She passed away so peacefully and gently that it was like falling asleep.

Mrs. Whitman was born at Lewisville, Forsyth County, August 9, 1865. She was the daughter of James and Emily Gamble Conrad. In the year 1882 she was united in marriage to John Wesley Whitman, who preceded her to the glory land seven years ago. Mrs. Whitman was a member of Pleasant Hill Methodist Protestant church and was active in church work until her health failed a few years ago. Her illness extended over a period of seven months, and her condition was critical for one week prior to her passing.

Surviving are three sons, W. W., E. L., and R. J. Whitman; three daughters, Mrs. C. E. Holder, Mrs. E. E. Beroth, all of Route 1. Tobaccoville, and Miss Lillie Whitman, of Winston-Salem. Twenty grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and three brothers also survive. The brothers are R. L. Conrad, of Winston-Salem; S. G. Conad, of Greensboro, and Z. V. Conrad, of Hoffman.

A few more years shall roll,
A few more seasons come,
And we shall be with those that rest
Asleep within the tomb.

A few more struggles here,
A few more partings o'er,
A few more toils, a few more tears,
And we shall weep no more.

Funeral services were held at Pleasant Hill church on Monday afternoon, November 25, 1932, conducted by the writer, assisted by Rev. F. W. Grabs, Moravian minister, and the body was tenderly laid to rest beside the grave of the husband in Pleasant Hill cemetery to await the resurrection morning.

C. B. WAY.

Sykes

John Albert Sykes was born November 27, 1859; and died November 15, 1932, age 72 years, 11 months and 18 days.

Funeral services were conducted by the writer at the home on November 16; after which the remains were taken to Hebron church cemetery and placed there to await the Resurrection Morn.

Brother Sykes joined Hebron church several years ago and remained a member until death. For five year or more he had been an invalid.

Of his immediate relatives the following remain: eight sons, C. L. ,W. J., W. E., John C., Julian C., B. B., O. W., and H. W.; one daughter, Mrs. W. E. Pratt; two sisters, Mrs. T. L. Hobbs, and Mrs. W. A. Pender.

May God comfort them all.

B. M. WILLIAMS.

Allred

William Daniel Allred, born in Raldolph County, May 8, 1856, passed from labor to reward November 17, 1932. He was the son of Emsley and Annie Trogdon Allred, and is survived by his wife, Jeannette, to whom he was married about 50 years, her maiden name being Long. To this union were born four daughters and one son; two of the daughters preceded him to the spirit world. The children living are Miss Minnie and Theodore, of Gibsonville, and Mrs. Amanda Chrisman, of Brown Summit. He is also survived by 11 grandchildren.

Bro. Allred professed faith in Christ about 42 years ago under the preaching of Rev. G. F. Millaway at Cedar Falls. During the pastorate of Rev. P. E. Lindley, who assisted in the funeral services, he transferred his membership to the Gibsonville church, where he has remained a faithful and loyal member till God called him higher.

Those who knew Brother Allred best loved him most. Quiet, unassuming, one had to know him to appreciate him. One of his best traits was never to speak a harmful word of anyone. The writer had visited him quite a number of times, in sickness and in health, he was the same uncomplaining character.

The last rites were said, at the church where he had been a faithful member for a number of years, where a large number of loved ones and neighbors assembled to pay their tribute of respect, and his body was laid to rest in the Gibsonville cemetery, where it awaits the last trump.

To the children and sorrowing wife, you sorrow not as those who have no hope, but the expectation of a glorious reunion after a while should be an incentive to faithfulness to Him whom your loved one loved and served, and in whose presence he now stands.

N. G. BETHEA.

Julian

William Madison Julian departed this life November 29, 1932, aged 83 years, 11 months, 6 days.

He was first married to Sylvania Routh, who passed away May 25, 1884. To this union were born four children: Alice, who died in infancy; Mrs. Annie Bristow, of Liberty; Mrs. Dora Kirkman, of Randleman; Mrs. Lon Lineberry, of Pleasant Garden, Route 1, survive. His second wife, Sarah Edith Burrow, preceded him to the grave May 25, 1924. To this union was born one daughter, Arta, who died in infancy. He also leaves one sister and four brothers. They are: Mrs. Darinda Gray, of High Point; John B. Julian, of Dallas, Texas; George S. Julian, Jesse G. Julian, Isaac A. Julian, of Millboro; several grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his departure.

Funeral service was conducted from Bethany Methodist Protestant church, December 1, at 11 o'clock, by the pastor, Rev. Edward Suits, assisted by Rev. Joel B. Trogdon, of the Randleman Circuit. He joined this church in early life, and remained a loyal member until God called him to his eternal home. For many years he had served as a member of the board of trustees of the church. He was always in his place at church as long as health would permit. He lived a good and useful life, and his influence will live on in the lives of those who knew him.

With his passing the community has lost one of its most valuable citizens, the children a loving father, and the church one of its most loyal supporters. He will be missed by all who knew him, but we bow in humble submission to Him who doeth all things well. We feel our loss is his eternal gain, and extend our heart felt sympathy to the bereaved ones, and may our Heavenly Father comfort them, and may they not weep as those who have no hope.

MRS. C. E. JULIAN.

Methodist Protestant Herald
J. F. McCULLOCH, Editor and Publisher
Published weekly in the interest of the Methodist
Protestant Church as an organ of the
North Carolina Annual Conference.

PRICE—$2.00 a year, payable in advance.

Papers are discontinued on expiration of the term of subscription. However, subscribers who request it will be marked on our books as "regular," their papers to be continued and payment to be made as near the beginning of the year as convenient.

Subscribers can remit directly or hand their money to pastors, who act as our agents in the field.

In directing change of address, give the old address as well as the new. In renewing, give the same initials as before.

We cannot often supply back numbers.

We acknowledge receipt of money on subscription account by changing the date on the label. If this is not changed within two weeks after your money is forwarded, write us.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Greensboro, N. C.

OUR CHILDREN'S HOME

(Continued from Page Fourteen)

molasses, 2 dresses, 2 pair pants and 1 pumpkin.

We are profoundly grateful to all our people who have made the above report possible, and to our heavenly Father who prompted these gifts of money and substance. The dear Lord bless every one of you. Just because you want to know, we add the following notation: Counting the cash handed to us at Conference, and all that has come in since Conference we have received to date $1,729.08 cash offerings. When Conference closed our obligations were $6,500.00. To that we must now add one month's running expenses. So you can see very readily that our good people have helped us to reduce our obligations by something less than $1,000.00.

We are still looking for a number of Thanksgiving offerings and some Christmas offerings to help us pay those who have trusted us.

May God bless and prosper His people everywhere.

Yours in His service,
A. G. DIXON, Supt.

NOTE: See our special article elsewhere.

◆

—Alfalfa planted in Lincoln County during the first week in September has come up to a good stand and is growing nicely, reports Graham Morrison, farm agent.

Herald Christmas Subscription Blank

Attached find $2.00 / $1.00 for 1 year / 6 months subscription for the Methodist Protestant Herald to be sent as a Christmas Gift to Name ....

Address ....

Subscription given by ....

To be credited to ....Church

You Can Help THE HERALD and Delight a Friend by Making This a HERALD CHRISTMAS. Fill out this blank and give it to your Pastor or HERALD Agent